Fall of Fort Maude!

Hordes of Rebels Swarmed Through Khyber Pass. The Situation in India is of the Gravest Character. Newspapers Attribute It to Salisbury's Bad Diplomacy. How Two Forts Fell into Hostile Hands. The Scene of the Rising - Strength of the British Force.

London, Aug. 24.-It is admitted, even in official circles, that the news from India is of the gravest description. The Afriids only form a part of the insurgents the British must put down. A letter from India, published in the Standard, emphasizes the belief that the Sultan of Turkey is at the back of the whole uprising. The writer says: "The average Mohammedan, even in British India, cannot distinguish between the Greek and the other European nationalities. To him the Christians of Europe are all one people, and when he hears that the Sultan has been at war with the Christians, whom he has utterly defeated, he understands that this means an English defeat, and exults accordingly."

Speaking of scientific progress, he said that the revolution which has followed its subjugation may be compared with that following the first kindling of fire.

THE PORTER'S LATEST PROPOSAL. Constantinople, Aug. 24.-The Turkish Government now proposes that the Sultan's troops shall occupy Yalo and Larissa and the country in the rear of these places until the Greek war indemnity is paid, immediately withdrawing the troops south of the line on the signing of the treaty of peace. The Marquis of Salisbury, however, maintains his opposition to the Turkish occupation of the most important, and especially of Larissa.

AGAINST BRITAIN. London, Aug. 25.-The tendency of the continental powers to array themselves against Great Britain has grown much stronger and more aggressive recently. There is good reason to believe that the direct conflict between this fact and Emperor William's visit to St. Petersburg. Both the Russian and German press have been more bitter than ever before during the past few days. The English newspapers are beginning to reiterate, and the language on both sides is now highly bellicose. It is solemnly reported on the continent that an alliance of the two alliances, the Russian and the German, has been agreed upon, for anti-English purposes.

Rich Strikes Reported on the Peace River.

Three Men Take Out $18,000 in Three Months.

Placer Districts Easy of Access—Miners Keeping Their Work Quiet.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 24.—The next mining excitement will be on Peace River, in Northwest Territory. Mining has been carried on there in a slow way for years, but discoveries made this summer leave no room to doubt that an immense amount of gold will be taken out of that river and its tributaries during the next two years. Men who are now taking out gold in large quantities there are not trying to create a boom, but are quietly sending for their friends to come into the country and secure claims.

REPRESENTS THREE MONTHS' WORK.

The $18,000 brought out had been cleaned up by the three men in three months. They went to Peace River early in the spring, and Johnson started out in July. Johnson said that all the miners on Peace River were making a great deal of money with the crudest of appliances. Up to the time he left only pans and 12-foot sluices had been used. Most of the miners were not coming out this fall, because it was possible to purchase supplies at the trading posts at the Hudson Bay Company near the mouth of the river. Johnson told Mr. Kitchin that if he wanted gold all he had to do was to go to Peace River.

The Peace River country is reached most easily from Edmonton, which is 833 miles north of Vancouver, being 391 miles north of Calgary on the Canadian Pacific Railroad. Fort Chipewyan, on Athabaska Lake, is the mouth of Peace River. It is reached by taking a stage from Edmonton to Athabaska Landing, 40 miles, and thence down Athabaska River and lake by boat. Chipewyan is 465 miles from Edmonton. Steamboats go up the Peace River for a considerable distance. A number of its tributaries, including the Loom and Deer Rivers, are as rich as the main stream.

RISES IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS.

The Peace River rises in the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains little north of the center of British Columbia. In the northern continuation of the same mountains rise the Klondike, Pelly, Stewart and other gold-bearing tributaries of the Yukon. There is this difference between the Peace River on the eastern slope of the mountain.

while the Yukon tributaries rise on the west side. Along Peace River on the north are the Reindeer or Caribou Mountains, which have been quiet this summer to be rich in gold-bearing quartz.

RE JACKASSES.

There are Several Kinds, Is the Private Opinion of a California Paper.

We observe that the Chambers of Commerce of Seattle, Tacoma, and other Pacific coast ports are memorializing Congress to "retaliate" on Canada to the tune of many millions on the American goods now going into the Klondike, says the San Francisco Argonaut. But this is not new. Canada has been collecting duties on American goods for many years. Not a Pacific coast passenger who goes across from Detroit to Windsor on the Michigan Central line to New York through Canada, without having his luggage inspected by the Canadian customs officers. As for "retaliation," this government is already retaliating on Canada to the tune of many millions a year. Not a Canadian hen can lay a Canadian egg for consumption in this country without paying its duty.

