PREMIER DOES NOT ANNOUNCE

Three Wards Show Population Increase of Thousand

PLEBISCITE DATE IS "A PURE GUESS" THINKS FERGUSON

Premier Evades Announcement of Liquor Vote on October 23 Obtained by Leading Conservative Organ—Declines To Confirm or Definitely Deny That Date Set.

MAY BE TRICK TO TEST PUBLIC OPINION

The Morning Advertiser today, in company with other morning papers, published a despatch from Toronto announcing the decision of the Ontario government to hold a plebiscite on the liquor question on Thursday, Oct. 23. This announcement Premier Ferguson now declines to confirm, describing it as "a pure guess."

The announcement was first obtained in Toronto by the Mail and Empire and reached The Advertiser and other papers a few minutes later through the Canadian Press, a co-operative news-gathering agency maintained by Canadian newspapers, of which both The Advertiser and the Mail and Empire are members.

The Mail and Empire is recognized as the mouthpiece of Mr. Ferguson and his cabinet; it is also accepted as a reliable and cautious newspaper. In view of these facts it seems foolish to believe that the Mail and Empire would "guess" at such an announcement, or that it would need to guess.

The value of Premier Ferguson's evasion of confirmation must be judged in the light of these circumstances. One is led to conclude either that Mr. Ferguson is resorting to trickery in order to sound public opinion, or that his cabinet is in the throes of serious internal disagreements.

"PURE GUESS," SAYS THE PREMIER.

The following despatch from Toronto gives the premier's comment on the announcement:

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, July 17.—"A pure guess." This was the full extent of the comment made by Premier Ferguson today when asked as to the truth of a morning paper story to the effect that the Ontario government had decided to hold the liquor referendum on Thursday, Oct. 23.

"The article says that the government has decided," The Advertiser pointed out to the premier.

"It's a pure guess," repeated the premier.

"Do you think that the time is ripe?"

"I have declined to give any interviews on the subject," said the premier firmly, but politely.

The Morning Announcement.

The following despatch is the morning announcement of the plebiscite on Oct. 23.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, July 17.—Ontario citizens will pass upon the liquor issue on Thursday, October 23 next. Decision to hold a plebiscite upon that date has, after careful consideration, been reached by the government, and represents the fulfillment of Premier Ferguson's election-time pledge of a vote for the people "if and when public opinion demands it."

The form of the question to be voted upon is not yet being announced by the prime minister, but will be made public in plenty of time for the campaign purposes of both wet and dry forces.

The prime minister and his colleagues are desirous of giving the question the utmost deliberation and thought, with the object of submitting a proposition, the vote upon which may be accepted as accurately representing majority public opinion. Announcement of the question's form will be made in ample time to insure its fair discussion and comprehension by the people, it is said.

Along with the desire to make the question one in line with public opinion of the time, the premier states there is a determination upon the part of the government to make it one readily understandable by the voter.

"Trick ballot charges, which have resounded from wet platforms ever since the 1919 vote, will not, according to the government's resolve, persist from either side after this October vote."

TWO SMALL BLAZES CAUSED BY LIGHTNING

Lightning caused two fires in the city last evening, but neither was very serious. The Manufacturers' Building at Queens Park was struck and a switch box burned out. This blaze was extinguished with chemicals.

Lightning struck a wire outside the office of the George H. Belton Lumber Company and followed the wire into a fuse box which started to blaze. This blaze was put out with little trouble. There was no serious damage done, although the fuse box will have to be replaced.

JOKES AND GUESSES.

Premier Ferguson last week said he was "only joking" about the liquor plebiscite. Now the premier says "It's a guess," and evades the announcement made by his leading party organ.

BLOCK SIGNAL SYSTEM IS PUT INTO OPERATION

New System Is Tried Out by C. N. R. For First Time.

This morning at 10 o'clock the new block signal system on the C. N. R. between London and Komoka was put into operation for the first time. Passenger train No. 12 from Windsor, being the first to use it. This system is designed to permit of trains running more closely together when congestion arises. Signals are placed one mile apart, the distance between each one being called a "block." When a train enters a block it presses an electric contact in the rail. This illuminates a red light in the signal post, which remains burning until the train has passed on to the next block.

When a train is in the second block the light on the first one turns yellow, and when it has reached the third block the light in the first one changes to green. Thus an engineer on one train is always aware of the distance between his own train and the one ahead of it. The London-Komoka system is the third to be placed in operation in Ontario, similar ones being already used between Hamilton and Toronto, and Paris and Brantford.

DOMINION SEEKS VOICE ON BRITISH DELEGATION

Canada Objects to All Three British Representatives From Old Land.

ANGRY SCENES

Premier King Protests Against News Coming From Press First.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, July 17.—There was an angry scene in the commons this morning when Premier King was being questioned on Canadian representation at the inter-allied conference. Premier King had outlined communications which had passed between the Canadian and British governments in regard to Canadian representation at the conference and the stand taken by Canada. He had intimated that the Dominion Government was awaiting further advice from the British Government, when Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, read a press despatch of this morning's date bearing on the conference.

Premier King angrily replied that he had not seen the despatch, adding: "I want this house to know, and I want the British Government to know, that we are receiving information from the British Government in regard to Canadian representation from press dispatches read by the leader of the opposition. Mr. King heatedly protested against the press getting information with regard to what is taking place 'which is not given to the government of the country and which the government is not in a position to reply to.'"

Premier King stated previously that at the conference of dominion high commissioners it had developed that the purpose of the conference was not to arrange for separate dominion representation, but to inform the dominions of the nature of the representation which had already been decided upon. It was stated that not more than three representatives of the British Empire could be present at the conference, and accordingly all those who were to be representatives of the British Government.

Canada had objected, and taken the ground that the precedent followed at the Versailles peace conference and the Washington disarmament conference should be followed. As to objection by foreign nations to the internal organization of the British delegation, that said Premier King, was "none of their affair." To this Premier King received a reply, suggesting that something in the nature of a panel might be arranged with dominion representatives, and the conference from time to time. Reform Laws Lead To Crime

Says San Francisco Police Officer in Montreal.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, July 17.—Crime waves begin as soon as reformative laws go into operation, Capt. Duncan Matheson, of the San Francisco police department, declared last night in a paper on Law Enforcement and Causes of Crime, read to the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police now in session here.

Captain Matheson said that crime in the United States is on the increase, because of many-voiced laws passed at the behest of "so-called reformers," social nuisances, half-baked individuals, professional purifiers and ill-advised meddlers," ready for publicity and bent on making everybody's business their own.

NOT BRITISH SUBJECT CLAIMS FREE STATER

Irishman Faced With Possibility of Being Classed As Alien.

Are Free Staters alien?

"What's your nationality?" queried Assessment Commissioner Harry Bennett of a recent arrival in London from Cork, Ireland. "I am a Free Stater," was the proud response.

Well, in Canada, Irishmen will be classed as British subjects," he was told. "Oh, no, I'm not a British subject, I tell you. I'm a Free Stater." "Then I'll have to class you as an alien and you'll lose your vote," the commissioner said with finality.

An armistice developed and the new citizen was sold a ticket to the Irish picnic at Port Stanley next month.

"Now, you've bought a ticket from an 'Orangean,'" declared Mr. Bennett.

An explanation of the Irish Society was made with difficulty, the former Free Stater becoming almost convinced that he was not only a British subject but that he was already fraternizing with the descendants of the erstwhile enemy.

WOMAN HAS BOTH WRISTS BROKEN IN FALL TO CELLAR

Mrs. A. B. Nichols Injured in Accident in Home.

ALONE AT TIME

Finally Successful in Crawling Upstairs To Summon Doctor.

Mrs. A. B. Nichols, 36 Beaconsfield avenue, who fell down the cellar steps at her home yesterday and broke both her wrists, considers herself lucky that she was not injured more seriously. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital following the accident, and was kept there overnight to see if she had sustained any internal injuries.

Mrs. Nichols was carrying a clothes basket down the cellar steps and had just gone down to the first landing, when suddenly she lunged forward and to break her fall put out her hands. She fell down seven steps to the cellar floor, landing with considerable force. She also scratched her face, and there is a large lump on her forehead where she bumped the railing in her fall. There was no one in the house at the time, and it was some time before she was able to get up the stairs and summon help. She was able to get to the bathroom and from there crawled to the telephone, where she called the doctor.

It is not known what caused her fall, but it is believed she tripped over the ironing board, which was standing against the wall on the first landing, and before she could recover her balance, fell.

Man and Woman Go to Jail Following Drunken Party On Shore of Lake St. Clair Women Admit Drinking Liquor and Court Imposes Fine.

MUD TURTLE DINNER

High Constable Will Investigate Reports of Nude Bathing Party.

Special to The Advertiser By a Staff Reporter.

Chatham, July 17.—Residents of Chatham and Dover Township, who crowded the local police court this morning hoping to hear evidence regarding an alleged "Adam and Eve" bathing party late last Sunday afternoon on the shores of Lake St. Clair near the mouth of the Thames River, were doomed to disappointment.

There was a "party" held there, however, which was considerably pepped up by a gallon of moonshine whiskey purchased at a cost of $8 and which spelled trouble for six men and two women of Dover Township.

All appeared before County Magistrate A. B. Carscadden of Wallaceburg, pleaded guilty with one exception, and were fined under the O. T. A. Joseph Couture pleaded guilty of selling the liquor and was fined $200 or four months in jail. An inland revenue act charge is pending. Crown-Attorney Smith intimated.

Sent to Jail.

Gilbert Louzon, who had been ordered by the court some time ago not to seek the society of Mrs. Viola Trevaault, was not given the option of a fine, and was sent down for six months. Mrs. Trevaault was fined $100 and costs or two months in jail, and said she would serve a sentence. "There is an additional sentence of one month," added the court.

