Jottings From Special Meeting of Town Fathers Held This Week

A special meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening for the purpose of dealing with a number of items requiring attention before the regular meeting next week. There was a full attendance and the meeting continued well on into the evening.

One of the matters which received attention was the proposition to increase the number and brilliancy of lights on Main street. This recommendation was made by the chairman of the Streets Committee at a previous meeting when it was not regarded with favor. At the Tuesday evening meeting the proposal met with the approval of the Council and the work will probably receive immediate attention. It is the intention to put in a new series of lights on every pole now vacant in the business section, and to have them on a separate switch to be operated at the Town Hall. These lights will be used as required and are not intended for all night service. All the lights on the street will be 75 watt. The idea is a good one and will give the business section a much better appearance and add to the safety and convenience of the public generally. At the new rate set by the Commission of Public Utilities for street lighting the cost, including the new lights, will be increased very little, if at all. The installation of the improved service is a step in advance which will undoubtedly be appreciated by the citizens of Wolfville and those whose business or other interests brings them to town after nightfall.

Another matter discussed was the work which is being carried on by the Boy Scout Association in this town. Wolfville has won an enviable reputation owing to the successful work along this line that has been carried on here during recent years, the expense of which has been borne very largely by a few citizens. In Mr. E. Percy Brown the town is very fortunate in having a citizen so thoroughly competent for this work and so keenly interested in the young life of the community. In the opinion of those interested in the movement the time has now come when the work has assumed such proportions as to demand more adequate financial backing. Rev. D. B. Hemmeon and Mr. H. W. Phinney, representing the Boy Scout Association, addressed the Council on Tuesday evening, reviewing the splendid results that had been accomplished here by the Boy Scout movement, and suggesting that the citizens be asked to include in the town budget a sufficient amount to finance the work in future years. The proposal to call a public meeting for the purpose will be considered by the Councilors and the matter will be thoroughly discussed on Wednesday evening next, when a decision regarding it will be reached.

Social problems received consideration at the hands of the Council on Tuesday evening, and a committee was appointed to investigate certain conditions which are reported as existing and make suggestions as to a remedy. The discovery of a family living in the outskirts of the town under most deplorable conditions brought up the housing problem which was thoroughly discussed from every possible viewpoint. The people of Wolfville, in common with other places, have not always properly assumed their responsibilities to community needs, and as a result conditions have developed which demand prompt attention. It is gratifying to note that the Council is determined to grapple with the situation and we are confident that citizens generally will gladly render any assistance in their power in the work of improving social conditions in and about the town.

BULLETINS OF THE RACE

THE ACADIAN's bulletin service during the big schooner race attracted very general attention and was evidently keenly appreciated. Each day details regarding the progress of the race were posted as received by wire, and the crowds which gathered read the news given them with real interest. THE ACADIAN was the recipient of many complimentary allusions to its enterprise and evident desire to please the public and for these one and all the publishers beg to return their thanks.

Since the publication of our editorial last week regarding the width of loaded vehicles permitted on our highways, we learn that there now exists a regulation governing this matter. The Load of Vehicles Act provides that no vehicle or load shall exceed ninety-six inches in width. Teamsters should govern themselves accordingly.

ACADIA DEFEATS MOUNT ALLISON

In Hard-fought Game of Football—Score 12 to 0

Acadia students and fans were jubilant last night over the victory of the local collegians over the Mt. Allison players, in Acadia's first game in the Intercollegiate League. Following up their victories over N. S. Tech. and Kings the local team administered a bad beating to Mt. Allison, who were unable to score a point. The game was played under ideal conditions with no wind and a splendid field. A large number of spectators lined both sides of the campus. The Acadia students were out in force with their band and made things lively with their songs and cheering. Not for some years has Acadia had such a splendid cheering organization.

The Garnet and Blue had the same line-up as in Monday's game with Kings and every man played a splendid game. Although the scrum was lighter than that of Mt. A. they showed up well, and whenever they heeled out the ball the half-line were away for a gain. Acadia truly has a half-line of which she can be proud, and if the local collegians play the game they did to-day they should be able to give U. N. B. a hard game at Fredericton next week.

The game started soon after three o'clock and Mt. Allison had the first kick-off. Acadia rushed the play into Mt. A.'s territory and after about twelve minutes of play Clark received the ball in front of the goal and with a pretty kick scored four points for Acadia. The cheers which greeted this play were as nothing to the applause that followed a few minutes later when after a scrimmage near the line the Garnet and Blue scored again. The kick was at a difficult angle and Davidson was not able to convert. After this the teams settled down to hard playing and for the balance of the period neither team had much advantage. Although Mt. A. forced the play into Acadia's territory time and time again, they had not the necessary punch to get across the line.

In the second period the playing was nearly all in Acadia's territory. Mt. A.'s scrum were working fine and heeled the ball nearly every time, but their half-line was too slow. Some splendid tackling was done by the local team. Several times Acadia's goal was in danger and twice they were forced to touch for safety. Finally, towards the end of the period, Acadia by a series of punts were able to get the ball into the visitors' territory, and after a pretty piece of work by the half-line Anthony crossed the line and scored a try directly behind the goal posts. Davidson converted easily making the score 12 to 0. Play continued in Mt. Allison's territory the remainder of the period but Acadia were unable to add any more to their score.

The game was refereed by Mr. Finch of Halifax, who handled the game in splendid fashion.

WOLFVILLE MOURNS

Death of an Honored Son—Dr. Edward Blackadder, M. P. for Halifax

Many old friends in this town learned with sincere regret of the death of Dr. Edward Blackadder, M. P. for Halifax, which occurred on Sunday morning last at his home in Bedford, after a long illness.

Dr. Blackadder has been called away in the very prime of his manhood and at the beginning of a public career of fine promise. Born in this town 48 years ago, a son of the late William C. and Mary Blackadder, the deceased was the youngest member of a family of nine, three boys and six girls. He was educated in the public school of this town and at Acadia University from which he graduated in the class of '94. Previous to taking his college course he spent time teaching in the public schools in various parts of the province, and shortly after he received an appointment of lecturer and organizer for the order of the Sons of Temperance. He graduated in medicine at Dalhousie in 1905 and for two years practiced at Westport, Digby county, and then went to Halifax where he almost immediately associated himself with the editorial staff of the Halifax Recorder.

He was a keen politician and in 1911 received the nomination for Halifax County with Hon. A. K. MacLean, but was defeated. Again in 1917 he was given the candidacy in the interests of the Liberal party, offering as a Laurier Liberal, but the election was not carried out due to the Explosion. Hon. Mr. MacLean and Hon. P. F. Martin being returned by acclamation. In 1921 Dr. Blackadder was again presented as a candidate and on this occasion he was successful. He proceeded to Ottawa at the opening of the House of Commons and took part in the session there. But his health eventually gave way and sickness overtook him in the federal capital.

It was only four weeks ago that deceased returned from Ottawa. During his lifetime, Dr. Blackadder was associated with many public causes and performed many public functions. He was a member of the school board and was also medical inspector of schools. Dr. Blackadder married Miss Eleanor MacDonald, daughter of the late Matthew MacDonald, and is survived by his widow.

