The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CARROLL

We have a family cat. She is an extremely gentle little ball of silver grey fur with benevolent yellow eyes. Such is the amiability of her disposition that we call her "Sweetness." Like the cat of washing powder fame, "she has never scratched yet."

That doesn't sound particularly alarming, does it?

And yet this inoffensive creature was the cause of a tremendous scene yesterday afternoon.

A visiting lady with a sturdy little boy of five or six years old was in the living room with me when Sweetness took it into her head to stroll in and pay her respects.

The youngster looked up, caught sight of the little furry creature strolling towards him, and with a series of blood-curdling shrieks, which must have convinced the neighbours we had gone insane and started murdering each other, and a leap which by no fault of his just failed to upset the lamp, landed in his mother's arms.

It was sometime before I grasped the situation and left the room with the astonished Sweetness.

It was some time longer before his mother had ceased to murmur "No, no, the wicked old kitty wouldn't hurt him." "Was he frightened to death of the terrible kitty?" and similar courage-inspiring remarks.

When it was possible for her to set the boy down she smoothed out her dress, straightened her hat, and turning to me with the same peculiar pride with which women tell of their illnesses, explained, "Yes, he is frightened to death of cats. We have to be so careful not to let one get anywhere near him. Does he inherit it? Oh, no, you see, when he was a baby a big cat jumped upon him as he was lying in his carriage and frightened him, and he has never gotten over it. We have had such a terrible time with him. Why once—"

And for ten minutes the visiting lady related occasions on which bold feline had approached too near her unfortunate Harry.

During the recital Harry stood beside her listening proudly and occasionally prompting her with "And I had to have the doctor, didn't I, mamma?" "And I tipped the table over, didn't I, mamma?"

"He has never gotten over it," the visiting lady had said.

Of course not.

Why should he, when he realizes the pride his fond mother takes in his peculiarity?

Why should he, when everytime he performs he holds the centre of the stage for the next hour or two?

Why should he, when he is continually urged on by the fear-stimulating suggestion of, "That terrible kitty won't hurt you," and things of that sort.

Why should he, when every premium is placed on fostering his terror and none on overcoming it?

Sensible boy—of course he will always regard the appearance of a cat as his cue to take the centre of the stage with a war whoop.

I don't criticize him one bit, think his course is the inevitable one.

My only blame is for his mother and for any mother who, like her, encourages a child to make a fetish of his fear instead of helping him to overcome it.

There are, of course, cases of 'inborn terror' which cannot be entirely eradicated.

But such terror surely can be modified and as far as possible hidden.

And even of such cases, I am afraid I am a bit apt to feel like the unsympathetic Dr. Johnson when he says: "There is one species of terror which those who are unwilling to suffer the reproach of cowardice have wisely dignified with the name of 'an timidity.'"

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indicative. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

You can't afford to accept a secret remedy as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition.

Fads and Fashions.

Tailored coats reach to the hip.

The short jacket is very popular.

Heavy stitching is the "latest cry" in gloves.

The use of dark fur edging is very effective.

Beak bags and purses are shown in great profusion.

The most expensive umbrellas have tortoise-shell tops.

The bordered chiffons in "ombre" effect are extremely smart.

We often see plain and fancy braids on the same garment.

Coral is very much to the fore just now in the way of ornaments.

Skirts are narrow and straight both for practical and dressy wear.

Lace tunics are predicted, and also broad lace collars in sailor shape.

Narrow bands of fur trim gowns of silk, satin, velvet, chiffon or cloth.

Marabout trimmings are very effective on soft satins and chiffons.

The chief feature in the new laces will be cream-colored Irish crochet.

Coats close above the line of the breast rather than below it, as last year.

We see wide and narrow silk braids on street frocks of serge and cheviot.

Very sheer chiffon is used, it is of satin, lousaine, or very soft-finished taffeta.

The fringe's girde of twisted cords of gold, silver or heavy beaded jet stylish.

A few striped chiffons are shown, but the plain seems to have the preference.

Yokes are seen as much as ever. It is rarely that they are made of single material.

The newest corsets are lower in the bust and have more fullness above the waist line.

For dancing, skirts just escape the floor, and for walking they just escape the ground.

Satin gowns are frequently faced up on the inside with chiffon of the same shade.

Barbaric effects in bead work are sought for and very striking results are often obtained.

For street wear in shoes the high stilette top with patent leather vamp is the correct thing.

Velvetons, corduroys and whip-cords will be much in demand for the skating costume.

Each year is heralded as a season of fur. This year the prophecy will surely come true.

Crepe is now lavishly used on "fir morning frocks." Deep bands finish the lower parts of skirts.

Atronsette, a beautiful material that resembles a figured void, is used in handsome lingerie blouses.

A black tulle bow held in place by a square buckle ornaments a slipper that needs a touch of black.

Nets both plain and beaded are extensively used for over corages and tunics worn over velvet gowns.

The tunic effect is still in vogue and the models show the two sides of the skirt widely different in design.

For morning frocks silk warp Henrietta combined with English waterproof crepe is greatly used.