Ben Verman, Frank Louzon, rs. Gaspard St. Pierre and Omar Louzon, who all admitted being drunk on Sunday afternoon, were each fined $20 and costs, while Joe Cartier, who had been rather "sassy" to High Constable Peters when served with a summons, was fined $50 on advice of the crown attorney.

Frank Louzon told of the purchase of the liquor from Couture, and stated it was later hid in the rushes near a shack on the beach. Everybody felt good.

Mrs. Gaspard St. Pierre, a pretty young woman under 20, handed her baby to a friend while she admitted to the court she had been drunk. She and Mrs. Trevaault had imbibed from a bottle behind the shanty.

Invited To Dinner.

George Peltier said all the party was invited to partake of dinner with him and his wife. The meal consisted of mud turtle soup, mud turtle roast, and fish. Omar Louzon had grabbed his wife and had "turned him over." Gilbert and Omar wanted to fight him and he walked away. Some one told him to go back and fight, but his wife said, "beat it, and I listened to her."

"We all do," sympathized the crown attorney.

Mrs. Trevaault denied being drunk and when sworn to did not at first kiss the bible, in the opinion of the crown. Witness then gave a loud smack and asked Mr. Smith if he could hear it.

Both Mrs. Trevaault and Gilbert Louzon received tongue lashings from the court before sentence was passed. High Constable Peters stated that information he has regarding an alleged bathing party will be thoroughly probed "as soon as I can get at it."

Alex. Febrey, age 19, of the Pipe Line road, escaped with minor head injuries in what might have been a fatal accident on the Springbank highway, near Hull's store, last night. Febrey was driving toward the city in a roadster when, according to him, another machine shot out of a lane-way into his path.

Febrey was unable to stop before hitting the second car. He turned out to the side, with the result that his auto toppled over in the ditch and he was pinned underneath.

The machine which had turned out of the lane did not stop, but Febrey was able to give a description of it to High Constable Wharton, who was now working on the case and expects to locate the driver.

Febrey was knocked unconscious when his car turned over, but his injuries consisted of cuts about the head. He was pulled from under the car by spectators, and after being taken to his home was attended by Dr. Shafe. Febrey's car was badly damaged.

POPULATION IN LONDON SHOWS FINE INCREASE

Figures For Three Wards Place Total at 945 For Year.

DOUBLE LAST YEAR

Assessors Find Work Difficult Due to Many Changes.

The increase in population for three wards this year, as shown on the assessment rolls of the city, is double the increase for the whole city last year. Assessment Harry Bennett stated today that assessment returns for Wards Four, Three and Two had been completed.

The assessors canvassed in Ward Two has just been completed, and a population there of 10,200 is shown, an increase of 154 over last year. This makes the total increase in population of the three wards completed 945, almost twice the increase shown for the whole city in 1923. An increase is shown in all branches of the assessment department, and great difficulty was experienced by the staff in completing the work as soon as they did.

Assessors are now working on Ward One, and Commissioner Bennett report on Ward Two was forwarded today to the city clerk's office. "Ward Two shows a healthy growth," the commissioner stated. "It was not as large as Wards Three and Four, which have the annexed district with its low tax rate as an attraction."

"On the Part Three roll 1,924 names were recorded, an increase of 253, dose 361, an increase of 67; statute labor, 430, an increase of 101."

Children Young.

Most of the children in the ward are between the ages of 8 and 12 years. There are 818 of that age. Younger children, between the ages of 5 to 7 years, are also numerous. From 14 to 15 years are 242, and from 16 to 17 there are 197.

Children of school ages number 1,508, an increase of 100 over last year. There are 1,377 Protestant children and 231 Roman Catholic children.

Continuing in his report to the city council, Mr. Bennett says: "Tax collection and the court of revision necessitated thereby were also the cause of extra work for this department during June. The general public, as a rule, wait for their tax notice before having complaints, errors or omissions errors investigated. I have been trying to educate them through the press and otherwise, that the assessment notice, if attended to, gives opportunity for adjustment that are too late when the tax notices are issued, which is a 'come after the assessment is made.'"

"Income tax and business tax cause a lot of trouble to adjust, and also division of taxes when a sale has been made, especially when the deed has not been registered. Such adjustments have to be made with the authority of the court of revision."

Conducive to Privacy.

"Income assessment notices in former years were left at the place of business or residence of the person assessed. This year we assessed all incomes at the residence of the person assessed."

Today he warned men to avoid the grain pit. "If I had a son I would not let him touch it with a 10-foot pole," he said. When asked the reason for his statement, he replied: "Because there are so many men down there in the pit. People call them brokers. They are only part of that 'broke' party. No more than 10 per cent go into grain even remain, and most of the 10 per cent are broke."

FINANCIAL NOTES

Reported for The Advertiser.
By James Easton, McCallum, Toronto, July 17.—Unemployed of Toronto, who have now enrolled to the number of 6,000, according to the committee, held a mass meeting in front of the city hall today, urging that civil work be provided for the men.

The viaduct agreement has raised the hopes of many of those out of work. It is an early start on the waterfront improvement, will give employment to several thousand.

Following speeches a committee composed of James Burke, Jerry O'Brien and J. M. McGinley went into the hall to consult the board of control.

CANADA ATTRACTS WORLD TOURISTS

Hollanders Declare That Open Spaces Appeal To Their Countrymen.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, July 16.—Making a detailed tour of Canada which is part of their world trip, which has already occupied five years and four months, Paul Roman and Simon Zwaan, two Hollanders, arrived in Stratford for a short stay. The visitors said that Canada, with its vast open spaces, held a strong appeal to the Dutch.

Items will appear from day to day written by Max Morawetz, New York capitalist, entitled: "Survival of World Silver Situation Points to Materially Higher Silver Prices."

Beginning with what more properly should be left to the conclusion of the article, may seem somewhat extraneous, but it is felt that it can do no harm to offer right at the start, an opinion that aggressive, competitive buying of the sort may be expected throughout the remainder of the year.

Of course, it is possible, and in some quarters believed very probable, that attempts will be made to drive down the market price of the white metal by best served by a decline in the market price. However, such possibilities are recognized and any attack on the market for such purposes might prove costly to the instigators. But, if a drive is attempted and proved successful, I believe its effect would be only temporary, for over a period of many months, economic influences are bound to assert themselves.

A comprehensive study of the silver situation, therefore, starts one off with a survey and consideration of the fundamental factors of supply and demand. At the same time, in order to arrive at a thoroughly sound opinion one also is led to a consideration of various other matters some of which the layman may regard as having no bearing on the case, and yet, if omitted, might seriously influence one's final judgment.

DOMINIONS WILL JOIN IN REPARATION PARLEY

Senator Belcourt, Probable
Canadian Representative, Is Already in London.

QUESTION SETTLED

MacDonald Appeals To People of U. S. For Financial Help.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, July 16.—Official information regarding the status of Senator N. A. Belcourt of Canada, as a representative of the Dominion at the inter-allied conference, which opened here today, is lacking, but it is understood that an arrangement satisfactory to Canada has not yet been agreed upon.

The Daily News today says the British government has suggested a panel arrangement whereby the Dominions would be represented at the sessions alternately. Senator Belcourt has refused to accept this arrangement.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, July 16.—Representatives of the British dominions will probably add their own delegates to the allied conference on German reparations which began here today with plenipotentiaries of ten nations in attendance.

It was said on high authority that the question of dominion representation, which caused the first misunderstanding in connection with the conference, had been settled to the satisfaction of Canada and Ireland.

Canada and Ireland demanded a representative of their own if they were to be bound by the conference decisions.

Senator N. A. Belcourt of Ottawa, who will represent Canada, arrived here this afternoon.

The reported decision to admit the dominion delegates to the conference follows negotiations which have been in progress between the colonial office and dominion representatives in London.

Plenipotentiaries representing Great Britain, France, Belgium, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Greece, Rumania, and Serbia, together with the plenipotentiaries of the United States, were seated around the table when Premier MacDonald made his welcoming address today.

After responses by various delegates, three technical committees were named to formulate a agenda on the basis of the Franco-British communiqué of July 9. The committees will continue their work tomorrow morning, after which a second plenary session of the conference will be held.

The importance with which the European powers view the participation of the United States in the conference which will consider the experts' report on reparations was clearly indicated today during the deliberations.

Mr. MacDonald extended a special welcome to the United States representatives, Ambassador Kellogg and Colonel James A. Logan, Jr.

The high hopes which the appearance of the United States ambassador has raised among all delegates, emphasize the importance of the role which Mr. Kellogg may be called upon to assume in the critical stages which must be passed if the experts' report is to become an instrument for solving Europe's woes.

Though the conference opened in a spirit of confidence, all eyes may gather on the horizon at a moment's notice, especially if any effort should be made to enlarge the discussions to include those of military and political questions which have been declared must be excluded from the deliberations.

The real influence of the United States representative at the conference is expected to be felt if any note of discord arises at the table.

MacDonald Speaks.
"My first words and thoughts," said Premier MacDonald in opening the conference, "are those of welcome in behalf both of my country and government to the representatives of the nations that fought by our side while war was raging, and that now share with us the responsibility of bringing peace and security to Europe."

The prime minister briefly surveyed the problem up to the experts' committee stage, and commented upon the ability and unanimity of the experts, whose report placed an imperative obligation on the conference to put its proposals into effect without delay.

The policy which had been followed, he said, had not only failed to yield the expected reparations, but unsettled the minds of the peoples concerned, created aggressive militarism, and increased fear, thus shadowing all sense of security. He urged the conference to seize the new opportunity to create happier prospects.

The report would have to be taken as a whole or disagreements such as had occurred in the past would be overwhelming. Outlining the measures needed to create conditions under which the plan would be workable, Mr. MacDonald said:

Restore Germany.
"The first is that the economic and fiscal unity of Germany shall be restored. Second, that adequate security shall be given to creditors, who will be asked to advance a large loan, which is the basis of the plan."