Of his own immediate kin only four survive, three sisters and one brother. These are Miss Annie Blackadder, a Presbyterian missionary who has spent most of her life in the Trinidad Missions, Mrs. J. J. Parker of Belle Isle, Annapolis County, Mrs. (Dr.) Alice G. Merchant of El Paso, Texas, and Captain James Blackadder of the Ward Steamship Lines, New York.

In the fullness of his health he was an eloquent and persuasive public speaker, translating the stores of a high intelligence, a cultured mind, and a wide range of knowledge, into graceful and forceful speech. He was equally accomplished as a writer. He wielded a graceful pen, was widely read in the best prose and poetry, and frequently embellished his editorial and other writings with many apt and beautiful literary allusions. His public duties left him little time for the practice of his profession of medicine, but he had many of the personal qualities which would have won him success as a physician.

Above all, Dr. Blackadder was a man of upright character, stainless integrity and wide sympathies, broad, tolerant and sincere in his views and his attitude towards his fellowmen. He was proud to serve his party and eager to give of his best to his constituency.

BOY SCOUT WORK IN WOLFVILLE

An adjourned meeting of the Council of the Boy Scout Association was held on Wednesday evening in the school-room of St. Andrews church, for the purpose of receiving the report of the committee appointed a few weeks ago to consider and advise regarding problems which now confront the work. There was a good attendance and a lively interest was manifested.

Mayor Sutherland, for the committee, reported that after taking into consideration all the details in connection with the Boy Scout work of the town it had been decided to recommend that the Town Council be petitioned to include in its budget next year a sum not to exceed two thousand dollars in order to ensure the continuance of the splendid work in the interests of the young people of the community that has been carried on during recent years by the Boy Scout Association.

A resolution endorsing this recommendation was unanimously passed and Mr. H. W. Phinney and Rev. D. B. Hemmeon were appointed a committee to wait on the council at its next meeting and to call a public meeting of citizens to be held at an early date to take the matter under consideration.

A committee composed of Messrs. W. C. B. Harris, H. W. Phinney and George Nowlan was appointed to arrange for laying the proposition properly before the public meeting when called.

BOARD OF TRADE

An enthusiastic meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade was held on Monday evening with eight members present. The purpose of the meeting was to make arrangements for a future general meeting of the Board, and it was decided to hold such a meeting early next month when it is hoped to have some visiting speaker to address the members.

Various matters of importance were discussed such as the Three Counties Exhibition, better hotel accommodation, tourist camping ground, more publicity to increase tourist business. Dr. J. T. Roach and Mr. H. A. Peck were elected to fill the two vacancies in the Tourist and Publicity Committee, and Messrs. J. E. Hales and J. L. Franklin were appointed to act with the above committee and bring in a report on a tourist camping ground at the next meeting.

A letter was read from the Woodstock Board of Trade relative to a proposed road map of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick for the guidance of tourists. The Council decided to endorse the scheme and instructed the secretary to write for further information.

FORMER WOLFVILLE MAN DIES SUDDENLY

The sudden death of a former resident of Wolfville, Mr. Andrew Strong, of Port Hawkesbury, C. B., occurred at the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, on Wednesday afternoon. A few days previous Mr. Strong had gone to the hospital for an examination which proved his heart in a very weak condition, with no indication, however, that the end was so near.

The deceased was the only son of the late Nelson Strong, a former highly esteemed resident of Wolfville, and a brother of Mrs. George W. Munro of this place. Another sister, Mrs. (Rev.) W. M. Brown, died several years ago. Mr. Strong, when a young man, went to Port Hawkesbury where he has since resided. He married a Miss Paint, who with an adopted daughter, survive him. Of genial disposition the deceased had many friends and the news of his sudden passing was received with genuine sorrow by many of the older residents of this town.

ACADIA DEFEATS KINGS

Local Collegians Score Easy Win Over Windsor Players

For the second time this season the Acadia football team were victorious over the Kings College team last Saturday. The game, which was played on the College campus, resulted in a score of 15 to 0 in Acadia's favor. The day was fine and warm, the field in excellent condition and the spectators were treated to some real good football. The Acadia half line played a splendid game and made many sensational gains. The visitors however had the advantage in the scrum. Among the locals some excellent kicking was done by Holly and Davidson, who are both new men on the team. Clarke played his usual excellent game and Robinson the receiving quarter of the Garnet and Blue starred in his running. Acadia kicked off in the first period and after some hard fighting Murray crossed the line for the first try. This was converted by Davidson who, though the angle was difficult, sent the pigskin directly over the bar. The period from then on was fast and towards the end Clark of Acadia tried a field kick but was unsuccessful.

In the second period the visitors held their own better and tried to manage to keep the ball in Acadia's territory a good deal of the time, but the splendid passing and running of Acadia's half line was too much for their defenses and again Acadia broke through only to be repulsed, until at last Anthony scored a second try. Again Davidson converted and the playing was resumed. Once more after a hard fight the locals managed to rush their way through the visiting team and this time it was Grimmer who made the score. Again Davidson converted and left the final score at 15-0.

The following was the line up:

King's—Full back, G. White; halves, Jackson, Davidson, Coster, Teed; quarters, Morrison, Best, MacCoy; forwards, Walsh, Sheperd, Norwood, Ernst, Goodwin, Cooper, C. White.

Acadia—Full back, Kitchen; halves, Clarke, Anthony, Holly, Murray; quarters, Grimmer, Robinson, Davidson; forwards, Lewis, Wigmore, Elderkin, Rhoderizer, Noble, MacCready, Thompson.

Referee: Dr. H. T. DeWolfe.

In our account of the fall term of the Supreme Court in last week's issue an error was made in the case of Christine Lyman vs. Willow Bank Cemetery Corporation. The damages awarded the plaintiff were $100 and not $1000 as stated.

BLUENOSE WINS SCHOONER RACE

Nova Scotia Fishing Schooner Proves Her Supremacy in Fresh Winds

Naturally the International Schooner Race this week, between the Lunenburg fisherman "Bluenose" and the Gloucester challenger "Henry Ford", has engaged the close attention of the people of this province.

The initial race on Saturday was ruled out by the committee in charge, which was composed of three members from the United States and two from Nova Scotia, due to the fact that the directions of the committee at the start were disregarded by both vessels. The captain of the "Bluenose" signified his willingness to have the race, which was won by a narrow margin by the challenger, count in the series but the committee remained firm.

The race on Monday was very much of the nature of a drift. The "Ford" demonstrated good sailing qualities in light breezes but when the wind freshened, the "Bluenose" steadily gained and the race ended with the Gloucester vessel leading by two minutes and twenty-six seconds.

By common consent there was no race on Tuesday much to the regret of the friends of the defender as ideal racing weather from the standpoint of the "Bluenose" prevailed.

Wednesday's race was a victory for the "Bluenose" which in spite of the fact that she lost a staysail two miles from the finish, crossed the line seven minutes and twenty-eight seconds in the lead.

Yesterday for the first time the weather favored the defender and with freshening winds the Nova Scotia craft gave a splendid account of herself. Crossing the starting line slightly in advance of her rival she maintained and increased her lead throughout the entire race, winning by fifteen minutes. During the race the "Ford" lost a topmast and Capt. Walters, who all the way through showed himself a true sport, shortened sail so as not to put his rival at a disadvantage.

