WEDNESDAY EV'G. DEC. 9, 1874

Town and County News

THE CHRISTMAS FAIR CATTLE SHOW takes place to-morrow.

THE ROBIN GAME.—An excellent curling match was played on the Red Mill Pond yesterday afternoon.

CANADIAN ALMANAC.—Mr. T. J. Day has sent us a copy of this most useful almanac for 1875. It should be in every counting house, office and family. Copies for sale at Day's Bookstore.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Committee of the St. Andrew's Society will be held in the Wellington Hotel this evening at 8 p.m. sharp, when the business connected with the late celebration will be wound up. A full meeting is, therefore, requested.

SOCIAL.—The Y. M. C. A. of this town propose holding an after-noon social in their rooms on Thursday evening next, at half-past seven. They have a lengthy programme which is very select, some of the best amateurs taking part. We hope to see a good attendance.

EVERYBODY'S FRIEND.—This is the title of Josh Billing's new book, published by the St. Lawrence Book Co., Ogdensburg. It is like all Josh's works very readable, very easy, and full of wit and wisdom done up in the quaintest spelling. Nast's illustrations are capital. Agents are wanted for the sale of this book.

RECOVERING.—We are pleased to learn that Mr. H. S. McDonald who got his hand severely injured a few weeks since in coupling cars at the Great Western station, Guelph, is now in a fair way of recovery. Under Dr. Herold's skilful treatment, he will retain the use of his hand and fingers.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—The letter of "One who was there" will appear to-morrow. We have received an account in rhyme of the late temperance mass meeting, but as we have already given a report of it, and as this synopsis gives us no more than the public already know, we cannot afford space for it.

THE TOWN HALL LAST NIGHT.—The Agnes Wallace Troupe certainly made a good hit last night. The house was so well filled as the play deserved, and as for the farce, men who never laughed before laughed then. The comedy for the night is Robertson's celebrated "Caste," in which Sam Villa will represent D'Alroy; Agnes as Polly, and Webster as Sam.

Mr. McCandless.

To the Editor of the Globe.

Sir,—As I seldom or never see the Mail, it is but to-day that I noticed therein the letter written to the Premier by our late Principal, and handed by him to the leader of the Opposition, who forgot his reputation as to read it before the House.

As I intend to speak of nothing which will be added before the Committee, you will perhaps allow me space to notice a few of the mis-statements contained in that production, which might otherwise go uncontradicted.

Although I know that Mr. McCandless had been occupied for a week during last July in concocting such a letter, I did not for a moment imagine that so much of it was devoted to me; for if there was any man more than McCandless who was a spy upon the actions of the officers and students, and reported to that gentleman's private servant, who found means and times, no doubt, to inform her master of the facts.

And now, sir, as there is but one other referred to by Mr. McCandless, who is unable to speak for herself, you will perhaps allow me to refer to his attack upon the matron here. And you will, I hope, pardon me if in my language I should transgress the strict bounds of etiquette. For of that attack I must speak without indignation. For I had found the man was, low as I knew him to be in origin and nature, regardless of truth as all his dealings showed, I yet never dreamt that he was so utterly devoid of all sense of honor, to every every communication, as to charge a pure and virtuous woman with the last unutterable disgrace with which a woman can be charged, and yet live. Known from her infancy in Guelph and Fergus, no one could be found to place a finger upon a single blot until this villain struck to ruin her character in order to gratify his petty revenge. He speaks of being thwarted by her. Was it in the nature of a woman to work harmoniously when her every right was ignored? Not a servant that she recommended would be engaged, but insisted upon appointing those whom, from her intimate acquaintance of the town, she knew to be the lowest of the low. Not a woman servant that he engaged who was not before and has not been since, well-known both to the Constable and Police Magistrate of Guelph. And these women "who came in a body to protest" against what never existed. These were the women who were so disgusted with the "filthy and objectionable language" of the matron that they must forthwith, take sweet counsel with the Principal.

