

PHANTOM OF STOLBERG.

The illustrious Baron of Astenheim dwelt at the Castle of Stolberg. He was old and a widower with one child—the beautiful Hildegard, whose hand was sought in marriage by all the nobles of the neighborhood.

Two noble knights from the banks of the Rhine presented themselves at the Castle of Stolberg, Edward and Hermann, brothers. The latter was handsome, brave and accomplished. He came to lay his fortune at the feet of the beautiful Hildegard and soon obtained her father's consent.

Hildegard's attendants said that after a long interview with the Baron, in which he had announced to her his decision, she had wept long and bitterly. But she dreaded her parent too much to dare resist his will.

The marriage day was fixed, and Hermann, though at the summit of felicity, could not but perceive that Edward was restless and unhappy.

"Brother," said he, "what I have long dreaded has at last happened. The prospect of the day when you will no longer be without a rival in my affection fills you with uneasiness."

The nearer the wedding day approached the more gloomy Edward became; though Hermann, with a smile in his eye, only had eyes for his bride.

The Baron Astenheim has given orders that the wedding feast should be celebrated with the utmost pomp, and appeared proud of the allegiance his daughter was about to form, and yet at times a shade of apprehension was to be remarked on his countenance; Hermann observed it and inquired the cause.

"My friend," replied the Baron, "you will perhaps blame my superstitious credulity. Learn that for many centuries an heir of Stolberg has never married without the consent of the founder of our race, the first Baron of Astenheim, formerly known by the name of the Bronze Soldier. An ancient tradition runs as follows:—When the marriage is about to be celebrated, the Bronze Soldier appears before the walls of the castle, where he blows three blasts on his bugle at midnight. My family, from that time, has believed in the apparition, and were I to hear his fatal clarion, I must refuse you Hildegard."

THE ANGELUS.

I had just left the military school and was very proud of the sword I carried and anxious for an opportunity of giving it its baptismal blood. I had not long to wait, for trouble broke out in Yarmouia, and my regiment, with many other recruited orders followed by Poland, where a campaign seemed imminent.

The Poles, both nobles and peasants, had grown tired of the restraints imposed upon them and had determined to make a desperate effort to free themselves from the yoke which was weighing them down, and then began that heroic and bloody contest—Russia's eternal shame.

I arrived one evening in command of a detachment at a village called Kurwo, where I expected to surprise a band of Polish patriots. They had been warned of our approach, however, and had taken flight, and I discovered that they had agreed with the villagers to return during the night and massacre us in our sleep.

Fortunately for a miserable fellow I was in exchange for a few rebels that I had arranged that the ringing of the Angelus bell should be the signal for the rebels to return to the village for the purpose of slaughtering us.

I waited several hours and then went to the church myself, intending to give the signal which would call the Poles from their hiding place. I did not find the bell rope. After a long search, I became convinced that the rope had been purposely cut.

I was furious, and ordering all the people to gather on the village green I announced to them that if within five minutes time came one of them was not ready to climb the bell tower and ring the Angelus the village should be set on fire and every one of them put to the sword.

The minutes passed slowly, and the people stood silent, with calm, resigned faces, awaiting death. Suddenly a boy of 15 approached me and said that he was ready to do my bidding.

"Here," said I, "take this ruband use it to drink the car's health! Now go up and ring the bell!" Without making any reply the boy sprang like a cat up to the belfry, perched aloft and set the bell clapper in both hands.

The managers of the Jarvis-street Baptist Church ought to adopt the suggestion of a writer to a morning paper yesterday. Last year this church voluntarily paid its share of municipal taxes to the amount of over $1,000, and this year it is starting out to do the same thing.

Another very serious item of expenditure is the police force. Taking the force altogether, there is not a better or more respectable body of police on this continent. It is happily a rare occasion for Toronto policemen to be drunk or act improperly on duty.

THE SISTERS OF PROVIDENCE.

AN INTERESTING CHAT WITH THE SECRETARY OF ST. MARY'S.

She Explains Why the Sisters and their Pupils are so Healthy—Due to Strict Rules of Hygiene and the Medicine Used in the Home—Information of Value to Everybody.