This has been the case for years. In fact, we have just raised the duty on many Canadian products. Why, then, all this pother? Are we to collect duties from Canada on Canadian goods, and then must Canada let our American goods in duty free? That sounds like the chatter of monkeys, instead of the speech of merchants—if these chambers of commerce be composed of merchants.

It is interesting and instructive to note that on the same day these memorials were sent to the secretary of the treasury protesting against the Canadian duty on beans, bull butter, and burros, a herd of animals was brought into Arizona from Mexico which had paid $1,200 more duty under the Dingley than under the Wilson bill.

But what of that? An American citizen who imports jackasses from Mexico is performing a high and holy duty when he pays a duty to his own government on his jackasses. But when he wants to sell jackasses in Canada, the imposition of a jackass duty by that government is a high-handed and brutal usurpation and a flagrant violation of the most sacred department of state. It is the duty of the protesting chambers of commerce, the wronged merchants, and the unjustly taxed jackasses.

Pen-Portrait of a Leader of Men in Canada.

Sir Richard Cartwright's Public and Private Career.

Tribute to the Kind Heart and Able Head of the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

[Lindsay Post.]

Some time since the Globe spoke of Sir Richard as "the new Sir Richard." Whether this be a compliment or not depends upon the way in which it is taken. Some here thought it meant an altered disposition of the knight, but Sir Richard has not changed, and his words had no effect on any change in the man himself, but to the altered conditions of parties; to the move, in fact, from the left to the right of the speaker, a circumstance which in itself required a different tact and an application of tact to the new situation. Sir Richard knew him otherwise than the same-whole-souled, big-hearted, generous to a fault, his heart, like that of most such men, is never carried on his sleeve. He inherited money, or rather property, for the two are not always convertible, and so fell into a position wherein unpleasant conflict not infrequently arises between the landlord and the tenant, the mortgagee and the mortgagor, yet he was never known to do harm or even prejudice a soul to the extent of a single cent. He found many a man in debt, and with the discharge would offer kind words of encouragement, showing the obliges beyond obligation. He has been a lender, and in that capacity proved the truth of the author's words that "a lender of the left is himself," and disproved the rest of the sentence, "that he loses his friend. Does that hold true here? He never once forgot, and so he never lost himself in this respect. His intimate business associates said he was impetuous, if so, it is because of a great big heart, and not the fault of judgment or carelessness. His enemies were wont to attack his loyalty. They did so, why? Because of his mental strength and power, and they were frightened of him, it is no discredit to others to say that Sir Richard is par excellence the greatest man in parliament. The Tories saw it and felt it, and it will ever be the discredit of some Liberals that they were shocked to the cry of the enemy rather than his own. The man who in season and out of season championed their rights. His loyalty was of the right kind. He sought to clap notes by liping loyalty from his mother's breast, and his father from his mother, and so on along a long line of ancestors whose sacrifices for country could not be counted by many a Huguenot, and to them who know of this, does it not seem the blindest of hateful ingratitude in men to attack him, men whose loyalty is now, as it was in '37, of that pseudo-alloy, every ready to desert when never ready to sacrifice except in a sacrifice which means the loss of liberty to the subject. No man in public life has been more abused and more maligned, yet amid it all he has maintained himself in the quiet consciousness that time would tell for or against, and time has done it. His friends who know him well are perhaps happier in this than he himself. A great man is apt to be indifferent to the waves of public opinion. Macaulay, after his defeat, maintained his independence more perhaps than any other of his time, and thenceforth the public courted him, and not he the public. ceased had been under medical treatment for some time, but around attending to his business duties, in fact was in Chatham on Saturday. Death was caused by the bursting of a blood vessel in the stomach. Deceased was a young man just in the prime of life and leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. At one time he was in the grain business with C. D. Colby, but on Mr. Colby's removal to Portersville Mr. Thurst took over the business and was running it himself. Mrs. McLean, of Dutton, was riding on the milk wagon Monday morning to Lona, and when about two miles east of the village, the horses took fright and ran away, throwing Mrs. McLean out, her head striking on the hard ground. She was taken back to town, but her injuries were found to be not as serious as was at first thought.

JOHN CAMERON, President and Managing Director. God's in His Heaven. All's right with the world.

London, Wednesday, Aug. 25, 1897. Ontario's Share in the New Prosperity.

The farmers of Ontario are happy, or ought to be happy, this year. They have a good harvest, and are guaranteed good prices for all that they have produced...

We estimate that the increased income of the farmers of Ontario this year, over their income in 1896, will be from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000.

With the single exception of peas, the estimate is that all the grain crops of this province exceed in yield per acre the average of fifteen years.

