

MONEY FOR HAMILTON.

Government Expenditure in Connection With Normal School.

Grants For Technical Education and Scientific Association.

Women's Wentworth Historical Association Gets Grant.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, March 29.—"I'm disappointed; I looked for more," were the words of Allan Studholme, M. P. P., as he rose to his feet to make some remarks on Hamilton's share in the good things of the supplementary estimates, brought down in the Legislature this afternoon.

Hamilton, however, figures to a considerable extent, after all. Five thousand dollars is set apart for technical education in Hamilton. For painting the exterior of the buildings at the Asylum there is an appropriation of $1,800, and $1,223 for the equipment of the science room, manual training and domestic science at Hamilton, Peterboro and Stratford.

The itemized estimates for the Normal School at Hamilton are as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes Principal, Three Department Masters, Drawing Master, Writing Master, Music Master, Drill, Gymnastics, etc.

This year $400 and $200 in 1910 goes to the Hamilton Scientific Association, and $400 in 1909 and $300 in 1910 to the Women's Wentworth Historical Association.

"The supplementary estimates for 1910 have yet to come," laughed Sir James Whitney, in reply to Mr. Studholme's opening remarks.

LAW'S DELAYS.

No Judgment Can Be Delayed Beyond Six Months.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, Ont., March 30.—Hon. J. J. Foy's amendment to the Judicature Act, assented to by his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, will be hailed with delight by many litigants who have suffered the law's delays at the hands of some judges who are notoriously slow in handing down judgments. The bill provides among other things that no judgment shall be delayed for more than six months.

THE MEN'S HOURS.

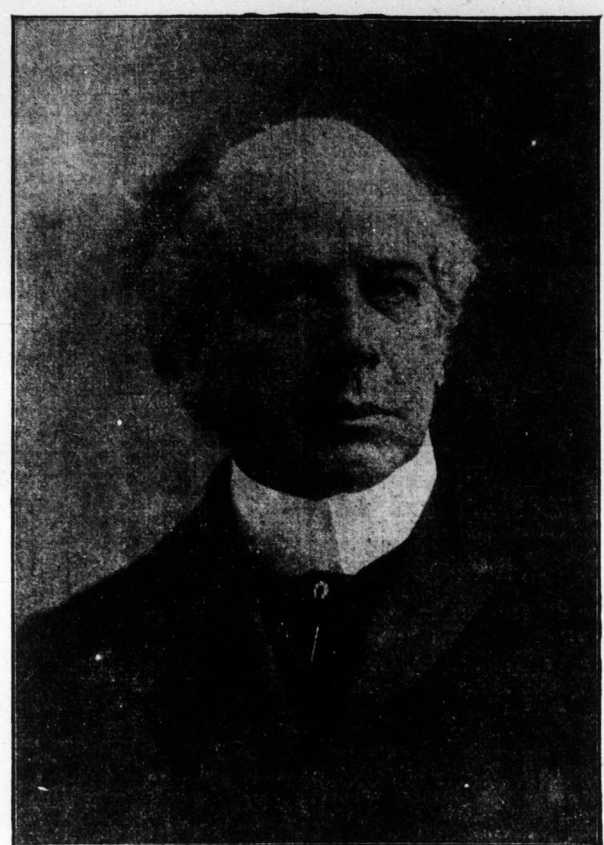

Penalty for Fort William-Port Arthur Street Railway.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, March 30.—A clause affecting the penalty to be imposed on the Fort William-Port Arthur Street Railway Company in violation of the act which defines the number of hours their employees shall work was passed without opposition in the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature this morning. The act says that they shall not allow their men to work more than ten hours a day for six days in the week. The penalty originally provided was fifty dollars and this was changed to not less than twenty dollars and not more than one hundred dollars.

PARLIAMENT OF PRESBYTERIANS.

Synod of Hamilton and London Opened Its Annual Meeting Last Evening.

One of the synodical parliaments of the Presbyterian Church met last night in Central Church, of this city. This court is the place of appeal for the Presbyteries in Western Ontario. No better field belongs to the church, for the congregations are both numerous and flourishing. The meeting coming so early in the season of church courts might well be called the first bird of religious conventions. Its early session is to suit the laymen, as a few weeks later will involve them in the excitement of seeing. The retiring moderator, Rev. John Johnston, conducted the service. With varied feelings the fathers and brethren gathered within this fine new Presbyterian cathedral. They are usually of such folk as hold to the traditions of Puritan simplicity, yet all must have recognized that in a beautiful residential section the people have not been content to dwell in palaces, while the Lord's house is but a tent. But it takes more than art, though it be ever so divine, to divert from the beaten path such a staid father of the church as the preacher for the evening. Thus the Synod opened with the usual rugged simplicity and dignity, so much

SIR WILFRID LAURIER.

Premier's Peroration Tells What Part He Would Play in Defense of Empire.

If the day should come when the supremacy of Britain on the high seas is challenged it will be the duty of all the daughter nations to close around the old motherland and make a rampart to ward off any attack. I hope that day may never come; but should it come—and this is a sentiment which comes from the bottom of my heart—I would deem it my duty to devote what is left of my life and energy to stymie the country and endeavor to impress upon my fellow-countrymen, especially my compatriots in the Province of Quebec, the absolute certainty that the salvation of England is the salvation of our own country, that therein lies our civil and religious freedom and everything we value dear in this life.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Get Tenders Privately For Boxes For New Ontario.

Public Buildings Being Put Up There by Day Labor.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Toronto, March 30.—The Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature concerned itself extensively this morning over the method of letting tenders for bridges in New Ontario. Duncan Ross, West Middlesex, wanted to know whether the Government advertised for tenders, and A. W. Campbell, Deputy Minister of Public Works, gave evidence under oath before the committee. The sub-structure of large steel bridges was built by day labor, he said, and notices were sent to manufacturers of steel bridges throughout the Province for tenders on the superstructure. "Why not advertise?" asked Mr. Ross. "Because there are very few manufacturers of steel bridges in the Province. Notices bring the matter to their notice more quickly and it is much cheaper," was the reply. The question of public buildings in the north country was also considered and both Mr. Campbell and Hon. Dr. Reaume maintained that in most cases it was cheaper to do the work by day labor. In some cases, however, tenders were advertised for in Toronto papers.

WAS CAUGHT IN ROUND-UP.

Navigation Will be Open When Paul Burrows Comes Out.

Two Sessions to Decide the Smith-Sims Bout.

Frank Mott Not Insane, But Must Go to Work.