That she did receive her old friends, gentlemen and ladies, in her own private sitting-room—which is true, through Mr. McCandless' selfishness, was in the "quarters set aside for the domestic servants"—I can testify; for myself and every other officer about the place, married men and all, have been there; but that she received a student at improper hours, that her department towards us was not what it should be, that "she associated very freely with the students," or ever used the language attributed to her, I dare Mr. McCandless, before any Parliamentary Committee, or any court of law, to prove. But does the scoundrel suppose that I opened my door at night to this woman, trembling like an aspen leaf as she fled from the Institution, does he suppose that I sheltered her every night under my roof for three long weeks, without demanding and receiving a reason sufficient to satisfy any honorable man why she had left the protection of the house to which she properly belonged? Does he suppose that uncontrrollable hatred and an unquenchable thirst for revenge spring up in a woman's breast like Jonah's gourd, in a single night? Let him consider the remnants of what I never found him to possess, his own conscience, and he may perhaps discover a reason why simple dislike was changed into hatred, expostulation into rebellion, opposition into the active of despair, until he was obliged to face—proverbially the bitterest thing a man can meet—a woman's revenge.

And now, sir, I am finished. I have spoken but of the mis-statements in Mr. McCandless' letter and have not anticipated, in any way, the evidence to be adduced before the Committee. But when that evidence is complete, it will, I can assure you, bring into bold relief the character of this unscrupulous adventurer, who has thus added to the duty of incompetency and negligence which he showed whilst here the still deeper turpitude—if deeper could be—of ingratitude towards the Premier, the only man magnanimous enough to extend one word of pity, or one expression of sympathy.

With an apology for trespassing so far upon your valuable space,

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES SPRITSON.

Helton Election Trial.

MILTON, Dec. 8.

The Election Court opened in the Court House at eleven o'clock, His Lordship Chancellor Sprague presiding; Mr. C. Brough acting as Registrar.

Mr. Horley, Bethune & Hoyle, of Toronto, appeared for the petitioner, Mr. D. McGibbon, of Milton, for the respondent.

Mr. Chisholm, the respondent, through his counsel, admitted bribery by acts of agents.

The Judge said he must have some evidence.

Mr. Arch. Campbell was called, and testified that he was a voter at the late election; he voted for Mr. Chisholm; received $27 for his vote; the money was paid by Samuel Cook; it was to influence his vote.

Mr. Cook, sworn, testified that he was an agent of Mr. Chisholm during the late election; he was one of the Town Committee, and had to look after votes; he paid Mr. Campbell $27 to vote for Mr. Chisholm.

No more witnesses were examined, the Judge declaring the election void and the seat vacant, the respondent to pay the costs.

The Court room was crowded. The trial lasted only about half an hour.

Mr. Chisholm, the respondent, was not present during the trial.

A few days ago when the Brantford express wagon came to the office from the Grand Trunk Station, a package of money amounting to $2,800 was missing. It was addressed to the Bank of British North America.

George Hunter, one of the editors of the Scotsman, was murdered on Saturday evening in New York.

when I was met with the characteristic reply, "Oh, shure, he was only down kapin the fourth of July; see that it don't occur agin." To the second, also, I give an explicit denial. The incident referred to occurred on a Saturday evening—the evening of the students' weekly half-holiday—when they were under the control of none of the managers, and at a time when I was absent from the place. But I may merely state that at that time Mr. McCandless was within twenty yards, a powerless spectator, engaged, not in quelling disorder, but in striking an attitude, and with his hand raised to Heaven swearing to his students by the Most High that the boy had not told him anything; which was literally true, for the lad has frequently affirmed since that by the request of the Principal he acted as a spy upon the actions of the officers and students, and reported to that gentleman's private servant, who found means and times, no doubt, to inform her master of the facts.

And now, sir, as there is but one other referred to by Mr. McCandless, who is unable to speak for herself, you will perhaps allow me to refer to his attack upon the matron here. ### The Sultan's Benevolence.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 8.—This afternoon as a train on the Kansas Pacific Railroad, reached Muncie, a few miles west of this city, five masked men flagged and stopped it; cutting off the passengers' coaches they moved the engine and express car some distance ahead, and then robbed the safe of Wells, Fargo & Company of about $27,000. One case containing gold dust valued at $5,000, consigned to Komtze Bros., New York, was also carried off. The robbers were all large men and heavily armed. The Express Company offers a reward of $10,000; Railway Company $5,000, and Governor Osborne $2,500 for the recovery of the property and arrest of the robbers.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A special despatch from Berlin to the Daily News says the decision whether the trial of Count Von Arnim is to be conducted in public rests with the Judges. It is thought probable that while publicity will be nominally granted the German government will clear of spectators during the more important revelations of witnesses. The defence will rest rather on legal interpretations than disapproval of the charges made. Tickets of admission have been issued to representatives of the press. The Emperor has appointed Count Von Arnim, Berlinburg, Governor of Silesia.