The prime minister lay stress on the necessity of dealing with the experts' report only, and doing it in the businesslike manner the experts themselves had adopted. He described how the experts had devised a means

Aged Man Gets Jewels By Use of Bogus Bills

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, July 16.—Eight counterfeit $100 United States bills were passed on a Toronto jewelry firm today by an elderly man, who purchased a $900 diamond pendant. Early in the day he made a selection and gave a deposit of a $100 genuine bill. In the afternoon he returned to complete the purchase and gave the clerk eight $100 bills.

When the cashier was checking up the cash for the day the firm's suspicion of the man's bills aroused his suspicions and a bank official later confirmed the suspicion that the bills were spurious. The police were notified, but no trace has been found of the culprit.

for the reconstruction of Germany side by side with the payment of substantial reparations, thereby doubly contributing to the reconstruction of Europe. It was Germany's own interest to carry out the plan, which not merely obtained payments from Germany, but attempted to insure stabilization of German currency and balancing the German budget.

"In fact," he contended, "the plan offered the one hope for Germany of climbing out of the financial morass into which she had almost irretrievably sunk."

Has anybody contemplated the lamentable consequences of a disagreement? asked the prime minister. "Without unity there will be no security; without security there will be no peace."

Addressing United States Ambassador Kellogg, the premier said: "I wish to extend a special welcome to the representatives of the United States. I know they are not here as full delegates. The position in America prevents that. But they are here as an evidence of co-operation and good will. America was a great partner of ours in the days when we were at war; her mind illuminates the report which brought us here together."

Urges Financial Help.
"We shall ask her, not as a government, but as a people with many resources and with good hearts, to take part in the financial schemes which will have to be put into operation if there is to be a speedy reconstruction of Europe."

M. Herriot, addressing the conference, said: "Mr. Prime Minister, I shall certainly be voicing the views of the delegates assembled when I thank you for the noble words you have just uttered. Each one of us, the representatives whom you have invited here, we are here to fulfill the duty which we owe to the interests of people who have had to suffer equally and for a long time through an atrocious war with the necessity of restoring peace, for which we all ought to aim. We are particularly glad, like you, Mr. Premier, to see our good friends from the United States."

I feel sure that I shall voice our general feelings when I say I do not know whether the question has been raised, but may I raise it myself?—when I ask you on behalf of my colleagues to act as chairman and assume the direction of our meetings."

The United States ambassador, in replying to Premier MacDonald's welcome, said it was true the United States representatives did not come in the same capacity or with the same powers as the other delegates, but they had come in the same spirit and desire to be helpful.

REDISTRIBUTION
BILL ADOPTED

Duff Fails in Move To Retain
Sixteen Nova Scotia
Seats.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, July 16.—The redistribution bill, which has been in contention for two sessions, received third reading in the house shortly after midnight. The Duff amendment in regard to Maritime representation was declared by the deputy speaker to be out of order.

William Duff (Liberal, Lunenburg) moved in committee an amendment providing that if the British North America act should be amended before the coming into effect of the redistribution bill, so as to legalize Nova Scotia retaining her sixteen seats in the Commons, the present electoral map of that province should not be disturbed.

Hon. E. M. MacDonald, who was chairman of the redistribution committee, supported the amendment. He stated that under the British North America Act the Canadian Parliament could not redistribute the seats more than once in ten years. It had not been deemed desirable at this late date in the session to ask Parliament to pass an address to his majesty requesting an amendment to the British North America Act to enable Nova Scotia to retain her present number of members. However, unless provision was made in the present bill for 16 members for Nova Scotia, the number could not be increased again for ten years. Consequently it was proposed to provide for the two additional constituencies conditional upon an address being passed by the Canadian Parliament for that purpose and upon the British North America Act being amended by the Imperial Parliament.

The amendment, he argued, did not bind Parliament but merely made it possible for Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to get a hearing next year.

Deputy Speaker Gordon then called attention to a point of order. Section 2 of the bill enacted that Nova Scotia should have 14 members. The amendment proposed stated that that province should have 16 members. It was a question whether the amendment was a violation of the rule providing that no amendment could be moved which came into conflict with a decision previously reached in the same stage of proceedings.

Hon. Charles Maclellan (Liberal, Bonaventure) took the ground that Confederation was a contract and one of the conditions of that contract was that Quebec should be the basis of representation in the House of Commons. He gravely doubted whether the Imperial Parliament would accept an amendment to the

B.N.A. act until it was agreed to by the provinces. The deputy speaker then declared it out of order.

HOUSE GETS AMENDMENT

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, July 16.—An act amending the expropriations act, covering certain cases which arose in connection with the construction of the Welland Canal, was taken up in committee in the House of Commons this afternoon.

The bill enables the government to carry on blasting operations in public, notwithstanding court orders to restrain the same under certain circumstances. The bill was given third reading.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by flat, bloated feeling after eating are among the earliest evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called acid indigestion.

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, and leads to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and flat right out of the body, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive for stomach purposes, and is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advt.

INSTALLMENT 10. THE LAW OF MEAT.

He travelled very clumsily. He ran into sticks and things. A twig that he thought a long way off, would the next instant hit him on the nose or rake along his ribs. There were inequalities of surface. Sometimes he was stepped and stubbed his nose. Quite as often he understood and stubbed his feet. Then there were the pebbles and stones that turned under him as he trod upon them; and from them he came to know that the things not alive were not all in the same state of stable equilibrium, that some things were more liable than large things to fall down or turn over. But with every mishap he was learning. He was learning to adjust himself. He was learning to calculate his own muscular movements, to know his physical limitations, to measure distances between objects, and between objects and himself.

His luck was the luck of the beginner. Born to be a hunter of meat, (though he did not know it), he blundered upon meat just outside his den. It was a dead hare, lying on the ground. It was by sheer blundering that he chanced upon the shrewdly hidden ptarmigan nest. He fell into it. He had essayed to walk along the trunk of a fallen pine, rotten bark gave way under his feet, and with a despairing yelp he pitched down the rounded trunk, tumbling through the leafage and stalks of a small bush, and in the heart of the bush, on the ground, fetched up among the rounded stems of a ptarmigan nest. There was a crunching sound as he landed, and he felt the movement of the nest. He placed his paw on one, and its movements were accelerated. This was a source of enjoyment to him. He picked it up in his mouth. It struggled and tickled his tongue. At the same time he was made aware of the presence of hunger. His jaws closed together. There was a crunching of fragile bones, and warm blood ran in his mouth. The taste of it was good. This was meat, the same as his mother gave him, only it was alive and between his teeth and therefore better. So he ate the ptarmigan. Nor did he stop till he had devoured the whole brood. Then he licked his chops in quite the same way his mother did, and began to crawl out of the bush.

He encountered a feathered whirlwind. He was confused and blinded by the rush of it and the beat of its wings. He hid his head and between his paws and yelped. The blows increased. The mother ptarmigan was in a fury. Then he became angry. He rose up, snarling and lunged out with his paws. He sank his tiny teeth into one of the wings and tugged steadily. The ptarmigan squirmed against him, showering blows upon him with her free wing. It was his first battle. He elated. He forgot all about the unknown. He no longer was afraid of anything. He was fighting, tearing at a live thing that was striking at him. Also this live thing was meat. The last to kill was on him. He had just destroyed little live things. He would now destroy a big live thing. He was too busy and happy to know that he was happy. He was thrilling and exulting in ways new to him and greater to him than he had known before.

He held on to the wing and growled between his tight clenched teeth. The ptarmigan dragged him out of the bush. When he turned and tried to drag him back into the bush's shelter, he pulled her away from it and on into the open. And all the time she was making outcry and striking with her wing, while feathers were flying like a snow-fall. The pitch to which he was aroused was tremendous. All the fighting blood of his breed was up in him and surged through him. This was living, though he did not know it. He was feeling his meaning in the world; he was doing that for which he was made—killing meat and battling to kill it. He was justifying his existence, that which life can do no greater, for life achieves its summit when it does to the uttermost that which it was equipped to do. After a time the ptarmigan ceased her struggling. He held her by the wing, and they lay on the ground and looked at each other. He tried to pecked on his nose, which by now, what of previous adventures, was sore. He winced but held on. She pecked him again and again. From

He was still whimpering when the mother weasel reappeared. She did not rush him, now that her young one was safe. She approached more cautiously and the cub had full opportunity to observe her lean, snake-like body, and her head erect, eager, and snake-like itself. Her sharp, menacing cry sent the hair bristling along his back, and he snarled warningly at her. She came closer and closer. There was a leap, swifter than his unpracticed sight, and the lean, yellow body disappeared for a moment out of his field of vision. The next moment she was at his throat, her teeth buried in his hair and flesh.

At first he snarled and tried to fight, but he was very young, and this was only his first day in the world, and his snarl became a whimper, his fight a struggle to escape. The weasel never relaxed her hold. She hung on, striving to press down with her teeth to the great vein where his life blood bubbled. The weasel was a drinker of blood, and it was ever her preference, to drink from the throat of its itself.

The gray cub would have died, and there would have been no story to write about him, had not the she-wolf come bounding through the bushes. The weasel let go the cub and flashed at the she-wolf's throat, but getting a hold on the cub's head like the snap of a whip, breaking the weasel's hold and flinging it high in the air. And still in the air, the she-wolf's jaws closed on the lean, yellow body, and the weasel knew death between the crunching teeth.

The cub experienced another access of affection on the part of his mother. Her joy at finding him seemed greater even than his joy at being found. She nuzzled him and caressed him and licked the cuts made in him by the weasel's teeth. Then, between them, mother and cub, they ate the blood drinker, and after that went back to the cave and slept.

CANTEEN PROPOSAL BEING CONSIDERED

Bill Passes Rapidly Through All Stages of the Commons.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, July 16.—A proposal that the government should pay the expenses of distributing the canteen funds of the Canadian expeditionary force was made in the House of Commons when the bill to dispose of money still in the hands of the receiver-general was considered in all stages of the Commons.

