CHAPTER XXXIV.

His Lordship himself had interposed with this question, and he was leaning forward with some interest on his grave face.

"Major Stuart promised his uncle on his death-bed that he would forgive Sir Hugh," she said earnestly. "Sir Jasper Stuart was dying, and our marriage was hastened that I might be introduced to him, as he was Major Stuart's only relative; but when Sir Hugh claimed me, Guy—Major Stuart—had to return alone; and it was then that Sir Jasper entreated him to promise that he would never attempt to be revenged for the wrong done to him."

"And Major Stuart gave the promise?"

"Yes."

"When did you hear of this, Lady Glynn?"

"Major Stuart told me of it shortly after his return."

"On what occasion?"

"I was thanking him for meeting Sir Hugh not only with courtesy, but with kindness," she answered unhesitatingly.

"Is it a fact, Lady Glynn, that you and Sir Hugh were not living on amicable terms?"

"We were not happy," Shirley said simply, a pained flush rising in her face.

"Sir Hugh was very kind and indulgent to you?"

"Yes—always."

"Then we may conclude that it was you who could not forgive the deception that he had practiced upon you?"

"I was very hard and wicked," the young widow said faintly. "But we were friends before he—he died."

"I am afraid you are not very strong; will you rest a little now?"

"I am quite able to go on," she said simply.

"What induced you to forgive your husband and become reconciled to him?"

"Major Stuart had—no, do not trouble. I am not faint—Major Stuart had told me how sinful I had been to cherish my resentment, and he had urged me to become reconciled."

She spoke with a brave simplicity and sincerity which carried conviction with them; and the lawyer for the prosecution saw that he was losing ground.

"The prisoner seems to have been quite a Mentor," he said, with a slight sneer. "Do you believe in his innocence, Lady Glynn?"

"I have not doubted it for a moment," she said, with a great earnestness; and, as she spoke, her eyes met Guy's for the first time, and the swift glance they exchanged there was a whole world of love and faith and trust.

"Unfortunately every one else is not so trusting. One witness he stated to-day that she overheard you say to Major Stuart that you wished you could kill your husband. Is that statement correct?"

"I think I said so; but I spoke under great excitement. I was very unhappy. I did not mean the words."

"They were said to the prisoner?"

"Yes—they were uttered before him."

"Ah! That will do, Lady Glynn."

The trial went on; witness after witness spoke in favor of Guy, men who had been his brother officers for years; men of standing and weight who were his friends. Oswald, Fairholme spoke eagerly and earnestly in Guy's behalf; but he could not deny that he had seen the two men in bitter enmity and heard threats of deadly vengeance exchanged. The Vicar of Lynmouth testified to Major Stuart's shocked surprise and grief and his immediate return to East on hearing the tidings.

The afternoon wore on; lamps were lighted in the crowded court house as the counsel for the defence began his speech in earnest, eloquent defense, which made many a heart thrill. There was no proof against the prisoner, none but the discovery of his stick near the dead man; and this was easily explained by the fact that he had lent it to Sir Hugh at his own request. No high words had ever passed between them since they had met again. On the contrary, the accused had shown a noble forbearance and a true spirit of Christian forgiveness to one who had so cruelly injured him. The death of Sir Hugh was wrapped in mystery; certainly. The medical testimony tended to prove that death had ensued from the blow on his head; but medical science was not infallible, and was not impossible, as one of the medical men present had acknowledged, that the blow which had caused Sir Hugh's death had been received in another way—by a fall.

The jury had heard, continued, the testimony of several persons whose position in society and general conduct rendered their evidence beyond all question, and they had doubtless been surprised that such a charge had been made against a man whose antecedents were so unexceptionable and who bore such high character for courage, honor and nobility. They had heard too the evidence of the unhappy lady with whom he was sure, one and all of them had sympathized that day; they had heard how cruelly she and the prisoner had been deceived, and how basely the latter's trust in his friend had been betrayed, and yet with what nobility, with what forbearance he had behaved—how he had left England and put the width of the world between him and the woman he loved when she was another man's wife—how during four long years he had wandered over foreign countries leaving a splendid estate, without a master, rather than enter into temptation and meet Lady Glynn, until he could meet her as an honest man should meet another man's wife—and how, when he had returned and they had met again, he had used all his interest to induce her to forgive her husband, and had indeed been a peacemaker between them.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"Guy, dear fellow, we are all so glad and thankful!" Oswald Fairholme remarked huskily, when he was alone with Guy in the sitting room at the Exminster Arms an hour later, looking with earnest sympathy, dark eyes at Major Stuart, a day lay back in a deep arm-chair, word haggard and wearied.

"Thank you, Fairholme; I am sure that," Guy said, making an effort to rouse himself and forcing a smile to his lips. "I have no words, of course, to thank you for all the kindness and friendship you have shown me."

"Nonsense!" Oswald returned rather sternly.

"Had a Stroke of Paralysis" and Found a Cure in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is always better to prevent serious diseases of the nerves. There are many warnings, such as sleeplessness, irritability, headaches and nervous indigestion.

Prostration, paralysis and locomotor ataxia only come when the nervous system is greatly exhausted. Even though your ailment may not yet be very serious, there is a great satisfaction in knowing that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will cure paralysis in its earlier stages.

Mrs. B. Bright, 215 Booth Avenue, Toronto, writes: "Two years ago my husband had a stroke which left him in a weak, nervous condition. He started taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, and we saw the good results almost immediately. They have made a new man of my husband and we cannot speak too highly of them."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 4 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edman's, 100 St. James St., Toronto.

Radway's Ready Relief

CURES ASTHMA

Chas. H. Billings, of 240 W. 17th St., writes: "For years I have been suffering from asthma and bronchitis. A week ago I purchased a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief and have taken a teaspoonful in water before retiring each night. The relief I have experienced is marvellous. I can now breathe freely and sleep peacefully. I most heartily endorse Radway's Ready Relief as a cure for Asthma."

The specimen for this disease are the Ready Relief, the Resolvent and Radway's Pills. The Ready Relief must be rubbed on the chest and throat until a burning sensation is produced, and the Pills must be taken frequently to keep the bowels thoroughly open. The Resolvent must be given at short intervals. In small doses and a desiccated condition on retiring to rest. Give a teaspoonful of Resolvent three times a day. RADWAY & CO.

ther unsteadily. "I wish you would try to eat something, old man; you look wretchedly ill."

"Do you think a good dinner would put some flesh on my bones?" was the smiling inquiry. "I'm all right, Oswald; but of course the last six weeks were not calculated to improve one's appearance; and then," he added, with a sudden break in his voice, "do you think I can forget that I am a dishonored man, acquitted of a crime certainly, but with my innocence still unproved—a man who in the eyes of half England has but escaped a just condemnation because there was not sufficient proof to hang him?"

