MR. GANEY IN BUFFALO, SAYS HIS COUNSEL KNEW HE WAS GOING.

Explanations Regarding the Proceedings in the Ontario Bank—Prosecuting Counsel Talk of Retiring From the Case—Nearing a Conclusion.

Buffalo, April 22.—Mr. Ganey reached here Sunday afternoon. Strange to say, this has been the Mecca of Conservative politicians ever since, though his lawyers said they knew nothing of his whereabouts yesterday to the commission in Toronto. Mr. A. W. Wright, Conservative Organizer, registered at the same hotel yesterday, but says he is here on private business. The chief actor himself has been about ever since his arrival, without any pretence at concealment. He registered at the Mansion House as "R. Ganey, Sudbury," though he signed one or more historical documents as "R. R. Ganey, Gore Bay," but this may have been an oversight. He passed the time as would any other gentleman at leisure.

"Why are you here?" said The Globe correspondent to-night.
"Oh, for a rest, and to get away from you fellows," said Mr. Ganey. He went out of the hotel to keep an engagement with some friends at 8 o'clock. He has cousins here, and with them he spent the evening.

Returning to the hotel about midnight, bright and fresh in the well-known brown suit carefully pressed, he looked the same Ganey who was last seen in Toronto on Saturday.

"When are you going back?" he was asked.
"Well, there is nothing doing to-morrow."
"Will you return on Thursday?"
"I will return as soon as my friends tell me I am needed."

"Well, did your lawyers know you were away?"
"Why, certainly, they knew all about it."

"Well, Mr. Blake said in court that he did not know anything about your absence."

"I guess that is right. Mr. Blake did not know, but the others did."

"There are some ugly stories about your absence."

"I am all right. What are they?"
"It is said you will be charged with larceny."

"Larceny?"
"Well, that deposit slip."

"The deposit slip was my own property. There was no larceny about it."

"Well, how do you explain the transaction with the bank?"
"It was this way. Mr. Crossin said I paid that money on Sept. 11, and I thought it was long before. After some discussion I decided to go to the bank to see in whose handwriting the slip was, and I took it away with me. I made a copy of it for business reasons."

"What became of the original?"
"If I told you that you would know as much as I do," laughed Mr. Ganey, and that was all the explanation he would give in that regard. I took it away with me. I made a copy of it for business reasons."

"That is ridiculous. I never signed his name or initials. I merely made an exact copy of the original. Mr. Crossin said in the box that the $500 was deposited in the bank by me, but he is mistaken. I paid it to him, and I wanted to prove in whose handwriting the slip was. I have put $500 into the company since Sept. 11."

"Do you know anything about the cash book?"
"The old man knew it was a loose, poorly kept affair, which we intended to change as soon as we were incorporated."

"Did you tear out the leaves referring to the $500 deposit?"
"No, of course not. I was in the office, I admit, but never touched the book. If anyone tore out leaves it must have been McEvoy," said Ganey, with a laugh.

A SPLENDID ENTERPRISE.

The splendid benefit concert next Friday evening in aid of the Athletic Bungalow project promises to prove a big impetus to this capital enterprise. Citizens are universally lending their aid and encouragement to the project, and their enthusiasm has inspired Manager Briscoe to put on a most elaborate and artistic production.

The program for Friday night promises to be one of the finest and most varied ever presented in the Maple City. The musical prelude will be an exquisite one, combining contributions from Miss H. Edythe Hill, Miss Lucy McKellar, Miss Florence G. Stephenson, Miss Verna Heyward and Mr. W. H. Bracklin.

Twenty-five years ago a coterie of clever Chathamites presented the Trial Scene from "The Merchant of Venice," under the direction of Mr. D. S. Paterson, M. A., head master of the Collegiate Institute. It was a huge success. The Macaulay Club will endeavor to duplicate the triumph of that time on Friday night when, under the direction of Mr. J. S. Lane, B. A., assisted by Mr. W. W. Scane as stage manager, the scene will be reproduced with elaborate stage settings.