Wide splashy bands of satin are much used as trimming on frocks of chiffon, serge, or almost any material. Chiffons in yellow tones—changing from the deepest gold to faintest buttermilk yellow—are extremely pretty.

There is a continued favor of the kimono sleeve—not only on corsage but on quite a number of the new jackets.

Pretty frocks are of nets and marquisettes stenciled in a simple design in soft colors, and the design outlined in beads.

Plain white net, pin dotted net, filet lace and Venetian lace are popular for the round or square yoke and high collar.

Evening cloaks are made of velvet and satin brocades—the velvet pattern standing out sharply on the satin ground.

Chiffon appears to have been the "slogan" of the dictators of fashion for the dressy gown of the season of 1910-11.

A noticeable feature of the new models is the narrow foundation skirt of soft messaline finished with a plain two-inch hem.

Montreal Stirred by Dark Tragedy.

Westmount Victim a Young Girl — Two Men Under Arrest Charged With Foul Crime—Were Held for Abduction and a Worse Offense Against Child, but Finding of Body Causes Charge of Murder to be Made.

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Sensational developments in the Westmount mystery occurred to-day, when the body of the girl discovered in a vacant lot was positively identified by the clothing as that of Cecile Michaud, a girl of thirteen years.

It was immediately remembered that two men, Albert Cheverier, a bartender, and Ludger Perrault, a saloon keeper, had a short time ago been committed for trial on a charge of abduction, and a still more serious charge against Cecile Michaud, another girl of sixteen named Bernadette Dagenais.

Shortly after the Michaud girl disappeared in August, the father and a lawyer started an investigation with the result that they learned from Bernadette Dagenais that early in August the two men had met and induced them to take an automobile ride promising to bring them back in an hour. But Bernadette said that instead they were driven to a resort just outside the city and piled with drink while Cheverier induced the Michaud girl to stay. Bernadette then left and apparently Cheverier was left alone with Miss Michaud who was never seen again. This led to the arrest of Cheverier and Perrault and they were committed for trial on two charges. Now they are held for murder, and will probably be so charged at the coroner's inquest.

The lower jawbone of the girl was discovered to-day with several teeth apparently knocked out. Two teeth were also missing from the upper front while the father states that the child had a perfect set of teeth when he last saw her. He thinks the child was drugged and abused and that probably the teeth were knocked out in a struggle to force a drug into her mouth.

The case has aroused great feeling throughout the city, and every effort will be made to ferret it out.

How He Was Drowned

Letters from Humbermouth which reached the city by yesterday's mail give some particulars of the drowning of Master Willie Bagg, of Curling, son of Mr. John C. Bagg, J. P., to which the Telegram referred a couple of days ago. The lad with his cousin, W. Messervey, were in a canoe together on a hunting trip and were coming down Deep Water Rapid, on Sandy Lake, when the canoe was swept around and striking a rock with great force filled with water and both were swept into the swirling waters. Messervey, after great exertion, and when he had almost been swept to his doom also, managed to reach the shore, but the poor lad Bagg was swept down the river and sank to rise no more. A man named Wells was following in a canoe and made desperate exertions to reach the drowning lad but he was gone before he got to the spot. His death has occasioned much sympathy for his parents.

Closes To-Morrow.

We thank the Executive Committee of the Manufacturers' Association for taking our suggestion in regard to keeping the Exhibition open another week. We regret, however, that the Committee find it impossible to do so. As will be observed by a perusal of the letter from the Hon. Secretary, which we publish below, the Executive Committee met last night and considered the proposed extension. Too many obstacles stood in the way of carrying out the idea, and with reluctance the Committee decided to adhere to the original closing day. It will be observed from an advertisement which appears also in this issue, that those in charge of the two Exhibitions have decided to make a charge to-morrow. The object of the charge is to provide a fund for the widows and orphans bereft of breadwinners by the loss of the steamer Regulus and of the schooner Golden Arrow. The object is a most worthy one and will no doubt commend itself to our readers.

EXHIBITION CLOSES TO-MORROW.
Dear Sir,—It has been suggested to the Manufacturers' by the Press, and a considerable number of visitors, that the Exhibition should be kept open to the public during next week. The Executive Committee met last night, but found that there were a great many obstacles to the carrying out of this idea, and they therefore very reluctantly decided that they should not alter the arrangement which was originally made to close the Manufacturers' Exhibition to-morrow. The Committee desire me to avail myself of this opportunity to thank the Press for their very excellent reports of the Manufacturers' exhibits, and their kind criticism and commendation, and also to acknowledge the warm approval which the public have shown by their large attendance, and to assure you and them that this approval of the Exhibition will inspire the Manufacturers' with new efforts to accomplish greater things in the future than they have hitherto achieved.

Yours truly,
G. C. FEARN,
Nov. 4th, 1910. Hon. Secretary,
The Evening Telegram.

Fire at Bally Haly.