Constable W. McLean is taking his turn at plain clothes duty now, and this morning, at Police Court, he had the first result of his labors in the person of Paul Burrows, vag, who was sent to jail for two months. McLean arrested Burrows yesterday afternoon in the neighborhood of Main and Caroline streets, where he was begging from door to door. The prisoner said he was a deck hand and was looking for work. The Magistrate didn't understand how he expected to get work going from door to door, and sent him down. Burrows has boarded at the Bethel for a while, and the constable has kept his eye on him. William Smith and David Sims had a great old scrap yesterday afternoon at James and Stuart streets. Smith is a cement walk foreman, and lives at 44 Stuart street east. Sims lives at 31 Sincove street east. Last night they were mixing it up in fine style when Constable Lowery appeared, and ran the pair in. This morning the case resulted in an attempt by each party to show that the other was to blame. Several witnesses said that Sims made fun of Smith, who went across the road and called him down. Sims, on witness said, stuck a cigarette butt in Smith's eye, and the fight was the next move. Other witnesses said Smith was the assailant. The case was laid over till to-morrow to get a man named Simpson, who saw the whole encounter, and will be able to give an independent story of it. The prisoners were allowed to go on their own recognizances to appear to-morrow.

MILLS SCORES AGAIN.

M. M. Robinson Must Give Security For Costs.

Toronto, March 30.—The editor of any department of a newspaper is entitled to come within the status relating to libel and slander, and is thus enabled to take advantage of any protection they afford, as is the editor, manager, publisher or proprietor of a newspaper. This is the purport of a decision given this morning by the Chief Justice in a motion arising out of the war between the sporting editors on the Hamilton papers, or at least two of these papers. The case is the well known one of Robinson, of the Spectator, and Mills, of the Times. The Chief Justice allows an appeal of John King, K. C., for F. C. Mills, from the ruling of the Master, and decides that security for costs must be given by Robinson.

WANTED IN DUNNVILLE.

Magistrate Brown, of Dunnville, has written to the local police to say that George Martin, the Indian who collected the money from the Methodist ministers of this city, is wanted in Dunnville on charges of fraud. He is alleged to have worked the same game there. Chief Smith has also several communications from ministers about the man, and none are in his favor. He comes up for sentence in a couple of days.

A Dreadnought.

Melbourne, March 30.—The Premiers of New South Wales and Victoria have decided to offer one Dreadnought to the Imperial Government on behalf of their respective states. This is the result of negotiations between the two states, undertaken since it became apparent that the Commonwealth Government was not prepared to take any step in this direction. Subscriptions will be made on the basis of population, New South Wales contributing $4,000,000 and Victoria $3,000,000.

BUSINESS MEN AND INSURANCE.

Protest Against Clause in New Fire Insurance Bill.

Making All Companies Take Out Canadian Registration.

Is the Fire Underwriters' Association a Combine.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Ottawa, March 30.—A strong protest was made by representatives of the Canadian manufacturers' Association in the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee this morning against clauses in the new Insurance Act, which requires all fire insurance companies doing business in Canada to take out Canadian registration and comply with all conditions of the Canadian Act.

Mr. Hance J. Logan, ex-M. P., on behalf of the association, said the Fire Underwriters' Association was one of the most vicious combines in Canada, and was now seeking to prevent business men from going outside of Canada for insurance at much lower rates than were obtainable in Canada. There were, he said, between ninety and one hundred millions of insurance placed in Canada, and Canadian companies themselves admitted they could not take care of all the business. Such legislation as proposed would paralyze many businesses. There were cases where the rates charged by the Canadian Fire Underwriters were 500 per cent. more than those of other companies. Manufacturers simply asked that they be allowed to get insurance where they could get it on the most advantageous terms.

Mr. George Cains, Montreal, presented a resolution passed by the Montreal Board of Trade declaring that the bill would have the effect of creating a monopoly or combine of the fire insurance business of Canada. He submitted that the regulations of the Fire Underwriters' Association proved it was a combine.

Mr. Morrissey, of the Canadian Fire Underwriters, Montreal, pointed out that the whole trend of the bill was to prevent insurance with unlicensed companies, but while the act would impose a penalty on any agent soliciting insurance for an unlicensed company, he would go further and penalize the party insuring under such conditions. Manufacturers had been insuring with and obtaining advantageous terms from unregistered companies despite the fact that the law prohibited it.

Mr. Gervais complained that the underwriters in Canada were a combine. Mr. Morrissey denied that statement. The Montreal Board of Trade had passed a resolution to the effect that the bill would create a monopoly and combine of the fire underwriters, but they had proposed on false pretences. The Association of Fire Underwriters was not a combine, but a body in the interests of the public as well as in the interests of the companies. All the fire underwriters asked was that preference should be given to home companies.

WAS NO CASE AGAINST HIM.

Charge Against B. B. Morden Dismissed This Morning.

Judge Monck brought to an abrupt termination the case of Britton Morden, charged with stealing $44 from Wesley R. Bennett, in his chambers, by finding the accused not guilty, and dismissing the charge. His Honor heard a portion of the evidence of the complainant, and then decided that no charge could be sustained on the account of the dealings as explained by Bennett. The complainant said that in the fall of 1907 he was approached by Morden, who was collecting tickets at the Savoy, and said he had a chance of making a little money on the advertising in the programme of the Hamilton Oratorio Society, which gave a concert in the Drill Hall in December of that year. Morden asked him $50, with the understanding that he, Bennett, was to have half of the profits. Bennett said he agreed, and paid the money over to Morden. The witness heard nothing from Morden until after the concert, when he was told that there was $44 coming to him. Morden left the city, and Bennett did not see him again until a short time ago.

Under cross-examination by Mr. A. M. Lewis, the witness admitted that he had collected $25 for some of the space sold.

Thomas Anderson said that he had received the money from Morden, and that he had had all the dealings in connection with the advertising with Morden.

"Did you initiate this prosecution, Mr. 'Washington'?" asked his Honor.

"No," replied the Crown.

"Can you better the evidence?"

"I don't think I am called upon to answer that question," replied Mr. Washington, with some asperity.

"Well, I can see where you hope to succeed. The criminal code does not compel me to try a case that ought to go into the civil courts. I don't think it is a proper case for the criminal court. To my mind it simply calls for an account of the partnership dealings of these two men."