The costumes are exceedingly fine and were supplied by Breusser & Company, the well-known Detroit costumers. Mr. Orville B. Cragg, a professional Theatrical, will superintend the important matter of "making up."

His worship, Mayor McKeough, will preside and the entertainment in its entirety promises to be an exceptionally brilliant and attractive one.

The seating plan is now open at the Central Drug Store.

"You are not serious?"
"Oh, no, I don't accuse him; but I did not."

"It is said that the $500 was part of the $3,000 you claim to have got from Mr. Stratton, and that you gave Frank Sullivan only $600?"

"Not at all. I got the $500 before, as I have said. Frank Sullivan divided the $3,000 with me. Why don't they take his evidence?"

"Are you afraid of arrest if you return?"

"Certainly not. I have got to go back for my business, and I have a friend or two."

"Have you transferred any of your Crossin Piano Company stock?"

"I owned 55 shares of $100 each. Mr. Smyth, M.P.P. for Algoma, wanted to buy fifteen shares, but as I had no fifteen-share certificate I sold him a 25-share certificate for $1,500 and endorsed it, so that I retain ten of those shares. I therefore still own forty shares. This transaction with Mr. Smyth was not entered in the books, and Mr. Crossin is right about that."

"It is said you were paid by the Government to go away?"

"That is not true. I came here of my own accord, and will return when I am wanted."

Among those who arrived here to-night were Mr. Frank Sullivan and Mr. J. M. McEvoy, one of the solicitors for the defence. They were on the way to Rochester to make sure that two witnesses there, called by the prosecution, would turn up on Thursday. Mr. Sullivan was very indignant at an item in a Toronto evening paper stating that he had admitted sharing the $3,000 with Mr. Ganey. On the train here he noticed the item in the paper, and instructed Mr. W. M. German, M.P. of Welland, to enter suit for libel at once. Messrs. Sullivan and McEvoy expect to return to-morrow evening.

Toronto, April 22.—There was a keen air of curiosity and expectancy in the court room at the opening of the investigation. The attendance was larger than usual, owing to the hints of developments thrown out by the morning papers. Counsel conferred repeatedly before the opening, and also visited their Lordships in their private room.

The court was filled with a buzz of conversation, and each person to open the door was eagerly scanned in search of the missing M.P.P. The Commissioners have usually been very prompt in opening court, and their delay until twenty-five minutes after to give color to the belief that a crisis in the case had been reached. When Mr. Blake rose to make his explanations he spoke in low and measured tones. The Chancellor spoke in tones of the utmost seriousness, while the ears of everyone were strained to catch his words.

Mr. Johnston's expressed wish that the case be fully investigated was not unexpected, and was regarded as a manly attitude on behalf of the defence.

At the conclusion of counsel for Mr. Ganey stated decidedly that they had no knowledge whatever of his whereabouts, nor had they had any communication from him.

A story was current yesterday that the deposit slip for the $500, dated Sept. 11th, which Mr. Ganey secured from the Ontario Bank on Saturday and lost, showed that the deposit was made up of nine $100 bills. It is also said that the new slip which Mr. Ganey handed back showed that it was made up of $20 and $10 bills, and bills of smaller denominations than $100. It is the circumstance that a new slip was given in, as shown by Mr. Crossin's evidence, that gives an importance to the incident. It is also said to have an important bearing on the line which the defence will adopt as showing that Ganey deposited nine $100 bills in the bank in the morning of September 11th, before he says he received any money from Mr. Stratton at all. In view of these stories, and the importance apparently attached to this slip by Mr. Ganey, there was considerable disappointment that the evidence of the bank officials explaining their share in Saturday's transactions was not rendered before the commission yesterday at the opening, in accordance with the announcement made at Monday's adjournment.

When the court opened at 10.30 the Chancellor asked: "Who is the next witness?"