PARIS, Dec. 9.—The Daniels Printing House in Lille, the largest establishment of the kind in France, is burned. Loss $500,000.

An anonymous letter understood to emanate from the Premier of Italy, Signor Minghetti, refuting Bishop Dupauloup's charges against the Italian government is published in Paris and Florence. It denies that the Pope is a prisoner, and declares that the Government of Victor Emmanuel will faithfully maintain the Papal guarantees.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 8.—The Sultan has given a hundred thousand dollars for relief of the famine stricken inhabitants of Angora. The prospects there, however, are improving. Prices of provisions are reduced and agriculture is reviving.

The Temperance Question.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

Sir,—In your issue of Monday I noticed several attacks on Fahey of the Herald, in connection with the late Temperance Meeting, and I craved room to say a few words on the subject. Not that I intend to defend Fahey, for he himself acknowledged, in the Port Hope case, that he was a root, and he certainly demonstrates the truth of that wherever he goes. And really, the best way to deal with Fahey is suggested by this little Mohammedan legend:—

Upon a certain day Mohammed walked With Ali, his son's mate, and while they talked, Swearing deep words as only wise folks can, Weaving a web of words as broken men, Who, drunk with wine and wrath, essayed their fortitude.

To grid at Ali for imagined slight, Beholding malicious lites, The reverend sage, Unheeded, bore the other's rage; But finally, his gentle suzerainty, Repaid the insolent railing for railing; Whereas Mohammed passed, as best they could, Leaving the pair to settle up their feud, Next time the friends met, scolded Ali.

Left thus to me to give the churl the lie Unscathed?—A brother, Mohammed said, While slander spat its venom fumes, heal And thou wert silent, say I anget thee. With wings ailedst leading it back. But when Return'dst that noble reticence put off, Throwing thy tormentor scold for scold, Then one by one away those angels flew. And when the last had left thee I went too.

But about the manufacture and use of liquors. As an argument against atheism, theologians assert that all peoples were known, civilized, or savage, have a belief in a future state and in the existence of a Supreme Being; therefore there must be a God. Pursuing the same line of argument, I say that all peoples, savage or otherwise, manufacture and drink a variety of intoxicating liquors; therefore, the use of such drinks is also natural to humanity. You know, however, that intelligent person knows that the use of intoxicating liquors was common as far back as history, sacred or profane, extends, in proof of which assertion we have but to turn to the first book of the Old Testament. There is not a word in the whole Scriptures that forbids the moderate use of liquors. Solomon said: "Eat thy bread and drink thy wine with a merry heart." And Jesus said, when condemning the Pharisees, "The Son of Man cometh eating and drinking, and they say, Behold a wine bibber and gluttonous man; and the publicans and sinners." From this it is evident that He himself was a moderate drinker. And even in these days there are Pharisees who say of a moderate drinker, "Behold a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners." We also know that Jesus himself turned water into wine; and that Paul advised Timothy to use it. But "Oh," say temperance men, "the wine was not intoxicating." I say it was, and a succeeding verse proves my assertion: "Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have been drunk, then that which is worse." That is, that at first men could discern the quality, but after drinking a short time they could not make such a nice distinction. The whole Biblical arguments of total abstinence is founded on misapprehension. Temperance is one thing; gluttony is another; and teetotalers should remember that there is such a thing as temperance in speaking and writing.

