Guelph Evening Mercury.

THURSDAY EVENING, AUG. 21, 1873
Town and County News.
The MERCURY will not be published to-morrow.
Opening social of the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow night. The "young men" of the town have now an opportunity to wind up the holiday in a "Christian" manner.
Y. M. C. A.—The Association beg to acknowledge the receipt of a very fine tapestry carpet from Mr. David McCrae. The present is a very handsome one, and will add greatly to the comfort of the room in which it is to be laid.
The AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.—Mr. Tulley, Government Architect, arrived here last night, and proceeded to Moreton Lodge this morning to sketch out the improvements required for the new Agricultural College. Mr. Tulley is accompanied by the Principal of the College, Professor McCandless, also the Hon. D. Christie, Mr. Murton and other gentlemen.
St. BARTHOLOMEW'S.—On Sunday next will be commenced a series of mission services in the Catholic Church, conducted by the Rev. A. Langeake, S.J. The services are expected to last about ten days or a fortnight. Father Langeake, who is an eloquent speaker, will preach morning and evening on the two next ensuing Sundays, and will also hold services on other days during next week, and a portion of the week following.
NOTHING.—By way of making things rather more lively on our public holiday, some of the owners of horses in Guelph have got up a sweepstakes, $5 each, to be trotted for at ten o'clock to-morrow morning on the Guelph race-course. The entries thus far are the following:—Mr. Dan MacLaren's br. h. Anthony Wayne; Mr. Philip Sprague's bl. h. Black Donald; Mr. John Hewer's b. m. Lady Coulson; and Mr. Wm. Wood's g. m. White Rose. Another entry is anticipated; and the heats are to be the best three in five.
THE HOSPITAL.—We are pleased to learn that the gentlemen who have been soliciting subscriptions in town to the Guelph General Hospital Fund have so far met with very encouraging success, scarcely any one to whom they have applied refusing to contribute. It is high time that Guelph should possess a hospital. We hope those who have the matter in hand will push it forward to ultimate and early completion, and that we may ere long be able to chronicle the erection of a building that will be a credit to the town and a benefit to the public at large.
The social given by the ladies of the Wesleyan Church last evening, at the residence of Mr. O. Clarke, was well attended, there not being less, we should think, than 200 persons present. A large table, about twenty-four feet in length, was placed in the garden on the south side of the house, and the evening being perfectly calm, it answered admirably. The table was filled again and again, the last time about nine o'clock, and after all had partaken the eatables remaining over were sold by auction. Croquet, carpet ball, music, and promenade through the beautiful grounds made up the evening's amusements. We have not learned the amount realized, but it must be considerable. We are requested to state that the ladies of the Wesleyan Church feel very grateful to Mr. Clarke for the use of his house on the occasion.

The Duke of Manchester.

The Duke of Manchester, who is now on a tour through Canada, arrived in Guelph at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, accompanied by Prof. Goldwin Smith and Col. Denison. He was met at the station by Col. Higginbotham, M.P., Hon. P. Gow, D. Guthrie, Esq., and F. W. Stone, Esq., of Guelph; Hon. D. Christie, who is in Guelph today, and a number of other gentlemen. After salutations had been exchanged the party entered carriages in waiting and drove out to the Agricultural Farm. On the return of the party from the farm, they will be provided with a lunch at the Royal Hotel, at which a number of our prominent citizens will be present.

Local and Other Items.