Mr. Blake—My Lords, I was desirous of having Mrs. Sullivan, the wife of Mr. Frank Sullivan, here, also the father-in-law, Mr. George Wilson. As to these two witnesses, my learned friend Mr. Johnston says that he will have them here at 10 o'clock on Thursday. I propose that we should examine a witness or two in order to show what efforts have been made to serve them with subpoenas, their whereabouts and the like. That undertaking will be perfectly satisfactory, my Lords, and may save the trouble and time of having that examination.

It is stated Mr. Wilson is absent in Rochester, and is not in very good health, and my learned friend has said that if possible he is to be here, not absolutely giving that undertaking.

The Chancellor—Subject to the production of those witnesses, have you any other evidence?

Mr. Blake—Then, my Lords, I desire to state a difficulty in which my learned friends that are with me and myself feel placed. My notice, at all events, was not called to the fact of the absence of Mr. Ganey until yesterday. It is an unaccounted absence up to the present, it may be accounted for. I can give no information to the commissioners upon that subject.

If this were simply a matter as between Mr. Ganey and the defendants, and the client absents himself without any information, it might be a fair reason for withdrawing from the case, but I have two difficulties in the way. In the first place, the absence of Mr. Ganey at present is unaccounted for. He is a member of Parliament.

The examination would affect very greatly his character, and I cannot feel satisfied, unless he chooses it, with notice given to him, that these proceedings should be taken in his absence, my Lords. Another matter is this: Supposing that if he be not present here on Thursday, my learned friends and myself would feel very much inclined to drop out of the proceedings, but in the case of your Lordships have said and generally from the class of matter that it is not a question as between Mr. Ganey and others, but it is an investigation in the interests of the public generally, and my learned friends and myself desire to place ourselves entirely in the hands of your Lordships in that respect. It being a client, we would say that would end the matter, but there being the large body to be represented, if your Lordships thought that it was our duty and fit and proper here on Thursday, if Mr. Ganey be not present, still to endeavor to aid the commission by the presentation and examination of witnesses, that we shall do; if, on the contrary, your Lordships think it is only a matter of Mr. Ganey, and that we are not thus bound by other considerations, we shall withdraw.

At this stage the Chancellor and Chief Justice Falconbridge consulted together, after which the Chancellor said:—"My brother and myself think that the aspect of the case as presented by Mr. Blake; it is not a private inquiry, it is not a private prosecution in respect of a criminal offence, but this is a matter which, as stated in the statute under which we act and under the commission which is issued, pertains to the good government of the country, which is a matter of public moment, and the commission and the authorities have seen fit to direct that in this case counsel should be retained, and should have the opportunity of presenting the case to the best advantage to assist the commissioners to arriving at the result and the opportunity of conducting the case in such a way as to assist materially in arriving at the facts."

"It would be a misfortune, I think, if, on account of this present absence of the person whom we may call the prosecutor, in form if not in substance, an absence which may be repaired later, Mr. Blake and his colleagues were now to withdraw from the case; it would leave us, the commissioners, in this difficulty; that counsel would be only on one side, and we ourselves, under the old practice of the court, should have to be counsel for the absent party. That would be undesirable, and if Mr. Blake and his colleagues were to retire we should feel constrained to ask some counsel to take the matter up for the purpose of examining witnesses and conducting the case, and so on, which would be regrettable because you and your colleagues are still in the case, and can conduct the matter with more efficiency and more promptitude, which is of some consequence in this case owing to the meeting of the Legislature. You are in a position to do that much better than any new counsel could. Therefore our wish would be that you should continue in the discharge of this duty till the very end, in order that all the methods of inquiry may be properly made and all honest people satisfied that everything has become done in the interests of truth and justice in this case which can be done by the most skilled counsel."