Mr. Lewis then presented a statement of the court, showing the disposition of the money. Morden had collected $166.30 for the space in the programme, and had expended $132.15. There is a balance of $34.15, less $5 to the Traders Bank. The half profits would therefore have been $14.57. Bennett admitted that he had collected $25, and Mr. Lewis contended that Bennett owed Morden $10.34. Mr. Lewis went on to say that Morden had been working in Toronto receiving $75 a month, and he had been discharged as a result of this charge being brought against him.

"I find the defendant not guilty," concluded his Honor.

PEPPERED WITH BIRD SHOT.

Blackmailers Foiled by Police of Washington, Ind.

Banker Ordered to Deposit $30,000 at a Certain Place.

Woman Blackmailer Captured but Man Escapes.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Washington, Ind., March 30.—A woman was shot last night as she picked up a decoy prepared after Banker M. G. Read had received a letter demanding that he deposit $30,000 at a designated spot. A man accompanied the woman, but escaped unhurt. The police are looking for him. The woman was peppered with bird shot.

The woman, besmeared with blood, was taken to jail. She was identified as Miss Zella Clark, and has been employed as a domestic.

Read is president of the First National Bank of this city. The letter he received demanded that he place the money in a box to be left at the east gate of a school building at 9 p. m. He was given instructions to leave the box and run for his life. Upon receiving the threatening communication Mr. Read laid the letter before the police, and at the appointed hour officers were secreted in neighboring houses.

The bank president made his way to the gate, placed the decoy box, and ran as instructed. A few minutes later the man and the woman in the case appeared at the gate, the woman running to the box and picking it up.

Some one fired from the school building, the woman gave a cry of pain and fell to the pavement. Her companion escaped.

FAIR WAGE CLAUSE.

Manufacturers Say Will Drive Work Away From Toronto.

Mr. Studholme Questions Correctness of Some Figures.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Toronto, Ont., March 30.—Before the Municipal Committee of the Legislature to-day W. N. Tilley, K. C., representing certain manufacturers of the city, raised a vigorous protest against the "fair wages clause" in the act to amend the Municipal Act brought forward by the city of Toronto. "It is unfair to the manufacturers and contractors in Toronto," said Mr. Tilley, "to compel persons making contracts with the city to adopt this fair wages clause." Mr. Tilley read comparative tables which, he contended, showed that the wages that the city would compel its contractors to pay were much in advance of those paid in any city in the Dominion.

Mr. Studholme—Where did you get those figures?

"From Mr. Merrick."

"I thought so," said the labor man from Hamilton; "then you have been seriously misinformed."

In addition, said Mr. Tilley, this clause would seek to compel the contractor to have his men to work certain hours every day. The effect of the clause will be to drive work away from Toronto.

"In the end," said Mr. Tilley, "it would mean that the labor unions and their members themselves would be seriously injured by the adoption of this clause."

Mr. W. C. Phillips, of the Phillips Transferring Co., declared that the "fair wages clause" was simply "a thin end of the wedge" put in by the labor union to gain their own ends. The inevitable result, he said, would be to drive work away from Toronto.

John Gardner, a labor man, pooh poohed the idea that the "fair wages clause" would affect the work done here. "I gibbons appealed for justice for the worker." The bill was allowed to stand till to-morrow.

SUBMIT A BY-LAW TO RATEPAYERS.

In Connection With the Proposed Scheme for Hospital on Entirely New Site.

At the next meeting of the Finance Committee Ald. Lees will move to have a special committee appointed for the purpose of revising and consolidating the city by-laws. They have not been revised since 1899 and it is intended to make a number of important changes. One of these will be to limit the authority of civic chairmen and officials in the matter of purchasing supplies. It is said that under one of the by-laws at present a chairman can purchase stuff amounting to $2,000, $3,000, although it was not the intention of the by-law that this construction should be placed on it. The idea is to limit this so that it shall only permit of the purchase of supplies from day to day. The matter will be dealt with at the next council meeting.

Mayor McLaren explained to-day that the idea in appointing a special committee last night to select a new hospital site was to provide accommodation for an isolated and new general hospital, and then submit a by-law to the people asking for permission to issue debentures to purchase the site and erect a new isolation hospital. The site would then be ready for any new buildings and eventually a new general hospital would be erected. The present building, it is believed, will be re-

MADE PROFIT OF $320,000.

Annual Meeting of the Westinghouse Company To-day.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Westinghouse Company was held to-day. The annual report for the year ended December 31, 1908, of $320,377.36. Dividends paid during the year were $249,937.09. After adding to the reserve for depreciation the sum of $30,000, which makes a total reserve for this purpose of $250,000, the balance carried forward to profit at January 1st, 1909, was $431,724.82. This statement was regarded as an excellent one in view of the commercial and financial depression for the year just closed.

The following were re-elected directors and officers:

George Westinghouse, President.

H. H. Westinghouse, Vice-President.

L. A. Osborne, Vice-President.

Paul J. Myler, Vice-President and General Manager.

T. Ahearn, Warren V. Soper, Hon. J. M. Gibson, C. F. Sise, Geo. C. Smith, Chas. A. Terry, directors.

John H. Kerr, Secretary.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. The programme consisted of a discussion as to the opportunities for young men in Canada vs. the United States, all the members of the cabinet participating in the discussion. This was followed by a consideration of the Boys' Build-Inchmen, which was heartily endorsed. Four members of the Cabinet were nominated for positions on the board of directors. From this number the special nominating committee will probably select two at the present time. The others will likely be given a place at the annual election of officers in May. The nominees were F. E. Shepard, B. O. Hooper, Russell T. Kelly and J. M. Telford. The critic of the evening was J. R. Marshall, and his criticisms were decidedly helpful to the debating representatives.

FAREWELL TO PASTOR.

Rev. W. J. H. Brown Honored by Barton St. Baptists.

Two Presentations Made at Meeting Last Night

And Many Expressions of Love and Good Will.

The little Baptist Church on Barton street east was crowded to the doors last evening, when the congregation gathered to bid farewell to Pastor Brown, who in his two years' ministry among them had completely won his way into their hearts, and had been used of God in bringing blessing to many souls. Long before time for the opening of the meeting the many friends of the pastor and his wife had crowded into every available seat, and those who were a little tardy in arriving had to stand throughout the service.

On the platform with Pastor Brown were many of the Baptist ministers of the city, among the being Revs. W. Quarrington, H. McDiarmid, R. McWhirter and Jas. Bracken.

Rev. Mr. Bracken, of Ferguson Avenue Baptist Church, in a short speech, emphasized the fact that the important thing to-day is full acknowledgment of Jesus Christ as the Lord. Referring to the occasion on which they had gathered, he spoke very highly of Pastor Brown, assuring the people that their loss would be some one else's gain. Mr. Brown would be sure to win his way into the hearts of the people to whom he had been called, and he felt sure that it was God's mind that he should be sent to his new field of labor.

