A SAMPLE BOTTLE OF THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY OFTEN SHOWS SURPRISING RESULTS

I suffered severely from my kidneys and bladder for over a year and finally I became so bad I could not turn in bed and had to have help. I was obliged to arise very often in the night. I sent for a free sample bottle of your Swamp-Root and I was never more surprised to find it to receive so much help from such a small quantity of medicine. After taking Swamp-Root for some time, I feel like a new man, my nerves and nervousness and dizziness also disappeared. I am now in my eightieth year and very few people of my age enjoy as good health as I am now enjoying as a result of using your great medicine Swamp-Root. I cannot recommend it too highly.

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)

According to popular idea in America, every Frenchman is entitled to wear a bit of red ribbon in his button-hole. It may be of interest, therefore, to state that the total number of knights of the Legion of Honor, who are alone entitled by law to adorn the button-hole of the label of their coat with a bit of red ribbon, is, according to the latest official records, 47,757, of whom nearly forty per cent. are foreigners.

The order is distributed with a far greater amount of freedom among foreigners than among Frenchmen. Most foreign secretaries of embassy and legation, when leaving Paris, after having been stationed there, have it awarded to them as a sort of parting gift. Foreigners who have rendered services to the French government and to the French nation receive it, in their own right, as a mark of appreciation on their behalf. Foreigners who give their services free of cost, as jurors at international exhibitions in France, or who have secured a particularly large sum in showing their manufactures at French exhibitions, also have crosses of the Legion of Honor accorded to them, and so do nearly all the courtiers in attendance on foreign royalties visiting Paris.

But with the Frenchman it is different. True, there has been a considerable amount of state distributing the Legion of Honor to editors and journalists, whose support is needed by the government of the day, also to playwrights who are feared for their power of producing plays satirizing and ridiculing the administration. Cabinet ministers are also in the habit of recommending to the Legion of Honor rich young men who have given them their services as private secretaries, or as "attache" au cabinet du ministre, without pay.

But, save in the case of these three categories, the cross is sufficiently difficult to obtain, that its possession constitutes a real distinction.

To begin with, no Frenchman can get it until his past has been investigated, and his antecedents are found to be clean. Moreover, he forfeits the cross if guilty of any conduct that is criminal, or even merely dishonorable, in the eyes of the public.

It is worthy of note that a number of the native non-commissioned officers and soldiers in Algeria, in Western and Central Africa, are decorated with the Legion of Honor.

In the army and the navy the cross of the Legion of Honor carries with it a special pension, and throughout the world it is considered the possession of the red ribbon ensures one more than ordinary consideration on the part of the authorities.

His and even ordinary citizens of high and low degree. In French provincial towns and villages, the red ribbon usually brings the wearer a salute from soldiers, sailors, police, coastguards, gendarmes, etc. When a member of the Legion of Honor is in France, no matter whether he is a Frenchman or a foreigner, he is entitled to the presence of the militia at his funeral; a company of infantry for a mere chevaller, a regiment for a commander, a brigade for a grand officer, and an entire division for a knight grand cross, and the troops presenting arms on the passage of the hearse, and then passing by the coffin in reverse order; the dead legionary, indeed, holding the reverend.

Crack Polo Player: Dead

Great Britain's crack polo players have sustained a heavy loss through the death of Lord Aberdour, who was also a conspicuous figure on the turf, and on steeplechase tracks. He was the eldest son and heir of the fourteenth Earl of Morton, who is the chief of one of the younger branches of the historic house of Douglas, which has so many representatives in the United States.

Among his ancestors is Sir William Douglas of Aberdour Castle, which latter has been in the possession of the family ever since it was founded in the early part of the fourteenth century, and who was known in Scotch history as "the flower of chivalry." Another member of the family was Sir Walter Scott in his romantic role by Sir Walter Scott in his novel "Mary Queen of Scots" escape from Loch Leven and who has been portrayed in so many a picture.

Lord Aberdour was a young man of Waverley mind dealing with that episode, upon Sir James Douglas in 1487, on the occasion of his marriage to Princess Joanna, the dead dumb daughter of King James I. of Scotland. Two sons and a daughter were born to the union. The fourth Earl of Morton was Regent of Scotland and was executed for high treason in 1581. The attainer was subsequently reversed, his honors revived, and his estates restored to the heir of entail, his nephew, Archibald.

The sixth Earl Morton had custody of Queen Mary during her imprisonment at Loch Leven Castle. In fact, the Earls of Morton have figured in nearly every page of Scotch history, and I may add that it is from this branch of the Douglas family that the Swedish and the German royal families are descended; their ancestors having been Sir James Douglas.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"SHE was far too good and honorable a woman to care a particle about truth—she suffered if it was necessary to the happiness of others that it should be so."—De Morgan.

The speaker folded her letter with an air of conscious reticence. She is a young school marm. She was writing to one of her little pupils who is devoted to her. The little girl was seriously ill with a disease that threatened to blind her for life.

I wonder if the Recording Angel put down a very big and shining white mark for that display of reticence.

The little married lady who has been wearing her trousseau for three years acquired a new gown the other day. She has been saving for and planning and thinking about this gown for months. And when it came, it was a MESS—no other word could possibly describe it.

Yes, I can see some of my readers shivering in shocked surprise and saying, "What's this? Is Ruth Cameron advising me to tell lies to please people?" I shouldn't put it just that way.

But I certainly do think that there are some lies that are more forgivable than some truth telling.

I once knew a horse trader who, contrary to precedent, was known and honored in the community as a thoroughly honest man. He was telling me once how he had in the community, "I never tell any lies," Miss Cameron," he said. "I just put the horse's best foot forward. I say he has a fine coat and good knee action, except, really I slept his head, but I don't mention any of his poor points except, of course, really I sleep his head and I never had one turned back on me."

There are many kinds of honesty. There is the honesty that sees defects with pitiless eyes and mentions them with a consciousness of virtue.

There is also an honesty that sees even the jewel in the toad's head and knows when to be silent and when to speak.

Of course this doctrine is one that can easily be distorted to wrong and selfish ends. But the little heart of us that knows when we are doing wrong, no matter how cleverly we try to deceive it with some intellectual justification, tells us when we do that.

So you won't misuse my doctrine that way, will you?

REBELLION SPREADING

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weakness, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-stimulates the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better. But if you are thinking of the care not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

The women, many of them prominent in church circles, object but when told that they would, for their nominations by refusing to sign for trustees and flip coins, with the result it overcame their own.

