

DR. WILSON NEW PRESIDENT OF WAR VETERANS

Many Worthy Battles—Secretary Offers To Resign—Urged To Reconsider.

CENSORSHIP TABOO

Criticism of Press Drowned by Protests of Members—Officers Elected.

Wordy battles featured a meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association local command, which was held in the Masonic Temple last night, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. Finally, when the smoke cleared away it was announced by Lieut.-Col. W. G. Coles, retiring president, that Comrade Dr. Cameron Wilson was his successor by acclamation, other nominees having withdrawn their names from the field.

The first ripple was noted when Comrade Peters rose to critic newspaper reports regarding the internal affairs of the association, and neglect of public duty being taken on same. He insisted that such action was contrary to Dominion constitution, and intimated that if the present incumbent of the office were a front-line veteran, membership would increase locally. This declaration called forth a torrent of protest from the majority of his part throughout the meeting, his efforts proved to be wasted ones.

Officers To Resign. Comrade Devlin then took issue with the procedure of the local command in allowing the executive to appoint a secretary without a vote of the members being taken on same. He insisted that such action was contrary to Dominion constitution, and intimated that if the present incumbent of the office were a front-line veteran, membership would increase locally. This declaration called forth a torrent of protest from the majority of his part throughout the meeting, his efforts proved to be wasted ones.

Officers To Resign. Comrade Devlin then took issue with the procedure of the local command in allowing the executive to appoint a secretary without a vote of the members being taken on same. He insisted that such action was contrary to Dominion constitution, and intimated that if the present incumbent of the office were a front-line veteran, membership would increase locally. LONDON BOYS LEAD IN ATHLETICS AT FISHER'S GLEN CAMP

Party of Forty Having a Great Time Studying Wood-craft.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Virtually July 14—Western Ontario has the largest boys' camp in Canada, 350 boys being in attendance at Fisher's Glen camping grounds. The location is perfect. The boys live in the aristocratic section, 27 tents being lined up on a high hill overlooking Lake Erie. The river with its trout stream, the meads, hunting camps and hotel grounds. This picturesque scenery of woods and streams and lake, along with the splendid leadership of the camp is working wonders in the fourfold development of the boys' life, whose ages range from 13 to 20.

Many visitors have spoken at the camp fires and after the dinners. Life-long friendships are being formed, and the boys are making permanent impressions as being made daily.

Forty London boys, the largest number from any one town, have headed the list in athletics and they are taking a keen interest in woodcraft in the study of camp craft, birds and wild flowers. Even Hamilton and Windsor boys have been invited to the camp.

On Thursday the City of Dover boat called and took the whole camp for a day's outing on Lake Erie. The boat stopped long enough at Turkey Point for the boys to catch fish, and the stories will be told of the size of the catch and of the amount each had to eat for dinner the following day.

On Friday night Mr. Hobson of Woodstock gave the history of the Indian tribes who had lived on the camp site grounds, after which the boys held a war dance about the crackling pine log fire.

On Saturday night, Old Man Grouch was burned at the stake. Lloyd Houlding, director of the camp, presided, emphasizing the need of cheerfulness and truthfulness in a boy's life.

The services on Sunday were taken to Dr. Thos. Wearing, principal of Woodstock College. During the day the camp was full of visitors. The mayor of Galt, Ald. Holden of Woodstock, Mr. Adams of Brantford, Forest Klapp and the book of the National Council, Y. M. C. A. Rev. Capt. Christie of Woodstock and Rev. Gordon of Brantford were among the number.

WHEAT IS READY TO CUT IN ESSEX

Splendid Yield of Grain Per Acre Is Expected.

The following is a summary of the weekly reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture:

The harvesting of wheat will begin in Essex this week, and cutting will be general in other counties next week. A large yield of grain per acre is expected, although the straw, except in a few instances, will not be of average length.

Sowing grains have been making great growth during the last few weeks. Barley and oats are making most promisingly, and a good length of straw is probable.

Frequent rains have been slowing harvest, but most of the crop is being fairly well cured. Clover is comparatively light in yield, but the second growth is making a wonderful start, and promises to be good for seed. York says that it now looks as if the second cut will be larger than the first.

Alfalfa is short in length, but the heads are full, and a good yield of seed is indicated. Alfalfa has been making a tremendous growth after the first cut. Essex reports second growth to be a feet and a half high.

Need It Badly. Roots are now being heavy, and they have been excessive with the frequent rains of the last three or four weeks. Alfalfa is very irregular in the rows, but sugar beets and turnips are coming along well.

It looks as if potatoes are going to be a good crop, generally speaking. Essex reports early varieties as ready for digging.

Kent reports that the tobacco crop in that county is doing well.

WILL ASSU BOARD OF MINISTERS DEBENTURE ISSUE

Methodist Laymen and Ministers Much Interest in the Movement.

Methodist laymen and ministers from all districts in the London Conference met yesterday in the First Methodist Church, London, to receive reports from the different district representatives and to complete an organization known as the London Methodist ministerial support committee, which will be extended throughout each district within the London conference.

This organization has undertaken to promote an educational campaign by correspondence, visitation of circuits by prominent laymen, who will present to each circuit the need of better financial support to the ministry.

The general conference has fixed the minimum salary of Methodist ministers at $1,500 per annum, but it is expected that the usual salaries will be from $1,500 to $2,000, and in the larger churches many will exceed that amount.

The reports received have been very encouraging and if these may be taken as an indication what may be expected from other circuits every minister in the London conference will be assured an increase in his minimum salary.

It was decided that every district throughout the London conference would organize a water and light debenture district, which consists of a chairman, a secretary, and ministerial chairman of the people in any way.

These district committees have been asked to complete their organization by July 20. The different quarterly boards have also been asked to defer their fall meeting until after this date in order that the district representatives may have an opportunity of giving all information to each circuit and to each board prior to their next meeting.

Many From District. The following laymen and ministers were present at the meeting in addition to a number of other laymen and ministers who came to the meeting on account of their interest in the movement: Rev. W. H. Graham, Stratford; Rev. Geo. Jewett, Woodstock; C. Chapman, London; T. B. Shillington, Blenheim; Fred Holby, St. Thomas; Ezra Hunt, Lambton; H. Poole, London; R. J. Watson, London; J. H. Hay, Listowel; A. T. Cooper, Goderich; J. R. Steadman, Peterborough; J. C. Ferguson, Brantford; M. Thompson, Wallaceburg; F. W. Miller, Lawrence Station; W. H. Kerr, Brussels; Geo. Stanley, Lucas; Rev. E. Powell, Lucas; Rev. W. J. Ashton, London.

HEAVY CUT MADE IN POWER LOAD AT BARN RAISING

The City Temporarily Loses Twenty-Five Per Cent of Hydro.

Twenty-five per cent reduction in the city's power load was necessitated today by troubles of an unknown character at Niagara Falls. Domestic circuits were shut off immediately. Except at noon, they will likely be restored the remainder of the day. No other circuits are affected. The full quota of power is being furnished to the street railway and to the various industries of the city.

This is the first trouble of this nature since the heavy reductions caused last spring by the ice jams at the Niagara power plants. No indication of the cause of the present trouble was given to the public utilities commission when orders to reduce the power were sent.

The storm last night caused a good deal of minor trouble locally. This was due chiefly to falling branches and limbs of trees. It is estimated that at least $100,000 of the power's appropriation will be required to clear up the damage. This may mean an overdraw, as the estimates were reduced by the council so that there was no provision for contingencies.