Brigadier-General J. A. Clark (Conservative, Burrard) thought the men should not be asked to pay the staff which will be appointed in Ottawa under a commission of three, which will co-operate with the provinces in distributing the money. Hon. Dr. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment, had explained that this commission would not be paid. A sum of $100,000 had been set aside out of the fund for expenses of distribution. If the interest thereon did not pay any staff required in Ottawa—Dr. Beland thought four or five people could handle the work—the principal could be drawn upon. General Clark thought the government should pay this staff and leave the fund intact for the soldiers. Dr. Beland did not agree with him. The bill passed rapidly through all stages of the Commons.

That the Canadian Mother May Have Quick and Ready Information On Feeding Her Child

BORDEN'S EAGLE BRAND MILK

In the following charts and data we provide the Canadian mother with the necessary information she may require for the use of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk for her child. You will note that the directions provide for a child from three days of age through until the child is 24 months old.

In addition to the directions for feeding Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, the mother should read carefully the suggestions which should be adopted in connection with the use of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. The Borden Company Limited is proud of the fact that it has been helpful in the raising of many, many Canadian infants into sturdy boys and girls and men and women who are a credit to their country. IMPORTANT.—In preparing feeding mixtures it is imperative that all utensils, bottles, nipples, etc., should be sterilized in boiling water before using. Use a dry spoon in removing contents from the can, and in measuring be careful to pour from can to spoon, allowing the milk in the spoon to level itself. Repeat this procedure with every spoonful measured, using the same spoon every time. This will insure accurate measurement and produce the best results.

DIET FOR CHILD DURING THE SECOND YEAR

Usually after the twelfth month, the mother should select a diet schedule. Every new article of food should be carefully prepared, and given at first in very small quantities. All meals are to be given regularly, with nothing between meals. With many children this expansion of the diet list is attended with considerable difficulty. They are thoroughly satisfied with milk, and refuse all other form of nourishment. In such cases, withhold the milk until the more solid articles of food have been eaten. If both are given at the same time, the child is never advisable to make a change in diet during very hot weather.

NOTE: One teaspoonful of EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK added to one ounce of boiled water results in a mixture equivalent in nutritive value to whole milk. Whenever the word milk appears in the following diet, EAGLE BRAND should be diluted accordingly.

12th to 15th MONTH—FIVE MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, barley, or wheat jelly, one to two tablespoonfuls in 8 ounces of milk. Stale bread and butter, or rusks and butter.
9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.
11 A.M.—Scraped raw beef, one to three tablespoonfuls, mixed with equal quantity of bread and moistened with beef-juice. Or a soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs; a piece of rusks or 6 or 8 ounces of milk.
3 P.M.—Beef, chicken, or mutton broth, with rice or stale bread broken into the broth. Six ounces of milk, if wanted. Stale bread and butter.
6 P.M.—Two tablespoonfuls of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.
10 P.M.—A tablespoonful of cereal jelly in 8 ounces of milk.

15th to 18th MONTH—FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Oatmeal, hominy, cornmeal, each cooked three hours the day before they are used. When the cooking is completed the cereal should be of the consistency of a thin paste. This is strained through a colander, which upon cooling will form a mass of jelly-like consistency. Of this give two or three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, 8 or 10 ounces of milk as a drink. Toast.
9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.
11 A.M.—A soft-boiled egg mixed with stale bread-crumbs, or one tablespoonful of scraped beef mixed with stale bread-crumbs and moistened with beef-juice. A drink of milk. Rusks or bran biscuit, or stale bread and butter.
3 P.M.—Mutton, chicken, or beef broth, with rice or junket or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes, baked apple or apple sauce.
6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (cooked two hours). Give from one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk. A drink of milk. Rusks or stale bread and butter.

18th to 24th MONTH—FOUR MEALS DAILY

7 A.M.—Cornmeal, oatmeal, hominy (prepared as in the above schedule). Serve with milk, or with butter and salt. A soft-boiled egg every two or three days. Hashed chicken on toast occasionally. A drink of milk. Bran biscuit and butter, or stale bread and butter.
9 A.M.—The juice of one orange.
11 A.M.—Rare beef minced or scraped; the heart of a lamb chop, finely cut. Chicken, spinach, asparagus tips, squash, strained stewed tomatoes, stewed carrots, mashed cauliflower. Baked apple or apple-sauce. Stale bread and butter. After the twenty-first month, baked potatoes and well-cooked strained beets.
3 P.M.—Chicken, beef or mutton broth, with rice or with stale bread broken into the broth. Custard, corn-starch, or plain rice pudding, junket, stewed prunes. Bran biscuit and butter or stale bread and butter.
6 P.M.—Farina, cream of wheat, wheatena (each cooked two hours). Give one to three tablespoonfuls, served with milk, or with butter and salt. A drink of milk. Rusks or stale bread and butter.

The following suggestions have proved to be helpful when properly used with bottle feedings, and they may be used in conjunction with Eagle Brand Condensed Milk.

Always pour the milk from the can into the spoon—allowing it to level itself but not run over. You can readily understand that by dipping the spoon into the can you get more than a level spoonful, because of the milk that would adhere to the bottom of the spoon. When you have added the milk to the water stir thoroughly. This is important. After opening, it is safe to leave the milk in the original can. We recommend that you cover the can tightly with an inverted cup, and keep it in a cool, clean place.

ORANGE JUICE

When baby is four months old, give one teaspoonful of strained orange juice, diluted with equal quantity of boiled water, once daily before feeding time. Gradually increase the amount until you are giving the strained juice of a half of an orange undiluted, once daily before feeding time. Orange juice may be continued until child is old enough to eat other fruits as well as oranges.

OATMEAL JELLY

When baby is five months old, add one teaspoonful of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. Gradually increase the amount until you are adding three tablespoonfuls of oatmeal jelly to each feeding. To make oatmeal jelly add four ounces of oatmeal to one pint of water; boil for three hours in a double boiler, and add enough water so when cooking is completed a thin paste will be formed. This while hot is forced through a strainer to remove coarser particles. When cold a semi-mass will be formed. Oatmeal jelly may be continued until child is old enough to eat well cooked whole cereals.

CONSTIPATION

Oatmeal water very often relieves this condition. To make oatmeal water add one heaping tablespoonful of oatmeal to one pint of water, and boil for three hours in a double boiler. This will make a little more than half a pint of thick gruel to which add one pint of water that has been boiled. After straining mixture through fine strainer, you should have a little more than a pint of whitish liquid. This should be used with each feeding instead of the plain boiled water. If you find that this makes bowels too loose, dilute oatmeal water with plain boiled water. Barley or rice water may be used instead of oatmeal water. If necessary two to three drops of plain cod liver oil may be given twice daily added to the morning and night feedings.

DIARRHEA

Give nothing but plain boiled water for twenty-four hours. Then start feeding with barley water, or rice water, which has been added a little salt to improve the taste. If these feedings are retained, and bowel movements lessened, small amounts of very weak regular feedings may be started and gradually increased according to baby's condition. If your baby does not improve after trying the above suggestions, consult your doctor at once.

BARLEY WATER

Obtain the very best barley flour. Add one rounded tablespoonful to one pint of water. Boil for thirty minutes, strain, then add enough water to make one pint.

RICE WATER

Add one tablespoonful of rice to a pint of water. Boil three hours, adding water from time to time so that you will have one pint of rice water at the end of the three hours.

LIME WATER

It is seldom necessary to use lime water of Eagle Brand Milk but should there be undigested particles of food in the bowel movements (which seem to be otherwise normal) or should there be vomiting of large curds shortly after feeding—or colic—it would be then advisable to try lime water. Obtain freshly prepared lime water at the Druggists, of which add 1 to 2 teaspoonfuls to each feeding.

COLIC OR VOMITING

These conditions may be due to over feeding, or constipation. Reduce quantity of food and use constipation formula, or lime water formula, as given above.

The Drift of Population.

It was quite natural that J. L. Stansell, Conservative, of East Elgin, and G. A. Bretherton, Progressive, of East Peterborough, should register complaint against the report of the redistribution committee, for in each case their seat has been taken from them.

Mr. Stansell's riding of East Elgin has a population of 17,306, by the 1921 census, and East Peterborough 13,716. East Elgin is largely a rural riding, composed of Bayham, South Dorchester, Malahide, Yarmouth, the town of Aylmer and villages of Port Stanley, Springfield and Vienna. It had less population in 1921 than in 1901 by 555.

The rural constituencies show this same tendency in many cases. West Middlesex, made up of Adelaide, Caradoc, Delaware, Ekfrid, Lobo, McGillivray, Metcalfe, Mosa, East and West Williams, Parkhill, Strathroy, Ailsa Craig, Glenora, Newbury and Wardsville, had 31,387 in 1901 and 25,033 in 1921. East Middlesex, comprising Biddulph, North Dorchester, London (Township), West Nissouri, Westminster, part of London City and the village of Lucan, had 23,339 in 1901 and 27,994 in 1921, but the increase comes from part of London which was placed in the riding. The townships of Biddulph, Dorchester, London, West Nissouri and the village of Lucan all show decreases.

West Lambton shows an increase by the growth of Sarnia, the townships all registering a decrease. East Lambton has fewer people than in 1901 by 8,639; each township shows a decrease, the towns of Rothwell, Dresden, Forest and Petrolia have less population than in 1901; the same is true of the villages of Alvinston, Arkona, Oil Springs, Thamesville, Thedford and Watford.

The ridings that have no cities to bolster up the figures show what has been taking place. Here are some of them in Ontario:

	1901.	1921.
North Huron	30,966	23,540
South Huron	30,854	23,548
Southeast Grey	26,587	23,384
Durham	27,570	24,629
Dufferin	21,036	15,415
North Bruce	31,596	23,413
North Bruce	27,424	20,872
Lennox	27,232	22,993
Lennox and Addington	23,346	18,094
Norfolk	29,149	26,366
South Perth	20,615	18,382
North Wellington	26,120	19,883

Hon. Arthur Meighen, in considering redistribution, claimed that the rural ridings were given too great an advantage in retaining members on their present population, when the unit of representation in the cities was so much greater, around the 50,000 mark.