What with the increased price and greater yield, the value of the wheat crop alone this year will be from $27,000,000 to $30,000,000, or more than double that of 1896.

Who would not be a farmer's boy these days? Sir William Van Horne, president of the C. P. R., referring to the business conditions in Canada today, says: "So far as I can see, business is very good, and the prospects are better than I have ever known them."

The Fighting in India. The news from India is somewhat alarming. It is possible that the border tribes in India have been stimulated to rebel against British authority...

Prosperity Paragraphs. The industrial improvement in Canada is marked by the starting of new industries and the enlargement of those already existing.

Sir Donald Smith will not enter the House of Lords as Lord Glenora. He never chose that title, though he is now the owner of the Scottish historic estate of that name.

Prof. Scott Keltie, president of the Royal Geographical Society, who is one of the best authorities on explorations in the world, thinks that Andree has been successful in crossing the north pole, and believes that he will be heard from soon.

Canada Must Be Represented at Washington. Almost every day's experience reveals the necessity that exists for the placing of a Canadian at Washington, charged with the task of looking after the special interests of the Dominion.

The government will have the support of the people at large if at the next session of parliament it makes the necessary provision for the establishment of a commissioner, charged, in conjunction with her Majesty's ambassador, to look sharply after Canada's interests whenever they are in evidence at the United States capital.

Disregarded Vows. Constable Wilson Dismissed. On the Charge of Shooting Prisoner Burns With Intent.

The Constable, Who in an Old Soldier, Wept Like a Child When Being Given His Liberty.

The long and tedious prosecution of Constable George Wilson of Strathroy, for shooting with intent J. W. Burns, a peddler charged with fraud, came abruptly to an end this morning.

For over a week this trial has been in progress, and with it came many lengthy legal arguments. Magistrate Lacey, on the reassembling of the court, said he could come to no other conclusion in the matter than that Constable Wilson should be acquitted of the serious charge against him.

This was not only his own opinion, but that of the crown. Constable Wilson was protected by the code. He was an officer of the law, with instructions to perform certain duties. These duties often warranted the taking of violent measures, and were necessary violence was justifiable.

From the evidence submitted he could only say that Mr. Wilson was justified in taking the means he did to recapture the prisoner Burns. Wilson had failed to heed it, and left himself liable to the extremity of the officer's authority. He then discharged the prisoner.

Constable Wilson is about 50 years old and of powerful build. He has a large heart, his exterior is somewhat rough. He is an old British soldier. He served for five years in India and for ten years in Africa. For years he has done police duty. After his dismissal he sat down and wept bitterly.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy appeared for Wilson, and Mr. E. R. Cameron for Burns. At the conclusion the prisoner's counsel had his client bound over to proceed against Wilson before the grand jury, not being satisfied with the magistrate's decision.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and in half a bottle the ailment was cured. I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

—The Glasgow Herald of Aug. 13 contains the following: "Wanless—At 5 Battlefield Crescent, Langside, on the 11th inst., George Wanless, in his 76th year. To be interred at Cathcart on Saturday, leaving residence at 3 p.m." Wanless was a brother of William Wanless, of this city, and of John, Robert and Andrew, of Toronto, Sarnia and Detroit, respectively. About ten years ago he paid a visit to relatives here, and made many friends, who will hear of his death with regret.

—Mr. George E. Coleman, of Seale's terrace, York street, will have the deepest sympathy in the death of his late wife, Amelia, who passed away yesterday at the early age of 27 years. Mrs. Coleman suffered from consumption, and bore a long illness with cheerful resignation. For some weeks her death had been hourly expected. Mrs. Coleman was the daughter of Mr. E. Jarman, and had been married only eight years. By those who knew her, she will long be held in affectionate remembrance.

—A social evening was spent at the King Street Methodist Church last night. Rev. Eli Middleton presided, with his usual tact. A quartet by Messrs. Rossiter, Stickers, Sutherland and Pinney was much appreciated. Addresses of an interesting character were given by Mr. Sharp, formerly of London, who is now connected with the Missionary Training School at Brooklyn, and Miss Alway, who went from London to India, and who is vice-principal of the Missionary Training Institute in Brooklyn. Coffee and cake were afterwards served in the basement.

—A horse belonging to Mr. David Sills, of London West, pulled the halter over its head while standing tied on Talbot street, near the corner of King, yesterday forenoon, and ran away. It collided with a team attached to one of Collins' ice wagons on Talbot street, badly bruising and scratching one of the Collins horses, and continued its mad career till it ran against the eating house opposite the City Hotel stables. There it kicked itself free, and dashed on across Dundas and up Carling street, where it was finally caught without doing any further damage.