Valparaiso, Chile, Oct. 24.—Replying to what is described here as the Bellone attitude of Peru, Chile has repurchased the British battleship Triumph and Swiftsure and the papers suggest that another vessel of the dreadnought type be built. The ships were intended for the Chilean navy, but were acquired by the British government in December 1902, while still in the yards of their English builders. Troops are embarking for the Northern frontier. CIVIL SERVICE Dr. G. U. STUBBORN FIGHT Affair at Benghazi Between Italians and Turks and Arabs Was Serious London, Oct. 24.—The correspondents of the London Times and other English papers at Tripoli, have been reporting by way of Malta, that the affair at Benghazi was much more serious than the Italian censorship had permitted to be known. The Italian fleet under rear Admiral Arseno, bombarded Benghazi on October 19. The Turks had refused to surrender and with aid of Arabs made a stubborn resistance. According to a despatch direct from Benghazi, which came through on the day following, the Italians landed 4,000 men, but at the close of the first day they had not been able to occupy the town. A despatch from Tripoli says that the Turks refused to battle at night and were defeated; the Italians occupying the city in the morning. It was officially stated that the casualties were numerous but no details on this point escaped the Italian censorship.

TALK OF ELECTION TWO YEARS HENCE Ottawa, Oct. 24.—There is belief in some quarters that the navy plebiscite may be coupled with a general election a couple of years hence, after a redistribution bill is put through. It is argued that if the government is going to the expense of taking a vote upon the navy it would be unfair not to take advantage of the opportunity to give the west the additional representation to which redistribution will entitle it.

CHINA IS UP TO DATE

The latest news from China should have the effect of relaxing for home mission work large funds that are now devoted to the work in the foreign field. There is no further need of missionaries in China.

The proof of this statement is found in letters received in Toronto, setting forth the cause of the present rebellion in China. It appears that a local syndicate in the province of Sze Chuen decided to build a railway. After getting the people to subscribe many millions of dollars the work of construction was begun.

But the money, we are told, was recklessly wasted. No doubt some members of the syndicate had visited America and familiarized themselves with the method of railway building in Christian countries. At all events the money had soon disappeared and the people were still without a railway.

The facts were brought to the attention of the government at Peking. As a result the government decided to build the railway as a government work. The syndicate objected.

But a foreign loan of $30,000,000 to carry on the work, the syndicate saw its opportunity. It appealed to the patriotism of the people. They were going to sell their country? Would they dispose of their birthright for a mess of pottage? Would they betray the old flag? Could they not see that the foreign devils in lending this money were really promoting the annexation of western China to their own territory? Would the loyal sons of China stand for annexation?

Canadians, having in mind the recent federal elections, can clearly understand the effect of this appeal. Of course the people would not sell their country. Of course they would not be turned from the path of duty and patriotism by what Sir William Van Horne would term five cent considerations. They would be loyal to the old flag. Therefore they rose in rebellion against the government which proposed to develop the country, and rallied to the standard of the "interests" which wanted the home market for borrowed money and spenders to be developed.

No doubt the orators of the syndicate, referring to the United States as one of the countries with money to lend, were able to dig up some remarks by Champ Clark or President Taft, to prove that the sole object of the Americans was the acquisition of new territory under the stars and stripes.

And now the rebellion is in full progress. Could we have done it better in Christian-Canada? Should we not take off our hats to the political financiers of Sze Chuen?

There is still another evidence that the people of China do not need foreign teachers to instruct them. In a battle near Hankow the imperial troops shelled the enemy. After the fray some of the shells were picked up and examined. They were made of wood. The contractor had received the price of steel, but had supplied wood. Could a Canadian government contractor and government inspectors display a more intricate knowledge of the science of government as it is developed in Christian lands?

Bert Hart's characterization of the "Heathen Chinese" as peculiar no longer applies. He is not only modern but strictly up to date. He will soon be sending out missionaries.

ART IN CANADA

It is gratifying to be told that art is making satisfactory progress in Canada, despite the absorption of the people to so great a degree in the affairs of industry, commerce and material development. Referring to the art event of the year, the exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy to be opened in Toronto on Nov. 23, a Montreal critic says:

"It is, or rather has been, for us a learning battle, the custom among certain people to disparage Canadian art but not to be said without prejudice that the best of our exhibitions compare most favorably with exhibitions in the old world."

The writer, during the past summer, visited the principal exhibitions in London and Paris, and the thought was brought home with renewed vigor that the Canadian people have good reason to be proud of the exceedingly good work that is being done by leading Canadian artists. More and more the buyers of pictures are turning appreciative eyes towards Canadian canvases, and it will soon be, if it is not already, the mark of a narrow and uneducated mind to belittle home art."

With the increase of wealth in the country greater encouragement will be given to the fine arts, and in time Canadian art will give fuller expression to the genius of the Canadian people.

The Montreal Star advises Mr. Borden not to disturb the present harbor commission at that port, to whose splendid work a high tribute is paid.

The Montreal Star is still talking about "the Taft plot for the capture of Canada." The Star knows perfectly well that there was no plot, and no desire on the part of Taft to capture Canada. Why continue the tactics of the yellow journal?

At the laying of the cornerstone of a garden city or suburb outside London, Mr. John Burns said:—"The object of these garden suburbs is an attempt to bring the country and the garden into the town, and by judicious amalgamation of both to secure not only for the working classes, but for the whole of the people irrespective of class, something more tolerable, more decent, more beautiful and more human than the collections of all sorts that had been dumped in and about London in the past hundred years."

Mayor Guerin of Montreal is anxious to see a movement started to clear up the slums of that city and provide working people with model tenements. Some of the existing conditions, as described in the press, are certainly disgraceful, and a menace to the public health. There is great wealth in Montreal. Why should the slums be tolerated?

Discussing civic improvement a Toronto weekly says: "For all Canadian cities there should be a general plan of improvements which are to be made or which may be made during the next twenty-five years. This will prevent useless undertakings, ensure orderliness and timeliness in all undertakings, and prevent extravagance. The course of civic government is its improvement, yearly programme and lack of continuity."

The Canadian Courier intimated that the sincerity of Mr. Borden, in his professions concerning the civil service, would be tested in the appointment of the postmaster of Montreal. The assistant postmaster was described as a most competent official, who should be promoted. But the office has gone to a politician, the Hon. L. O. Taillon. Mr. Borden, therefore, has not established a precedent.

A film sent from the New York makers to a moving picture house in Toronto showed the rescue of a drowning man. The launch which effected the rescue had the American flag at the stern. The proprietor of the Toronto house sent back the film with instructions to "cut out the stars and stripes." Apparently a hero is not a hero in Toronto if he is an American. Nice town, Toronto.

There are some hundreds of millions of people in China who are going about their business without the slightest fear concerning the safety of the empire. They, perhaps, do not know that there has been some fighting at Hankow. Until hundreds of millions have been heard from, it would perhaps be wise not to become excited over the prospect of a successful revolution in China.

If the authorities of the State of Maine some years ago had caused the arrest of "Elijah" Sanford, the head of the Holy Ghost and U.S. Society, and given him a life term in an institution from which he could not escape, they would have done humanity and religion good service. Such a man should be treated either as a criminal or a lunatic, and prevented from wielding a baneful influence over ignorant and superstitious people. The sacredness of individual liberty—should not be invoked to shield a man whose influence leads a great number of people to abandon common sense, and pursue a course injurious to themselves and of no benefit to anybody. The cruise of the schooner Coronet was the maddest pilgrimage in all the annals of religious frenzy."

