Writes Jules Soyen, Who Left Dawson for There Last February.

ONLY FOUR PAYING CLAIMS EXIST

In the Entire District, of Which Two Are on Snow Gulch

AND TWO ON ANVIL CREEK.

Only Business Men Booming Country—Advises Miners to Stay in the Klondike.

The following letter was received in yesterday's mail by F. Renaud, of Gay gulch and Dominion. It was written by Jules Soyen, who left Dawson the 17th of February bound for Nome, arriving at that place the last of March. It is published at the request of Mr. Soyen, who desires that a true statement of the conditions of that camp may be learned, as many of his friends have evidenced their intention of proceeding down the river:

My Dear Friend F. Renaud: We arrived here on the 31st of March and are very much disappointed to find Nome is not what it has been represented. We have seen Jim Lemay and Vic Lord, you ought to know them, they came down here last summer. I assure you they have discouraged us; they tell us there is but four paying claims in all this country, two on Snow gulch and two more on Anvil creek.

The best of the beach is all worked out now. A man can make from $3 to $5 a day, but it will all be worked out before the arrival of the first steambot. The country is all staked for 150 to 200 miles from here. There is not much work going on as it is too difficult to prospect in the winter. No wood is obtainable except such as drifts up on the beach and it is always blowing.

There is nothing whatever at Cape York, although people have been stampeding all winter without finding anything, and staking townsites. The business men naturally are booming the country, but the laboring men are loud in their denunciation. It is with much sorrow that we think of you who staked us for this enterprise and that we cannot give you better news. You will take our advice and stay in Dawson, as we firmly believe there is nothing here.

Show this letter to all the boys on Gay gulch and my three brothers and to all on 12 above lower on Dominion and also to Louis Gay, who is at McDougal's butcher shop. Your friend, JULES SOYEN.

Enclosed in the letter was a note by Soyen to Louis Gay advising him to stay in Dawson, and stating that the writer in all probability would return to Dawson unless better prospects were found. A Gandette also wrote to the same effect, advising his friend Poissant of the discouraging prospects at Nome.

Constable Booth Fired.

For conduct unbecoming in a member of the N. W. M. P. force, it is now "ex-Constable" Booth, also "ex-Policeman" Booth, that young man having been this morning not only dismissed from the service, but also sentenced to 15 days at hard labor. The offence for which the constable was dismissed in disgrace might have been condoned had it been the first, but it was not, hence the severity of the sentence.

Timely Rains.

Reports from the various creeks are to the effect that considerable rain has fallen within the past week, much more than in the immediate locality of Dawson, and that in consequence the supply of water, which was very short, has been very materially increased. Staking has been again started on many claims where it had become necessary to shut down for want of water.

Same old price, 25 cents, for drinks at the Regina.

YUKON COUNCIL.

First Open Meeting Is Springly Attended by the Public.

THE COUNCIL'S PUBLIC BOW.

Many Communications Are Received and Acted Upon.

GONDOLFO'S FRUIT PETITION.

Transportation of Insane Arranged—Minutes of the Meeting.

Viewed from either a dramatic or spectacular standpoint the first open meeting held by the Yukon council was not a drawing card, and the public, with its ever keen discernment in such matters proved the soundness of its judgment when it failed to appear en masse at the court room last evening. Of course the meeting marks a new era in the conduct of public affairs, but its dawn was not heralded by pomp or ostentation. The members of the council were not arrayed in purple or fine linen for the momentous occasion of their debut in public sight and hearing as an official body.

Councilman Senkler wore his golf stockings as upon every day occasions, and it looked odd to see Judge Dugas in the court room sitting at the barristers' table without his black robe on. In fact, the council went about its business very quietly and without any reference to the world whose eyes were upon them. The council ignored the tact of publicity completely and the handful of people who had come to the meeting out of curiosity soon dwindled down to the representatives of the press, who against their wills and desires were chained to the spot, and Joe Clarke, the irrepressible, and it was whispered among the newspaper men that Joe's sole reason for remaining was to rest in peace and quiet as a preliminary to the climb to the dome which he was intent upon later in the evening.