Rev. W. Quarrington spoke of the friendly relations which existed between Pastor Brown and himself. He loved him and admired him for his faithfulness to the truth, inasmuch as he had not failed to present Christ and Him crucified to the people. He spoke of the retiring pastor's zeal in Christian service, and entrusted the congregation to be generous in their idea of things, and to believe that God was leading their minister into larger spheres of activity. "Stand true," he said, in conclusion, "and continue the work which has been begun among you. Do not let us become your pastor is leaving. Work for a new church, for if any part of Hamilton needs more church accommodation it is surely this section."

Mr. Quarrington expressed the feeling of Westworth Street Baptist Church in wishing Pastor Brown every success in his future work.

Rev. Mr. McDiarmid, of Herkimer Baptist Church, went back to the old college days, when he and the one of whom they were taking leave had studied together in Woodstock College. He pleaded with the people to be as loyal to the new pastor as they had been to the old, and dwelt on the importance of a larger building, as he believed their progress was being hampered for lack of room.

Rev. Mr. McWhirter, of Crown Point Baptist Church, in a few words told of his esteem for Mr. Brown. He could remember the advice he got from him on the occasion of their first meeting. It was simply this: "Be a praying pastor." He could say he had carried out the advice, and presented upon his hearers the great importance of prayer. "Keep together, be of one accord in all things, and blessing will be yours," were his closing words.

The choir during the evening rendered many beautiful selections under the able leadership of Mr. Ivor Pritchard. Miss J. Fellows was soloist.

The event of the evening was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Brown of an address by Miss Near and Mr. P. Kemp, accompanied by a beautiful easy chair and a lamp, presented by Mrs. Brown. The address expressed the tenderest regard for Mr. and Mrs. Brown, appreciation of their devoted work, and God's blessing on their future.

Mr. Brown in reply thanked the members of his church, and himself and wife for their love and cheer at such a trying time. Never had a parting been so keenly felt by him. He had grown to love the people whom he was ministering to, and no one would know how true it was that he had been to them. He thanked them from his heart for the gifts, though to him they were nothing compared with the love and good-will behind them. His ministry in the little Barton Street Church had occupied to the happiest years of his life, and he did not wish for a more loyal people than they had been to him. There had been little troubles, but love had overcome them all, and fellowship had been sweet between his people and himself.

He assured them that, though absent in body, he would still be with them in spirit, and would assist them with his prayers. He was very glad that they had brought no pressure to bear upon him to reconsider his decision, because he believed God was behind it, and adding his life ambition to please God. He spoke very affectionately of the fellowship and good-will of the pastors present, and concluding, asked his people to take him as a parting message a verse in I. Cor. xv. 58: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, immoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, inasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

Deacon T. McLean then presented the pastor with an address.

After the pastor had briefly responded, Mr. Ivor Pritchard presented him with a beautiful oil painting of the church, the work of Miss E. Smith, saying that he trusted it would bring back sweet memories of his labors here.

Mr. Brown was much affected by this last token of love and replied feelingly, saying that he would be glad to have such a picture of his people and his ministry in his study.

The meeting closed with the singing of two very beautiful and appropriate hymns, "Go With You Till We Meet Again" and "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Pastor Brown leaves this week to take up his duties in his new field of labor.

STAND TOGETHER.

Speech of Governor Aram J. Pothier Before Canadian Club of Boston.

On Friday last Governor Pothier spoke on "Canada and the States" before the Canadian Club of Boston. It was an eloquent plea for friendly relations between these two countries. He said in part:

Allow me to ask whether Canada does not, by proximity, geography, the character of her industries, and by the natural and artificial navigable waters that border her territory on the south, east and west, belong to the common industrial system of this continent? I believe that she does, and I share the conviction of an eminent American statesman, that God never intended that the provinces of the Dominion should be industrially or commercially separated from the United States.

I am one of those who believe that the United States and Canada should be brought into a closer relationship in their affairs. With natural interests in common, and each liable to reap advantage or to suffer loss through the same agencies, both are handicapped in exercising that co-operation so manifestly desirable, by the difficulty of establishing practical working relations.

Never before has the necessity for a closer union, if not a federal union, between these two countries been greater, nor more keenly felt. If the United States and Canada desire peace, for the extension of their trade and the security of the Pacific slope, they must maintain and display a strong navy—strong in its fighting units, adequate in its transports and coalers. Canada as well as the United States must be equipped with the means for coast defence, if she is to do her share in impressing the world with the mightiness of this continent.

And thus it becomes the duty of American and Canadian statesmen to foster and encourage always the most amicable and intimate relations between the two countries, that the problems affecting the future of the continent may be more easily solved; that the destiny of both, whether that destiny be political union or commercial reunion, may be gloriously accomplished; and that we may make common cause for the defence and protection of our civilization before and not after the hour of danger shall threaten.

AT ERSKINE.

Sunday School Had Fine Anniversary Entertainment.

The concert and tea held last night in connection with the Sunday School Anniversary of Erskine Presbyterian Church was an unqualified success. The galleries were crowded to the fullest capacity, while down stairs, people were standing on chairs at the back of the school and in the doorways looking over the heads of those in front to get a view of the proceedings. The programme was of exceptional length, but the numbers were of such variety and excellence that the big audience never had interest. Mr. D. A. Souter presided and filled the chair in a most capable manner. Tasty refreshments were served. The programme was as follows:

Plano duet, Fred Hunt and Leo Loucks; chorus, Miss Montgomerie's class; recitation, Miss Zelia Hall; drill, Mrs. Souter's class; chorus, Misses Sprout and Martin's class; dumb bell drill, Mr. Gordon and Miss Patterson's class; dialogue, Miss Smith's class; recitation, Miss Edith Ion; dialogue, Miss Rogers' class; tableau, Miss Young and Mr. Veltch's classes; recitation, Miss Mildred Morden; chorus, Misses Taft and Finch's class; dialogue, Miss McDonnell's class; recitation, Miss Jackson's class; recitation, Fred Hall; flower chorus, Miss Hennes' class; recitation, Raymond Hennes; chorus, Miss Curtis' class; recitation, Miss Hamilton; chorus, Miss Connor's class; The Witch's Drill; dialogue, Mrs. Dawson and Miss Diddman's classes; chorus, Mrs. Brown's class; dialogue, Miss Will's class; drill, Mrs. Martin's class; recitation, Miss Derrick McMenemy; solo, Howard McKay; guitar solo, Miss Elsie Prestan; hoop drill, Mrs. and Miss Cunnis' classes.