Throughout the series the "Bluenose" demonstrated qualities which make her a worthy holder of the cup, and Nova Scotians are proud of the victory she has achieved in the face of many obstacles.

AVONPORT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Shaw, of Falmouth, spent a few days of last week at the home of Mrs. J. E. Pelly, of Avonport, where Mrs. Pelly's daughter, Mrs. B. Higgins spent the week-end in Halifax, guest of her friend Miss Olive Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McDonald are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby girl, born Oct. 18th.

Avonport has again been called upon to mourn the loss of one of its aged and highly respected life long residents, in the person of Mr. Fred G. Borden, who passed away at Westwood Hospital, Wolfville, on Sunday evening, Oct. 22nd, at 8.30 o'clock. His passing came as a great shock to his family and friends as he had only been ailing since Saturday morning, passing away on Sunday evening as stated. All that loving care and medical skill could do was done but his illness was of a fatal nature. Mr. Borden will be greatly missed from the community where his pleasant and genial disposition won him many friends. He was seventy-eight years of age, a Methodist in religion and a staunch Liberal in politics. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Alberta Vaughn, who passed to the Great Beyond some years ago. His second wife, Mrs. Margaret Witter Forsythe, survives him. He also leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, (Beatrice) Mrs. Howard D. Fuller, of Hortonville, and (Ermina) Mrs. A. O. Abbott, of Boston, and one son Perry A., of West Roxbury, Mass., also one brother, H. H. Borden, of Wakefield, Mass., and two sisters, Mrs. Gilmore, of Brookline, Mass., and Mrs. F. W. Woodman, of Wolfville. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family in this their great loss.

FILM SHOWS HOW WOMAN LOST 40 POUNDS OF FAT

Mrs. Ima Gobbler was a young woman of normal size in her more youthful days. But a few years after she had married and "settled down" she and her husband Heza Gobbler, were suffering from the effects of an unlimited diet and too much resting in an easy chair. Both were decidedly too fat.

How Mrs. Gobbler reduced forty pounds in a course of five months by the most simple of home methods is shown clearly and in an amusing way in "How to Grow Thin", an Educational Special which will be shown at the Opera House, Oct. 30-31.

The Heraldic Display of the College of Arms of Canada will be on exhibition at the Victoria School of Art and Design, Halifax, from Oct. 28 to November 10.

UNIVERSITY FEDERATION

The announcement recently made that St. Frances Xavier has decided not to enter the proposed federation of Maritime Provinces colleges is another indication that very little is likely to come of the proposal. So far as Acadia is concerned it has been pretty generally understood for some time that the denomination has no intention of making a change in their policy regarding higher education. Wolfville has suffered to some extent during the past year because of the uncertainty that has prevailed concerning the permanency of the college's location here. In consequence of this building operations that would undoubtedly have been carried on during the past season have been held up and real-estate activity has been practically at a standstill. With this question settled the coming summer should be a busy one in Wolfville. In February Acadia will have a new president and it is hoped that in the near future the work of rebuilding College Hall will be in progress. The educational institutions in Wolfville have progressed wonderfully during the past decade and their future was never brighter than now.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

A comparison of local newspapers of a number of years ago and the present publications with which almost every district of any importance is familiar, reveals a remarkable stride in the progress made, not only from a mechanical point of view but also in a literary sense.

There are many among us who can recall the paper of say fifteen years ago, filled on the inside pages with what is known in the business as "boiler plate" leaving only the outside pages to be printed locally. These latter pages were usually taken up with political and world news, and probably a "continued" story, while local news and items of local interest had but a scanty representation in one corner.

The change to present day publications has been imperceptible but steady, and today the best weeklies of Canada are crammed with local news, in fact at times it is impossible to find room for all that occurs locally. "Boiler plate" is done away with, the entanglements of politics are avoided, and local news and local features have the foremost place.

Although town and country are today flooded with cheap periodicals and daily papers, yet the country weekly has not suffered in the slightest degree, but has gone forward and strengthened its hold upon its local field. While to jokers in the community the weekly is known as "the rag" yet it is a fact that never is more keenness displayed by the community than when the local paper is issued and each subscriber eagerly scans its pages for news of interest to themselves and the district generally. How often do we hear it said "we read every word of our local paper" and of how many dailies or periodicals can this be said?

The fact that the lights in the lobby of the Town Hall are repeatedly allowed to remain on all night and well into the next day may not entail a very serious cost but it all goes to swell the amount that the ratepayers are obliged to put up to meet the town's expenditures, and furnishes evidence that Wolfville needs a town manager somewhere on its staff. "Many mickles make a muckle" is an old Scotch saying that contains much food for reflection.

Some idea of the advance that has been made in Canada in the manufacture of paper may be gathered from the fact that when THE ACADIAN began publication only five mills were operating in the whole Dominion, while now 101 well equipped mills are producing an output only fifteen per cent. of which is used in this country. Two of the largest paper machines in the world are in use in one of these mills, each of which makes a sheet of paper eighteen feet wide and two hundred miles long each working day. Another machine, which was made in Canada and is in use in another mill, turns out one thousand feet of paper per minute.

Shortly before his death the late C. R. Bill borrowed from this office the file containing the first volumes of THE ACADIAN. These were contained in book form substantially bound and must still be in existence although we have failed to locate it. Search among the effects of our late townsman subsequent to his decease failed to reveal the missing file which while of no value to others is much desired by the publishers of the paper.

EVENTUALLY, WHY NOT NOW?

Orr, in the Chicago Tribune.

We shall be exceedingly grateful to any person who happens to be aware of the whereabouts of the coveted volume for information concerning it, and will gladly pay for any expense that may be incurred in locating it.

ONE WAY TO GET AN EDUCATION

Some time ago, writes a subscriber to the Youth's Companion, I was travelling in Europe with a young lady who lived in a small town way Down East in Maine, and who was more generally informed in the history, literature, art and music of the countries we visited than those who had lived in and had the advantages of a large city. "Where were you educated?" I asked. "I was brought up in my home town and on The Youth's Companion," was her reply. And this same liberal education is in The Companion for anyone who will seek it. CANADIAN PREMIER OF GREAT BRITAIN

The Right Honorable Andrew Bonar Law was born at Rexton, New Brunswick, Sept. 16th, 1858, the fourth son of Rev. James L. Law, M. A., and Eliza Kidston. He received his early education in the public schools of his birthplace, the Gilbert Field school, Hamilton, and also at the High School, Glasgow, Scotland.

On completing his education, he entered the firm of William Kidston & Son, Iron Merchants, and became a partner. He was also a partner in the firm of William Jacks and Co., Iron Merchants, Glasgow, and for some time was chairman of the Glasgow Iron Trades Association. He was elected to the House of Commons for the Blackfriars division, Glasgow, in 1900, and represented the constituency up to 1906, when he sat for the Dulwich Division of Camberwell, holding the seat until 1910. In the general election of December of that year, he was defeated in North-West Manchester, but was elected for Botele in the following March; was parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade from 1902 to 1906; appointed to the Privy Council in 1911, and in the same year became leader of the Conservative party and head of the Opposition in the House of Commons.

He joined the Coalition in 1916 and was an active supporter of Lloyd-George's "Win the War government". On the conclusion of the war, his attitude towards the Coalition changed, his support being withdrawn gradually, until a short time ago he announced himself as definitely opposed to the British Foreign Policy.

