CHATHAM, N. B., SEPTEMBER 25, 1879.

Spruce Deals in England.

The St. John Sun says - We quoted a few days ago from Farworth and Jardine's and Duncan, Ewing & Co.'s circulars to show that the London market, which had been depressed and overstocked, the quantities on hand at Liverpool being largely in excess of the stock at the end of last year.

We notice, as regards the London market, that Simon and Mason's circular of 4th inst. states that up to that date 26 cargoes of spruce deals had arrived in London as against 10 for the same period in 1878.

Churchill and Sims' London circular of the 6th inst. says: - "Spruce deals, also, have been sent here in excessive quantities and sales during the last month have been very limited in extent."

In fact, the tone of the London circulars is in harmony with the advices from Liverpool and other points in connection with them we may recall the statements and suggestions of Farworth and Jardine, of the 2nd inst. -

The import, though less than during the like month last year, is still being too large and much of the demand, the consumption showing a marked falling off as compared with last year. Stocks are accumulating, and unless shipments are greatly reduced there will be little prospect of a recovery. Latterly there have been fewer cargoes pressing on the market, and the late auction sales show a slight improvement. The future course of the market will altogether depend upon the quantity coming forward for the remainder of the season.

After such advices - as late as the 4th inst. - with no information of a contrary character, it is not surprising that leading shippers, it was surmised to us in the Telegraph on Saturday the announcement that spruce deals had been sold in London at a price standard in England. On enquiring among persons interested in deals now lying in England, we can not find any contradictory intelligence, which is altogether unreasonable. The improvement in prices mentioned by the Telegraph is not a reality, and indeed, there is nothing surer than that unless our shippers continue to curtail their shipments, the chances are that, with poor harvest in England, the general depression of English trade, and a greatly overstocked spruce market, the chances of shippers making good sales next spring are very poor indeed.

The subject of the above article is one which should be treated outside of newspaper animosities, and information respecting it, especially after the foregoing period of depression sustained by our lumbering interest, should be candidly dealt with. We happen to know the source from which the Telegraph received the information which it based the statement that deals had advanced ten shillings per standard in Liverpool and we have good reason to believe that the Sun knew the same fact equally well.

The statement was first made in the Telegraph by a correspondent of the Bank of New Brunswick and the Telegraph had it on the authority of the Bank, which is considered very good in commercial circles. The statement of the Sun that its enquiries among persons interested in deals lying in England had not resulted in the confirmation of the announcement goes for little, because while information that deals had advanced in London was not in the hands of St. John merchants, some of them, at least, had cable advices on Monday that an advance had taken place.

The facts, as we have them from reliable sources, are as follows: - On the 10th of September, as compared with the corresponding period last year, and the fact that the last week, the holders were encouraged to cut advances in prices, in view of stocks diminishing and buyers being more anxious to purchase. Holders were also justified in demanding better prices, because freights were advancing materially, owing to the short crops in Great Britain and Europe, causing a great demand for Canadian and American grain and a corresponding diminution of tonnage for the lumber trade. Several sales of deals were made at an advance of ten shillings per standard on former prices, but whether that advance can be maintained is another question. Even were it not any better off, for the advance in freights would not absorb the extra ten shillings. This will be readily understood when we state that 29/6 per standard is now paid for freights which could be secured a few weeks ago at 25/6 and 25/8. These are Miramichi quotations and though the figures are, perhaps, a trifle lower for St. John, the difference between the prices ruling a month ago and now are relatively the same.

The advice embodied in the latter part of the Sun's remarks is good and cannot be too seriously considered and acted upon. The policy of restriction, however, must extend further back than to the shipper. It is not reasonable to expect the over-supply of the market abroad can be judiciously arrested unless the curtailment of operations commences in the woods.

Sir A. T. Galt on Canadian Policy. Sir A. T. Galt is engaged by the Dominion Government as its plenipotentiary General in Great Britain and elsewhere beyond the Atlantic. The position was made a trying one, for Sir Alexander is often called upon to reconcile and explain away very awkward points which present themselves in connection with Canada's present fiscal policy and in doing so it is only to be expected that he should, at times, founder and blunder in a manner not calculated to win the confidence of intelligent auditors or remove the distrust which is already so prevalent in Great Britain in reference to the conduct of public affairs in the Dominion. At Belfast, the other day, he was allowed, by courtesy, to address the Chamber of Commerce. A portion of his remarks is thus summarized: -