He rose, with an abrupt, restless movement, and went over to the window looking upon the street, where the gas-lamps were burning, and where groups of people were still standing discussing the event of the day; and Oswald glanced at him with the same earnest sympathy and commiseration.

"No one whose opinion is worth having thinks so, Guy," he said eagerly. "It is, of course, impossible that you should feel this somewhat at first; but by and by the feeling will wear off. None of your old friends are likely to look coldly at you."

"Do you think that every one is as true and staunch as yourself, Fairholme?" Guy said, with a melancholy smile. "Why, even your sister and her husband?"

"Do not talk of them." Oswald Fairholme broke in quickly. "When I think of Alice's conduct, I feel bitterly ashamed and humiliated. Nothing in the world but her everlasting envy of that poor child's superior loveliness has been at the bottom of all her hatred and malice. Ah, Layton!"

"I thought I might come up," Captain Layton said, holding out his hand to Guy with a frank, unaffected, earnest manner which was new to him. "Major Stuart, let me congratulate you. We are all so heartily glad that we had any doubt as to what the verdict would be from the beginning. Miss Grey sent me up," he added, turning to Oswald, and carefully avoiding to look at Guy's face as he continued, "to tell you that Lady Glynn is much better, and that she is almost herself now."

and prospective owners, what a full line of parts right here in the city means to you—prompt service and every satisfaction. It is useless to ignore the fact that you don't require parts. It is all the same if the car costs eight hundred or eight thousand the parts must be renewed sooner or later. The piece of machinery has not been made yet that won't wear. Unfortunately we are such a great distance from the factory and to get parts it takes considerable time, not to mention them having quite a rest at St. John, N.B. for a month or so; and then when you do get them at last, nine times out of ten they are not as ordered. Personally I have known cars to be tied up all the summer from the above cause.

I have a full line of parts always in stock and invite inspection. In fact I carry the only complete line of parts and accessories in the city. I shall be leaving for the "Ford" Factory about the fourth of February and any orders placed before I leave will be attended to personally.

Sharper Than a Serpent's Tooth.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A letter friend sends me a newspaper clipping telling of two cases recently brought before the court in her town. One was that of an aged father of eight children who was obliged to go to court to make them support him. The other was the case of an invalid mother, whose three sons had previously been ordered by the court to support her; two of them had fallen behind in their payments. The Judge gave them their choice of paying regularly or going to jail.

My reader friend comments: "The inclosed clipping from yesterday's paper prompted me to address you these few lines. Why not make mention of such things in your space? I know two cases as bad as the one sent you. Once a devoted mother with one daughter indulged and pampered to womanhood, and when she has a home of her own tells her mother to 'get to h— out of here.'"

"Another one whose husband died and left a little home and insurance and four married children. They gave her no rest until she turned her all over to them; she to live with them alternately. All treatment made her leave them all and now she has her rented room and does washing for her support.

"Where does the trouble lie? Are the parents to blame or the children? Cannot something be done to remedy such conditions?"

As I read these four instances I can quite understand the meaning of the phrase "my blood boils."

Can't you?

We have all faced over King Lear's sufferings and here is the tragedy of the old King being daily enacted about us, stripped of his majesty, to be sure, but retaining all its pitifulness. "Can't something be done about it?" says my letter friend. Of course it can.

In the first place, through the law, as in the cases which the newspaper clipping set forth.

But there are many instances in which the law, for various reasons, cannot or will not be invoked. What can be done about such cases? Well, it seems to me that for them a power mightier than the law should be used—the power of public opinion.

The neighbours and friends of people who do such things (I suppose they must have friends, although it seems difficult to believe) should show their disapproval. Such people should be ostracized by decent folk; they should be shunned as if they had committed some serious crime, as indeed they have.

My letter friend also says, "Are the parents to blame or the children?" In her own letter she partially answers this, for she tells of a girl "pampered to womanhood" who turned on her mother. Where there is a selfish, ungrateful child, there are usually parents who have permitted these qualities to develop. I do not mean by this to excuse the children. No indulgence, no lack of discipline, in short, no condition of bringing up or heredity can in any way excuse such conduct as this. It can only partially explain it.

Just one word, a word of warning. In your indignation against such people, don't forget to look inward into your own life. You would be incapable of letting your father or mother want for material things, but remember, things are not the whole of life. There are many old folks who have plenty of material comforts but who are starving for attention and consideration and love. Be very sure before you become indignant that there are none such in your life, or home.

Household Notes.

Bacon is much more delicate and soft if it is first parboiled, until the fatty part is almost cooked, then lay each piece out separately on a cloth to drain and fry quickly until a very light brown.

If possible, all market packages should be opened out on the back porch or in the laundry, as there are sometimes roaches that find their way into the kitchen by means of the grocers' packages.

The housekeeper who must do her own dishwashing on cold, windy days should remember that a cut lemon kept convenient and rubbed on the hands after each dishwashing will save her from rough hands.

Velveteen is successfully washed by making a lather of soap and warm water. Soak the velveteen in it, squeezing it, but not rubbing. When finished, rinse in plenty of clean water and hang out to dry.

Many housewives have bemoaned the fact that their tart and pies do not have the delicious brown desired. Always keep in your cupboard a small pastry brush and brush your tarts and pies over with milk just before putting them in the oven.

When ordering sausage, it will be found more economical if you buy a certain number of links instead of by the pound. For example, for the family of six, twelve links will be sufficient, and it will surprise you when it is weighed how small the amount will be.

For everyday ailments arising from liver and bowel disorders they bring relief promptly, and when complicated diseases of the kidneys and liver develop they often prove a successful cure after doctors have failed. As an illustration you may read the following, which was received a few days ago:

Mrs. John Wright, 22 McGee street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten years and would not be without them. My husband suffered from kidney trouble and after taking treatment from several doctors without receiving any benefit, tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which worked a complete cure. Since that time we have used them for all stomach and liver disorders."

'King of the Coiners.'

Salvation Army Funeral After Forty-Four Years in Gaol.

George Copeland, "King of the Coiners," was buried at Hinchburg on Saturday with full Salvation Army honours. After spending the best part of his life in gaol, he reformed in his seventy-fifth year, and during the last two years of his life he was known as a good workman and upright citizen.

In his career of crime Copeland received sentences amounting to forty-four years and nine months, and there were present at his graveside three men now attached to the Salvation Army, who among them had served nearly 100 years in prison. At his last trial in 1901 at the Old Bailey the judge described Copeland as "the most expert coiner of the nineteenth century."