The City of Washington wreck has been raised for an advance of $1,000.
It is said that the extensive works at St. Catharines, known as the Welland Vale Works, have been disposed of, and that the new proprietors contemplate moving them to Gananoque, to extend and enlarge the present works of D. F. Jones & Co.
THE QUEBEC FIRE.—The progress of the fire was fortunately arrested soon after the sending of our last despatch. The fire brigade, however, had to be called out again on Wednesday evening. The high wind had fanned the embers of the burned wharf and lumber into life, and it was deemed prudent to throw water on the ruins again.
THE CANADIAN CASSEWAY.—Most of us remember the rhyme about the cannibalistic individual who, in a lofty flight of imagination, remarked that if fate had permitted him to be a cassaway, On the plains of Timbuctoo, He would devour a missionary, Hat and boots and hymn-book too. Grip presents a paraphrase of this in relation to Sir John A., which we have taken the liberty of improving a little, thusly:—
"If I were a cass-way wary
At Ottawa, not Timbuctoo,
I'd allow discussion nary
This time 'til I'd put through."
"SOME PUMPKINS."—Mr. E. Kester has a pumpkin vine in his garden that has already extended itself some 55 feet. It is still in a healthy and vigorous condition and promises fair to double its present length ere it reaches the sere and yellow leaf. The garden having proved too confining for this "plant," it clambered over fence and shed and has reached the top of the Commercial Hotel stables,—and the end is not yet.—Exportor.

Our day train of the Canada Southern, going west on Tuesday evening, ran over two boys, two miles west of Waterford, instantly killing one and dangerously injuring the other. The lad killed was a son of Robert Gordon, aged 13 years; the other was a son of John Broughton's. The accident occurred about 9 o'clock, and the train was going very fast. The engine and fireman struck the engine till it fell, and then fortunately got unhurt. A house on the side of the track had a narrow escape, as one car fell within a few inches of it, greatly alarming the inmates.
New Pest.—Mr. W. Stewart showed us a very large, ugly worm, about the size of one's middle finger, which he found, with some dozen others, sucking the life out of his tomato vines. The reptile—for such it really seems to be—is certainly nasty to have around one's garden, and we are told they are very destructive. We have seen the same sort of worm in green, but never before in such a chocolate color as this one sported for his coat. Mr. Stewart thinks they were introduced by the vegetable marrow plant, and leaving them be took themselves to the tomato vines.—Hamilton Times.

Mr. Kenneth McKenzie, of Burnside, Manitoba, is introducing a Canadian idea into that Province, in the way of annual sales of superior stock. The first sale will be held on the 2nd of October next, the day after the Manxette fall exhibition, when occasion nearly 200 head of stock, including a great number of thoroughbred, and all well selected animals, will be sold by public auction. The terms of the sale are extremely liberal, so much so that two crops may be gathered before payment has to be made. These annual sales are excellent means for breeders and farmers to get into first-class stock.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A number of pickpockets and black-legs are in Toronto, and being watched by the detectives; they are from Buffalo and Detroit chiefly. A number of persons have been robbed. One man had a gold watch and $150 dollars in gold taken.
Dr. Andrews, of Toronto, was arrested on Tuesday evening charged with having attempted to procure an abortion, but was released on bail. This morning he was observed in the court room, but when wanted had gone, and the case was consequently postponed. A warrant has been issued for his arrest.
Good news! The Pacific Scandal begins to tell. Honesty is still the best policy. The Abbots have been dismissed from the Brockville & Ottawa Railway. Redhead Galbraith and Foster have been instructed in their place.—Pembroke Observer.

A phrend phelling phunfully phiguring phurishes the phollowing: 4ty 4tunate phusters phitiously 4tifying 4tross, 4tchly 4tade 4tmidable 4telgers 4timg 4tging 4tace.

The Fall-in at Merriton.

Up to Wednesday afternoon the obstruction to navigation at Merriton still existed, which is already a delay of a day and a half. Several unsuccessful attempts have been made to raise the engine, &c., by means of tacking attached to a derrick. Two locomotives were at work, but the ropes gave way each time. The engine is being taken to pieces, and the affair may be got out piecemeal.
The St. Catharines papers in their version of the affair do not mention the breaking of the gauge-glass, but say the accident occurred through a mistake about signals. The following is the account of the Daily News:—The bridge-tender says the lights and semaphore were all up, and the accident was the fault of the engineer, who ran inside of the semaphore before whistling "on brakes." The train was a through one to Rochester, without change of cars, and was composed of six passenger coaches and two through baggage cars; all the passenger cars were filled with people.—As the engineer was so long in whistling "on brakes," only one or two were got on before the locomotive and two baggage cars were in the lock, the engineer jumping off before they went over, and the fireman going over into the canal, but managing somehow to scramble out unhurt. They are father and son named Cox. It was a fortunate thing that there were two baggage cars on the train, as it most certainly saved the first passenger car from going over with its load of passengers, as it was just rising up to go over when it came to a stop. Had it gone over, not one fourth of its load of living beings could have got out alive. A lady passenger on the unfortunate train has seven trunks in the canal, for which she claims $15,000 damages. She has real lace, camels' hair shawls, diamonds, topazes, silk dresses, &c. She was going to Europe to a wedding when the accident occurred.