[From The Terra Haute, Ind., Express.] Four miles to the northwest of Terra Haute lies the beautiful and picturesque village of St. Mary's. This is a Roman Catholic institution, which has attained something more than national celebrity. Fifty years ago it was established by six sisters of Providence, who came from the shores of France to lay the foundation for this great charitable order. It now consists of the home of the Sisters of Providence, known as the Providence House, a large female seminary, one of the finest chapels in the United States, and a rectory in which the priests make their home.

A reporter of The Express while being shown through the establishment recently, asked Sister Mary Ambrose if there was any apparent reason for the good health with which the sisters and their pupils are blessed.

The answer was that particular attention is paid by the sisters in charge to the health and happiness of the students. "Bodily ailments," she said, "cannot help but have its effect on the mind. In order to keep the mind bright and active and perfectly clear at all times the student's condition must be as nearly perfect as possible. Some time ago there was more or less eminent noticeable among the sisters and students, which was probably due to atmospheric causes, though of course I do not show just when the origin really was. Shortly after this became noticeable a friend highly recommended a medicine called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and so urged upon me to give them a trial that I ordered some of them, and they have been used in the institution ever since. A few days ago the manufacturers wrote me for an opinion of Pink Pills, and my reply was as follows:

"RESPECTED SIRS,—In answer to your kind request for my opinion of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am pleased to say that these pills were so highly recommended to me that we were induced to try them, and we think our repeated orders for them are sufficient evidence that we find them all they are represented, a good blood-builder and an excellent tonic. Yours very respectfully, SISTER M. AMBROSE, Secretary for Sisters of Providence."

Medical scientists concede that weak blood and shattered nerves are the fruitful cause of nearly every disease to which human flesh is heir, and if Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is, as Sister Ambrose says they have found it, "a good blood builder and an excellent tonic," the source of good health at St. Mary's is easily traced.

Sister Ambrose said they are never without a box at a time. This is certainly a very high recommendation for the medicine, for there is probably no class of people that give more attention to the physical health and welfare of its members than the Sisters of Providence, and they would not use anything in which they did not have unbounded faith.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are truly one of the greatest medical discoveries of the age. They are the beginning of a more healthful era. Every day brings reports of remarkable cures that have resulted from the use of this wonderful medicine. It is the source of the good work that has been accomplished after eminent physicians had failed and pronounced the patient beyond the hope of human aid. An analysis proves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of gripe, palpitation of the heart, that tired feeling resulting from nervous exhaustion, all diseases depending upon vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood and restore the glow of health to pale or sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excess of whatever nature.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medical Company of Brookline, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen, hundred, at $50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medical Company, from either address. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

He Trolley Car Accidents. We move fast. A Trolley Car Accident Policy is the latest development in the insurance field, and seems particularly appropriate to the moment. The Canada Accident Assurance Company, quick to grasp the idea, have devised a most liberal accident policy dealing with this special risk and guaranteed by the company's entire resources at a cost to fit the purse of everyone.

Trades of the Week. New York, Sept. 8.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say at Toronto trade is very active, visitors to the industrial fair being free buyers. Relatively less improvement in wholesale lines is reported from Montreal. Dealers in groceries are very cautious, fearing trade in the United States may affect them there. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Montreal, Toronto and Halifax (where trade is quiet), aggregate $18,266,000, a gain of 32 per cent. over the week before, and of less than two per cent. as compared with the like week in 1892. There are 27 business failures reported from Canada this week, against 30 last week, 29 a year ago and 23 two years ago.

Mr. T. J. Humes, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I have been afflicted for some time with Kidney and Liver Complaint. Pills have been the best medicine for these diseases. These Pills do not cause pain or cramping, and should be used when a cathartic is required. They are gelatine coated and rolled in the Flour of Linseed to preserve their purity and give them a pleasant, agreeable taste."

Only 60 Hours Per Week. The grooms at the street railway barns will hereafter only work nine hours per day, and their pay will be reduced by 90c per week. The motormen, conductors and drivers will likewise only be allowed to work 60 hours per week. As a result employment will be given to a great many additional hands. Strange to say, the men who opposed Sunday cars because they alleged they would have more work to do are now objecting that they cannot work the same as before.

Mr. John Anderson, Grassmore, Ont., writes: "The Vegetable Discovery you sent me is all gone, and I am glad to say it has greatly benefited those who have used it. One man, in particular, says it has made him a new man, and he cannot say too much for its cleansing and curative qualities."