During the latter part of his sentence at Dartmoor he was visited by a Salvation Army official and he then professed repentance and afterwards joined the Salvation Army.—Daily Mail, January 13.

If a Child Is Cross, Feverish And Sick.

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well-playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

A Wise Move.

We are pleased to find that the Minister of Finance has shown some courage in regard to the regular estimates. In a number of cases he has taken the bull by the horns and disregarding the practice of many years has placed in the regular estimates a number of expenses which have hitherto either been under-estimated, or left out of the regular estimates, and been paid out of votes for contingencies or for supplemental supply. Many of these expenses have been met year by year and therefore there was no sound reason for leaving them out, as there was no intention of not incurring the obligation, and it was well known that the Government intended to incur them. As the Government had no intention of cutting them out entirely or even of reducing them, it is not a matter of wonder that the Auditor General has year in and year out complained of the practice which has prevailed. We will take some examples from the speech of the Finance Minister on the Estimates.

1. "On page 9, under the heading of 'Fuel and Light' there are included in every case, due to the greater cost of both fuel and light, and of new buildings, the figures now given being based on actual expenditure for some years."

2. On page 21, under the heading of 'Education' are shown $4,500 for sparsely settled localities and $10,000 for augmentation, and $1,500 for additional inspection, these amounts, however, having been voted last year in Supplemental."

3. "Conveyance of sick poor is increased by $2,400, the vote in the past having been inadequate, and the amount now asked being the lowest for which the service can be performed. For the conveyance of sick fishermen from Labrador, previously $1,500, an extra $500 is asked, the reason being the same; and $1,500 more is asked for extraordinary expenditure, such as grants to fire sufferers and to people procuring artificial limbs; and $4,000 I am informed by the head of the Department, is certainly required. An addition of $2,250 is provided for medical attendance to paupers. The same remarks apply to this vote."

There are a number of other cases given in the Finance Minister's speech. We need not however, proceed further to show the change in practice, which appears to us commendable.

St. Valentine's Day will be celebrated in the Presbyterian Hall on Friday, Feb. 13th, with new and novel features. Make a note of it. Admission 20c. Feb. 2, 1914.

The Loss of the Mayflower.

A Thrilling Story of the Sea.

A recent issue of the New York World, tells the story almost in detail of the loss of the Mayflower some time ago, which was wired that paper by Norman G. Thwaites, of the World staff, who was a passenger on the rescuing ship Lusitania. The story was sent by wireless, and is as follows: Capt. Halfyard and his crew of 7 men of the Newfoundland schooner Mayflower, which was fast sinking, were rescued by the Cunard liner Lusitania at about 6:30 this morning after a three-hour fight by a life-boat's crew against a northwesterly gale and very high seas.

At 2:30 o'clock Capt. D. Dow, of the Lusitania, saw the flare of a torch in the distance. He changed the ship's course toward the signal of distress. Gallant Exploit in Heavy Sea Thrills Passengers.

The sudden stopping of the engine as the emergency lifeline was about and the landing of the castaways on deck. When hailed aboard Captain Halfyard was suffering from delirium. He was attended by Dr. Pointon the ship's surgeon, and soon recovered. Then he told me that he sailed in the Mayflower from St. John's on Sept. 17, for Bahia, Brazil, and arrived Nov. 15. The trip back had been one long struggle with gales and head seas. Three days before the rescue he had lost his rudder, his sails had been carried away and the Mayflower sprang a leak.

The Lusitania's passengers made up a large sum for the rescuers and the rescued.—Daily News.

Job Bros. & Co. vs. John W. McMartin. Mr. Conroy, K.C., for the defendant, is heard.

The notice is enlarged till Monday next.

The Greatest Invention Of The Age

By the use of this latest invention you can have in one second, speech with any or all of your staff, located anywhere on your premises, without leaving your desk, without wasting the time your employees use in going from their station to the private office, without any bell to ring or other attachment to handle. You may give callers attention without admitting them to your room and all the time your hands are disengaged and you may speak from three to ten feet from your instruments and be perfectly heard at the other end of the line. If you are interested in this service Mr. Percie Johnson will furnish detailed information on request. This service has been tested by six months perfect working in St. John's.

Dragged Her Anchors.

The schr. Calidora, which was towed into port from Trepassay by the D. P. Ingraham on Saturday, dragged her anchors in the harbour to-day, owing to the heavy undertow that was on, and began to drift. She brought up near King's on the Southside where she was taken in tow by the tug John Green and brought to her former place of anchorage.

Prize Distribution.

Yesterday afternoon the annual distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Cathedral Sunday School took place in the Synod Hall. The prizes were presented by His Lordship the Bishop who spoke encouragingly to the children and reminded them of the Confirmation that was to take place on Palm Sunday. The Rector, Rev. Canon White, also addressed the scholars. A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Goodland and seconded by Rev. Canon Bolt was tendered the Bishop.

ENGAGEMENT.—The engagement is announced of Mr. William Walsh, of Salmonier, and Miss Maud Murphy, of Central House, Salmonier Road, youngest daughter of the late Lawrence Murphy.

Stanfield's Underwear.

Sleeping in the cold and silent clay to-day are many men who should be alive and active — an asset to their country, but they allowed cold after cold to go un-cared for—result—Death. Many of these colds were contracted through wearing cotton underwear. There is nothing more dangerous in cold climates. After perspiring freely it is like a cold wet rag round the body, and the fleeces roll off in little icy knobs. Throw it away. Wear wool, it absorbs all moisture and lessens the chances of catching cold. Stanfield's, from $1.00 per garment.

OTTAWA, To-day. The Province of British Columbia is understood to be applying for the control of the Yukon territory, a step long contemplated. No confirmation of the report is obtainable here, but the Province is said to be anxious to annex the territory, the administration of which by the Dominion involves a financial loss.

OTTAWA, To-day. The Naval service department publishing an official list of all Radio telegraph stations in Canada and in the South Coast of Newfoundland together with regulations looking to greater safety of ships, announced all the shore stations' messages will be exchanged free with masters of ships at sea, on matter pertaining to navigation of ships, weather conditions, tides etc., and reports on aids to navigation.

MONTREAL, To-day.

In the circulars mailed from local offices of the White Star Line notifying the following reductions from Europe for 3rd. class passengers, rates have been cut from $35 by Laurentic, Mesantic, and Teutonic to $25, by Canada and Dominion from $35 to $25. Westbound passengers for third class passengers from all continental ports to Canada have been reduced from $29.50 to $27. The reduction also applies to vessels belonging to the Canada Line. As regards prepaids westbound rates on regular weekly sailings of Canada Line to Halifax have been arranged for remainder of winter season.