Liquor Selling at the Central Exhibition.

To the Editor of The Evening Mercury.
Sir,—It is admitted by all that drunkenness is an evil, which ought to be suppressed. The man who gets drunk disgraces himself, and is a nuisance to the community. This appears to have been the view taken by the Legislature of Ontario when it passed Section 18 of the "Tavern and Shop Licence Act," expressly prohibiting the issuing of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors on, or near, the grounds, when any agricultural exhibition takes place.
The sale of such liquors on or near the grounds of the approaching Central Exhibition being illegal, the matter has come under the notice of a committee of the Guelph Division of the Sons of Temperance, and a committee of the Guelph Lodge of Good Templars, more effectually promote the cause of temperance in Guelph and its neighbourhood. At a meeting held on Tuesday evening last this joint committee resolved to adopt such measures as will cause the law to be enforced, and the violators of it, if any, punished; and they have no doubt that they will be sustained by all who are really desirous of the well-being of the Town of Guelph.
J. RYAN,
Secretary of Committee.
Guelph, Aug. 21, 1873.

The Mechanical Pigeon.

Some months ago the English papers announced the invention and construction of an automaton pigeon designed to imitate closely the flight of the live one, to be used at pigeon-shooting matches instead of live birds, and thereby to take from these matches one of their most objectionable features—the cruelty involved in the lingering death of so many of the unfortunate feathered targets. A child's toy called the gyros is also constructed on this same principle, and a description of this toy recently appeared in the Scientific American. An ingenious young mechanic of Guelph, named J. B. Glyne, and employed in Raymond's Sewing Machine Factory, lately took a hint from the description of the gyros toy and resolved to construct a "gyros pigeon." After much thinking and experimenting, he succeeded in working satisfactorily, and Mr. P. Krebs, of Guelph, has now some of the machines on hand for sale. We have had an opportunity of seeing the operation of the "gyros pigeon." The flyer is a piece of tin, resembling in shape a two-bladed screw propeller, and a swift rotatory motion is given to this by an apparatus worked by a spring, which can be held in the hand or affixed to any stationary substance. The flight of the mock pigeon resembles curiously that of the living bird, and the direction of its movements can be controlled, by the person flying it; it can be made to skim along the ground, or to soar upwards; and one of its usual flights is to describe a circular path in the air like a boomerang. It would appear to answer every purpose of a living pigeon in testing the marksman's skill, and we hope to see it generally adopted.

There is to be a genuine Roman Catholic pilgrimage from England. Not such a one as recently went to Canterbury, but an undertaking under the management of such men as the Duke of Norfolk, Lord Denbigh and Lord W. Kerr. The destination of the pilgrims is to be the now popular shrine at Paray le Monial, where, according to the Roman Catholic belief, Mary Alcocke was intrusted with a message to propagate the worship of the Sacred Heart. Archbishop Manning has given his sanction and approval to the pilgrimage. He looks upon it as act of faith in the sight of a world which is becoming more and more unconcerned of the presence and power of God.
A woman appeared at the shop where her husband is employed a short time ago, and apologetically said: "Jim is not well. You must excuse him from coming to work to-day. He and I had a little difficulty at the breakfast-table this morning and he won't be able to work this week."