Mr. Johnston—As further discussion is perhaps unnecessary, what I have to say on behalf of the parties charged and on behalf of the Government and my learned friends who are with me, I quite appreciate the difficulty in which my learned friend, Mr. Blake, and his colleagues are placed, and I think it is not unreasonable to take the position which he has taken at the present time. I may say we are very glad indeed that your Lordships have taken the view which your Lordship has expressed with reference to the position which Mr. Blake should assume towards the further investigation of this matter. We feel that this case ought to be investigated; we desire that it should be investigated to the fullest extent, and such being the case, we are ready and willing to facilitate in every possible way not only my learned friends, but whatever your Lordships may think necessary, and in regard to our witnesses and everything. As I say, I think it is not unreasonable Mr. Blake should ask for an adjournment until Thursday, and we shall so arrange matters that the court will not lose any time by the adjournment over to-day and to-morrow. Anything we can do we will be very glad to do. I did not know until this moment that Mr. Blake required the two witnesses, he requests, and having been notified of it, I promptly undertook, on consultation with the parties, to do what I could, and so undertook their production on Thursday morning if within the range of possibility.

The Chancellor—That relieves any further difficulty on the score of enlargement.

Mr. Blake—Yes. I only say I am obliged to my learned friend for giving the usual consideration that he ever does in these matters.

Chief Justice Falconbridge—We were rather expecting that at the close of the case for the prosecution the defence would want some reasonable time before going on with the evidence, but in view of the intimation which Mr. Blake has given as to the nature of what is left for him to call, perhaps the defence will be able to go on as soon as his case is finished.

Mr. Johnston—Within perhaps half an hour.

The Commission was then adjourned till to-morrow at 10 o'clock a.m.

MAY ENTER A PROTEST.

Germany Considering the Action of Canada.

Berlin, April 21.—The German Government, before corresponding with Great Britain regarding the surtax imposed by Canada on German goods or suggesting to the Bundesrath that the retaliatory measures provided for in the new tariff bill should be applied, intends to inquire afresh through the Ministry of the Interior as to what the precise trade exchanges between Germany and Canada are, and how far German exports would be affected were the other British colonies to similarly discriminate against Germany. The Foreign Office apparently considers the principle involved to be one of exceeding importance, extending far beyond what are regarded as the rather insignificant interests directly engaged.

THE GAMEY UPROAR.

A great pother has arisen over the absence of Mr. Gamey from court circles in Toronto for a short rest. It was surely a strange omission on his part, the neglect to tell his lawyers that he was going away, but this may be excused on the plea of his total lack of experience as to the customs of law courts. He never had anything to do with one before he testified at the impeachment of the Ross Government, and having been discharged from attendance after being thirteen hours in the witness box, Mr. Gamey may have imagined himself free to leave the city as well as the court precincts for a spell of rest and recreation. He seems not to have dreamt of the excitement that would ensue at his non-appearance when called on the strength of new testimony. When located at a Buffalo hotel, he expressed surprise at being the object of so much renewed interest, and declared himself ready to appear "when wanted" to give any further explanations. His absence seems to have been regarded as a godsend by the defence and was at once taken by those who would give a verdict of acquittal, offhand, as a vindication of the persons under indictment. The attitude of prosecuting counsel was, of course, one of embarrassment. They were unable to go on with an important part of the inquiry until the witness was forthcoming. The court took a fair and sensible view of the situation, however, in pointing out that the counsel did not represent Mr. Gamey, but the people, and whether he came or not the inquiry must proceed to a conclusion.

The excitement produced throughout the Province by Mr. Gamey's absence shows with what profound interest the proceedings are regarded, and the mighty issue which weighs in the balance. Those who knew him personally felt confident that he would return "if above ground." They lost no part of their faith in his bona fides as a witness for the prosecution. Friends of the defence everywhere put on a broad grin, saying "I told you so," the answer to which was "If Gamey does not show up, it is because he has been sandbagged or kidnapped by the party that is fighting for his political life like a badger in a hole." Some even suggested that he had been bought to leave off being a witness, and named figures ranging from twenty to fifty thousand dollars as the temptation, remembering, perhaps the saying reported of one of the Sullivans, that "they seemed to have plenty of money around here," viz., the Government departments. Such words flew from mouth to mouth until the truth came out that the object of such tremendous public interest was quietly taking his meals at a Buffalo hotel, oblivious of the pucker created by his going away in so absent-minded a manner. Now that he has promised to be on hand and answer what further questions may be asked of him, the public will forget the error of judgment in leaving so unceremoniously, if he can shed any fresh light on matters of importance before the court. — London Free Press.