Man kind always have made and always will make and use intoxicating drinks—a fact that it is best to recognize. The civil lies in the adulteration and abuse of such liquors—principally in the adulteration. But abstainers have raised such a fuss, that dealers are forced to adulterate in order to make a profit on their sales, and at the same time dispose of it at a moderate price. This is a thing that abstainers fail to see, but continue blindly seeking after that which is unobtainable. The reasonable, level-headed course is to temperately and persistently to work and have strict and severe laws made and executed for the prevention and punishment of adulteration, in which course of proceedings they would have an overwhelming majority of drinkers and abstainers on their side. Lessening the number of licenses will not abate the evils of intemperance, as such a course will enable the favored few to make their establishments more luxurious and attractive to all comers—and nearly all men know how fascinating a place is a well-ordered hotel. Fanny Fern once said, "there was nothing so good for dinner as roast beef and good ale; and that is the portion of her writings, where I mentally put her on the back, and say "O. K., Fanny you have a level head."

Respectfully yours,
BROWN STOUT.

Guelph Evening Mercury
WEDNESDAY EVENG. DEC. 9, 1874.

Ontario Legislature.
After some routine business in the Assembly on Tuesday, the Bill to amend the Election Law was passed through Committee. A provision is made in it that the trial of the petition against the defeated candidate, and that against the sitting member, can take place at the same time. The Bill for voting by ballot at municipal elections was also passed through committee, and in answer to a question, Mr. Mowat said it would be impossible to bring it into operation at the next election. The Supplementary Estimates were brought down. These amount to only $36,081 15, and are made up of unimportant items.

BRIBING THE PRESS.—More than one dirty transaction has been brought to light by the Rykert investigation. One of the latest and worst is the confession made by Mr. John Carling that while a Director of the Great Western Railway he had paid out $2,000 to two editors in Toronto for their support in trying to defeat the Southern Railway Bill. Of this sum $1,000 went to the editor of the Telegraph—now dead, and as regards the other $1,000, he refused to say to whom it was paid. In consequence of this refusal the Committee decided to report the facts to the House, so that it might take action. Later in the day Mr. Charles Belford, now of the Mail, but formerly of the Leader, was examined as to this money, and he also refused to give any reply till the House had decided whether Mr. Carling would be compelled to answer. Mr. Jas. Deaty, of the Leader, has issued a card under his own signature, denying any knowledge of this nefarious transaction, so that the blame rests with those who were writing for the Leader at the time. We hope both Carling and Belford will be compelled to answer the questions put to them, that the guilt may be brought home to the right parties.

RECIPROCIITY TREATY.—The Montreal Herald has good reason to believe that the sliding scale clause in the Reciprocity Treaty, about which so much has been said and written, has been eliminated by the Government so that goods mentioned in schedules will be placed in the free list of the Reciprocity Treaty on both sides of the line. If this is true one of the strongest objections urged against the Treaty will be removed, and it will go far to disarm any opposition which otherwise might be urged against it. At a political meeting in Montreal the other night Mr. Glendonning, a manufacturer, said he approved of the Treaty, and stated that a lumber merchant doing an extensive business at St. Johns, informed him recently that if it passed he would at once erect the largest cotton mills in America on the banks of the St. John River. He was assured of a market of forty millions, and of obtaining labor more cheaply than his American competitors.

THE HALTON ELECTION TRIAL.—This case was soon disposed of. Mr. Chisholm was not present, but his counsel admitted bribery by one of his agents, and evidence having been adduced to prove that a flagrant case was at once given, and the Judge thereupon unseated Mr. Chisholm. We should think that the unseated member, after the double dealing he has practised will have no chance of re-election, even if he tries. We hope that the Reform Convention, which meets on the 15th will succeed in bringing out a good popular Reformer, who will redeem the County from the grasp of the Conservatives.

KINGSTON.—The Conservatives of Kingston have again nominated Sir John Macdonald, and they are to wait on him to day to ask his acceptance of the nomination.

Business Farmers' Club!
This Club held their adjourned meeting at McWeney's School House, on Saturday, the 5th inst. In the absence of the unavoidable absence of Duncan McFarlane, Esq., President, Mr. Malon, V. C., was called to the chair. Mr. Jas. Anderson acting as Secretary. Mr. Little then opened the meeting with an elaborate address on Dairy Farming—we will be able to find room for it next week. Mr. Knowles, secretary of the Cheese Factory, made a few remarks. He recommended dairy farming as being necessary to recuperate our worn-out soils; and that in average years it will pay well. Notwithstanding the late dry season, from the milk of four cows $128 was realized, and good common cows were as good and sometimes better than thorough breeds.