Mr. Burnell, the caretaker of the Bally Haly Golf Links, this morning at 9.30 telephoned the Eastern Station that the house there was on fire, and the Central and Eastern men with a hose and the chemical engine responded. Several policemen also went to the fire. The fire was discovered under the porch, which had become overheated and ignited the sill and the clasp above it. The caretaker and men from the neighborhood cut their way to the seat of the blaze and quenched it with buckets of water.

Historical Society.

A. J. W. McNelly, Esq., presided at the regular meeting of the Historical Society, held last night. Mr. H. F. Shortis presented a petition from residents of Placentia, asking that their town be recognized in the celebration of the King's Coronation next summer and that a Park for the use of the public be established at one of the most suitable historic localities of the Ancient Capital. Mr. Shortis strongly supported the petition and advanced reasons why the request should be complied with. He also laid on the table a letter from Mr. J. P. Lane, City Treasurer of Bristol containing the following: "Exchequer Q. R. Account 415-3. Account Book of John Hearn, Treasurer of the Chamber, 15-16 Henry VII. Week Ending January 17, Henry VII., 1502. Item: To men of Bristol that found this. The C.S. means 100 shillings which amount was paid to Cabot's crew. History tells us that Cabot himself received £10 for his summer's work, and the crew half that amount. This no doubt being the origin of the custom that still prevails in this country, viz., giving the crew 'half their hand'."

Mr. H. W. Lemessurier presented a petition from the women of Placentia asking for a Park and the celebration of the King's Coronation. Rev. Canon Smith supported the petition. Mr. Nichols was more cautious and would not give the petition his support till he had fuller particulars. Mr. M. A. Devine took his cue from Mr. Nichols, evidently, and wanted to be fully impressed as to what the Placentia people were looking for.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day a Scotch sailor pleaded guilty to stealing a $10 note, the money of Wm. Ennis, and was remanded for 8 days as it is possible he may be sent home. He had hidden the cash and disclosed the place where he hid it, so that it was received and restored to the owner.

A vagrant of civil business was performed in the Central District Court.

Escaped From Asylum. Agricultural Show Closes To-Morrow.

When Messrs. Thos. Coady, A. Brenner, E. Smith and Percy Lemessurier were returning from a dance held at Graham's near Waterford Bridge, at 3 o'clock this morning, they met an old man on Waterford Road, near Hon. D. Morrison's cottage, that particularly attracted their attention. He had very little apparel on him, being without hat, coat, vest or boots, though he wore an old pair of pants and socks covered his feet. The men stopped their carriage and on questioning the man found that he had escaped from the Lunatic Asylum, where he said he had been for the past 5 months; that his name was Samuel Dyke, of Salvage, E.B., and that he wanted to get home to his wife and 14 children. He said he had no difficulty in getting out of the institution and through the back doors. He was chilled with the cold and said he had knocked at the bedroom window of Miss Penstone's residence but could not get admission. The men took him to the cab and drove him to the police station where he was looked after. He was returned to the Asylum to-day.

Stole a Valise.

An outport man who bought a pair of socks at a store on Water Street, Wednesday evening, discovered a valise by the door when he was going out, unknown to the proprietor and his clerks. A lady on the street who saw what occurred and believed that the valise was stolen, informed the proprietor. He went out and hearing that the man had gone up town followed him, but could not then locate him. Next day the proprietor of another store being informed of the incident recognized the man by the description given as he had been in his shop also and bought an article. Through his help the owner of the valise found the man who on giving up the property and pleading for mercy was let off.

Scenes of Splendour

King George's Coronation will be marked by a gorgeous display of the Resources of the Empire. The great event of next year—the Coronation of King George V.—will be celebrated by an exhibition which will show the dominion, power and resources of the British Empire. From India will come marvellous artisans and world-famed wonder-workers, while the products of her extraordinary agricultural and mineral products will be housed in exact replicas of Indian palaces. Herd of herds of animals, including the first time, adequately set forth, and visitors will be able to see how large a part India plays in the progress and greatness of the British Empire. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the Soudan, British Guiana, Jamaica, the Philippines, and others, will tell the story of their own and extraordinary development. For the first time in the history of the British Empire there will be seen representatives of all the races and nationalities who owe allegiance to the King, and their special industries will be produced. In addition to gold-miners, backwoodsmen, and other pioneers of the Empire there will be aborigines from Australia, Maoris from New Zealand, the red Indians from the Far West, the semi-civilized tribes from the Fiji Islands, coloured peoples from the Mascarene and Bechuanaland, Esquimaux from the frozen north, and Chinamen from the Malay Peninsula. The buildings and habits of these people, interesting, striking and strange, with their work, will be shown. The United Kingdom, too, will take its part. The wonderful resources and epoch-making industries of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales will be in evidence. In some of the many palaces of the imperial household there will be replicas of noble British mansions, while the grounds will contain representations of some of the beauty spots of the United Kingdom. Seats for the great pageant are already being ordered, and in the City of London, Coronation-risks are already being insured against. The rate of insurance at present is from 8 to 10 per cent, but it is rapidly rising, and is expected to reach 15 to 20 per cent, before long. The insurance is against financial loss which would ensue should the Coronation, from any cause, not take place next year. Protection can also be obtained against loss consequent upon an eleven-hour postponement to a later date in the same year. The insurance particularly concerns, of course, those who erect stands or make contracts for decorations and illuminations, etc. The present rates, it is interesting to know, are not so high as were those for King Edward's. This is on account of King George's comparative youth.

