Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "À SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

General Information

THE Tourist Routes detailed herein cover only a small portion of the attractive places on, or that can be reached by, the Canadian Pacific Railway. Additional routes will be made up and price of tickets given on application to any Canadian city ticket office of the Company.

Tourist Tickets entitle the purchaser to all the privileges accorded on regular first-class tickets.

Unless otherwise specified, they are on sale from June 1st to September 30th, and are available for travel until November 1st of the year in which issued.

They are good for stop-over on application to Conductor or Purser at any intermediate point on the Canadian Pacific Railway or Steamship lines within their time limit. Portions issued over the lines of other railways or transportation companies are subject to the local stop-over regulations of the lines over which they read.

Transfers between stations are not included in Tourist Tickets, unless specially noted. Transfers are necessary at only a few points, and at most of these, tourists would naturally desire to stop over.

Round Trip Tours going one way and returning another, when marked "R. W.," can be reversed, at the time of ticket purchase, for the convenience of tourists.

Tourists will note that many of the steamer lines cease running, or make irregular trips, prior to the close of tourist season, November 1st, and travellers should consult each company's advertisements in regard to this point, and arrange their movements accordingly, as all Tourist Tickets are sold on condition that they are used while the service is open.

When tourists desire to make any side-trip enumerated herein, they should purchase the ticket for it at the starting point, as in many instances the benefit of Side-Trip rates cannot be obtained at the junction-point where the side-trip diverges from the main tour.

The time of railway and steamship connections given herein cannot be guaranteed, as it is subject to change as the season advances. For full details and latest changes a perusal of the current time-table "folder" of the Company is recommended.

Where steamship routes are marked thus †, it indicates that no extra charge will be made for meals and berths on steamships. If not so marked meals and berths are not included, and will be charged for extra.

Children between the ages of 5 and 12 years will be charged half fare; over 12 years, full fare.

The Railway Company maintains a staff of Travelling Passenger Agents to accompany large parties of tourists, sportsmen or pleasure seekers, and will, when such parties are being formed, send such an agent to render assistance and give desirable information to applicants. Special First-class Sleeping Cars will be reserved for parties of eighteen or more first-class passengers; and when destined to a point west of Port Arthur or Sault Ste. Marie will be reserved for parties of fifteen or more passengers. The rate will be about $40.00 per day for the use of the sleeping car in addition to the price of passage tickets.

Tourists are warned that in no instances are their tickets transferable, and if they are unable to use the whole or a part of the ticket, the portion unused should be returned to the General Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., at Montreal, who will refund a reasonable amount therefor.

When Tourist rates are quoted herein from points not located on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the routes by which the Canadian Pacific Railway will be reached, unless otherwise stated, are as follows :

From Niagara Falls to Toronto by the New York Central & Hudson River Rd. to Lewiston Wharf, thence Niagara Navigation Co. ; or by the Michigan Central Rd. to Niagara, thence Niagara Navigation Co.

From Detroit to St. Thomas by the Michigan Central Rd.

From St. Paul to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., by the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry.

From St. Paul to Gretna, Man., by the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry.

From Duluth to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry.

From St. John, N.B., to Vanceboro, Me., by the New Brunswick Ry.

From Boston, Mass., to Newport, Vt., by the Montreal & Boston Air Line.

The Attention of tourists is directed to the special information preceding the Eastern, Western and Miscellaneous Tours.

All the Tourist Tickets by routes specified herein are on sale in the city ticket offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, from which rates are shown ; but tickets for many of the tours may be obtained at numerous other offices. Full information and descriptive matter can be obtained on application to any ticket agent of the Railway Company, or to any officer of the Passenger Department mentioned on pages 2 and 206.

Correspondence is respectfully invited.

ADVANTAGES OFFERED

BY THE

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

TO PROMOTE TRAVEL

Round Trip First Class Tickets, good for one month, are sold between stations east of Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie at a reduction of one-sixth from regular rates.

One Thousand Mile Tickets for $25.00, good for one year and available over all portions of the line east of Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury Junction, are sold at principal stations.

Commutation Trip Tickets, good for 10, 26 or 52 trips within three months, and available for families and their guests travelling singly or in parties, are on sale between cities and their suburban resorts, within a radius of about forty miles, at rates varying from one to two cents per mile.

Season Tickets, good for one round trip per day, for periods of from one to twelve months, are on sale between all stations, and the extremely low rates at which they are sold are so graded that continuous purchasers from month to month are required to pay very little more than the twelve-months' rate. Special rates are made for students, and an extended age-limit is allowed for half-tickets, on presentation of a certificate from the principal of the school attended by the applicant.

Saturday Excursion Tickets, good for return until the following Monday, are sold during summer months from Eastern cities to the country points within a radius of about 60 miles, at a rate of 10 cents more than the one-way first-class rate. For particulars apply to city ticket offices.

Sportsmen, travelling together in Canada, in parties of five or more, will be issued return tickets, good for one month, to hunting and fishing grounds on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at greatly reduced rates. 200 lbs. of baggage and camp equipment, consisting of tents, canoes under 20 feet in length, camp utensils, etc. including a fish or game catch of 50 lbs. in weight, will be carried free or each sportsman. Full particulars as to rates, localities, etc., can be obtained from any ticket agent of the Railway Company.

Fishing and Shooting

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY is pre-eminently the sportsman's road. Owing to the fact that vast tracts of the territory traversed by its several lines have only been rendered accessible during the past few years, the fish and game are yet as plentiful as when the only visitors to those regions were the Indians or an occasional white trapper.

Sportsmen starting from either Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, or Toronto are not compelled to travel far before a suitable locality is reached where a holiday can be right royally spent. The region along the north shore of the St. Lawrence, between Quebec and Montreal, is traversed by many streams, and they, and the small lakes they drain, are well stocked with fair-sized trout. The tributaries of the St. Maurice river, which flows into the St. Lawrence at Three Rivers, and adjacent waters, are specially good, and fine strings can be taken from them. Other excellent points are the Mastigouche chain of lakes, reached by stage from St. Gabriel, where all modern comforts will be found at the Mastigouche House; and the Shawenegan river, reached by stage from Lac a La Tortue (Turtle Lake) or Three-Rivers, and guests will be made thoroughly comfortable at the Shawenegan House. The trout of this region are not phenomenally large, but they are very plentiful, and as gamey as can be found. Fish from two to three pounds are common enough, and though nothing heavier than three pounds is likely to be taken, any number scaling from a pound to half a pound heavier will reward a visitor. From Quebec the magnificent Saguenay river and its headwater, the great Lake St. John, are reached, either by rail or steamer. In the numerous tributaries of Lake St. John, trout of good size are very plentiful, and in the lake itself will be found the famous Wa-na-nish, a species of land-locked salmon, and one of the most beautiful and hardest fighting game fish that ever bent a rod. Old salmon fishers, who visited the lake for the first time last season, declared that the sport afforded by the Wa-na-nish was fully equal to any they had ever enjoyed, and were enthusiastic in praise of the locality. Caribou and grouse are also plentiful, and there are a fair number of moose yet to be found in that district.

WILD GESE SHOOTING IN THE NORTH-WEST.

From Montreal the new Short Line, referred to elsewhere, renders the famous Lake Megantic and adjacent waters, Moosehead lake, and one of the finest portions of the State of Maine for the angler and sportsman, easily accessible; and it also offers a direct route to the Schoodic lakes, to the St. Croix river, and other good points near St. Andrews, N. B.; and, in addition, the shortest route to the best salmon rivers of the Maritime Provinces. The Megantic and Moosehead lake regions are among the best now available for hunting and fishing. The country thereabouts is the chosen haunt of moose, caribou, deer and grouse, and their tributary streams and the numerous small lakes that surround them offer inducements to the angler that can hardly be surpassed. Grand trout are annually taken from those waters, fish of fabulous weight are on record, and as others have done already, so can their followers do, for there is no such thing in that country as an over-fished water. Jacking for caribou and deer is a favorite sport upon the bogs and ponds that are accessible by canoe from either of the lakes, and with an average guide the visitor has almost a certainty of success. In fact the country surrounding and lying between Megantic and Moosehead lakes may fairly be termed a sportsman's paradise, and a man with any pretensions to a proper knowledge of his craft can go there with rod or rifle and enjoy a rich reward for his labor with either. A trip round Lake Megantic after fish or big game would be sure to prove satisfactory, and the same can be said of Moosehead. A particularly good route for the angler would be to go to Greenville station, on Moosehead lake, secure a guide there, and then cruise along the shore to the "Northern Carry," which offers an easy trip to the west branch of the Penobscot river, and thence down stream to the Mattawamkeag station on the Canadian Pacific Railway. This trip would be sure to furnish a satisfactory result.

In Ontario, along the line from Montreal to Toronto, there are many well-stocked bass waters. On the Rideau lakes—reached from Smith's Falls—the black bass fishing is excellent, and there is also very good duck shooting early in the season, so that those who seek the "drowned lands" can combine both amusements. Sharbot Lake is a beautiful sheet of water, dotted with islands, and the excellence of the fishing and its picturesque features make it a favorite locality for camping parties. The fish to be found there are black bass, rock bass, pike, pickerel and a few lunge, and a rod can be kept busy for a couple of weeks to good advantage. One of the heaviest small-mouthed black bass on record was taken from the lake by an American gentleman last season, and it is also a noted resort for ducks in the fall. Still further west, and offering special inducements to those who will make Toronto their starting point, is the Trent river and the chain of lakes above. Stopping at Havelock station the sportsman is right on the spot, and without an exception this is the best point for bass and lunge in Ontario. Heavy fish of both varieties can be taken in abundance, and there are also plenty of deer and grouse. Early in the season ducks and woodcock are fairly plentiful in the marshes and swales.

In the region of the Upper Ottawa, along the Mattawa river, about Lake Nipissing, particularly on the Sturgeon river, and on what is known as the Long Arm of Nipissing, are good points for hunting and fishing, and in the vicinity of the town of Pembroke, trout-fishing can be had that is hard to equal. Those wanting a more extended trip should certainly follow the Transcontinental line west of Lake Nipissing. Beyond the Sturgeon river, is a wild sparsely settled region, the home of big game, and with lakes and streams too numerous to mention, many of which have never yet been fished. Such as have been tested have furnished heavy trout in abundance, and among them the Steel and Jackfish waters are rapidly earning a great reputation. Finest of all of them is of course the world-renowned Nepigon river, the home of veritable speckled giants, the very best trout stream on the continent. Comment upon the merits of Nepigon would be superfluous, for it is known by report or actual experience to every angler worthy of the name.

In the North-West Territories lies the sportsman's paradise. Those far-reaching prairies, with their unnumbered lakes, sloughs, and water-courses, are the strongholds of elk, moose, deer and other four-footed game and prairie chickens and grouse, and the breeding-places of myriads of migratory water-fowl, swans, geese, pelicans, duck, curlew, snipe, plover, etc., etc., and sport can be enjoyed there such as cannot be approached in the most remote portions of the United States, for it is a new country and the hand of the destroyer has not yet left its trace.

Lastly, there are the incomparable mountains that bar the way to the Pacific, and a more magnificent field for rifle and rod is not known upon the globe. Among the foot-hills and upon those soaring crags "big game" roams at will, as it has done for centuries in the past, and there is where the dearest-prized trophies of the hunter's craft are to be secured. The stately elk, the fierce grizzly, the snowy mountain goat, the big-horned sheep, the great panther, the prong-horn antelope, and other less noble quarry all harbor there to be taken by he who can, and in the ice-cold streams that rush down those majestic slopes are trout of coloring and flavor unsurpassed. The wonderful Fraser River, with its gigantic salmon fisheries, though furnishing no sport to the fly-fisher, should be seen and studied carefully, for much will be learned that is entertaining and instructive, and on the streams and waters of the coast the tourist can take mountain trout until his wrist grows weary and he is glad to call a halt. A trip to the mountains will furnish memories for a lifetime, and a holiday among those magnificent specimens of nature's grandest handiwork will never be regretted nor forgotten till the sportsman lays down rod and rifle forever.

THE NEW SHORT LINE TO THE MARITIME PROVINCES THROUGH THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC AND THE STATE OF MAINE.

THE question of arranging the usual summer holiday trip is now an all-important one, and a small army of tourists are studying over the problem, "Where shall we go." Point after point will be considered, and no doubt many will be dismissed with the remark, "Oh! I've been there already." In fact, while certain fashionable resorts of special attractions will always remain popular, a great many people demand something new in order to thoroughly enjoy a tour, and while we trust that this little book will furnish satisfactory replies to all who consult it for guidance on their pilgrimage, we would particularly recommend to those in quest of fresh fields our new Short Line through Maine to the seaside and Maritime Provinces.

The journey begins well, for the start is made from the magnificent station at Montreal, just completed for the Canadian Pacific Railway, situated on Windsor street, and known as the Windsor Street Station. It overlooks Dominion Square, the site of the ice palaces, and the scene of many a frolic during Montreal's winter carnivals, and is within a stone's throw of the Windsor Hotel. The station is an imposing stone structure, a rare combination of architectural beauty, comfort and elegance. No expense was spared to ensure its being thoroughly well adapted for the purpose in view, and it stands now completed an object of general interest and a fitting illustration of the enterprise of the road. Upstairs are the head offices of the Company, where the business of the huge steel artery is arranged, and below are minor offices, dining-room, etc., and the grand general waiting-room, with its noble arches and massive polished granite columns, which never fails to elicit the warmest admiration from visitors.

Passing from the waiting-room through handsome broad-spreading doors, the elevated tracks are reached, where several trains are waiting beneath a lofty ceiling for their human freight. They will go to widely different points, but one of them is just about starting for the Maritime Provinces over the Short Line, which lessens the journey to the Canadian sea shore by about 300 miles. The warning signal is sounded, the passengers are already comfortably settled in the palatial coaches, and the train moves smoothly away upon the elevated track, which is laid upon a lofty work of stone. This stonework is arched at regular intervals to admit of the passage of street traffic, and from the magnitude of the work the observant passenger will be able to roughly estimate the great expense the Company was put to before it was possible to get in to the Windsor Street Station. As the train rolls along upon this elevated way, a fine view is afforded of the many stately buildings which make Montreal the greatest of Canadian cities, and also of many outlying points of interest; indeed, there is but one better point of observation than this, and that is from the top of Montreal's well-known Mountain.

Five miles west of the starting point is Montreal Junction, from whence run the lines to Toronto, Ottawa, Quebec and Winnipeg, and south to Boston and the Maritime Provinces. Following the latter, the fine iron bridge spanning the Lachine Canal is crossed, and soon the mighty St. Lawrence, the incomparable watery highway to the great lakes and favorite route for summer travel, is reached. The immense steel bridge that spans the St. Lawrence at this point is one of the attractions of the trip, and is justly considered one of the engineering triumphs of the century. It was built by the Canadian Pacific Railway, is about a mile long, and when one considers that each of the channel spans is 408 feet in length and lofty enough to allow the passage of great steamers, some idea may be obtained of what a formidable task its construction was.