Grape-Nuts Needs No Sugar "There's a Reason"

Unless there is an immediate cessation of rain and dry weather for at least a week or ten days, thousands of dollars' worth of hay that has been cut will be ruined. Farmers stated to the Advertiser today that warm, dry weather for the next week is the only thing that can save the hay already cut. Some of it is already turning black, they say.

On the other hand it is an ill-wind that does not blow anyone good. Some farmers who started to cut their hay and then decided it was too short will be large gainers.

"By letting my hay alone," said one farmer, "it has grown at least a foot since the rains, and that means I will have at least fifteen loads more than if I had cut it ten days ago."

Delaware Township farmer stated that in the past fifteen years he has never seen better crops of all farm products, and he believes that this will bring down prices. "Scarcity is what kept prices up," he said. "When there is a ample supply for the markets prices will fall. This will help the farmer as much as it will the citizen."

TEENDERS FOR NEW SCHOOLS MAY RUN HIGH

Figures Likely to Considerably Exceed Authorized Expenditures.

Tenders for additions to the Wortley Road Victoria public schools, which will be opened by a committee of the board of education Thursday, may bring a serious problem to face with the advance in building costs since the beginning of the year. None of them is expected to exceed the authorized expenditure for this purpose. Changes which were made in the specifications may keep the costs down, Trustee A. A. Langford said.

A Real Problem.

The delicate issue authorized for the Wortley Road addition is $27,000, while that for Victoria School is $68,000. If tenders for the work are greatly in advance of these the problem of obtaining money will be a real one.

Tenders on the first large building project undertaken so far this year, the Ealing School addition, were more than $10,000 in advance of the estimate. Purchase of a building from the Red Cross for use as a Knollwood school, instead of erecting a new building, saved about $12,000 at this point. The city council consented to the transfer of this surplus to the Ealing deficit. There will be no such surplus if a similar situation arises with the other schools.

An Extensive Program.

Acceptance of tenders for these two schools will see the whole building program under way, entailing an expenditure of at least $274,000. Most progress has been made with the Knollwood School, which has been moved into position. Two rooms will be added to it immediately, and the whole structure will be covered with stucco. Work has been commenced on the south side of the street addition to the Ealing School. Contracts are being let by the general contractor John Puthorbo.

FAVORS SALARY OF $1,500 FOR PASTORS

Inspector Thompson Says the Ministers and Teachers Are Poorly Paid.

At the afternoon meeting of the London Presbytery on Tuesday, the question was discussed further. Inspector P. J. Thompson, during the discussion, said that ministers and teachers were the poorest paid people of any profession in Canada. He strongly urged that where $1,500 could be paid to the minister the congregations should do so. Nothing came of the discussion, but that many of the members of the various churches represented also expressed themselves in favor of paying the $1,500 when it could be afforded.

A communication was read from Mrs. J. M. McEvoy, secretary of the Presbyterian Missionary Society in London, asking that they endorse a plan to set aside one Sunday in each church during the year for the missionary society, which would take full charge of the services. The presbytery unanimously agreed to allow the women to do this. It has been done in other denominations with success.

BOY SHOPLIFTER MAY GO TO REFORMATORY

Magistrate Declares That the Merchants Must Be Protected.

A local juvenile, who was remanded from Monday last on a charge of theft, admitted in police court today that he stole a chain, watch cover and medal from Normal E. Peel, and a quantity of socks from Thomas Rowe on Saturday evening. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing a khaki shirt and nine handkerchiefs from Mr. Peel, but after hearing the evidence the court convicted him and remanded accused for one week on both counts.

Norman Peel testified that he watched the prisoner in his store and saw a shirt protruding from his coat. Upon accosting and searching him, the handkerchiefs were discovered attached to the shirt. In his possession he found socks with Mr. Rowe's ticket attached, and he called on a witness, whereupon the youth put up a fight.

The boy offered no evidence. W. R. Meredith, his solicitor, explaining that he did not wish to implicate his companions.

The magistrate commented on the boy's attitude in denying that he stole from Rowe's, but counsel argued that the boy did not steal the socks, but having them in his possession after the theft was technically guilty. Three youths participated in the theft. Rowe's, he declared, and his client wished to shield the other two.

"This offence is as deliberate and much more serious than I anticipated," said the court.

"It would be a shame to send him to jail," said his lawyer. "The court should deal with boys to make them good citizens, not send them away as criminals."

"Boys given another chance usually come back," he said, "and he does not take advantage of it, that is his misfortune," was the comeback.

"I think the proper place for this boy is in the reformatory," concluded Magistrate Graydon in remanding the culprit. "I must protect merchants from this sort of thing." The stolen goods were ordered returned to the owners.

ESCAPED INJURY IN AUTO COLLISION

Niven Judd, son of Judge J. C. Judd, 307 Ridout street, while turning on to Horton street off Ridout street, was struck yesterday afternoon by a car driven by Mr. Pearn of Delaware. No one was injured.

Special Committee Will Be Appointed by Board of Education To Obtain Up-To-the-Minute Information On Improvements All Over the Country.

A special committee to investigate high school conditions in other cities and to gather data on the latest ideas for educational buildings of this type, will be appointed by the board of education before any definite policy is decided in regard to a new collegiate here, Trustee Thomas Rowe, chairman of the high school committee of the board, said today that there was not the slightest doubt that this would be done. The proposal was also endorsed by Trustee A. A. Langford.

—The Real Cost.

"The real cost of education is in the middle and upper schools, chiefly the upper. It is likely to be that way for a good many years to come. For that reason I think that the middle and upper schools will remain centralized. Branch schools will be built for the lower school classes, and these will act as 'feeders' to the higher central classes. Only about 10 per cent of the pupils who commence the high school course finish it, so that centralization of the higher classes would not be difficult."

—A Big Question.

"This is one of the biggest questions the city has had to deal with in a long time," said Trustee A. A. Langford. "I certainly think that a committee should be appointed to make a thorough investigation of general high school conditions before any plans are accepted. Even if the cost of such an investigation is a couple of thousand dollars, it is well worth while."

—The Board has no definite plans for a collegiate although it has been intimated that a 36-room collegiate will be built on the old site. I do not think we should isolate ourselves from the remainder of the world and expect to make any progress."

—Not Yet Considered.

The policy of one large central collegiate has never been considered seriously by the board of education, although there has been an agitation for it in some other quarters. Trustee Rowe said:

"A central school is not feasible," he said. "We have the advice of all the high school inspectors to that effect, as well as what we have learned from our own observation. Of necessity we must concentrate on a central school at present to replace the one destroyed by fire, but I do not think any attempt will be made to have this established as a collegiate for the whole city."

She Had Suffered for Fifteen Years

Montreal Woman Couldn't Even Sew For Rheumatism Before She Began Taking Tanlac—Housework Is Real Pleasure Now.

"I certainly think Tanlac is the greatest medicine ever sold to suffering people, and it has been such a wonderful benefit to me that I feel it my duty to tell everybody about it," said Mrs. J. W. Jarvis, of 10 Aylwin street, Montreal, recently.