A Conservative paper informs its readers that in the appointment of Mr. R. E. Leonard by the Borden government as chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission it was "purely a case of the office seeking the man." Also it was a case of the man seeking the office, since Mr. Leonard was after the position when the commission was first appointed. Since he wanted the office, and it now develops that the office wanted him, it was only necessary for Mr. Borden to bring them together. Mr. Leonard is described as a very rich man, who cares nothing about salary, and desires only to serve his country. How like Mr. Sifton or Sir William Van Horne. Also how blessed is the country that has so many millionaires willing to be sacrificed on the altar of patriotism.

WEDDING OF INTEREST HERE

Cumberland Bay, Oct. 21—A wedding which has been looked forward to with much interest, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam. E. Barton, on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at five o'clock p. m., when their second daughter, Myrtle Ivy, was united in marriage to Milford Ashmer Graham, of Newcastle Bridge, N. B., by the Rev. H. A. Bonnell, pastor of Newcastle Bridge Baptist church, and formerly of 2nd Grand Lake Baptist church, of which the bride was a member.

The home was prettily decorated with Autumn leaves, flowers and potted plants. The wedding march was played by Miss S. R. Branscombe.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a pretty dress of cream silk, trimmed with cream Saxony net, and wore a veil of net caught with orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bridal roses, presented to her by Miss Powell, of St. John. Mrs. J. A. Parkhill, of Chipman, was bridesmaid, while Arthur E. Barton of the N. B. Coal & Railway, brother of the bride, acted as best man. After the ceremony the guests, numbering about seventy, partook of a wedding supper. The presents were useful as well as ornamental, including china, glass, linen, and silver. Among them was a very pretty dinner set from Mr. and Mrs. Powell, of St. John. The groom's present to the bride was a substantial check.

On Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Graham drove to their future home at Newcastle Bridge, where they were given a reception by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Graham. Mr. Graham has always been an earnest church worker and will be greatly missed by a host of friends of the place, who all join in extending all good wishes for the future happiness of herself and husband.

KING COLE TEA. You'd like the flavor. TAKE HEART. All day the storm and wind has blown. From off the dark and rainy sea; No bird has past the window flown, The only song has been the moan. The wind made in the willow tree.

This is the summer's burial time; She died when dropped the earliest leaves; And, cold upon her rosy prime, Fell dreiful autumn's frosty time— Yet I am not as one that grieves.

For well I know o'er sunny seas The blücherl waits for April skies, And at the roots of forest trees May flowers sleep in fragrant ease, Which are to be made or which may be made during the next twenty-five years.

O thou, by winds of grief o'erblown Beside some golden summer's bier— Take heart! Thy birds are only flown, Thy blossoms sleeping, fearful soon, To greet thee in the immortal year! —Edna Dean Proctor, in the National.

THE NEW AND THE OLD IN THE GAME OF FIRE FIGHTING

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) It may be that the days of the steam fire engine are numbered, as is intimated by the arrival in Toronto of a new auto truck. This city is by no means the first in Canada to adopt the automobile for fire fighting purposes, that honor belonging to Vancouver, which was the first on the continent to use an automobile ladder truck, the notable event having occurred more than two years ago.

Most large American cities have by this time taken advantage of the superior speed of the gasolene-driven vehicle, if only for the use of their chiefs, the pioneer having been Newton, Mass., which purchased an automobile for the chief of the fire brigade in 1903, when the horseless carriages were still somewhat of a novelty. In Europe the automobile has made even greater progress as a fire-fighting vehicle than on this continent, and in Paris has altogether supplanted the older type of fire engine.

First Steam Fire Engine. It is interesting to recall the fact that the steam fire engine is only fifty-eight years old. To Moses Latta, of Cincinnati, belongs the honor of having made the plans for the first practical machine of this kind. In 1829, Capt. Ericsson, of London, built the first steam fire engine in London, but it was a failure. Again, in 1841, Paul Hodge, of New York, built a steam fire engine, but because of its tremendous weight and insufficient steaming capacity, it was impracticable. It carried its boiler as a stationary engine in a box factory. Then came the Latta engine, and although it was designed by Moses Latta and built by his brother, they but worked out the ideas of Miles Greenwood, chief of the volunteer fire brigade of Cincinnati.

Greenwood was dissatisfied with the volunteer system for the rivalry among the various companies was so intense that they were more eager to outstrip each other than to cooperate to save property, and he thought he saw in the steam fire engine the remedy. Greenwood was a wealthy founder, and on his own responsibility he commissioned Latta to build an experimental engine. It was a success, and the city council immediately commissioned Latta to build a complete engine.

The Paid Fire Brigade. When completed, this engine cost just about the price of Toronto's newest truck, and it weighed thirteen tons. Four horses were used to draw the engine, until an experiment was generated to drive and steer it. The new engine had a brief but successful career, which ended in a tragedy for the boiler exploded, killing the engineer. Two new engines were then built, and other cities began to copy the Cincinnati idea. Three months after the first steam engine had been put into service the Cincinnati fire department was reorganized, and for the first time a paid brigade was established.

It was realized that the success of the new venture depended largely on the character of the new chief, and there was only one man in Cincinnati recognized as having the necessary qualifications. This was Mr. Greenwood. He was, however, a man of means, and it was impossible for the city to pay him a salary that would tempt him.

It happened, however, that Miles Greenwood was more interested in fire fighting than in making money, so when the call came for him to become chief of the brigade he did not hesitate.

Lesson in Civic Patriotism. The salary paid him was $1,000 a year, and he had to furnish bonds to the amount of $2,000 and devote his whole time to the work. Chief Greenwood hired an assistant at $1,500 a year to attend to his financial affairs, and for the first time a salary to the Mechanics' Institute, three himself with enthusiasm into the new business. For the first three months of the department's existence the city made no appropriation and so Chief Greenwood had to advance $15,000 to meet expenses. This was afterwards returned to him.

At first, only the chief men on the force were paid regular wages, the majority being paid so much for the time spent at fires, but gradually the volunteer department, and so the movement spread. It is related that to one of those committees Chief Greenwood stated the advantages of the steam fire engine as follows:—"First, it never gets drunk; second, it never throws bricks, and the only drawback connected with it is that it cannot vote."

Unfulfilled Prophecies. This latter disadvantage tended to keep the steam engine from being instantly adopted. It had to win its way against strong opposition, and was obliged to enter into actual contest with the best hand engines of the time. Remarkably enough, the hand engines were able to throw a stream of water farther and higher than the steam engine, and it was only in stacking power that the advantage of steam was apparent. Hand engines have not yet disappeared, as was predicted they would fifty years ago; nor have the chemical engines fulfilled prophecies made in their behalf twenty years later that they would drive out the steam fire engines. So it may be some time yet before gasolene altogether replaces steam as a motive force for our fire-fighting artillery.