A SURPRISE.

Ex-Ald. and Mrs. Kingdon Given One Last Night.

Last evening friends and acquaintances, numbering between forty and fifty, tendered ex-alderman James B. and Mrs. Kingdon a birthday surprise party at their home. The principals carried out the details so well that while two of the more intimate friends were being entertained, supposedly for a quiet evening, the home was invaded. A summons for a violation of the snow cleaning by-law could not have produced a more complete surprise. A most hearty welcome followed. After the usual congratulations, a progressive game, lunch, music, singing and good wishes, coupled with a solemn promise by Mr. and Mrs. Kingdon that at any rate they would not attempt to get even, the company disbanded.

MOHAMMED ALL.

"The Hope of India" makes an up to date and timely subject at the present time, as everybody is interested. Mohammed All is closely related to the national leaders, and is in a position to give information about the unrest and the needs of India, as probably no other at the present time. Association Hall should be crowded to-night with this morning from noon onwards. No admission fee is being charged, but an offering toward the salary of H. G. Doud, the Hamilton Y. M. C. A. representative in Calcutta will be taken.

WHERE CANADA STANDS.

The debate precipitated in the House of Commons last night by Hon. Mr. Foster's motion declaring that "Canada should no longer delay in assuming her proper share of the responsibility and financial burden incident to the suitable protection of her exposed coast-line and great seaports," was sufficient to indicate two things: that Canada will not be stampered into any foolish plunge into military or naval expenditure, and that Canada will do her whole duty in the matter of defence, and will do it along lines which have been well considered and which have the approval of the Imperial authorities.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The jingoes are quite "up in the air." They found their terror on an airship invasion. "Enquirer."—The population of Washington, D. C., according to the census of 1900, was 278,718.

It is now said that there is a probability of a large reduction in the price of anthracite coal next month. The cut is expected to be at least 50c a ton.

The British navy estimates for 1909-10 call for an expenditure of about $175,000,000. The personnel of this force exceeds 128,000 officers and men, and the pay list alone approximates $40,000,000.

When the Spectator wishes to say something mean of the Times it should talk "straight," not masquerade under the name of plume "Old Liberal," as in its whim about the Tory Club speech report.

This is the season when the lawns and boulevards are much damaged by thoughtless children, delivery men, newsboys and others walking over them, instead of keeping to the walks. Give the grass a chance.

A lieutenant in the British Grenadiers is suing for $375,000 damages for wrongful dismissal. A lieutenant must be a snap. Think of what might have been claimed had the plaintiff been a captain or something higher up!

Although the Unionists were victorious in the three-cornered fight in Croydon, yesterday, the Liberals polled 800 more votes than they did at the general election. The Unionists profited by the falling-off in the Labor vote from 4,112 to 886.

The 1909 aldermen persisted in assuming to fix the policy of the Council of 1910 and all future years by declaring against granting aid to the Art School. Of course, the Beck bill does not contain any provision against such attempt at legislating for future Councils.

Some of the York Loan shareholders are not very thankful to the then Mayor and aldermen who put them up to object to a plan of early realizing on their claims without costly process. Many of them have not sent in their books, and those who have are weary with hope deferred.

The Herald war lord is so utterly disgusted with Mayor McLaren, because he did not declare for Canada ordering a fleet forthwith or for begging the British Admiralty to accept from us a half dozen Dreadnoughts, that he's half inclined to borrow a butchler's cleaver and go out and wreak vengeance on the first representatives of the German nation that he meets. Lee and Epsom salts would seem to be in order.

The situation in France, which has been brought about by its stateownership of telephones and telegraphs in connection with the post office, amount to what is practically a government of the Republic by strike committees in defiance of the will of the people. The situation created is not without danger. It is a beautiful illustration of the practical result of state "ownership" and "operation" on a large scale.

In appointing a committee to look into the matter of a new hospital site, the council has taken a step of considerable importance. The matter is one not to be hastily disposed of. It will involve the expenditure of much money, not only in providing an establishment in the first place, but a large permanent expense for operation and maintenance. It is one of the questions in which there will be profit in exercising caution and foresight before acting, and in which "the best is the cheapest."

The Toronto Mail and Empire is suggesting some tariff amendments to the Liberals. It wants to see a duty imposed upon anthracite coal and 10c a pound upon tea, and declares that "the possibility is that the free list will be materially reduced." Fortunately, the Mail and Empire's friends are not in a position to carry out its ideas, and "possibilities" are exceedingly numerous. It may even be possible for the Mail and Empire chap to sprout wings and join the angels, but a great change must take place first.

Gordon Wilson, M. P. P., has introduced a bill dealing with amendments to the Health Act which contains a number of revolutionary provisions. One of these is that by the substitution of the word "shall" for "may," municipal councils are compelled to vote whatever amount a board of health may care to ask. It also broadens the powers of the board of health so that, instead of being empowered to deal with certain specified diseases, it extends health boards' powers to any infectious or contagious disease, and invests medical practitioners of all regulatory or executive authority. The rather peculiar statement is made that the measure has been discussed with the Provincial Board of Health in private, as it was not desired "to have opposition develop to the bill before its from 941 to 946, a widow was assured of "a moiety" of her husband's lands and tenements during her lifetime; and the rights of a wife to share in her husband's estates have since that time found place in British law. Some of the laws passed in Great Britain have been very liberal, and have been not a little abused. These abuses led to the passage of an act, in 1833, considerably diminishing the power of the wife over her dower. In Ontario there have been many changes in the law affecting dower, but the rights of the wife have always been recognized.

Let the aldermen not think that anybody is deceived by their declining to offer a reward for the capture of the burglar who shot Constable Smith, giving as their excuse that it would be holding out a reward for officials to do their duty. That is mere baby talk. It applies with equal force to the reward offered for Miss Kinrade's murderer. In the case of Smith's assailant there is indeed more chance that a reward would lead some crook to "squeal," and the case is one, which otherwise offers little chance for the capture of the miscreant. The reward should have been offered immediately after the offence. The Council's action in the matter is a practical intimation that because the person shot was a policeman in the discharge of his duty it does not care to co-operate in catching and punishing the criminal.