In 1891, he married Annie Pitcairn, daughter of Harrington Robley, of Glasgow, who died in November, 1909.

The unusual popularity of STUDEBAKER CARS is attested by the fact that the corporation enjoyed the biggest business in its history in 1921.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total number of all automobiles sold (except Ford) was 40 per cent. less than in 1920, the total aggregate of sales for the Studebaker cars was 20 per cent. greater than in 1920—and in Canada 64 per cent. greater than in 1920.

THE TOBACCO EVIL

The growth, cost and menace of the cigarette evil is nearly incomprehensible. Latest available statistics according to Prof. Dickason are as follows:
 The danger of the cigarette continues. The annual consumption is considerably more than fifty billions (50,000,000,000). Educators everywhere have been aroused to the dangers as never before, but the aftermath of war has been in favor of the cigarette almost without exception. If the American Legion wants to fight one of the greatest foes of youth in our land today, let it turn its guns upon this enemy of the boys and girls.
 The financial waste alone is sufficient to expel it from our land. Eight hundred million dollars ($800,000,000) was spent last year for cigarettes alone and more than two billion dollars ($2,000,000,000) on tobacco in all forms. One hundred dollars for tobacco against one dollar for foreign missions does not make an attractive balance sheet.
 We are sometimes asked why emphasis is placed upon cigarettes instead of tobacco in general. The answer is two-fold, first, cigarettes, according to scientific authority are more injurious than tobacco in other forms as commonly used, and second, because children nearly always begin by using cigarettes. It is seldom that a small boy smokes a pipe or a cigar and girls practically never do so, but millions of children smoke cigarettes and the number seems to be increasing. Young women and older women are not infrequently seen smoking in public, especially in hotels, restaurants and places of amusement.
 It is true no doubt as reported, that the tobacco interests often supply certain young women cigarettes free and perhaps pay for their lunches, on condition that they advertise themselves and the tobacco companies by smoking in public. These incidents are repeated over and over again for advertising purposes in the newspapers, thus creating the impression that the habit is more common than it is. But when all deductions are made the fact remains that the evil is growing by leaps and bounds.

GOLD BEARING WHISKERS

Years ago an Illinois barber traded his razor for a pick and pan and started for the Klondike. Unsuccessful in mining, he opened a shampoo parlor whose equipment included a cyanide tank. The cuttings from the hair and beards of the miners, he says, "assayed $100 a ton in cyanide tank." The dollar apiece charged for shampoos and massages provided him with pocket money, but the suitcase full of gold which he brought back with him is all from the wealth-laden clippings that went through the cyanide bath, and he claims that this source has provided him with a fortune of a half-million dollars.
 Eight million women will be eligible to vote in the next General Election in the United Kingdom. Although they are not expected to elect many women members, they may well be the determining factor in many a constituency.
 Canada will negotiate directly with the United States a treaty regarding naval vessels on the Great Lakes. Most Canadians will welcome the announcement as an evidence of healthy national growth.

DISTINGUISHED NOVA SCOTIAN DEAD AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—The death occurred here today of Harry Percy Borden, a cousin of Sir Robert Borden, and a well known Nova Scotian. Born in Port Latour in December 1872, Mr. Borden was educated at Mount Allison and McGill Universities, being graduated from the latter as a Bachelor of Science. He began a technical career as assistant engineer in the bridge department of the C. P. R., was at one time assistant chief engineer of the structural department of the Montreal Locomotive Works, and in 1915 was assistant to the chief engineer of the Quebec Bridge Commission. In 1916, on the death of C. C. Schreiber, the Dominion Government appointed Mr. Borden as a member of the board of engineers, Quebec Bridge, which position he held until the completion of that work in 1918. From 1918 to 1921 he was retained by the government in a consulting capacity, and a few years ago he opened an office in Ottawa to specialize in bridge and other structural steel work. He was an active member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and of the American Society of Civil Engineers.
 He married in 1906 Edith Eva, daughter of the late Edward Alexander Hall, of L'Orignal, Ontario, who with two children survives him. Deceased is also survived by his mother, Mrs. J. R. Borden, and by his brother, Col. Allison Borden, D. S. O., of Winnipeg. The funeral will take place here on Saturday.

COLDS

This is the season of colds. Therefore, it is also the season for precautions. Misery attending influenza, in any form, is worth avoiding at a price of the exercise of common sense and a little prudence.
 Most colds are preventable, and result from exposure; but many are due to infection. It follows, therefore, that forethought should be taken where work in the open is concerned, in order that the body should be warmly clad against the elements, while sneezing and coughing persons should be avoided, wherever possible.
 Health is worth preservation, but its value is seldom truly appreciated until the physical harmony is impaired.
 Minister—So your husband is sick. Is he dangerous?
 Mrs. S.—No-o-o, Sir, he's too ill to be dangerous.

An Englishman and a newly-made American judge sat next to one another in a restaurant in New York. Said the Judge, pompously:
 "It would be a long time in the Old Country before you had the honor of having dinner with a Judge."
 "Possibly," replied the Englishman, "And perhaps you would be a long time in the Old Country before they made you a Judge."
 Neither troubled the other with conversation after that.

Personal and Social

Miss Mary Richardson is a guest of her sister Mrs. C. R. H. Starr.

Mr. E. A. Dempsey left this week for St. John, N. B., where he expects to spend the winter.

Miss Sara Prescott, accompanied by her cousin Miss Prescott, returned home from a month's stay in Albert, N. B. on Friday.

Mr. Clarence Spinney and family moved this week into the house on Gaspereau avenue that he purchased from Mr. E. A. Dempsey.

Mrs. F. H. Christie left on Saturday for Boston, having been called in consequence of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Pickhard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chisholm, who have been spending the summer at New Glasgow, were in town a few days this week en route to Bridgetown, where Mr. Chisholm has accepted a position.

Mr. E. W. Robinson, M. P., has been invited to attend the meeting of the Educational Association of New Brunswick which is to be held next week at Woodstock. Mr. Robinson will deliver an address on "Memory Tests".

Mrs. Sydney Desbrisay, of Petit Rocher, Bay Chaleur, N. B., who has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. Charles Stewart, and her aunt, Mrs. Barberie, left on Wednesday for home by way of St. John where she will be met by Mr. Desbrisay.

Miss Marie Wilson, Wolfville's noted contralto, left Boston recently for Chicago, where she will commence her south-western tour of 20 weeks through the Dakotas, Iowa, Illinois, and other western states, as the Canadian contralto of the Copley Quintette, of Boston.

Mr. John F. Eastwood, a former Wolfville boy who is now located and making good in Los Angeles, California, when renewing his mother's subscription to THE ACADIAN recently, sent best wishes for the success of the paper and added: "We get a great deal of pleasure in reading about the doings in the old home town".

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ellis, of Halifax, have been visiting in Wolfville this week after an absence of some years. They express themselves as much pleased at again being back in Wolfville, but have no intention of leaving Halifax, where they are pleasantly located and where all the members of their family have made good. While in town Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Leslie.