Mr. Meighen overlooks one thing that the committee apparently considered, viz., that the need for these rural ridings having a voice in the affairs of state was even now greater than before. They have a problem that must be considered. The men who remain in these depopulated sections have to carry the whole load formerly borne by many more residents.

Premier King also made another point to show that the cities are and have been well treated, in that since Confederation nine-tenths of the cabinet ministers have come from urban centers. Just why this should be is hard to state, but it is a fact.

The redistribution committee did very well to give the rural ridings, with their lesser populations, a good representation in the Ottawa House.

"King Benjamin" and His Terms.

"King" Benjamin, or in common terms Benjamin Purnell, head of the freak religious House of David in Michigan, has been a fugitive from justice for eighteen months.

His attorney says he will return and stand trial if the state authorities will "lay off" their propaganda against these long-haired freaks for a period of six months.

Very interesting. But since when did King Benjamin attain the status of being able to stand up and dictate the terms on which he would face justice?

The thing is very plain. If he has broken the law he should be brought to trial. If he has not, he should not be brought to trial. The state authorities are surely competent to decide that, and it looks like a form of rank impertinence for this self-anointed king to lay down terms on which he will face justice.

The state authorities should show him in short order just who is running the country.

The Next Step in Church Union.

The church union bill has passed the Commons, after a slight alteration being made by the Senate in regard to the method of taking the vote. One of the commendable things is the quiet and dignified manner in which the measure leaves the House, and awaits the signature of the governor-general to make it operative.

When it made its appearance at Ottawa it was an issue on which men could differ and did differ, and there was every prospect of considerable feeling being shown over it. The arguments before the private bills committee, though, were conducted on a high plane; both sides had their best talent on hand, and in debating calibre Ottawa has seen nothing to equal it in a long time.

The bill has gone from the committee to Parliament, to the Senate and back to Parliament, and all through the discussions have reflected the ideals, if not the standard, set by the ministers appearing before the private bills committee.

The next step will be taken by the individual churches. When the measure becomes law, voting on it will begin as early as the 10th of December, and must conclude not later than the 10th of June, 1925.

The taking of the vote will be by the individual congregations; it will not be arranged by the session, probably for the reason that in Methodist churches there is no session. Although the Ottawa reports state that the vote may be taken either by ballot or at a church meeting of congregations wishing to remain out of the united church, the probability is that the voting will be done by ballot. There will be more care exercised in the distribution and collection of these ballots than is generally displayed in the average church election, for the future of the course to be taken by the majority and minority depends entirely on it.

Nor will there be any standard or set ballot that will have to be used all over the country. Apparently each congregation can arrange the wording for itself. A straight majority will decide on the course to be adopted by the church. If the majority votes union that majority retains the church property; if the majority vote anti-union, the property passes to them.

There is a different disposition to be made of the church trust funds, which in the case of the Presbyterians amount to many millions of dollars. After the churches have finished voting, which must be by the 10th day of June next, the non-concurring congregations, which can be determined by the vote, appoint three arbitrators; the concurring congregations (for which will then be known as the Unionists) appoint three also; these six select three more, making a body of nine to distribute the trust funds as indicated by the vote, and from their decision there can be no appeal. It is the trust funds of the Presbyterian Church, and not the church property, that is to be divided by this board of arbitrators, the disposition of the church property in each case being decided by the vote of that church—it goes either to the unionists or to those who do not see their way clear to go in, depending on which view secures the majority vote of the congregation.

There is considerable satisfaction expressed by both those favoring and opposed to union that the measure has passed the Commons and has now reached a stage where both sides can look ahead. This does not mean that the whole matter is settled, as there are many steps to be taken yet, and the fact that an injunction to restrain the movement is slated for hearing at Osgoode Hall in October may bring the matter before the courts, particularly as it refers to federal and provincial jurisdiction. Just how the ultimate working out of union will affect the churches is a matter that cannot be determined. How will it work out in London, for instance? Will it mean that any congregations will be merged? That is a question that no one seems prepared to answer. There will need to be a broad-minded view of the outlook by all who become partners in church union; they may even be cases where they would be called upon to leave old associations and take up new ones in the general working out of the plan.

Were the three churches to unite on a 100 per cent basis it would bring together the following bodies:

Presbyterians	369,939
Methodists	407,264
Congregationalists	31,056

Total

The value of church property, as near as can be estimated, is:

Presbyterian	$32,017,139
Methodist	45,950,973
Congregational	2,189,000

Total

These totals give some idea, even from the standpoint of statistics, of the size and importance of the movement. The Methodists and Congregationalists are counted upon to go almost 100 per cent union; just what portion of the Presbyterian congregations will decide that their best interests are represented in the re-establishment of a new Presbyterian body remains for the members of that church to disclose. Each member will have a ballot placed in his or her hands, and in this way the issue can be fairly determined by the members themselves.

Note and Comment.

London man fined for speeding said his car could do 80 miles an hour. What's the sense of buying an 80-mile car for a 25-mile speed limit?

Lafollette wants to run for president of United States, so his friends are passing the hat to raise funds. As it takes so much money to make a showing a tub may have to be substituted for the hat.

It is strange, even to the point of being amusing, to read in American papers that John W. Davis was the only possible hope of the Democratic party. The strange part is that these papers said nothing in favor of Davis until he won the convention.

Mr. Meighen says the big cities do not get fair treatment under the redistribution bill. With Montreal getting Dominion credit to finance a $6,000,000 bridge, and Toronto a donation of $7,000,000 to build a viaduct, it appears that the big places are doing very well.

WHAT A WOMAN CAN DO

In these days of emancipation, women are dabbling about at all sorts of things.

It is natural also that many of them should be a little dazed with their new freedom, and puzzled at the many doors open to them.

It is natural also that some of them should make mistakes, the business of making mistakes being the one in which we are all more or less adept.

And the principal mistake that they make is the very primary one of mistaking the peculiar kind of activity in which they are endowed by nature to excel and in which no mere man can cope with them.

There is such a thing as sex in ideas. There is such a thing as femininity of spirit. And it is not a thing to be ashamed of nor to be regarded as in any wise second-rate.

There are three things a woman can do better than any man can do them, three things so vital that the world's pulse would stop and the world's spirit would droop without them.

These three things are Love, Management and Appreciation.

In the first place the world's most precious treasure, the immediate jewel of its soul, the last possession with which it would willingly part is Love.

It is no extravagance to say that Love belongs to her, and that without her this great fire of the gods would fall upon every hearthstone.

The second of her possessions is Management. Man thinks he manages, but he does not. He has strength as the horse has strength, but the woman has the bridle.

It is a man's duty to work, to create and to produce. In these a woman cannot cope with him. But he cannot preserve the result of his work, and his production and creation become wastage without the woman's management.

The third business of woman is Appreciation. Appreciation is the Bread of Life. It is the Vitamine of the spirit.

Appreciation does not judge; it does not condemn; it does not punish.

It understands.

Ye Quiet Old Inn

How good it is that folks in town who seek some summer spot to rest can find a place that seems to them to be the choicest and the best. There's them what go and look around, for each new day they have a suit, they want a spot where flappers flap and where the jazz bands toot and toot.

Some other folks they want to fish, for streams and rocks they itch and burn, to them no flapper in the land's as dear as one good wiggly worm. But lead me off to some old spot, where there's a few folks settlin' near, not some forlorn place afar where no one's fifteen miles from here.

Some place where there's a humble inn wherein they cook corn beef and hash, and where the folks don't dress to kill and gossip on the latest trash.

Some little spot where through the trees you gaze upon the open sky, where no one's shocked at them what comes a-usin' knives to eat the pie.

Where in the evening time of day they wait out for the daily mail, and read the papers for a spell with feet cocked on the tavern rail.

The folks they don't go tearin' by and never stop to say hello, where one man says well how is Bill, and Bill he answers how is Joe; where Hank comes to the village store to buy his hunk of bread and cheese, his missus waitin' on the steps, a-soakin' up the evening breeze.

And when the day it turns to dark they light the coal oil lamps again, and folks drop in like as they should, a-talkin' with the other men.

And no one worries if the light is dim and poor out in the hall, for if they can't read in that glow, they quit a-tryin' to read at all.

And in a cosy little bunk you turn at night to rest your bones, not in a shiny, glarin' place, nor keepin' paces with the Jones—the moon a-shinin' on the stream, the pines a-shufflin' in the breeze, the old straw mattress strokes your spine and seems to cuddle to your knees.

That is the spot in which to rest, at least it seemeth so to me, where humble folks is all around, a-livin' like they ought to be.—ARK.

The Important Point

(From the Toronto Star.)

The rumor that the liquor plebiscite in Ontario will give the electors the choice of voting for local option or the government sale of intoxicants can hardly do justice to the intentions of the Ferguson government.

It is not conceivable that any administration would limit the electors to such alternatives. At least one other choice must be allowed the voters, and that is the continuance of prohibition.

Attorney-General Nickle has won a large measure of confidence from all classes of citizens by his display of firmness and reasonableness. The people feel that no government in which Mr. Nickle remains as attorney-general would frame a series of questions which leaves out the most important query that can be put to the people at this time.

The people of Ontario could not forgive any government, or any member of government, which submitted at this time a liquor plebiscite which did not ask the voter to say whether he favored the principle of prohibition.

"Canada in the Making"

By JOHN F. SINCLAIR.

The following is one of a series of eleven daily articles appearing exclusively in The Advertiser. Where opinions on controversial matters are expressed in these articles, they are not necessarily the opinions of this paper but those of the author, John F. Sinclair, who will be remembered by those who read his series, "Can Europe Hold Together?" published in The Advertiser several months ago.