"There's hardly been a day during the last fifteen years but what I have suffered awful pains across the small of my back on account of trouble with my kidneys. Most all the time it was a sort of burning sensation with every now and then a sharp twinge, as though I had been pricked with a needle. I got into a very rundown condition, where I had no appetite, and every few days had splitting headaches that nearly blinded me with the pain. My blood was very much out of order, for I was always coming out in a sort of rash all over my body and the rheumatism in my fingers was so bad that all the joints got so stiff that I couldn't sew or do my housework.

"I saw by the papers the way people were being helped by Tanlac, and so decided to see if I would do me any good. Well, the way it rid me of all my troubles was most surprising. The first thing it did was to give me a splendid appetite, so that I could eat better than I had for years past. Then my blood got purer and all signs of rash or pimples disappeared from my skin. I am no longer bothered with headaches and have been quite relieved of all trouble with my kidneys. All the swelling and stiffness has gone out of my fingers and I am so much stronger and better that I am able to do my housework without the least difficulty. I hope all who suffer as I did will take my advice and try Tanlac, for I am sure it will relieve them of their troubles."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

NEW CABINET'S ALMOST WHOLLY SAME 'OLD GANG'

Reshuffle With Two Additions Is Only Reconstruction.

AVOIDS BY-ELECTIONS

Meighen Leaves Status Quo of Borden Regime Undisturbed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 13.—To all intents and purposes the new Meighen cabinet is the same aggregation as Sir Robert Borden's when he resigned. A reshuffle and the filling of two vacancies constitute the sum total of the changes. The fact occasions no surprise at the capital, which entertained no illusions whatever as to the big annual session which convenes this year on September 13 in Windsor, was formally issued today.

Ottawa has watched them "walk right out, turn right around and walk right back again," to be fooled by a change of name and a set of rambling party morals. The new men have been brought in from the Maritime Provinces. They are F. B. McEwen, M. P. for Colchester, a wealthy broker and stock jobber, who becomes minister of public works; and Rupert W. Wignmore, M. P. for St. John, an insurance agent, who becomes minister of customs.

Had Slight Experience. Mr. McCurdy has had slight cabinet experience as parliamentary under-secretary of state. Mr. Wignmore's political career dates from 1911 and he has no parliamentary experience at all. Just what improvement they are upon the men they succeed, namely Messrs. Rowell and Burrell, is hard to ascertain. In addition there has been a bit of a shuffle in the cabinet. Mr. Meighen abandons his civil re-establishment and succeeds Premier Borden as minister of interior. The premier will also take over external affairs. Otherwise the status quo of the Borden Union cabinet remains undisturbed. Fourteen thousand a year makes good cabinet cement.

The fact that the thought of parting with that substantial little income speedily brought a cabinet, hostile to Premier Meighen, back to respectful loyalty, and if Premier Meighen had any thoughts of avenging himself upon the hostile members the thought was speedily dissipated by the dread spectre of by-elections. Under the present arrangement only three are required. In Yale, Colchester and St. John only will the public have a chance to pronounce upon the new party, its leader and government. East Elgin has nothing to do with the present shuffle.

Sir Robert Borden may have had something to do with it. He still roams the corridors of the privy council, and today watched with apparent satisfaction his new young successor, with a stern, worried visage and stooped, depressed shoulders, lead the "old gang" along the old worn path to the office of the governor-general. There were Sir George Foster, Sir Henry Drayton, (Had he not himself sought them all?), There were Right Hon. A. L. Sifton, Hon. James Calder, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, (Had he not converted them from Liberalism to Toryism?), There was Dr. Reid, his old political henchman, and one of the "originals" of 1911. And there was Hon. Gideon Robertson, whom he had chosen from the Senate, who was his own old crowd which fled by to be rejuvenated by the taking of still another oath of office, and whether they were rescued or forewarned makes little difference.

"You pull the damper out, and you push the damper in, and the smoke goes up the chimney just the same."

FARMERS DECIDE ON INDEPENDENT GROUP ACTION

Newly-Elected Members of Manitoba Legislature To Work Alone.

WINNIPEG, July 13.—(Canadian Press)—Formation of a Farmer-Independent group in the Manitoba Legislature was decided upon today at a meeting of the nine newly-elected members held here. After coming to the decision that it was advisable and necessary to form a definite organization of all members elected as independent Farmers and straight independents, the meeting adjourned until July 27, when a group leader is to be chosen. Today's meeting was called by W. McKinnel, member for Rockwood, who stated he believed the adjourned meeting would result in the formation of a strong group under a recognized leader.

"We propose to give no pledged support to any other group in the House, and will be strictly independent on all matters. The rumors that we are playing for cabinet representation have no foundation," said Mr. McKinnel.

FIVE BIG ISSUES TO BE DEALT WITH BY T. AND L. CONGRESS

Largest Convention of Its Kind Expected in Windsor September 13.

OFFICIAL CALL ISSUED

Profiteering, H. C. L. and Gigantic Mergers Amongst Subjects Named.

WINDSOR, July 13.—Declaring that labor must equip itself to combat the aggressive action which is still on foot to suppress trade unionism, and that the "control of instruments of production is being exercised by capitalistic classes in face of the fact that unemployment still exists," the official call of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, summoning local unions to appoint delegations to the big annual session which convenes this year on September 13 in Windsor, was formally issued today.

Plans are now under way here for the holding of the biggest event of its kind in Canadian labor circles. Headquarters for the convention will be established at the Windsor Hotel, where the meetings will be held in the armories. The attendance at last year's convention numbered 324, but the committee in charge of arrangements this year is preparing for a much larger number of delegates at the Windsor convention.

Five Big Issues. Although somewhat too early to allow of definite forecasts, it is already certain that five big issues will receive outstanding attention when the great assembly gathers. The are: "Prevalence of profiteering"; "high cost of living"; "unemployment"; "inequality of distribution of wealth," and "the formation of giant mergers." In addition to these economic aspects the relation of Canadian labor, through the League of Nations with trade unionism in other countries, will come in for considerable attention.

It is regarded here as questionable whether an inquest on the tattooed arm will be held as legal.

TORONTO, July 13.—No formal reply has been made by the executive of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire to the charges made by T. R. Ferguson, K.C., of this city, at the Orange demonstration here on July 12, that a plot was on foot by Catholics to gain control of the I. O. D. E., but members of the order here have denied the charges. One member said: "The question of creed has never been raised in the order." It was pointed out that in an executive of fifty members there were four Catholics, and these had been elected for their patriotic work, not because of their creed.

DYSPEPTIC DIET
NO LONGER NECESSARY

The old plan of prescribing strict diet for dyspeptics and stomach sufferers no longer popular among progressive medical men partly because of its weakening effect, but mostly because of the discovery that nearly all stomach trouble is due to excessive acidity. The right, but acids in the stomach irritate and inflame the delicate stomach lining and cause sourness and premature fermentation. The logical treatment, therefore, is to get rid of the acid, when natural painless digestion will follow. For this purpose a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bismarck Magnesia in a little water neutralizes the acid, stops the fermentation of the food, dispels the gas, and thus permits the stomach to proceed with its work without hindrance. Owing to its prompt and certain action Bismarck Magnesia, which is obtainable from any druggist, in either tablet or powder form, should always be used in preference to the other forms of magnesia such as the milks, citrates, carbonates or oxides. Stomach sufferers are advised to try this plan for three weeks and note results.—Adv.