Escaped From Asylum. Agricultural Show Closes To-Morrow.

Dear Sir—At the request of a large number of persons the Nfld. Agricultural Board has had under consideration the question of keeping the Agricultural Exhibition open for another week, but has been reluctantly compelled to conclude that such extension is for many reasons impracticable.
The Board wishes to thank the Press and reporters for many well written descriptions that have appeared in the various papers. They also wish to express their appreciation of the very great interest manifested by the public in general as evidenced by the large daily attendance, and hope that the object aimed at by their effort to awake an increased interest in agriculture in the Colony may be successful.
I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
FRANK H. SIMMS,
Sec'y Agricultural Board.

Sir—The Newfoundland Board of Agriculture are desirous of raising funds in aid of the families of those lost in the s.s. Regulus and the schr. Golden Arrow, and for that purpose to charge an entrance fee to their exhibition on Saturday, and would be obliged if your Committee would allow them the use of your exhibits and attendants during that day for the above named purpose.
An early reply would be much appreciated.
I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
SYDNEY D. BLANDFORD,
G. C. FEARN, Sec'y.
Hon. Sec. Manufacturers' Exhibit'n, Sydney D. Blandford, Minister of Agriculture & Mines.
Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of yours of even date, and have much pleasure in complying with your request, the understanding being, of course, that you are responsible for the good conduct of the Exhibition.
Yours truly,
G. C. FEARN,
Hon. Sec. Mfs. Exhibition.

What Mrs. Hetty Green Says.

Mrs. Hetty Green, alleged to be the richest American woman, says: "I own forty houses. I put most of my money in mortgages and let other people worry about the taxes. I saved seven widows in Chicago from being put out of their homes. Someone was going to foreclose the mortgages and I bought them up. I am 78 years old and get tired more quickly than I used to. I have been too busy spanking people and fighting people of late years to think much about clothes." Asked how it seemed to be so rich, Mrs. Green said: "I don't feel any different from anyone else. I've always worked hard, and there is a living for everyone if they will only work for it. New York city is filled with convicts. You can buy nearly every man's vote down here."

A Gallant Cornet.

Sir George Wombell, who recently celebrated his golden wedding, is probably best remembered for his gallantry in the Valley of Death at Balaclava. In the memorable charge, though he was not on duty, with the 17th Lancers, in which he was a cornet, and extra gallop to Lord Cardigan, he rode on the right flank. Twice he had his mount shot from under him, but he went to within a hundred yards of the terrible batteries unscathed. It was in those ever-to-be remembered days that his first enjoyed the close friendship of the Duke of Cambridge, who was with the Guards Brigade.

A story is told of how Paganini once came into the concert room, took the violin and touched the strings. First one string broke, and then another string broke, and there was another string broke, and there was when a third string broke many people laughed outright at his discomfiture. But Paganini stood forth with his violin as though nothing had happened and played on the one string, and the people seemed to smile, but listened spellbound. Some of those who had derided him began to weep, and some even prayed. Many a man had fallen helpless by the wayside when some great catastrophe turned the current of his life aside. The brave man pushes forward with one remaining talent and plucks victory from defeat.

Says Kendall of S. S. Montrose Plan to Escape

Dr. Crippen's preparations for suicide were part of the scheme to hoodlegations made by the defence during the trial. "The first we knew about the trial," said Captain Kendall was what we read in the Star after we got into port last evening.

The quartermasters were very indignant when they read the statement made by the defence to the effect that Dr. Crippen's preparations for suicide were part of the scheme to hoodwink justice, and that he had entered into an arrangement with one of them to be hidden among the cargo on hearing port leaving behind letters which would give the impression that he had committed suicide.

"They at once came to me in a body to deny all knowledge of such a plot. Not content with that, they have drawn up a sworn statement to the effect that Crippen's allegation is a concoction from the beginning, and that they not only never entered into such a conspiracy, but that such a thing was never even suggested to them, or thought of by them. That statement they signed, and it is now in my possession.—Oct. 28th.

HAVANA, Nov. 3.

A special despatch from Madrid says: The Military Governor of Madrid has ordered the immediate release of Prof. Ovejero of the University, who was arrested recently as being identified with the anti-military campaign. This action follows a decision rendered by a military judge before whom Ovejero came for trial. The judge declared that Ovejero had not extolled the virtues of the army.

CHICAGO, Ills., Nov. 3.
Several of the oldest traditions of Frankford were shattered last night by James Eads Howe, the "millionaire hobo" and national organizer of the Brotherhood Welfare Association. In an address before the members of the local branch of the organization he advocated shower baths, fumigation, work for the unemployed, and "cushions" to ride on. Howe reported the Association to be flourishing in St. Louis, Kansas City, Cincinnati and New York. He accorded unanimous vote to a resolution to appoint a committee to confer with railroad presidents regarding free transportation for the passenger coaches to hobo en route to places where labor is in demand. The committee also was empowered to start a movement toward a national free employment bureau.