Of course the past season being so dry, the proceeds were not so good as could have been expected. Mr. Glennie finds from his experience that the milk required to make one pound of butter will make three pounds of cheese. That where we could get within the limits of a cheese factory, it would pay to send the milk there, but on account of the late dry seasons we must grow more forage crops, such as Indian corn, &c., for keeping up a supply of feed for the cows, when the pastures fail.

Mr. Kirkland found great difficulty in getting the grass seeds to grow, and the farmers would be compelled to grow something for summer feed for their cows. Mr. Buchanan said he had milked twelve cows this summer, and that in some seasons he had got as much from six cows as he had done from the twelve this one, and had it not been for the swamps his cattle would have started and his intention was to grow Indian corn to cut green for his cows next year.

Several other members having spoken, it was agreed to hold the next meeting of the club at Arkle's School House, when the subject for discussion will be the "Breeding of Agricultural Horses," and the advisability of the Club purchasing a stallion. The meeting will be held on Saturday the 26th inst., at 6 p.m. Mr. C. J. Cockburn to lead. There were over twenty of the leading farmers present, and all seemed to take a deep interest in the success of the club. Some fifteen new members joined.

Mr. John Anderson has sent us a copy of The Highlander,—a weekly paper published in Inverness. It gives a large amount of Highland and Scottish news, besides a column of Gaelic every week. Copies for sale at Anderson's.

FOR SALE—TYRCATHLEN LOTS.

The Venerable Archdeacon Palmer has placed in my hands for sale the Lots in his new survey, immediately in rear of his residence and lying on the north side of Grange street. The situation cannot be surpassed in the town—convenient to Market, Post Office, Church and Schools, commanding a magnificent view of the town and surrounding country. The lots are of different sizes, and well suited for private dwellings, with a first-class soil for gardening.

These lots on Tyrcathlen Terrace are well adapted for genteel residences, (and will only be sold to those who will bargain to put up good buildings.)

Plans of the Lots can be seen at my office and particulars learned.

Terms very liberal. Purchases made this Fall, interest on balance of purchase money will not commence until 1st April next.

If desired, the lots will be pointed out on the ground.

Also, 17 other lots lying to the north of Palmer street, in Macdonald's survey, and on Queen and Arthur streets.

An early call is solicited. CHARLES DAVIDSON, Land and General Agent, Town Hall Building, Guelph, Guelph, Aug. 31 1874. dtw

It is rumored that a new daily paper is to be launched in the Reform interest in Toronto.

S. E. Burwell, of Pinal, Ont. writes: —Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balm, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

THE RECENT CASE OF DEATH by strychnine poisoning from taking SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES, noticed in the Montreal Daily Witness, of August 1st, renders great caution necessary not to confound Dr. Wheeler's Compound Elixir of PHOSPHATES and Calceaya, with COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES. Observe well the difference in orthography, and bear in mind that medicinally there is no similarity in action or effect.

PHOSPHATES ARE ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY to sustain life, being an element of every solid and fluid of the body, and they are incapable of injurious results at any period from infancy to old age, or under any possible condition of the system, and no more harm can be done from taking more than the prescribed dose than from eating too hearty a dinner.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

Is the great modern remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, CHOP and BRONCHITIS. It is recommended by Physicians everywhere, who are acquainted with its great usefulness.

Dr. A. L. Scovill, of Cincinnati, Ohio, says:—
"I have witnessed its effects on the young and the old, and I can truly say that it is by far the best expectorant remedy with which I am acquainted. For coughs, and all the early stages of lung complaints, I believe it to be a certain cure; and if ever a family would keep it by them, ready to administer upon the first appearance of disease about the lungs, there would be very few cases of fatal consumption. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the lungs), and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops the night sweat, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state."

Dry Goods this Winter much cheaper than any other Store in Guelph!

FRASER'S store is crammed from cellar to attic with cheap goods. The rush of customers to FRASER'S for the cheap smoked goods is enormous, which causes other merchants to grunt and growl. Still FRASER is determined to look after the wants of his customers, no matter what others may think.

Being the only merchant in Guelph who attended the Great Auction Sale in Montreal, can state with confidence that he can show Goods at prices much below their regular value.