LONDON, To-day. Militant suffragettes are very angry with the Bishop of London over his report that there was no truth in the allegation of torture being inflicted on their comrades, who are subjected to forcible feeding in Holloway jail. They accuse the Prelate of being an ally of the Government.

MONTREAL, To-day. Three fires within an hour yesterday morning kept the firefighters on the jump, a large part of the day, and did $25,000 damage and destroyed the premises of the Merchants, Clothing Co. and other firms of West Notre Dame St. The deaf and dumb Institute in the north end of the city was in flames and then occurred a blaze in the Canadian Pacific Atlantic Line shed at the King Edward Pier.

LINCOLN MASS., To-day. 21 thoroughbred horses, belonging to A. Henry Higginson, were lost in a fire which destroyed a stable on Higginson country estate and only 4 horses were saved. The loss is estimated at $60,000.

Schooner's Trip of Misfortune.

The Lusitania's passengers cheered the safe return of the life savers and the landing of the castaways on deck. When hailed aboard Captain Halfyard was suffering from delirium. He was attended by Dr. Pointon the ship's surgeon, and soon recovered. Then he told me that he sailed in the Mayflower from St. John's on Sept. 17, for Bahia, Brazil, and arrived Nov. 15. The trip back had been one long struggle with gales and head seas. Three days before the rescue he had lost his rudder, his sails had been carried away and the Mayflower sprang a leak.

The Lusitania's passengers made up a large sum for the rescuers and the rescued.—Daily News.

Asked Immunity for American Witnesses.

Quebec, Jan. 23.—Chief interest in the Quebec scandal to-day centred in the appearance of Messrs. Nichols and MacNab before the Bar of the Legislative Council. The proceedings here were practically a repetition of what occurred in the Assembly yesterday and the newspaper men would make no direct charges on their own responsibility against any other councillor, but Hon. Messrs. Berard and Bergeron, though they repeated the names of Hon. Messrs. Devareaux and Gillman as having been furnished the Burns detectives by Mr. Mousseau, chairman of the private bills committee, in the lower House.

Named Only Two.

Messrs. Nichols and MacNab said that they had no personal knowledge of the party or parties who originated the attempt to investigate the manner in which legislation is enacted at Quebec and later on employed the Burns detectives. They professed the same ignorance as to who had furnished the money to retain the services of the detectives, and purchase the influence of legislators.

There was some commotion when the Mall men were detained at the Bar for refusing to give a straight "yes" or "no" answer as to whether they had accusations to lay against any other members of the House, but Berard and Bergeron, for having received bribes in connection with the passage of the Montreal Fair Bill.

Only a Curtain Raiser.

The question, however, was finally altered and Messrs. MacNab and Nichols said they would take no personal responsibility for any accusations against other members than the two specifically mentioned. This concluded the examination in the upper House, and the scene now shifts in both Houses to the committee of investigation, where the fullest evidence will be given. It is generally considered that the examinations before the Bar have been somewhat in the nature of a curtain-raiser and that the real work will hardly begin until Mr. Beck and the detectives appear to explain the inner workings of the coup which they effected.

To-morrow morning the editors will appear before the investigation committee of the Council.

Wanted Postponement.

When the special committee appointed by the Quebec Assembly to investigate the charges of the Montreal Daily Mail against Mr. J. O. Mousseau, convened this afternoon Mr. Marechal, for Messrs. Nichol and MacNab, stated that he had been unable to get in communication with Mr. Beck, of Montreal, and he doubted very much whether they would be ready to go ahead the next morning. It has just been learned that M. Biddinger, the Burns detective manager, has been appointed Chief of Police of New York City. This changed the situation somewhat with regard to a very important witness, and it is suggested that the committee should adjourn until Friday.

Asked Protection of Witnesses.

The following motion was presented to the committee by Mr. Bissillon representing the newspaper men: "To the honorable special committee appointed by the Legislative Assembly to inquire into the facts concerning Mr. J. O. Mousseau, Messrs. Nichols and MacNab have the honor to declare that they desire to summon Mr. Edward Beck, G. J. Biddinger, and Mr. S. E. Maloney, J. D. Keis, Miss Margaret E. Bailey, T. Martin and Alex. Applebee, to appear before you, and to that end they want accorded to these witnesses the privilege of coming and sojourning in this province, and after having been heard to return to their country without being sued, arrested, detained or molested by reason of the fraction or violation of any regulations or law concerning the immigration and privileges of the Legislature of this province regarding a certain bill bearing No. 158, or other of a nature concerning the preparation and presentation and the adoption of this bill."

Mr. Bissillon then quoted a passage from Bourinot's parliamentary procedure in support of his motion.

STOP COUGHING.

It's quite as foolish as it is annoying to keep on coughing since

PHORATONE COUGH MIXTURE is sold all over Newfoundland and is guaranteed to soothe and heal the irritated parts at once, and to rapidly destroy the very cause of this aggravating nuisance. Hundreds of persons are complaining every day about the cough or cold they have had for a long time, and are not able to get rid of it. You will avoid all this worry (about the cough or cold you have) by obtaining

PHORATONE COUGH MIXTURE at once. Price 25 cents a bottle, postage 5 cents extra. Prepared only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld. (Manufacturers also of Stafford's Linctus and Prescription "A.")

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURE DAN DRUG.

Fire at Badger.

House, Shop and Contents Destroyed. Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings received a message this morning from Mr. Pike, J.P., at Grand Falls, stating in effect that John C. Tobin's house and shop, at Badger Brook, with effects, were totally destroyed by fire, last night. The inmates, who were thinly clad, barely escaped.

From information received by the Reid Newfoundland Company we learn that the fire originated in the store, and was supposed to be caused by a stove becoming too hot and igniting the surrounding woodwork. The fire started at 12.55 a.m. and the flames being fanned by a strong westerly wind made alarming progress in a short time. With the thermometer just hovering above zero, the occupants clad in their night attire barely escaped with their lives, or some time the houses in the vicinity were in imminent danger, but a large number of volunteers formed a bucket brigade, and successfully prevented a further outbreak. They worked assiduously until 2.30 a.m., when nothing but the ruins of the building remained. The building was a comparatively new one, of one story, valued at over $500, and was partially insured.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, Feb. 2nd, 1914. No doubt there are many Talcum men at make claim to being "the best," and indeed owing to recent composition between the various lines, the latter class Talcum have reached a really high standard. But it can be said without any fear of contradiction that Lassell's Field Violets Talcum, or lightness, for fineness, or purity, or exquisite perfume has no superior. This is the reason why Field Violets Talcum has so many enthusiastic users, and why almost all who have used it—return for it again, and continue to find it fully up to their requirements. In Loving Memory

OF UNA TAYLOR, WHO DIED JAN. 27, 1914.