The current rushes far below as though eager to mingle in the wild turmoil of the rapids close at hand, and from the situation and commanding elevation of the bridge it affords a grand view up and down the river, including the celebrated Lachine Rapids, the villages upon either shore, the spires of Montreal, and distant mountains. On the one side of the river is the village of Lachine, and on the other the quaint old Indian town of Caughnawaga, the home of the descendants of the once all-powerful Iroquois nation, and from whence came the dusky braves who have spread the fame of Canada's national game, lacrosse, far and wide. At Farnham the Stanbridge & Sorel branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway is crossed, and the line leads onward through a level, closely cultivated country. Some distance from the track a curious round-topped mountain rises from the plain, seemingly strangely out of place, and a glance ahead will reveal others, though yet some miles away. Here and there passing views of swift-running streams are afforded, forming a pleasing break in the monotony of farm after farm.

At Brigham Junction the Montreal & Boston Air Line diverges for the White Mountains and Boston. The scenery materially improves and the view to the right, left, and ahead is very pleasing. The level plain is being left behind and the country assumes a more rugged appearance, with here and there a mountain to add to the effect. Numerous groves of maples are passed as the train speeds on, and the manufacture of maple sugar is the regular occupation of the farmers during part of March and April. At Foster station the Sutton Junction and the St. Guillaume branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway is crossed, and a few miles farther on a fine bridge spans a valley of great natural beauty. The lovely Orford lake, a jewel of the purest water sparkling amid its guarding hills, is presently passed, and the route continues through a very picturesque country, amid lofty heavily wooded hills, until Magog station, on far-famed Lake Memphremagog, is reached.

Thousands of tourists from all over the States and Canada have visited Lake Memphremagog, and the number should be materially increased this year, for it would be difficult to find a much more attractive locality. Lovely islands dot its surface; rugged hills frown down upon it and are mirrored in its limpid depths, and high above all tower the two famous promontories of Elephantis and Owl's Head. The dense forest looks dark and almost forbidding, but those shadowy woods have re-echoed the merry laugh and jests of many happy voices whose owners have gathered at the common point in quest of that closely pursued object—pleasure. And here it can certainly be found if natural advantages count for aught. From Magog a steamer makes a daily trip round the lake, touching at many points, including the favorite resort of Newport. This excursion by steamer forms a most enjoyable side-trip, for the tourist can stop at Magog, make the circuit of the lake and enjoy all its many beauties, and from Newport go by Montreal & Boston Air Line to either Boston, the White Mountains or back to Montreal. From the steamer one has a fine view of the lake, its picturesque surroundings and islands, the numerous handsome summer residences upon the shores, and all points of interest, including the mountains. Passing on we now closely follow the Magog river, where excellent fishing can be had, and thence along the shore of Little Magog, a long, narrow, and very pretty sheet of water offering great inducements to the canoer and camper, and so on to the beautiful city of Sherbrooke. Here the Magog river joins the St. Francis, and an object of special interest will be found in the falls which are well worth a visit. Sherbrooke is a bustling, thriving city of between nine and ten thousand inhabitants, boasting many handsome buildings, prosperous manufacturing and business interests and picturesque surroundings that will well repay inspection. Tourists from Quebec can here join the "Short Line" by taking the Quebec Central Ry. from Quebec to Sherbrooke. From Foster to Sherbrooke the line was formerly controlled by the Central Vermont Rd., but was purchased by the Canadian Pacific Railway and entirely rebuilt, portions of the old line being visible here and there on either side of the new route. What was formerly known as the International Ry. from Sherbrooke to Lake Megantic now also forms a link in the Canadian Pacific Railway Short Line.

Three miles from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville is reached, from which point the Boston & Maine Rd. runs south to Newport, where it connects with the Montreal & Boston Air Line. After leaving Lennoxville the route crosses the St. Francis river and passing through a hilly, densely wooded region, follows the Eaton river for a short distance and on through forests, relieved by occasional large clearings, from which fine views are afforded of mountains in the distance. Approaching Scotstown station the road follows the Salmon river, and Megantic mountain is seen some half-dozen miles away.

At Echo Vale the first view of the famous Lake Megantic is obtained, and skirting Sandy Bay the route follows the shore of Megantic until the station of that name is reached. The region of Lake Megantic is justly famous as one of the very best localities for the sportsman and angler at present available, and the scenery is hard to equal. The lake is the largest in the territory, being twelve miles long and from one to four miles wide, but its shores are so broken and indented with bays and inlets that its coast-line measures in reality about forty miles. Its principal feeders are the Lower Spider river, the Arnold, the Amance, the Victoria and a number of lesser streams, and its outlet is the Chaudiere river, which empties into the St. Lawrence near Quebec. There is one steamer at present on the lake, and a small steam launch for the use of the members of the Megantic Fish and Game Club, whose headquarters are on Spider Lake, the "Geneva of Canada," ranking next in size to Megantic and separated from it by a "carry" of less than three-quarters of a mile. The scenery of Lake Megantic is not excelled by any of our inland waters, and from the train one can catch vistas of surpassing beauty; of glancing water, towering hills, gloomy forest, and grand combinations of lights and shades such as fill the soul of an artist with joy Leaving Megantic station the Chaudiere is crossed and the shore of the lake closely followed for some miles. An ever-changing panorama of beauty delights the eye until once again the line leads through a dense forest and the lake is seen no more.

The Boundary mountains, which divide the Province of Quebec from the State of Maine, are now close at hand, and the general aspect of the country undergoes a change. Huge moss-covered boulders and great masses of naked rock are visible everywhere among the trees, and here and there a rapid stream is crossed, from which ice-cold torrents great strings of trout can be taken, for this region is par excellence a fishing country. The road rises higher and higher, until finally the Boundary heights are passed and "Uncle Sam's" domain reached. This portion of the State of Maine is netted with lovely waters, great and small, famous for their trout, and haunted by many moose, caribou and deer, and grouse, ad lib. Through the very fairest portion of this sportsman's El Dorado the "Short Line" runs.

Passing through some very attractive country for a short distance after leaving the Boundary mountains the first lake of the headwaters of the Moose river is reached. These headwaters of the Moose are a marvel of beauty. They are a chain of irregularly shaped, lovely waters, linked together by the river and extending for some twenty-five miles, and followed by the line as closely as possible throughout their entire length. As the train speeds along a series of kaleidoscopic changes are revealed; visions of lovely water and gloomy forest follow each other too rapidly for a detailed description, but, rapid though the transitions are, one can see enough to derive genuine pleasure from each and store up many pleasant memories of the trip. Pages might be written of the manifold attractions of this region, but the object of this book is not so much poetic description as to give a concise account of the route, and the flowery, under such a condition, must give place to the practical. We pass along the shore of the first lake, an unnamed water, and on down the Moose river until the second link in the flashing chain, Attean lake, is reached; then the river is again followed and another small lake passed, and then come Long lake and Brassau lake, and finally the greatest of all these forest jewels, the grandest water in all the State, incomparable Moosehead lake.

INTERIOR OF SMOKING ROOM, SLEEPING CAR.

The route follows its shores for mile after mile to Greenville station, and the eye that had perchance wearied of smaller waters, attractive though they were, now takes in a prospect of surpassing loveliness. Many waters, each gems in their way, have been passed, but they are forgotten; they were undeniably pleasing, but Moosehead possesses all their attractions upon such an immensely grander scale that the fairest of them can never attempt to rival her matchless sister. Moosehead is queen of these forest wilds now and for all time, for her far-reaching shores combine the majesty of the mountains and hills, the rugged attractiveness of the dense forests, and in fact all the best features of the country already traversed.

Moosehead lake is about forty miles long and from one to fifteen miles wide. Owing to its irregular shape and many islands, large and small, but a comparatively small portion of it can be seen from any one point of view, but this rather adds to than detracts from its beauty. From Greenville station the view is wonderfully pleasing. The eye takes in a gleaming expanse of rippling water, backed by rolling forests, the sky-line broken here and there by lofty mountain peaks. Many well-appointed steamers ply upon its surface, and a cruise on one of them will furnish a most enjoyable side-trip, and reveal scenic beauties too numerous for our space and too subtle for portrayal. The praises of this region have been spread by brush, pen and tongue far and wide, and there is an immense gathering of pleasure-seekers here season after season. The most imposing of all the mountains is Mount Kineo, a mass of solid flint, rearing its rugged crest high above all its neighbors. At its base is the commodious Mount Kineo House, the objective point for many visitors. Those intending to spend a holiday at Moosehead can reach Kineo by steamer from Greenville, and excellent hotel accommodation will be found at either point.

From the summit of Kineo there is a view of the lake and surroundings which, if seen, will never be forgotten, and the ascent of the height and study of the wonderful expanse below is one of the great features of a sojourn there. There are plenty of skiffs and canoes upon the lake, and guides can be procured at any point. Like the Megantic, this region is a noted one for game and fish; the whole surrounding country is fretted with lakes, ponds and streams, chosen haunts of moose, caribou and deer, and the trout fishing is exceptionally good. Parties wanting to penetrate the wilds and spend their outing under canvas can secure complete camping outfits at Mount Kineo, and an exploration of the lake, or a trip down the west branch of the Penobscot river (easily reached by the "Northern Carry"), or a cruise on the chain of lakes and Moose river, previously mentioned, will all prove capital routes. At Greenville connections are made with the Bangor and Piscataquis Rd., running to the thriving city of Bangor, on the Penobscot river, and thence on to the fashionable watering-place of Bar Harbor.

Passing on from Greenville to Mattawamkeag, the scenery is very similar to that already described. Wilson stream is a specially interesting point, the road passing close to the base of Boarstone mountain, and over a stately iron bridge 115 feet above the stream. Other noteworthy features of this portion of the trip are Lake Onaway, another great bridge (one of the longest in the country, being 1,500 feet long and elevated 125 feet above the bottom of the ravine it spans), and Schoodic lake. About lovely Lake Onaway there hangs a poetical legend of a beautiful Indian maiden and her doings in the long ago. Such traditions may be mere romance, but like the lichen upon the giant rock or the creeper clinging to the mighty tree, they detract naught from the tourists' pleasure, but rather add an additional charm. At Brownville Junction the line of the Kathadin Iron Works Railway is crossed, and further on the Penobscot river and Mattawamkeag is reached. From here a fine view is offered of monumental Mount Kathadin.

The country now gradually loses the aspect of savage wildness which characterized the greater portion already passed; the hills grow smaller, and presently the famous chain of lakes, forming a portion of the International boundary between New Brunswick and Maine, appear. This is another fine point for the sportsman, as game and fish are abundant, the largest water of the chain, Grand lake, being well stocked with land-locked salmon. After passing Vanceboro and crossing the St. Croix river, Canadian territory is reached again, and the route leads on through New Brunswick. At McAdam Junction connections are made for Woodstock, N.B., Houlton, Me., and Presque Isle, Me., to the north; and for Calais, Me., St. Stephen, N.B., and St. Andrews, N.B., to the south.

ST. ANDREWS is destined speedily to supplant many of the present fashionable watering-places in the opinion of the travelling public, and right well is it qualified to please tourists. It is in fact the beau ideal of a resort where a pleasant holiday can be spent, and it has a great future before it. It is situated on a peninsula five miles long, which extends into Passamaquoddy bay, which is 17 miles long by six miles wide. It is a town of nearly 2,000 inhabitants, built upon a slope which rises some 150 feet at 2,000 feet from high-water mark, and beyond the town for about two miles rounding hills form an amphitheatre 250 feet high, from which is a beautiful view of the St. Croix river, the islands and water of the bay, and of the coast of Maine. Good salt and fresh water fishing can be enjoyed within a short distance; the roads are perfect, which renders driving a most enjoyable amusement, and the facilities for yachting and boating cannot be surpassed. Yachts, boats and canoes, with guides, can be secured on the spot for a very moderate outlay, and taken upon its merits St. Andrews is one of the most desirable localities on the coast.

A marked peculiarity of the place is the entire absence of malarial and mosquito. The air has proved wonderfully beneficial to malaria and hay-fever patients, and many cases of long-standing have derived surprising benefit from a sojourn there. The outer edge of the bay is guarded by mountainous islands which effectually shut out the fogs that sometimes prevail on the Bay of Fundy, and the place has the advantages of the better known resorts, many pleasant features that are lacking in the others, and none of their drawbacks. The day is not far distant when St. Andrews will be one of the most popular resorts on the coast. The fine new Aigonquin hotel offers every modern accommodation for tourists, and conveniences and comfort not surpassed by anything in its line. It is owned by Canadian and American capitalists, and several other hotels are in course of erection to meet the requirements of visitors. St. Andrews is reached direct by rail from Montreal, St. John and Boston, and a daily steamer runs to Eastport, where connections are made for Portland, Boston and St. John by the International line of steamers. The popular watering-places of Campobello and Grand Manan are best reached by way of St. Andrews.

glimpse is caught of the St. John river, fitly described as the "Rhine of America." This river rises in the State of Maine, and flows over 450 miles before emptying its flood into the harbor on the Bay of Fundy through a rocky chasm only some 500 feet wide. The most fascinating spectacle of all its many pleasing features is the wonderful fall, the "reversible cataract" that changes its flow with the tide. At high tide, the sea has a descent of fifteen feet into the river, and at low-tide the conditions are exactly reversed. Only at half-tide, or slack water, can this portion of the stream be navigated with safety; at all other times it is a rushing, roaring, seething turmoil of waters, set-

Resuming the journey east from McAdam Junction, Magnadavique and Harvey lakes are added to the many queer-named waters left behind, and Fredericton Junction is reached, where connections are made for Fredericton, the capital of New Brunswick. A vision of surpassing beauty greets the tourist as the first ting up or down stream as the tide is high or low. Close to the falls are two fine bridges, one a suspension passenger bridge, elevated 75 feet above high tide and with a span of 640 feet, and the other, the substantial cantilever, with a main span of 825 feet, over which passengers by the Short Line are conveyed to the city of St. John.

Historic old St. John was well nigh destroyed by the great conflagration of June 20th, 1877; but a new city sprang Phoenix-like from its ashes, and to-day it is a bustling centre, very modern in appearance, but well worth a careful inspection. One of its most interesting sights is the wharf-front, built to accommodate tides rising 25 feet, and a study of the countless craft great and small that are gathered in the grand harbor will prove remarkably interesting. Leviathans of the deep, weather-beaten and honorably scarred in their battles with the elements, are ever coming and going, doing faithfully their parts in binding the golden chain of commerce round the world. St. John is essentially a maritime city, and with its suburbs the largest city in the Maritime Provinces, and from here many routes diverge. There are many beautiful drives in the neighborhood. Leaving the city and driving through the flourishing suburb of Portland we can ascend Fort Howe, and from that height a magnificent view may be had of Portland at the foot of the hill, the city, the harbor, and all the picturesque surroundings, including the distant hills of Nova Scotia. The banks of the Kennebecasis, the drive to Lake Lomond over the Marsh bridge, Mount Pleasant, Lily lake, to the cemetery; to the Suspension Bridge; along the Manawagonish road in full view of the Bay of Fundy; through Carleton; the ruins of ancient Fort La Tour, etc., etc. All of these are full of interest to a visitor. The climate of St. John is beautiful, and a very superior natural bathing-place will be found at the bay shore near Carleton.

