Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Bent, of Upper Grandville, celebrated their golden wedding Monday, September 2nd, instant. In the year 1837, at the Episcopal Church in Belle Isle, Mr. and Mrs. Bent (nee Miss Mary J. Hudson) were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Pastor Campbell. Seven children have blessed their union, two of whom are dead. Those living are—Mrs. William Crisp, of Deep Brook, Howard and Archie, who are located in New Hampshire, Bessie, of East Weymouth, and Gertrude of Brockton, Mass. The latter two, as also Mrs. Crisp, were home for the occasion.

All afternoon the neighbors, some of whom remembered the wedding day began to assemble, until at five o'clock a hundred or more were assembled on the lawn. Mr. Bent, who is now past seventy, tried to entertain his guests with a wrestling match but, notwithstanding his advanced age, was unable to find any of the younger men willing to take a chance with him.

At six o'clock the guests assembled around the sumptuous table which had been very tastefully decorated being spread in the open air under the shade of the trees, and fairly groaning with the supply of good things for the inner man. After the blessing had been asked by Mr. David Phinney, an hour or more was spent in great merriment, listening to reminiscences of Bent. Supper over, many of the guests took occasion to publicly express their best wishes for the host's and hostess's future happiness, to which Mr. Bent, speaking for himself and wife, made a very appropriate reply, winding up by hoping to have their guests all present again when they celebrate their diamond wedding. The guests then gave three cheers and a tiger for Mr. and Mrs. Bent, and after singing "Sweet Lang Syne," dispersed to their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bent were the recipients of many useful presents. Among the guests present were—Mr. and Mrs. L. Longley, Mr. and Mrs. David Phinney, Mr. and Mrs. Wheelock Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker, Charles Bent, Israel Longley, William P. Condie, Henry Walker and Aaron Phinney.

Four New Residences

Nearing Completion
BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS IN GENERAL THIS SUMMER EQUAL TO FORMER YEARS.

The first thing to impress strangers coming to our town is the neat and attractive design of our houses. Our citizens certainly are to be commended for the taste they display in the construction and general arrangement of their dwellings, combining taste with comfort. On every hand can be seen evidences of the desire for improvement and to make more attractive. Noticeable along these lines are the new residences in course of construction. Those of H. B. Hicks, the Baptist parsonage, and the double residence of Mr. John Lockart and A. D. Brown are about on the same lines, built after the colonial model. Good taste, neatness and comfort is evidenced in every detail and much credit is due our local carpenters for the way their work compares with others. The building material for these houses was supplied by the firm of J. H. Hicks & Sons, and in addition to these orders, this firm has large orders for outside work. They employ a staff of skilled workmen, have an extensive plant, and are in a position to fill orders, large and small with despatch. They purpose erecting a new store on the site of the one they lost last spring by fire. Work will probably commence as soon as the new bridge is completed. Other work deserving of attention is the two verandas W. W. Chesley is adding to his two tenements on Washington Street. They are unique in design and finish and are certainly a great improvement to the appearance of the street.

We referred in a former issue to the handsome new house of J. Harry Hicks, which is almost ready for occupancy. Among other building improvements may be mentioned the house of W. W. Marshall, near the western limits of the town. The addition of bay windows and verandas have made this an attractive cottage. Dr. Jost has also added a veranda to his pleasant residence. The improvements in the business places of K. Freeman and E. L. Fisher have been previously referred to. The beautifying effect of a new coat of paint is also in evidence in many places throughout the town. It is very gratifying to our citizens to witness the constant growth and improvement of the town which has but few rivals in this respect in the province.

Apple Evaporator Nearly

Ready for Business
NEW RAILWAY SIDING TO BE BUILT TO CONNECT FACTORIES WITH H. & S. W. LINE.

The vinegar manufacturing plant of M. W. Graves & Co. presents a very busy appearance now-a-days and every thing points to a most successful season. In order to facilitate the handling of the large quantity of apples they manufacture, it has become necessary for them to have a new siding put in, connecting them with the Halifax and South Western station. Work commences on the siding this week and will be pushed to completion, the railway company putting on a construction train.

The new evaporating factory in which this enterprising firm have an interest is situated on their property, one hundred feet south of their vinegar plant, and is well on the way to completion. The machinery is now on the way and will be installed immediately, so that the factory will be all ready to start work as soon as the season opens, which will be a ready home market for the who's crop of apples which heretofore were unmarketable. So that farmers are now able to convert their whole apple crop into cash. This fact alone should guarantee the patronage of the general public for this enterprising firm. Last year they distributed nearly $4000 among the farmers of the Valley for waste apples and expect to triple that amount this year. Their output is almost wholly placed outside the province. This means the bringing of capital into the county to be distributed among our farmers, and in turn should be a benefit to our merchants and trade generally. Too much encouragement cannot be given a business of this kind.

A WAY TO BETTER BREAD.

Good housekeepers, it is said, are known by the bread and pastry they provide for their homes. When come to think of it, is there any one thing in which a housekeeper should excel—in which she should take more pride—than in her made bread?

Any woman can make white, light, nourishing bread. One of the commonest causes of failure in the baking is the use of poor flour. Flour, made of Ontario fall wheat alone, though nutritious and tasty, has as to flavor, is not strong enough. Manitoba wheat, on the other hand, is deficient in fine flavor and delicacy, although full of strength.

A blend of the two has been found to give wonderful results. This does not mean that you can mix them at home—it is difficult to do that except with the finest and most delicate machinery. Many of the best millers are blending the rich Ontario fall wheat with the finely Manitoba wheat, thus bringing out all the good qualities of both.

With this Ontario Blended Flour, you will have no trouble in making light, white bread—bread with that peculiarly sweet, wholesome taste which one naturally associates with home-made bread.