LIBERAL MEMBERS BACKING UP DEWART ON RADIALS ISSUE

TORONTO, July 13.—Thirteen Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature attended a conference here today on the hydro-electric radial railway question. They approved of a statement issued by H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P., Liberal leader in Ontario, last week, to the effect that the provincial hydro-electric commission should be re-organized with five members, instead of three as at present, and that Hon. I. E. Lucas, former attorney-general, should not be retained on the hydro commission. They approved of Mr. Dewart's claim that if the hydro commission were reorganized, it would be necessary for the Government to appoint a royal commission to investigate the hydro radial situation. Confidence in the leadership of Mr. Dewart was expressed by the meeting in a resolution.

PLATFORM OF THIRD PARTY TO INCLUDE IRISH RECOGNITION

CHICAGO, July 13.—Unable to get a report for its platform committee, the party convention adjourned at 10:30 o'clock tonight. Platform and selection of candidates will be the order of business tomorrow morning.

Leaders of the New party, born today, were striving desperately tonight to solidify the strength of the minor groups, from which it came into unified political power.

Early moments of the New party's life were fraught with menacing situations. The joint chairman of the Labor party and the Committee of Forty-Eight battled for hours to keep the jealousies and distrust of the rival groups submerged, and the road open for the transaction of business.

Peacemakers Called.

Several times in the long-drawn-out afternoon session a break appeared not far away. Peacemakers were called to the platform several times, and by their appeals to the common aims of the delegates staved off, at least temporarily, the movement toward a break.

While the convention argued over the recognition extended its various elements under the amalgamation, the platform committee completed a draft of nine planks. According to members of the platform committee, the platform desires of several groups have been ignored in the draft.

To Keep Straightest, Unrullest Hair in Curl

The straightest, contrariest hair can be kept in curl, even in the hottest of damp weather, by such simple and harmless means, that the use of the drying, singeing, blistering curling iron is altogether inexcusable. One need only get a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine from the druggist and apply a little to the hair before doing it up. The result is quite remarkable. The hair is delightfully wavy and beautifully glossy, without being in the least greasy,ummy or streaked. The effect lasts very much longer than where curlers alone or waving irons are used.

The silmerine is best put on with a clean tooth brush, drawing this through the hair from crown to tip, preferably after dividing it into strands. The application seems to gradually improve the texture and health of the hair.—Adv.

The Only Dessert of This Kind

There are numerous forms of quick gelatine desserts. But Jiffy-Jell is the only one with the real-fruit flavors sealed in glass. They crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of the liquid fruit essence comes in each package of Jiffy-Jell. In a moment's time you can prepare a delicious fruit dessert.

Sugar is used in Jiffy-Jell—not saccharine. And real-fruit flavors, in place of artificial. It will give you a new conception of these delightful dainties.

Jiffy-Jell is often used in place of jam, marmalade, etc. Additional sugar may be used to suit the taste.

HOLDING THEM TO IT.

Mr. Lloyd George and his associates are having an interesting time with the Hun diplomats at Spa. The old enemy haggles in negotiation with the same evasiveness and obstinacy that marked his bogging surrender to the peace terms last year. He offers half the coal required by the treaty, raises that 25 per cent, 50 per cent, 60 per cent, ever thick-skinned and pedlarlike. The Hun is a pack-dog, clearly, but it is satisfactory that the premiers of civilized Europe and Japan insist this time on the fulfillment of the contract.

Disarmament is all-important, and Germany has agreed to carry this out by September 1. Delivery of coal is still evaded, but must be made or the allied forces will take the coal themselves. Germans affect not to realize that this particular repatriation falls far short of the injury done by their wreckers to French mines in the war. Then there is the trial of the war criminals which Berlin promised months ago to undertake, but so far not a single arrest has been made. They shuffle and make excuses, but here again the Allied ministers insist. The truth of history must be established and a warning held up against any future barbarism in war.

The trouble is that the German Government is not yet really democratic. The so-called "majority socialists" are and have been led by lime-servers, who during the war supported the old regime, voted all the credits and seconded the annexationist policies of the junkers. When in power after the "revolution," they made terms with the old order, allowed the assassination of men like Kurt Eisner who wanted real democracy, weeded out of the army all but servants of the junkers, and lately have done nothing to punish the Kapp rising but made a "white terror" in the Ruhr Valley, suppressing the democratic workmen. How expect such Germans holding power to try the war gully when they do not punish the extreme reactionaries who rise against them? Large numbers of men and women who openly opposed credits in the war and frankly demanded peace have been murdered by tools of the old army on the pretext that they were seeking to spread Bolshevism in Germany. Anyone who has lifted his finger or voice for a change of heart in militarist Germany is anathema. We see what sort of diplomats the Allied ministers have consented to meet at Spa. These thugs must be backed up against the wall and forced at the bayonet's point to make good some of their ravages, and hereafter keep the peace.

WHERE THE OFFENCE IS.

New wheat going at $4 a bushel in Baltimore sounds ominous for the cost of living in the near future. Some tell us that prices are soon going to drop, but every day's news tells another story up to date. Coal, clothes, bread and butter are not dropping. The Ottawa Government bulletins each month on prices corroborate not the banker optimists, but the newspaper reports.

Last month Mr. Ogden spoke to a Canadian labor audience on conditions in Great Britain. He insisted that there as here wages follow prices up, and not vice-versa. "It is unpleasant," he said, "for trades union officials to be asking wage increases every few months to keep pace with the cost of living. If the Government would use a strong hand and smash profiteering, wages will assume an amount of stability."

An American economist, W. Jett Lauck, who has recently made an expose of the whole matter of prices and wages, charges that every shareholder in companies earning excess profits in recent years is a profiteer. Mr. Lauck's figures, taken from company reports and from federal income tax returns, are quite convincing that extortionate prices have not been appreciably due to wage increase. But his remark on the shareholders lacks precision. He should say, at most, holders of common stock that has been heavily bonused. They are, of course, the real shareholders of any concern, though perhaps in many cases they have paid next to nothing for their stock, which is largely water. Preferred shareholders are, as such, no more than lenders of money to the holders of common stock. They receive a fixed rate of "dividend," no less, no more, if they are lucky, and, indeed, have all along suffered and continue to suffer from the diminishing value of their investment, due to the rising cost of living. They are not profiteers, nor plunderers, but the plundered. If Mr. Lauck does not consider these as really shareholders, he is no doubt right, but as ordinarily people owning preferred stock are regarded as shareholders, his statement that all shareholders in those prosperous companies are profiteers is misleading.

some instances at rates of 7 and 8 per cent. This may not be for the general good of the public, but one root of the whole matter is the profiteering of a few. Stop that and wages will tend to become more stable and the rise of interest checked. Where the offence really is, let the great axe fall.

THE MANITOBA RESULTS.

The Winnipeg Free Press complains that the lack of proportional voting in the rural ridings of Manitoba resulted in the election of Labor candidates, while the Montreal Gazette laments the fact that because of proportional voting in the city of Winnipeg Labor and Socialist candidates were elected there over candidates of a more regular stripe. If any conclusion can be drawn from these differing views it is that neither the Winnipeg nor the Montreal paper view with pleasure the advent of labor members into this provincial legislature. Perhaps there would have been fewer radical candidates elected in Manitoba generally if some of the people who were active in fighting the strike a year ago had fulfilled their promise made at that time to carry their work a little further, find out the reasons for discontent in Winnipeg and, if possible, remove them. The spectacle of the leaders of the Citizens' Committee appearing later as prosecutors and witnesses in the trials while forgetting all about their promises to redress grievances is partly responsible for a very evident bitterness in Manitoba today.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Where is "Bob" Rogers these days? Has he been heard from on the changes at Ottawa?