ROBBER CAUGHT

The police have been looking for some time for a man named William Hillis, wanted on a charge of highway robbery. Last January Jerry Coutier was robbed of $40 while riding in his sleigh on Queen street one Saturday night. Hillis was accused of the crime and the police have a warrant for him. Hillis has been working in London and the London police, at the request of Chief Holmes, have been keeping an eye on him. Several of the witnesses live in Detroit, and as there was some difficulty in securing their testimony, the Chatham authorities didn't want the arrest until they were sure of their testimony.

To-day Chief Holmes received a communication from F. W. Randall, Chief of Police, Guelph, stating that Hillis had been sentenced in that place to six months in the Central Prison on the charge of vagrancy. The Guelph Chief of Police stated that Hillis was a bad man and requested Chief Holmes to look after the man when released.

FOR THE WEST

John Bennett and Herman McQueen, of the Gordon Store, and Joe McMillan, Murray St., left on Monday night on the C.P.R. for the Canadian Northwest. A surprise party was given Joe McMillan at his home before the departure, all going to the station to give the boys a send-off. The boys took a tent and stove, provisions for three months, the baggage in all weighing 1,100 lbs. They had not fully decided on the course they would pursue on arrival in the west. They boys had the hearty good wishes of their many friends when leaving.

Salt Rheum

It may become chronic. It may cover the body with large, inflamed, burning, itching, scaling patches and cause intense suffering. It has been known to do so.

Do not delay treatment. Thoroughly cleanse the system of the humors on which this ailment depends and prevent their return.

The medicine taken by Mrs. Ida E. Ward, Cove Point, Md., was Hood's Sarsaparilla. She writes: "I had a disagreeable itching on my arms which I concluded was salt rheum. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and in two days felt better. It was not long before I was cured and I have never had any skin disease since."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. It is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions. Take it.

He intends to use these pointers when the grocery clerks and dry goods clerks meet on the baseball diamond. Mr. Jacques will also see the McCoy-Root fight.

A CAPITAL LECTURE

Chas. H. Hamilton, who is to lecture at the Grand to-night, is a lover of travel and enjoys telling a less fortunate public about his many travelling exploits.

Although a lawyer of much ability, his enthusiasm and interest in seeing the sights of the globe has tempted him away from his profession.

"I try to make the lecture bright and of such interest as it will be retained by and useful to dry listeners," Mr. Hamilton told a Planet representative to-day. "I lectured in the Whitney Opera House, Detroit about three weeks ago and Mr. Whitney was so much pleased that a return date has been fixed and arrangements made for a course of five lectures next season."

"The pictures are truly authentic and with artistic coloring, with which much pains have been taken. They are true to life. The lecturer will take the hearer first around London points of interest, then different historical points of the country and then turn to London in time for the coronation ceremonies."

Mr. Hamilton is an interesting and instructive conversationalist and his lecture of this evening will be most enjoyable.

THE FIRE RECORD.

The hotel and equipment are a total loss, nothing being saved. The hotel is owned by Mrs. Tufts, of Belgrave, and was insured.

LYING IN STATE.

Thousands of Citizens at Government House.

Toronto, April 22.—Thousands of citizens attended at Government House last night between the hours of 5 and 8 to pay their last meed of respect to the dead statesman lying in state there.

They were of all classes, from the Premier of the Province, Cabinet Ministers and Judges to the unkempt urchin of the street. Women were quite as numerous as men.