The councilmen were all present with the exception of Legal Adviser Clement. The measure most heavily charged with public interest which came before the council was contained in a petition from Mr. Gandolfo respecting the licensing of auctioneers, peddlers and hawkers. This petition was passed to its third reading and was discussed in a desultory manner, chiefly regarding articles which may be disposed of in the manner suggested, exempt from license requirements, and the amount of cost of such licenses. The petition was finally left for future consideration without a decision being reached concerning either particular.

Attorney Robertson was present during the discussion of the proposed measure and asked permission to address the council on the subject, but Commissioner Ogilvie objected, and Judge Dugas said he did not think it wise to encourage the habit.

Numerous communications were received and considered; Judge Dugas asked if any steps had been taken to secure the transportation of the insane patients to the outside, and Councilman Ogilvie stated that he had arranged with the field force and the N. W. M. P. to attend to the matter. The field force will take the insane patients out with them, and a member of the police force who is accustomed to the care of the patients will be sent to assist in their care. Communications from two women had been received, tendering their services to the council as attendants upon the female insane on their outward journey. One of these tenders was for $10 per day and expenses, both going and coming, and the other asked but $5 per day, together with expenses both ways. The tenders were referred to the finance committee.

Following are extracts from the minutes of the meeting as officially prepared:

A petition was received from H. L. Douglas calling attention to some needed sidewalk construction between First and Second streets and an obstruction at the crossing of First street and Third avenue. Referred to the public works committee.

Communications were presented in behalf of two indigent patients who ask for assistance to get out of the country.

A communication was presented from J. D. McGregor, chief license inspector, asking for instructions in respect to a license fee in West Dawson. No action.

A communication was presented to Mr. Justice Dugas in respect to the payment for the construction of a fence near the courthouse. Referred to the finance committee to consider as to whether such accounts should be met by the local or federal funds.

A communication was presented from the rector of St. Paul's church containing a resolution of the congregation of that church respecting the widening of Mission street, and the proposition the council had made to the bishop respecting a change in the site for the church. Action was postponed pending a reply from the rector to a communication of the commissioner in answer to this communication containing the resolution.

A communication was submitted from the manager of the Dawson City Water & Power Company, Ltd., offering to place the hydrants at prominent places through the city, and to negotiate with the council for the supply of water for fire protection purposes for the city. Referred to the board of fire commissioners.

A communication was presented from the chairman of the board of assessors asking for an amendment to the assessment ordinance to allow the assessors an extension of the time for the completion of the assessment roll.

Mr. Justice Dugas asked what arrangements had been made in respect to the transportation of the insane prisoners. The commissioner reported that arrangements had been made to send these prisoners out under guard of the Yukon Garrison, a policeman familiar with the management of the patients to be in charge of them during transportation.

ABOUT THE NEW DISCOVERY.

One More Chance to Win Gold in Dawson.

Everywhere men are trying to uncover new gold deposits. They go to Nome, the Koyukuk, to the far off headwaters of the Tanana and other remote places, and in so doing walk right over the best of unstaked ground at home.

In Dawson one can find as good a paystreak if one looks in the right direction as anywhere on earth.

The easiest and quickest way to win gold is to save it and you can do this by buying your clothing, furnishing goods, hats and shoes from Ward, Hough & Co., 111 Front street. They are going out of this line of business and have arranged to clear their entire stock by July 5th. Meantime goods are going quickly because they are being sold at very low figures. Ward, Hough & Co., are selling off their goods at so much of a reduction in price that anyone who has been about in town at all looking at goods will at once recognize a chance to save money.

On the first page of this paper, left hand column, see our display advertisement, giving you the prices of some few of the bargains we offer. It does not signify to quote figures unless you can see the quality of the goods you are getting for your money.

We assure you our goods are all new and our entire stock came from the outside this spring. We have no old chestnuts or rubbish to offer and positively assert that we can save you money if you will but give us a chance. Remember the number, 111 Front street. Look for the large red sign.

SOGGS GUILTY.

Jury Returns Verdict "Guilty as Charged," Recommending Mercy.

LITTLE SURPRISE AT THE FINDING.

Attorneys Argue Case During the Whole Forenoon.

MR. NOEL'S ABLE PLEA

Crown Prosecutor Wade Is Wittily Sarcastic in His Argument Before the Jury.

The jury in the Soggs attempted murder case has returned a verdict of guilty as charged with a strong recommendation of mercy.