CHAPTER II—SUMMARY AND CONCLUSION.

Our study is about over. We have not discussed the increasing expenditures in the provinces and municipalities of Canada. There, too, the government expenses show an alarming increase. We have seen that the per capita debt of the Dominion government alone has increased from $25 in 1867 to $330 in 1922. This includes only the so-called net debt. The provincial debts must also be included. The record shows that in 1919 they totaled $194,000,000, and four years later (1923) the total had reached $371,000,000. We must also add the debt figures of the municipalities and cities. The funded debt of the ten largest cities in Canada rose from $342,000,000 in 1919 to $423,000,000 in 1923. Yes, but Canada has fifty-eight cities with a population of 10,000 and over; 195 districts having a population of from 2,000 to 10,000, and 605 municipalities which have from 400 to 2,000 population.

The significance of these political subdivisions is better understood when we know that each of them has power within its own boundaries to borrow money and raise taxes.

A well-known Canadian writer on finance declared recently that the total bonded debt of the "nine million souls in this country is not far from $500 from every one of us."

Add to the Dominion government taxes those of the nine provinces and of the other 850 political subdivisions and we find these nine millions of people are paying each year in taxes a grand total of about 800 millions of dollars. This is $90 for every man, woman and child. If we figure five persons to a family, it means $450 a year in taxes for each Canadian family.

CUT EXPENSES AND INCREASE INCOME.

Now how can these taxes be made lighter? There are just two ways to do it. By cutting government expenses, or by increasing the national income.

Undoubtedly there is much extravagance and waste in the public service, but the same charge holds true in private service. Neither is ideal in this regard yet. The plain fact, however, is that no nation can wage an expensive war and expect to "get off easy" after the war, unless the expenses are raised while the war is on. Canada waged a war, and decided to pay the expenses of it afterwards. She paid for the war physically while it was on, but not financially. Now the financial settlement day has arrived. The net debt of the Dominion has increased from 335 millions in 1914 to 1,534 millions in March, 1919, and to 2,453 millions on March 31, 1923. She has not balanced her budget since the war unless we include the past year, and this is in dispute.

Where can she cut her expenses? Our study has shown us that the two biggest items of expenditure since the war are the interest on the public debt and the deficit in the railroad operation.

INTEREST CHARGES SHOULD BE CUT.

1. Interest charges on her vast debt, in my opinion, can be materially reduced during the next two years. Money is cheap and probably will be for some time. Canada should be able to reduce the interest charges on the public debt at least one-half of one per cent as a minimum just as soon as her budget is made to balance. This will mean a saving of about 12 million dollars a year, as soon as the debt is funded. Canada is entitled to a lower rate on her obligations, and her finance ministers should be prepared to stand up and demand at lower rates of interest during the next five years, and to exclude all tax exempt features in the bonds. The emphasis should be placed on selling as large an amount of the refunding bonds as possible within Canada.

Including interest charges growing out of the war, we have seen that 57 cents out of every dollar spent by the Canadian government from 1919 to 1923, inclusive, were expenses growing out of the war. These expenses are still a large part of the total expenses of the government in 1923. Military expenses therefore should be cut to a figure not above what they were in 1913.

SUPPORT CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

2. The Canadian National Railways should be given the backing of every taxpayer and citizen of Canada. Only in this way will the huge deficit now piling up yearly be turned into a surplus. The present management is able and earnest, but needs strong, united support from all the people. With the proper support and help, the deficit should be wiped out in a few years.

SIMPLIFY MACHINERY OF GOVERNMENT.

3. Canada has too much government for so small a population. Let us take the federal government as an example. The governor-general of Canada, as the representative of the king, is appointed by the government of England. He receives a salary of $50,000 a year, a free house and "certain" other expenses. This salary is more than three times the amount paid to the prime minister.

The government of Canada also consists of a prime minister and sixteen cabinet members. Each cabinet member receives $14,000 a year and "certain" expenses. The cabinet of the United States consists of nine members and each member receives $12,000 a year. The United States is a country of 120,000,000 people, while Canada has 9,000,000. The Canadian cabinet should be cut down to a maximum of not over eight or nine members. This would make for both simplicity and saving.

There are 235 members of the House of Commons. Each receives $4,000 a year. That is one member for every 35,000 people. One-half of this number could do better work and about a half-million expenses in salary could be saved. Also there are 98 senators drawing the same salary. 48 could do just as well, and about a quarter of a million could be saved here.

Then there are nine provincial parliaments, each with a cabinet, a lieutenant-governor, and a legislature. Then there are 849 other governments, of cities and municipalities. These could be enlarged in many cases, especially in the west, taking in twice as much territory as they now contain and cutting much duplication of government out.

OVERHAUL THE CIVIL SERVICE.

4. The Canadian civil service needs a thorough overhauling. Today the Canadian employees work six and a half hours a day. The war brought much duplication both in equipment and personnel. Government employees should not be given special favors. The eight-hour day should be restored and all duplications eliminated as fast as possible, without crippling essential service. These reductions should only take place after a careful and thorough survey.

Every one of the 859 political sovereign units of Canada, from the Dominion government down, should make it the aim to pay its way without resorting to the selling of bonds to pay expenses. The people of Canada should vote and work against every bond issue which at present is not absolutely necessary. "Stop the expenditure mania" should be the slogan. So much for the cutting of government expenses in Canada.

SECONDLY—INCREASE THE INCOME.

The second method for lightening the tax burdens of the people is to increase national income. Is this possible in Canada? Frankly, while the European trade machine lies broken and smashed by the war and the revengeful peace of Versailles, I do not see much hope of any immediate improvement in this direction. Nothing is so important to the Canadian farmer as a revival of European purchasing power. At present nothing seems to interest him less. Sooner or later the nations of the world must face the issue of rebuilding the wrecked international trade machine, or prepare for the disorganizing and discouraging business chaos ahead.

Mankind needs a chance to work. Today the old trade machine refuses to function, so a large part of mankind is not working. That means that the national incomes of the several nations have been decreasing rather than increasing since the war.

It is imperative that this condition be rectified if European trade with Canada is to grow up again. The people of Canada, far more than the people of the United States, need a healthy world in which to live and to sell their products. To me this is the most urgent, important, fundamental and necessary problem which is facing humanity at this time. It is the basic and primary first step to be taken. No nation is more interested in it than Canada. No class of people have more at stake in its solution than the farmers. Until this is done, every nation, including Canada, in my opinion, will have to "patch and stilt and do without."

Canada has her problems as all nations have at this time, but they resolve themselves into a few big ones. Her future is tied up to the solving of her big problems, both national and international, by big men in a big way.

No nation has a greater future, no country is richer in natural resources, not one offers more possibilities for growth and inspiration to the new generation growing up since the war.

In this series of articles we have tried to show what her big problems are. Her public men have made many mistakes, but she is rich and big and young and vigorous. The stupidity of her politicians may arrest her development for a time. It already has. But it will not stop her. There is too much potential power and strength within the nation to hold her back.

It will pay to watch Canada in the coming years and see a great nation in the making.

TWENTY PICNICS HOLD FORH AT SPRINGBANK

Showers Late in Afternoon
Send 1,500 Picnickers
To Cover.

CHURCH FESTIVALS

Sports and Games Go On
After Storm Clouds
Blow Over.

Fifteen hundred picnickers made a merry dash to cover at 6 o'clock last night, when storm clouds spilled their showers over Springbank's score of picnic locations. Undaunted by the clouds that threatened from mid-afternoon until tea-time, twenty different picnic parties played their games and ran off their sports. And then, just as supper was served, it poured!

Those fortunate to have pavilion locations did not get a wetting, but they soon had the company of those who did, for everybody made a snappy sprint for the pavilions, and there was a great deal of water to clear. At 7 o'clock the shower was over, the sinking sun cast a feeble ray across the lawn, and, with a cheer, the picnickers went back to softball and three-legged races.

Most of yesterday's picnics were the annual outdoor festivals of church and Sabbath school. There were eight churches represented. Southern Congregational Church, Colborne Street Methodist Church, Knox Presbyterian Church, St. George's Presbyterian Church, Empire Avenue Methodist Church, Robinson Memorial Methodist Church and the Diadem Bell Mission Circle. Three lodges were there, Corinthian Lodge, I.O.O.F. the ladies of Olive Hives, 305 Macabees, and Juvenile Sons of England. There were family reunions, among them the Thomas family, the Boyce and Harvey reunion. Two clubs were present, the Four Bells, and the Marys and High-Brows of London. Only one of London's business firms was out, viz., the London Concrete Machinery.

Most of the sports events were over before the rain started. Some were finished afterward, but wet grounds took the enthusiasm out of the players. E. J. Dawson, efficient constable of the park, was on hand, and rendered good-natured advice to those seeking their picnic grounds.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH

St. George's Presbyterian Church and Sunday school members arrived by special car at 2:30 o'clock. Their location, included the picnic pavilion where the hot water is handy. There they enjoyed a program of sports and races, where 150 people joined with enthusiasm. The picnic was a happy, the crowd went aboard the special car, voting the day one of the brightest ever spent by the members of that church's Sunday school.

The sports follow:
Beginners' race—Mary Hutchinson, Stewart Myers, Paul Harkness.

THEY HAD A GOOD TIME

When Mrs. Max Learner said "Let's have a picnic at Springbank on Wednesday," eighty of her friends said "We'll be there," and they were.

They came down to the park in motors yesterday and had a lot of fun. It is true that they went down to the pavilion and waited until the clouds rolled by and then they went right back to the business of having a good time.

They had some nice sport events, the winners follow:
Small children—Rena Goldstick.
Age 10 to 14—Ida Rosenthal.
Girls' race—Clara Wolfe, Sarah Gillick.

Boys' race—Albert Wolfe, Jack Sniderman.

Fat couples race—Mr. and Mrs. H. Goldberg.