'Twas the Holy Sabbath morning, As the bells were chiming clear, For the worshippers to gather In the hallowed House of prayer, And in accents softly spoken, And with trembling lip and tongue Came the message—"Una's dying, Jesus wants her for His own!"

Dearest Una, can we spare you, Of our bunch the fairest flower, There to dwell with Christ the Saviour In His happy heavenly bow?

In the sunlight of His Presence There forevermore to rest? So the angels bore our blossom Placed her on the Saviour's breast.

Though our eyes are dim with weeping, And our hearts are numbed and sore, Yet we see our darling standing With a heap of shining gold.

Waiting where the Master placed her, Near at His bid to go, She was such a willing worker While she dwelt with us below!

Farewell Una, though on earth We hear your voice no more; Yet we know that we shall greet you On that peaceful, happy shore.

So, till Jesus comes to call us, To that sweet and glorious place, Let us tell the wondrous story Of His all-redeeming grace.

—M. E. W.

Cochrane St. Chnrch.

The congregation of the above Church, at the Cochrane Hall yesterday, Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite conducted the morning worship and preached a very fine sermon in relation to Thanksgiving, emphasizing our duty not only to render thanks by gifts of our substance but also by the gift of our service. A very large congregation assembled in the evening, when the Pastor preached a sermon dealing with the circuitous ways in which Providence sometimes leads mankind. The burning of Cochrane Street Church may prove to be a blessing in disguise to the congregation and may result in their doing yet greater work for the Masters Kingdom. During the service Rev. Mr. Whitmarsh made sympathetic reference to the passing of Mr. Pitts, a member of the congregation and one who had done very much for Cochrane Street Church. Beside his gifts, of which we knew, Mr. Pitts had helped many persons and had done many acts of kindness and generosity known to but few. His reverence for all things sacred and his regular attendance at the House of Prayer were strongly marked traits of his character. Cochrane Street Church would feel his loss not only in respect of his generous contributions but also in the wise counsel and words of encouragement which he gave to the Pastor and the Official Boards from time to time. The people stood with bowed heads while the Dead March from Handel's Oratorio "Saul" was played.

A Kind Action.

Jack Rossley entertained the children from the Church of England Orphanage to the matinee, on Saturday. The youngsters had a grand time and enjoyed themselves very much. At the finish of the performance Mrs. Rossley presented each of the children with a bag of candy and invited them all to see Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, when they again produce it.

Capt. Soper, of the barq. Callidora, left for Carbonear by Saturday evening's express.

Seven Met Death as Convicts Try to Escape

THRILLING FIGHT IN OKLAHOMA STATE PENITENTIARY—JUDGE THOMAS, INNOCENT BYSTANDER, SHOT TO DEATH.

Macalester, Okla., Jan. 30.—Quiet prevailed to-day at the state penitentiary, where last night seven persons lost their lives during a battle between guards and three convicts who attempted to escape. Bodies of the three prison employees shot down while at their posts of duty, and the three convicts were at the penitentiary morgue, while in the city a few miles distant, the body of Judge John R. Thomas, of Muskogee, a visitor at the prison, killed by a convict's bullet, awaited final preparation for shipment to relatives. In the prison hospital suffering from bullet wounds were Miss Mary Foster, telephone operator at the prison; John Martin, turnkey; and C. L. Wood, guard.

Smuggled Pistols. Pistols, smuggled into the prison and reaching the hands of Charles Koozts, China Reed and Tom Lane, the convicts, who gave their lives in their dash for liberty, were the cause of the tragedy. Armed with these pistols they knocked down the turnkey with a shot in the cheek. With a shout to the other prisoners to join them, the three rushed forward. One, the assistant warden, was in their path. Reed shot him through the heart. Near the door of the warden's office sat Judge Thomas, who was waiting to see Warden Dickson. "Boys, I'm an innocent bystander, just here on private business," the judge called as he sprang to his feet and put up his hands. In reply he got a shot from the convicts and he fell dead. Another shot wounded Ward, a guard. Miss Foster, the telephone operator then came in for attention from the three. With an oath they overturned the switchboard hoping to disconnect the wires.

A Rush to the Gate. Lured by the hope of freedom the three went forward toward the gate, dragging Miss Foster with them. As they neared the doorway they lifted the telephone operator and carried her as a shield, the three huddled behind her as they rushed from the building. Godfrey, one of the guards, attempted to halt them. Promptly he was shot to death. A bullet that went wild passed through the office door of Drover, the Bertillon expert, and killed that official. Out of the building Reed, Koontz and Lane made their way on a trot to the gate.

None of the guards dared to shoot because of the human shield, the telephone operator, carried by the desperate men. A shot finally was fired and it hit Miss Foster in the leg. Reaching the gate the three men dropped their burden, after unlocking the last bar to freedom and sprang into a buggy. Lashing the horses, the convicts sped down the road. The dash for liberty was short, however. Guards on horses quickly came within shooting distance and a running fire began. The convicts made a desperate fight as the buggy lurched sideways, but it was soon over. Bullet after bullet from the guns of the guards found its mark, and when the horse at last fell from a shot and the guards came up the three convicts lay dead in the buggy.

Within the prison, guards worked heroically, driving the convicts to the cells and holding at bay those who threatened to overpower them. Order was soon restored.

The New Pantomime.

BABES IN THE WOOD. Another great production at Rossley's to-night, when the favorite fairy story, Babes in the Wood will be given. The costumes are very dainty; the songs are all new; new dances and novelties. There will be a surprise for the audience when two little girls give a correct imitation of Miss Eva Tanguay and Ford in the bunny hug dance, those two clever youngsters have got this difficult dance down to perfection. Jack Rossley and Joe Burkhardt are the two hired assassins who fight a duel over the babes, and that means lots of fun when those two comedians get together. Some of the songs to be sung: "The Dawn of Love" by Louise Arkand; a high-class ballad, "I Never Heard Father Laugh so Much Before," "Standing on the Corner of the Street," "I Looked into the Book," "Oh, Jerusalem," "I'm Dags about You," "I am a Soldier" and others; a great show.

The Tragedy At Bell Island on Saturday.

MANAGER MCKENZIE MET A TERRIBLE DEATH.