There were over 1,400 visitors before 6 o'clock. During the supper hour there was a slight lull, but by 7 there was a steady stream of people entering the front door of Government House and leaving by the office entrance; soon after a dense throng crowded for admittance, and when the front doors were closed at 8:12 those waiting admission were to be numbered by hundreds.

The body of the late Lieutenant-Governor, dressed in the uniform of his office, with the star of his order on his breast, lay in state, in a plain black casket, in the centre of the southeast drawing-room. The windows, mirrors, doors and frieze of the room were draped in black, caught up with white rosettes. The south and west sides of the room were banked up with beautiful floral tributes. Behind the casket stood four infantrymen, resting their hands on their rifles in front of them, the muzzles on the floor. At the foot stood Capt. Elmslie, the officer commanding, in his uniform of scarlet and gold lace, and at the head stood Commander Law, in his naval uniform of blue and gold.

A large detachment of police directed the movements of the people, passing them in single file.

From 10.30 to 12.30 this morning the public will again be admitted to view the remains.

The religious service at the house is timed for 2 o'clock, and the funeral procession to move off at 4. The cortege will be King and Yonge streets. The officers of all the city regiments and of the permanent corps will attend in uniform. The escort of Dragoons will consist of 34 men, under command of Major Williams and Captain Van Straubenzon. Lieut.-Col. Grassett will march the parade. Two bands, the Q.O.R. and Grenadiers, will have a place in the procession, immediately following the escort of Dragoons.

Among those announced to attend are the following:—

From Ottawa:—The Premier, Sir Wm. Mulock, Hon. Wm. Patterson, Hon. Jas. Sutherland, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, Senators Templeman, Gibson, Landerkin, Watson and Young, and the following members of the House of Commons:—Messrs. Wm. S. Calvert, Geo. McPherson, Robert Holmes, T. G. Johnston, N. A. Belcourt, G. McEwen, Wm. Ross, (South) and John A. Grant, John Charlton, Lieut.-Col. A. T. Thompson, John Tolmie, C. A. McCool, J. B. McColl and E. F. Clarke.

From Kingston:—Mayor Bell, Ald. Walkem, Ald. Behan and Ald. Craig, W. G. Craig, H. G. Gladdersleeve, R. J. Carson, R. F. Elliott and John McKelvey of the Ontario Association. The Frontenac County Council may also send a deputation. Mr. J. McD. Mowat, Mr. Norman Fraser and Dr. J. Ramsay Duff of Kingston, all nephews of the deceased, will attend the funeral.

Kingston gave Ontario her last three Lieutenant-Governors—Sir Alexander Campbell, Sir George A. Kirkpatrick and Sir Oliver Mowat. From Chatham:—Mayor W. E. McKeeough.

From Goderich:—Mayor Lewis. There will be a large representation of Sir Oliver's old constituents in Oxford County, among them Mayor White of Woodstock, Judge Finkle, Restar Patterson, Crown Attorney Ball, Malcolm Douglas of the North Oxford Reform Association, J. F. Mackay, Young Liberal Club, S. G. Mackay, Bar Association.

Rev. Dr. Bryce, Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, has requested Rev. Dr. Warden, his predecessor in office, to represent him.

INSTRUCTOR COMING
Col. J. B. Rankin, K. C., commanding officer of the 24th Kent Regiment, received word from Col. Peters, at London, that a drill instructor would be sent as soon as one was needed. Col. Rankin at once wrote back asking that the drill instructor be sent on immediately, so that the Regiment could be drilled in preparation for the trip to St. Thomas.

ADD UP THE GAINS.

In consumption, as in other diseases, the results secured from continued treatment with Scott's Emulsion come from the accumulation of many small gains.

A little gain in strength each day—a little gain in weight each day—if continued for weeks, amounts to something.

Scott's Emulsion can be taken for weeks and months without the least disturbance. It gives itself time to do good. It makes new flesh and strengthens the lungs.