Fashionable Autumn Weddings.

MARRIAGE OF AN ACCOMPLISHED MIDDLETON GIRL.

Miss Frances Burditt, of Middleton, married to Mr. Eugene M. Dow, of Boston.

(Middleton Outlook.)
The Baptist church was the scene of a fashionable wedding on Thursday morning, which brought out a large attendance, in which the ladies were predominant.

The decorations were pretty and elaborate. With the exception of the potted plants upon the platform, they were composed of wild flowers, as, goldrod, sweet peas, nasturtiums, and pansies, the colors being green, white, yellow and purple.

Over the doorways were purple flowers. Around the top of the waistcoating and across the choir rail the decorations were of goldrod. Around the platform were mosses and ferns. A bouquet of sweet peas and ferns adorned the entrance to each pew. Goldenrod and evergreen were twined around the chandeliers, and four festoons of trailing brown cedar were suspended from the arch.

Rev. A. T. Dykeman, officiated and Miss Sadie Dykeman played Wagner's Bridal March from Lohengrin. The groom was supported by his college friend, Mr. E. W. Goodhue, Professor of Economics, at Colgate University. The bride was preceded by the ushers, Messrs. Fred and Tom Burditt, E. S. Spurr and M. R. Elliott, and the bridesmaid, Miss Charlotte Layton, of Truro, and was led to the altar by her mother, Mrs. John F. Burditt.

The bride was beautifully gowned in cream messaline silk trimmed with baby Irish lace. Her veil, which was of rich hand work, is an heirloom in the Burditt family, having been worn by the bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. T. H. Burditt, of England. The bridesmaid's dress was of organza trimmed with lace.

After receiving the congratulations of their friends, the bridal couple were driven to the bride's home, where the wedding repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Dow left on a trip which will probably include the leading cities of Eastern Canada. Upon their return they will reside in Boston.

Among the many elegant gifts was one of sterling silver from the bride's classmates at Acadia Seminary, and a cut glass bowl, decanter, and silver plate from the Baptist congregation.

Miss Burditt graduated last June from Acadia Seminary. She is an accomplished pianist and musician who was always ready to devote her talent to the assistance of every worthy object. Her place in religious musical and literary circles will be very hard to fill. A host of friends wish Mr. and Mrs. Dow happiness and prosperity.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ANNAPOLIS ROYAL.

Marriage of Miss Gertrude Whitman and Frank St. Clair Harris, of Bridgewater.

Annapolis Royal, September 4.—What was probably the most brilliant wedding seen here for many years, took place this afternoon in St. Luke's church, when Miss Gertrude Whitman, eldest daughter of Frank Whitman and Mrs. Whitman, was married to Frank St. Clair Harris, manager of the Union Bank, of Bridgewater.

At sharp three this afternoon the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march. The pastor, Rev. Henry How, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by relatives of the contracting parties and a large number of invited guests. The church was filled to the doors and many were unable to gain admittance.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Constance Whitman, Miss Charlotte Corbit, and Miss Ivy Roy, of Halifax, as bridesmaids, and by one little sister, Edith, and her cousin, Katharine Whitman, as flower girls. The groom was supported by Percy Harris, of Halifax, while James D. Ritchie, of Halifax, and Mr. Starr of Kentville, acted as ushers.

The bride looked charming attired in a gown of white silk, with a veil and orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of white American beauty roses. The bridesmaids and flower girls also were dressed in white silk and carried bouquets of sweet peas and white carnations. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the organist as the bridal party left the church. The girl friends of the bride had decorated the entire church with white asters, golden glow and asparagus fern.

Following the ceremony there was a large reception at the home of the bride's parents, and the bride and groom left this evening for Milford, intending to spend their honeymoon on a canoe trip through the Liverpool lakes.

The bride was the recipient of a remarkably large number of beautiful and valuable gifts which consisted chiefly of silver and cut glass. The gift of the groom was an amethyst pendant set with diamonds. The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were gold brooches set with pearls. The floral decorations at the bride's home were mickely beautiful, the house being filled with a profusion of flowers.

Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. A. DeB. Tremaine, Mrs. H. L. Chipman, of Halifax; DeWolf Spurr St. John; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Aylesford; Mrs. J. Ritchie, Miss Ritchie and Miss Barbara Ritchie, Halifax; Miss Alice Webster, Kentville; Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick, Bridgetown; Miss Bessie Whitman, Tupperville; Miss Kathleen Harrison, Niton; Miss Bradley, Boston; Miss Madge Stuart, Digby; Mr. Clift, St. John; Mrs. Louis Whitman, Halifax, and Mrs. Thompson, of Boston.

BAD FLAVORED BUTTER.

Souring Cream Suggested to Prevent Unfavorable Bacteria Developing. It probably sounds contradictory to souring of cream immediately after it has been skimmed or separated in order to prevent it from developing undesirable flavors. However, it is a practice that can be followed with good results and is based on perfectly sound reasoning, says a writer in Iowa Homestead.

The plan is based on the fact that as soon as lactic acid has developed in the milk sufficiently to give it a sour taste the unfavorable bacteria in the cream—that is, those kinds that produce these undesirable flavors—are checked in their development. As is generally known, these unfavorable bacteria cannot work and reproduce themselves in an acid medium. Just as soon as the lactic acid bacteria in milk or cream have become dominant the rest of the lot of undesirable forms of bacteria must take a back seat, as it were.

Sweet cream is not necessarily good cream. We know it is a common practice to set the cream after it is separated, but if it is not to be churned and kept at that temperature until ready to churn. It is a very commendable practice, of course, to cool the cream at once after it is separated, but if it is not to be churned for four or five days, as is the case in places where it requires that much time to collect enough cream for a churning, it would be just as well to sour the cream after it has been thoroughly cooled.