Messages were received in the city on Saturday, saying that Mr. John J. McKenzie, Assistant Underground Manager for the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, at Bell Island had been killed that same morning but under what circumstances the tragedy took place, could not be ascertained. To-day a Telegram reporter met two representatives of the Company, who arrived in the city, and learned from them the main details of the awful affair. On the morning in question, Mr. McKenzie was engaged in the Underground Submarine Slope, was at his duties as actively as ever, and was inspecting the work of the miners. On the occasion an ear car, which had just been unloaded at deck head, No. 1 came along. The empty car was going at a swift rate on its way to the mines to be refilled with the same products. Suddenly and without warning, Inspector McKenzie was struck by the passing car. His belt went underneath the wheels and was dragged several yards until a man named Wiseman, who was the first witness what happened, gave the alarm and had the power shut off and the car brought to a halt. The Wiseman went to pick up McKenzie's body which was lifeless and laid battered and mutilated. Dr. Lynch, the Company's physician, was quick to the scene and on examining pronounced death to be instantaneous. The body of the deceased was at once prepared and enclosed in a coffin and brought to Bell Island Saturday night by Undertaker "Crest" Yesterday the remains, in charge of Herbert McKenzie, son of the deceased, and Messrs. Furness, Frost, foot and Collins, were brought to Kelligrews where it was put on board the outgoing express train accompanied by Herbert McKenzie, Mr. Barrnell en route to Springhill, N.S., the late home of the deceased. For four years the late Mr. McKenzie was engaged with the N. S. C. He was 49 years of age and is survived by a widow and seven children, to whom a general and sincere sympathy will go out in their bereavement. He was the first Master of the Cliff Lodge, recently established on Bell Island, and was a well liked member of that fraternity.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.
 A double execution of women with axe and block occurred this afternoon in the Ratibon prison in Prussia. The first was a young woman convicted of murdering her step-father, and the second a woman who murdered her husband. Both died stoically.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.
 A band of brigands, who looted and burned Li Yuan Chow, murdered a French Jesuit missionary named Riche, and captured two others Fathers Alisin and de la Taille, whom they are holding for ransom. A fourth missionary, Father Gilbert, escaped. A French gunboat has been ordered to sail from here for the scene.

LONDON, Feb. 1.
 The bye-election in North West Durham, has resulted in the return of A. Williams, Liberal, who received 7,241 votes; Joseph Hardleker, Unionist, scored 5,684; and James Stewart, Labour, 5,025, a Liberal majority of 1,557. At the last election, when the fight was a straight one, the Liberal majority was 4,171. This was the first three-cornered contest in the constituency. The Home Rule question was much in evidence, as there is a strong Irish vote in the riding, and between 500 and 600 Orangemen on the register.

LONDON, Feb. 1.
 Repeated postponement of Chancellor Lloyd George's big political meeting at Glasgow, is attributed partly to the unsettled condition of the Cabinet over the question of the Naval increases and partly to the belief that he is not yet ready to place his Land policy before an audience of Scotsmen. At the last session of Parliament, the Government passed a new Land measure for Scotland, which was apparently aimed at the breaking up of large estates. A judicial court for fixing rents came into existence at the same time. One of the first performances of this court was in connection with some property in Stirlingshire.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

The revised list of the Monroe disaster shows 19 passengers and 22 of the crew lost; 38 passengers and 60 of the crew saved. When the crash came those aboard the Monroe were asleep. Only Capt. Johnson and the watch were on deck. From the time the Monroe was struck till she settled beneath the waves not more than ten minutes elapsed. Baggage, clothing, valuables, all were forgotten in the flight from the stateroom. Pyjamas, night-gowns, and bath robes were the common apparel of those who made the slippery upper deck before the water trapped them below. By the time three lifeboats were lowered and got away, the Monroe rolled over on her side and it became impossible to launch the other boats. With a chorus of shrieks the unfortunates left the sinking vessel and made their way over the superstructure, through port-hole windows and companion ways until they rested just out of reach of the waves on the upper side half of the capsized vessel, but the vessel shivered and shook, then plunged beneath the waves, leaving the human freight afloat on the icy bosom of the ocean, a number of them being picked up by the boats of the Nantucket.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 1.
 Heated altercations marked the opening of Parliament, in the course of which General Botha and his Cabinet were called upon to justify the iron-handed methods adopted by them in connection with the recent strike, whose leaders were secretly deported. Viscount Gladstone, the Governor General, in his opening speech, said that the declaration of martial law had been an "imperative necessity," but made no reference to the deportation. General Smuts, Minister of Defence, sprang to his feet at the earliest opportunity, and gave notice that on Monday he would move a bill to indemnify the Government for its acts under martial law, thus raising an effectual bar to the efforts of the labour men to move the adjournment of the House in order to discuss the "surreptitious deportation of citizens without trial." Time after time labour men in vehement language, amid great uproar, tried to debate the "crime of kidnapping citizens," but the Speaker refused to allow them to continue. Finally, while the din was still in progress, the labour members shouting taunts and uttering cries of "Shame" the House rose.

Criticises Increase in Salaries.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Kindly allow me space in your paper to increase from two in connection with the estimates as tabled by the Finance Minister last week. When I say that such an increase is both unnecessary and for the greater part undeserved, I feel I am voicing the sentiments of the majority of our citizens. I question very much, if Mr. Cashin had to pay any of these increases out of his own pocket, that he would be so lavish about it. And by what right does he pay away our money for that money is ours, money wrung from us by increased loans, debts, etc. Does the Government feel that they, like other Governments, are now on their dying year—this being the second term—and that as a dying token they are now putting the climax on their unnecessary expenditures? I strongly question that we ever before had such all-round increases. For me to go into each in particular, Mr. Editor would be asking too much of your valuable space, but I shall feel obliged for enough to refer briefly to a few.

In the Department of Public Works nine officials are increased to the tune of about eleven hundred dollars the most notable being Mr. Britton who does it sportily, it throws a towel into the ring as a sign he will quit with the result he gets an increase of two hundred dollars, whilst Mr. Hutchings, a Commissioner of the Lunatic Asylum, gets a like increase in the Public Health Department Mr. Whiteley is increased from $72 to $84 ($10 a month), not bad either. This office is a new one under the present Government, made, I presume, through the pull of Mr. Hutchings and fully endorsed (I don't think) as was shown at the elections by the electors of Bay de Verde. In the Lighthouse Department, we find some wonderful "givings out." At Puffin Island, it is raised from $360 to $700, almost a hundred per cent, whilst at Placentia it is raised three times what it originally was $50 to $150, going some. In the Post Office Department it's a regular hand-out. Mr. Campbell, for a start, gets an extra $200, owing to the increase in the number of offices. How much extra time does this gentleman put in at this work? How much earlier does he get up? I venture to say it's little rest he loses over the increase. I don't mean the increase in salary; he will rest easier now. And Mr. Clarke gets an extra hundred dollars, and whilst the fourth clerk gets an increase, there is an additional added to pick up the remainder of the "givings out" for this Department in the Registrar and Forest Department, the book-keeper gets an extra $150 and the parcel clerk an extra $100. If I am not mistaken this is the Department where Johnnie Giblin's "Whiskey" four at Puffin was hoisted a few years ago, to the tune of a cool thousand. I never raise but it poars. There are others in this Department too numerous to mention, receiving yearly to one hundred per cent increase, but I think the foregoing is sufficient evidence to show you, Mr. Editor, how these hard-worked officials, as we see them, are being paid for their strenuous labours.