The Intercolonial Ry. connects St. John and Halifax, passing through a most interesting country, and the thriving towns of Moncton, Amherst and Truro. At Painsec Junction a branch line diverges to Point du Chene, connecting with steamers for Prince Edward Island, and from Truro a branch line runs to Pictou, one of the most beautifully situated towns in the province, where connections are made for Charlottetown, P.E.I. direct. From Truro a branch line also extends to Port Mulgrave on the Straits of Canso, from whence steamers run to Baddeck and Sydney, both situated on the famous Bras D'Or lakes which divide the wave-beaten isle of Cape Breton. From St. John there is a pleasant trip by steamer up the river to Fredericton; and steamers cross the bay to Digby Gut and Annapolis, also to Yarmouth, N.S. Annapolis is the site of the earliest French settlement in Acadia, and from thence Halifax is reached by the Windsor & Annapolis Ry., which runs through the matchless

HALIFAX FROM THE BATTERY.

Annapolis valley, immortalized by Longfellow as the home of Evangeline. The International Steamship Company's steamers also ply between St. John and Eastport, Portland and Boston.

Across the Bay of Fundy from St. John is Nova Scotia, and on its eastern sea-coast is St. John's rival city, Halifax, the capital of the province. The "city by the sea," with its magnificent harbor, where a thousand great ships can find secure anchorage, its strong fortifications overlooked by the lofty citadel, and its many points of interest, is sure to please tourists. It is the most thoroughly English city on the continent; British military and naval uniforms are seen on every street; stately men-of-war are stationed there every summer; it is the present winter port for the English mails, and considering these things it is not strange to find everything more or less Anglicised. In addition to being an important military and naval station Halifax is a wealthy and well-built city. It is located on a peninsula and founded upon a rock, and its financial resources are figuratively as solid. It is so well-known that a detailed description is wholly unnecessary. To the south and east is its incomparable harbor, which narrows as the upper end of the city is reached, expanding again into Bedford Basin, which affords ten square miles of safe anchorage. It is situated upon the eastern slope of the isthmus, the citadel being 256 feet above the water. On the eastern side of the harbor is the town of Dartmouth. In the harbor lies the strongly fortified George's Island, and at the entrance, three miles away, is McNab's Island, also strongly fortified. The crowning fortification is of course the citadel, and from it the tourist may have the finest view of the city, harbor and surroundings, and it will not soon be forgotten. There is no lack of amusement for visitors. A sail upon the Basin; a trip to McNab's Island; a drive on Point Pleasant road and up the N. W. Arm; Prospect road and round Herring Cove; around Bedford Basin by Dartmouth; to Waverly and Portobello; to Cow Bay, and a dip in the roaring surf; these and many more are offered and are well worth attention. Excursions along the shore through the wild country to the east, and westward via the Lunenburg stage route to Mahone bay, are also justly popular. Halifax has communication with all parts of the world by steam or sailing vessels, and connections as already mentioned, and steamers run several times a week to Boston. A more interesting spot for the tourist than the city by the sea would be difficult to find.

THE LOWER ST. LAWRENCE RESORTS, THE SAGUENAY, GASPE, NEW-FOUNDLAND AND GULF PORTS.

SINCE first the pioneers of summer travel began their search for the beautiful or magnificent in Canadian scenery, the region of the lower St. Lawrence has steadily grown in popularity. Nor is the reason difficult to discover, for where can be found so many inducements? The great river alone is quite sufficient to attract tourists, and a trip by steamer upon its mighty flood would afford pleasure enough to amply repay a visitor even if there were no other features of note. But the cruise alone, enjoyable though it be, is but a small portion of what is offered by this route. You have an opportunity to observe and study countless points of interest, and if the trip lasted a month you would not find one moment of the time hang heavily upon your hands. When the trip is done you will be ready to declare, as others have done before you, that the route leads through scenery as grandly imposing as Switzerland, as beautiful as Acadia, and as full of romantic and historical associations as any land the sun shines upon. The traveller's enthusiasm begins at Quebec and never flags until the journey is completed. Grand old Quebec! That Gibraltar of America, the wonderful city, suggesting the mingling of four nationalities, with the individuality of none; grandeur, loveliness, and quaintness are here all strangely brought together in an indescribable blending that defies description to convey an idea of its attractiveness. Quebec must be seen and studied to be thoroughly appreciated.

The year 1534 saw the first craft, other than the canoe of the Indian, upon the great river. Then the daring Jacques Cartier, seeking to extend the domains of what was then mighty France, came sailing up the St. Lawrence and passed a winter at the base of those towering cliffs. Ere long French fur companies followed in his wake and established a trading post: then the heights were fortified, the small settlement of hardy adventurers grew and the fortifications were extended until Quebec became the French stronghold of Canada, remaining so until stormed by the heroic Wolfe in 1759. Extended reference to the later history of the city, or to the story of its capture by the English, would be uncomplimentary to the intelligence of the reader, for who does not know it and know why the Plains of Abraham and the heights are next to sacred ground? The bloody differences that were decided there are kept fresh in memory by history and fiction, and by the very school books of the rising generation.

Since Jacques Cartier and his followers spent that dreary winter under the cliffs, Quebec has passed through the various stages from camp to trading post, from a mere fort to a great city of 75,000 inhabitants, and where formerly a few Indians sold their peltries there is now a busy commercial centre, the timber trade alone being something enormous. The architecture of the city is a strange medley, but a very pleasing one to an artistic eye. Owing to the fact that it is built at the base and upon the face and summit of a majestic cliff, there is a perfect view from the river. Lofty spires tower above the quaint little houses and narrow, irregular streets of "lower town," and above all the great citadel, the cannon guarded rock that could scowl down in defiance of an attacking force. From the citadel and Dufferin Terrace there is a noble view of the silver basin and a lovely pastoral landscape; well-tilled farms and neat farm houses, pretty villages on either side of the river; the lovely falls of Montmorenci; the River St. Charles; Point Levi; Isle d'Orleans, and far away the dark promontory of Cape Tourmente and the Laurentian mountains, the whole forming a scene that will always live in the memory, and one that you might search the world over for its equal and fail.

Just below the city is the island of Orleans dividing the river into two channels, the principal one being on the south side. A choice of routes either by Saguenay steamer or the Intercolonial Ry. is now offered the tourist, and if the former is selected, as you cross the basin and move down stream, you catch a succession of views that will exhaust your adjectives and haunt your memory for many a day after, but there are more to come. After passing Isle d'Orleans you see the mountains of Cape Rouge and Cape Gribaune, part of the Laurentian range, and apparently springing directly out of the river, and all the shore on that side is ruggedly picturesque. The steamer to Saguenay passes close to these cliffs to enter St. Paul's bay behind Isle aux Coudres, where abundant traces of primitive Norman life yet linger.

Passing the gigantic Cape Eboulements you reach Murray bay on the north side, a justly popular summer resort. The name of Murray bay is now a household word in Canada, and as it boasts a fine beach, great hotels, unequalled facilities for boating and bathing, and is in addition one of the best localities for the fisherman in the province, it requires no further recommendation. The scenery is wild and grand in the extreme, and those who have fished Murray river and Gravel and Petit lakes require no urging to revisit the locality. Murray bay is annually visited by a large number of the more refined and cultivated people, and promises to steadily grow in favor.

The next points of special interest are Kamouraska islands and the village of that name on the south shore. Then, The Pilgrims, a group of islets, is passed, and the boat stops at Riviere du Loup wharf, where there is excellent accommodation for visitors. Six miles below is the fashionable watering-place, Cacouna, reached by stage and other conveyances from Riviere du Loup, or from the Cacouna station on the Intercolonial Ry., should the tourist prefer to make the trip from Quebec by rail. Those who fancy a "dip in the briny" must remember that at Cacouna and to within 30 miles of Quebec the St. Lawrence is salt.

Opposite Riviere du Loup and Cacouna is the famous Saguenay river, and at its mouth Tadousac, with ample provision for the comfort and pleasure of visitors. This fine stream, is one of the chief tributaries of the St. Lawrence, and the outlet of Lake St. John, of which so much has been written of late. The Saguenay stands unrivalled among American rivers. Nowhere else are such tremendous crags, and such majestic shores as overhang this wonderful water. Cape Eternity, 1,800 feet high, rises sheer from the water, and offers perhaps the grandest spectacle of all the collection of marvels. Rocks that might furnish the foundations of another world are here piled in chaotic confusion, and those who behold it for the first time, gaze and admire because they are unable to do aught else, but at the same time experience a sensation closely akin to fear. The scene suggests that here once had been some of nature's grandest handiwork, and that mountains had fallen and piled their tremendous ruins upon either shore of the broad river. For fifty miles from its outlet the Saguenay is from one to one-and-a-half miles wide, and flows between lofty precipices that appear to overhang its flood.

Trinity bay, walled in by its gloomy guardian rocks, indents the eastern shore, and on the opposite side is Ha Ha bay, fit spot for a summer holiday, and visited by crowds of pilgrims from the overheated stifling cities. The steamer lands at Ha Ha bay, immediately below the group of summer hotels and private residences, and a brief period of observation will prove conclusively that Ha Ha is a famous resort. Those intending to visit this river should remember that a great coat is at all times a comfort and frequently a necessity. Navigation by steamer of the Saguenay ends at Chicoutimi, long an Indian mission and trading post, but now a fashionable rendezvous and a busy lumber port. Many enthusiastic tourists, however, pass this point, excellent though it undoubtedly is for fishing, shooting and scenery, and journey on for 60 miles or so to the great Lake St. John, the head-water of the Saguenay, and the largest sheet of water in the Province of Quebec.

Lake St. John is also reached by rail from Quebec daily via the Quebec & Lake St. John Ry. This lake is already the Mecca to which the angler's eyes are eagerly directed, for the fishing to be had there is unequalled. It is the home of the wonderful Wa-na-nish, a variety of the land-locked salmon and a royal fighter when hooked. Many surprising tales of battles with these silver-mailed warriors of the deep were told by visitors to the lake last season, and even old salmon and trout fishers admit that finer sport cannot be enjoyed anywhere than with the Wa-na-nish of Lake St. John. Portions of the region about this lake are closely cultivated, and level, fat, farm lands comprise a goodly portion of it; the remainder is hidden by the forest primeval, and intersected by many rivers and lakes, several of the former being large streams, and all the waters furnishing rare good trout-fishing. A steamer plies upon the Mistassini, a tributary of the lake, but the great majority of the waters are as yet unvisited by the white man, and in those mysterious solitudes can be found canoe routes and camp grounds unnumbered and sport unmeasured for whoever cares to penetrate the wilderness. On a fair estimate there is not a more promising point for the angler than this region in all America. The railway will land tourists and canoes directly upon the beach; in fact, places you on the spot, and you are free to go where you will. If you prefer camping, pitch your tent where you please, or, if you want a roof over your head, a good hotel is ready for you, and others will speedily follow.

The scenery along the Lake St. John Railway is highly picturesque, the attractions including Lake St. Joseph and surrounding mountains; the pretty village of St. Raymond on the lovely River Ste. Anne; the river Batiscau threading its way among lofty mountains; Pearl lake and lakes Edward, Kiskisink, Bouchette and Lac des Commissaires—all fine fishing waters; the falls of the River Ouïatchouan (50 feet higher than Montmorenci); the numerous villages upon Lake St. John, the almost circular lake itself, some 35 miles across, and on the further side the great lone land stretching northward to Hudson's straits. A paradise, indeed, for the lovers of the grand and beautiful in nature.

Should a trip down the St. Lawrence by the Quebec S. S. line or the Black Diamond line be decided upon, the wonders of the Saguenay will be missed, but more will be seen of the mighty Gulf of the St. Lawrence and its southern shore. East of Tadousac the north shore presents a picture of lonely savage wildness, with no remarkably interesting features, though sportsmen, anglers and artists frequently visit Labrador in their quest for fresh fields. The south shore is well settled by farmers and fishermen principally, but the first regular stopping place for steamers below Cacouna is Gaspé, though intermediate villages can be reached by rail. An interesting point below Cacouna is Trois Pistoles and the islets of Rosade. The scenery about the village is beautiful, and the little cluster of houses and church at the foot of a lofty bluff form a very pleasing picture. Lower down is Rimouski, a favorite summer resort with Canadians and New Englanders, and the scenery is well calculated to please, for it is fully equal to many of the attractive points already passed. Rimouski is also interesting on account of its thoroughly French civilization, which traces back to the opening chapter of Canadian history. At this point the European mails are, in summer, transferred from the steamers to be forwarded more rapidly by rail, but it is not a regular stopping place for steamers upon the river.

Below Rimouski the rapidly broadening St. Lawrence appears to be the sea itself, and the shore, visible from the steamer, presents a grand array of lofty mountains, with here and there a little fishing village at their base. Rounding Cape Rosier, "the Land's End of Canada," the steamers for ports on the Gaspé coast, Charlottetown, P. E. I., Newfoundland, etc., swing into the Bay of Chaleur and so on to their destination. The above trip is one that can be heartily recommended, and those who dread the fell mal de mare need have little fear, for it is seldom during the tourist season that the waters of the lower St. Lawrence or the Gulf are rough enough to cause any inconvenience.

Just beyond Rimouski, the Intercolonial Ry., which has followed the south shore of the river and given access to the shore resorts so far, turns southward across the narrowest part of Gaspé, as the eastern peninsula of Quebec is called, and follows the Metapedia river to the Bay of Chaleur, passing through a rugged, heavily timbered country, intersected by rapid rivers that furnish salmon fishing famed throughout the world.

The Bay of Chaleur requires no better proof of its rare merit as a summer resort than is furnished by the crowds of tourists who gather there each season. Perfect accommodation is afforded by the Inch Arran hotel which stands right on the beach and is not surpassed by any in the country, and many very comfortable little hostleries will be found in the numerous quaint villages upon the northern shore. A very pleasant trip can be taken by steamer Admiral from Dalhousie, reached by the Intercolonial Ry., to Gaspé bay, which affords a fine view of the attractive coast-line.

III.

TO PORTLAND AND THE SEA COAST VIA THE WHITE MOUNTAINS.

CANADIANS will find one of the most attractive routes to the popular resorts of the American sea coast through the celebrated White Mountains, by far the most interesting group in all the Eastern States. Between Canada and the fashionable points on the Atlantic seaboard lies a territory of wonderful natural beauty, affording unnumbered facilities for spending a pleasant holiday, and in addition to picturesque and varied scenery there will be found palatial hotels for the accommodation of tourists that are not surpassed in America. Considering these things, it is not surprising that the Canadian Pacific Railway has laid out a great number of routes to convey pleasure-seekers through the finest portions of this region, to the White Mountains, the Coast, and also through the mountains to southern New England.

The majority of these tours have Montreal as their initial point; others start from Quebec, and a few start from Montreal and follow the St. Lawrence to Quebec and thence to the objective points.

From Montreal the route is the same to Brigham Junction as described in our notes on the Short Line to Maritime Provinces, etc. From Brigham Junction south the line runs through a hilly country, enters the State of Vermont a short distance south of Abercorn, and thence east to the pleasant resort of Newport, Vt., situated on the southern end of Lake Memphremagog, a description of which will be found by referring to the Short Line route.