IN PARLIAMENT.

Mr. John Charlton Continues the Budget Debate.

Ottawa, April 22.—The session yesterday of the House of Commons was taken up by Mr. John Charlton, who made a very strong argument in favor of reciprocal trade relations with the United States in natural products. He fortified his address with a mass of statistics to prove the advantages which would accrue to both nations from mutual interchange of trade, and insisted that Canada must either obtain fair treatment from other nations or fight them with their own weapons. He counselled a courteous response to the advances made by the United States for the reassembling of the Joint High Commission, and suspension of the revision of the tariff pending the adjustment of differences. The election of Dr. Wallace to succeed Mr. W. C. Edwards, now a member of the Senate, in the representation of Russell, was announced by the Speaker. Dr. Wallace was introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. D. C. Fraser.

The following bills were introduced:—Respecting the Hudson Bay & Western Railway Company, Dr. Sproule. To incorporate the Canada Industrial Corporation—Mr. Thompson. Respecting the Canada Atlantic Railway Company—Mr. Belcourt.

Judge Macmillan Dead.

London, April 22.—Judge Duncan Macmillan, who has been a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital for several months, died at that institution at 11 o'clock last night, aged 67 years. Deceased began the study of law in the office of the late Sir John A. Macdonald at Kingston. After he was called to the Bar he came to London, and practised his profession, having as assistant the late John Taylor, barrister, and Mr. E. R. Cameron, now Secretary of the Law Society at Ottawa. In 1874 he was elected to the House of Commons for the east riding of Yorkshire in the Conservative interest, and at the two subsequent general elections in 1880 and 1885 was re-elected. He was appointed County Judge of Middlesex by the Government of the late Sir John Thompson, and had been a resident of Cayuga for some years. He was a son of the late Duncan Macmillan, Provincial land surveyor, and was married.

Y. M. L. S. AMATEUR MINSTRELS
MAKE GOOD AT THE GRAND

Splendid Production by Clever Chatham Comedians—Some Capital Specialties—Elaborate Stage Settings and Delightful Music.

It was clever, thoroughly enjoyable and intensely funny.

This is the accurate and popular criticism of the Y. M. L. S. Minstrels, which appeared at the Grand Opera House last evening. The show was a huge success in every way. The house was packed to the doors and, judging from the liberal applause which greeted each number, the audience was well satisfied with the production.

The young men of the St. Joseph's Society deserve great credit for the excellence of the performance. They have worked hard to make the show a success and they have great reason to feel gratified with the result. The committee who had the business part of the show in hand were, T. J. Doyle, chairman; T. C. O'Rourke, Sec. Treas.; Bernie Weldon, Wm. Chrysler, Parnell Welch, J. J. Brennan and J. J. Kehoe.

J. W. WILSON, Musical Director.

Mr. J. W. Wilson deserves great praise for his portion of the performance. The opening choruses and the choruses to the end songs were the parts for which he was responsible. These were marked by a promptness and swing which made them a feature of the evening. The second part was managed and executed solely by the young men of the Catholic Club, and to them all of the credit of this part of the show is due.

Fred F. Quinn acted as interlocutor and he made a capital one. The young men surely knew what they were doing when they chose him to preside over the first part of their program. He had no unnecessary delay between the different numbers and everything went off on scheduled time.

F. F. QUINN, Interlocutor.

The stage decorations, prepared by Harry A. Hall, were very fine. An elevation was made at the rear with the Bugle Band seated above. Every one of the chorus was dressed in white, the ballad singers in evening dress, and the end men in fancy blue suits. W. W. Scane was the stage manager, and everyone who knows Walter will also know that he was in no small way responsible for the success of the production.

The orchestra also should come in for their share of praise. It was led by Chas. Lorimer who, himself, arranged all the music of the production. His work was very clever indeed.