The next Department to hold out the hat is the Customs, a place which has been a dumping ground for business factory mechanics, too idle to allow their trades, and employees who have proven worthless to their previous employers. To say that one of the officials work hard and ate, sure they show it. But as this is the Department over which the Finance Minister himself has control, he must get them.

"Oh, Judgment, thou hast fled to heaven's heights,
And men have lost their reason."
Now, Mr. Editor, I ask, does any member of this Government think that any business employee in our city to-day, would give his employees such increases as they are giving their servants, some 200 per cent, more than they are getting? If so, Mr. Editor, then in the language of the street, that man is bug-house mad, the blow that killed father, and would probably stagger Governor Williams, is Mr. E. M. Jackman's letter, advocating an increase in the Ministers. Mr. Jackman is getting in under the thin edge of the ice, so to speak. He takes as a criterion the Finance Minister's. Some years ago he remarked that we had the trappings of an elephant on that of a cat; apparently we now have the trappings of a Hippopotamus on that of a mouse. He remarked in his letter how one of our Governors had to dispose of some of his investments to make up for the deficiency in his salary as Governor of Newfoundland. Well, that is regrettable indeed, but much more regrettable is it, to treat a Governor in the best way possible and have him snuck amongst us, ostensibly to inquire after our wants, but really looking for material to write a book, and hold us up before the world in ridicule.

With thanks for space, Mr. Editor
Yours truly,
T. R. JACKMAN.

The Storm.

Yesterday's south east gale swept over the whole country, and was particularly severe on the West Coast delaying the east bound express for some hours. The storm struck the city at 7 a.m. and for over 3 hours the drifts were blinding. Milk vendors from the suburbs experienced great difficulty in reaching town and very few of them arrived on schedule. In the afternoon the wind moderated and the snow gave place to rain, but during the night the wind veered and the thermometer again dropped a little which had the effect of making many of the inclosures very slippery. As far as we can ascertain no serious damages are reported.

Departure of Harkins Players.

The W. S. Harkins Company terminated a four weeks engagement at the Casino on Saturday night, with the production of the "Confession" before a large and appreciative audience.

The company left by last evening's express en route to New York where they are scheduled to leave on the 11th inst. for Bermuda, where they will play for several weeks. During their stay here they made hosts of friends who anticipate a visit from them again in the near future. Several of their friends and theatrical enthusiasts assembled at the station to see them off.

George St. A.B.C.

The attendance at George Street Church yesterday afternoon was a record one, despite the inclemency of the weather. The special feature of the service was an address by Mr. W. H. Jones, of the Institute, who treated his subject in an able and interesting manner under the three headings: (1) Man's dependence on God, (2) God's providence to man, (3) Man's return to God.

In dealing with Thanksgiving the speaker's remarks were eloquent and instructive.

At the close the President, on behalf of the Class thanked Mr. Jones for his interesting and instructive discourse.

During the service a solo was given by Mr. Charles Hatcher, which was much appreciated. The collection taken up surpassed expectations.

Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitalize, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson 3. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter been employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Vivian B. Lewes, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—Nov. 8, 11

Many Novel Styles in the New Millinery.

As concerns the new Spring styles it is a most difficult matter to cite all the many novelties in shapes. The tall, tip-tipped Russian toque—the favorite of the moment—is featured by practically every designer of note, in matter in what direction their individual tastes may lie. Lewis shows this popular form in numerous developments and in heights from 12 to 18 inches. A charmingly chic mode which bears a striking resemblance to the coach-shaped headdress affected by Empress Josephine and other ladies of the Napoleonic court is made of black taffeta, over which trail thick ropes of black maline over shell pink chiffon. A tall double loop also of maline decorates the center front. It is outlined with a fine silver fringe and fastened with a coral studded buckle of antique silver.—The Illustrated Milliner, New York.

Cookstown Road School.

The Meeting a Success!
The anniversary service of the Cookstown Road Sabbath School was held last night, when a programme of thirty numbers was rendered in their usual pleasing style. The seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost to accommodate those in attendance, and many had to stand all through the service. The marches by the little tots of the kindergarten classes, the motion song, "Beautiful Flowers," and "Our God is a God of Love" by the Primary and Intermediate classes were worthy of special mention showing much patient training. All the recitations and choruses were well rendered and many were the words of appreciation given by the audience. This demonstration being peculiarly a temperance people Elder Young appealed to those present to sign the petition drafted by the W. C. T. U. for legislation restricting our common carriers from bringing alcoholic beverages into local option districts and praying this present Legislature to arrange for a plebiscite to be given the people upon the question of total prohibition. For Newfoundland, a large number of signatures was secured. Mrs. J. Pippy represented the W. C. T. U., and Mr. G. H. Morgan ably filled the chair.

THE EASTERN TRUST COMPANY.

The business of the Eastern Trust Company is to administer Trusts. In this work it specializes, and it does no other. But no kind of trust is foreign to its scope or beyond its power to administer efficiently.

The Eastern Trust Company never speculates. It invests. It depends for its prosperity upon the efficiency of its management of its clients' business and upon the security of its investments.

The Eastern Trust Company executes the office of executor or administrator with unexampled efficiency, and its usefulness in this field is becoming rapidly more availed of.

For instance—in St. John, New Brunswick, where it has quite lately established a branch, the estate of James Ready, of Fairville, which has been sworn to under $651,300.00, is being administered by the Eastern Trust Company as one of the joint executors of Mr. Ready's will.

In Halifax, Nova Scotia, again, The Eastern Trust Company has just been chosen to administer the estate of Captain William Fleming, which is valued at more than half a million dollars.

The Company now administers many estates which is value amount to several millions of dollars. Particulars will appear in later advertisements.

The Eastern Trust Company can execute this function of executor or administrator as efficiently in Newfoundland as it can in Nova Scotia, Quebec, or New Brunswick.