CHICAGO, Ills., Nov. 3.
Ninety heads of departments of the Postal Telegraph Company in Chicago will form the largest single opera party at the opening performance at the Auditorium Theatre to-night. They will be the guests of Clarence H. Mackay, President of the Postal Telegraphs Co., who also is Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Grand Opera Co. Mr. Mackay was stolen yesterday from New York yesterday from New York requesting that a block of 100 seats be reserved for him on subsequent nights. Mr. Mackay plans to entertain at the opera all other employees of the postal system in Chicago, including the corps of messenger boys.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 3.
To inspect emigration Stations at Honolulu and points en route, Commissioner General Daniel J. Keefe will leave to-day on a tour that will require two and a half months. Places that will be embraced in his itinerary include Sudbury, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

BISBEE, Ariz., Nov. 2.
Reports from Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, say that the body of former Governor Rafael Y. Sabele, of Sonora was stolen yesterday. Governor Y. Sabele died recently while returning from Europe, and the body was buried last week at Hermosillo.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3.
Cablegrams were received last night from Honduras confirming the Associated Press despatches of the revolutionary outbreak at Amapala. That the U. S. will within the next few days take an active part in ousting General Jose Valladares, the leader of the rebellion, from his entrenched position on the little island of Amapala, is the belief of the business men of New Orleans, who are more or less interested in Central American trade. The Honduran Government has a very small army and as Valladares has several machine guns, it is thought that President Davila will ask the assistance of the United States Government in its efforts to get rid of the trouble maker in Amapala. The friends here of former President Manuel Ronilla assert that he has no connection with the revolt of Valladares. Notes of his hatred of foreigners, Valladares recently publicly announced that he had his dog called "Taft," in order to show his contempt for the American Government.

SOUTH BRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3.
The South Bridge Spectacle Company is soon to be moved to Montreal according to announcement made by Joseph Oulmet, Jr., President. An average of 300 hands are employed at the plant and in busy seasons 500.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.
The United States Gunboat Princeton is in the harbor of Amapala ready to take a hand in the Revolution at the first sign of hostilities toward foreigners or their interests. President Davilla is preparing to send an armed force against Valladares and in event of the Government's failure to restore order on the island the United States probably will be asked to interfere. Commander Hix telegraphed the New York Department as follows: "The Commander of Amapala has informed the foreign consuls that he has no intention of interfering with foreign subjects or foreign property. There is no disorder at present. Little faith is put in his promises by officials of the United States Government, and the instruction to the Princeton are sufficiently liberal to permit her commander to meet any situation that arises."

Convallescents from fevers and injuries that have kept them bed ridden for some time and all people run down and below par, generally will find a course of treatment with Ferrer's invigorating tonic just the thing to put them on their feet again in good shape. Ferrer's is composed of fresh lean beef, Citrate of Iron and pure old Spanish Sherry Wine. $1.00 per bottle.

Visited Bell Island.

During the early part of the week Health Inspector O'Brien had been visiting Bell Island in the interest of the Health Department. The inspection of milk farms occupied his best attention. There are now 107 farmers and others who keep milk cows. Most of the milk is produced for sale. Other farmers keep it for cream and butter. There are 125 milch cows on the island. The Department is desirous of impressing on milkers the necessity of keeping clean hands and also of keeping the cows udders, teats and quarters free from manure, otherwise clean milk cannot be expected.

EXHIBITION WEEK.
FRIDAY, Nov. 4, 10.
In every list of toilet preparation Skin Creams are always prominent. Such preparations are in various degrees requisite all year round. Certainly our stall at the Exhibition would be poorer if it lacked Cream of Lilies. Perhaps there is no product of ours that is better known or more favorably thought of. As usual in such cases "There's a reason." Cream of Lilies seems to be especially adapted to our climate, and the number of delighted users of it grows month by month. For use all the year round it is quite unsurpassed, and is as good for sunburn as for chafed or sprained hands as for windburn face. Price 25c. a pot.

CARTHAGINIAN IN OFFING.—Messrs. Shea & Co. had a wire this forenoon saying that the Carthaginian was abreast of Cape Spear at 10 a.m. in a dense fog. The tug Ingraham was dispatched to try and locate the ship if possible and pilot her to port. The pilots are also outside. It is likely, however, that the ship is keeping well off, though within hearing of the whistle. Should the fog lift she will no doubt get a chance to run in.

NOVEMBER 1910.

Exhibition Visitors!

It Will Pay You to Visit Our Stores Before Purchasing Elsewhere in the City.

Jackman The Tailor, The Mail Order House.

Exhibition Notes.

Yesterday afternoon a great number of school children attended the Exhibition in the two Rinks. They were delighted with the booths, and the show was both entertaining and instructive to them.

Mr. James Vey during the past few days has taken some excellent photos in combination sets of the interior of both Rinks, and groups of the men who put up the booths and decorations, 160 men appearing in one. The picture of the opening is certainly a beauty.