A course of reading in the field of Polar exploration might be an antidote for the hot summer days ahead.

Premier Meighen will have to adopt a style of address differing from that for which he has become famous if he is to get along with public audiences. Biting sarcasm and innuendo may be tolerated in Parliament, but it isn't the dress for a prime minister's utterances outside of Parliament.

After a more careful scrutiny of the candidates for presidential office in the United States the American press shows a most noticeable lack of enthusiasm for either of them. There was a period after the Civil War when the republic had a succession of mediocre presidents, a line that remained almost unbroken until Cleveland appeared, and that was again without distinction until the advent of Roosevelt. It is somewhat of a descent from Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson to men of as limited reputation as is possessed by either Harding or Cox.

HON. MACKENZIE KING'S SPEECH.

Part Opposition leader played in setting great coal strike. King Has Made Good. The terms of the new policy have already been sent to the Globe by the Associated Press, but Canadians who have watched Mr. King's steady progress as a student of industrial problems and a leader in industrial reform will be gratified to know that, in dealing with the most gigantic problem of capital and labor at the time and place where strikes, murders, civil war and two hundred indictments were the chief features, he has made abundantly good, justified his own decision of last year, brought honor to Canada's department of labor, which he established on sound economic foundations, and gives promise of even larger services in industry and politics in which Canada will share just as beneficially as the United States.

Mackenzie King will always be a Canadian, makes his headquarters in Ottawa, gives only a part of his time to the foundation's work outside of Canada, and holds his added study and wider experience for the loyal service of his native country. Certain it is this new experiment in Colorado achieves what its initial prospect promises, not Canada alone but the whole industrial world will have cause for gratitude that the misfortunes of politics in 1911 left Mackenzie King free for a while to tackle a big man's job. I have here, also, a letter from Mr. J. F. Welborn, president of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company of Denver, Colorado, which gives a statement from the company's point of view, and presents the significance of the work as it has grown with time. I do not wish to read this letter to the House, though if it were not taking up time unduly I should feel it a privilege to do so. I should be pleased if it might be permitted to appear on Hansard along with the other communication. There is one point in this letter to which I should like to direct attention. Mr. Welborn shows that as a result of the industrial councils formed that when the United States came into the war, the coal production in the mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company exceeded per man per day that of any of the other coal mines in the United States; and he attributes that success to the joint relations of capital and labor under the plan of industrial representation as drawn up.

Letter From Mr. J. F. Welborn. The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, Denver, Colorado. J. F. Welborn, President. December 20, 1919. My Dear Mr. King.— In the hope that it will be of interest to you and possibly to your friends, I will set forth briefly the work done by our company under new policies inaugurated at your suggestion and operated in accordance with your advice. In doing so I have thought it proper to review the method of adoption of those policies. You will recall that the coal strike of 1913-14 in Colorado was called off in December, 1914. Immediately thereafter, following out your suggestion, we asked employees at each of the coal mines to select one or more of their number to represent them at joint meetings with company officials for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual concern, and of considering means of more effective co-operation in maintaining fair and friendly relations. In response, representatives were chosen by secret ballot, the initial meeting between them and company officials being held early in January, 1915. Frequent conferences between the different company officials and employees' representatives, both individually and collectively, followed, and at a joint meeting of these representatives and company officials held in October, 1915, the plan of representation of employees and memorandum of agreement between them and the company (of which you made the first draft, and rendered valuable assistance in perfecting) were approved, submitted to adoption by the coal mine employees, and the board of directors of the company. Both of these actions were taken soon thereafter, the vote of the employees being by 84 per cent in favor of the adoption of the plan. The total number voting approximated 75 per cent of the regular working force. It is, perhaps, only fair to say that some of the officials of the company, as well as some of the mine workmen, entertained the feeling that it would be impossible or impracticable to make the principles laid down in the industrial plan effective. However, almost without exception, both wage-earners and management officials accepted the new regime established with the determination to do their utmost to make it a success. That we have succeeded there is no doubt in the minds of either the wage-earners, company officials or the public which our industry serves.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

A Detective Story by J. S. Fletcher. Copyright 1920, Fred A. Knopf. Copyright, 1920, by the Public Ledger Company.

"Yes, I do," said Spargo. "Rathbury's gone off to discover who the man is with whom Marbury left the Anglo-Oriental Hotel last night. That's his line."

"And you want—?" "I want to find out the full significance of that bit of paper, and who wrote it," answered Spargo. "You're really stuck down?"

"I want to know why that old man was coming to you when he was murdered." "Breton started." "By Jove!" he exclaimed. "I never thought of that. You—you really think he was coming to me when he struck down?" "Certain. Hadn't he got an address in the Temple? Wasn't he in the Temple? Of course he was trying to find you."

"But—the late hour?" "No matter. How else can you explain his presence in the Temple. I think he was asking his way. That's why I want to make some inquiries in this block." "It appeared to Spargo that a considerable number of people, chiefly of the office-boy variety, were desirous of making inquiries about the dead man. Being luncheon hour, that bit of Middle Temple lane where the body was found was thick with the inquisitive and the sensation-seeker, for the news of the murder had spread, and though there was nothing to see but the bare stones on which the body had lain, there were more open mouths and staring eyes around the entry than Spargo had seen for many a day.

"And the nuisance had become so great that the occupants of the adjacent chambers had sent for a policeman to move the curious away, and when Spargo and his companion presented themselves at the entry this policeman was being lectured as to his duties by a stolid, waxen-faced gentleman, in very snuffy and old-fashioned garments, and an ancient silk hat, who was obviously greatly exercised by the unwelcome commotion. "Drive them all out into the street!" exclaimed this personage. "Drive them all away, constable—into Fleet street, or upon the Embankment—anywhere, so long as you rid this place of them. This is a disgrace, and an inconvenience, a nuisance."

"That's old Cardstone," whispered Breton. "He's always irascible, and I don't suppose we'll get anything out of him." "Mr. Cardstone," he continued, making his way up to the old gentleman, who was now retreating up the stone steps, brandishing an umbrella as ancient as himself. "I was just coming to see you, sir. This is Mr. Spargo, a journalist, who is much interested in this murder."

"I know nothing about the murder, my dear sir!" exclaimed Mr. Cardstone. "And I never talk to journalists—a pack of busybodies, sir, saving your presence. I am not aware that any murder has been committed, and I object to my doorway being filled by a pack of office boys and street loungers. Murder indeed! I suppose the man fell down these steps and broke his neck—drunk, most likely." He opened his outer door as he spoke, and Breton, with a reassuring smile and a nod at Spargo, followed him into his chambers on the first landing, motioning the journalist to keep at their heels. "Mr. Elphick tells me that he was with you until a late hour last evening, Mr. Cardstone," he said. "Of course, neither of you heard anything suspicious?" "What should we hear that was suspicious in the Temple, sir?" demanded Mr. Cardstone angrily. "I hope the Temple is free from that sort of thing, young Mr. Breton. Your respected guardian and myself had a quiet evening on our usual peaceful pursuits, and when he went away all was as quiet as the grave, sir. What may have gone on in the chambers and around me, I know not. Fortunately our walls are thick, substantial. I say, sir, the man probably fell down and broke his neck. What he was doing here, I do not presume to say."