The British defence discussion is being prostituted in the most unpatriotic manner, to petty party purposes. In the British Parliament yesterday, a Tory member introduced a resolution that "in the opinion of this House, the declared policy of His Majesty's Government respecting immediate provision of battleships of the newest type does not sufficiently secure the safety of the nation." In the debate which followed it was made abundantly clear that the only object to be served by the nation was one of party abuse. Mr. Asquith described the agitation as "manufactured and artificial" and Sir Edward Grey declared that "there was as little reason to apprehend that Germany would attempt to isolate us, as that we should attempt to isolate Germany." The buncome resolution was rejected on a vote of 353 to 135.

MR. PHILPOT'S SERMON. To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—As a reader of the series, was pleased to read report of Rev. Mr. Philpott's address in the Tabernacle Sunday morning. Although not having the privilege but once some time ago of hearing Mr. Philpott in his own church, have always admired the true spirit of the man; have in some measure observed his charitable work outside of church and pulpit, and believe he possesses the spirit of the Great Teacher who went about doing good. Was pleased to note in his address his defence of the Bible, expressed with good, common sense, and wish that every person entrusted in the promotion of good, and remembering the faith of childhood taught at their mothers' knees, would get a copy of Monday evening's Times and note carefully Mr. Philpott's address. Only a short time ago, at lunch in this city, a gentleman sat next me who is at the head of one of the large institutions in Canada, and our conversation drifted for a short time to the recent religious controversy in Toronto, and in summing it up, said: "Those things have a tendency to weaken the faith of the young and make unstable sacred things. The faith of my childhood days I wish to retain." Here was the expression of a business man who, in his work, is in constant contact with all classes of people of religious and social standing.

Citizen. Hamilton, March 30, 1909.

HIGHER CRITICISM. To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—I have just read with interest and surprise the purported remarks of a gentleman on the subject of criticism, which remarks appear in to-night's issue of your paper.

And I shall be obliged if you will publish this in to-morrow's issue so that if there is any mistake anywhere it may be rectified.

I feel satisfied that some discourse has been substituted for that actually delivered, in which case a serious wrong has been done the gentleman named, who, indeed, can scarcely have uttered the words attributed to him.

For an informed person would deny that reason has its rights, or that the Bible should be subjected to the scrutiny of reason, truth has nothing to fear from the closest examination, the scripture bids us "prove all things," and "all things" includes scripture itself. So that criticism is scriptural warrant.

And who cannot see the logical fallacy in this sort of representation? Some critics are unorthodox, therefore, all critics are unorthodox, yea, are atheists!

"The critics," he is made to say, "are not in agreement with themselves, they plant a seed to-day and dig it up to-morrow." The inference intended to be drawn is not clearly stated, but a rebuke or condemnation seems to be implied. But, are theologians in agreement among themselves; is not their theological science changing and progressive? Or is disagreement, advance, had in critics, but tolerable and harmless in theologians? This was partially with a vengeance.

Now, with regard to the first chapter of Genesis, let us confine our examination to a single point. In verse 12, fruit-trees and fruit are mentioned as being in existence on the third day, while the sun was not made until the fourth day. We are obliged to take this as scientifically or historically correct? And who shall limit us to one method of interpretation? What school has infallible warrant here to dictate how we must interpret under pain of heresy, or worse? When in the much-abused middle ages, it was not so. And certainly not in the beginning—since Origen allegorized the Creation narrative. At this distance it might be permitted to us to do likewise and regard it as neither science nor history, but as a sublime poem, which, indeed it appears to be to me a few sober minds.

Again, with regard to Darwin, whose greatest book was published not "a few years ago," but fifty years ago, and whose epoch-making work was "The Origin of Species," in which he sought to show that species are not immutable, but mutable I have nothing to say, but two plain simple questions to ask. (1) Where does Darwin teach spontaneous generation? (which is charged to him in the reported remarks). And (2) In our Canadian or American universities, is there any professor of biology, or of anatomy, or embryology, who denies the truth of Darwin's theory that vertebrates (e.g.) have been slowly evolved from invertebrates, that man has had an animal ancestry? Again, I ask, who is that professor, and at what university does he teach? He will be a rare avist.

In a word, sir, evolution is to-day accepted as a working hypothesis, because it explains and falls in with divers facts of existence, and facts are stubborn things. Fact and truth are about identical, and have equal claim to our reverence.

CORNISHMEN AT BANQUET.

Successful Event Held by the Local Association. Delicacies of the Native Land on the Festive Board And Good Speeches by Members and Outside Friends.

The attendance at the second annual banquet of the Cornishmen's Association in Orange Hall last night was so large that the society's greatest expectations were fully realized. The hall was brightly decorated, the Cornish emblem being most prominently displayed, and the walls and ceilings were covered with British flags and bunting, showing the loyal spirit of the Cornishmen. Caterer Knappan attended to the arrangements on the supper table, which was loaded with the most tempting delicacies, all in Cornish style, which did not fail to tempt the most delicate appetite.

A number of members of outside associations were present, and helped with the speaking-making and programme. After the good things had been partaken of, the president, Mr. J. H. Gumm, made a short speech of welcome. He said not only would he extend a warm welcome, but would outline what the Cornishmen's Association stands for. They were glad to have the Mayor with them, as he was such a strong temperance advocate, and temperance was one of the rules of the society. He then handed the programme to the toast master, Mr. H. Treblecock.

The toast "The King" was responded to by singing the national anthem. The Mayor, in responding to the toast, "Hamilton," said he had very much pleasure in attending such a representative gathering. Not knowing much about Cornwall and its people, he had gone to the trouble of reading about them, and found only references to show they were an industrious, intelligent, independent people, mostly miners, and for intricate problems in mining work the Cornish miner is generally best. He was glad to welcome any Cornishman to Hamilton, as the city cannot grow too rapidly with this kind of immigrant, but it can be filled up too fast with the poorer element of other countries. What Hamilton wants is more of these industrious men, who, while not rich, are able to support themselves without being a burden to the city. With such an independent body of people the city is bound to advance. The Cornishman has a reputation that can't be beaten in any part of the world.

Mr. J. W. Cheesworth, Toronto, responded to the toast "Cornwall," and said he was glad to see such a representative gathering. He told of the ambition of the Cornishman and of conditions in Cornwall, which is one of the greatest mining centres in the world. There are schools for the teaching of mining, and the miners educated in these schools go to all parts of the world and are largely responsible for the development of this industry in Canada. Mr. Cheesworth hoped to see some of the officers or members of the Hamilton association visit the Toronto society.