After it has developed the right degree of acid cool it off again and hold it at a low temperature until time to churn. This is a plan which we have seen carried out successfully where it required several days to collect enough cream for churning and is one worth trying if you are annoyed with bitter or strong flavored butter—that is, when it is first churned.

THE DAIRY FARMER AND SANITARY LAWS.

The growth of knowledge concerning the laws of sanitation is crowding the dairy farmer hard, than any other class of agriculturists.

There is the question of the sanitary care of his cows and of their stable, both for the sake of their health and efficiency and the quality and safety of their product as a human. Quality and safety confront him on every hand. The consumer of his product lives in cities and villages where of necessity these questions of sanitation are thought more about, by attention of people than in the country. They have their boards of health and strict laws and the more immediate contact of ideas one with another. All these bring their lessons, and lessons well learned, bring judgment and judgment establishes law. Now the dairy farmer finds that he cannot produce milk and cream, nor can he to the attention than in the country. The demand, from the old, easy-going, careless ways of handling cows, stables and the milk product.

This demand for purer food is rising like a tide before the dairy farmer. How will he meet it? Like an intelligent man, of course. Years ago Hoard's Dairyman commenced telling the dairy farmer that he must look on himself not as a producer, but as a manufacturer. He deals in milk, a manufactured product. The cow is his machine. If he does not keep his machinery in good order, down goes the quality of his product. Dealing with living machines he must understand something about the action of bacterial growth in stables and milk products, because the people he sells to demand that he shall know these things. If he despises such knowledge and refuses to be governed by its conclusions, then his troubles will increase. He may kick stoutly about testing his cattle for tuberculosis and call it all humbug. But there stands the demand staring him in the face. The consumer refuses to take his milk unless it is from healthy cows. The buyer of live stock refuses to pay him a good price for his cattle unless they are healthy. The men who buy his hogs will refuse to take them unless the milk he takes to the creamery is from healthy cows, so that the skim milk will not infect his neighbor's hogs or calves.

At the office of the Live Stock Sanitary Board in Madison, Wis., are the records of over one hundred herds of hogs where tuberculosis has been conveyed to them by drinking creamery skin milk that came from infected cows. What are we, as dairy farmers, going to do with the insistent demand of all these merciless facts? Will ridicule and denunciation and sneering at the work of science help us any? Will talk talk help preserve the lives of our pigs and calves, or help sell our milk and cream in the cities?

And yet how simple is the right way, the way of common sense. Let every man set his own herd in order for his own sake, and then he will help everybody else. Let him refuse to feed the infected skim milk from other herds to poison his own young stock. Let him clean up and make healthy, and keep healthy, his own stables. Let him govern his course by the conclusions of knowledge, not ignorance; courage, not cowardice; common sense, and not blind prejudice. This waiting for a law to make us set like intelligent men is a humbug. All we need is to know the truth; seek light not darkness; love cleanliness more than dirt; face the facts and not turn our backs to them. Whether we like it or not, whether we protest or not, the world is going to be governed in its daily life by the conclusions of sanitary science and sooner the dairy farmer joins the procession, the better will it be for him.—Hoard's Dairyman.

PREPARING FOR THE APPLE TRADE.

Mr. R. J. Graham writes us, on his return to Eastern Ontario from the Maritime Provinces, that he expects the chain of six or more evaporating plants on the Dominion Atlantic Railway line, with warehouse at St. John, N. B., to be completed and ready for apples in October. He adds: "We are building this to protect Ontario fruit from damage by frost in winter shipments. We have lost, ourselves, very heavily this past two winters by having apples frozen in transit to seaboard."

"We are building the most modern, up-to-date cold storage that money will secure. This plan, we expect, will cost us $135,000, and we will have capacity for storing 85,000 barrels of apples. We propose to not only store apples for dealers, but also for growers, acting as sales agents for their account, if desired. We will also supply the barrels, repacking the apples, and making advances on some if required by the grower. We have excellent rooms built up for packing, we have direct connection with Allan Line of steamers, by which we can convey apples, by cable wire direct from the storage to the steamer, so that apples may be packed right up till the steamer sails, and put on board in excellent condition. We have practically fireproof building and low insurance rates.

"The evaporating plants referred to are an experiment in the Annapolis Valley. We hope the growers will patronize them. It is our intention to co-operate with the producers of apples and assist them in finding profitable market for their fruit, and it is our business to see that this fruit reaches its destination in first-class condition."—Farmer's Advocate.

STUDENT VICTIM OF ELECTRICITY

A Chicago despatch says—L. H. Carter, son of Brigadier General W. H. Carter, head of the department of the Lakes of the United States army, was killed instantly last night by an electric shock sustained in the dairy room of the University of Illinois at Champaign, where young Mr. Carter was a special student.

The victim had been working during the summer months in the agricultural department of the university in order to get some practical experience. His summer term of work was almost ended. Young Carter was stone dead when found. As is customary in industrial schools, he had been set at the task of polishing and cleaning a combination electric aod gas chandelier hanging from the ceiling of a room in the university dairy. He had been working at it for some time when a piercing scream was heard by C. G. Potter, a fellow student, who was busy in an adjoining room in the building. Potter rushed to the aid of the young man and found he had been stricken by a current of electricity.

Carter had been standing upon a small stationary engine while reaching up to the chandelier. The engine was fastened with bolts driven through the concrete floor and this completed the circuit.

A ladder was leaning nearby, and when Potter rushed into the room Carter's body had fallen over against it, both the hands of the dead man were still clutched tightly over the chandelier which had been partly wrenched from its fastenings in the ceiling.

During possible electrocution Potter seized the body and it fell to the floor thus breaking the circuit.