The increase of the Customs duties was necessitated by the continued increase of the revenue, produced by a succession of bad seasons. (Cries of "No, no, no.") There were other reasons why the Government of Canada imposed these burdens on the country. It was now twelve years since the Confederation of the British Provinces in North America, and since that time not one shilling had been taken from the British Treasury for any purpose connected with Canada. In addition to that, the Imperial policy had charged Canada not only with the duty of maintaining her own defence, but also with the responsibility of those vast interests of the Empire which stretched between the present settlements of Canada, and the vast settlements of the Pacific Ocean. Having pointed out the great expenditure which the opening up of the West would involve, Sir Alexander went on to say that the Government of Canada would give the fullest consideration to any representation made by any industry in this country on the subject of the Customs duties. Sir Alexander then pointed out what he considered to be the analogy of the position of Canada relatively to the rest of the world. The Canadian duty was its duty to sell in the West and buy in the cheapest markets; but he asked them to consider whether they were not absolutely not selling but giving away the most valuable possessions they had - the access to their markets - the market on which other countries were absolutely dependent, and they were getting nothing in return. If that was buying in the cheapest and selling in the dearest markets it was very strange indeed. There was a change coming over the opinions in this country. (Loud cries of "No, no, no" and "hear, hear.") He did not wish to intrude his own opinion on a subject that must be discussed from one end of the country to the other, but he thought that Canada would be glad to come to such an understanding with their fellow-subjects on this side of the ocean as would form a common partnership between them. (Hear, hear.) However, the Canadians wanted the people to go out from these lands, to be settled by wheat districts and become tillers of the soil, so that they might become the growers of wheat for England, and at the same time become customers for English. This was essentially a commercial question, and nobody in the kingdom was better qualified to speak on it than the gentlemen whom he now addressed. (Cheers.)

It will be observed that Sir Alexander protests that the Canadian Tariff is a revenue and not a protective tariff. Sir John protested against a revenue tariff and preferred to double the duties on the necessities of life rather than taxes on tobacco or materials increase the levy on wine, spirits etc. The assurance that Canadians, as represented by the present Canadian Government, want "to become customers of the English" does not tally with the Protectionist cry at home of "Canada for the Canadians" and it is no wonder that Sir Alexander's effort was received with a coolness in keeping with its insincerity.

Crown Lands Management. A case which illustrates the necessity for a different mode of managing the collection of stamptage recently came up in Gloucester County. An operator got some five millions feet of the woods last winter, a portion of which was cut on private lands. He received his account for stamptage from the Government, which he did not settle in the usual way. Meantime, he sold the logs to a miller and shipping firm. Being required to pay the amount due for stamptage a considerable time after he received his bill from the Crown Lands Department he claimed that he had been over-charged and tendered payment for the quantity of lumber which he alleged he had cut of Crown Lands.

The agent, acting under Departmental instructions, seized a quantity of deals, etc. at the mill of the third party who had purchased the logs in dispute. It is understood that the difficulty has been arranged in some way, but the fact that more people on this side of the water must have been struck by the idea that he had been consciously getting off a magnificent joke on the agriculturists. Further consideration leads to the conclusion that some one has been getting off a huge joke on him. He could not have been merely tacking his audience. The English farmers could not have been particularly gratified at the information that a new competitor was about to underbid the present low markets for grain. The immediate liquidation of "an illimitable and fertile wilderness" must appear to them a very unwise policy, and it is not surprising that they are so much opposed to it.

Further, we do hereby appoint Mrs. C. A. Hollis to act as our and in our name, as our attorney, to carry out this resolution.

This was endorsed by a large number of the lady shareholders.

Sir Francis was glad to see such an interest in the lady shareholders present, though he understood that some of the lady shareholders thought he ought to be in the penitentiary and he was contented to go if they could put him there. He was much pleased with the conclusion the ladies had come to; it was a cheering one, and he complimented them and he complimented them in particular on the success of our N. P. tariff and the new land regulations of our Government in sending settlers away from the Canadian North-West. It is amusing to know that "a high authority" has succeeded in making Lord Beaufield believe that millions of benevolent Americans are on the eve of rushing wildly over to cultivate our soil.

Our London correspondent telegraphs to Sir John A. Macdonald the high authority in question, according to public belief. And the language used vividly recalls Sir John's usual language in advocating the N. P. But perhaps he has never before done anything quite so great or so humorous as this exploit of Lord Beaufield's expense; the satisfaction of having over-reached Canning is enhanced by the fact that the exploit is a finished article in his own line, and has fairly vanquished his great rival in the field of humbug.

"Protection" in a New Dress. Referring to the new policy of the Government, by which articles required for the Intercolonial Railway are admitted duty free the Telegraph says -

The immense quantities of goods imported for the Railroad are entered duty free. If Mr. Bullock or Messrs. T. B. Barker & Sons would sell oil to the railroad, they must sell it duty paid, and at the same time compete with the United States houses which enter goods for the railroad, duty free. If Messrs. W. H. Thorne & Co. would supply hardware, in its endless forms, to the railroad, they must lose the Customs' duties in order to compete. No doubt the same rule applies to the importation of other goods into the Department, but cases of that kind have yet come under our knowledge, and we have not inquired into the matter in that department. But we speak today of what is daily done in St. John and Portland in regard to the great Railway department. The business of the railroad, they must lose the Customs' duties in order to compete. ANTIDOTE TO POISON - If a person swallow any thing whatever, or has fallen into convulsions from having over loaded the stomach, an instantaneous remedy, efficient and applicable in a large number of cases, is a heaping teaspoonful of common salt, and as much ground mustard, stirred rapidly in a teaspoonful of water, warm or cold, and swallowed instantly. It is scarcely down before it begins to come up, bringing with it the remaining contents of the stomach; and less there is any remnant of the poison, however small, let the white of an egg or a teaspoonful of strong coffee be swallowed as soon as the stomach is quiet, because these very common articles nullify a large number of violent poisons. - Medical Bulletin.