The next toast on the programme was "Our Guests," responded to by W. C. Hawkey, of Toronto. He spoke mostly of the growth of the association in Toronto. It was largely due to the efforts of one young man that the Toronto organization was formed. During the four years the society has been in existence the membership has increased to over 200, of which 90 per cent. were born in Cornwall. The society has made it a point to help their fellow country men who may be in distress, and have distributed altogether $200. Another attraction the Cornishmen had for the Cornish choir, who go out singing at Christmas.

In responding to the toast "The Ladies," Rev. R. Whiting said he expected to have an opportunity of saying a word, but did not think it would come under that heading. He wanted to have the opportunity of responding to such a toast, as during his life as a preacher he had found that the ladies were very diligent workers and a very important asset of the church. Although they had not been born in Cornwall, his father had, and he had kept in touch with anything undertaken by the Cornishmen.

love, has given her heart to Maywood, and believes in him implicitly. The conflict eventually narrows down to a fight over a woman, Miss Gwilliam, who, having been deluded by Maywood into the belief that she is suffering from a number of serious diseases, gives him out of gratitude for her supposed cure, through the agency of Rhadesian Balm, a great part of her limited means. Although she clings obstinately to her faith in Maywood, Arnold by a clever ruse succeeds in unmasking him before her at a critical moment, and the prison door looms up before the impostor. Beatrice, however, through a supreme effort, obtains a respite for Maywood of 48 hours, and endeavors to persuade him voluntarily to renounce his nefarious business. He is on the verge of consenting, when a message from the detective who is hunting for his daughter, reminds him that to give up the business will mean to destroy her own chance of continuing her search for her, he decides to go on and fight it out regardless of consequences. Things are looking black for him in other directions. Inspired by Arnold, the newspapers have begun the campaign against Rhadesian Balm and a number of wealthy men who have been his associates in the business show signs of deserting him. Undaunted still, he fights back harder than ever. But fate proves too strong for him. One of his dupes, a prominent man of business, comes to town, bringing his adopted daughter. The girl falls ill of pneumonia and, although Dr. Arnold is called in, the father sends him away and will hear of nothing but treating her with Rhadesian Balm, in which he firmly believes. Distracted by her sufferings, he appeals to Maywood to treat her, he finally, believing her to be dying, he hurries her to Maywood's house just when Maywood is receiving an influential deputation. Maywood, forced under these circumstances to attempt to treat the girl, finds to his horror that she is his own child when he has been seeking so long. In an agony of remorse he sends for Arnold, entreats him to save her if possible and makes public confession of his own wrongdoing. Under Arnold's treatment the girl recovers, and Maywood, ruined in reputation and broken in fortune, gives thanks that he has been saved so terrible a retribution, and Beatrice Faulkner, who has never ceased her earnest efforts to make the good that is in him

C. W. BELL, Author of the new play produced at the Savoy last night.

The Selman Stock Co. were cast in Mr. C. W. Bell's new and unnamed three-act play, which was presented at the Savoy Theatre last night to the most brilliant audience that has been assembled in the popular play house since the memorable opening night. The audience as well as the reception given the play was highly complimentary to the clever local playwright. Every seat in the house was occupied before the curtain went up, and scores stood throughout the performance. The boxes were occupied by members of the Dickens Fellowship, of which Mr. Bell is president, and theatrical people from New York, Toronto and other points. The applause was generous, but was not given indiscriminately. At the end of the second act there was prolonged applause, and calls for the author. Mr. Bell stepped before the footlights and made a modest and appropriate address, short and to the point. He thanked the audience for its expression of appreciation of his work, which had cost him much time and effort and the members of the Selman Stock Co. for their untiring efforts to create the characters in the play. The story of the piece concerns one Dr. Philip Maywood, a physician of moderate practice, living in the town of hit this week, especially with the children. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy are old favorites here, and were extended a cordial reception. Their funny little farce, "The Coal Strike," provokes a riot of laughter. Murphy in the role of the coal heaver, and later as the romantic lover, has wide scope for fun making. They have a number of bright parodies and some very funny repartee. One of the best liked numbers on the bill is the Scottish specialty provided by the Fraser troupe. The pipers in full Highland costume and playing sweet Scottish airs were given a great reception. Angus M. Fraser, the premiere dancer of the company, executed, first, with marvellous agility, the Highland sword dance, and in answer to continued applause gave a popular Highland fling. Each of these Scotchman efforts made a big hit. The Fraser dancers, four of them, to the strain of the pipes, delighted the audience with the Highland reel, and for an encore gave the Reel of Tulloch. This was excellently well done, and caught on immensely. Mr. Fraser's second appearance was in the sailor's hornpipe. Attired as a Jack Tar he went through all the merry steps of this famous dance, and smilingly bowed to the storm of applause that greeted his snappy completion. Cooper and Robinson, colored comedians, are a funny team, and they kept the audience in constant laughter with their lively patter. Lew Wells is a comedian above the ordinary, and he undoubtedly what his billing claims, the best saxophone player in vaudeville; the LaVine Cimaron trio had a laughable gymnastic travesty entitled, "Imagination," and Potter and Harris sent the hall off to a good start with a very clever exhibition on the trapeze.

prevail, comes to him with help and consolation, and with her love to guide him Maywood starts life anew. The play was exceedingly well staged, the appointments in all three acts being all that the most fastidious could desire, and reflected much credit on Mr. De Bois, the scenic artist of the company. The sets showed the consulting room of the Rhadesian Balm Cure Co., the laboratory of the company, and Dr. Maywood's library. For a first night of a new play the members of the company did exceedingly well, there being no delays and all the principals were well up in their lines. The opening act is somewhat depressing, and it would be better if there was less realism and more left to the imagination of the audience. The second and third acts, however, are strong, and the climax is worked up with rare skill and judgment. The work of Miss Helen Rapoport, as the wife of a Chicago meat dealer, stood out prominently. Her creation of the character was delicious, and she came in for a large share of the applause—also a bouquet. Miss Hagan, also, was the recipient of a bouquet and a hearty hand. She acted the part of Dr. Maywood's admirer with fine feeling. Miss Lucas as the changeable and excitable patient, put a lot of life into her work. Campbell Stratton, as Dr. Arnold, who made war on the quacks, filled the role in a most dignified manner. The trying role of the near villain, Dr. Maywood, was admirably filled by Mr. Selman. The role was a difficult one, and his portrayal made new friends for him. The other members of the company, with perhaps one or two exceptions, did justice to the characters. "The Red Moon" is the name of Cole and Johnson's new musical comedy, which is said to contain more good musical numbers than any two musical comedies on the road. The company numbers fifty colored artists.