When the afternoon session of court commenced yesterday, the prisoner was placed on the stand in his own defense, and then began one of the most tiresome incidents of an already wearisome case. Mr. Soggs persisted in relating verbatim all the details having the remotest connection with the case—every conversation he had held with anyone of the 26 laymen or owners of claim 34, was told of, notwithstanding the frequent objections raised by Prosecutor Wade and the oft-repeated instructions of the court to stick to facts and leave out conversations excepting where they had a direct bearing on the case.

No new direct evidence was given by the prisoner and nothing which could in any way improve his case was said, beyond the establishing of the fact in his own words—a fact pretty clearly demonstrated previously namely, that at the time of the shooting, and just previous to it, he was, to quote the prisoner's words, "frightened almost to death."

When the prisoner came to relate the actual story of the shooting he did so in exactly the same way as it has already been told by preceding witnesses. Speaking of what took place when he arrived at the sluice boxes where Rogers was, he said after Rogers had asked him what he was "rubber-necking" around there for and told him to hush out of this or take a bath, "Rogers, please don't talk to me. I used the word please so as not to anger him. Mr. Rogers made a lunge at me, and grabbed at me, and I stepped over the sluice boxes to keep away from him. I am given to walking with my hands in my pockets, and I put them in my pockets then. My gun was there. Then I must have lost what little sense I thought I had, and pulled the gun and shot."

The prisoner stated that he was of a very nervous temperament, and was frightened almost into a state of insanity. That he was nervous was evident from his efforts to control himself while on the stand. He moved about

FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1900.

USING THEIR INFLUENCE.

By recent Victoria and Vancouver papers we note the fact that the commercial bodies of both those cities have passed resolutions calling upon the federal government to substantially modify its position with reference to the government of this territory.

Chief among the points covered by the resolution are the royalty, and a government assay office to be established in Dawson. The collection of the royalty tax is condemned in no uncertain language and the government is asked and urged to immediately establish an assay office in Dawson whereby all gold as it is taken from the ground may be converted into currency with the least possible cost to the producer.

We are glad to see that the merchants and other business men of British Columbia are beginning to awaken to the fact that something must be done to save the trade which the cities of that province are rightfully entitled to from this territory. That trade should be larger this year than ever before and next year should be greater still.

But the indications are that such will not be the case. Our population has decreased, and hence the consumption of commodities in the territory has diminished proportionately.

Victoria and Vancouver are beginning to realize the fact that something is wrong. They see a gradual decrease in a trade which they know should be established and permanent. They have begun to look for the source of the trouble and have discovered the key note without any difficulty.

Their motive in taking the matter up is purely selfish, but none the less they are entitled to our thanks. The more these questions are discussed and agitated on the outside the quicker will redress be granted.

The two points covered by the resolutions of the Victoria and Vancouver Boards of Trade are both of the utmost importance. There are others equally so, to which the attention of these commercial bodies should be directed at a later period. If we can succeed in interesting such organizations generally throughout Canada, sufficiently to bring their influence to bear upon the government, beneficial results are certain to accrue. Some means should be taken of publicly acknowledging this action on the part of our sister cities.

We are informed that the freight blockade between Bennett and Whitehorse is being rapidly broken and shipments will soon be arriving down the river in rapid succession. There are, according to reliable sources of information, several thousand tons of goods now awaiting transportation and the break in the blockade has come none too soon. Much freight of a perishable nature has been delayed, and consequent loss to shippers is certain to result. In this instance there seems to be no room to place the blame on the transportation companies for the reason that the delay has been due entirely to the unusually long continuance of low water. As soon as the boats are able to run regularly, without being subject to delays on sand bars in the river, the freight blockade will rapidly become a thing of the past.

Friends of Capt. Jack Crawford, and their name is legion, are arranging a benefit for him to take place on Sunday evening prior to his departure for the outside. Capt. Jack has been a familiar figure in Dawson for the past two years and has generously contributed his services toward entertaining the public of this city upon innumerable occasions when he has been called upon. No benefit for a worthy cause has been given without the presence of Capt. Jack to enliven the proceedings and no tax upon his powers as an entertainer has been so heavy that he did not respond heartily thereto. It is fitting, therefore, that before he leaves Dawson some public recognition of his generous services should be taken, and we know of no more appropriate method than an entertainment such as is prepared for Sunday night. The Nugget bespeaks a hearty send-off for Capt. Jack.