Iron Masters in Trouble.
Attempt to Lynch Rochefort.
Vienna Patent Law.
London, Aug. 20.—Mr. James Baird, a Scotch iron master, has paid over to a body of trustees, to be called the Baird Trust, half a million pounds, to be applied for religious purposes in connection with the Church of Scotland.
London, August 20.—The iron-masters of Manchester have determined upon a lock-out of one-tenth of their men, to commence on Saturday next, and to be followed every two weeks by a lock-out of one-tenth of the men then employed. It is probable that the movement thus inaugurated at Manchester by the masters will extend throughout the country. The iron-workers of Bolton urge the men at Manchester to meet the lock-out on Saturday by a strike of all hands. The aspect of affairs excites great interest in this city, as an extensive strike is apprehended. The points in dispute between the masters and men have reference to rates for piece-work and overtime. The Society of Engineers have now on hand a fund of $500,000 with which they will assist the iron-workers.
Paris, Aug. 20.—A report from the vessel in which Henri Rochefort was shipped for New Caledonia says that his fellow convicts, considering his course reasonable to the cause of the Commune, made an attempt to lynch him. The officers of the ship were obliged to assign him quarters apart from and protected against the Communist exiles.
Madrid, Aug. 20.—It is reported that in the event of a recess or adjournment of the Cortes, which is regarded as not improbable, Senor Castellar will visit London, Berlin, Vienna and Rome, and endeavor to bring about a recognition of the Spanish Republic.
Constantinople, Aug. 20.—The cholera has broken out in the Province of Bosnia.
New York, Aug. 20.—European mail advices to the 6th instant say the Vienna Patent Congress has adopted the following resolutions:—1st. That only the inventor himself or his legal successors shall obtain a patent; the granting of a patent cannot be refused to foreigners. 2nd. The donation of a patent for an invention to be for fifteen years, or for a shorter term with the option of extending it to that period. 3rd. The complete publication of the patent to be obligatory. 4th. The expense of granting a patent to be established on a moderate but progressive scale. 5th. A specification of all patents in force must be accessible to the public. The Congress will continue the debate upon the sixth resolution, whereby it is made obligatory on the holders of patents to place their inventions at the disposal of everybody wishing to use them upon payment of a fitting remuneration.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Great Rain Storm.
The Cholera in Missouri.
A Desperate Encounter.
A Murderer Lynched.
New York, Aug. 21.—The storm of the past week continues. Rain fell in torrents all night and many cellars are flooded and other damage done. 151 car loads of peaches, 40 crates each, arrived yesterday, generally soft or over ripe. This temporary glut of the market sent prices down to one and two dollars per crate.
Paraguay advices report the rebels defeated by the regulars in an attack on Asuncion.
Springfield, Mass., Aug. 20.—Harrington beat O'Leary in a scull race on the Connecticut to-day.
Chicago, Aug. 20.—The coroner's jury, in the case of the Chicago and Alton Railway disaster, found that the collision was caused by the criminal carelessness of Edward Bean, conductor, and Joshua Puffenberger, the engineer of the coal train, in violating the rules and regulations of the Railway Company governing the movement of trains. The coroner has issued a mittimus for the arrest of both men.
St. Louis, Aug. 20.—The cholera has again broken out in Fayette, Mo., four persons having died of that disease yesterday.
Nashville, Aug. 20.—A desperate fight occurred here to-night between officers Plummer and Reed, of the city police, and a party of eight countrymen whom they had arrested for creating a disturbance in a saloon. Ridley, one of the prisoners, attacked officer Reed, when the light took place. Several shots were fired and knives freely used. Plummer was shot in the shoulder, and Reed stabbed in the forehead. A colored man named Allen in attempting to stop one of the party was stabbed and cannot live.
Fort Scott, Kansas, August 20.—A despatch from Les Cygnes, County Scott, states that the greatest excitement exists there this morning. A mob of 400 men have taken possession of the town and arrested the sheriff. They declare they will burn the town and hang the sheriff unless he delivers up to them the person of Keller, a man who murdered his wife and two children and his wife's sister at Tivin's Springs on last Sunday night, and afterwards burned their bodies. The sheriff has been keeping the prisoner hid since his arrest, and still refuses to tell where he is concealed.
Fort Scott, Kansas, Aug. 20.—Additional advices from Les Cygnes state that after taking Keller the mob returned to Les Cygnes, where Keller was taken into Kellogg's office, when an effort was made

By many citizens to avert the murderous design of the mob. Mr. Blair, of Fort Scott, used his best endeavors to save the life of Keller. His remarks were temperate but not sufficient. Elder Gares was then called for, and offered prayer for Keller, at the close of which Keller was taken by twelve men and hanged.