Travellers starting from Quebec reach Newport via the Quebec Central Railway, which traverses the pretty upper valley of the wippi to Newport. From Newport the trip is continued via the Passumpsic division of the Boston & Maine Rd. to St. Johnsbury, Vt. The run from Newport to St. Johnsbury trends towards Burke mountain and follows the crooked Passumpsic river for some distance, winding among picturesque hills with fine views here and there of the Green mountains. St. Johnsbury is a flourishing town with several important industries, chief of which is the manufacture of Fairbank's scales.

Leaving St. Johnsbury the White Mountain division of the Boston & Lowell Rd. runs eastward, crossing the beautiful Connecticut valley, walled in by rocky terraces and rolling hills, at Lancaster, N.H. The famous White Mountains, faintly discernible from St. Johnsbury, now loom boldly up above the eastern and southern horizon. Sharply defined in the foreground is Lafayette, and to the south the Profile range; to the east and north, Cherry mountain and the Lancaster range, while between Lafayette and Cherry tower the grander summits of famed Mount Washington and the Presidential range. After crossing the Connecticut the line turns to the south, passing village after village, each with excellent hotels and boarding-houses for summer residents, until Bethlehem Junction, at the northern gate of the White Mountains, is reached. The Ammonoosuc river is then followed into the interior of the group, beyond which a pass affords an egress to North Conway from which point the road runs to Portland and Boston. There are several small stations between Bethlehem and Conway offering surprisingly good accommodation for visitors, and from them many branch and stage lines diverge to desirable points, where hotels and boarding-houses will be found that are not surpassed by even the much-vaunted hostelries of the Riviera and Swiss Alps. The art of providing for a host of pleasure-seekers has been brought to a degree of perfection in the White Mountains and on the adjacent sea coasts that is not equalled anywhere in America and is not excelled anywhere in the world.

From Bethlehem Junction short branch lines lead to the palatial Maplewood Hotel and cluster of pretty cottages, and to the well-known village of Bethlehem, where numerous fine hotels and boarding houses can be found. Owing to the freedom from hay fever and the beauty of the surrounding landscape this village is a very popular resort.

A noteworthy side-trip of ten miles can be made by rail from Bethlehem Junction to the world-famous Profile House, situated in a deep cleft between Franconia and Lafayette ranges, at the source of the Merrimac. Close at hand, projecting from the brow of a tremendous cliff, is the marvel of marvels, the mighty profile of the "Old Man of the Mountains," a spectacle that has excited the wonder and admiration of thousands. And well it might, for it is no fanciful resemblance to the human face that stamps this stern-featured majesty. It is colossal in proportions and grandly impressive in feature, but a perfect face throughout, as though one of the wizard craftsmen of old, who chiselled the stupendous Sphinx and the undying images of kings and heroes centuries dead, had sought to carve some magnificent statue from the living rock and given up the task after completing the features. But there is naught of the Egyptian's sensual expression about this face; it is rather a type of Brother Jonathan himself—keen, clear-cut, aquiline, looking to the boundless West, as though he knew of a great future dawning there and pointed the way for youthful tourists to follow the sagacious General's advice. Six miles below the Profile is the Flume and Flume Hotel, reached by stage, and within easy driving distance is North Woodstock. East of Bethlehem Junction the first station is Twin Mountain House, close to Twin and Cherry mountains, and from there a fine view of Mount Washington can be had, and the pretty villages to the north about Cherry mountain, Randolph and Jefferson are easily accessible by stage. The White Mountain House, one of the oldest hotels in the country, is one mile away to the east, and a short distance beyond is Fabyan's, the central point of the entire district. To the south and west of Fabyan's lies an unexplored wilderness, mountainous and wild in the extreme, and to the north and east tower the lofty heights of the Presidential range. A branch line, six miles long, runs from Fabyan's along the bank of the Ammonoosuc and past its pretty falls to the base of Mount Washington, whence the Mount Washington Rd. carries visitors to the majestic summit, 6,293 feet above the sea.

The summit of the mountain is occupied by a large hotel, a signal station of the United States Weather service, a newspaper office, and the stables and offices of the stage company. While the majority of tourists devote only one day to Mount Washington, those who remain over at least one night on the top of the peak are abundantly rewarded. It is not often during the summer months that clouds enshroud the peak for more than a few hours at a time, so that no one need fear to include an excursion to this loftiest point of outlook in eastern America through fear that the time will be wasted. The inclined railway by which the ascent of the mountain is made has been in operation since 1869, and is the model for the similar railroads in the Alps. It is a narrow gauge track, laid upon a low trestle work carrying it evenly over the inequalities of the rocks, and the steepest grades amount to scarcely more than one foot of rise in each three of advance. The total length of the line is nearly three miles, and the time of the ascent about one and a half hours. A locomotive and one car constitute the train, and they are able to ascend by means of heavy cog-wheels locking into a third rail laid in the middle of the track and furnished with cog-teeth. The locomotive thus climbs a sort of ladder, the side rails merely guiding and supporting its weight. Precautions for safety are so numerous that an accident is simply impossible.

From the top of Mount Washington stages descend two or three times daily to the Glen House at the northern base of the peak and from thence to Glen Station, where the railway is again reached.

A narrow pass leading southward from Fabyan's carries the Maine Central Rd. from the Connecticut slope to that of the Atlantic. In the jaws of this pass, one-half mile beyond Fabyan's, stands the Mount Pleasant House, and four miles further is the celebrated Crawford House, occupying a secluded nook at the base of Mount Clinton. A little pond just in front of this hotel is the source of the Saco river, which flows thence southward through the White Mountain range and outward to the ocean at Portland.

Turning southward from the Crawford House the railway next passes through the narrow "Gate of the Notch," winds its way by skillful engineering along the sheer western slope of Mounts Willey and Field, and thence follows the Saco through a narrow canyon for several miles down past the Willey House, Bemis, Upper Bartlett, Glen Station, Lower Bartlett and the Intervale House, to North Conway, where the valley expands into bright intervalles that furnish some of the most beautiful scenes in New Hampshire.

An interesting side-trip to be made from Glen Station, and other resorts on the southern slope of the mountains (or from Fabyan's over the peak of Mount Washington), is to the Glen House, which stands between Mount Washington and the Carter mountains, lying immediately east of the Presidential range. This hotel occupies a knoll overlooking the Peabody valley and fronting an amphitheatre formed of the five highest mountains in New England, only some three or four miles distant. No hills interfere with the view and it is the only point where their unobstructed height and breadth can be gauged and an intelligent idea be gained of their imposing proportions. From the Glen House roads and foot-paths extend throughout the most lofty and beautiful section of the White Mountains and some of the wildest and least visited scenery in New Hampshire is accessible, while, on the other hand, stages and excursion waggons reach a lovely pastoral region northward, several exquisite waterfalls, and the charming old-time valley of Jackson river, along which the main road from the Glen House to Glen Station finds its way through the mountains. Stages from the Glen House meet every important train, and carry passengers, not only to that hotel, but to several other resorts in the Jackson and Peabody valleys. Stages depart for and arrive from the top of Mount Washington three times daily; and that route which includes the trip over the mountains to the Glen House, and by stage to Glen Station, or vice versa, as a divergence from the all-rail route through the Crawford Notch, is one of the most enjoyable of the whole series.

The Maine Central Rd. proceeds southward from North Conway to Conway Centre, on the banks of the Saco, where it turns eastward and pursues its way down the valley and around the southern end of Sebago lake to Portland, Me. This is a rich farming country, presenting charming landscapes, and many different tours will be found which include it; among them those leading to Bar Harbor, Old Orchard Beach, Boston, etc.

TO BOSTON VIA THE MONTREAL & BOSTON AIR LINE.

IN this case the route followed is similar to the one just described (to Portland via the White Mountains), as far as St. Johnsbury. Below that town the erratic Passumpsic river is crossed and recrossed several times ere its mouth is reached, a few miles before arriving at Wells River Junction, on the Wells river, a tributary of the Connecticut.

At Wells river the last-named stream is crossed, and proceeding southward over the hilly region that divides the tributaries of the Connecticut from those of the Merrimac, we descend towards the Merrimac valley by way of the gorge of Baker's river, one of the headwaters of the Pemigewasset. The towns of Haverhill, Wentworth, Warren and Rumney (all in New Hampshire) are passed, and from these several points the landscape revealed is decidedly picturesque, and fine views are obtained of the White Mountains close upon the left, with Moosilauké prominently conspicuous. Further on is a sight that will delight all beholders—Mount Washington grandly revealed across Lake Winnepesaukee. At Plymouth, N.H., situated at the junction of Baker's river with the Pemigewasset, a branch line runs northward to North Woodstock, whence the Flume and Profile hotels are reached by stage as previously referred to. Plymouth appears like a scrap of outside civilization deposited among guardian mountains for safe keeping, the surroundings being wonderfully pleasing. Soon Winnepesaukee's shore is reached, with the villages of Lake Village, Laconia and Weir's, with good hotels and all facilities for spending a holiday; Weir's being the landing-place for the steamers plying upon the lake. At the town of Laconia, nestling near the base of Mt. Belknap, the lake is left behind, and the line follows down the valley of the Winnepesaukee river, as the outlet of the lake is named, and ere long Concord, the capital of New Hampshire, is reached. Passing on from Concord and following the Merrimac river, the next point of special interest is the great factory city of Manchester. From thence the route passes through the busy "cotton" cities and flourishing towns of eastern New Hampshire, including Nashua and Lowell, until the train rolls into Boston, and the twelve-hour run from Montreal is completed.

A most pleasant way for the traveller to reach New York from Boston is by the Fall River Line. Steamship lines also run from Boston to Portland, Me., Eastport, Me., St. John, N.B., Yarmouth, N.S., Annapolis, N.S., and Halifax, N.S. Reference to the list of tours will show that in several cases a round trip is provided between Montreal and Boston, via St. Johnsbury, Fabyan's and Portland, and return via Plymouth and Wells river, or vice versa.

V.

MOUNT DESERT AND THE MAINE COAST.

THAT the routes are from Canada to the coast the tourist has already been informed. Once the sea is gained unsurpassed facilities are offered by rail or steamer from Boston or Portland for reaching noted points of summer travel. Between Boston and Portland large and elegantly appointed steamers ply by day and night; or should the trip by rail be preferred, a succession of interesting sea ports are traversed, ranking among the earliest settlements on the New England seaboard, including Lynn, Salem, Ipswich, Newburyport, Portsmouth, Kennebunk and Kennebunkport, Biddeford, Saco, and the famous Old Orchard and Scarborough beaches. All of these are surrounded by historical interest, dating back to the earliest records of the civilization of the country, and in addition they are quaintly pleasing and exceedingly picturesque of themselves.

The city of Portland, Me., is so widely known that a description of it would be superfluous. It has for years been a popular spot with tourists, and a holiday can be well spent examining its interesting features. One point that never loses its charm is the old tower on Munjoy Hill. Casco bay is surrounded by most attractive shores and contains delightfully pretty islands, prominent among which is Cushing's Island—a gem in its way. The numerous hotels and cottages dotted here and there and all around are filled to overflowing during the summer season, and along the coast are sleepy, old-fashioned villages, perfect ideals of spots for a restful vacation. Gay resorts are furnished by the beaches and hotels, the most celebrated of them being Rye Beach, the Isles of Shoals, Wentworth House and Old Orchard, the latter being a smooth beach a few miles south of Portland, with row after row of hotels, cottages, amusement booths, bathing houses, etc., etc., and everything to make it, what it is, a fashionable and popular watering-place. A special side-trip is arranged from Portland to Old Orchard, which also gives access to Ocean Park, Ferry Beach and other differently named but closely connected points; in fact all are situated upon the same ten-mile strip of shore and connected by a branch line on which trains run every hour. The traveller can reach Mount Desert (Bar Harbor) from Greenville by rail as mentioned in connection with the New Short Line, or from Portland by the Maine Central Rd., or by a steamer which calls at several points upon the Maine coast, and at summer resorts upon the lesser islands.

Mount Desert Island is the most prominent and fashionable watering-place on the northern coast. Its principal landing and centre of amusement is Bar Harbor, the population of which, in mid-summer, reaches ten or fifteen thousand. Large and most elegant hotels exist, as well as less costly ones. Private boarding can easily be obtained at almost any price desired in Bar Harbor, or in some of the farming villages scattered over the island. The means of pleasure-taking are almost without limit. At Bar Harbor the most stylish entertainments and luxurious hotel life are to be seen beside the simpler excursions, boating and fishing trips and picnics with which the majority of visitors are satisfied. The island is mountainous and some of the summits are over 1,500 feet in height. One of these has a railway, like that on Mt. Washington, which carries passengers to a hotel on the apex, overlooking the sea, the straits and an immense landscape inland. To the tops of other rocky hills good paths are made; and walking-trips, consequently, are one of the most fashionable as well as enjoyable customs of the island. There is no doubt that of all the leading summer resorts, Mount Desert stands among the first in the variety of recreation it offers, coupled with that pleasing contrast of mountain and seashore in which it is quite unrivaled on the Atlantic coast.

For many of these tours to the Maine coast and Maritime Provinces a different route is provided, either going or returning, rendering them doubly attractive.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

IN CONNECTION WITH

EASTERN TOURS

Tickets over the Mount Washington Railway are not available after about the 15th September.

Lake Memphremagog Steamer ceases running 20th September.

Attention is called to the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway now controls and operates the Southeastern Railway (Montreal & Boston Air Line), which is the only line running from Montreal to the New England seaboard through the heart of the White Mountains, and that trains by this route now start from the Canadian Pacific Railway Windsor Street Depot in Montreal, and that all tourist tickets reading from Quebec or any point west of Montreal "via Canadian Pacific Railway to Newport" permit passengers to stop over in Montreal.

Tourists starting from Montreal or stopping over in Montreal, whose tickets read east via rail to Quebec, will take train from Montreal, at Dalhousie Square Station, if tickets read via Newport or Vanceboro (the Short Line through Maine), they will take train at Windsor Street Depot. See Time Table Folder.

Eastern tours via Montreal from Detroit, Niagara Falls, St. Thomas, Toronto, etc., instead of reading "all rail Canadian Pacific Railway to Montreal," can be varied to read eastbound from Toronto or Kingston to Montreal by the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co., and from Ottawa to Montreal by the Ottawa River Navigation Co., on payment of the following amounts in addition to the rates advertised herein, viz. :

Purchasers of Tourist Tickets reading via Quebec to eastern points, who request the privilege at the time of buying their ticket, will be given the option of going from Montreal to Quebec by the Canadian Pacific Railway, or by a steamer of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, without extra charge.

Tourist tickets to eastern points starting from Ottawa will on request at time of purchase be made to read Ottawa River Navigation Company to Montreal, instead of Canadian Pacific Railway, without additional charge.

The route from Port Arthur for Eastern Tours will be by Canadian Pacific Steamship Line to Sault Ste. Marie or Owen Sound, thence Canadian Pacific Railway; or by Canadian Pacific Railway Rail Route to Montreal. The route from Sault Ste. Marie will be by Canadian Pacific Railway Rail Route, or by Canadian Pacific Steamship Line (Local or Through) to Owen Sound, thence by Canadian Pacific Railway. Tourists from St. Paul by the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway, or from Duluth by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway to Sault Ste. Marie, may travel thence by the Canadian Pacific Railway or Steamship Lines.