SMART GOWNS; LOVELY JEWELS FOR THE DURBAR

QUEEN MARY'S DRESS

Magnificent Jewels in Royal Array at Delhi—Life There Will Be Luxury in Tents—English Society Gossip of Interest to Canadians

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, Oct. 14.—London is quite full again. Her "little season" is not really started as far as gaieties are concerned, but a large number of smart weddings are taking place this month and, more important still, the Durbar is drawing near. In a few weeks all those who intend to go will have to start, as it takes about three weeks to get to India and the ceremonies will begin on December 7. Consequently everybody is busy buying outfits, and the shops are doing a roaring trade.

Some people have a totally erroneous idea of the climate of India at this time of the year, as also of what their "camp" life will be. It is quite a mistake to suppose that it will be boiling hot day and night, and that visitors will sit on upturned boxes and eat sardines out of a tin. The climate is perfectly delightful, like a bright English summer, with cold nights, so quite a varied assortment of clothes has to be bought and "camp" life will be of the most luxurious description.

For official functions, instructions have been issued for the guidance of those who will attend them, both men and women. A friend of mine happened to be adjutant to a governor of one of our colonies during the visit of a member of the royal family. The governor issued invitations for a ball at which His Royal Highness was to be present, and in a few days came an anxious letter from a fair visitor, asking if she should come "in feathers."

"By all means," replied the governor, who was a bit of a wag, "but be sure there are plenty of them."

Plain or embroidered linens and tulle suits are being chosen by most people for morning wear, while the evening frocks are similar to what would be worn here, only of course, for this occasion, they are particularly gorgeous. An indispensable item in the outfit is what is known as "agar topi," a wide shady hat in a mushroom shape made of thick cork to protect you from the sun. These used to be the most unsightly things, but it so happens that they are much the shape of the fashionable hat nowadays, and covered with linen and swathed with a pretty scarf they are quite attractive.

The Queen's Dress

Queen Mary decided long before the coronation that she would wear the sari dress at the Durbar, so the Indian lotus flower was incorporated in the design together with the rose, shamrock and thistle. It is a wise choice from many points of view. She looks splendidly regal in it, and it is calculated to make a good impression on the natives, most of whom never have seen a queen of England before in their lives.

She has ordered several other dresses, many of them of superb coloring, orange and flame color, emerald green and the blue of the lotus flower. Of course, Indian embroideries figure very largely in the design, and many native workers having been kept busy on these for a long time. Special metal lined trunks have been made both for Her Majesty's frocks and the king's uniforms; the dresses and suits can be hung in them, thus avoiding a good deal of crushing.

Her finest jewels also are included in Her Majesty's outfit for the occasion. They will cause no little anxiety to her attendants. On the day of the coronation they will wear the crowns they were at the coronation. It has not yet been decided in which crown the celebrated Indian diamond, the Koh-i-noor, will be set. There is an Indian saying, "Who holds the Koh-i-noor holds India," which indicates that it should appear on His Majesty's head.

On the other hand, there is also the superstition that when worn by a man it brings him disaster, so the queen's crown seems a better place for it. So strong is this superstition that when King Edward announced his intention of having it put in his own crown, several Indian princes petitioned him to give up the idea, which he did.

Wonderful Jewels

A beautiful jewel is being prepared for the queen's wear, especially for the Durbar. This is a lotus of diamonds which Her Majesty will wear at the coronation, as well as the splendid necklace which was presented to her on the occasion of her visit to India as Princess of Wales. It is formed of pearls of different colors and graduated in size. The central stone is an immense grey pearl of matchless beauty.

As Her Majesty's retinue of ladies has followed her example and chosen dresses of gorgeous coloring, the scene on the great day should be a striking one. All the Indian-waiting are young and of imposing presence, and include the Duchess of Devonshire, as mistress of the robes, Lady Shaftesbury, Lady Amphil, Lady Eva Douglas, the queen's great friend,

A STEP AT A TIME

Have you ever noticed how unreasonably the man at the bottom of the ladder envies the man at the top? Not until success has been actually attained does the man appear at the top, and the consequence is that he gets scant credit for the step at a time climbing which has brought him there.

This, at any rate, is the experience of the Midland Vinegar Company, of England, the manufacturers of the "Pance." They are now at the top of the ladder—H. P. is an assured success everybody who tastes it likes to eat, and recommends his friends to make a trial of it.

And the general business success no one has less cause to envy than a long time ago was given over to the Midland Vinegar Company to carry on experimenting with different combinations of rich Oriental fruits and spices before a perfectly delicious, rich, thick, fruity sauce like H. P. was arrived at and christened, and sent forth to win its way with the people. H. P. has been a success from the very first—but that is because its manufacturers climbed up to it a step at a time, and did not want themselves as sauce manufacturers until they had a perfect sauce to talk about. You try H. P. You will like it—everybody does.

IMPORTANT POINT IN McNAMARA CASE

Juror Accepted by Judge Though he Believes Times Building Was Dynamited

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 24.—Legal machinery in the McNamara murder trial revolved to such an extent yesterday that at the close of the court a problem which had bothered everybody since the first day of the trial was solved in the opinion of counsel, and five talesmen were excused for various reasons. The half empty jury box was filled again and only ten men of the original venire of 125 were left.

By denying a challenge of the defense against talesman George W. McKee, based on the ground that while McKee had no prejudice against James B. McNamara, the defendant, he believed the Los Angeles Times was blown up by dynamite, Judge Bordwell upset a cherished contention of the defense. The ruling was based upon the court's belief that, in spite of McKee's opinion, he could and would be a fair, impartial juror. Of this the court is the sole judge.

Talesman E. O. Robinson and A. E. McIntosh were excused because of their assertions that they would not render a verdict of guilty in a murder case on circumstantial evidence. Willis F. Oliver and J. C. Thompson were excused because each was opposed to the death penalty under any conditions.

That the ruling of McKee's case will expedite the task of obtaining a jury, was the expressed belief of opposing counsel.

The line separating right from wrong seems to be irrisible to a lot of people.

NURSES START ON THEIR WORK OF WELL DOING

Nine Graduated from St. John Training School at Interesting Exercises in Nickel Assembly Rooms

In the presence of three hundred friends including nurses, doctors and members of the General Public Hospital Commission, nine young ladies who have completed the course at the St. John training school for nurses were graduated last night, and received their diplomas in the assembly rooms of the Nickel Theatre. The large room had been prettily decorated for the evening, and over the platform hung a shield with the "Class of 1911" displayed. The evening was most pleasantly passed by all. There were excellent addresses, a very pleasing musical programme and dainty refreshments were served by the new graduates.

Dr. Thomas Walker made a capital chairman. He was assisted in the presentation of the diplomas and of numerous bouquets sent to the members of the class, by Dr. D. C. Malcolm.

After a short prayer, Rev. A. W. Meah delivered in an address to the graduating class words of encouragement and counsel. It was, he said, a distinct pleasure for him to say to them something that might give them an inkling of what those who met them very often in the hospital ward, the sick room or even at the bed of death were entering. He had pleasure in expressing his hope that the graduates would give their thanks for many acts of favor on the part of both nurses and those in training, on every occasion, night or day, when their duties as priests called them to the hospital.