If you will look yourself over and look your household over you will find that the things that you and your family wear, and eat, and drink, and use for all other purposes are advertised articles. You bought them because you saw them advertised. You saw them advertised in your newspaper. The more you think of it the more you will be surprised at the few exceptions to this rule. If you buy articles because you saw them advertised, it is fair to presume that everybody else does. If you buy them because you see them advertised in your newspaper, it is fair to assume that other people make their purchases for the same reason. In the face of these facts can there be any need for argument to prove that if you have anything to sell you must advertise it, and the place to advertise it is in your newspaper.—Skagway News.

The long looked for rain has come at last and with it, many dumps which are still lying on the various creeks will be sluiced out and the gold contained in them saved. Owing to the low condition of the creeks for the past 60 days, numerous instances have occurred where claim operators have been unable to wash their dumps. On the hillsides and benches many men have been unable to secure sufficient water even for rocking purposes, the result being that they have been unable to pay their labor and meet other obligations. The rains of the past few days will substantially increase the amount of available water in the different creeks, with the result that much gold will be washed out which otherwise would have to remain until next season.

The discoverers of the reef of conglomerate which is claimed to be gold bearing, are extremely confident that they have uncovered something which will ultimately prove to be of great value. It is to be sincerely hoped that their confidence in the new find will be warranted by results. The existence of such a reef as has been described would bring a marvelous degree of life and activity to Dawson which would increase from year to year. The town would be assured a permanence of which it never can be absolutely certain as long as it is dependent wholly upon the development of placer ground.

MEN OF MARK.

Lord Salisbury is increasing in stoutness and recently tipped the beam at 165 pounds.

Archbishop Ireland is a man of many tastes, chief among which is that for law which study he has pursued for several years.

President McKinley drank no wine at the recent Ohio society banquet. He turned his glass down at the beginning of the feast.

Ex-Congressman John Davis, of the Fifth Kansas district, has gone totally blind. He was one of the founders of the Populist party and served two terms in congress.

Salvini, the famous Italian tragedian, now 72 years old, is acting in St. Petersburg, his first appearance there for 20 years. He is said to have created great enthusiasm.

Brisbin Skiles, of Cap, Lancaster county, Pa., though 84 years old, still makes good his claim to the title "the king of fox hunters," which was bestowed upon him many years ago.

Senator Hoar's jokes take a classic turn. He recently declined a dinner invitation on the ground that after dining he only spoke Greek, while he knew his host understood only Persian.

Dr. Charles W. Dabney, president of the University of Tennessee, has received notice from the French government of his appointment as a member of the committee on international awards at the Paris exposition.

Alfred Beit, the South African millionaire, is reported to have bought a suite of old furniture for $350,000, which is abundant evidence that Mr. Beit is not paying the expenses of a war waged largely on his account.

Sir William McCormac, the chief consulting surgeon to the British forces in South Africa, receives a salary of £5000 a year. Dr. A. Conan Doyle, who volunteered to go as registrar to the Langman field hospital, receives no pay.

Ex-Senator Philetus Sawyer, of Wisconsin, recently sold his last piece of property in Washington and now owns only a trifling bit of suburban acreage. He takes a keen interest in Washington affairs and is extremely well posted on what is going on.

Senator Vest recently sent a newspaper clipping to the secretary to be read to the house. The latter got the wrong side of the clipping, and instead of an editorial on the money question began: "Ridiculous! We are giving away these goods at half price." "The other side!" cried Mr. Vest.

Calvin Fenton Fargo, who recently died in San Francisco at the age of 80, was a "forty-niner." He was a cousin of Gov. Fenton and a native of Batavia, N. Y. He lived in Paris for 15 years, returning to California in 1865. He was a bachelor and left his large fortune to his niece, the wife of Dr. George Taylor Stuart of New York city.

LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN

Visited Last Night by a Large Party of Mazamas.

Those Who Failed to Go "Mist" a Great Treat—Many Will Return Every Night for a Week.

It was an enthusiastic party that last night toiled slowly up the long path east of the city that leads into the clouds which nestle around Capt. Jack's flag staff on the summit of the first ridge. The fact that dense clouds hung like a church debt over this section of the country all evening and became more dense as night advanced, deterred hundreds from going that had their haversacks all packed and ready for the trip.