Dropped Dead at His Work. Job Davis of 54 Wright-avenue, a corporation laborer, was taken with a sudden pain at the heart while working in Queen-street west, near School's Hotel, yesterday. He sat down by the side of the road and a moment later expired.

FUN OF THE HOUR.

Gleaned From Sources Near and Far.

On several occasions recently the number of passengers making the up journey by the West Coast Dining-Car Express has been so great that there was no more food to be got on board. In other words, there was Nun-eaten.—London Funny Folks.

Obvious. "I presume you generally have a giant on exhibition?" said the person of an inquiring turn of mind. "Oh, yes," answered the showman of monstrosities. "Giant come high, but one must have them."

Sufficient Reason. Mrs. Peterby (reading newspaper)—No wonder stocks are favorable. Mr. Peterby—How do you explain it? Mrs. Peterby—They ought to be feverish when they absorb so much water.—Tamaany Times.

Particularly Now. Though a man may have a rasping voice, That like a scythe will mow you, It's sweeter than sweet music when He says: "He's what I love you."

A Matter of Taste. "I say," inquired the lady bug; "why don't you dress in the prevailing color?" "Bah!" answered the potato bug; "lavender doesn't go with my complexion, but these Paris greens simply make me sick."—Puck.

She stoops to Conquer. Parker—Lady Millicent is a jolly, nice-looking girl, but her round shoulders rather spoil her, in my opinion. I wonder how she got them like that? Simpson—Oh, well, she's always stooping to conquer, you see!

Nose Left. Cobble—How do you find trade? Stone—That's the great trouble. I can't find it.

Transferred. Park Lane—What do you think of this ready-made suit, old man? Since I got married, you know, I have to be economical. Baxter—Of course. But you don't mean to say you have given up your tailor?

Park Lane—Oh, no. My wife has him now.—Clothing and Furnisher.

A Thing to be Avoided.

Hobson—Good Heavens! Here comes Binthaire. Let's skip down this side street so we shall not meet him.

Mobson (suspiciously)—What's the matter? Owe him money? Hobson—No. He returned from the World's Fair yesterday, and he wants to tell everybody about it.

Fearfully Thrifty. The tramps were trudging along the dusty roads on a hot afternoon, because the harvest hands would let them stop in the shade to rest, and they had had nothing to eat or drink since the night before.

"Hungry?" asked one. "Yes, but I'm drier," was the gloomy response.

"What would you give for a nice, cold glass of beer?" "Willie," responded the other, earnestly, "I'd almost work for it."—Detroit Free Press.

The Essence of Politeness. A well-bred Frenchman is nothing if not polite. At a recent soiree the subject of ladies' faces was being discussed.

"And how old should you take me to be?" queried a fine-looking dame to a male acquaintance of French birth.

"Pardon, madame, but I cannot guess," answered the man. "Then, monsieur, I will tell you," said the lady. "Yesterday was my birthday, and I was just—"

"Indeed, but you don't look it," gallantly interrupted the other with an elegant shrug.—Boston Courier.

He Knew. Von Blumer—To my mind this racing business is one of the greatest evils of the day. It's especially bad for the young men. Old man, you have no idea how many a promising fellow has been ruined on the race-track. For instance, take a nephew of mine. He's only 30, and yesterday he was down on the track being right and left.

Witherly—How do you know so much about him? Von Blumer—Why, I met him there.—Clothing and Furnisher.

Watching. "What are you standing on this corner for?" queried the policeman of old Abner Brown of Wayback.

"Why, I just put a letter in that box there for my wife, and it's just occurred to me as how she ain't likely to get it."

"Why not?" "Because she ain't comin' this way, and even if she was she ain't got no key to get in the box with."—Harper's Bazar.

A Hero. De Long Beach—Hoffy, I shall marry Miss Wockingham, after all. It was most exciting. I was on the beach, she was in the wash. A big wave knocked her over, the undertow grabbed her. She was being carried out to sea. There was only one thing to do. I—Hoffmann Howes—Washed to her rescue!

De Long Beach (proudly)—No; I swam for help!—Puck.

She Was Mistaken for Once. "John," she said reproachfully, as he came home at 5 a. m., "you have been out again."

"No, my dear; 'pon honor. This time I was in $11."—Washington Star