Many people imagine that in the daytime the Exhibition cannot be seen under the glamour of artificial light, and consequently few attend. As a matter of fact the whole is brilliantly illuminated by electricity from 10 a.m. until dinner hour, consequently outboard folk and others should govern themselves accordingly.

Pessimists we shall always have with us. Some profess to believe that the holding of the Exhibition will have no effect on the future welfare of the city.

Boy Had Fits For 6 Years

Druggist advised DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD—Cure complete and lasting.

Mrs. J. D. Palmer, 38 Park St., Amsterdam, N. Y., writes: "When six years ago my boy began to have fits, he came on in the night. He would make strange noises, utter out, froth at mouth, face would twitch and sometimes turned purple. After the fit he could not talk.

"The family physician said all he could do was to keep them down some what. The second physician pronounced trouble Jeffersonian epilepsy, but could not cure him. He suffered for six years, and before beginning the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food had three fits in about five days. Our druggist recommended Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food and has taken seven boxes and has not had the symptom of a fit since. His color has greatly improved; he is not nervous and irritable like he used to be, and we consider his cure complete."

Such results are only obtained by the use of the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food—not from imitations or substitutes. 50 cents a box, all druggists or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Local Trade.

Time only of course will show the result, but if the people are sincere in what they say, they will in future give the local manufacture goods a square deal when purchasing.

Some there are also who say to manufacturers that certain goods are not made here, they appear to be of such a superior kind. That is just the reason why local goods look so well; they are in many instances superior and more care and attention is given them in the process of manufacture than is afforded to foreign goods.

If there are peepholes about our mind it should not be a matter for surprise. Many of the local manufacturers never take pains to bring before the public the fruits of their enterprise and industry. They eschew advertising altogether; the public are kept in ignorance of what is being done, and yet they wonder why there is not more demand for their goods. The wonder is that under such conditions they dispose of so much.

The Imperial Tobacco people last night gave away a number of corn cob pipes with samples of their goods, and they got clear of a deal of them before the exhibition closed.

The F. B. Wood Co. also gave samples of their candies turned out in the booth, and that particular part of the building was thronged by young folks for the greater part of the night.

(CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 3.)

In riding to the depot yesterday in a non-union taxicab, Jack Johnson, heavyweight pugilist, was struck by a brick thrown and had a large gash cut in his forehead. The champion, who received a message from his attorney in New York urging him to hasten east, summoned the first cab he could and started for the station. As the cab turned into Vanbrugh Street from Clark Street, where a crowd of union drivers had congregated, some one threw a brick through the window which struck Johnson and stunned him for five minutes. The driver of the cab hastened to the depot under police protection, and Johnson had his wound dressed in a drug store. Johnson was called to New York by his attorney to appear in court to-morrow as defendant in a suit which a theatrical concern has brought against him for $5,000 for breach of contract.

Shannahan,

Tucker and Mrs. Delaney "Take In" the Exhibition.

Shannahan Recalls Old Times.

Ye have read about the Exhibition; read of the stalls and waded through the descriptions; ye have beheld the photos of His Excellency and the Premier, and must be fully impressed by this time of the importance and the beauty of the exhibits. To further dose you with an account of it would be like putting too much sugar in your tea, but we can't let it pass off without giving you an idea of the "side shows."

Years ago we used to have an Agricultural Exhibition up on the Parade Ground, out in the open. It was usually held on a cold blowy day and any enthusiasm that you might have had was soon cooled by the frozen look on the spectators. I recall these exhibitions of the long ago and again I behold the sprightly rooster and the cock hen that laid all the eggs that she was going to lay before she left home. I see the old farmers as they stood in groups watching the Aberdeen turnips or prodding the ribs of a sleepy looking cow. Again I behold the mats of the Home Sweet Home pattern, as well as the skeins of yarn. We always held grave doubts as to the yarn being spun in this country, and when we got cabbage blind we made tracks for the Tavern to get something to warm us.

For weeks after we dreamed of carrots, parsnips and potatoes, and we knew the age of every horse in town by the way he looked. How well we remember the long line of old-fashioned "square bodies" joined on to the foxy horse awaiting the owners at the entrance to the show, and again we see the ragged old farmer with his soft black hat, his black muffer and his Sunday boots.

The women, too, came to the show from the country and looked the picture of contentment. True, they displayed a little selfishness in forcing their goods as being ahead of all others, but otherwise they showed a friendly, serene feeling for every human being out of the grave or into it. Before I leave this scene I must say something of the mats that were exhibited at this time. All kinds of queer looking animals occupied the centre of the mat, animals that never roamed in the forests of our own country, but fierce looking objects which would do credit to the wilds of Africa. Some of them, though, were quite tame looking, and if you were put on your oath you could not say whether they represented a duck, a horse or a lion; they were usually in a flying position and always had one eye, and there was ever and always something out of place about their hind legs.

The show was generally brought to an abrupt finish by a dog and a rat; some scrambling for buns and cabbage, and a wholesale litany of choice epithets on the man who invented the show.