New Orleans, August 20.—On Monday morning last, Dr. Eux Guideray and Felix Soliau, who had quarrelled at a ball, met in the old grand prairie, St. Landry parish, to settle the dispute by a fist fight. One hundred persons had assembled. After the first fight, a combat with pistols, growing out of an old feud between Guideray and others present, resulted in the killing of three men and the wounding of the fourth.

Guelph Evening Mercury

THURSDAY EVENING, AUG. 21, 1873

Sir Hugh Allan has returned to Ottawa. An apparently very confidential intercourse between himself and Hon. Mr. Langevin has been noticed, and in the morning he had an interview of great length with Sir John A. and Hon. Mr. Langevin. It is thought that the subject of their conference was the general drift of evidence that it will be necessary or advisable to give before the Commission.

Hon. Peter Mitchell left on Wednesday for the Maritime Provinces. Hon. Dr. Tupper went thither some days ago. Hon. Hugh Macdonald has also gone. Mr. Mackenzie's trip to the sea coast has stirred up the Privy Council to an alarming extent.

The Royal Whitewashing Committee are busy arranging preliminaries for their investigation, which will, it is announced, be commenced next week and pushed through with the utmost rapidity. Sir John is a close observer, and personally directs all their proceedings.

The Ottawa Reform Association met again on Tuesday night. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and a large number of new members admitted. The prospects of the Association are extremely gratifying.

Hon. Mr. SMITH, of Westmoreland, N. B., who at the Ottawa indignation meeting asked all that had signed the memorial to pledge themselves to ignore the Royal Commission, and refuse to recognize it in any way, was up to that time a strong supporter of the Ministry and has always been held in great respect by the Government party. He it was who was offered the Governorship of his Province on the expiration of Governor Wilmot's term, his claim to the first position in the Province being conceded on both sides. With the example of so worthy a man to guide us, we cannot be accused of partisanship in regarding the Commission as a sham and urging the public to support their representatives in treating it with the contempt it deserves.

The first action of any importance for some time back in favor of Free Trade in the United States was taken the other day by a Farmers' anti-Monopoly Convention at Des Moines, Iowa. Some 250 delegates, representing one-third of all the Counties in the State, were present. Resolutions were passed maintaining the competency of the State Government to interdict excessive freight charges on railways, denouncing the back pay "steal," extravagant expenditure, &c., and demanding that iron, salt, lumber, and woollen and cotton fabrics be admitted duty free.

JOHN GUY AND GENERAL CASS.—In years gone by there dwelt in Washington John Guy, a character in his way, in connection with whom Colonel Forney tells the following anecdote, or rather quotes it from Daniel Dougherty, one of Philadelphia's ablest lawyers and most brilliant raconteurs:—Guy kept the National Hotel in Washington, and among his guests was General Cass, then Senator from Michigan. Guy dressed like Cass, and although not as portly, his face, including the wart, was strangely similar. One day a Western friend of the house came in after a long ride, dusty and tired, and, walking up to the office, encountered General Cass, who was quietly standing there. Mistaking him for Guy, he slapped him on the shoulder, and exclaimed, "Well, old fellow, here I am! The last time I hung my hat up in your shanty one of your clerks sent me to the fourth story; but now that I have got hold of you I insist upon a lower room." The general, a most dignified person, taken aback by this startling salute, coolly replied, "You have committed a mistake, sir. I am not Mr. Guy; I am General Cass, of Michigan," and angrily turned away. The Western man was shocked at the unceremonious outrage he had committed; but before he had recovered from his mortification General Cass, who had passed around the office, confronted him again, when, a second time mistaking him for Guy, he faced him and said, "Here you are at last! I have just made a devil of a mistake; I met old Cass, and took him for you, and I am afraid the Michigan man has gone off mad." What General Cass would have said may be well imagined, if the real Guy had not approached and rescued the innocent offender from the twice-assaulted and twice-angered statesman.—Enron's DRAWER, in Harper's Magazine for September.