On Thursday evening of last week the ladies of the Social and Benevolent Society of the Baptist Church held a unique social for the purpose of raising funds to help with the repairs on the church edifice. Some eighty members of the society had earned an extra dollar by various ways and means during the summer, and had written some excellent and witty rhymes relating how this was done. These were read aloud to the interest of all. In addition a fine programme was presented, including a twenty minute play under the direction of Miss Helen Starr, which was splendidly presented. Miss Amy Prescott sang the song "Bide a Wee" in Scotch costume, supported by Dr. and Mrs. C. E. A. deWitt and Mr. Mollins, also in costume. Well sung duets were given by the Misses Chisholm and Smiley, while Mrs. R. W. Ford held the closest attention of all by her interesting readings. Mrs. G. K. Prescott presided, while Miss Fanny Parker read many of the rhymes. Over hundred dollars was realised.

GREENWICH ITEMS

The many friends in this place of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Brown and family, of Salmon Arm, B. C., were much interested in the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Ada, which took place last month. The family were former residents here, Mr. Brown being agent for some time at Port Williams Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Pudsey and family left for New Brunswick on the morning of Oct. 12th, where they will spend the winter, their eldest son Ernest remaining here with his uncle, Mr. Omer Pudsey.

A good number enjoyed the "Sing" at the home of Miss Lillian Bishop a week ago Sunday evening.

Mrs. Brenton L. Merry, of Bear River, is visiting here at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson.

The Misses Pierce, of Wolfville, visited their friend, Mrs. T. Andrew Pearson on Sunday week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Forsythe recently had the arrival of a new baby daughter.

Mrs. Grace Andrew returned over a week ago from Halifax, where she spent a few weeks on professional duties.

Mr. Andrew Fenwick is now very ill. His many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

A few of our residents were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Bishop last Wednesday evening.

Miss Lillian Bishop attended and enjoyed the meeting of the Social and Benevolent Society, held at the Baptist church in Wolfville last Thursday evening.

Miss Rena Cox, who is taking a course of study at Acadia Seminary, attended the reception held last Friday evening. Miss Lillian Bishop also attended this reception.

Mrs. G. I. Fraser is visiting for a few days at the home of her son Mr. Thomas Fraser, Scotts Bay.

The "Gold and Brown" supper, to be held at the hall on Thursday evening, is the most interesting subject this week and we hope for it great success.

We were much interested in the article in last week's ACADIAN on the School Exhibition at Gaspereau, and say to them, "Bravo!"

Mr. George L. Bishop, our resident, who is the popular Councillor of Ward 8, went into office for another term by acclamation.

The work of putting in a new cement culvert across the Main Street, just west of the "Ridge Road", has been in progress the last week. The finish of this work will be welcomed by the travelling public, this street being in constant use.

The "Bus" now in use between Kentville and Wolfville should prove to be a good thing, more especially over at Port Williams and Belcher Street, but would be more patronized in the summer season.

We understand an interesting and profitable evening is being planned for "Armistice Day" at Port Williams, to be held at Temperance Hall, on the real day, November 11th, which is as it should be.

Of him it may be rightly said that he was without reproach in his personal and public relations, that he was loyal and true to high ideals of personal conduct, and his untimely death will be mourned by all sections of the community in which he was so worthily honored, and particularly in the home town where many friends hold his memory dear.

The government, through the office of the Prime Minister, paid the following tribute to the late Dr. Edward Blackadder, M. P.:

"For some time past it has been apparent to his friends that Dr. Blackadder was in failing health. The news of his death is therefore not wholly unexpected. It comes nevertheless, as an occasion for real sorrow to all who knew him. The most modest of men, Dr. Blackadder was also one of the most cultured. His generous sympathies and unselfish devotion to interests other than his own long since established him in the affections of his fellow-citizens. He possessed a wide range of knowledge and experience and rare literary gifts. They have been used for years in an unflinching support of Liberal principles and policies. Few public men in a brief career have enjoyed activities as many sided. He was a practising physician, an editorial writer, a university lecturer and a representative of the people in Parliament. Throughout the last session, which was his first in the House of Commons, one of the most touching incidents was the fidelity with which, notwithstanding his all too evident infirmity, he attended the several sittings and sought to further in every way within his power the interests of his constituents. At all times unassuming, intensely earnest and sincere, his was a type which Parliament and the country at large can ill afford to lose."

OUR PRIZE CONTEST CONTINUES

Owing to the fact that some who desire to compete in THE ACADIAN'S biographical contest were unable to do so on account of lack of time at this busy season, the publishers have decided to extend the time until the end of November. This contest is open to any person in the county and it is hoped that many may participate in it. The competition is for the best biographical sketch of any person now living in the county over fifty years of age, and its length is limited to four hundred words. Competent judges will judge of the merits of the papers at the close of the contest and a prize of two dollars will be awarded to the winner with a second prize of one dollar. The sketches are to be the property of the paper and may be used for publication if desired. We invite writers young and old to take part in this contest, which is intended to promote literary talent and a better knowledge regarding the people of the county.

Advertising

The Fall Season is now here, and with it comes an earnest desire of every tradesman to do a bigger and better business than heretofore.

Do you want a bigger trade? Do you want the public of your neighborhood to respond eagerly to your appeal? Do you want an increased volume of business readily absorbed by a people you can call your own?

You do; then you must ADVERTISE.

This is the fundamental step to be taken in business, and wisely used, leads by a shorter and more economical way to a better trade.

Advertising cannot fail to stimulate the trade in any article or commodity which is sold at a fair price and gives satisfaction to the public. Call 217 and have us discuss a bigger business campaign with you.

SEA WALL OF OBSOLETE WARSHIPS

A novel use for warships has been discovered at Dartmouth, England, where they are ranged side by side in the line of the new sea wall, and filled with rubble. The old destroyer, "Jed" is here seen being merged into the wall.

WHERE PIRATES FOUGHT FOR TREASURE AND AN ADMIRAL WAS BORN

(Blanche Gertrude Robbins in Toronto World)

Reminiscent of those days when the building of wooden ships and schooners stirred into activity the Bay of Fundy ports, is Hall's Harbor, where the ring of the ship's carpenter's mallet echoed among the clefts of the bluff and the industry thrived with greater vigor than in any other Bay Shore port. More than forty years ago the ship-building boom died and the village of Hall's Harbor no longer thrilled to the launching of vessels of any size.

Reminiscent of the days when pirates sought cover from their pursuers, sailing their cutter up into the quiet waters of the creek fed by the brook tumbling down the mountainside and swept by the tides of the Bay of Fundy—the beautiful little sheet of water encircled by wooded hills now shelters only fishing craft and freight sloops.

Captain Hall, Pirate

The mention of the name of Hall's Harbor recalls the bold adventures of the pirate who so ruthlessly pillaged the neighboring valleys, running the cutter, the Mary Jane, loaded with plunder, up into the seclusion and shelter of the creek.

Captain Samuel Hall—the pirate—born in Kings county Nova Scotia, early left his birthplace and became a citizen of the New England States. Returning a few years later with a band of pirates, he plundered the valleys in the shadow of the majestic, amethyst-clefted Cape Blomidon, robbed the farmers, killed the cattle and mysteriously escaped with his spoils. Three voyages Captain Hall made up the Bay of Fundy, plundering without mercy, and twice he evaded capture. But the third voyage of the Mary Jane ended tragically for him and his band. As his schooner lay sheltered between the hills overhung with dense wood, the indignant pursuers tracked the robbers to the little creek ten miles from Cape Split, a vicinity destined to be named Hall's Harbor.