The curtain rang up at half-past eight o'clock, while the chorus were singing "Old Kentucky Home," and was followed by a bunch of songs, introducing the Bugle Band of the 24th Regiment. The program was divided into two parts. The first part consisted of the regular minstrel opening, jokes, end songs and ballads, and the second part was made up of specialties, etc.

Vic. Robinson and John Glassford were the two extreme end men. They were very funny and very popular with the audience. Robinson came on near the first of the program with his song, "Hear Dem Bells." This is a song that only Vic can sing, and he always makes a hit with it. He was recalled and was obliged to repeat it. Mr. Glassford came on with a couple of talks and also a song, "Can you blame me for loving that man." In this song Mr. Glassford made his appearance in an extraordinary costume, and at the conclusion of his song he was greeted with liberal applause.

The other end men were equally as funny. They were W. Chrysler, T. Fairbanks, B. Reddick, B. Weldon, Harry Massey and M. Douglas. Each of these had something humorous to say, while W. Chrysler, B. Weldon and Harry Massey came out with end songs. Mr. Chrysler in "Dere's no use in Askin' Cause you know the reason Why," was very good and received a hearty re-call. B. Weldon and Harry Massey, who made such a hit in the recent football show, were general favorites. Weldon sang "Fare thee Well" and Massey "Why he don't eat lamb no more."

The ballad singers were James Trotter, James Rhody and R. W. Angus. Mr. Trotter's low voice was well brought out in "The sea is the home for me."

The second part was opened with a selection from the orchestra. In this part Roger and Guy Philip gave a trombone and cornet duet. Both of these young gentlemen are artists in the instruments they play and their duet last evening was of a very high order. It was enthusiastically received by the audience.

Mr. Wm. McPherson gave a number of Scotch dances and was recalled by the audience, who seemed to enjoy this number very much.

A comic sketch, "Il Travatore," was put on by Messrs. "Slim" Weldon and W. Chrysler. It was very funny indeed and caused much laughter. They also were obliged to respond to an encore.

F. Chaplin came on with a bones specialty which also pleased the audience.

The gymnastic and contortionist performance by Tilt and Ward was good. Mr. Tilt has received several medals in Detroit for his acrobatic feats on the horizontal bar, and his work last evening was difficult and well performed. Mr. Ward, for an amateur contortionist, was very good. The evening closed with Glassford's plantation scene, which included a male quartette, music and step dancing by Messrs. Duff and Hardacre. The following is the program in its entirety:

Society and the Bicycle.

Society has taken up the bicycle this season in earnest. The ladies are becoming particularly enthusiastic over the joys of riding. Wheeling parties are now quite in vogue, and the ladies are turning out in godly numbers. This is certainly a splendid means of recreation, for there is no exercise so healthful. The more popular these spins into the country become the better it will be for the general health.

The word of cheer costs nothing, but is beyond price.

University Extension
Lecture

It is the custom of universities of Canada and the United States to send out members of their staffs to lecture on those subjects of which they have made a particular study, with a view to keeping the public at large in touch with university life and giving it the advantage of the best of university thought. In accordance with this custom, different members of the professoriate of the University of Toronto have offered themselves for work in the province. A small fee above expenses is charged, which goes to the funds of the University. Among this number the name of Prof. A. H. Reynar, D. D., who has been connected with the University for many years as professor of English literature in Victoria College, stands prominent in point of popularity and frequency of demand. Dr. Reynar, owing to other duties, had been forced to leave his name off the list of lectures for 1902 and 1903. However, when asked by the young people of Park street Methodist church to give his lecture on Tennyson's "In Memoriam," he kindly consented to place Monday evening, April 27th, at their disposal. As an authority on English literature Prof. Reynar is hardly equalled in Canada, and as a lecturer he is most impressive and pleasing, and it is hoped that the venture of the Park street young people will be appreciated by the literary people of Chatham. Tickets have been placed at 15 cents, and if not purchased from those selling may be had at the door.