A TEA SWINDLE.—It has been discovered that a New York firm have for some time past been engaged in what may be termed doctoring tea, or what may be termed making saleable a vast quantity of condemned tea, by giving it the appearance of the genuine article.—The tea now undergoing this strange process was a part of the cargo of a vessel which struck on a rock, knocking a hole in her side, and for sixty days the tea was immersed in the sea water in the hold. When it finally reached New York it was officially examined and was pronounced rotten from its long soaking, and the price brought for 9,100 chests was but $500. After purchasing the tea, the owner employed some common mud sows in transferring it to an obscure malt-house. The tea was washed in fresh water to remove the salty taste from it, after which it was spread on the floor to be dried, for which the malt-house owner charged a cent a pound. The next step will be to strengthen it and colour it with chemical compounds, and when this is accomplished it is to be mixed with sound teas and offered for sale. Government officers and importers who have seen the tea pronounce it entirely unfit for consumption. They speak of it as dirty stuff. It is said that the persons interested in the swindle have already been offered $35,000 for the tea as it stands. The Board of Health have prohibited its sale as being poisonous, but how effective this formal action will be in regard to the matter remains to be seen. The impression is that it will be disposed of among the poorer classes, by the rascals who are working the plot.

ANNABEL OR THE TEMPTATION.

CHAPTER XXXV. THE DISCONSOLATE MOURNER—AN INSCRUTABLE MYSTERY.

"Yet, why should I," he murmured, "why should I fret at the happiness of this little creature? Though mine has gone for ever, the shadow and gloom have not come on every spirit, and 'tis selfish of me to check the enjoyment even of an animal that can know no sorrow. Let it frisk and gambol as it lists, I will school myself to bear it."

The kitten's glee was something boisterous and extravagant, as it leapt from chair to couch, now attracted by this, now by that, till in its course it landed on the table where stood Mrs Langton's open work-basket with balls of colored wool, which went to the construction of the piece of fancy work which lay near.

On one of these pools of worsted the little gambler pounced, and as in obedience to a pat from her paw it rolled across the table she pursued it in wild delight, till it went over the edge upon the floor whither pussy followed, causing it to spin about under the legs of the chairs and sofas, till she had got it to the far end of the room, where Philip sat.

Of course the thread had opened and unravelled round all the objects it had met in its course, and by the time pussy had brought her plaything as far as Philip's feet it was who unwound, till the paper on which it had been rolled was bare, and it also was being tossed about by the kitten's paws, when Philip, seeing the mischief which had been done, picked up the paper with the intention of rewinding the wool upon it.

He secured the end of the thread for this purpose, and was about to pass it round the folded paper when some writing on the letter caught his eye, and instantly he gave a great start, for the handwriting he recognised as Annabel's.

Any relic of hers was precious to him beyond description, and this which seemed the envelope of a letter, was a something to be treasured. He therefore kissed it fervently, and spread it out, smoothing the creases and folds as he did so till it was entirely unfolded.

It was an envelope which had enclosed a letter addressed to Mrs. Langton, and though there was a tremulousness in the character of the handwriting, it was unmistakably that of Annabel. Philip, who knew her calligraphy so well, had not a doubt on that point, and he sat gazing at it till tears dimmed his eyes, and he laid his face on the paper and sobbed and wept with vehemence.

This little thing which had turned up so unexpectedly reminded him so touchingly of his lost love that the fountain of grief seemed to open afresh in its fulness of strength, and for a time his frame was shaken to its centre by uncontrollable emotion.