But to the many who made the trip it became apparent before reaching the summit that there were three or four plies of clouds hovering over the country instead of one. The first tier was passed about half way up the mountain side; the second at the edge of the timber, while the summit was the scene of great billowy activity. To see the great rolls of mist cross the summit with a hop, step and jump off into the impenetrable depths below was a sight worth going double the distance to see; besides, it showed a degree of carelessness amounting almost to recklessness on the part of the clouds. At least 100 mosquitoes as large as humming birds had followed each person from the timber up to the summit where it was gratifying to see them become entangled in the clouds and carried away into the gloom.

From dry brush were made half a dozen fires, hence no one froze to death so far as learned. At intervals of every few minutes the clouds would roll by, Jenny, when there would, for the next ten or fifteen minutes, be revealed to the eye a grand sight in the far below, where the graceful curves of the Yukon could be seen many miles to the northward, but not quite so far as the Kalgat cut-off. Then another cloud as big as the state of Rhode Island would roll off the summit and for the next few minutes all would be impenetrable. On several occasions it was possible to see the exact spot where the sun ought to be, which fact was a source of unalloyed pleasure to the many who had withstood the long and wearisome journey.

Messrs. Atwood and Cantwell were there with their kodaks and on several occasions the mist would lift for the 10 seconds required to "keep still and look pleasant."

Occasionally a mushroom would burst through the top of the ground with a loud report which was a source of wonder, surprise and amusement to the children.

As every one had taken along sufficient lunch for half a dozen people, eating contests were among the features of the gladstone occasion. A few declared their intentions of again making the trip tonight, but the majority declared in favor of not making it. Many left their coffee buckets there for use next year. At 12:45 a general move toward the common plane of humanity was made and 40 minutes later, after much crowding of toes into the forward part of shoes, and with a trembling of the knees that caused the writer to think of the time he asked the old man, the large crowd that "mist" seeing the midnight sun was back in Dawson, thankful that they still lived.

The Morphine Habit.

Actresses, as a class, are more addicted to the use of opium than people in any other walk of life. They generally administer it to themselves by hypodermic injections of the solution of morphine. They invariably, whether truthfully or not, ascribe their introduction to the vice to doctors having administered it to them in prescriptions intended to allay internal pains. Some years ago a clerk in a large drug store was summoned to a room in one of our most prominent hotels. When he knocked on the door, he was commanded to enter. Thrown upon the bed in the abandon of semiconsciousness was a woman who was then one of the best known actresses in America. You all have seen her.

"I sent for you," she said, "to tell you that every day I will send to your establishment for an ounce of Magendie's solution"—a well known preparation of morphine, containing 16 grains of morphine to each ounce of the solution, or 96 times more than an ordinary dose. "I am provided with it in every city that I visit and I see no reason why I should not be furnished with it here."

"It is against our rules," said the clerk, "to provide morphine in any such quantities unless we are convinced that the person applying for it is addicted to its use to an extent that would not make that quantity fatal."

"I'll satisfy you on that score," said the actress, and thereupon she bared her arms, and, to speak plainly, the calves of her legs also. They had been punctured by the hypodermic needle to such an extent that in their roughness they resembled nutmeg graters. The testimony was conclusive, and she was daily provided with 16 grains of the poison. She died a few years ago almost forgotten in the profession nature had intended she should adorn.

Truly "it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."—Philadelphia Times.

Praises Canadian Gallantry.

In the course of a letter written on the steamer Tantalus Castle, while off Maderia, and addressed to Lieut.-Col. Smith, president of the County of Perth Veterans' Society, Col. Hutton, late major general in command of the Canadian militia, says:

"It was with feelings of deep regret that I left Canada, and for the time, at least, have severed my connection with my militia comrades in Canada. I can never forget the manner in which my efforts at reform were met by the Canadian militia and by the vast majority of the Canadian public. Although circumstances have prevented me from carrying out all that might have been effected, sufficient has been accomplished to make a further advance comparatively easy hereafter.