Aided by the militia the farmers, who had suffered much through the pillaging of the pirate and his band, attacked the Mary Jane as she lay at anchor in the creek. They discovered Captain Hall, the leader, and the greater number of his men absent on a plundering cruise, ashore. Three of the Mary Jane's crew had been left to guard the spoils of the robbers. Firing on the vessel, the militia wounded one and shattered the arm of one of the others.

Many a legend has been told beside the wide-mouthed fireplaces of Hall's Harbor, involving the pirate and his cutter, the Mary Jane. 'Tis said that a member of the crew—a mere lad—learned to love a maid belonging to an Indian encampment of the neighborhood. The pirates in each succeeding visit to the shores of the Bay of Fundy had found an able ally in the Indians, but the third voyage in the year 1813 saw the Indians more heavily bribed by the settlers, and the Red Men were responsible for giving the alarm and leading the way to the hiding place of the vessel. Tragedy ends the pretty legend, for the Indian maid flying to the vessel to warn her lover where he had been left on guard, fell under the fire of the militia, while her lover also perished.

Ghosts Guard Treasure

Tradition tells us that in his mad flight for safety Captain Hall left hidden the most precious treasure plundered from the valley—a chest of gold. Although many a search for the chest of gold has been attempted, its resting place has never been discovered and there are those among the searchers who tell how the Mary Jane still haunts the creek, and scarcely does the task of digging for the hidden treasure begin, than oars are heard dipping in the water and the crew appear to frustrate all efforts at unravelling the mystery.

The story of the anchorage of the Mary Jane in the creek and the tides of the pirate to this picturesque spot clung to the neighborhood and, when in 1830 the first settlers came to the banks of the creek to make their homes the name of the pirate was bequeathed to the settlement of Hall's Harbour. Among the first settlers was Silvanus Whitney, who opened the first trading store. The era of ship-building, which became so progressive an industry in this harbor began in 1835, when the first vessel was built. In the years following, many and varied craft were constructed in the yards.

The waters surging into the little creek that had sheltered the vessel of pirate's plunder have washed the hull of many a brig and barque and at least one full-rigged ship was launched in the Bay of Fundy. Then with the advent of the iron ship, there was dealt a drastic blow to the building of wooden ships on the Bay Shore of Nova Scotia. Gradually the ring of the carpenter's mallet echoing among the clefts of the overhanging bluff grew fainter and fainter and the industry died tragically. In the years following the abandonment of the shipyards by the larger building concerns, several small craft were constructed on the blocks by John Neville—a man belonging to Hall's Harbor—now ninety years old, who has given the best of his life's energy to the task of building ships.

During the late war, when there was a revival of wooden ship-building, Hall's Harbor watched the masts of schooners rise above the ship yards of neighboring ports for long years deserted. In their hearts they harbored the deep disappointment that industry could not be revived in their own abandoned shipyards because there was no fall of water to provide energy for the machinery necessary to the modern ship-yard. In the olden days manual labor supplied every energy in the ship-building.

Many and interesting have been the experiences of John Neville, ship-builder, as he has swung the mallet in the construction of craft launched in Hall's Harbor, and as he served in the shipyards of other Nova Scotia ports. The launching of the vessels, ever possessed of a thrill to the witness in general, held a peculiar thrill for Mr. Neville, for he claims that his position during the eventful hour was usually under the vessel, helping to knock out the blocks as she took to the ways.

Vividly, Mr. Neville recalls the year of 1861, when following the Battle of Bull Run during the Civil War, five Yankee deserters, making their escape on a vessel sailing up the Bay of Fundy, put into a Bay Shore port and found employment in the ship-yard where Mr. Neville himself, was wielding the ship's mallet.

The old abandoned ship-yard of Hall's Harbor with its stumps of blocks still visible, its litter of driftwood, and the beaching place for the fishermen's dories, is the favorite haunt of the ship-builder, John Neville, hale and hearty, keenwitted, with memory clear as a bell and mind that reasons apace with the times, makes almost incredible the fact that he has celebrated his ninetieth birthday. Freely he reminisces of the days of his ship-building boom and the shipping of timber from her port.

During those first years of settlement along the ranges of the North Mountain overlooking the Bay of Fundy, in their effort to clear the land, settlers ruthlessly felled the timber and great stretches were burned that the land might more quickly be prepared for farming and home-building. The early Bay Shore settlers believed there was a glorious future before them. In their dreams they saw the Bay Shore—the stretch of ninety miles from Digby Gut to Cape Blomidon—thickly settled, and the timber had little value in their eyes.

The dream of large settlement building up the Bay Shore was never realized. The building of the railroad through the province of Nova Scotia and the iron ships supplanting the wooden ships shattered the dreams of the early settlers who cleared the land of its dense and rich growth of timber.

Mr. Neville recalls the days when vessels in numbers put into port at Hall's Harbor to load with the product of the wooded hills and gullies. Wonder cargoes of hard wood—beech and maple and birch—were shipped in liberal quantities. The Bay Shore is now reaping the second growth of timber, but unfortunately this growth taking the place of the hard wood so highly valued and culled in the past from the Bay of Fundy shores, is generally spruce.

The ship-building port has shrunk to a village, and the 150 inhabitants with their comfortable homes—many of them built in the early history of the harbor—harmonizing with the setting of bay and creek, wooded hills and gulch—are dependent to some degree upon the fishing industry. Engaging in trawling, hand line fishing and seining of the weirs, the fishermen zealously reap the spoils of the Bay. Fertile farms on the hillside provide excellent living for the Harbor men who do not engage in fishing.

Turkish Admiral's Home

Hall's Harbor has bred and nurtured many sterling characters in men and women who have been lured from the village and have contributed influence in the public welfare of other provinces and in the United States. The name of Ramsford Buckman, a grandson of John Buckman, an early ship-builder—is spoken with pride and homage in all the homes of Hall's Harbor. Many a family traces a direct relationship to Ramsford Buckman—the boy born on the banks of the creek, who became the Admiral of the Turkish navy. Men who have lived their lifetime in Hall's Harbor proudly tell how they went to school with "Ramsy" Buckman—the lad who as a youngster was "smart and quick-witted". They point to the house in which was born the boy destined to a great career—remote to the peacefulness of uneventful life in the little Bay of Fundy port. Converted into a carriage house is this historic home, the remnants of the old-time patterned wallpaper still clinging to the walls of the room where Ramsford Buckman was born. The room itself now harbors a mowing machine.

When a lad of ten, Ramsford Buckman went away from Hall's Harbor to live with his grandfather in Cumberland county, Nova Scotia. The Harbor people followed his career as he worked gradually up to the position of captain. He sailed chiefly the Great Lakes and received his papers as a marine officer in the United States. Recognizing his ability a firm of ship-builders in Philadelphia commissioned him to command a man-of-war on his voyage to Constantinople, where it was destined to serve the Turkish navy. The rare gifts of Ramsford Buckman as a naval officer made their appeal to the Turkish authorities and he was appointed Admiral of the Turkish navy. Soon after the outbreak of war, Ramsford Buckman left Turkey and returned to British soil. Death ended his career in the early years of the late war while he tarried in London.