Then, when he grew calmer, he sat gazing at the paper till he began to conjecture when her dear hand had traced the lines. Perhaps it had been sometime during her illness; the irregularity of the characters seemed to point to that. If so, it was a later article composed than anything he possessed—it must therefore be deposited beside the lock of hair which Mrs. Langton had given him, and lie continually in his bosom nearest his heart.

As the course of his mental inquiry went on, he began to wonder how an occasion could arise in which Annabel could write a letter to Mrs. Langton. So far as he was aware, she had never been at any distance from her necessitating communication by letter. Before they went to France, Annabel had not been absent from Rockstone; how then could she have had an occasion to write Mrs. Langton a letter with that address? Ah, it had come through the post. There were the postmarks, and they would give both place and date.

He looked at the circular stamp, which was quite legible on the back of the envelope, and there read—

"PORSLEY, Oct. 12th, 18—."

"October thirteenth," murmured Philip again and again. "October thirteenth. Why, that is impossible."

Impossible truly, for Annabel had died on the 26th of September. It could not be her handwriting, for on comparing it with specimens which he had in his pocketbook, there was a peculiar formation of certain letters in all, which she alone could have traced.

Philip lay back in his seat in utter bewilderment. The thing was inexplicable, and no possible explanation occurred to him.

"Porsley. Where is Porsley?" he ejaculated. "It was a place he had never remembered to have heard of. Conjecture was utterly fruitless, as he was more and more convinced the longer he tried it. The matter was so utterly mysterious that he longed for Mrs. Langton's return, who alone could explain what was so incomprehensible.

He had come to this prospect of solving the mystery when the door was opened, and Sally Primrose appeared, broom and brush in hand, come to tidy up the room.

She drew back on seeing Philip, and made a motion to return.

The Witness of Wednesday evening in an editorial directs public attention to the fact that no report has yet been made public by the local Government concerning the Belle scandal. It is said the accused, before leaving for England, handed in his resignation, which was formally accepted. The Colonel has, however, hung on to his position as Crown Lands and Timber Agent, his office being open for transaction of business. Neither has a report reached the ears of the public concerning a recent charge of defalcation and counter charge of conspiracy in the post office. The resignation of an official who has been a trusted employee for very many years was accepted. All the public knows is, that the matter was dropped.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT ON THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.—We take the following from the Montreal Witness:—Following the example of Mr. Spicer, the auditor, Mr. T. B. Hawson, has addressed a circular letter to the clerks in his office, and, like Mr. Spicer, heads the list himself. This movement is very honorable and very hopeful. For a man to sign a pledge because he needs to, and without the co-operation of those who don't need it, is the most humiliating course which a Christian can follow on the brother man, and is often not taken till self respect are already lost. The agreement of the many to abstain for the sake of the few, if the sufferers be indeed few, is the most honorable position men can occupy.

COMPLETE SUCCESS!

TEN FIRST PRIZES

At Two Exhibitions!

W. BELL & Co. GUELPH, ONT.

Received Every First Prize for

Organs and Melodeons

At the Provincial Exhibition, Hamilton, and Central Exhibition, Guelph.

This grand success, in addition to last year's record of

Silver Medal, 3 Diplomas, and 12 First Prizes,

Prove that our Instruments in the opinion of competent judges are incomparably superior to all others.

Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers of the

ORGANETTE,

Containing Scribner's Patent Qualifying Tubes, acknowledged by all to be the greatest improvement yet introduced. Their superiority is conceded by other makers from the fact that at Guelph they withdrew from competition, thus acknowledging their inability to compete with them.

Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Send for catalogue containing fifty different styles of instruments.

NOTICE To Masons, Plasterers, Farmers, and Others.

The subscriber keeps on hand a large quantity of First-class Fresh Lime, Cut and Lincut Stone, Bricks, Lintels, Corners, Marble Sockets, etc., etc., which he is in a position to sell at a very low rate to parties who favor him with their patronage. As he intends enlarging this branch of industry, he will offer inducements that few men in this trade can offer.

Send sold by the load or otherwise. Don't mistake place—the new stone house near the G. T. R. passenger station, where he will be always found attending to his business. DENIS COFFEY, Guelph, April 19, 1878. dwly