THE "HIGH BROWS"

The lady of the hour, "High Brows," held an exclusive little picnic for their set, just east of the big pavilion yesterday afternoon. Their program included several novel features: a snowshoe race, a walking backwards race, a wind tester race, with a prize for the windiest.

A walk to the amusement park was on the program. This was changed to a dash for the pavilion when the rain started to ooze its way into their strawberry pies.

Misses Jennie Dicks and Winnie Stewart were largely responsible for carrying out the details of a delightful little picnic.

HARVEY FAMILY

The Harvey family annual picnic was held just east of the big pavilion yesterday. The members are the descendants of the United Empire Loyalists. They have lived in the district for many years and the reunion has been a family affair.

Among the members who gathered at Springbank yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. H. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. K. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. L. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. M. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. N. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. O. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. P. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Q. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. R. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. S. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. U. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. V. The oldest member present was Mrs. R. J. Murdoch, 81 years of age, an old resident of London.

CORINTHIAN LODGE

Three hundred members and friends of the Corinthian Lodge, No. 1, gathered at Springbank for their annual outing yesterday. COLBORNE ST. METHODIST

Colborne Street Methodist Sunday School was represented by 300 happy people, young and old. The officers carried out a splendid program that pleased everyone. There were 23 events on the card. The baseball between the Coo-Cos, captained by Henderson, and the Dumbbells, under Captain Johnson, was one of the features of the program. The Johnson boys won 8-1.

Wheat Goes Skyrocketing On Reports From Canada

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, July 16.—Assertions that great stretches of the Canadian wheat crop are damaged 50 per cent, beyond recovery, sent wheat skyrocketing today. The market closed excitedly and as much as five and three-eighths cents a bushel higher than yesterday, with September at $1.26½, a new high record for the season.

The sharpest advance in prices today took place during the last fifteen minutes of trading and amounted to two cents a bushel in that brief period.

Despatches from another source early told of thousands of acres that would scarcely make seed and that other wheat had been burned so bare through excessive heat and lack of moisture that the crop would not pay to harvest.

Under such circumstances, reports of a strike in Canada had only a slight transient effect on the market here, and throughout the rest of the day the market advanced rapidly, the finish at the tip top prices of the session.

Grocers' Annual Outing Attended By Thousands

2,500 People Gather At Port Stanley For Successful Event.

THRILLING SPORTS
Bob-Haired Baby Winner of Red-Headed Baby Contest.

The thousands who attended the grocers' picnic at Port Stanley yesterday afternoon declared it to be a wonderful success and one of the best that the association has yet held. There were close on to 2,500 people in the gathering, and everyone joined in the well-planned program of sports and other entertainment that was provided. Rain, early in the afternoon, kept the attendance down, but those in charge were delighted with the number who came.

The First Hussars Band made the afternoon all the more enjoyable by playing a variety of music. The grocers were not over watching the sports they were gathered around the bandstand, listening to the music given by this organization. They played a varied program which was just the kind that suited everyone.

The baby show held the center of attraction in the early part of the afternoon, and under the personal charge of Mayor Wenize, his red-headed baby classic took the honours. True to form the winner had bobbed hair, and this supported the mayor's theory that the girls have to have bobbed hair to keep in the running these hectic days.

Another place that seemed to furnish considerable enjoyment was the amusement tent, where the men administered to the thirst of the merry-makers. Again the mayor came in for a big part, when he was seen with a glass of beer, dispensing the thirst quenching liquid. He was able to repair the piping so that the tent was kept going and many supporters for the next election.

Sports Provide Thrills.
The sports program was run off in front of hundreds of spectators, and the races gave the grocers a good time. The tilting the bucket contest provoked the most mirth, but when the entrants saw the first couple get a good wetting, it was out of the list of contests. Those that kept in the event, certainly showed gameness, for it was one continual ducking from start to finish.

Women's races had three unknown entrants that caused much laughter, and many people were dubious to their sex. The dubious ones were on the race side, because when of camp was shown down it was discovered that the mysterious persons were Harry Tozer, Gordon Williams, Jim Hopper, Harold Hebler, and John Hopper. They entered the race, dressed in feminine apparel because they were afraid that they would not be able to obtain places in the men's races. They were fooled, however, because not being used to long skirts and other clothes they fell in a heap when half way down the race.

The dancing was an important event and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The grocers were not over watching the sports they were gathered around the bandstand, listening to the music given by this organization. They played a varied program which was just the kind that suited everyone.

Burke, 19-Year-Old Ottawa Boy, Leads First Stage of King's Prize At Bisley

15 Canadians Earn Right To Keep On In King's Prize

Two Canadians Get Possibles At First Ranges.

BURKE GETS MEDAL

Associated Press Despatch.
Bisley Camp, July 16.—Marksmen from all parts of the empire to the number of 350, got into action today in the competition for the big plum of the meeting—the King's prize—and in the opening stage the honors went to a Canadian, Private D. Burke of Ottawa, who led the field with a score of 103 in a possible 105 on the two five hundred yard ranges, 7 shots on each. A possible prize donated by the National Rifle Association, consisting of a bronze medal and bronze badge for the competitor making the highest aggregate in the opening stage goes to Private Burke. He made possible on both the 200 and 500-yard ranges and dropped to 33 on the 500-yard range.

The King's prize competition is conducted in three stages. The second stage is open only to the three hundred competitors making the best scores in the opening stage, and the third stage only to the one hundred competitors taking the highest places in the second stage. The second stage will be on Friday and the final stage on Saturday. The shooting on Friday will be on the 200 and 500 yard ranges, and the final stage on Saturday on the 300 and 1,000-yard ranges. The places and prizes will be decided by the aggregate of the scores made by them in the second and third stages.

Competitors with scores of 34 and over enter the second stage, and therefore fifteen Canadians get in as compared with nine last year. Following were the scores made by the Canadians on the 500-yard range today, and their aggregates for the three ranges:

Private D. Burke, Ottawa, 35, 103; Private B. W. Beaumont, Victoria, 32, 100; Lieutenant W. B. Bishop, Ottawa, 32, 100; Sergeant J. A. Boydell, Edmonton, 32, 99; Sergeant F. Holm, Calgary, 30, 98; Sergeant A. Parnell, Verdun, Quebec, 32, 98; Sergeant R. Storrer, Toronto, 31, 98; Major Fred Richardson, Victoria, 32, 97; Sergeant P. B. Wilson, Ottawa, 30, 97; Private H. White, Toronto, 30, 97; Private J. B. Laidlaw, Toronto, 32, 96; Sergeant J. Stupar, Ottawa, 33, 96; Major R. C. Cross, Ottawa, 29, 95; Sergeant W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, 31, 95; Private W. Seckford, Vancouver, 30, 95; Sergeant J. Eddman, Hamilton, 32, 93; Sergeant E. Binnie, Toronto, 32, 93; Sergeant A. Greenhouse, Ottawa, 32, 93; Alex. Macmillan, Calgary, 29, 91; Major J. Jeffery, Kingston, 32, 91.

Private Burke's victory today was a peculiar one. His consistently good shooting throughout the day is regarded as proof of the wisdom of encouraging young marksmen. Burke is only 19 years of age and has been shooting barely three years. Corporal Trainer in 1911 was the only previous Canadian to win the bronze medal.

There were six scores of 102, including one Australian, six scores of 101 and ten of 100. The Canadian scores were well today, and a majority of them are likely to be among the 200 entering the second stage.

In the shoot for the Daily Graphic Cup yesterday, when it was thought W. T. Phillips, late of the Devonshire Regiment, won the cup with scores of 34 and 35, total 69, and Sergt. W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, was thought to have been second with scores of 33 and 34, total 67, and another competitor, Sergt. Major Kerr, Argyle and Sutherland Regiments, with a similar total, was believed to be third. The committee ruled that the three leading competitors must shoot off for the cup prize.

The result of the shoot-off for the Daily Graphic Cup was that Sergt. Major Kerr won the cup, Phillips was second and Hawkins third.

Big Bowling Classic Gets Away On Monday Next With Brightest Prospects.

The rink entries for the W. O. B. A. bowling classic of Western Ontario, close tonight at 8 o'clock, and all last-minute skips are urged to get their entries in.

Indications were last night, local officials stated, that the start next Monday would see the highest number of rinks recorded in years. The big classic used to run pretty well on its own momentum, but this year unusual energy has characterized the work of the executive and committees, and the varied program resulting is confirmation of that fact.

The third and final tournament on local greens in aid of the entertainment fund for the W. O. B. A. tournament was held last night on the greens of the London Rowing and Bowling Club. Twenty-six pairs in all participated in the affair, in which the competition was of the keenest. On account of rain the last game had to be called at the conclusion of the sixth end.

The winning pair was as follows: W. Leitch and M. Aikenhead, 3 wins and plus 26 points; R. D. McDonald and W. Ralph, 3 wins and plus 25; Major Slater and Fred Allen, 3 wins and plus of 22; William Roome and T. Dodds, 3 wins and plus of 8 points.

Varsity's Eight To Enter Finals

Get Second Chance As They Win Heat For Second Crews.

Associated Press Despatch.
Argenteuil, July 16.—The Canadian eight-oared crew today won the right to compete in the finals of the Olympic competition by winning the heat of crews which had finished second in the original heats.

The Argentine team finished second, a length and a half behind the Canadians after a foul finish during which the South Americans in the last 100 metres passed the Australian and Belgian crews, which finished third and fourth.

The Canadians led all the way, but had a stiff fight on their hands to keep their advantage over the other three eight which were fighting desperately to earn a place in the finals tomorrow, to which only the winner of today's race is entitled.

The South Americans led the Canadians to a small lead for the first 500 metres, dropped back at the half way mark and made a futile last minute spurt just before the finish.

Special To The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, July 16.—The Saints had little difficulty in winning from the Lucan Irish Nine by a score of 14-2 in an exhibition game at Pinfaro Park Wednesday afternoon. Even then the game was called at the end of the fifth on account of rain, and a fair sized crowd turned out to witness what promised to be a fair scrap in its initial stages, but it ended up in a rout of the Irishmen.