PANDORA RANGE

HOLDS FIRE ALL NIGHT

The good housewife always feels like bestowing upon the Pandora a cheerful "good morning."

Why? Because the Pandora always has a nice bed of hot coals as a reward for checking off the dampers closely before retiring to rest.

In five minutes after turning on the drafts she will have a good, strong fire.

Should she sleep two or three hours longer than usual there will still be a fire ready for her.

The fire-box, flues and dampers are so scientifically arranged that the Pandora can be regulated to hold a fire from 24 to 36 hours.

Pandora owners never have their sleep disturbed with dreams of making a new fire in the morning.

If your local dealer does not handle this most perfect of all ranges, write direct to us for Free Booklet.

Henry M. Whitney On
the Advantages of Reciprocity

HE SAYS THAT IT WOULD BE EASIER AND CHEAPER FOR PEOPLE OF CANADA TO FIND
A MARKET IN UNITED STATES, THAN IN DIS-TANT LANDS.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Considerable political importance was attached to the luncheon given by the directors of the National Exhibition in the Administration Building today on account of the presence of Mr. H. M.
Whitney, who is the Democratic candidate for the Governorship of Massachusetts, and of the speech he delivered in favor of reciprocity between Canada and the United States. Mr.
Whitney has made this issue a plank in his platform. He condemned the Dingley tariff in respect that it did not recognize the irregularities of labor, and advocated a revision on scientific lines that would place it on a desirable basis. He controverted the view that the great prosperity was due to Dingley tariff, it had been attributable to development of their agricultural resources, and expressed regret at the treatment Sir Wilfrid Laurier received at Washington.

The advantage of reciprocity to the people of Canada, he claimed, would be that it would be easier and cheaper to find a market in the United States than in distant lands. The proposition he was advocating was that competent experts should determine in the first place the whole cost of labor on any protected article, and then the difference between that and the existing tariff should be taken off in ten years, at yearly reductions of ten per cent, so that at the end of ten years the tariff would stand on a basis of the full labor cost of the article. The chairman,
President W. K. George, criticized Mr.
Whitney's views, declaring that Canadians were unwilling to remain any longer heavers of wood and drawers
of water.

NOVA SCOTIA PROTECTING GAME.
The open season for game hunting in Nova Scotia does not commence until October 1st. It cannot be said that Nova Scotia extends as open a hand to visiting sportsmen as do other provinces, but there is no doubt that those have been greatly on the increase and that golden opportunities exist in many sections which can be easily reached by those desiring trying their luck there. This, too, in the face of an amount of illegal slaughter in recent years that is positively astonishing. Nova Scotia has, however, more recently joined in the movement for the better protection of game, and the years to come are likely to bring about a much better condition of affairs in this respect. The open season extends to the last of December, and no one may kill more than two moose in one season. Caribou and deer are protected until 0910 and moose are entirely protected in the island of Cape Breton until 1915.
The non-resident license fee is $30.

HIGH TRUCE OF GOD.
Thus Campbell-Bannerman Describes
Delusions With U. S.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman,
speaking at Manchester, said they should be thankful that Mr. Balfour has at last been brought into line on the question of colonial preference,
but he might have refrained from collapsing in penton form until the guests of the nation had returned home, and the movement to create dissensions between the Government and the colonies had been defeated.
Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, quoting Sir Wilfrid Laurier, said that Europe is living in an armed camp.
He described the 3,000 miles of "frontier" between the United States and Canada, and continued: "What could be finer than this high truce of God—(cheers)—under which the two free sister nations have resolved to live within the security of that defenceless barrier, to banish these symbols of strife, prejudice and suspicion, from their highway frontier? (Cheers.) Is the relationship so established less noble than those which subsist between the nations of the old world, nations which still hug the ancient blasphemy that armed force is the only title to respect, the only guarantee of security? I think not. The new world has shown us a more excellent way. Heaven help these great confederations of free people. May they continue to prosper, and to go on in all that makes for real strength of State, to maintain in all its radiance their bright example." (Cheers.)

HOW BURBANK GRASPED OPPOR-TUNITY.

Luther Burbank's early life in California was attended by many hard experiences. He was very poor, and was obliged to take any work that came to hand. He cleaned out chicken-or coops, helped in market-garden got an odd job here and another there, passed through a very severe illness, went "on the tramp" for work until finally he was able to start a little nursery on his own account. Then he was on his own ground with a fair start. To outsiders he seemed an honest, hard-working young fellow, who might make his living, but not much more. Then, all at once he did something that made those who knew about it look at him. An order came for 20,000 young plum-trees.
Could he fill it in nine months? He hadn't a plum tree on the place, and how was he going to supply 20,000 in nine months? He got together all the men and boys he could find, to plant almond for him. They grew rapidly.
When they were ready, he had 20,000
prune-buds ready for them, and in a short time the prunes were budded
into the growing almonds, and before the time was up the trees were delivered to the delighted customer. And I have seen these 20,000 prune-trees.
They are growing today, and it is really one of the finest orchards in California. From "A Little Visit to the home of Luther Burbank," by George Wharton James, in the August Century.

TO PREVENT STRIKES.

The Labor Dispute Act, or as it is called, the Conciliation Act, is now in force.
The penalties are severe, 16th for employer and employee, as the following clauses show:
59. Any employer declaring or causing a lockout, contrary to the provisions of this Act, shall be liable to a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, for each day or part of a day that such a lockout exists.
60. An employee who goes on strike contrary to the provisions of this Act shall be liable to a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifteen dollars for each day or part of a day that such employee is on strike.
63. If an employee goes on strike by reason merely of the fact that his employer has employed, or is about to employ, some person not a member of a trade union, he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars.
In every such case it shall be on the employee, to satisfy the court that he went on strike by reason of some facts other than those mentioned in this section.