The Eastern Trust Company requires commodious offices on Water Street. Apply to Firemen's Pay.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The session of the Assembly is passing and yet we hear nothing of an increase in the Firemen's pay. Is not this a terrible injustice to these men especially when we find officials who are already in receipt of big salaries, having them increased. His Excellency the Governor finds that owing to the high cost of living, he is compelled to ask for more pay. He finds that he cannot save anything on the salary of $10,000 which he now receives, and asks for $12,500. The Minister of Finance favors his increase and also allows two thousand five hundred dollars for travelling expenses, but the miserably paid firemen must exist on four hundred and fifty dollars a year. If this is fair play, I confess that I misunderstand the term. What are the citizens going to do about it? Are we going to submit to such treatment being accorded our firemen?

Major Ellis's action in turning down Councilor Ryan's suggestion that the Council urge the Government to increase the pay has undoubtedly had a bad effect on this matter, and how he can honestly say that it was none of his business, passes my comprehension when we take into consideration the fact that the Council pays $12,000 towards the maintaining of the Fire Department. Twenty years ago the Council paid the same amount when the revenue of the Council was only $70,000; to-day it amounts to $250,000, and yet the Council has not increased its vote to the firemen one cent. If the Governor and the other officials who have obtained an increase, found it difficult to live on their salaries, how much more so must it be in the case of the firemen, who are supposed to perform their difficult duties and grow fat on $35 a month? Pull evidently counts a lot in this country. The firemen apparently have more, and consequently must grin and bear their hard lot. To those who have much, much more is given, this seems to be the order of the day in this country at the present time. The big Government office holders who are composed of the same flesh and blood as the firemen, draw salaries of Two Thousand Four Hundred Dollars a year, whilst the firemen must eke out a miserable existence on one dollar and twenty cents a day. Think of it! Come, Mr. Coaker, call on you to help me in this fight. It is not too late.

Yours sincerely,
VOLUNTEER.

The Columbia River

By GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Swash."

The Columbia river is produced among the mountains of western Canada but is kindly presented to the United States after it has attained a useful size. It is one of the world's most ornamental and profitable rivers and tourists who have wasted years in examining the Rhine and Danube with great care, blush for the time they have wasted on these narrow "Rage streams after they have seen the Columbia.

The Columbia is composed of excellent drinking water, but for the rest few hundred miles of its length is too athletic and informal to be used for navigation purposes. After it has tumbled down out of Canada, however, it becomes broad and deep, and can be navigated by steamboats of great vigor and resolution.

The Columbia rambles through the State of Washington in an unexciting manner, like a tourist in an art gallery, and then serves as a boundary between Washington and Oregon with much success. It is this section of the river which strikes the case-hardened traveler with awe. It flows between banks which are a mile high in places and are profusely decorated with waterfalls, lifts, precipices, chasms, clouds and now banks. Nothing finer can be found in the world, but many travelers on the railroad which runs by the river's edge miss the scenery entirely while reading the train-boy's library.

The Columbia is even more ornamental than useful, however. It is the home of the justly celebrated salmon before he enters his final resting place in a half-pound can. The Columbia is not only strongly impregnated with salmon, but is the most obliging river in the world. It catches its own fish for the fishermen. When a resident of Oregon desires to become rich, he builds a salmon wheel in the river and the accommodating Columbia works twenty-four hours a day, scooping up its own fish.

After the Columbia absorbs the Willamette below Portland it becomes navigable for ocean steamers and does a rushing business with the Orient. Crossing the bar of the Columbia in bad weather is one of the most difficult feats of navigation, and the traveler who does not get seasick during the proceedings might as well give up hope.

Story of Circus Life.

At the Nickel. The Nickel Theatre's programme for to-day is a swell one and will be popular with all classes. "The Last Performance" a two reel film by the Pathé Company, is a story of circus life which we think will give general satisfaction. It is a thrilling picture splendidly acted and it has been very favorably received in other cities. The whole programme will be an excellent one and no one should miss it.

Minaud's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Poets.

I'd rather write the lines, be jokers, to stimulate a man who labors at dreary tasks and aad, than have my brow with boys encumbered, a n d hear folks say that I'd be numbered as an immortal bard. I'd rather chirp one little sonnet to cheer the dame with last year's bonnet, the seamstress, in her room, to help the tired and heavy laden, to bring a smile to some sad maiden who bends above her loom, than write an ode on which the scholars would up and bet their bottom dollars that it would never die; than sing a song so great and stirring that it would set the critics purring, and make my rivals cry. The mighty bards! Their stately measure was always writ for folks of leisure who had all kinds of time to read new poems, on divans leaning, and try to figure out the meaning of that dog-gasted rhyme. And so I sit here by the willers and sing the tollers and the tillers, the hewers of the wood; and if I cheer one soul that's saddened, this fat old heart of mine is gladdened, and life seems sweet and good.

Rod and Gun.

"Rod and Gun" of Woodstock, Ont., has put out an exceptionally good issue for February 1914, both as regards the character of the reading matter and the quality and interest of the illustrations. That well known writer and naturalist, Bonnycaill, Dale, contributes an article entitled the Bearman, descriptive of a ranch where bears are successfully raised in captivity. A humorous strain runs through this story, a slight departure, but an entertaining one, from this writer's ordinary style. "Prints from Canadian Trails" is a continuation of the fine series that is being contributed to this magazine by H. Mortimer Batten. "The Dominion Parks" as seen by an American writer, is beautifully illustrated. Edward Brock writes under the heading "A Nova Scotia Discovery" of the excellent caviare that is to be obtained in that province. A Report is given of the recent annual meeting of the North American Forest, Fish, and Game Protective Association by A. H. Smith; and every page of the issue is packed full of interest or information for the Canadian or American sportsman.

At the Crescent

The Crescent Picture Palace opens its eighth week to-day with a big programme of five up-to-date pictures and a class song. The picture headliner is Through Strife, in which Louis Webber and Phillip Smalley the famous actors, are the principal characters in a sensational tragedy; added to this feature film are clever sketches by the famous cartoonist, Hy. Mayer. A splendid story is illustrated under the title "His Mother's Love," and "The Boob," is also an interesting subject. The fifth picture, A Flower Festival, is certainly a show of splendour. Mr. David Parks sings "There is Nothing Like a Mother's Love," a song which is well rendered and illustrated. The Crescent is the home of refinement, comfort, safety and enjoyment. Usual sessions afternoons and evenings.

T. A. Juvenile Meeting.

Thirty-Six Boys Take Pledge. The regular monthly meeting of the T. A. and B. Society was held yesterday and was largely attended. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, thirty-six applicants offered themselves for membership. They were duly proposed and received into the society amidst the enthusiasm of all present. The Juvenile Branch has now over 400 on the roll and in good standing, and the rapidly with which the young lads are coming forward to join the ranks is a sufficient justification for saying that the membership will be up to 600 in this branch by the end of the year.