Western Tours

I.

TO THE NORTH-WEST VIA THE CANADIAN PACIFIC TRANSCONTINENTAL AND TRIBUTARY LINES.

WESTERN Tours extend across the continent by five routes. One is the Transcontinental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Montreal, north of Lake Superior to the Pacific coast at Vancouver; the second is by steamers from Owen Sound, Ontario, across Lakes Huron and Superior to Port Arthur, and thence by rail; the third, by the way of Sault Ste. Marie and St. Paul; the fourth is by rail through Sudbury Junction to Sault Ste. Marie, thence by steamer across Lake Superior to Port Arthur, where the Transcontinental line is reached; and the fifth leaves the Canadian Pacific system at St. Thomas, Ont., crosses into the United States at Detroit, and proceeds by the way of Chicago and St. Paul to Winnipeg, and thence by the Canadian Pacific to Vancouver.

In addition to these main-line tours, many divergencies are provided for in the vicinity of the Great Lakes, as well as several extensive journeys by water, northward and southward along the Pacific coast, thus opening to the tourist a most interesting and instructive choice of alternate or branch-line trips by both railway and steamer, reaching all the pleasure resorts and fishing localities of Lakes Superior and Huron; the best hunting regions in the Rockies; the ports on Puget sound; Portland, Ore., the Mt. Shasta region, San Francisco and Alaska. In all cases provision is made for a return trip under one ticket, either by the same route, or by one of the alternate routes to be mentioned hereafter.

A. THE C. P. R. TRANSCONTINENTAL ROUTE.*—The line of the Canadian Pacific Railway reaches across the continent from the tide-water of the Atlantic to that of the Pacific; for the purposes of the tourist we will begin this trip at Montreal. Upon leaving Montreal westward bound, the quaint French suburbs, dating back to the earliest settlement of the country, are first seen. Fifty miles brings one to the banks of the Ottawa river, along whose rich valley many fine farms and the more modern English villages give a cultivated and civilized air to the charming scenery, in strong contrast with the almost primitive wildness along the upper part of the same valley. The river is closely followed beyond Calumet until Hull, opposite Ottawa, is reached, when it is crossed by the railway upon a bridge which permits the passenger to see the noble Chaudiere falls and the extensive booms, rafts and lumber-mills that indicate the principal industry of the locality.

Ottawa is the capital of the Dominion, and is most picturesquely situated at the point where the Rideau river falls in a fine cataract into the larger stream. The many fine structures of the city, including the Parliament buildings, the Library, Museum of Natural History and Rideau House (where the Governor-General resides) are a constant attraction to visitors.

Leaving Ottawa, the train moves on up the river, through an agricultural and wood-cutting region, past many prosperous stations. At short intervals, streams and small lakes promise splendid sport to the angler and entice him to alight before his destination is reached. The country becomes more broken and rocky as you progress towards Lake Nipissing. There is less agriculture, more woodland and greater attractions for artist and sportsman. The valleys and borders of the many lakes are tillable and fertile, but farmers are few. Lake Nipissing is reached at North Bay, where the railway from Toronto and the Muskoka lake-country joins the Canadian Pacific. Here passengers from southern Ontario join the Transcontinental route. Lake Nipissing is noted for its fishing (in great variety) and shooting; good hotels exist upon its borders, and it is a favorite summer resort. Glimpses of rolling hills, spaces of lake surface, dashing trout streams, cataracts, rocky crags and meadows haunted by wild-fowl, are caught through the almost universal forest as the train speeds along its northern shore. The railway winds among forested hills for some distance westward of Nipissing, then crosses to another stream, which leads it down to Lake Superior, first seen at Heron Bay station, early on the second morning after leaving Montreal.

Lake Superior now remains in view, with only occasional intermissions, until Port Arthur is reached, towards which the train makes its way amid rocky hills and tremendous cliffs forming pictures delightful to the eye; but in the construction of the railway these hills tried the patience and tested the utmost skill of the engineer. Jackfish bay is one of the most attractive points, and carrying the line at an elevation which permits a wide and most inspiring outlook.

Into Nepigon bay flows the Nepigon river, which has long been famous for its trout-fishing. This river is some forty miles in length and drains Lake Nepigon. It is a powerful stream and broken by a succession of cataracts and whirlpools, making canoeing upon it most exciting. Trout and whitefish of several varieties are exceedingly numerous there, and good camping places abound. At Nepigon station facilities exist for obtaining canoes, Indian guides and helpers, and all the necessary outfit for a fishing trip. No civilization interferes with the wildness and romance of the district, and of course no hotels are to be found; but for a camping and angling excursion the Nepigon offers perhaps the greatest attraction in central Canada.

Port Arthur, the terminus of the eastern division of the Canadian Pacific, has a population of about 4,000. It was formerly known as Prince Arthur's Landing, and is half a dozen miles east of the mouth of the Kaministiquia river and of Fort William, the oldest trading post on Lake Superior, where now the railway has extensive port-facilities and repairing-shops.

Port Arthur is situated on Thunder bay, and was settled about 1867. The town is prettily situated overlooking the bay, which is a fine open harbor; and has in view the dark cliffs of Thunder cape and Pic island. Since the opening of the Lake Superior section of the railway, the town has assumed particular importance as the connecting point between the railway system of the North-West and the inland water-route of Canada via the Great Lakes. Extensive wharves have lately been erected, together with enormous docks, huge elevators for grain, terminal warehouses and stations. There is much pretty scenery in the hills back of the town, while the bay and its islands are suited to yachting and picnic excursions. Minerals abound in the neighborhood, and valuable mines are worked. Port Arthur has an excellent hotel overlooking the harbor.

To Port Arthur come the steamers of the Canadian Pacific line from Owen Sound and Sault Ste. Marie, while most of the other Lake Superior boats call here in passing. This furnishes alternate routes between the east and Port Arthur during the season of navigation, and one that is justly very popular.

From Port Arthur to Winnipeg the railway crosses a wilderness of rocky woods, ponds and rivers, valuable for its mines and timber, through whose intricacies fur-traders have guided their canoes for two hundred and fifty years. The primitive wilderness is rapidly giving way to the march of improvement, and at numerous points, lumber and milling industries are being actively carried on. At Keewatin, near Rat Portage, an immense flour mill has been erected and is the nucleus of a thriving village.

Winnipeg is a Chicago so far as 40,000 ambitious people are able to make it. Fifteen years ago it was merely the fur-trading post of Fort Garry, hundreds of miles from anywhere. To-day it is the focus of eight radiating railways, and is striding on with amazing progress.

Westward from Winnipeg spreads a thousand miles of open and productive plains—the wheat-prairies of Manitoba, the green uplands of Assiniboia, and Alberta's broad pastures. During the first day large active villages are passed, farm-houses are always in sight, and the "flowering mead" is checkered with ebon squares of upturned sod, or the emerald and gold of grain. Later the villages diminish and the farms become fewer, at least near the road, which has now ascended to a higher though by no means a sterile region. This is the old buffalo range, and their trails mark the prairie in long lines. The buffalo have disappeared, but wildfowl throng about the many lakes, and antelopes raise their heads as the train rolls into view, and then hurry away.

C. P. R. UPPER LAKE SUPERIOR

Before you are weary of the plains a spectacle of intense interest captivates your attention—the snowy peaks of the world-renowned Rockies, curving in a vast semi-circle around the western horizon; and at Calgary, the populous headquarters of the grazing industries, whose cattle and sheep ranches extend over hundreds of square miles along the foot-hills, you are within sight of the base of the great front-range, which towers in an apparently impregnable wall of blue and white.

And now all that has gone before dwindles into insignificance. Three ranges of prodigious mountains are to be crossed before the interior of British Columbia is reached; and when you have descended the last western slopes there remain 300 miles of scenery so fine, along the canyons of the Fraser river, that many persons consider it best of all.

"Do not try to take all of this in one unbroken trip," is the advice given to the tourist by one who has been across the Rockies many times and knows these giants well. "It is too much. The eye loses power of discrimination—is stunned—the soul surfeited—so fast do grandeur of form and beauty in details crowd upon the view and demand attention as the train speeds through gorge and over mountain, giving here a vast outlook and there an interior glimpse, then exchanging it for a new one too rapidly for profit. Here gush the headwaters of rivers that run for a thousand miles east and west. You enter by and escape by the gates they have cut, your track is laid along the ravine-pathways they have hewn, and you behold the very source of their currents in some crystal lake or in some vast body of ice borne upon the shoulders of mountains mantled with eternal frost. Sometimes you are in the bottom of these ravines beside the bounding stream, and strain your eyes to toppling crags that swim among the fleeciest of summer clouds a mile and a quarter higher than your place. Again, with audacity of engineering, the railway surmounts a portion of this distance, and you can look down to where tall forest trees are small as match-sticks. Upward, apparently close at hand, are the naked ledges lifted above the last fringe of vegetation, wide spaces of never-wasting snow and the wrinkled backs of glaciers whence cataracts come leaping into the concealment of the forest. Here you can look out upon a wilderness of icy peaks, glaciers and aiguilles of black rock, there you cautiously descend into the depths of profound gorges, find yourself enshrouded in the shadow of a forest beside which the eastern woods are as underbrush. The massiveness and breadth of the mountains in one part will astonish you; their splintered and fantastic forms in another excite your curiosity; while now and then a single stately peak, like Castle Mountain, Mount Stephen or Sir Donald, will print itself upon your memory."

It would be well, then, for the tourist to stop off at two or three points at least, and take time to understand the mountains. Pleasant hotels have been built by the railway company at suitable points, where one may dwell in perfect comfort within the very heart of the mountains, and whence the glaciers may be explored, or sport with rifle and rod enjoyed.

The first and most prominent of the stopping places to be recommended is BANFF.

Banff is the station for the Canadian National Park, in the Bow River valley, among the eastern foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains. There are copious and wonderful hot mineral springs there, and a palatial hotel owned and operated by the railway company.

This park is a tract of many square miles embracing every variety of scenery, charming and wonderful, which the government has already made accessible by many carriage-roads and bridle-paths. In the rivers and lakes trout are plentiful, and of a size unheard of elsewhere, and in the hills and forests roam deer, mountain sheep and goats. The general altitude of the valley is about 4,500 feet. Roads have been built in every direction, one going seven miles northward to Devil's lake, an extremely deep sheet of water, walled in by tremendous cliffs, and overlooked by that remarkable peak, the Devil's Head, which forms a well-known landmark, since it is visible far out upon the plains. The fishing here is unrivalled, and the scenery grand. A small inn on the bank of the lake affords a convenient headquarters for sportsmen, and source of supply for camping parties, and a little steamer plies between Banff and Devil's lake, giving access to the best points, and a fine view of the surroundings.

A second halting-place is furnished by the Company's hotel at Field, at the western exit of the Kicking Horse Pass. This hotel is right at the base of Mt. Stephen, and is surrounded by the loftiest peaks of the Rockies. For mountaineering excursions, the hunting of big game or sketching expeditions it has almost advantageous situation.

The Glacier Hotel, at the summit of the Selkirks, is another place of rest and recreation which the tourist should not omit. It is placed high up among forested mountains near the source of the Illicilliwaet, and within twenty minutes' walk, of the Great Glacier of the Selkirks. This hill of ice is reached by an excellent path, and it is an easy matter to ascend the rocky walls and moraines that hem it in or to climb upon the glacier itself. Other paths and roads lead to chosen points of view upon other mountains. The hotel itself is a Swiss chalet, in the midst of ornamental grounds, and is kept in a first-class way. No locality will better repay exploration than this.

At North Bend, in the midst of the Fraser canyon, a similar hotel has been placed, in the neighborhood of which many attractions in the way of fine scenery and good sport exist.

The western terminus of the road is reached at Vancouver on Burrard Inlet, a few miles north of the mouth of the Fraser, on the sixth day after leaving Montreal. This new seaport is only four years old, yet it has 9,000 inhabitants and a flourishing commerce. Its site, overlooking the Gulf of Georgia and the snowy ranges on the shores of Puget Sound, southward, and Burrard Inlet and the Casades, northward, is a most admirable one; and in the neighborhood a great variety of sport is obtainable. Upon a hill commanding the best and widest view the Company has erected a magnificent hotel, which is conducted in a princely way, and will satisfy the most fastidious critic.

From Vancouver a daily steamer of the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company enables the traveller to cross through the archipelagoes of the straits of Georgia and Fuca to Victoria, on Vancouver Island, the capital of the province of British Columbia. This is most charmingly situated at the extremity of a miniature rocky harbor, near the entrance of which stands the government house within its beautiful park. A native Indian village occupies the other bank of the channel, while the business part of the town has overspread an elevated peninsula at the head of the harbor. At a little distance from the centre of the city a reservation, supposed to be guarded by some ancient fortifications and half-dismantled cannon, overlooks the straits of Fuca, and gives a view of the Olympic range on the southern shore of the strait and of the great Cascade range, in Oregon. This is the city's park, and a remarkably pleasant spot it is.

Victoria is one of the most important ports of entry north of San Francisco, and does a large business with the interior of the island and with the mainland. It is connected by railway with the Nanaimo coal region, northward; and with Esquimalt, three miles distant, which is the rendezvous of the British navy in the North Pacific, and a very interesting place. Lines of steamers give regular communication between Victoria and every port on the Pacific coast from San Francisco to Sitka.

B. THE GREAT LAKES ROUTE.—OWEN SOUND TO PORT ARTHUR AND PLEASURE RESORTS ON THE UPPER LAKES.—These tours by steamers on Lakes Huron and Superior may begin with a railway journey from Montreal by the way of Ottawa and Carleton Junction, or by the direct line through Smith's Falls to Toronto. Thence a branch railway is followed northward over the Caledon grades and through the rich farming country of central Ontario to Owen Sound, a port at the southern extremity of Georgian bay, overlooking a beautiful combination of land and water. At Owen Sound the traveller embarks upon one of the Clyde-built steamers of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line, magnificent vessels of 2,000 tons burden, with elegantly appointed and comfortable upper-cabin state-rooms, illuminated throughout by electric light and reminding one of the floating palaces of the Atlantic by the magnificence of their appointments, voyages past the forested headlands of Georgian bay, and along the southern shore of the great Manitoulin and other islands, to St. Mary's river by which the overflow from Lake Superior is conducted into the lower lakes. This river is a narrow and winding stream beset with forested hills and interrupted by islands that lend a pleasing variety to the scenery. At the rapids, named Sault Ste. Marie by the French mariners almost three centuries ago, magnificent locks have been constructed on the American side, by means of which the steamer is lifted to the level of Lake Superior, and on the Canadian side the Canadian Government is also constructing large locks for the same purpose. The towns of Sault Ste. Marie have grown up at this point, where three great railways now converge, the Sault Ste. Marie branch of the Canadian Pacific crosses the rapids by a fine bridge. These railways have given a great impetus to the towns on both sides of the river, and they are rapidly becoming most important commercial centres and popular summer resorts. On the Canadian side are several large hotels, and a few seasons should see this one of the most frequented of the lake points. While the steamer is passing through the locks passengers have an opportunity of going ashore, getting a glimpse of the busy town, inspecting the locks, the new water-power canal works, and visiting the fine rapids which form a magnificent picture and a famous white-fishing ground between the Canadian and American towns. Running the rapids in an Indian boat is an exciting adventure, indulged in by many visitors.