WHAT MADE ME HAPPY

"I was congratulating myself that I had passed the winter without catching a cold, when I got one at the beginning of last May. It was because I was run down. Being run down I had some trouble in getting rid of this cold. I was a nervous wreck. I would wake up regularly mornings feeling that some terrible calamity would take place. Although we were comfortably off, I felt sure my husband was going to lose everything. The children worried me. If they made the least noise, I would get into a terrible temper. I would scold them so that I am sure they hated me. I would be mad with myself after it was over and make up my mind never to let it happen again. I would go to bed at night and begin to think and picture dreadful things which might happen to me and my family. I would lay awake for hours, sometimes until daylight, until I was so weak that I could scarcely raise my head. I would wake next day just as tired as when I laid down. After a while I got so that I didn't care what happened. The children annoyed me and I wouldn't have cared if they had left me for good. I felt that it was only a matter of time before I would lose my mind. I knew that my symptoms were due to a run down condition and that if I could only get something to build me up, I might be all right. I knew that there must be some good tonics but most of them made such foolish claims that I was afraid of them. Happening one day to run across a leaflet about Carnol, I was impressed with the moderate way this preparation was described, so I made up my mind I would try it. I did and today I am the happiest and healthiest woman living. I haven't a day in the world. Instead of running away from me, my children are now with me all the time. My husband tells me that my disposition is as near an angel's as any human being's can be, but of course he is prejudiced. I don't believe I have a nerve in my body now."
Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 6-622

N. S. APPLE EXPORT SEASON OFF TO RECORD START

The 1922-23 apple export season has started off strong. Up to the end of September a total of 134,829 barrels of apples were shipped through the port of Halifax to the markets of the United Kingdom. This is a record start and double the shipments for the same period last year, when only 69,249 barrels were shipped. During the same period for the previous year 100,245 barrels were transported.

Last season the failure of the apple crops in the United States provided a good market for Nova Scotia Gravensteins, our earliest apple. Large shipments were made to points on this side of the Atlantic. This year the early apple crops in both the United States and Western Canada—were good so that the Nova Scotia exporter only had the United Kingdom markets to supply.

SHEFFIELD MILLS COUPLE HONORED

Canning, Oct. 18—More than eighty guests, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Osborne Bowser, Sheffield Mills, on Tuesday evening, to extend to them their congratulations on the 15th anniversary of their marriage. Mrs. Bowser who was charming in a gown of purple satin was assisted in receiving by a Committee from the Women's Institute, consisting of Mrs. Fred Burgess, Mrs. W. W. Harris, Mrs. David Eils, and Miss Leal Harris, the gathering being under the auspices of the Institute. Instrumental solos by Mrs. John Burgess and vocal solos by Mrs. Bowser, were enjoyed. Mrs. Fred Burgess on behalf of Sheffield Mills' Women's Institute, the congregation of Upper Canard Presbyterian Church, the congregation of the Baptist Church, Upper Canard, and the community at large, presented an address of appreciation to the guests of honor, to which Mr. and Mrs. Bowser, fittingly and pleasingly replied.

The address was accompanied by a beautiful Limoges dinner and tea. Mr. A. W. Bowser on behalf of the Dramatic Club, presented Mr. and Mrs. Bowser, with a casserole, mounted on silver, accompanied by a beautiful bridal cake. Linen, silver, and cut glass, were also received by Mr. and Mrs. Bowser. After a short address by Rev. G. A. Logan, supper was enjoyed. The evening closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne".

Mr. and Mrs. Bowser resided in Halifax until three years ago, when Mr. Bowser purchased the residence of the late Joshua Chase, Sheffield Mills. Mrs. George Osborne Bowser, was for many years, soloist in St. Paul's Church, Halifax, and since her residence here has by her beautiful voice which she has at all times used to help in community and church work endeared herself to all with whom she was associated.

A VAST IMPROVEMENT

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal starts its fall and winter campaign for subscriptions a vastly improved paper over what previously looked like perfection. To those who have read that great weekly for years it would seem impossible to make improvements. Nevertheless the publishers seem determined regardless of cost to make the Family Herald better value than ever before. Every Department is being strengthened and new features added. In fact the Family Herald and Weekly Star during 1923 will be such value that no Canadian home can afford to be without it.

CUT RASBERRY CANES

No time should be lost now in cutting out all the old canes from the raspberries—a little later blackberries—so that the growth of new canes will not be interfered with. It must be remembered that the canes that have fruited this year will not bear again except in the case of the ever-bearing varieties which produce a crop in the Spring and in the Fall. They include the St. Regis raspberry and the La France raspberry. The same branches which produce the Fall crop will also give next Spring's crop, so that they must not be cut out.

Amateurs sometimes make the mistake of trimming their raspberry plants back too hard. The red raspberries in particular do not need to be headed back very much. The new growth can be allowed to go on until the Spring, and then if it has shot up five or six feet all these tall canes can be cut back to a four foot level. This should be done before growth starts.

With the black and purple raspberries it is best to cut off the new shoots when they are about two and a half or three feet high so that they will branch and throw main laterals. In the Spring they should be cut back to four feet if they have grown taller.

While Spring is the best time to set out raspberry plants, there is no reason why you shouldn't make a new plantation from stock in your own garden during the late Fall. This is also a good time to provide supports for the plants. Some growers like to tie each plant to a stake, but that requires considerable labor. The simplest plan is to set a post at the end of each row, surmounting it with a cross piece in the form of a T. Then a single wire can be strung each side of each row, holding the plants upright even when they are loaded with fruit, and making it much easier to pick the berries.

Strutting about the barn yard a rooster came across what he thought was a gigantic hen's egg. It was huge, white, an egg-shaped globe for an electric light. Slowly and with great care he rolled this prize to the hen harem. Throwing out his chest and elevating his lordly comb he said to the hens:

"Now ladies I don't want to embarrass you or urge you to do something beyond your power, but look here—look at what others are doing."

Young Loo: "You're the only girl I ever loved."
His Sweetie: "Show me your bank book. If that is true, you must have saved a lot of money."

England. But the little sea port of the Bay of Fundy that gave Ramsford Buckman birth nearly sixth years ago will never forget the boy who added lustre to the village name.

Attracted by its picturesque setting, the densely wooded gulch, a wonder background for the historic creek sheltering fishing craft; the circling hills with their hospitable homes; the bay, blue and sparkling the tides washing the pebbled beach overhung by the bluff, many of the Annapolis Valley settlers have been lured to build summer homes and bungalows in Hall's Harbor. Happy and contented, the men folk fish and farm and listen to the stories of the older settlers of those days when the masts of ships and schooners rose above the beach and craft—fullrigged—launched out into the harbor to sail to faraway ports. Although poignant regret stirs in their hearts as they loiter about the abandoned ship-yards, their love and loyalty for the harbor where their fathers made their first homes, abides with them and they cling to the village and the farming hillsides circling the creek which once lured the Mary Jane and her bold pirate-captain.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

PORT WILLIAMS HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Parrish spent Sunday in Harborville, the guests of their son Mr. Clarence Parrish.

Miss Gwendolyn Fullerton entertained a large number of friends at an informal dance on Tuesday evening.