The nurses' calling, he said, was a lofty one because it had its foundation in the love of the Christ, on the words of the Gospels alone was the perfect training nurse. And why? Beyond Christianity was found the sad spectacle of woman degraded by man, deprived of her office in tutelage of her children, deprived of the pleasures in learning and instruction. Because of her religion, she was restored to the triple office of respect, education, and highest of all, the ministrations of charity.

From that day when Veronica, stepping forth in the Jerusalem street, wiped the face of the weeping Saviour, down came Nightingale, Clara Barton, Miss Dix and Louise Schuyler, they had had back in their work the self-sacrifice and service annunciated in the Gospel of Christ. He that would be greatest among you, let him become the least, and he that would be first among you, let him be the last.

The principles underlying the work of the nurse are:

1. To be a nurse is to be a Christian. 2. To be a nurse is to be a woman. 3. To be a nurse is to be a servant.

Harwick, N.S., Jan. 25th, 1910.
"Chronic Constipation of the bowels was the disease which suffered for many years. My general health was miserable. I was treated by physicians and tried all kinds of Pills and medicine, but nothing did me any good. I then tried a strong testimonial of "Fruit-a-tives". I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was most marvellous. Now I am entirely well from Chronic Constipation, and my general health is once more all right."

LIBERAL EXECUTIVE DISCUSSES BY-ELECTION

Left to Commit to Decide Relative to Opposition to Hon. J. D. Hazen
A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the executive of the Liberal party was held last night in the Opera House building.
The president, F. J. G. Knowlton, occupied the chair, and Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works, and his late colleague, James Lowell, ex-M. P., were also present.
The object for which the meeting was called was to consider what action should be taken in the coming by-election in reference to opposing the minister of marine and fisheries.
There was considerable diversity of opinion, some members of the executive thinking that, in the interests of St. John and the view of the importance of the work of improvement at Courtney Bay and on the west side of the harbor, for which parliament has made provision and which the late government intended carrying on, it would be better not to oppose the minister, as it appears desirable that St. John should have a representative in the cabinet.
Other members were strongly of the opinion that it would be better to give opposition unless, at all events, Mr. Hazen was prepared to give to the people of St. John the required assurance that the policy of the Liberal government in respect to harbor improvements should be vigorously carried on.
In the end it was decided to appoint a small committee, consisting of Mr. Knowlton and Mr. Lowell, to be the subject in all its bearings and confer with Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Lowell, it being understood that their decision would receive the approval of the executive.

HIS TONE CHANGED

"I worked off some of that cold storage butter today," said the new grocer, assistant with the air of an expecting bride.
"Indeed! Well, that's good business, my lad, but who drew the prize?" said the grocer, for it was beginning to be a difficult thing to do.
"Who, I sent it to Mrs. Jones, in the High Street," answered the smiling youth, "and she said it was the best butter she had ever tasted, and she had bought it from you."

BRING HOME THE BEST THERE IS IN THE EDUCATIONAL IDEAS OF OTHER COUNTRIES

Chairman of Royal Commission on Technical Education and Industrial Training Gives Valuable Outline of Knowledge Gleaned in British Isles and Europe—Training the Boys and Girls to Usefulness

After spending six months in Europe, mind and spirit, trained towards controlled expression, I had not thought it possible that singing could be made such an instrument for physical and spiritual development. I found the same thing in the Danish schools. To excel in music appears to be only a minor part of the means, whereas to train towards control of the physical and emotional nature and into a feeling rather than an understanding of solidarity in citizenship were the main objects.
"Whilst speaking of that, let me remark how an erroneous impression gathered from various sources—an impression formed before I went to Germany and based largely on newspaper or magazine articles by English travellers in Germany—was corrected or eradicated. One had been told that the military system or military spirit had made the officers harsh and overbearing to the extent of even jostling civilians off the sidewalks. Rather wide observation leads me to the conclusion that the German military officers were the embodiment of good manners and consideration for the rights and feelings of others in all public places. I observed that in railway carriages, at railway stations and casually in other ways.

Comparison of System

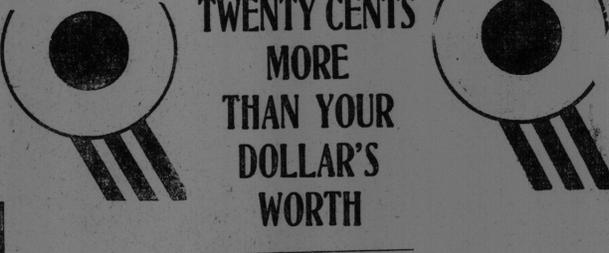

"One of the main aims of the system in vogue in most of the German states seems to be to make for the efficiency of the individual as a citizen as well as for his effectiveness as a worker. Attendance at educational classes of some sort between fourteen and seventeen years of age is compulsory for the sake of technical improvement and industrial efficiency no doubt, but also for the development of a sense of responsibility on the citizen as such. Comparing a German city with one in England or Canada, one is struck by the absence from the streets in the evening of the youth of both sexes, standing in corners or wandering aimlessly about. The vocational classes for all sorts of workers and practically for three out of four workers and managers. During apprenticeship the youths are required to attend classes during several hours per week ranging usually from four to ten, and employers are required to let their apprentices go at such times as the evening classes are over before 7 o'clock in the evening. Many of the leading employers let the apprentices go to attending vocational classes or to forenoon or afternoon work. In such cases the wages of the apprentices are paid for attending work in the shop. After apprenticeship is over there are evening classes for men and even Sunday forenoon classes.
"We are told that when compulsory attendance was first enforced in Germany on the part of the employers, and even of the youths themselves, there was a great deal of hostility on the part of the employers, and even of the youths themselves. The opposition had disappeared, and now compulsory participation in some educational work is accepted as part of the civilization."

In Switzerland

"In visiting an apprentices' class in one of the schools in Switzerland, I asked the boys who had attended two years in the compulsory regulations to vote whether or not they would now attend voluntarily. Thirty-three voted they would attend voluntarily and only one did not vote. I enquired from the teachers their opinion as to how many of the pupils would have come voluntarily from the first. They thought not more than one-third of those in that particular class would have been without the compulsory requirement.
"At Zurich and Winterthur, also in Switzerland, we found real apprentice trade schools. The young men served their apprenticeship under shop conditions, but were able to pass the state examination for the completed apprenticeship at the end of the course. The course in the engineering trade was four years, but the young men were esteemed as being well trained that they were in greater demand than apprentices who had served their apprenticeship under shop conditions. The same remarks upon the excellence of the specimens of handwriting in the schools, but I would mention the legibility, beauty and neatness of the handwriting. I observed in Canada on envelopes and addresses of parcels that came under my notice, it has been seen as good examples of handwriting in Canadian schools as I have seen in any in Germany. Legible handwriting is a valuable asset at railway stations or shipping offices where one has an impression that every German writes clearly and neatly.
"Stinging was taught, not merely as a means of voice production or voice culture, it impressed me as being rather the culture of the whole child—body,