To be a judge meant that you were gone out of potatoes, for no matter how educated you were you knew nothing with the great majority when the prizes were awarded.

These were the days that we call "the good old days." Some people scoff at the idea of calling them by that name. Perhaps they are right in their jeering, but anyway there were many of those people who enjoyed life and lived good old ages in "the good old days."

Years have rolled on and now we are brought face to face with an Exhibition again. This time it is not only an exhibit of potatoes and cabbage, but a lot of high falutin' stuff of different shades. Shannahan is not going to dissect them; he'll leave that to abler hands, but he feels we are making special headway in the fantastic line of home raised delicacies.

"Issue paper adds greatly to the Manufacturers' Show and the barber's pole is in evidence on all sides. When Shannahan, Tucker and Mrs. Tucker arrived there was a crush, so we didn't get what you'd call a square look but we noticed that there were on all sides of us something to cause bewilderment. Boots and shoes, lines and twines, readymades, biscuits, hams that were made in the country, and scent and perfume made on the spot; mattresses that looked so inviting that it made us feel like lying down and taking a snooze. Henry, the man who had the prize, for who'd ever think he could accomplish such a task as to present such a magnificent show out of matresses, held Mrs. Tucker's breath away and she collided with a well-to-do outport man who gave her a go-along she'll carry to her grave.

We met our genial friend George Kehoe, he didn't take off his hat to Mrs. Tucker, because he had it of already; he bowed to Mrs. Tucker just the same and gave her a feed of Harvey's biscuits; Mrs. Tucker just knew Mr. Kehoe when he was a Furlong's, and he was always a real nice man, and that's sixty-one years ago, and he's a nice man yet. Gaden's show looked so inviting that Tucker asked were they selling ginger ale. Tucker is always on the make, and soon himself and Mrs. Tucker were lowering the contents of a large sized bottle that they had "up" off Mr. Griffen.

Stoves don't appeal to me, still they're better than headstones. The stove display was made attractive though, for we saw stoves the like of which we never thought could be turned out in this country. Mrs. Tucker opened half a dozen ovens and pronounced them as being corkers. Mayor Ellis had a fine substantial half a house built out of native material. Mrs. Tucker asked who owned that display, and on being told 'twas Mr. Ellis, she said what a pity I'm tied to you, Tucker, I'd be the blayress of this bloomin' town in a month, and as she passed the show she gave a deep sigh away down in her boots.

Clouston's show of dainty codfish "hook tea" was a fine substantial job to get him to come apart to, and he nearly struck a man from Placentia when he tried to convince him 'twas fish.

Mrs. Tucker stood still when we came up to Wood's display of candy. "Where's the candy man," said she; "Why, then, if he was home from his honeymoon," said she, "he wouldn't let me pass empty-handed. We had the work of the world in keeping her from making a grab, the display was so tempting.

"Where's Tom McNeil," said she, as she stood opposite McMurdo's stall. If he were around here I'd have a bottle o' scent and a tin o' Acne Baking Powder. She kicked up such a row that the young man in charge led her a present, she scrutinized it, saw 'twas alright, and again we got her on the go, only to run into a lady who started in talking about the feed she got at Furlong's stall. When anyone starts in talking fancy grab with Mrs. Tucker she stands motionless, but we managed to get up steam again when Tucker pointed to the outport display of needlework. She made a see line for this and hauled everything around 'till we got ashamed to be with her.

Don't haul things around, Amelia, says Tucker, as he looked at her with an imploring "me-yaw" on his physog; but Amelia felt that everything and everything stitches 'till she was almost stunned.

Two old fellows over in the corner were having a hot argument, and as we were always ready for a fight, we went over to see what 'twas all about. They were discussing the speeches that were made on the day of the opening.

"Look here," says one old fellow, "they were talkin' and pratin' about their local industries, and there were men who spoke who hadn't a local made garment on their backs. If they want a suit o' clothes, or a top coat they'll get it when they're in England, and if they want a pair o' boots they'll get 'em brought from some where, my old place at all outside the country, and then they'll get up and preach to us."

There's a lot of truth, mind you, says Mrs. Tucker, in what that man is sayin', and men who preach a doctrine should certainly have manners enough to live up to it.

Dried Squid.

Cultivation of Sugar Beet Recommended.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I was much pleased to note at the exhibit of the Fisheries Department at the Exhibition, a display of dried squid, and a practical demonstration of its usefulness as bait.

When I made the suggestion in the "Evening Telegram" that, however valuable to the country, the export of Dried Squid might prove to be, its greatest value would be as bait for codfish, there were many scoffers; some of the newspapers made merry over the matter at my expense; others did not think it of sufficient importance to refer to. It is therefore gratifying to find that the idea is catching on. I am informed that many fishermen of Conception Bay at once set to work to procure a supply of bait for next year's fishery. That those who have done so have assured themselves of a splendid catch next year is my confident conviction.

In fact Dried Squid can be made the solution of the all important bait problem.

I think it would be a wise act if the Fisheries Board were to rescind the regulation preventing the salting of squid, provided always that they be utilized and not wantonly destroyed or used as fertilizer.