AT THE PORT. The Flora arrived yesterday morning with a good list of passengers. Mr. Coo, of London, camping on Orchard Beach, has lost a valuable horse.

Mrs. Mackenzie and daughter, of London, have taken rooms with Miss Conrie.

Mr. Risdon, of St. Thomas, is the guest of Mrs. Tait, Orchard Beach, this week.

Dr. K. McKelvie, who has returned to Orchard Beach after spending a week in St. Thomas, is spending a few days with Mr. Aikins, Orchard Beach, also Miss Yeomans, daughters of Dr. Yeomans, St. Catharines.

The congregation at Christ Church on Sunday were the largest yet in attendance since Rev. H. D. Steele assumed charge. The collections were correspondingly liberal.

Mrs. Nellie, of Dayton, Ohio, who has been with larger entry to show their appreciation of the efforts of the management, and to such an extent did they manifest their approval that the spacious buildings were overcrowded, necessitating the erection of a large tent and additional temporary quarters. The board have from necessity decided upon putting up a separate building for a park and riding the space occupied by them between the cattle and sheep, thus providing more than sufficient room for all who may favor them with their entries.

The 8,000 square feet additional provided for the agricultural implements was also filled and many have contented themselves on the park; the same applies to the carriage department, also.

Water Commissioners Refer the Writ to the Solicitor With Instructions—The Redmond Springs Matter.

The water commissioners did little business yesterday afternoon. The board will await the home-coming of Commissioner Judd before wrestling with any problem in which an expensive outlay of money is involved.

Mr. Patrick Walsh appeared before the board on behalf of Mr. Redmond. He thought this was an opportune time to pump the Redmond springs at Springbank dry, if possible. There was spring water there which they meant to show. He asked that the commissioners place one engine on the grounds, and Mr. Redmond would place a second one. It was too much to ask Mr. Redmond to do the whole thing alone. The matter was laid over.

The writ issued at the instance of J. D. Saunby against the water commission on Aug. 15, was placed on the table by Chairman Coxon. A motion passed authorizing the secretary to hand the writ to the solicitor with instructions "to fight."

A letter from the Thompson Meter Company's meters was filed. The pumping engineer's report showed the pumping by hydraulic power to be as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Date, Gallons, Depth in reservoir, and other data.

Total 10,994,996 During the same period 16,640,206 gallons were pumped by steam.

The price of bread has been advanced at Belleville to 12 cents a loaf.

Greater and Grander. The Western Fair of 1897 Will Surpass All.

Extra Accommodation—A Rare List of Special Attractions.

The 29th annual Western Fair—Sept. 9 to 18—will be greater and grander than ever. This is not mere hyperbole, for the Western's record is one of continuous and rapid progress. Every year shows an advance. Last year many thought the Western had reached its zenith. The buildings, which were erected at a total cost of $34,518 19, were considered by the directors to be equal to a natural annual increase in the number of animals on exhibition for many years to come, but in this they were egregiously disappointed; for no sooner was the perfected accommodation supplied than the stock breeders, one and all, were on hand with their larger entry to show their appreciation of the efforts of the management, and to such an extent did they manifest their approval that the spacious buildings were overcrowded, necessitating the erection of a large tent and additional temporary quarters. The board have from necessity decided upon putting up a separate building for a park and riding the space occupied by them between the cattle and sheep, thus providing more than sufficient room for all who may favor them with their entries.

Speaks From Experience. Mr. J. W. Tomlinson, Amherstburg, Ont., speaks from experience when he says: "I am well satisfied with Doan's Kidney Pills. They are undoubtedly the best medicine on the market for one afflicted with urinary or kidney troubles, such as pain in the back, tired feeling, cramps, numbness, etc. They cured me and removed all my pains and aches."

In South Africa there is a great demand for donkeys, as they are proof against climate, plague and flies. The donkey's powers of resistance should be tested against Alaska's climate and mosquitoes.

Visit Nearly Every County in Michigan.—Late Crops Suffer. Lansing, Mich., Aug. 25.—Director Schneider's crop bulletin says cooler weather has recently retarded all crops. Light frosts have occurred in nearly every county in the state, but damage was light and confined to low ground. Reports regarding corn, beans and buckwheat are encouraging. The slow maturity of corn will probably add to its weight. Clover seed and pastures need more rain. Late potatoes promise poorly.

Nirvana, Mich., Aug. 25.—In spite of four frosts in succession crops are but very slightly injured. Potatoes will be light. Corn will be fair. Farmers are raising much stock, a fair spring calf being worth $10.

Tamasca, Que., Aug. 25.—Frost did no damage in this vicinity except to late wheat.