"Well, it's a mystery, you know, Mr. Cardstone," remarked Breton, again winking at Spargo. "But all that was found on this man was a scrap of paper on which my name and address were written. That's practically all that was known of him, except that he'd just arrived from Australia." Mr. Cardstone suddenly turned on the young barrister with a sharp, acute glance. "What's that?" he asked. "You say this man had your name and address on him, young Breton—yours? And that he came from Australia?" "That's so," answered Breton. "That's all that's known."

Mr. Cardstone put aside his umbrella, produced a bandana handkerchief of strong colors, and blew his nose in a reflective fashion. "That's a mysterious thing," he observed. "Um—does Elphick know all that?" "Breton looked at Spargo as if he was asking him for an explanation of Mr. Cardstone's altered manner. And Spargo took up the conversation. "No," he said. "All that I know is that Mr. Ronald Breton's name and address were found on the body. Mr. Elphick—here Spargo paused and looked at Breton—"Mr. Elphick," he presently continued, lowering his glance to the old barrister, "spoke of going to view the body."

"Ah!" exclaimed Mr. Cardstone eagerly. "It can be seen? Then I'll go and see it. Where is it?" Breton started. "But—my dear sir!" he said. "Why?" "I feel a proper curiosity about a mystery which occurs at my very door," he said. "Also, I have known more than one man who went to Australia. This might—I say might, young gentlemen—might be a man I had once known. Show me where this body is."

Poetry and Jest

THE BRAVEST BATTLE. (Joachim Miller.) The bravest battle that was ever fought, Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you will find it not.

'Twas fought by the mothers of men. Nay, not with cannon, or battle-shot, With sword, or noble pen; Nay, not with eloquent word or thought, From mouths of wonderful men.

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart— Of woman that would not yield, But bravely, silently bore her part— Lo! there is that battlefield!

No marching troop, no bivouac song; No banners to gleam and wave! But O! these battles they last so long— From babyhood to the grave!

Yet faithful still as a bridge of stars, She fights in her walled-up town— Fights on, and on, in endless wars, Then silent, unseen, goes down!

O! ye with banners and battle-shot And soldier to shout and praise, I tell you the kindest victories fought Are fought in these silent wars!

STRICTLY BUSINESS. (Tit-Bits.) Jack—Molly, dear, I'm knocking at the gate of your heart.

Molly—No, can't you read the notice there?—No admittance except on business.

WHAT DO WE PLANT? (Henry Abbey.) What do we plant when we plant a tree? We plant a ship which will cross the sea.

We plant a mast to carry the sails, We plant the beams to withstand the gales— A keel, a keelson, and prow and knee; We plant a ship when we plant a tree.

What do we plant when we plant a tree? We plant the houses for you and me, We plant the pillars, the shingles, the floors.

We plant the studding, the laths, the doors, The rafters and roof, all parts that be; We plant a home when we plant a tree.

What do we plant when we plant a tree? A thousand hopes that we daily see; We plant a spire to out-climb the gale, We plant a staff for our country's flag, We plant a shade, from the fierce sun.

We plant all wealth when we plant a tree! SUPPRESSING THE EVIDENCE. (Indianapolis News.) Writing is very puzzling to savages.

In South America on one occasion a native was sent by missionary to a friend with a note and four loaves of bread. The native ate one on the way and was amazed to find that the note discovered his theft. On the next occasion that he was sent with four loaves he sat on the note while eating one of them.

THE SMILING HOUSE. (Edwin Cartwright in Woman's Magazine.) I know a little smiling house beside the broad highway;

It fairly wishes to speak to you and bid you linger there.

The queer old gables on its roof all have a friendly air, As if they wished to speak to you and bid you linger there.

And clustered round the bigger house are the little feathered tenants who converse in singing words.

A roebush blushes in the yard beneath young summer's kiss, And shakes its silver cap of dew like creep in like a mouse.

Sometimes I want to rattle the latch and creep in like a house, And see what sort of folk they are who dwell in such a house.

And yet if I should find that things are not just what they seem, The little friendly smiling house might vanish like a dream.

And so I do not venture in, nor shall I ever pry, But when it smiles and beckons me, I nod—and hurry by.

FIFTY-FIFTY. (New Tribune.) "Dollars to doughnuts," now means about even money.

SONNET. (Edna St. Vincent Millay in Reedy's Mirror.) Oh, think not I am faithful to a vow; Faithless am I save to Love's self alone.

Were you not lovely I would leave you now; After the feet of Beauty fly my own, Were you not still my hunger's rarest food.

And water ever to my wildest thirst, I would desert you—think not but I would seek another, as I sought you first.

But you are mobile as the veering air, And all your charms more changeful than the tide; Wherefore to be inconstant is no care, I have but to continue at your side, So wanton, light and false, my love, are you.

I am most faithless when I most am true. A MODERN INDUSTRY. A motorist touring in a western state got stalled in a tenacious mudhole.

While making a vain attempt to escape, a horse appeared with a team of horses. "I am going to the mortuary," he remarked. "How much do you want?" "Three dollars."

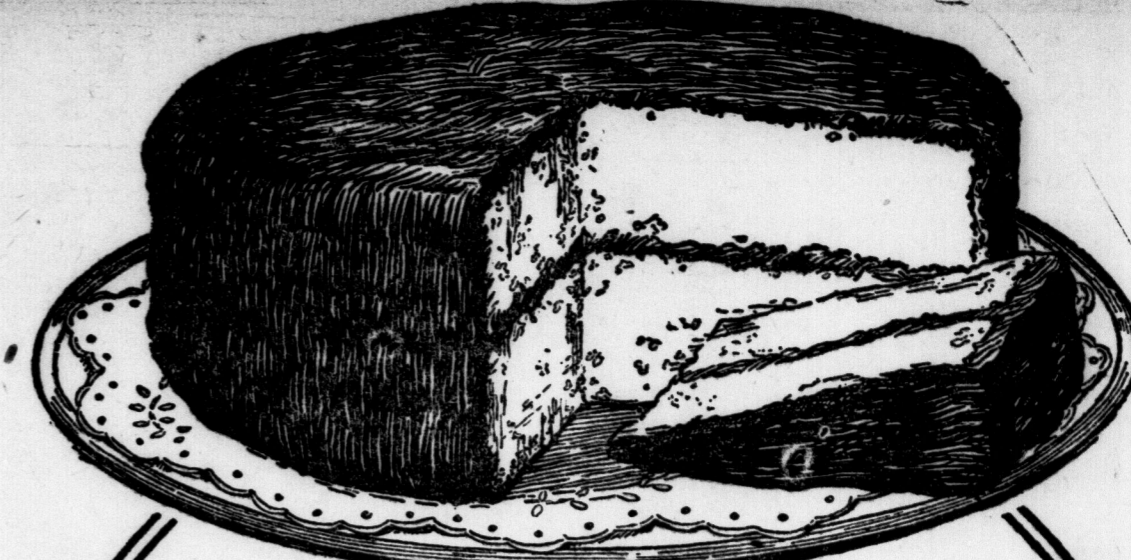

"After a long and fruitless argument the motorist was pulled to dry land. After handing over the money the motorist said: "Do you haul many cars out in a day?" "I have pulled out twelve today."

"Do you work nights, too?" "Yes, at night I haul water for the mudhole."

Those Good Brakes in a MAXWELL are aided by special steels

Brakes seem to be one of the overlooked features of a motor car. In a Maxwell they have had the extreme of attention.