France

"In France great attention is paid to drawing and applied art. For the gaining of scholarships and admission to the highest grade of technical institutions, the examination includes the making of some specific article in iron or steel from a drawing and specification. A certain length of time is allowed for the work, and the hand skill and constructive power of the student counts for a good deal in the examination results. That was rather a new aspect in the character of examination.
Denmark
"Denmark I was impressed by the fine appearance of the cultivated fields, by the spirit of contentment—but not of idleness—in the carrying out of the rural population, by the pervasiveness of their patriotism, and the intensity by which the purpose operation method in connection with rural life, particularly in the production of bacon, in the collection of eggs, and in the improvement of their cattle and pigs. While Denmark is chiefly an agricultural country we found technical schools in the comparatively small towns. These provided classes especially for those engaged in the building trade.
"Physical culture is made much of. The people's high schools, which are popular in Denmark, are in a class by themselves. They consist of a one year course of five months in the winter for young men between 18 and 25 years of age, and a three month course in summer for young women of the same ages. They are cultural schools devoting much time to history, Danish literature, physical culture, and singing, and they are one of the prime forces in Danish efficiency in agriculture and domestic life.
Ireland the Leader
"Perhaps from no other country were we able to learn so much concerning efficiency in organization and in the carrying out of methods for the training of the workers as in Ireland and Scotland, respectively. The municipal technical college at Belfast is a beautiful building and a model of well considered suitability for its purpose. The principles that underlie the various trades, crafts and occupations followed in that great shipbuilding and textile centre. The organization of instruction for the rural population in Ireland provides for all classes and all localities. Leaders are trained at the Royal Albert Agricultural College near Dublin.
"Farm schools with a one year's course consisting of about 6000 hours of instruction, struck on a small three miles west of Fouchu Head (C. B.) at 2:30 o'clock this morning.
The ship was from southern ports, bound to Montreal with a cargo of nitrate, her cargo consisting of about 6000 tons of this material. The steamer is broken in two, only part of the funnel above water and she will be a total loss. The crew landed safely. The Halovand was built in April in Middlesbrough (Eng.).
A steamer is being sent for the relief of the crew.
MORE EVIDENCE IN THE RICHESON CASE
Police Lay Stress on Sentence Added to Druggist's Statement—Minister Says Innocent
Boston, Oct. 23.—A startling bit of evidence which has been in the hands of the police for several days but which they have carefully guarded, leaked out tonight and promises to cast additional interest on the case of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the Baptist minister who is confined in a cell in the Charles street jail on the charge of the murder of Ava Linnell, the nineteen-year-old music student and Sunday school teacher.
Tonight it is stated on authority that Druggist Hahn added another sentence to his police lay considerable stress. According to this authority, Mr. Hahn added that the minister also said: "I would add a poison which will kill the puppets without killing the dog."
While the state was collecting its evidence in the case the Rev. Richeson late today faced two leading members of his church and declared: "I am innocent and will prove it when the time comes."
Boston, Oct. 22.—The evidence against Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the Cambridge Baptist minister, charged with the murder of Ava Linnell, the 19 years old music student, will be presented before the Suffolk county grand jury at a special session on Thursday of this week. The announcement was made this afternoon by District Attorney Joseph C. Collette, of Suffolk county.
Liberty, Mo., Oct. 22.—The Rev. J. J. Peltz, father of Miss Patsy Peltz, to whom the Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson was engaged while attending William Jewell College in this city, refuses to affirm or deny the engagement, but friends of the woman admit it.
Miss Peltz met Richeson at a divinity students' reception at the Baptist church shortly after he came to Liberty in 1902 from Carroll county (Mo.), where he professed religion. She at once took a deep interest in him. He was a constant caller at her house, and it was thought generally that they would be married as soon as he completed his course in college, but Richeson was detected cheating in the final examinations of 1905 and suspended. He was expelled the next year for repeating the performance.
Richeson immediately brought suit against the college to compel it to give him a diploma, but withdrew it after a conference with the faculty, in which he is said to have been charged with an affair of the kind Park Baptist church in Kansas City, where he had preached every Sunday during his student days.
Richeson is said to have been engaged to two young women in Carroll county (Mo.), by whom he was jilted when news of his affair with Miss Peltz reached their ears.
Another sensational episode in which he figured in Liberty occurred just before his acquaintance with Miss Peltz began. One evening he called upon a young woman he had met a day or two before, and stretched out on the lounge, he refused to get up until after 2 o'clock in the morning, when several college students were summoned to take him home. He left the house with their assistance, but declined to accompany them farther than the sidewalk, and walked away without saying a word of thanks or explaining his conduct. Afterward he said that he had a fit. The young woman refused to accept his apology, and the doors of her home were barred to him thereafter.
When Richeson was expelled from college Miss Peltz resigned her position as teacher of Latin and mathematics in the Liberty high school, and it was thought that they would marry at once, but he left rather hurriedly to accept a pulpit at Leaville (Col.), and she took a position as teacher of a school in Kansas City, which he held until last fall, when she went to the home of a sister at Salt Lake City, a case of failing health and grief over the death of her lover, from whom she heard occasionally during the intervening years.
Miss Peltz learned Richeson $750 after prominent ministers in the state who had been assisting him became disgusted with his troubles and refused to aid him longer but the money was repaid during the last year.

MORE EVIDENCE IN THE RICHESON CASE

Boston, Oct. 23.—A startling bit of evidence which has been in the hands of the police for several days but which they have carefully guarded, leaked out tonight and promises to cast additional interest on the case of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the Baptist minister who is confined in a cell in the Charles street jail on the charge of the murder of Ava Linnell, the nineteen-year-old music student and Sunday school teacher.
Tonight it is stated on authority that Druggist Hahn added another sentence to his police lay considerable stress. According to this authority, Mr. Hahn added that the minister also said: "I would add a poison which will kill the puppets without killing the dog."
While the state was collecting its evidence in the case the Rev. Richeson late today faced two leading members of his church and declared: "I am innocent and will prove it when the time comes."
Boston, Oct. 22.—The evidence against Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the Cambridge Baptist minister, charged with the murder of Ava Linnell, the 19 years old music student, will be presented before the Suffolk county grand jury at a special session on Thursday of this week. The announcement was made this afternoon by District Attorney Joseph C. Collette, of Suffolk county.
Liberty, Mo., Oct. 22.—The Rev. J. J. Peltz, father of Miss Patsy Peltz, to whom the Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson was engaged while attending William Jewell College in this city, refuses to affirm or deny the engagement, but friends of the woman admit it.
Miss Peltz met Richeson at a divinity students' reception at the Baptist church shortly after he came to Liberty in 1902 from Carroll county (Mo.), where he professed religion. She at once took a deep interest in him. He was a constant caller at her house, and it was thought generally that they would be married as soon as he completed his course in college, but Richeson was detected cheating in the final examinations of 1905 and suspended. SPORT NEWS OF A DAY; HOME AND ABROAD

Baseball
Down on Snodgrass
A Philadelphia despatch says: Some otherwise sane citizens appear to have lost all mental balance, and "Fred" Snodgrass, the Giants' outfielder, was hooted and hissed in the streets Wednesday night when the New York club arrived, by persons who appeared to be of eminent respectability. When the club reached the Reading terminal there was a large crowd to meet the Giants, and Snodgrass was hooted and hissed. Several persons attempted to get through the lines to do him violence. He was quickly hustled into a taxi cab by the other players and taken to his hotel. Whenever he ventured out he was threatened and hooted. While he was walking down Broad street with Geo. Wilke a youth stepped up and hit him on his bare hand. These demonstrations against Snodgrass are believed to be probably due to the highly colored reports of the spiking of Baker printed in the Philadelphia newspapers, and many of the fans "saw red" at the thought of what was said to be "a deliberate attempt to hit the hero of the series out of the game."