The Capitalist, now the P. W. A., the terror of most all employers of labor, cannot hereafter order a lock-out nor a strike without 30 days' notice, and then the matter has to go before a board of inquiry.
This Labor Act is one of the most practical and sensible ever put on our Federal Statute Book.

"BLACK ART" REDIVIVUS.

From time to time various identical stage illusions crop up with a regularity that seems to be dependent only upon the bad memory of the show-goer. We have recently had a revival of the mysterious and uncanny
"black art" in this country in the "Wizard of Oz," and in London, under the direction of Mr. J. N. Maskelyne, the well-known magician,
"black art" has always lent itself to spiritualistic purposes as in the present case. When the curtain rises the stage is empty. Mr. Maskekyne enters with a friend, who is introduced to provide the usual scene associated with spirit mediums. The actor in the course of a few minutes appears to go into a trance, and almost immediately a filmy cloud of vapor is seen to be issuing from his left side. In a few seconds a human hand appears followed by a head and body, until at last the complete figure of a woman clad in light draperies apparently in a trance is visible. The woman walks across the stage, to the footlights, opens her eyes in apparent wonder, exclaims, "Where am I?" The illusion has produced a profound sensation in London, and many were the theories which have been put forward.
The true solution is however found in the so-called "black art."
In this illusion the entire stage from the first groove to the rear is hung with black velvet, the floor covered with black felt, and the top also thus forming a room lined with black.
The woman is garbed entirely in black and is provided with a black mask, the garments are made in sections adapted to be pulled away piecemeal until she is completely exposed in light raiment. Black cords manipulated by attendants behind the black back cloth pull away the black covering in detail or all at once. The number and style of tricks performed in the mysterious black chamber are almost unlimited. This is one of the most expensive stage illusions, costing several hundred dollars to properly stage it with the best drapery and accessories, and unless such are used the proper illusion effect is lost. In magic as well as in other business cheap apparatus is dear at any price.

THE NEW UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE.

Recently the "Esperantists" had a congress at Cambridge, England. This is the third congress of these promoters of a universal language, and that they have faith in their scheme is plain from the fact that they are rapidly increasing their membership.
Nine hundred delegates were expected at Cambridge, while not half that number attended the Boulogne congress in 1904. They had a programme of play as well as of work laid out.
"Ships stoops to conquer" was produced in Esperanto by eleven performers hailing from as many different countries, and "God save the King" was also sung in Esperanto.

ELECTRIC POWER FOR RAILROADS.

Robert Haywood Fernald, Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Washington University, St. Louis, prophesies that in ten years electricity will supersede steam in railroading. He says in the Los Angeles Times:—"It would seem to some chimerical to credit the dawn, in the near future, of the steam locomotive, yet one of the officials of the New York Central Railroad has publicly stated that in his opinion there will be no steam locomotives operating on the New York Central road in ten years. Already the New York Central is arranging to substitute electric power on its lines from New York City to a point forty miles from the Grand Central Station, and extensive tests in the use of the electric locomotive are being made between Rochester and Buffalo. The Pennsylvania is now operating electric trains between Atlantic City and Philadelphia with much success. The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad is operating its trains from Stamford, Connecticut, to New York by electric power.

These rapid changes are leading to one end—the centralization of power development and distribution. They point to the time, and at no distant day, when great central plants will be located at the various mine centers, and the electric power will be transmitted and distributed to railroads, industrial plants, cities and the various institutions where electrical energy is needed. The great railroads will operate their trains by electricity, and the passengers will be freed from the annoyance of smoke and cinders; and the railroad locomotives and the railroad yards, which are now the most unsightly places in our cities, will become comparatively clean and free from smoke. Furthermore, the introduction of cheaper electric power will displace the scores of smoke-belching chimneys and the befogged atmosphere of our cities will be cleared, and the city clean and comfortable will become a reality and not a dream.

Rev. Dr. H. S. Davison, who has been appointed professor of Semitic languages in Columbia University, New York, left this week to assume his new position. Dr. Davison has been filling the pulpit of the Annapolis Presbyterian Church during the summer, and before leaving delivered a farewell sermon to that congregation which is quoted below.

The discourse was based on the text in the Revelation of St. John, 21st chapter, and first clause of the 22nd verse: "And I saw no temple therein," the subject being the Kingdom of God in the heart. He traced the temple service down from Apostolic times, the Jewish church with its splendid ritual and claimed that God required heart service and not form. The different denominations that exist today, were a necessity, the Salvation Army, with their drum and song, appealed to a certain class and was productive of good, other denominations, although differing in many respects, were also doing good in the world and helping to make the world better. In closing, the reverend gentleman said, that while amongst them he had labored for the upbuilding of the Church and the furtherance of the gospel of Christ, and his greatest satisfaction was, not so much the appreciation of the people among whom he had labored, as the satisfaction he felt in knowing that he had done what he could in the Master's service. He acknowledged the courtesy of the Methodist and Baptist brethren in giving up their service to attend his farewell sermon. It showed that although apart denominationally, they were one in spirit. Rev. Mr. Simpson, of the Baptist, and Rev. Mr. McNeil, of the Methodist churches were present and took part in the service, these churches dispensing with their usual evening service to give their congregation an opportunity of being present.

Dr. and Mrs. Davison have many warm friends in Bridgetown and throughout the Valley, whose best wishes will accompany them.

Hymeneal

EAGLESTON-MILBURY.

The marriage Tuesday evening of Miss Flora Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora L. Milbury, and Mr. Fred Otis Eagleston, of Wakefield. It was one of the prettiest home weddings solemnized here for some time. The details were perfectly carried out.