For instance, a road engineer, in about 500,000 miles of experimental driving, has constantly tested and studied them.

That is why you can check the speed of a Maxwell in an instant and bring it to a standstill either by foot brake or hand brake.

Special steels in a Maxwell are largely responsible. They give it extra strength in wear and endurance, but they make the car light in weight.

MAXWELL MOTOR CO. of Canada, Limited, Windsor, Ont.

A. H. BURROWS 72 York Street, London, Ontario

Thus, when you call on it to halt, the brakes are not required to "wrestle" with superfluous weight, and the momentum of the car is easily stopped. These are steels made to Maxwell's own formulae. They equal, pound for pound, the steels in any car built. But no car has steels just like them. In a large measure they contribute to Maxwell's growing prestige, as expressed in figures like these: nearly 400,000 now in use; and 100,000 more for the year 1920.

Would Also Fight Military Drill in Schools.

There is a Canadian branch of the "Women's International League for Peace and Freedom" in Toronto, which sends out the following appeal to Canadian women, asking them to fight against the spirit of hatred which the war has left in its wake, and protest against military drill in Canadian schools, because it places emphasis on might rather than right. It also goes further, advocating a campaign against the manufacture and purchase of such military toys as tin soldiers, submarines, etc.

The Canadian branch of the league is situated at 32 Westminister avenue, Toronto, and asks that all general opinions of readers on this matter be forwarded there, to the secretary, Miss Hardy. The article, which is addressed to the women of Canada, reads as follows:

"The war has left its aftermath has left the peoples of Europe crushed. It is almost impossible to rejoice in our own victory when we think of the thousands of men left in physical and mental conditions somewhat worse than death, but of a hundred thousand in Europe who are near starvation, because of the waste of women and multitudes of wasted and joyless little children all slowly perishing from lack of food and shelter in this respect Allies and enemies suffer alike.

It is true for those who say that the suffering, especially in Central Europe is only fitting punishment for the common ignorance as to the underlying causes of war—beholders, our interests, our own futures, are in danger. We know that disease and plagues are being added to the miseries of the war-torn victims, and disease and plagues are being added to the miseries of the war-torn victims, and disease and plagues are being added to the miseries of the war-torn victims.

Hated Inheritance.
"The war's heritage of horror for little children, who have no nation, no speech by Lord Robert Cecil—is indeed a terrible one, but we have an impossible mission to undertake. From the war—a heritage of hatred, a hideous thing which is breeding intolerance and hatred in the hearts of men, progress in many and varied ways and steadily preparing the way for future wars.

It has always been the privilege of the natural vocation of women to comfort and care for humanity, and therefore it would seem that the efforts of this spirit of hatred into the spirit of humanness, must surely be our immediate duty.

It is so urgent at the present time as was the urgent work we carried on for the sick and wounded during the war and if we do not at once undertake it the lessons of the war will be lost, and civilization itself may suffer.

Against Military Drill.
"Then let us help in the work of true reconstruction by seeing to it that the children of Canada are not the first of all to respect human life, and that we should not put in its stead a system of physical training which will benefit girls as well as boys; also we should not neglect the teaching of anything which tends to rouse hatred or scorn for other peoples.

"The action of the women of Central Europe who have asked their governments to prohibit the making of military toys, such as tin soldiers, marines, etc., might well be followed by us, and a campaign against the purchasing of such toys in the present time, would be of educational value.

"In short, it should be our business to strip war of all its tinsel and its false glory, and instead of talking about atrocities we may show the world that war itself is the great atrocity. Women of Canada, will you take up this dividing line, and let us hope that men never can accomplish alone, the establishment of universal peace and freedom."

I noticed in a column of correspondence that some were asking about contests, so am sending two. Will you please send me some if you have any in the Mail-Box.

Rosa M. Pattern and one contest mailed to you. I think it was foolish, who asked for contests, and if she will please send a stamped, addressed envelope to the Mail-Box these will be forwarded to her.

Dear Cynthia Grey—I still devour all the good things in the Mail-Box, though of late there seems to have been a dearth of letters. For shame. And it's cherry pie time, too! One would think that the M.-B. had ceased its functions as a community recipe book. Where have all our good cooks gone?

I notice where Lonesome Alone wishes to correspond with any of the young folks. Inclosed find stamped and addressed envelope for address. With best regards to the Mail-Box.

MOURNING PINE.
Ans.—You mustn't judge the Mail-Box cooks too harshly. Did you not see where Mysterious Old Favorite was requesting us to "Have a Heart" and publish less of those luscious recipes?

I saw June Rosses' request for cure for rheumatism and thought I would try and help her. Kindly acknowledge any good if the pocket is hanging on the wall; it should be in the clothes closet.

Now, folks, have a good laugh. They say the backs of the Germans heads are flat and they have no brains. But my head isn't flat. I won't say how much there is in it, though.

I am also sending words of good for Long.

Now for a question. I am thinking of going to business college, and would like a list of clothes that would be necessary. KAISER WILHELM NO. 4.

Ans.—How can you suggest such an expensive cure in these times of shortages as luxuries. K. W. No. 4? I presume you mean to attend business college in the autumn, and would suggest a durable dark suit with a couple of silk shirtwaists to match, as well as a couple of lighter colored dresses for cooler weather, and a fall or winter long coat, and at least one pretty evening dress.

For the Hospital Fund.
Dear Miss Grey—Inclosed you will find 50 cents, a small contribution from mother and myself for the Children's Hospital fund. Kindly acknowledge receipt in The Advertiser, and oblige.

Wedding Queries.
Dear Miss Grey—Will you please answer the following questions:
1. Is it correct to answer a wedding invitation (acceptance or regrets)?
2. Should a bridesmaid buy her own gloves and pay for her carriage?
3. Also, are you supposed to send a present if you are asked to a shower, whether you go or not?
4. If not, is an apology necessary?
By answering above you will much oblige. VERY MUCH PUZZLED.

Ans.—1. In either case a prompt reply is expected.
2. The bridesmaid provides her own gloves, but the bride's father attends to the expense of conveyance.
3. It is customary, but optional, of course.
4. A shower is usually informal and your regrets may be expressed to the person giving the shower.

Requests.
I am coming again. This time for help. I saw in the paper where someone was asking for the butterfly pattern I would like to get it too, if it is in the Mail-Box. I would also like to get a bird pattern, if any of your readers have one. I will try and be of some help next time. Find inclosed addressed envelope and stamps if patterns come in.

SARDONYX.
Dear Miss Grey—As this is my very first time of writing to your Mail-Box, I hope I will not be too much trouble. Miss Grey, if you ever hear of a soltre cure will you please send it to me? I have a gotre, and suffer from it very much at times. Please write to me. I would advise you to write Dr. Brady's Department about your trouble by you it is reliable advice in the matter. I cannot print the cure you wrote about, as it takes the form of advertisement.

address from her, and write direct to me. I have good ones I would give me in return. Wishing the Mail-Box every success. ISABEL.

This is not my first visit to your Mail-Box. I have not called for some time. The Mail-Box is still the best part of The Advertiser, I think. You are kept busy, aren't you, Miss Grey? I am corresponding with two girls in the Mail-Box, and would like to correspond with Lonesome Alone. I think it is fun corresponding with someone you don't know. I am inclosing a stamped and addressed envelope for Lonesome Alone's address. Will you please send it to me? FORGET-ME-NOT.