Sees Hope in Ames.
New York, Oct. 23—Charlie Dooin, the clever little manager of the Phillies, whose team at one time looked promising for the National League championship, believes that the Giants have a better chance of defeating the Athletics with "Red" Ames in the box than with any other member of their staff. "I think the Athletics are the biggest suckers in the world for curve pitching," declares Dooin, "and you know in that line there is nobody in the business that can come up to Ames. If he only gets a chance to work he'll have those fellows breaking their backs trying to hit him. Many other experts are inclined to agree with Dooin when it comes to his opinion of Ames. He has pitched a few bad games this season. In the main his work has been sensational, and he may prove just the "dark horse" that this series—as other series have done—will bring into the limelight. Ames was a member of the Giants when they met the Athletics in 1906, and only got a chance to work an inning in the second game. He finished the battle after somebody went into bat for McGinty in the eighth inning when the game was lost. Although he worked only one inning he did not allow the White Elephants to score on him. Dooin, who is breaking into the newspaper writing business this fall, remarked during the game at the Polo grounds that he thought Christy Mathewson is the greatest pitcher in the history of the game."

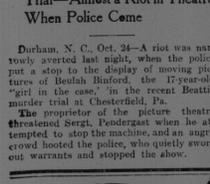

The Turf
Moncton, N. B., Oct. 23—Frightened by an auto, a valuable mare owned and driven by Provincial Constable McArthur, of Shediac, dropped dead on Main street, Moncton, this evening. Constable McArthur was jogging his mare alongside the auto to get her accustomed to it. She appeared nervous and suddenly collapsed on the street, being dead when the owner reached it. The animal was valued at $200 and will be a severe loss to the owner.

Bowling
Holy Trinity W.
On St. Peter's alley last night Holy Trinity defeated A. O. H. in the latter society league. The game was very exciting towards the end and a large number of spectators were present. The score is as follows:

Football
Moncton Instead of Mt. A.
The management of the local senior football team here received a communication from the manager of the Moncton team asking for a game here Saturday. It is very probable that the game will be arranged. Mt. Allison management sent in a letter last night, saying that they would not be able to fill their date here on Saturday as they had made arrangements to play in Charlottetown on Monday.

BEULAH BINFORD IN MOVING PICTURES; THE "POLICE STOP SHOW"
Girl in the Case in Beattie Murder Trial—Almost a Riot in Theatre When Police Came
Durham, N. C., Oct. 24—A riot was narrowly averted last night, when the police put a stop to the display of moving pictures of Beulah Binford, the 17-year-old "girl in the case" in the recent Beattie murder trial at Chesterfield, Pa. The proprietor of the picture theatre threatened Sgt. Pendergast when he attempted to stop the machine, and an angry crowd hooted the police, who quietly swore out warrants and stopped the show.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
This is Leon Ames, one of the Giants' pitchers. He is the only man on the New York team sore on the weather. The delay may knock him out of his chance of going into the box. Mathewson, who is rested up will likely go in again. Capt. Jackson de Nes, 65 years old, of Bar Point Lightship, near Toledo, O., has just made what is declared to be a record in that section by rowing a small boat fifty miles in nine hours.

MURPHY OUT AT HOME PLATE

This shows an incident of the third game of the championship series. A remarkable photograph showing Murphy out at home plate. The man who is tagging him is Herzog, the third baseman of the Giants, who ran him down and got him by what looks suspiciously like a football tackle. Meyers, the Indian catcher, is standing between the base runner and the plate.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 24—Manager Frank Chance, of the Cubs, announced yesterday that he proposed to resume his old position at first base when the season of 1912 opens. As a protection against "bean balls" Chance has arranged with a sporting goods manufacturer to make him a special head gear. During his career with the Cubs, Chance has been hit on the head more than fifty times by pitched balls and last August he was compelled to retire from the game for the remainder of the season, as the result of stopping a ball with his head at Cincinnati.

World's Series Resumed in New York This Afternoon
Likely Mathewson Against Bender or Possibly Coombs—Grounds Promise to be in Fairly Good Condition
Philadelphia, Oct. 24—The weather for the fourth game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants in the series for the world's championship, is clear and cold. The thermometer stood at 29 degrees. A stiff wind is blowing from the northwest. The game today will start at 2 p.m. on a field that is still heavy from the recent rains. At 11:20 o'clock the playing field was still somewhat heavy, but in condition as good as a big squad of men could make it. Ground keeper Schroeder had a force at work most of the night filling up the holes and hardening the surface. He announced this morning after he saw the sun come up that the field would be in good shape by the time the game is to start. While the day is fine, it is more fit for football than for baseball. There was a brisk wind blowing from the northwest with a slight nip in it, and it made heavy coats very comfortable. At 8 a.m. the government weather bureau thermometer registered fifty degrees with the prospect that it would grow very little warmer.

Fans in Line
The bright weather brought out the fans early. Before 8 o'clock there were several hundred in line at Shibe Park, waiting for the bleacher gates to open. The line grew longer every minute, and by the time the gates were opened, soon after 9 o'clock, there were about 2,000 persons congregated about the entrance. All reserved seats were sold before the first game was played a week ago yesterday, and another crowd will tax the capacity of the big grounds will no doubt be on hand when play begins. Both teams are in fine condition for the game. The week's rest has toned up the men, who were on the verge of staleness, and has enabled the pitchers to get back their strength for the strenuous work of the game. The wounds inflicted upon Frank Baker, the sensational batsman of the Athletics, are almost healed, and will give the third baseman no trouble today. The batteries for today will probably be Mathewson and Meyers for New York, and Bender and Thomas for Philadelphia. There has been no intimation from Manager Mack or Manager McGraw as to whom they will use. It is said that if the weather remains cold this afternoon, Mack may switch from Bender to Coombs, who is a good cold weather pitcher. In that event Lapp will be sent in to catch. The probable batting order is:—New York—Devoe, H.; Doyle, 2b.; Snodgrass, cf.; Murray, rf.; Merkle, lb.; Herzog, 3b.; Fleisher, ss.; Meyers, c.; Mathewson, p. Philadelphia—Lord, H.; O'Rourke, cf.; Collins, 2b.; Baker, 3b.; Murphy, rf.; Davis, lb.; Barry, ss.; Thomas, c.; Bender, p.