The bride is one of Reading's best known young ladies, from her prominence as a musician, of marked accomplishments and because this town has always been her home. The groom is well known in his own town.

Rev. W. C. Myers performed the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents, 14 Beal street. The couple stood beneath a canopy of maiden hair fern and pink sweet peas, banked with palms. The double ring service was used, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was beautifully and becomingly gowned in flit net with Valenciennes lace trimmings. The veil was held in place by a spray of sweet peas and she carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

Miss Edith Mann, of Boston, was maid of honor. She wore pink silk muslin, made with princess effect, with lace trimmings, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas.

Huby Milbury, petite sister of the bride, acted as a flower girl. She was daintily gowned in pink silk and strewn flowers before the bridal party as they entered the parlor. The rings were borne upon a silver salver by Gladys Milbury, a little cousin of the bride, who also wore pink.

Mr. Harold Bell, of Boston, was the best man, and the ushers were: Messrs. Lewis C. Milbury, Leslie A. Nichols, Wilbur E. Turner, W. Fletcher Twombly, of Reading, and Mr. Jarvis Reed, of Wakefield.

The reception was at eight. The newly married couple were assisted by the bride's parents, and Miss Ethel Eagleston. Nearly two hundred presented their congratulations. The Crescent Orchestra, screened behind palms, rendered selections during the reception hour.

The servers were the Misses Francis Gould, Dorothy and Parker, girl friends of the bride, daintily gowned. The entering was by Crawford, of Woburn.

The large number of wedding presents included cut glass, silver, china, picture, trice-brain and other gifts. The groom's gift to his bride was a gold necklace and locket. Each of the ushers were remembered with gold scarf pins, and the girl servers and maid-of-honor with gold brooches. The decorations were a feature. The front parlor was decorated with maiden hair fern and potted palms; the back parlor with white asters and palms; reception hall in red and green. The house which was built within a year, lent itself happily to the occasion.

A large number waited to give the couple a rousing send off as they left on a trip to the White Mountains. Surviving the showers of confetti and rice they found their carriage extensively, if not beautifully, decorated with white streamers. A newly furnished house at 35 Pleasant street, Wakefield, awaits them. They will be at home after October 1st—Reading paper.

GREENLAND FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

It is claimed the arctic region is an ideal location for the treatment of tuberculosis on account of the almost perpetual sunshine. It is dustless, the air is pure and dry, and the unusual scenes stimulate the desire for exercise. Dr. Frederick Bohlen, of Washington, is inclined to believe that a Greenland sanitarium is not only a medical possibility, but a practical business proposition.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

H. R. Moody has closed his ice-cream parlor.

A blaze in Clarence was observed by some of our citizens at about 11 o'clock last evening. Fortunately the conflagration caused no greater loss than an old unoccupied house upon the premises of H. F. Williams. The cause of the fire is unknown.

A driving accident occurred on Saturday evening when a rig driven by W. V. Jones, station agent, D. A. R., collided with another. Mr. Jones was thrown out and had his arm broken. Neither his companion nor the other occupants of the carriage were injured.

One of the greatest devices for saving time in the new Holmes barrel header on exhibition at M. W. Graves & Co's factory. Like other inventions, it is very simple, yet it is some thing that will fill a long looked for want, something to head up a barrel without injuring the contents.

A message to the Courier from Ayres Cliff, Quebec, in reference to Captain L. D. Morton's fast horses now racing in that vicinity, says:—"Kingborough holds the Ayres Cliff track record. He lowered it six seconds on August 29th, in the free for all which he won in straight heats. Lookaway Boy won the 2.35 class in straight heats, jogging home on the last turn.

Mr. O. P. Goucher has entered his gelding in the provincial exhibition prize list as a roadster. This is one of the most promising horses in this vicinity, says the Middleton Outlook. He is bred by Warren Guy, is five years old, is a pretty brown, is very speedy, and is a full brother to Warren Guy, Jr., which took the 3-year-old stakes at Halifax last year in 2.37 1/4, and we understand was sold for $1000.

We are requested by P. Giffins to say their Excellencies, the Governor General and Countess Grey desire to express their most cordial thanks for the welcome they received at the several stations in passing through the Valley and deeply regret they were not on the rear end of their car to return such hearty salutations. They look forward, however, to another visit and in passing through the Valley have of acknowledging this very kind courtesy.

It is now definitely announced at Ottawa that Hon. Dr. Pugsley and Hon. Mr. Graham will succeed to the Laurier cabinet in place of Thompson and Hyman. It is not yet announced what portfolios they will have.

Just Our Own

Dear Just Our Own:

I have been reading this column with much interest and have been greatly helped thereby. For my own part, much as I regret to confess it, I am not a housekeeper to the manner born. Some things, one has a natural aptitude for and one achieves success therein very easily. In other things, success means infinite pain-taking and a laborious exertion to come with a result that is not comparable to that attained from natural ease, spontaneous effort.

I am not a born housekeeper. I am not a born cook, though I manage to put up a respectable front at both, and, I believe, pass for the average with my friends, and I am happy to say, for a good bit more than the average with the Goodman and the children. Still it is an effort and even while it means a labor of love it is still a labor.

Therefore I do not choose to make my contribution to the column take the form of tested recipes and useful household hints.

I am going, instead, to preach a sermonette to the mothers and wives in "Just Our Own," preaching being one of my natural talents, one exercised not wisely but too well perhaps. To begin with I will say that I hope none of you are too good housekeepers. I mean I hope you are not any of you housekeepers rather than home makers. It is the easiest thing in the world for us women to get a wrong perspective and to let life through the wrong end of the telescope. We can, each one of us, do just so much—neither mind nor body can exceed its limit. There are no real wisdom when we secure and keep within limits all the things essential and let the rest go.