The tour from Owen Sound to Sault Ste. Marie can be varied by taking the steamer which leaves Owen Sound every Tuesday and Friday, and follows the inland channel among the ten thousand islands north of Manitoulin island, calling at way-ports both on the mainland and Manitoulin and St. Joseph islands, the new hotel resorts, and consuming about two days in a delightful voyage, considered by many to be more attractive than the trip down the River St. Lawrence.

From Sault Ste. Marie a side-trip may be made by steamboat to Mackinac island, Mich., and return. Leaving "The Soo" in the morning, the steamer retraces the former course to the mouth of St. Mary's river—sixty miles of constant delight as the boat winds with the crooked stream in and out among the hills and forested islets. Drummond island, at the mouth of the river, is passed upon the left by way of the Detour strait, after which the steamer turns westward along the northern shore of Lake Huron, passing the curious Chenaux islets, beloved of fishermen and campers, and reaching Mackinac about three in the afternoon.

The praises of Mackinac have been written by many able pens, ever since it first became a trading-post, fort and mission station in the old, old days of Jesuit and fur-trading adventure, when these lakes were first explored by the emissaries of Champlain, and all its wonderful attractions are now rendered easily accessible by the delightful July and August excursions via the Canadian Pacific Railway's handsome lake steamers. The island stands at the western extremity of Mackinaw straits, by which Lakes Michigan and Huron interchange their waters. It contains about three and a half square miles, more than half of which is reserved as a national park and military reservation, occupied by a garrison of U. S. troops. To the Hurons it was the "island of giant fairies" and the home of the numerous legends which Longfellow has woven into his poem Hiawatha. Schoolcraft, the historian of the aboriginies, had his home here, and in his Journal, written in 1820, will be found a large amount of information concerning the locality. "On the edge of a precipice of white limestone, 153 feet high, just back of the town, is the fort, which, in picturesque beauty of location, has no rival among all the fortresses of the United States; and the world affords no grander sight than a sunrise or sunset from the fort, the great globe of crimson and gold seeming at its rising to burst up from the bosom of Michigan Lake, casting a million prismatic tints of glorious light on wave and sky. Arch Rock is one of the wildest, weirdest, sublimest freaks of nature's handiwork in sculpture. The chisel prints of untold ages of whirling waters are all over it. It projects from the face of a cliff 200 feet high, a gigantic bay-window of stone, supported by a mighty arch 149 feet high at its summit. The rim or wall of the bay-window is about three feet wide and it bulges out some twenty feet from the cliff, overhanging the blue-green water of the lake a dizzy depth below. The view from the summit of the arch takes in a glorious sweep of fifty miles. Across a narrow strait Bois Blanc island looms up with its lighthouses, and forests of white birch, while twelve miles off to the north-east can be seen the upper part of the Chenuaux islands, an enchanting archipelago of some seventy-five or eighty islands, varying from two miles in length to mere green specks a few hundred feet across, dotting the crystal waters which rush by, fifteen fathoms deep at the shore, and swarming with whitefish, bass, pickerel, gamey maskinonge and lake trout."

From Sault Ste. Marie, all the other pleasure resorts, fishing stations and lumber ports, in northern Michigan and Wisconsin, can easily be reached by rail or steamer; while the steamers sailing to Chicago and to the various cities and landing places along the shores of Lake Michigan, either stop at Mackinac or at a closely neighboring port. The route by rail from Sault Ste. Marie to St. Paul and Minneapolis, is described in the next section. To Marquette, Ashland and Duluth tickets are issued either by steamer running along the south shore of Lake Superior, or by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Ry.

Leaving Sault Ste. Marie at 11.30 a.m. for Port Arthur, the Canadian Pacific steamship takes its course directly across the widest part of Lake Superior, and early next morning comes within sight of the rocky bluffs of Isle Royale, and the tremendous purple promontory of Thunder cape. This turreted headland shelters the large indentation of Thunder bay and affords a grand harbor, which has been taken advantage of to form the principal ports upon the north shore of the lake—Port Arthur and Fort William. The tourist enjoys an interval of some hours at Port Arthur between the arrival of the steamer and the departure of the west-bound Transcontinental train; and if he cares to stop over here he can find excellent trout-fishing and much other sport and out-door amusement in the neighborhood; or he can go by rail to Nepigon, 65 miles west—to which fishing-resort this lake-tour forms an excellent means of access.

C. "THE SOO" ROUTE.—With the beginning of the tourist season there will be opened a new and direct, and at the same time interesting all rail route by the way of Sault Ste. Marie to St. Paul, Minneapolis, and the Northwest generally. This route is by the main line of the Canadian Pacific westward to Sudbury, thence by their Sault Ste. Marie branch, passengers from Western Ontario reaching Sudbury by way of Toronto and North Bay. Sudbury is 60 miles west of Lake Nipissing and in the midst of rocky hills abounding in copper and gold. The Sault Ste. Marie branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway here diverges and takes a southwesterly course through a broken and forested country, drained by many swift streams in which trout are plentiful, and passes for a hundred miles along the northern shore of Lake Huron, where the scenery is wild and rugged in the extreme.

The St. Mary's river is crossed just above the Sault (or rapids) by a fine steel bridge, 3,000 feet in length, which connects the Canadian and American towns. This locality has already been described, as well as the means of reaching points of interest in its neighborhood.

The new Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Ry., by which this route is continued westward, passes through the northern peninsula of Michigan, long celebrated for its lumbering and mining industries, and as an exceptionally good locality for deer, grouse and fish. The immensity of its forests and the rough beauty of its scenery, and the number of rarely visited waters, make it the beautiful of a hunting ground for those who care to overcome a certain amount of hard work in connection with their sport.

After skirting the northern shore of Lake Michigan and passing Manistique, Gladstone, Pembine, etc., near all of which good sport can be had with grouse, squirrels, and trout, the line crosses the State of Wisconsin through a country varied with dense forest, rolling prairies, large farms and park-like expanses, offering an ever-changing prospect.

The marvels of the "Dalle Country" of Wisconsin are well known, and it must be remembered that that portion of the State is not by any means the only beautiful one. Sportsmen and fishermen can hardly go amiss along this line. Every running stream, and they are surprisingly numerous, is stocked with trout; in the lakes are plenty of bass and lunge; deer are abundant everywhere; bears are common at many points; ruffed grouse and chickens abound in the thickets and on the prairies, and black and grey squirrels are plentiful in the woods. The stations of Rhinelander, Prentice, Cameron and Turtle Lake are all good points, as are many of the smaller stations between them. Fifty-two miles east of the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis is the St. Croix river, with its beautiful dalles and falls; the station is St. Croix Falls, and this spot will well repay a close scrutiny. Sport in the vicinity is also excellent.

The now nearly united cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis are situated at the head of navigation on the Mississippi river, and are the chief cities of Minnesota and the Northwestern States. The immense flour and lumber mills of Minneapolis are known all over the world, and there are many other things to interest the tourist. The scenery is not surpassed by anything in that portion of the States, and, among other attractions, the lovely Lake Minnetonka and the Falls of Minnehaha are close at hand.

Northward from Minneapolis the route follows the line of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Ry. down the valley of the Red River. Manitoba is entered at Gretna, on the left bank of the river, and the stream is closely followed to Winnipeg. Tickets to Pacific coast points, to Banff and to Winnipeg, are issued by this route.

D. "THE SOO" LAKE ROUTE.—In this case the trip is via the Transcontinental line from Montreal to Sudbury, thence southwesterly, for several miles along the shore of the Spanish river, and onward through a wild region to the North Channel, north of Grand Manitoulin island on Lake Huron, to Algoma Mills, where lake steamers call on their way to different ports on Grand Manitoulin and Cockburn islands. Continuing on the route follows the lake shore, crossing several streams, and passing the once famous Bruce mines, where formerly were extensive copper mining operations, and thence through Garden River to Sault Ste. Marie, from which point the trip is completed by Canadian Pacific Railway steamer directly across the widest part of Lake Superior to Port Arthur, as already referred to in route B. At Port Arthur the Transcontinental line for Winnipeg and across the North-West Territories to the Pacific coast is again followed.

E. THE ROUTE VIA CHICAGO.—A fifth choice of routes to the Northwest is offered in the form of a ticket reading to Winnipeg, or beyond, by the way of Chicago. This goes from Montreal to Toronto and St. Thomas, Ont., by Ottawa, or by the direct line of the C.P.R. At St. Thomas, Ont., the Canadian Pacific system is left, and that of the Michigan Central entered upon. This carries the traveller to Windsor, where through cars are taken across the river upon a ferry-boat and attached to the train of the Michigan Central Railroad running from Detroit to Chicago.

This favorite line passes through the most populous and best cultivated part of southern Michigan, traversing many large and handsome towns, each the centre of rich farming and fruit-raising districts, such as Ypsilanti; Ann Arbor, the site of the state university; Jackson, a prominent manufacturing place; Albion and Marshall; Kalamazoo, a railroad centre and fruit market; Niles, noted for the fine peaches and pears grown in its neighborhood; Michigan City, where Lake Michigan is first seen, and whence enormous quantities of lumber are shipped; and enters Chicago at the foot of Lake street.

From Chicago there is a choice of six railroad routes to St. Paul, each giving an excellent opportunity for inspecting the prairie farms which have made the states of Wisconsin and Minnesota rich and powerful commonwealths within the last quarter of a century; while some of the lines, passing for a long distance along the banks of the Mississippi river or some of its larger tributaries, afford a constant succession of most charming pictures. Beyond St. Paul and Minneapolis the route to Winnipeg is the same as that described in route C.

II.

TOURS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

From Vancouver or Victoria steamers depart every three weeks for Japan and China; about every tenth day for Alaska; once a week to other ports on Puget sound, making daily connections at Tacoma with trains for Portland and San Francisco; and daily to Port Townsend, Seattle, Tacoma, and San Francisco.

Tourist-tickets are arranged to reach and return from nearly all these points; while a long list of tours includes a greater or less portion of the Pacific coast in course of returning eastward by some of the American lines of railway referred to hereafter.

A. THE TOUR TO ALASKA.—The tour to Alaska is made from Victoria, in comfortable steamers especially fitted for this trip, and occupies from two to four weeks. The voyage is altogether in the quiet waters of sheltered bays and straits, protected from the gales and great waves of the outer Pacific by the barrier of islands that everywhere form a skirmish line in advance of the mainland of the north Pacific coast.

From Victoria the steamer passes around into the gulf and thence northward, past the great headlands that separate the fiords reaching far inland toward the Cascade mountains, until it reaches the narrow channels that separate the island of Vancouver from the mainland shore. Here lofty hills approach closely to the water's edge, and the steamer pursues its way through devious channels whose banks of living green are within gunshot on either hand. These shores are the dwelling-place of Indians whose curious houses are to be seen along the beach, and whose finely-carved canoes come out to meet the steamer as she passes, or are encountered on their fishing or trading excursions. Metakatla is one of the first stopping places.

GORGE OF THE HOMATHCO RIVER.

Crossing bays and sounds, threading its way through channels sometimes so narrow that the yard-arms of the vessel almost touch the cliffs on one side or the other, and yet deep and safe, the voyager is carried out of British Columbian waters into those of Alaska. Gradually a more sombre and imposing style of scenery supersedes the softer pictures of the lower coast. Rude and lofty mountains, their tops covered with snow, bound the view at the end of every inlet. White masses of decaying ice will be met floating in the water, and presently glaciers are seen pushing downward from the great gulches that separate the mountains until they dip into the very surf at the head of some deep indentation. The farthest point of this wonderful voyage is reached in Icy bay, where a collection of glaciers, filling the hollows of a group of mountains, concentrates into one vast body of ice, presenting a seawall miles in length, whence gigantic masses are continually splitting off to float away as icebergs and melt in the warm water outside. Descriptive language has been almost exhausted in the attempt to portray to those who have not seen it the novelty and sublimity of this far northern bay. Probably there is no part of the world now accessible to tourists which would yield so much satisfaction, for the expenditure of time and money required, as the journey through these archipelagoes and into this home of the glaciers.

On the return voyage Sitka is visited and an entirely new series of islands and channels is seen, as the steamer makes its way from this to that stopping place until Vancouver is again in sight. Many Indian villages, mining settlements and fishing stations are visited, on either the outward or homeward voyage, giving abundant opportunity for fishing, hunting, or collecting Indian curiosities.

B. TO TACOMA, W. T., AND PORTLAND, ORE.—This tour is by steamer from Vancouver or Victoria, up Puget sound to Tacoma, and by rail from Tacoma to Portland.

The boats on Puget sound are fast and elegant steamers, which traverse all parts of this remarkable interior sea, giving varied and most interesting views of the lofty Coast range of mountains, with Baker in the north and Mount Tacoma in the south, rising 14,000 feet above the water, so near at hand that their full height is perceived, and on calm days is brilliantly reflected in the surface of the bay. Port Townsend, the first stopping place, is on the peninsula between Puget sound and the ocean, and nearly at the base of the Olympic mountains. It has a sheltered harbor, a delightful situation and is the port of entry for the district. Seattle, on the eastern shore of the Sound, is the largest town in Washington Territory, and has in its neighborhood extensive coal mines, and boundless forests yielding that gigantic Douglas fir with which the traveller has become familiar in British Columbia. A railway passes from Seattle over the Cascade mountains into the upper valley of the Columbia, and a second is in process of construction northward. Tacoma is a rapidly growing town at the extremity of the Sound, where the main line of the Northern Pacific terminates. It is supported by extensively cultivated valleys, in which the raising of hops is a very important feature, and surrounded by forests that produce vast quantities of lumber; the fisheries of Tacoma and other ports on Puget sound are also important.

From Tacoma the main line of the Northern Pacific extends southward to Kalama, on the Columbia river, where the train is ferried across that noble watercourse. This journey is a very interesting one; and the ferrriage over the Columbia, and subsequent run along its banks into Portland, are particularly delightful. Mount St. Helens, Mt. Hood and many other snowy heights are constantly in view. To Olympia, the capital of Washington Territory, access can be had by rail or steamer from Tacoma.

C. TO SAN FRANCISCO OVERLAND—THE "SIESTA ROUTE."—This new route between Vancouver and San Francisco, opened in 1887, now furnishes a most interesting and comfortable method of travel between Puget sound and California. The passage by steamer and railway from Victoria or Vancouver to Portland, Oregon, has just been described.

Portland is the largest city in Oregon, and has more the appearance of an eastern town than any other on the Pacific coast. Its business is very large, and it is surrounded by an extensive agricultural country, while the lumbering, mining and fishing interests of the whole lower Columbia valley are tributary to its prosperity. the real western terminus of both the Northern and Union Pacific railways, and has several local roads and lines of steamers. Within sight are Mt. Hood and other giants of the splendid Cascade range; and the vicinity offers much that is entertaining and easily accessible.