LONG DISTANCE WIRELESS
Went Into Burning Apartment to Rescue Some Manuscripts
Vallejo, Calif., Oct. 24—The Mare Island wireless station, which on October 10, broke the daylight record on this coast, by talking with Ustakata, carried on a conversation with Washington, D. C., today. The Mare Island operator heard Key West, Fla., calling Cape Cod, and when Mare Island attempted to call Key West it was answered by Washington. Occasionally a chap spends his vacation looking for a job.

MAGAZINE WRITER BURNED TO DEATH
Los Angeles, Oct. 24—Frank Hotelling, a magazine writer of New York, was burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed a rooming house in West Seventh street, where he was staying. The fire is supposed to have been started by an electric heating device in Hotelling's room. Hotelling left his room and then returned to rescue some manuscripts. Firemen found his charred body where he had fallen, overcome by smoke.

JOHNSON SUED FOR FLAT RENT

London, Oct. 24—John Arthur Johnson, the famous colored heavyweight fighter, was sued yesterday by a woman who rented him a flat in Paddington. She testified that the pugilist, because of his unusual strength, smashed a large quantity of dishes and furniture. It was added that he made the flat so filthy as to be untenable. Johnson did not appear in court, and was ordered to pay $37 damages. New Orleans, La., Oct. 24—Patsy Kline, the New Jersey featherweight, knocked out Joe Coster, of Brooklyn, with a right to the jaw in the fifth round of a scheduled ten-round bout at the Fordham athletic club tonight. New York, Oct. 24—A party of French boxers will seek international honors in the United States this winter. They will be brought here by Richard Bennett, an English promoter. Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 24—Charles White, of Chicago, was awarded the decision over Royo Driscoll, of England, at the end of their five-round bout before the Southern Athletic Club tonight. New Orleans, La., Oct. 24—Frank Burns, of Jersey City, was awarded a clear cut decision over Monte Attell, of San Francisco, in a fast ten round bout here last night. The men fought as bantams.

THE STAR
The Star Theatre tonight offers an unusual attraction—indeed a decided novelty—in Prof. Jeremiah Sarsfield's famous lecture of pictures taken inside of the world's largest penitentiary, with accompanying remarks that are declared of compelling interest and of a highly edifying tone. The lecture, which is fifteen minutes in duration, is not an idle one. It full of strong arguments in helping to solve the problem of prison and other evils of the day. Prof. Sarsfield is well known in the United States and has just completed a tour of the east. He was at one time chief of the Bertillon identification department of the Ohio State Penitentiary, from which he takes most of his subject matter. The Star will have this noted lecturer for two nights only. The usual big programme of films, stories and songs will also be promoted.

WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION
REPORTS VERY GOOD YEAR
Toronto, Oct. 24—(Special)—The annual meeting of the Women's Art Association was held in their galleries yesterday afternoon. They have had a better year than ever before. The reports from the branches in Ottawa, Hamilton, St. Thomas, Kingston, Peterborough, Owen Sound and New Brunswick, told of the great amount of interest that had been taken in the study of various branches of art, in lectures that had been given, and the musical evenings. The study clubs were of great benefit in places where there is no art school or paid instructor in art. It isn't safe to judge the world by your view of it.

WARRANT HERE FOR ARREST OF HARRY CLARK

Chief of Police Says He Has Wired New York Police to Hold Former St. John Branch Bank Manager

Chief Clark would say but little this morning in connection with the arrest of Harry B. Clark, former manager of the Bank of New Brunswick's branch office in Charlotte street in New York yesterday. The chief said that he had received a wire from New York advising him of the arrest and that he had asked the police authorities there to hold him, pending further notification. It was said today to be likely that a man would be sent to New York for Clark, but the chief said that would not be done today. He said that there was a warrant for Clark's arrest at police headquarters here, but that they had never had a chance to serve it.

NINE MORE ON THE BENCH TODAY; CHARGE IS DRUNKENNESS

Court Asks What is the Town Coming To? — Today's Cases

Yesterday it was eleven, and today it is nine. "I don't know what this town is coming to. If you policemen would only make an extra effort to find out where these men are securing the liquor, so that we could only have some of the liquor dealers brought to court, then I do not think there would be so many prisoners before me every morning."

Thus said Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning, when nine prisoners, all charged with drunkenness, were arraigned before him. The nine were Thomas McCann, Peter Callahan, Hugh Galloway, Michael Duffy, Hugh McBriarty, Daniel Collins, Joseph Wilson, Andrew Doyle, and William White. Each was fined $5 or 2 months in jail. White was also fined $10 or two months in jail on the charge of resisting the police.

John McAnley was fined $2 or four days in jail for allowing water to flow from his house in St. John street West, across the sidewalk. He contended that the sewer in the street was blocked up and that the city should have it attended to. Sergt. Finley, J. P. Ring, foreman of the West Side sewerage department, and Edward Curran, a workman, gave evidence. Mr. McAnley also gave evidence and said that the city officials were all against him and that he could get nothing done.

Edward Ring, arrested on a warrant charging him with assaulting James Haney in Sheriff's street, on Sept. 5, last, denied the charge. Haney went on the stand, and testified the Ring held him across while another fellow struck him. The case was in the court some time ago, and one McCann was fined $20 or two months in jail. The case was not concluded this morning.

C. M. B. A. NEW RITUAL

First Time in Use Here Last Evening—North End Branch Prospers

For the first time in the history of the C. M. B. A. in this province, the new ritual adopted by the grand council some time ago, was brought into use last evening by the members of Branch 482, North End, at initiation ceremonies in their hall, Main street. The meeting was quite well attended, and was presided over by Joseph T. Quinn, president, with M. D. Sweeney, acting chancellor. Rev. J. H. Bergmann, C. S. R. delivered a brief address, complimenting the branch upon its success, and upon the good work which its members were accomplishing throughout the parish.

Although the new ceremonial was adopted some time ago, it has not been brought generally into use in New Brunswick as yet, and last night was the first time it was performed in St. John. The officers here had had it in rehearsal for some little while. The charter of the branch was received last week from the office of Grand Secretary Behan in Kingston, and at its unveiling, which will take place some time in the near future, it is planned to observe the occasion with the holding of a smoker. The members are planning on an active and interesting campaign for the winter.

TRAIN KILLS MOOSE AT PENOBSCQUIS TODAY

The night express from St. John for Halifax ran into a cow moose which was crossing the I. C. R. track near Penobscquis early this morning. The contact was but momentary, and resulted in little for the animal. Passengers on this morning's train from Moncton saw the dead moose lying by the track and predicted an immediate supply of fresh meat for the section men.

PRICES MAY BE HIGHER

Local wholesale grocers report difficulty late in securing their complete orders of canned tomatoes, as the best the canners say they can give them is 40 per cent. It is said that there is a scarcity of tomatoes, due to the failure of the crop, and there is a probability that prices will be advanced in the near future, although the retail lists have not yet been affected. There is a possibility that importations will have to be made from the United States, and should this be the case, local dealers say the prices will go up.