"Canadians may at any rate be proud indeed at the gallantry of their representative infantry battalion—the 2d Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment. If the opportunity comes I feel well assured that the field batteries under Lieut.-Col. Drury and Lieut.-Cols. Lassard and Herchmer, will equally well maintain the honor of the Canadian army.

"It will be a pleasure, indeed, to meet my Canadian comrades again in South Africa and to renew my connection with them in the field."

Shocked the Landlord.

"We had been at a Rocky mountain hotel for a week," said a Washington man who has just returned from the west, "and beefsteak and mutton chops had been on the bill of fare at every meal to the exclusion of all other meats. It was finally decided to send the colonel to the landlord to protest, and, having gained the ear of mine host, he said:

"I want to speak to you in a good natured way about your meats."

"My meats!" echoed the landlord.

"Why, is there anything wrong about my meats? I'm getting the very best."

"It's beefsteak and mutton, you know?"

"Yes, I know, and they cost me a heap of money to get 'em here—yes, sir; almost worth their weight in silver—but I must have the best. What is it you complain of?"

"We don't complain. What I wanted to ask you was about game. There must be game around here?"

"Of course. Do you mean to say that your crowd wants venison, bear meat, antelope, prairie chicken, turkey, and so on?"

"Exactly. Yes; that's what we want."

"In place of beef and mutton?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll be hanged! Here, Jim, tell the boys to go out after a cartload of game and to keep it up for three or four days. Here's a crowd kicking about steaks at 35 cents per pound and chops at 30 and ready to fill up on game at $2 a ton! Well, you eastern folks beat the band in your queer tastes about eating! Next thing you'll be telling me you prefer wild goose to a Chicago sugar cured ham."—Washington Star.

Two Walkouts.

There has been some heavy bank playing in Dawson lately in which one house has allowed its money to be carried out and a few doors further down the street where it was dropped into the coffers of a rival house. It is said that on Wednesday Harry Woolrich, after playing faro at the Exchange for a short time cashed in $5300 and walked out. Later in the day he dropped into the Orpheum where "de ceiling" is the limit and a short time later, walked out of there also; but on the second walkout he, it is said, was shy the $5300 he possessed on the first walk out.

Foxy Old Grover.

Princeton, N. J., June 8.—When Grover Cleveland was asked what he thought of the recent letter of E. C. Benedict on the need of a new political party he replied:

"Mr. Benedict has a perfect right to assert himself and what he says has no bearing on me whatever.

"I do not know what Mr. Benedict really did say in his letter because I am not bothering much about politics just now. There has been no time when I have given less attention to politics than I am doing now."

Mr. Cleveland was asked concerning the indorsement of William J. Bryan by the New York Democratic state convention. He replied: "That has not interested me at all."

Cyclone John Killed.

Indianapolis, June 8.—Thomas Jefferson Johnson, known as "Cyclone John," a street preacher, was shot and instantly killed tonight at Carmel, sixteen miles north of here, after he had killed Deputy Sheriff Carey, who was trying to arrest him for assault and battery.

Johnson had been attacking different persons in his street talks, and these attacks had brought him into several fights. There was much feeling against him.

Tonight he renewed his attacks. Carey tried to arrest him and was shot dead, and an unknown person in the crowd shot Johnson. He was born in Jackson county, Kentucky, and was converted at Covington, Ky., five years ago, and has been preaching since.

State Will Interfere.

St. Paul, June 8.—The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission today sent to the management of the Northern Pacific and St. Paul & Duluth railroads a formal letter, demanding information regarding the proposed consolidation of those two roads.

There is a state law prohibiting the consolidation of parallel or competing lines of railroads, and the commission proposes to take legal action to prevent any move looking to the absorption of the St. Paul & Duluth by the Northern Pacific, if such is contemplated.

Frost Injures Wheat Crop.

Minnewaukan, N. D., June 8.—A hard freeze last night formed a quarter of an inch of ice. Much wheat was cut back to the ground. The crop cannot exceed one-half the ordinary yield.

The Masonic Excursion.

Those in charge of the Sunday excursion up the Yukon on the steamer Tyrrell are having most flattering success in the sale of tickets and by Sunday morning there is no doubt but that the limit, 250, will have been reached. The steamer will run to the mouth of Indian river and probably a few miles up that turbulent stream. If it gets no further than the mouth, however, there are fine picnic grounds where a landing will be made and several hours given to enable the excursionists to wander among the flowers that bloom in the spring. Those who do not care to be troubled with lunch baskets can be accommodated with refreshments aboard the steamer.