Cleanliness, order, wholesome, well cooked food, attractively served—these are essentials of the home—but the bright, bright politeness in every thing, politeness, the polished spotlessness and tidiness of so many houses—these are often enough, the costly trifles of life purchased at the expense of essentials of mind and soul.

Sympathy, interest in all their childish pursuits and pleasures, above all, the spirit of camaraderie, these essentials in the life of the mother who makes a home for her little ones. It all takes time, however, and it will mean in most instances that the woman whose ideas, first and foremost, to keep a house, will not fit that time.

Which do you think a man would prefer his wife to be, a tired, tidy nervous, overworked drudge, with an eye to the battles of life and nature, and only alert, with interestedness on imaginary duties and dust molecules, or a woman, sane, well balanced, wholesome, happy, with a body and mind kept healthy by well regulated up-and-down exercise, pleasant companionship in books and people, and an intelligent interest in the world around her?

If any of you should belong to the former class, or if you should find the germ of the species extant within you, begin to waken. Make an attempt in the other direction.

Give the chaos and the Sappho and the brick dust a rest.

Give your body and mind and soul a rest too. And give your husband and children a change—blessed glorious change—and see if the results are not satisfactory.

GYPSY JEAN.

Gypsy Jean has given us something to think about this week. It is not well to be so devoted to routine that we fail to allow ourselves to enjoy the grace and beauty of life. I am sure we owe Gypsy Jean a vote of thanks.

THE HOSTESS.

WORTH SOMETHING.

Master Tommy, a boy of four, had developed an early fondness for coins of every denomination, and although he never asks directly for them, wherever he goes the air is full of hints. There is an old lady living near Tommy who is very fond of him, but who also is extremely careful of her small change, so that none of it ever finds its way into the little fellow's pockets. Tommy had recently exhausted his ingenuity in hitting, and, at last, by a fortunate hit, succeeded. He went over the other morning in a penniless condition, and leaned affectionately against the knee of his old friend, who immediately possessed of one of his chubby hands, and began to fiddle it. "I would give a thousand pounds to have such a nice little boy as you for my own," she said. "How much is a thousand pounds?" asked Tommy, with wide open eyes. "It's a great deal of money," said the old lady, with a sigh. "Am I worth as much as that if papa would sell me?" inquired the young speculator. "Yes, dear, and a great deal more." "Then," said Tommy, with a cherubic smile, "don't you think it's worth ten cents just to hold my hand?"

HOW NICE.

At an evening party a youth came in and made his way to the hostess, greeting her and apologizing for his lateness. "Awfully glad to see you, Mr. Blank," said the hostess. "So good of you to come. But where is your brother?" "I am commissioned to tender his regrets. You see, we are both so busy at the office just now that it was impossible for both of us to get away, so we tossed up to see which of us should come." "How nice! Such an original idea! And you won't?" "No," said the young man, absently. "I lost."

A SARCASTIC REPLY.

It was his first day at school, and he was standing the fire of the usual questions asked on so auspicious an occasion. "Who's your family doctor?" asked a big boy. "Haven't got any," responded the big boy. "How jolly nice," responded the big boy. "Why, you don't have any medicine to take, then?" "Don't I?" was the sarcastic reply. "That's all you know. My father's a dentist, mother is a homemaker, my sister Bess has joined the ambulance class, grandfather believes in resuscitation from drowning, grandmother goes in for every quick medicine that's advertised, my uncle Sandy's a horse doctor, and, in a pathetic tone—"they all experiment on me!"

THE LIQUOR SHE FLOATED IN.

(From London Tit-Bits.)

On their arrival in New Zealand, a party of English people drank the health of the vessel which had brought them safely to their destination. One of the gentlemen who was asked to join in this ceremony replied: "No, I am a teetotaler, but I'll willingly drink success to the ship in the liquor she floats in."

A friend disappeared and returned with a glass of water. "After a complimentary apostrophe to the ship, the recipient tossed the water off at once, but immediately spluttered: "Oh—oh—oh—this is—oh—what an earth is this?" "That?" said his friend. "Why you've drunk success to our noble ship in the identical liquor she floats in."

Puzzle Corner

Dear Boys and Girls—

If you don't think the Puzzle Corner is getting better every week I think it is just fine to have a corner of our own. I was in the habit of reading the paper nearly every week, but now I look forward with impatience to the day we get our paper.

Did you all have a pleasant vacation? I enjoyed mine very much. The first week I spent at Bridgetown, where I took the examinations for the sixth grade work, and I am glad to tell you I was successful. I spent a few days with one of my school friends on my return home. That is all I was away from home, but I spent the remainder of my holidays very pleasantly. During vacation I picked forty-two quarts of blueberries. I sold them to market for five cents a quart and helped out them.

I am a post card collector. I have a hundred and fifteen cards. I would be pleased to exchange cards with any one who would send me one first.

The following is one of my favorite short poems:—"Charge of the Light Brigade," by Tennyson, and I am enclosing a copy with this.

Wishing you all happiness and prosperity, I am,

Yours sincerely,
CHARLOTTE E. BARGIE.

THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE.

Half a league, half a league,
Half a league onward,
All in the valley of Death
Rode the six hundred.

"Forward, the Light Brigade!
Charge for the guns!" he said.
Into the valley of Death
Rode the six hundred.

"Forward, the Light Brigade!"
Was there a man dismayed?
Not though the soldiers knew
Some one had blundered.
Their's not to make reply,
Their's not to reason why,
Their's but to do and die.
Into the valley of Death
Rode the six hundred.

GOOD FOR BILIOUSNESS.

THE DEATH PENALTY TO BE ABOLISHED.