NOTES AND NEWS. LIEUTENANT CARRY - Lieutenant Carry intends to see the Paris Pigeon, which he has, being a sworn Communist and hater of Imperialism, manoeuvred so as to land the Prince Imperial into danger and then deserted him.

FRED. HARMON, the St. Stephen runner, has defeated the famous Bennett at Calais Trotting Park. The match was for $200 a side and the distance 125 yards. Bennett led at the start, but Harmon won by three yards.

THE WRECKED STEAMER STATE OF VIRGINIA - A Halifax despatch dated the 18th inst. says the hull and machinery of the wrecked ship State of Virginia was sold to-day for $405. The engines alone are worth $15,000 sterling. A large quantity of cargo yet remains in the ship.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD HONORABLE AGENT - A Quebec despatch states that Sir John Macdonald, Sir A. T. Galt, and the five English agricultural delegates who accompany them, arrived at that city in the afternoon of Saturday last. The party, accompanied by Hon. Hector Langevin and Lieut. Governor Robitaille, have since gone to Ottawa.

A DELEGATION OF ENGLISH FARMERS, it is stated has arrived to investigate the advantages offered by the Dominion of Canada. It includes representatives from Roxburghshire, Berwickshire, and Dumfriesshire, Scotland; Durham, Cumberland and Yorkshire, England; also the eastern and southern counties of England and several districts of Ireland.

TRICKET AND HAWKIN - A Montreal despatch dated September 18th says - A private letter from Australia says that Tricket is boasting that Haulin is afraid to meet him, and will take care to keep up hopes of a race till after the exhibition draw crowds. The same authority says that Tricket is falling greatly in favoring ability, and keeps some half-dozen saloons going on the strength of his great name as champion.

A MYSTERIOUS VISIT TO THE QUEBEC - A despatch dated London, Sept. 18th, states that a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian at London says Lord Cranbrook, the Secretary of State for India, has gone to Balmoral and although it is said his visit is merely routine duty, it is thought he can only be absent at such a critical time to consult the Queen on some course which the ministry have decided upon. Nobody would be surprised if his visit is followed by the early summoning of Parliament.

SUPPLEMENTARY TEST FOR SCOTLAND - Dr. Ebrard, of Nimes, states that he has for many years treated all his cases of sciatitis and neuralgia with an improvised electric apparatus, consisting merely of flat iron and vinegar, two things that he has found in every house. The iron is heated until it is hot enough to vaporize the vinegar, and is then covered with some wolle fabric which is moistened with vinegar, and the apparatus is applied to the painful spot. The application may be repeated during or three times a day. As a rule, the disease disappears in twenty-four hours and recovery ensues at once. - Jour. de Med. et de Chir.

A GREAT JUMP - The greatest jump ever taken by a race horse was recently taken at Birmingham, England. During the jumping contest at the Horse Show Mr. Robert Leaman's hunter, Surrey, ridden by Mr. Henry Grayson, made such a splendid jump over the mimic brook as to set the great audience applauding frantically. The horse, with excitement, went right on down the ring, and dwell upon the answer given to such a request. It would be curious to know if the same attempt has been made at other London hospitals.

CHURCH OF RAISING A BOY - Mr. F. K. Condon, in the popular Science Monthly, says - The heaviest task that can be imposed upon a nation is one that is imposed upon human lives. From whatever point of view the subject may be regarded, this conclusion is irrefragable. If we look at it according to purely economical considerations, we may obtain very remarkable results. It has been estimated that an actual cost of $300 is incurred in raising a boy, cradled among the poorest classes, from birth to manhood. It does not require us to ascend very high in the social scale before we find that the estimate must be trebled. If we take what may be called the cost price of the human unit at any definite time, say $500 on arriving at maturity, the producing power of the unit and the more costly and careful education producing as a rule, the more valuable result as to productive power. If the laborer earns 14 or 15c a week, adds $50 per annum to the wealth of the country, the physician, the scientist, military or naval officer, the barrister or the engineer may look forward to the time when his yearly labor will be worth more than a hundred times the amount, even if appraised only by the price he is actually paid for his time. Making a producing individual whether valued at $50 or $25,000 per annum, at any period of his career, no income tax which he is subjected can approach in its pressure the extravagant tax of death, for the payment of which he must contribute the total earning power of which there was, until that moment, a fair mathematical expectation.

HOW WOMEN WOULD VOTE - Were this question admitted to the ballot and women were allowed to vote, every woman in the land who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would vote for it as an unflinching remedy for the diseases peculiar to her sex. Dr. Pierce has received hundreds of grateful testimonials of its curative power.

IOWA CITY, Iowa March 4th, '78. Dear Sir - For many months I was a great sufferer. Physicians could afford me no relief. In my desperation I commenced the use of your Favorite Prescription. It speedily effected my entire and permanent cure. Yours faithfully, Mrs. PAUL R. BAXTER.