The Saints could do little wrong, and the visitors had difficulty in doing anything right. Nine errors were chalked up against them at the end of the fifth, while the locals got off with one fair sized crowd turned out to witness what promised to be a fair scrap in its initial stages, but it ended up in a rout of the Irishmen.

LABOR WILL FORM VICTORIA MINISTRY

Peacock Government Defeated and Attempt At Coalition Fails.

Associated Press Despatch.
Melbourne, Australia, July 16.—A motion of want of confidence in the government of Victoria was carried in the legislative assembly today by a vote of 43 to 16. The motion was moved by G. M. Prendergast, Labor leader, and was supported by the Country party and five unattached Liberals. The legislative assembly adjourned immediately after the vote was taken. It is anticipated that Prendergast will form a Labor ministry.

The Victoria parliament, with Sir Alexander Peacock as the new premier, was opened on July 8 by the Earl of Strathmore, governor of Victoria. Although the Labor party was the largest party in the legislative assembly when Sir Alexander Peacock assumed the reins of government, it was decided that the Nationalist ministry should proceed with the business of governing the province. An attempt to form a coalition between the Nationalists and the Country party failed.

Sir Alexander Peacock succeeded H. S. W. Lawson as premier of Victoria, and he formed his government in April last. Mr. Lawson resigned the premiership in March because of a disagreement with the farmers' party, which was represented in the Lawson coalition government.

ENGLAND MAY BUILD AUSTRALIAN CRUISERS

County To Build Two 10,000 Battleships For Own Defence.

Associated Press Despatch.
Melbourne, July 16.—Both of the 10,000 ton battle cruisers which Australia intends to build for its own defence may be constructed in England.

The Melbourne Herald states that the federal naval engineering staff has prepared and submitted to the Bruce government plans for a floating dock 860 feet long and 180 feet wide, capable of receiving vessels drawing 40 feet of water. The floating dock would be an alternative to the proposal to build two cruisers in Melbourne.

If the plans for a floating dock are accepted, the Herald says both of Australia's new cruisers will be built in England and money will thus be saved.

In the second quarter of the year, ending June 30, the cost of feeding the inhabitants of the "Castle" was 10½ cents a day, as compared with nearly 11 cents in the preceding quarter. PENINSULA SWEEP BY WIND AND RAIN

Telegraph, Telephone Lines Suffer—One Barn Is Burned.

Torrential rains, which at some points appeared to be almost cloud-bursts; high winds which at places took almost the form of a hurricane and sharp lightning, which was rather general, featured a series of storms which swept across the western peninsula last night. Several heavy rainstorms were very general between five o'clock and midnight. Thamesville reports high wind and heavy rain. Water stood six inches deep for some time at the main street crossing about 7 o'clock. Lightning struck the hydro substation and the town was without service for three hours. Telephone connection with points west was broken and telegraph service east was bad. Some thirteen poles were down on the C. N. T. lines about a mile east of town. Wind leveled standing grain fields, but it is thought the crops are not destroyed.

Barn Burned.

Bothwell reported that two rainstorms were experienced, one about 7 o'clock and the other about 10 o'clock, while about midnight there was a third threatening. A large barn on the farm of Leige Walker, about two miles north of Cairo, which is about seven miles north of Bothwell, was reported as struck by lightning and entirely destroyed. Details could not be secured. Chatham reported rain which was exceptionally heavy, but no damage was done so far as could be learned last night.

West Lorne and Rodney both reported heavy storms. While lightning was very sharp, there were no reports of buildings being struck. Both telephone and telegraph communication was seriously affected and intermittent. Three storms are reported to have visited that section.

London Soaked.
London was visited by three heavy rainstorms, one about six o'clock, another about ten and the third about midnight. There were no reports of damage, although lightning was very severe. Telephone and telegraph service to the west was seriously interrupted, but to the east no trouble of any consequence was experienced.

Canadian 'Atoms' Both Win Bouts

Jackie Johnson and Clay Out As Overweight.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, July 16.—Two more Canadian boxers took the Olympic honors today. A. S. Rennie of Montreal and John MacGregor of Hamilton, flyweights, defeating Nyefeler of Switzerland and Vitla of Spain respectively.

As a result of being two pounds overweight, J. R. Johnston, Toronto, who was to have represented Canada in the bantam division of the boxing events in the Olympic games, has been debarred, while Gene Clay of Toronto has been ruled out in the featherweight class.

Three Canadians had been entered in the featherweight division in the belief that each country was entitled to send up to four representatives in each class. Unknown to the Canadian committee the rules had been changed to permit only two to compete in each class, and as a result it was necessary to drop one Canadian candidate, leaving A. P. Burkie, Toronto, and MacGregor, of Montreal, to represent Canada in the featherweight class.

In the lightweight division bouts this morning C. J. Graham, of Toronto, met Beland, of South Africa, and gave the South African a good lesson in the many art.

Leslie Black, Toronto, met Bonafello, in a midweight bout this morning and only real boxing on the part of the Italian, who is champion of the U. S. marines, but fighting under the Mussolini flag at the games, saved him from being outpointed in every round.

In the featherweight class Joe Salas of Los Angeles, Calif., defeated Lewis of Holland. The Dutchman possessed more aggressiveness than science, but the second good impression, and the crowd boomed the decision favoring the American.

"The Dunlop Trail"

Summer Resorts of Ontario in a Nutshell for the Motorist.

"The Dunlop Trail" is the "new-idea" touring book, which represents the first attempt to lay Ontario before the holiday-seeker in such a way that he can motor over the Province systematically.

The whole story of Ontario is told in sequence—Ontario from Winnipeg to Cochrane, to Windsor, to Montreal—yet the book only comprises forty pages, and is pocket size.

Not a reference page from cover to cover—in other words, you get the whole story of a district when you are at the two pages covering that particular district. No advertising of any kind in "The Dunlop Trail."

All maps and illustrations specially drawn; all material specially compiled. Think of this feature: All your mileage figured out for you over the entire Province—the first time this has been attempted in the history of motoring.

In "The Dunlop Trail" you find every River and Lake trip in Ontario that has a schedule; also special Train trips; combination Auto, Boat and Train trips; the first complete list ever published of places in Ontario where Summer Hotels are located; every Golf Club and Camp Site in the Province, and real information, where you want it, about steamer and ferry services for taking autos aboard.

In order to keep the circulation of "The Dunlop Trail" in the proper channel a nominal price of fifty cents has been put on it. Any Garage or Tire Dealer in Ontario will take your order for "The Dunlop Trail" or you can procure it direct from this Company at any of the Ontario Offices mentioned below.

CORA BRENNAN AT LOEW'S TONIGHT

Local Violin Soloist with Miss Marion Millar Presents "Musical Moments" at Loew's today, Friday and Saturday.

Through a misunderstanding, it has been stated that Miss Cora Brennan, the local Violin Soloist, would appear with Miss Marion Millar at Loew's Theatre next week. The Misses Brennan and Millar will appear at Loew's Theatre today, Friday and Saturday. This change was necessary owing to the fact that these two notable musical stars had another engagement booked, and the only time they are able to appear at Loew's Theatre for some time is today, Friday and Saturday.

Miss Brennan and Miss Millar need little or no introduction to Londoners for on many occasions their playing has turned a program to a decided success, through their wonderful personality and remarkable musical ability. Londoners should certainly avail themselves of the opportunity to hear these two talented young ladies at Loew's Theatre today, Friday or Saturday at any of the performances.

SHARP DISPUTE AT WEMBLEY WHEN FOREIGN LUMBER USED

Canada Sought To Withdraw Because American Product Was Purchased.

LARKIN PROTESTS
Obtained Consent of Mackenzie King To Take Drastic Action.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, July 16.—A long file of correspondence tabled in the House of Commons today tells a story of sharp differences between Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, and the authorities of the Wembley exhibition over the use of foreign lumber in the construction of the exhibition buildings.

The differences came to such a point that Mr. Larkin, in January last, cabled to Premier King asking for authority to withdraw from the exhibition altogether and Premier King gave such authority.

One of the charges was that United States pine was used in the construction of the royal buildings. W. F. Wade, agent general for British Columbia, plays a large part in the correspondence, making pro-

Woman Injured In Attack By Pigs

Special to The Advertiser.
Forest, July 16.—Mrs. Miles Hagie, 18 sidroad, Warwick Township, was attacked by a pig on Tuesday, receiving a broken leg and broken ribs. Mrs. Hagie had entered the pig pen on the farm to straighten an overturned feed trough when the pig attacked her. She finally managed to escape through the fence.

tests both to Mr. Larkin and to Premier King direct. There were also sharp differences between Mr. Wade and Mr. Larkin. Mr. Wade in one communication to Premier King, refers to a letter of Mr. Larkin's as reading like a plea for a policy of surrender, and Larkin concludes a letter to Mr. Wade with the words: "The tone of your letter is so unwarranted and offensive to me that I must close the correspondence."

Mr. Larkin informed the exhibition authorities that he had authority for Canada to withdraw from the exhibition, but apparently had to let the matter drop because he was unable to prove that assurances given by the exhibition authorities were incorrect and that withdrawal would have meant closing the Canadian pavilion on which a million dollars had already been spent.

FIRES IN CONTROL ON MOUNTAIN SIDE

Rain Assists Alberta Forestry Service in Battle Against Flames.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Calgary, Alta., July 16.—The big forest fires that have been raging on the slopes of McKenzie, Tilley and Cartier Mountains, south of Revelstoke, are under control.

The headquarters of the forestry service, in Calgary, heard from their Revelstoke offices this morning. Those in charge there, after all day in the field yesterday, were able to report that the fire had been controlled. But with better news from south of Revelstoke, comes worse news from Donald, where another big fire is raging. The ranger in charge at this point has called for more men and these are being supplied.