It is said that the death penalty will be soon abolished in Great Britain, and no doubt if this becomes the law its influence will soon extend to British colonies. It is not a great many years since there were more than a hundred offenses under British laws punishable with death, and in a number of those drawing and quartering and hanging in gibbets, etc., were included. But as Britain was the first to knock the manacles off the wrists of the slave, over all her dominions, from the greatest state to the smallest colony, so she will be the first to abolish the dreadful taking of human life, and committing a murder by law. The death penalty must go sooner or later anyway. Our twentieth century civilization will not much longer stand the relic of the barbarian and the continuation of that old Jewish law. The reason of the present stir in Great Britain on this question grows out of the late case there, when young Raynor murdered Whatley, the great department store man. Raynor claimed that he was the illegitimate son of Whatley. He secured an interview with his assumed father, Whatley, and demanded assistance from him, which was summarily refused. He then drew a revolver and shot him to death. For this he was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged. Petitions were circulated and signed by thousands to commit his sentence, and the crown has consented to do so but he will be imprisoned for life instead. There seems to have been a great amount of sympathy in Britain for the young man, which was too strong to be ignored by the government. And of this, as we said before, has grown an inquiry throughout the whole land as to the matter of abolishing the death penalty altogether. May it grow.

It Is Grand

To live in a time of such great opportunities. Some years ago, we had difficulty in finding situations for all our graduates. Now it is difficult to keep our students till they graduate, so great is the demand for proficient bookkeepers and stenographers.

We have not yet advanced our rates, but the great advance in almost everything we have to buy may soon compel an increase. Students can enter at any time.

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, and heals. Sold for 60 years.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been a regular household remedy for generations. It is made of the finest ingredients and is guaranteed to give relief in all cases of cough, croup, whooping cough, and all other affections of the throat and lungs.

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-lives" are the one certain cure for Constipation because their action is upon the liver. "Fruit-a-lives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-lives" are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-lives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be. soc. a box $2.50 for 6 boxes. CLARENCE. BELLEISLE.

The Paradise and Clarence W. M. A. Society held their annual meeting in the church, at Paradise, on September 3rd, with a large representation of both societies. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. H. Saunders.

A very interesting program was rendered by the members of the Clarence Society, consisting of readings, and papers prepared and read by Mrs. J. M. Cropley, of Boston, and Miss Emma Jackson. Our missionaries, Mrs. R. E. Gullison and Miss Newcombe, were called upon, and added greatly to the interest of the meeting.

Ten was served in the vestry by the ladies of the Paradise Society. At the platform meeting in the evening, addresses were given by Rev. E. G. Gullison, Miss Newcombe and Miss Cora B. Elliott, missionary elect. At the close of the meeting, a certificate of Life Membership was presented to Mrs. Harding Morse by Pastor H. H. Saunders.

Several of our young men leave for Adershot on Tuesday.

The last of the summer tourists left here on Saturday, the 7th.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Vroom are enjoying a visit from their daughter, Mrs. Jones, and her little son. After an absence of several years, "Mabel" looks much the same as when she left here to take up her abode in Uncle Sam's domain.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Vroom are leaving this week for Merrimack, New Hampshire, where they will reside in future near their daughter, Mrs. J. D. Fraser. Mr. Fraser is station agent at Ferrisburgh, and is well known at Clementsport, Annapolis, and other stations on the D. A. R., where he held the office of agent.

R. W. W. Purdy, at present of Bridgetown, spent Sunday here with his family, to keep in touch with his mill business, which is still carried on at the same stand.

Captain Walter Purdy, with Lieut. Ditmars and Harris, leaves on Tuesday for the military camp at Adershot.

An excellent crop of grain is reported everywhere. Several of our farmers are raising the "Storm King" oats, a new variety with a kernel as large as two of the ordinary kinds, but not weighing any more to the bushel, as the hull is thicker in proportion as the grain is larger.

The straw is very large and stiff, not being blown over by any wind or rain storm, hence the name.

A cow, the property of Charles E. Harris, of East Walpole, about two and a half miles from here, was apparently taken mad or crazy on Friday. She would not be driven or penned up, but with eyes protruding would bolt through her would-be captors. The hunt was kept up till Sunday, when she came out into Mr. Carty's orchard, when another attempt was made to capture her. This time she took to the main road, walked very deliberately down to low water mark, near Augustus Purdy's, from an Captain John Apt sailed from here with a large crew Friday evening for the fishing grounds. They will sell their fish at Yarmouth and St. John. The schooner is the Cousins, and carries about twenty men.

ALBANY.

(Sept. 4th.)

Miss Carrie McKeown has entertained six of her sisters and other relatives during the past week, viz—Mrs. Jessie Phiney and daughter, Edna, Mrs. Hodgkin, Dr. and Mrs. George Musso, of Lynn, Mrs. Newton, of Gardner, Mass., Mrs. John McLean of Bridgetown, and Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Borden and son, Thomas, of Berwick. A warm welcome was extended to these old friends by the people of Albany, as that seven sisters above named were all born here on the old homestead. There are yet two other sisters, Mrs. James, of Tupperville, and Miss Susie McKeown of Lynn, who did not meet with the family party.

Mrs. Edward Oakes, of Boston, is a guest at the homes of Messrs. Charles and Maynard Oakes.

Mrs. Schurman accompanied her husband at the services on Sunday, September 1st, and rendered a very pretty solo in the morning entitled, "Come unto me" at the close of Rev. Arthur Whitman's sermon; Rev. Mr. Schurman preached in the afternoon and evening to a large audience.

Harris Ferry has recently been the guest of his uncle, John H. Merry.

Miss Young, of Springfield, has charge of the South Albany school; Miss Cynthia Oakes, of Nictaux Falls has the North school, and Miss Freeman the Alpena school.