As the excursion is for a most laudable cause, that of endowing a Masonic ward in the Good Samaritan hospital, there is a general indication on the part of the people to push it along and at the same time take a day of pleasure on the river and in the woods. The steamer will leave the A. C. Co.'s dock promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Another Dawson Dairy.

L. H. Heidinger, formerly of Puyallup, Wash., but for the past two years a meat market and dairy proprietor of Skagway, accompanied by his wife and two sons, arrived in Dawson yesterday with 14 milch cows, ten calves and a large lot of hay and grain. The calves will be sold for veal, while the cows will be kept for dairy purposes.

NEWS ALONG THE RIVER.

The Victorian Sails Tomorrow Afternoon.

First Through Shipment of Freight Now on the Way—River Rising—Rains General Up River.

The steamer Columbian sailed from Whitehorse this afternoon with the first through freight of the season. This is practically the opening of navigation as far as the shipment of goods is concerned, as no other freight cargo has been sent down the river by the steamers this season.

The Canadian will probably follow the Columbian in a day or so as the river is rising rapidly at up river points.

A general rain storm is reported all along the river with the temperature getting warmer at up river points. The highest point reached by the mercury today was at Big Salmon, 52 degrees. At Bennett the thermometer shows 45 but gradually rising. A wire has been received from Hootalinqua stating that the river is rising rapidly at that point.

Owing to the rains the trees along the telegraph line are causing a great deal of trouble as the branches are sodden with moisture and hang over the wires in many places, grounding the circuit. Linemen are now out from all stations making repairs and clearing the wire from the overhanging trees.

The Tyrrell is rapidly making all improvements necessary for the St. Michael voyage and when she pulls out from the dock Monday will be in excellent shape. She will carry a very large passenger list.

No news is good news, particularly in steamboats, consequently the steamers Ora and Flora are probably, as usual, crowding on to their destination and their welcome whistles will be soon heard again in Dawson.

SOGGS GUILTY.

from one foot to the other constantly, and his hands were never quiet for an instant.

Among other witnesses called and briefly questioned concerning the general character of Soggs, a very large, dark complected gentleman—Mr. Sullivan—was called by the defense and asked if he considered Mr. Rogers a dangerous man. Witness said he didn't know. He and Mr. Rogers had once had a little difficulty but both had been looking on the "wine when it was red" and well the trouble was soon over any way.

"Is it not a fact, Mr. Sullivan," asked Prosecutor Wade, "that on the occasion you refer to, you gave Mr. Rogers a sound thrashing?"

Mr. Sullivan smiled a smile that was child-like and bland, and said that at the time he had spoken of he had had no flail with him.

Mr. Noel then asked for an adjournment, which, after some little consideration, Judge Dugas granted, and the case went over till 10 o'clock this morning.

Attorney Noel addressed the jury in behalf of Soggs this morning, going over the evidence of the case in review. The pith and marrow of his argument was that Soggs had been harried, bullied and terrorized for a long period of time by Rogers, who sought to drive him from claim 34. That in this effort Rogers had been seconded by Cahill.

Mr. Noel said that although all the witnesses for the crown examined had been cognizant of Rogers' intent to administer a bath to Soggs by violence—by throwing him in the creek—none had attempted to prevent its culmination or to save Soggs.

All the way through the argument the attorney strove to convince the jury that there was no intent to commit murder on the part of Soggs, and that the prisoner had been justified in the means he had adopted to protect himself; was justified in view of the fact of the manifest difference of physical strength between Mr. Rogers and the defendant. Mr. Noel made a very able plea in behalf of his client.

The court room was more completely filled than at any other time during the trial which one or both of the attorneys in the case might take in the light of a compliment as it was generally understood when court adjourned yesterday afternoon that the morning session would be devoted to the arguments of the attorneys.

Crown Prosecutor Wade made his argument on the ground that the claim owners, Rogers, and the laymen, had been justified in their evidenced desires, for a long time to get rid of Soggs.

The argument of both attorneys were marked by more or less quibbling on unimportant points.