Ans.—Glad you enjoy your Mail-Box correspondents. Address has been mailed to you.

THE PERFORMING DOGS.
Part Two.
"Now see what a fix you are in!" exclaimed Dandy yesterday when he said right here that Dandy had had no part in stealing Roderick. If he had no part in stealing Roderick, he would not like being a performing dog, would he? He would have warned the police dog puppy.
"But they will let me out," said Roderick. He thought he had been locked in the crate in mistake.
"No fear of that," said Dandy. "You are a young dog and young dogs are easy to train. Also, you are now one of the performing dogs."
Roderick did not know whether to be sad or glad. Why yesterday when he had heard how clever the performing dogs were he had longed to be like them. Now when he was being carried away from his friends, and the one who loved him, he was not so sure that he would enjoy this. He was not sure that he would not find that out and send me back.
"That's just what he won't do," Dandy replied. "None of us are more clever than other dogs—we're just trained." And at the thought of what he had gone through to become a performing dog, the Boston terrier shivered all over.

"Dear me. Is it as bad as that?" Roderick was sure now that he would not like being a performing dog.
"Oh, you'll learn to get used to it," said Dandy, trying to cheer Roderick up. "I'll show you how the boys and girls who clap so hard when our act comes on."
If Roderick still hoped he would be taken home, he was soon to lose the hope, for the crate was put on a train, and in a few minutes the train was many miles from his home. It seemed as though hours before the train stopped. The performing dogs' master, whose name was Biggs, came into the cage where the dog crates were and fed the dogs, one by one. When Rod's turn came he would not eat. He was feeling so miserable.
"Come on now, you can't pout here," said Biggs, but when he saw that Rod would not eat, he did not force him to. He thought Rod would feel better in the morning. And so Rod did.

There's Oil there

Says Mr. E. S. Estlin, Ontario Government Oil and Gas Commissioner.

Mr. E. S. Estlin, Ontario Government Oil and Gas Commissioner, says, based upon his vast experience, that he is convinced that we should get oil in abundance from the wells on the properties we control, and from the seven new wells which we purpose drilling.

There is lots of oil in the fields our properties adjoin. We are in the same strata west and south with the Union Natural Gas Company and the Bothwell Oil Company.

It is for this reason that we are offering 100,000 shares to finance the cleaning out of 22 wells in the Belle River district that are now producing oil in small quantities, and to finance the drilling of seven new wells, two in the Comber district and five in the Belle River district.

Shares $1.00 Each Payable 25c Monthly

These shares are $1.00 each, payable in cash at time of application, or 25c down and 25c per month.

We wish to be perfectly frank about it, and say that there is an element of speculation in this enterprise. We are not deluding ourselves and we are not out to delude investors.

Oil is there. We have more than an even chance of striking a gusher that should be a bonanza. If we do, it will return profits of an hundredfold or more to the original speculative investors.

MODERATE BREEZES PREDICTED AS START FOR SAILING RACES

Shamrock Goes For a Short Spin Under New Sail, Designed Against Air Pockets.

New York, July 14.—The Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's cup, enjoyed a short spin yesterday off Sandy Hook, while the defender Resolute spent the day at a station island dredlock where workers removed tar and oil from her hull. Today the two rivals will have a final workout for the international races, which begin on Thursday.

Using a new sail designed to avoid the pockets, should have no difficulty in taking her out for a short run down the coast. He expressed satisfaction late at the moment of spin charge. The rules were drawn up for the guidance of naval aircraft pilots, and it was expected that they would observe them in a spirit of good sportsmanship.

LOS ANGELES SCOUT PAYS A VISIT TO BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, July 13.—Scout Jack McCarthy of Los Angeles, who arrived in the city today, stated that he had come to take another look at infielder Harry Stupp of the Brantford team. He was disappointed when he learned that Stupp had broken a bone in his ankle on the recent road trip of the Sox. He leaves tomorrow afternoon for Cleveland, Scout McCarthy also stated that while on a recent visit with John McGraw at New York he had strongly advised the manager of the Giants to send a scout here for the purpose of looking over Stupp. The latter will be out of the game for the rest of the season, although he is able to get on and around on crutches.

SHORT SHIP AT FLINT

FLINT, Mich., July 13.—The Michigan short ship circuit opened here this afternoon under favorable auspices and the big crowd on hand saw a well-balanced card of racing. In record time, Lord Seymour won the 212 pace, after Bondell blew up in the first heat. Jack Cogan, driving Lottie D., in this event, was badly shaken up and had a narrow escape from death when his sulky struck a rail fence in rounding a turn. Cogan was thrown out directly in the path of horses behind.

12 CANUCKS ENTER SECOND STAGE OF THE KING'S PRIZE

Bisley, England, July 14.—By Canadian Press.—With twelve team members certain, and one attached member to shoot off Canada has creditable representation for the second stage of the King's prize. Last year eighteen Canadians entered the second stage, but the team then was pleasant, double. The weather is much better and the prospects are excellent for this afternoon's Kolapore match in which the mother country, Canada are represented. Australia's absence is probably explained by the fact that her leading marksmen, remaining at home for the imperial cup gathering and the prospects are excellent for this afternoon's Kolapore match in which the mother country, Canada are represented.

ONCE upon a time there was a peasant who said it was too cold to go out into the woods to chop logs for the fire, so he conceived the idea of chopping up the furniture.

In a short time he had disposed of the chair and table,—then being cold once more, he took out the window frames and burned them, and after the window frames, the doors.

These being burned he was colder than ever, thereupon he started to tear down the house and burn it piece by piece, until at the end, he had neither house nor heat.

The folly of this peasant is not unlike that of the person who for frivolous reasons sells his Victory Bonds which, by painstaking thrift and sacrifice, he acquired as protection for a rainy day.

He is disposing of a sheltering roof and knocking out the door that might serve later to keep away the wolf.

A Victory Bond is Capital!

No prudent man or firm ever dissipates Capital, for it is the foundation on which prosperity is based.

Anyone who dips into Capital for running expenses is courting trouble and possibly eventual ruin. Don't spend your Victory Bonds. To do so is like burning down the house to keep warm.

Reduced Operating Costs

IMPERIAL Polarine reduces automobile operating costs in many ways. By providing a piston-to-cylinder seal which assures maximum power. It helps to save friction waste in every moving part, keeps the engine running smoothly and out of the repair shop and minimizes depreciation.

Imperial Polarine prevents friction by coating every wearing surface with a heat and wear-resisting oil film. It seals all the power in the piston chamber. Imperial Polarine gives correct lubrication to every part of your car.

One of the three grades described below is specially suited to your motor. Look for the Imperial Polarine Chart of Recommendations when you buy oil and learn which grade to use.

Imperial Polarine is sold in sealed gallon and four-gallon cans, 12 1/2-gallon steel kegs, steel half-barrels and barrels, by dealers everywhere. There is an appreciable saving in buying half-barrels and barrels.

IMPERIAL Polarine MAKES A GOOD CAR BETTER. IMPERIAL POLARINE (Light medium body) IMPERIAL POLARINE HEAVY (Medium heavy body) IMPERIAL POLARINE A (Extra heavy body) A GRADE SPECIALLY SUITED TO YOUR MOTOR. IMPERIAL OIL LIMITED Power - Heat - Light - Lubrication Branches in all Cities.