The splendid exhibit of Beets at the Agricultural Show suggests the possibility of producing our own sugar. I have not the least doubt that the Beets can be grown. The problem of economical manufacture may prove difficult. We import about 7,000,000 lbs. of sugar, worth in round figures $2,000,000. In brief it is a co-ordination and combination of the young people in Epworth Leagues, Young Men's Clubs and Sunday Schools for the support and extension of missions at home and in the foreign field. Its motto from the beginning were the three words: Pray; Study; Give. Study, you see, is the pivot-word of the movement. Unless you study you cannot know conditions so, on the one hand you cannot pray up to date, and on the other, you cannot give up to measure of either the people's need or your own privilege and responsibility. So a large feature and factor in our work is the supplying of the best, the raciest and the most recent books on missionary work, especially that of our own Church. Get people interested and you'll get them praying and giving.

"How do you supply this literature, and where do you get it?"
"We get it from three sources, our missionaries on the field write letters to the Missionary Bulletin which we publish quarterly, from text books specially written for us such as Our Share in China, by Rev. G. J. Bond, and Strangers Within Our Gates, an account of the foreign populations of Canada, by Rev. James S. Woodworth, our missionary in charge of foreign work at Winnipeg—both writings from intimate personal knowledge; the third source is the inter-denominational and International Young People's Missionary Movement which publishes at cheapest rate the most accurate and expert book on the whole missionary question. We are now in need of a good text book on Newfoundland."

"Is your work extensive?"
"Yes, fairly so. It extends from Atlantic to Pacific, and keeps us employed almost day and night, answering over eight thousand letters a year, and shipping many thousands of books, booklets, maps and pamphlets wherever there is a Sunday School or a Young People's Society we look for our clientele."

"What results can you show for all this?"
"We support over one hundred missionaries in China, Japan and Canada. Practically all our Foreign Missionary Workers are supported by our young people. Then we have been very successful in getting volunteers for Mission Work—well equipped scholarly young men; leaders in our colleges have gone out to the foreign field under our auspices and are labouring at this moment in China, Japan, and elsewhere. A big result of our work is the training of our young people to be missionary leaders in the churches at home."

"What do you think of the work in Newfoundland?"
"I think there is no better field in the world for the Forward Movement. I am delighted with the splendid equipment of the Methodist of St. John's in the way of church buildings and facilities. I don't know of a city in Canada of its size so well equipped in that particular. Methodists in St. John's ought to do a big work for missions."

"What is this Round Table Conference you are going to hold in Gower Street Church to-night?"
"It has a double purpose. First to answer questions; second, to make plans for the training of missionary leaders in the home churches."

Cricketers Meeting Last Night.
A meeting of the city cricketers was held last night in the office of Mr. J. S. Munn to discuss with a deputation from the Football League the question of a joint use of St. George's Park for matches. Mr. W. J. Higgins who spoke for Messrs. E. M. Jackman and M. Chaplin, the other members of the delegation, said that the Football League would be glad to assist in any way in order that the game of cricket be revived. They would be willing to forgo the use of the field for cricket matches on all winter holidays. The meeting then discussed the question at considerable length but came to no definite conclusion. Those present were:—J. T. Foley, R. B. Job, F. H. Donnelly, P. J. Murphy, P. J. Berrigan, V. Simms, P. Wallace and E. E. Goodridge.

What is the Forward Movement?

An Interview With Dr. Stephenson.

"You are here, Dr. Stephenson, in the interest of Missionary Work, we believe."
"Yes, sir; especially in the interest of the Missionary Work of the Methodist Church at home and abroad. I am the Secretary of the Young People's Forward Movement for Missions."
"Would you mind telling us what that Forward Movement really is? We know the name, but we don't know much about its operations."
"With pleasure. Arrested for Larceny.
Sgt. Byrne yesterday afternoon arrested a Scotch seaman who recently stole, according to the charge against him, $10 from one of the crew of the schooner Nellie Grey, at Baird's wharf. The man who lost the money says that he gave the alleged thief shelter on the schooner the previous night, and that the other left early in the morning with the stolen cash which was taken from his pocket.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia
In all its Forms can be Cured.
It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly under the slightest exertion, I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.
Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at Fire Last Night.

An alarm of fire was turned in just before 7 p.m. yesterday for a fire at Mr. William F. Kenny's ham and bacon factory at the foot of Notre Dame Street. The alarm came from the box at the foot of Barter's Hill and brought the Central and Western firemen to the scene. The fire had made pretty good progress before being discovered, and when the fire fighters arrived they quickly had three streams of water on the blaze and soon had the fire under control. The fire originated in the smoke house where some stock was being smoked. When the employees left at 6 p.m. everything was all right, and they were surprised on learning that an accident had occurred. A good deal of ham and bacon were destroyed and the place was gutted. The loss to Mr. Kenny will be considerable as it must mean a suspension of business for a while until repairs are effected. We learn that Mr. Kenny has $1,000 insurance on the stock and a similar sum on the building.