Prosecutor Wade's address was sharp, concise and filled with the sparkling gems of sarcasm for which he is justly noted.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

In Magistrate Scarth's court this morning the first case was one against Ike R. Johnson who, after indulging freely in Yukon river water, strychnine and venetian red, had hied himself to Fourth avenue where he failed to discriminate between respectable intoxication and beastly drunkenness. As Ike stood before his honor this morning his mind appeared to be in Hepsydram or some other distant port, as after the charge had been read over to him twice he simply replied "Umph." He paid $5 and trimmings.

For following Ike's smoke, so far as libations are concerned, John Rogers also paid $5 and costs.

According to Fred Sater's story he was the most valuable man Nichols had on his scow on the trip from Bennett to Dawson. Sater submitted that he worked hard all the way down; that he was on deck day and night; that he frequently hopped into the chilly waters to shove the scow off bars; that for 48 hours he never bobbed an eye and that the grub Nichols provided was simply awful. He, therefore, wanted remuneration at the rate of $2.50 for the trip. As a Florida summer differs from a Klondike winter, so did the testimony of Nichol differ from that of Sater. According to the former's evidence Sater had come down more as ballast than as a helper on the scow; he slept almost continuously and was the most no-account man the witness had ever seen in all his life; that when Sater got his board he got several times more than he earned. In cross-questioning the witness Sater, had he worn a lung meter, would have ran the register up to a high point. He insisted on Nichols defining the word "truth" and in other ways made dark insinuations. As it was admitted by both sides that no wages were stipulated and, at the start, none was expected, the case was dismissed and the voluble gentleman ponied up the costs and wished he had not so readily rushed to police court with his grievances.

In the case of Mack C. Thompson vs. Clark for $400 due on wages, the amount was admitted and a satisfactory time of settlement was fixed upon.

BRIEF MENTION.

The Fourth of July sports committee will meet at the Board of Trade rooms tomorrow night.

A cricket game, to which all are invited will be played on the barracks ground this evening.

H. E. Ashelby, of Chechako Hill, one of the three owners and treasurer of the Bonanza Water Co., is in town on business today.

Herbert Williams, one of the pioneers of the district, is preparing to leave for Nome in a few days. He will go down the river in a small boat.

There is a meeting of the general committee on Fourth of July matters called for tonight at which every member is expected to be present.

C. C. Runner, for a long time manager of the Fifth Avenue hotel in Skagway, is here on his way to Nome for which place he will leave on the next steamer.

Sam Bonnifield is enjoying a prosperous business at his new place, the Juneau. He reports entire satisfaction with the change which he has made from the Dominion.

Mrs. Roberts, wife of O. V. Roberts, foreman of the Yukon Iron Works, was among the passengers to arrive on the steamer Victorian, and "Bob" is all smile today.

A fight took place Sunday night between E. L. Miller, layman on Frank Phiscator's No. 2 Eldorado claim, and an Irishman who was employed by Miller. The layman is said to have received a most severe beating.

Miss Annie Clayton, sister of the late Fred H. Clayton, was an arrival from Skagway on the steamer Victorian. She is here to look after several mining interests which were owned by her brother.

Dr. H. B. Tweedie, post surgeon at Circle City, is a late arrival in the city. He is now en route to his station at that point. Owing to the fact that a steamer will not leave this port for way points for several weeks, the doctor will go down the river in a small boat.

Mr. A. Bouillon of Bouillon & St. Laurent, co-owners of claim No. 19 below discovery on Dominion creek, has been in town for several days on business. He returns today to join his partner and continue the washing of their immense dump.

Attorney Fernand De Journal has again begun the practice of his profession. Mr. De Journal is associated with Mr. Henry Bleecker, a lawyer of wide experience and the new firm is certain to forge to the front in Dawson's legal circles. Their offices will be in the Joslyn block on Second street.

A Descriptive Curio.

One of Orr & Tukey's passengers to the Forks wanted his valise called for at a hotel and gave them the following written description:

"Vaise painted black, 30 inches long, as big around as a five-gallon oil can at Klondike hotel bound with three cords."

Death of Mrs. Telford.

Mrs. Telford, whose husband is manager for the Yukon Mining Co., died last night at the family home on Fourth avenue between sixth and Seventh streets. A three days' old babe survives its mother. Mrs. Telford was a young woman, this being her first child.