The overland or "Shasta" route from Portland to San Francisco, 730 miles, is by the Southern Pacific system. The station is in East Portland across the Willamette river from Portland. This river is followed nearly to its source. The valley is broad and highly productive of wheat, fruit and other crops. Salem, the capital of Oregon, and Albany, are the principal stations. Westward lie the rude forest-grown hills of the Coast range, but eastward the Cascades rise far above the forest-line in a snow-capped sierra of volcanic cones, of which the highest are Mts. Hood and Jefferson, the Three Sisters and Mts. Scott and Pitt. As the valley is almost at sea-level these mountains appear to be higher than they really are, while their symmetry and exceeding snowiness make the long range an object of extraordinary beauty. Toward the boundary of California a rougher country, among the Calapooia and Rogue River mountains, is traversed. These rough hills abound in crags and canyons, and are overgrown with luxurious vegetation, giving them great beauty, while their warm valleys are utilized by farms and orchards, concentrating here and there into a line of thriving towns, such as Roseburg, Ashland and Montague.

The most conspicuous feature of the whole trip is now approached, in Northern California—Mt. Shasta. This is the loftiest summit between Mt. Whitney, in the southern part of the state, and Mt. Tacoma on Puget sound; and one of the highest on the continent, its main peak standing 14,442 feet above the sea. The railway passes close to its base, and the cone is in sight for several hours under varying but always beautiful aspects. Sisson's, where breakfast is eaten, and the whole length of Strawberry Valley give particularly fine views of the whole Shasta cluster of peaks; "and whether it be in the steel-gray dawn of morning, when the sun tips the peaks with gold, or in the broad glare of the noonday light, or the warm flush of the fading twilight, here is the point to study Shasta." Shasta is a quiescent volcano, now covered deeply with glaciers and snowfields. It has often been climbed, even by ladies, and guides and appliances for doing so are to be had. July, August and September form the proper season for an ascent; and with suitable precautions the danger is small. There are plenty of most desirable stopping places near Shasta, where sport and every sort of out-door recreation can be enjoyed.

The remainder of the journey is down the picturesque and populous valley of the Sacramento river, to Sacramento, the capital of the state, in the heart of its old gold-mining and present wheat-growing valleys; and thence to Oakland, where a ferry-boat transports the tourist to San Francisco.

D. TO SAN FRANCISCO BY SEA.—This tour is from Vancouver to Victoria, and thence by a steamer of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company is southward on the broad Pacific direct to San Francisco. Three and a half days are required for the passage. The coast is in sight for a good part of the way; but the lofty broken rocks of Cape Flattery, on the southern side of the entrance to the Straits of Fuca, and the Golden Gate are the only features likely to be seen with any distinctness.

III.

ALTERNATE ROUTES RETURNING FROM THE PACIFIC COAST.

An examination of the List of Western Tours printed herewith shows that tickets are issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway good to return by almost every conceivable route. If the Northern Pacific be chosen from Tacoma or Portland, the passenger gets a view of the Columbia valley and has an opportunity to visit Yellowstone Park by stopping off at Livingston, Montana. Returning from Portland by the Union Pacific (Oregon Short Line), he crosses the weird deserts of Idaho, and sees the volcanic canyons of the Snake River country, and the plains of Wyoming and Nebraska.

From San Francisco the return may be by the Shasta route and the Canadian Pacific; or the Shasta route and Northern or Union Pacific from Portland; or by the old "Central-Union" (Southern) Pacific route, via Sacramento, Ogden and Omaha. Or he may take the Southern Pacific to Ogden, and then the Denver & Rio Grande to Denver. This is an especially attractive line. It passes through Salt Lake City, crosses the Wahsatch Mountains; gives a glimpse of the Mormon villages and the curious scenery of the dry Green River basin; and then crosses the Rockies through a series of astonishingly lofty passes and amazingly deep river-gorges, quite different from anything to be seen on any other railway in the United States. From Denver, he may choose one of four routes to the Missouri river.

Through southern California a variety of routes is offered for selection. One, by the Southern Pacific, takes him to Los Angeles, and then across Arizona through the old Mexican settlements and modern mining towns to El Paso in Texas, and so on to Galveston and New Orleans, or to Fort Worth and St. Louis; or he may leave the Southern Pacific at Deming, N.M., and ride over Raton Pass and through Kansas in the cars of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe to Kansas City, or (from Halstead) by the St. Louis & San Francisco to St. Louis. Lastly, he may go by the Southern Pacific from San Francisco to Los Angeles, or Mojave, in southern California, and then by the Atlantic & Pacific, through the strange Indian pueblos and the canyons of northern Arizona and New Mexico to Albuquerque, where this road joins the A. T. & S. F.'s system.

SPECIAL INFORMATION

WESTERN TOURS

Tourists ticketed from points not on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway must begin their journey on that line at either of the following junction points, viz.: Quebec, Montreal, Newport, St. John, Que., Vanceboro, Me., Prescott, Brockville, Toronto, St. Thomas, North Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur or Gretna.

The Time Limit on Tourist Tickets to Vancouver, B.C., Victoria, B.C., Tacoma, W.T., Portland, Ore., and San Francisco, Cal., is six months from the date of purchase, the going journey as far as Vancouver to be made within 60 days from date of purchase. Tourist Return Tickets to Banff Hot Springs are good for six months from date of issue.

The route of Western Tours going or coming by rail between Port Arthur or Sault Ste. Marie and points in Western Ontario, west of Sharbot Lake and Kingston, will be via the Ontario Route, i. e. via the Northern & North-Western Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, between Toronto and North Bay, thence Canadian Pacific Railway; from east of Sharbot Lake and Kingston the route will be All Rail Canadian Pacific Railway via Carleton Junction. Pacific Coast Tours reading from east of Sharbot Lake and Kingston will be made to read either via Carleton Junction or Ontario Route, as passengers may select.

The route of Western Tours from Boston will be by the Montreal & Boston Air Line to Montreal, thence Canadian Pacific Railway; from St. John, N.B., by the New Brunswick Railway to Vanceboro, thence Canadian Pacific Railway New Short Line through Maine.

Rates quoted for Tours returning from Vancouver, Victoria, Tacoma and Portland, Ore., through Gretna, St. Paul and Chicago, will, when desired at time of purchase, be made applicable on Tours returning via Tacoma or Portland and the Northern Pacific Railway to St. Paul, or via Portland and the Union Pacific Railway to Council Bluffs or Kansas City.

Rates quoted for Tours to San Francisco, Cal., returning through St. Paul, will, on request at time of purchase, be made to read back by United States Routes, via Omaha, Kansas City or St. Louis, etc., without additional charge.

Tours reading between St. Paul and the east via Chicago, will, when requested at time of purchase, be made applicable by the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway, thence Canadian Pacific Railway, or via Canadian Pacific Steamship Line to Owen Sound, and Canadian Pacific Railway.

Rates quoted herein for Western Tours from Sault Ste. Marie, unless otherwise stated, will be via Canadian Pacific Steamship Line to Port Arthur, thence as shown in details of route.

Return Tourist Tickets to Port Arthur or any point west thereof, via Port Arthur, will, if desired, be made good to go either via Canadian Rail Routes or via the Lake Routes between Owen Sound and Port Arthur or Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur, and should tourist desire to alter his route on return from Rail to either of the Lake Routes or vice versa, he can do so, without extra charge, on application to agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Port Arthur or Sault Ste. Marie.

Tickets or coupons between Owen Sound and Sault Ste. Marie, and Owen Sound and Port Arthur, in either direction, reading over the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line, will be available for passage between Owen Sound and Sault Ste. Marie either by the Through Canadian Pacific Steamship Line running between Owen Sound and Sault Ste. Marie direct, or by the Local Canadian Pacific Steamship Line running north of Manitoulin Island and calling at intermediate ports.

Berths in Steamships of the Canadian Pacific S.S. Line can be procured through ticket agent when purchasing ticket, or through city ticket offices at Toronto, Port Arthur or Winnipeg.

Berths in Alaska steamships can be procured through ticket agent, from General Passenger Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal.

TO THE THOUSAND ISLANDS AND DOWN THE ST. LAWRENCE.

A MAZE of isles in wondrous beauty planned ;
A thousand times the torrent laves a strand.
Unnumbered channels—seeming each the way,
Fill trying all, the parted waters stray
To murmur softly at each lovely shore
That smiling bars the path, half lost before.

Oh! mighty river, all thine inland seas
With all their marvels, boast not match for these Thick clustered beauties—as though hand had brought Earth's fairest fragments to the common spot,
Or nature's richest chest of jewels rare
Perchance had fallen, burst and scattered there.

Most popular and important of the several miscellaneous routes are those which include a portion of, or the entire trip on the St. Lawrence between Lake Ontario and the city of Quebec. Perhaps there is not on the entire American continent a more beautiful, or a spot better fitted for the purpose of spending a summer's vacation, than the wonderful collection of islands that mark the exit of the surplus waters of the great inland seas from Lake Ontario, upon their magnificent journey to the Atlantic by way of the St. Lawrence. Combinations of railway and steamboat transportation are so arranged along the river that the tourist is enabled to see Kingston, the Thousand Islands, Brockville, Prescott, Ogdensburg, the various rapids, Montreal; and the Ottawa river below the city of Ottawa is also included among the trips by steamer.

Journeying eastward, the first point of special interest is the fortified harbor of Kingston, with its forts and martello towers, and the "Limestone City" which occupies the site of old Fort Frontenac, one of the French outposts in early days, and the scene of many stirring incidents of pioneer history. Kingston contains many objects of interest, and its pleasant surroundings make it a place where a day can be very well spent.

East below Kingston, Lake Ontario contracts into the funnel-shaped head of the St. Lawrence, enclosing the uncounted islets, great and small, which go by the name of the Thousand Islands. This great watery funnel is no mean representation of a vast cornucopia with its treasures all revealed. Between these thickly-scattered isles, channels wander in every direction, some contracted and with swift foaming currents, and others still and deep and shadowy, forming favorite haunts for great black bass and huge maskinonge.

AMONG THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.

The trip by steamer among these islands lasts for several hours, and for scenic effects and variety of picturesque views it is simply unrivalled. It is unique and without a parallel in the world. The international boundary line between Canada and the States is laid in mid-stream, thus dividing the ownership of the islands between both countries. While many of them might as well be situated in an unexplored wilderness for all the trace of civilization they show, a great proportion of the larger ones bear the handsome summer residences of wealthy people, and at different points grand hotels have been erected, the most popular of them being surrounded by cottages, and presenting the appearance of thriving villages, while the snowy tents of camping and picnicing parties are here, there, and everywhere upon the smaller isles as the fancy of their occupants dictates. All the great hotels and the most imposing summer residences are upon the American side, but it does not follow that the portion south of the international line is the finest; on the contrary, it is now universally acknowledged that on the Canadian side are found the most beautiful scenery, by far the best fishing, and the most desirable sites for camp or cottage, and it bids fair soon to attract the greater number of visitors.

At certain centres of these transient communities are landings for the steamers and objective points for the traveller, the first of them being at Round island, which lies opposite Clayton N.Y., and boasts a fine hotel and quite a number of cottages. This was formerly the scene of a large Baptist camp-meeting. A few miles further on, and in the very heart of the archipelago, is Thousand Island Park, one of the most popular resorts on the river, and specially patronized by Canadians. Approaching the park there is a beautiful view from the steamer, of crystal water and island after island, stretching away far as eye can see, until they appear to form an unbroken coast-line.

Thousand Island Park began as a religious summer encampment, under the charge of a Methodist organization, which purchased a large territory at the head of Wellesley island. Since 1875 nearly 400 cottages and several hotels have been built there, also an immense tabernacle for worship on Sunday and for lectures, concerts, and the instruction of classes during week days; but the enjoyment of yachting, boating, fishing and flirting takes up much more time among all the visitors and residents than does attention to the season's instructive exercises. At the lower end of this same island is another hotel settlement named Westminster Park, under the influence of the Presbyterian church.

A beautiful and devious run of half a dozen miles further takes the steamer to Alexandria Bay—the very centre of summer life in the Thousand Islands. As a summer resort Alexandria Bay is fairly entitled to the name of the "Saratoga of the St. Lawrence." It is one of the most popular watering-places in America, and among its cottage owners and regular visitors are many who have distinguished themselves on every road to eminence. "Its summer hotels are among the most commodious and attractive to be found anywhere, while private cottages and villas have sprung up on every available site, both on the shore, and on all the islands near."

From Alexandria Bay onward the steamer passes through the most fashionable part of this island group. Residences are elegant in style and sometimes very costly. In general the owner of each fine house occupies the whole of an islet, to which he has given some appropriate or fanciful name. Often this name is painted upon a signboard which can be read from the steamer's deck, or, upon gala evenings, when the whole community of islands is illuminated and the water is alive with boats and yachts decorated with colored lanterns, these titles are blazoned forth in some device of lights legible for many miles across the reflecting water.

The last or most easterly of the 'Thousand Islands are called the Three Sisters, on account of their resemblance and proximity to each other, and are nearly opposite Brockville, a delightfully situated town on the north bank of the river and the terminus of the Ottawa & Brockville branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

From Brockville the branch railway alluded to runs northward to Smith's Falls and Carleton Junction, where it unites with the main line of the Canadian Pacific; and certain tourist tickets read over this line to Ottawa.

The straightest route between Ottawa and the St. Lawrence, however, is by the line to Prescott, a river-town twelve miles below Brockville, and one of the prettiest in Canada. Immediately opposite is the flourishing city of Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Shortly after leaving Prescott, on the voyage down the river, the tourist gets the first inkling of the great feature of this trip, i.e., running rapids. The current increases in a marked degree, and soon the steamer enters Les Galloper, insignificant in themselves, except as a hint of what is to come. Rapid de Plau is next negotiated, and almost immediately comes a thrill of excitement as a wild turmoil of waters ahead marks the beginning of the famous Long Sault, the longest of the rapids, presenting a continuous descent for nine miles with a current rushing down twenty miles an hour. miles long, with seven locks, offers safe passage for such craft as dare not try the "shoot," and also permits the passage of the steamers on the upward trip. There are also four similar canals at other points. But our vessel is already feeling the full power of the stream, and after the first startling thrill of this sliding down a water steep comes a feeling of intense excitement which never abates during the half hour's run of the Long Sault. Like the first experience of the arrowy rush of the toboggan, running the rapids of the St. Lawrence produces a sensation that cannot be described, but must be felt to be understood.