Crusade Day was observed in the W. M. A. Society on Wednesday afternoon in the Baptist church. On account of a misunderstanding of the date, the sisters of the Gaspereau Society to whom an invitation had been extended, were not present. A large representation of the Christian Missionary Society and the local Society were present and enjoyed very much hearing Mrs. H. Y. Corey tell of three outstanding instances of remarkable Christian experiences among the heathen with whom she worked. Miss Lillian Bishop also gave a very interesting talk of reminiscences dear to her, relative to her work while in India. Special music was given by Mrs. Cogswell and Mrs. Burbidge, of Canard, a social hour was enjoyed at the close of meeting during which a bountiful supper was enjoyed.

Mrs. Jack Briggs and son, of Halifax, are visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Balcom, Jr.

On Friday last while Ross and Earl Graves were practicing target shooting in their yard, a shot carried to Mr. Fullerton's orchard where Mr. Carr Schofield was picking apples striking him in the hip. Fortunately the accident was not so serious as at first reported but it will effectually stop boys under sixteen using fire arms even for target practice unless under the superintendence of a senior.

Mrs. (Capt.) Faulkner spent a few days last week in Hantsport, visiting her mother Mrs. Latimar, who returned with her to spend the winter here.

The prizes offered for the best essay upon the subject "Should Canada take part in another European War?" to be given upon Armistic night, Nov. 11th, at Port Williams, are open to scholars of Upper and Lower Church Street, Town Plot, and Port Williams, also all scholars attending the Public schools outside the Ward who are residents of above school districts.

LOCAL ARTISTS IN ENTERTAINMENT AT PEREAU

Canning, N. S., October 21—Seldom have the music lovers had an evening of rarer pleasure than was afforded them last evening at the musical entertainment given in PerEAU Baptist Church under the auspices of the Progressive Club. Vocal solos by Mrs. R. L. Eaton delighted the audience, her rich contralto voice being heard to great advantage, as was Mr. A. J. Mason's tenor, both in his solos and duet with Miss Evelyn Duncanson. Violin solos by Mrs. F. F. Chute, whose brilliant playing charmed the audience, and solos by Mr. Basil Silver, baritone, whose splendid tones are always enjoyed, added much to the entertainment. Miss Evelyn Duncanson's voice is of rare beauty, while Mrs. J. D. Clarke, soloist and accompanist, by her skill in technique and brilliancy, was delightful.

Mr. Parsons, vocalist, substituted pleasingly for the Clarke-Cross Quartette, which is always enjoyed. The readings given in dramatic style by Mrs. Clarence Norris proved delightful.

A vote of thanks was extended to the artists, who were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sandford, where a sumptuous supper was enjoyed. Proceeds amounted to $135.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL

To the Editor of THE ACADIAN
Dear Mr. Editor:— Will you permit me through THE ACADIAN to appeal again to the Christian and Temperance People of Kings County, concerning Social Service Council work and programme. The Council is as near to a League of the Churches as anything we have in Canada for humanitarian service in the name and spirit of the Kingdom of God. The Committee which sought my services as Missionary for their work in Kings County were desirous that public meetings should be held and the principles of the Councils proclaimed and advocated. The need of public support was to be emphasized. A first need was a sum of money ($1500.00) to pay some obligations of a former time Temperance conflict; and to provide our allotment for the Provincial Council's work under the gifted leadership of the self denying H. R. Grant. An unsalaried missionary was engaged with the understanding that his expenses would be paid if possible, but nothing further was promised. He entered upon his work with the beginning of October and in Berwick and Horton has received encouragement. He is asking that 1500 of the 6062 persons who voted in October 1920 for prohibition subscribe one dollar each. Up to this date 108 names are recorded in his book, $148.00 paid chiefly in dollar subscriptions, and $60.00 more promised by these names. Two very encouraging letters came to him on the 19th inst. One from the County W. C. T. U. with a P. O. Order of $25.00 for the campaign; the other from Dr. MacDonald, pastor of the Wolfville Baptist Church, a letter which proves that this work appeals to this strong and influential minister of our Christian religion, and makes us hope that the like interest in our work will be found in all the Ministers of the County. The Missionary will visit any part of the County as the Ministers open the door for him, and will be glad to have correspondence with 1300 more prohibition voters. While he limits his asking to one dollar he does not limit the gift of those who are able and willing to give more.

DON'T TELL EVERYTHING

Combining three of the most popular figures of the screen—Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson and Elliott Dexter—the two former stars and the latter a feature player for Paramount pictures—comes "Don't Tell Everything" which will be seen at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday.

The most interesting feature aside from the exceptional cast is that it is typically an out of door story, breathing the fragrance of the pine woods, the life and action of the polo field, and the charm of a California golf course.

Sam Wood, the director, is a keen sport lover himself. So is Wallace Reid and so, indeed, are all concerned. Dorothy Cumming, who plays a girl of the modern athletic type is an accomplished sportswoman. A real polo game was staged for the picture; and indeed nothing has been left undone to make this one of the season's most notable productions. Lorna Moon wrote, and A. S. LeVino adapted the story to the screen.

Colleges will eventually learn that studies are preventing them from getting more students.

HEADS RELIEF COMMITTEE.

CLINIC ITEMS

Eye Clinic, Friday, Nov. 3, at Clinic Room, Weaver Block, Kentville, for school children; specialist in attendance (commencing 8.30 a. m.)

"A million dollars to anyone who will restore my sight", once said a prominent business man who had become blind. But it was too late! No one could restore the vision that was lost. This shows how valuable to us is our eyesight, and how careful we should be to see that our eyes are kept in good condition. . . . Poor sight may cause illness in other parts of the body, and when the eye trouble is corrected, the health improves.—From publications by the Metropolitan Life.

As but a limited number can be tested, it is requested that names be sent to County Nurse, Box 205, Kentville, not later than Wednesday, November 1. The clinic takes place under the auspices and financing of the County Red Cross.

WOLFVILLE GIRL SINGS FOR RADIO

The following extract from "The Agnostic", the weekly paper published by the students of Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga., will be read with interest by the many friends of Miss Eunice Curry, who is the daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Elias Curry, of this town:

"Here's a hint for the publicity department! For real good, effective advertising, choose the radio. On Monday night, October 3rd, Agnes Scott was advertised about as well as she possibly could have been, when Miss Curry sang at the Atlanta Journal office over the radio. Pocahontas Wight on the violin and Mrs. Johnson at the piano represented Agnes Scott, too.

The program which Miss Curry sang to all over the United States last Monday night was:

"Silent as Night"—Bohm.
"Lullaby"—Hanscomb (violin obligato by Pocahontas Wight).

"A Prayer for You"—Sparrow (violin obligato by Pocahontas Wight).

Some duets with Miss Mashburn of Atlanta.
"Sandman" by the Melody of Hymn-moresque.

"The Bells of Saint Mary." Maybe next year some girl from Silver City, Wyoming, or Landsend, Maine, will be at Agnes Scott on the strength of this advertisement of us by Miss Curry and our other two artists".

One way to keep from eating too hastily is to return to the table where you forgot to tip the waiter yesterday.

Dad: "Daughter, the banker tells me that you have overdrawn that account I opened for you last month."

Beth: "Oh, he's mistaken, dad. I haven't used up half the checks in the book yet."

PRACTISING OLD-FASHIONED ARTS

The picture shows Mrs. Paulson, of Winnipeg, who has passed her ninetieth year, and who still keeps herself actively engaged in spinning on the old spinning wheel.