Sweeping down the Long Sault, the steamer enters lovely Lake St. Francis, and as the craft steadies upon quiet water the passenger feels a mingling of regret and relief that the rapids are done with for the time. A straight run of twenty-five miles gives ample time for a comfortable dinner and a study of the landscape, and then we prepare for another flying race with the waters. Passing Coteau du Lac, the Coteau rapids are descended and we speed on to the Cedars, Split Rock, and Cascade rapids. Running the Cedars is sure to startle the novice. At one point the boat appears to stagger and then suddenly settle down as though she meant to stay there, which never fails to quicken the blood of the most callous passenger aboard. This strange effect is presumably owing to a fierce undercurrent catching the boat as she slides on her watery cushion from one ledge of rock to another. There is no danger in it, but it invariably gives the novice a big surprise. The passage of Split Rock rapids also seems to the inexperienced a suicidal attempt, but the pilot knows the channel perfectly and just when the crisis seems imminent a turn of the wheel sends the boat safely past what looked very like disaster. Sometimes passengers are treated to the interesting spectacle of a raft making the descent. The hardy lumbermen take it as a matter of course and generally come through all right, but occasionally a wreck results. After running the cascades, so-called from their resemblance to a series of short, leaping falls, we enter the enlargement of the river known as Lake St. Louis, which also receives the current of the Ottawa. This lake is twelve miles long by nearly six wide, and during this quiet stretch we prepare for the crowning exploit of the entire trip—for the next and last great obstacle is just ahead—the far-famed Lachine rapids. An Indian pilot takes charge of the steamer at Lachine, in whose practised hands the vessel can laugh at the wrath of the torrent, and immediately after passing the stately steel bridge of the Canadian Pacific Railway (referred to elsewhere) the first powerful influence is felt of the current that plunges in foamy speed down the incline below. One of the best features of this route is that the excitement steadily increases with the journey until it culminates with the exhilarating dash down the wild turmoil of Lachine's angry water. Though apparently exceedingly dangerous the passage is in reality perfectly safe, but the suggestion of peril adds an additional zest to the undertaking. The pilot is an interesting study as the steamer begins the flying race. He stands with all an Indian's stoical indifference, his strong hands grasping the wheel and his keen eyes reading the tumult of waters and tracing the path as easily as you or I might read a book. Not a rap cares he for the huge rocks that frown above the flood nor their fellows ambushed behind the snowy foam. He has iron nerve and the confidence born of long practice and a perfect knowledge of the channel, and he attaches but slight importance to the task of guiding the vessel to the calm of quiet water below. What to the tourist is a blood stirring, intensely interesting adventure, is to him merely a matter of business, and so you dart down the daring rush, feeling a joyous excitement and wishing the "shoot" was many miles longer, while the pilot merely holds the boat to her course till the dash is ended and he and you are again in smooth water and the rapids are left behind. The actual running of the Lachine rapids is alone well worth the trip, for a like experience cannot be enjoyed elsewhere; it is a popular amusement with citizens of Montreal. Below the rapids the boat glides smoothly along, passing Victoria bridge, and thence onward to her wharf at Montreal.

II.

TORONTO TO OTTAWA, MONTREAL AND QUEBEC; THE OTTAWA RIVER.

There are several tours which take in Ottawa and Montreal in their course, the trip from Toronto being by way of Peterboro', Sharibet Lake Junction, Perth and Carleton Junction to Ottawa—a distance of about 250 miles.

From Toronto to Peterboro' the way lies through a well-farmed country, a far-spreading succession of fields and orchards of widely-known reputation as one of the finest grain and fruit producing sections in Canada, and sharing with portions of the Niagara peninsula and the rich lands of Kent and neighboring counties, the proud title of "Garden of Ontario." Peterboro' is one of the best large towns in Canada, strong in a business sense, and an excellent point from which to start upon a canoe voyage, or a jaunt into the woods. The Otonabee river, a rapid and pretty stream, runs through the town and its swift current furnishes power for many busy mills. Considering the grand chain of lakes within easy reach it is not surprising that here originated that matchless craft for the sportsman, the Rice-lake canoe. Canoeing is a prominent feature among the amusements of the sport-loving community, and from Peterboro' some famous hunting grounds, a great chain of lakes and the river Trent, some of the finest waters in the country for black bass and maskinonge, are easily accessible. By this beautiful water-highway in bygone times came the Huron warriors of Champlain on their bloody raid into the Iroquois strongholds, and the route they followed is yet one of the most tempting to the sportsman or angler who loves the silent craft and the solitudes of the forest.

Eastward from Peterboro' the country is comparatively sparsely settled and rough, most of it under heavy forest, with numerous streams and lakes—a fine territory for the rod and rifle. At Sharbot lake, one of the best resorts for camping parties in the country, and a noted place for fishing and duck and grouse shooting in the fall, the line of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway is crossed, and from thence on to Ottawa the road again traverses a fine agricultural country. Ottawa, the capital city, is a most interesting point, the magnificent government buildings situated upon a high bluff; the romantic walk that clings to and in parts is hewn from the face of the rocks; the view of the canal and locks in operation; the Chaudiere falls, and the immense lumber businesses, etc., etc., are all extremely interesting, and will make a day spent rambling about the Capital a very pleasant experience.

Leaving Ottawa to continue the journey east, the route crosses the river within sight of the Chaudiere falls, and then follows the north bank of the Ottawa river, running along a natural terrace some distance above the stream, affording a fine view of the broad Ottawa valley. Near Buckingham are the pretty falls of the Lievre, spanned by the railway bridge, and at other points swift streams rush down from the hills, forming handsome cataracts. These streams are all crossed by the road, and on their upper waters excellent fishing may be enjoyed. At Calumet the rolling hills, that shut in the prospect to the north of the line, approach closely to the Ottawa river in a series of high promontories that present a striking effect. Calumet is the station for Caledonia Springs, a spot greatly favored by Canadians on account of the valuable medicinal properties of the waters and the facilities for holiday pleasure. The springs are on the south side of the river, and are reached by taking the ferry to L'Original, and thence by stage eight miles. The remainder of the run to Montreal is through a quiet pastoral country, neat farm succeeding farm. At St. Martin's Junction the line branches off for Quebec. Tourist tickets permit of direct journey or a visit in to Montreal.

MONTREAL FROM THE RIVER.

From Montreal to Quebec the journey is continued down the north shore of the St. Lawrence, and the tourist will find much of interest in a study of the landscape. At many points the scenery is wildly picturesque, and all along the line can be observed abundant traces of the primitive French methods that marked the early settlement of this region. Numerous noted fishing waters are crossed, for this is one of the best localities for the angler of all the many good points in the province of Quebec. Perhaps one of the most interesting points of the entire route is St. Leon Springs, where the famous medicinal waters of that name are obtained. These springs are situated on the banks of the Riviere du Loup, about five miles from Louiseville station, where Concord stages meet all trains. The merits of the saline St. Leon water are such that each season sees a goodly gathering at this pretty rural resort, many of the visitors being Montrealers, but quite a number come from more distant points. Ample accommodation will be found there, and in addition to its curative waters, the surroundings of St. Leon are quiet and restful, and admirably calculated to please. Fairly good fishing can be had close at hand. Many families spend the summer at the Shawanegan Falls hotel, a commodious, well-managed hostelry reached from Three Rivers, or Lac a la Tortue, at which latter station the hotel conveyances meet all regular trains. The remainder of the route to Quebec is through country similar to that already referred to.

QUEBEC FROM THE RIVER.

Those desirous of a change from this all-rail pilgrimage can enjoy a delightful variety by taking steamer at Ottawa and voyaging down the Ottawa river to the St. Lawrence, and down the latter river to Montreal and Quebec. Going by one of the Ottawa River Navigation Company's steamers you will start early in the morning, and as the boat swings into midstream, the rocky bluff crowned by the government buildings presents a picture that cannot fail to please. The gigantic lumber yards on each side of the river, and the Chaudiere falls and timber slides are sure to interest a stranger, and lower down the lumbering towns of Gatineau, Buckingham, Rockland, Thurso, and Papineauville are passed in succession, the last named perpetuating the name of one of the great Canadian politicians of the past. At Montebello, and below, some of the most picturesque scenery of that part of the country is revealed, and at noon Greenville, on the north side of the river, is reached. At this point furious rapids prevent the further passage of the boat, and passengers disembark and make a half hour's run by rail to Carillon, where a second steamer awaits them and the trip is continued. The next stopping-place is the village of Rigaud, in the province of Quebec, and below that is Point aux Anglais, where the first of a very picturesque array of scenery begins, and it steadily improves until the landing at Como, on the south side of the Lake of Two Mountains, is reached. Looking across the lake the north shore stretches away in a grand succession of lofty hills, and directly opposite is the Indian village of Oka at the foot of Mount Calvary, a rounding height with several curious old shrines upon its summit, which are visited on certain occasions by pilgrims from far and near. A little east of it is a smaller hill, upon which is a monastery of Trappist monks, who lead a most secluded life, finding occupation in tilling a large farm and tending their extensive orchards. The population of Oka is principally composed of Iroquois and Algonquin Indians, remnants of those once powerful nations.

Close to the juncture of the Ottawa with the St. Lawrence is the village of Ste. Anne's on the northern shore. This was once a landing place for the hardy voyageurs who scoured the waters of the Upper Ottawa in quest of the rich furs and peltries that then formed the staple product of the country; and it was at this point that Moore got the insight into the life of the trapper and voyageur which prompted him to write his musical Canadian boat-song. The Canadian Pacific "direct line between Montreal and Toronto crosses the river here, and the fine bridge spanning the stream will be noticed. A short distance below Ste. Anne's the brown waters of the Ottawa join the clear current of the St. Lawrence, and the eye can follow the discolored water for a long time before it finally mingles entirely and is lost in the great river. A short run from the mouth of the Ottawa brings us to Lachine, where a number of people, who have come out from Montreal to make the descent of the rapids, are waiting, and in a few moments the steamer is making the exciting dash already noticed. From Montreal to Quebec the steamer makes a night trip, but the departure and arrival are so timed that the best of the scenery is visible at either end of the journey. A particularly fine view is afforded, as the boat moves down stream, of Montreal, the mountain, and the great water-front, the islands and banks of the river, and other points, and further down Three Rivers. The beautiful enlargement of the St. Lawrence, known as Lake St. Peter, and the mouth of the Jacques Cartier river, are successfully passed. The latter stream flows down from the north, and is quite a noted salmon river. Here, and all along both shores, henceforth, are relics and legends of the romantic and belligerent history of the early days of the province, and each headland has some old battery or monument, with many a legend of missionary zeal or knightly courage. Sillery and Cape Rouge, covered with villas, then tower up upon the left, while on the right are the steamboat wharves of South Quebec and Liverpool. Then the steamer turns toward the city, and moors to her wharf under the shadow of the great cliff and its citadel.

III.

TO NIAGARA FALLS, BUFFALO, AND CHAUTAUQUA LAKE.

To attempt to give a description of Niagara's stupendous cataract in such a work as this would be sheer folly. Some of the greatest word-painters have tried to portray it and signally failed to do justice to their subject; poets have sung of it, but the grandest flights of fancy in prose or poetry convey but a faint idea of the awful majesty of the scene. At first sight the falls are disappointing; you go expecting you hardly know what and find a mighty torrent tumbling over a precipice of rock, and for a few moments you feel a vague dissatisfaction, a sort of idea that someway the spectacle is not what it was represented to be; but you will never carry that idea away from the spot where you sit. The great breadth of the falls deceives you at first and prevents you from realizing their full height and power. But, as you watch the waters falling down in that awful plunge that has lasted for ages and will last for ages to come until the slow-yielding barrier of rock is finally eaten away, the mysterious power of Niagara seizes you and thrills you with an indescribable sensation of awe and reverence; you hear the thunderous voice of the flood commanding unqualified homage; you feel the solid rock beneath you trembling and vibrating in response to that awful force, and, as thousands have done before, you yield to the magnetism of the scene, and worship mutely at this, nature's most magnificent shrine in all the civilized world. Travellers tell us that there are even grander falls than this; that away in the "Dark Continent" great rivers plunge headlong into the very bowels of the earth, with a power and tumult that out-does the crowning glory of America, but you will not see them, so rest content with the magnificence before you, satisfied that in studying the falls by day, and if such is your good fortune, watching their changeful glories by moonlight, you have seen the spectacle of the world.

The tourist tickets issued by the Canadian Pacific to the falls and return, read from Toronto by steamer across Lake Ontario to Lewiston wharf. The return may be the same way, or by rail, through, Hamilton.

The steamers' wharf in Toronto is close to the railway station, and the two hours' trip is an exceedingly pleasant sail by either of the two boats. One is the Chicora, an old favorite, which now runs to Niagara and Lewiston, making two trips daily; or the new Clyde-built side-wheel steamer Cibola, which also makes two daily trips between Toronto, Niagara town and Lewiston wharf. The view of Toronto harbor and city gained in going out, or in coming into port, is one of the finest in the whole circuit of the Great Lakes; and the gradual approach to the American shore is highly entertaining. At the mouth of the Niagara river the bluffs overlooking the lake and the old-fashioned village of Youngstown, are crowned by fortifications, now more picturesque than formidable. The opposite point, on the Canadian side, is occupied by Niagara town and old Fort George.

Three miles above is the creek-mouth where the Canadian troops crossed over to attack Fort Niagara in 1812; and a little above that is Vrooman's point.

For seven miles the river thus winds between high wooded banks, whose monotony is continually interrupted by some historic point, shaky fort or old-time mansion, while the bluffs are everywhere planted with the fruit trees for which this locality is famous. Then Queenston heights, where was fought the great battle of the War of 1812, in which Brock lost his life, comes into sight, and all eyes are riveted upon the columnar monument, 190 feet high, commemorating that brave officer. At Lewiston, N.Y., opposite these heights, the steamer reaches the head of navigation and makes its landing.

The railway cars running from Lewiston wharf to Niagara Falls are built in an open "excursion" style, allowing a free view of the great gorge of the river along whose brink the railway runs, past the whirlpool, until the noble cataract itself becomes most admirably visible.

In connection with these observation trains, the Niagara Navigation Co. run a special river steamer between Lewiston and Niagara, which offers the traveller an opportunity to inspect some of the most picturesque scenery in America, and the various points of historical interest on the river, including the Niagara gorge, whirlpool rapids, Brock's monument, Queenston heights, etc., etc. No trip to Niagara Falls is complete unless it includes this fascinating cruise by steamer from Lewiston to Niagara.

By taking the first morning boat from Toronto, the tourist may have quite time enough at Niagara Falls to see all the special features of the Cataract, the Rapids, Goat Island, the bridges and the villages on both sides of the falls, and return to Toronto the same evening; or he may go on to Buffalo and Chautauqua lake. It is to be remembered that the vicinity of the falls is now a public park, and no charges or tolls are collected of any sight-seer.

Thirty miles beyond the falls is Buffalo, the largest city on the Great Lakes, except Chicago, and which ranks among the leading centres of commerce in all America. A dozen great railroads, the Erie Canal and unlimited shipping concentrate here, making the city busy and rich. The situation is a fine one, and some of the residence streets, shaded by noble trees, compare with the best in any rival town. A day can be spent most profitably in Buffalo by even the most casual traveller.

Chautauqua lake is the seat of a successful summer school and pleasure resort on the bank of one of the most charming lakes in western New York. It is laid out in streets, lawns, groves, water-fronts and play-grounds. A tabernacle, music hall, lecture rooms, etc., have been built for the use of the students who assemble here from all parts of the United States and Canada for a judicious and most successful commingling of recreation and study. Many of the most distinguished preachers, teachers, musicians and artists in the country give lectures and courses of instruction; and every form of intellectual entertainment and rational amusement which can be suggested, is enjoyed. A fine hotel is among the advantages of this notable place, which deserves to be visited, if only for a brief period, by every tourist.