Gainesville. He has one child, a little girl, to whom he is passionately devoted. A succession of reverses overtakes him, and as the crowning blow his child, who was visiting some relatives, is thought to have been lost in the flood which sweeps away their house. Frantic with grief, Maywood devotes every dollar he can scrape together in an effort to learn what has really become of her. His slender resources are soon exhausted, and he makes desperate but unavailing efforts to continue his search. Eventually he learns that the girl has been saved by some laboring people, whose whereabouts are unknown. Casting about for means to continue the search further, he lights upon a chance in the shape of a bogus medicine, which he calls Rhadesian Balm. Soon he is coining money through this scheme, and hardened by his own misfortunes becomes utterly indifferent to the misery of the occasions those who become his dupes. A reputable physician, Dr. Arnold by name, indignant at the harm Maywood's enormous success is causing, determines to expose him. It is soon war to the knife between the two men. The situation is further complicated for Arnold by the accidental discovery that Beatrice Faulkner, with whom he is in ness opera, called "Mlle. Mischief." The book is by Kraatz and Von Sterk, adapted by Sydney Rosenfeld, with music by Carl M. Ziehrer. Like "The Merry Widow" the birthplace of this new opera was in Vienna. When it was originally produced in that city it was known as "Ein Tolle Madel," where it was pre-eminently successful. Its composer is one of the best known musicians in Austria, and in Vienna to-day he shares equal honors with his famous compatriot, Franz Lehar. The story of "Mlle. Mischief" relates how a young Austrian girl, Rosette by name, who is an artist's model, makes a daring wager that she will enter and remain twenty-four hours without an Austrian garrison without the identity of her sex being discovered. The three acts all occur in Austria. The first act shows the studio of Andre Claire, an artist; the second in the barracks at Fremstadt; and the final act the exterior of the garrison. The Messrs. Shubert, who are directing the tour of Miss Glaser, are said to have given this opera an elaborate setting.

AT BENNETT'S THEATRE. One of the most thoroughly pleasing vaudeville entertainments of the year is that provided at the Bennett theatre this week, featuring Albert's bears, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy in their amusing Irish sketch, and the "Clan Fraser" troupe of Highland pipers, drummers and dancers. The Arctic novelty is something out of the ordinary, and undoubtedly the best bear act seen here yet. There are ten big, snow-white denizens of the frozen north, and they perform some very interesting and amusing tricks inside of a big cage that covers the stage. The bears are clever examples of animal training, and should make a big

THE HOME PHYSICIAN

Some Hints to Keep People Well.
Ninety-nine per cent. of the ordinary sicknesses are caused by the bowels, the kidneys or the skin.
As you know, these organs are the great purifiers of the human system. They filter impurities from the blood and pass them from the body. If the kidneys, bowels or skin weaken or get tired out or fail to do their regular work—then the blood becomes laden with impurities and poisons. If it be the fault of the kidneys, then the skin is overworked in its efforts to throw off the excess of urea or waste matter. The glands become inflamed and enlarged—pimples break out—and there may be a rash or eczema of the skin. If the fault of the skin, then the kidneys are strained by overwork and there is constant pain in the back, dizziness, neuralgia, headaches and rheumatism. If it be the fault of the bowels, the blood is poisoned, the skin and kidneys weakened, the stomach upset—and, of course, there is Constipation and Biliousness.
How easy it is, then, to be free of all these troubles! "Fruit-a-tives" is not merely a remedy for any one of these troubles, but a cure for all. "Fruit-a-tives" acts on the skin, the liver, and the kidneys. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps all these great organs well and strong, and thus insures the blood being always pure and rich. With "Fruit-a-tives" in the house to take at the first sign of not feeling well, you need not have a day's sickness. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c. ## FOR POOR MAN.

Mr. Taft Does Not Want Necessaries of Life Taxed.

Washington, March 29.—President Taft talked tariff to-day with a small party of Senators and Representatives. It is said the President is letting it be understood that he strongly favors a reduction of the tariff on all necessities of life.
President Taft is known to be strongly opposed to the proposed tax on tea. It is stated that this tax would yield about $8,000,000 annually. The President believes that the amount could be made up by an excise tax on the dividends of corporations, or by some methods of stamp taxation. He does not believe that the burden of raising this additional $8,000,000 should be placed upon the rank and file of consumers. The President also is said to believe that the Ways and Means Committee of the House will not insist upon the countervailing duty proposed on coffee.
President Taft has let it be known that he approves the Payne bill in principle, and that he believes more scheduling and broken in fortune, gives thanks that he has been saved so terrible a retribution, and Beatrice Faulkner, who has never ceased her earnest efforts to make the good that is in him

WON BANNER

And Crown Council Had a Happy Celebration.

There was a good attendance of members and friends, the hall being comfortably filled. The occasion was the presenting of the Dominion banner to Crown Council, the presentation being made by the Dominion Council, James Hales. Addresses were given by the Dominion Council, J. J. Shanks, Dr. Emory and Crawford, and G. H. Lees; violin solos by Miss Rossie Hopper; recitations by Miss Margaret Bonner; song by Mrs. Windy Bar; and gramophone selections by Fm. Hales. Refreshments were provided by the ladies, and one of the pleasantest evenings in the history of Crown Council was brought to a close.

ST. JAMES'.

Ladies Won an Interesting Debate Last Evening.

The Men's Union of St. James' Church and the Young Ladies' Ideal Society held their monthly social last evening. The important event of the evening was a debate, between three of the members from each society. The subject was, "Resolved that women exert more influence for good in the world than men." The ladies, who had the affirmative, won out by eight points. Misses Stabback, Smith and Dean were the speakers for the affirmative, and Messrs. Long, Baxter and Peart for the negative. The judges were Mr. Nicklin, for the men; Miss Dobson, for the ladies, and Mr. C. D. Cook, neutral. After the debate, sandwiches and coffee, which the ladies kindly provided, was partaken of. A vote was passed thanking the ladies for their kindness.

ABOUT SMOKE.

It is a Useless Waste Says Expert on Subject.

In his lectures on train control, car heating, etc., in a special car on the T. H. & B. switch at Hughson and Hunter streets yesterday, Mr. H. N. Lamb, an expert from Scranton, Pa., dealt particularly with the smoke nuisance and economy in the use of coal. He made no attempt to justify or excuse the nuisance caused by smoking locomotives, and said it was an awful waste of coal. Real economy in the use of coal was to be found in appliances for preventing smoke.
The T. H. & B. management had sent invitations to the Mayor and aldermen to hear this subject discussed, in view of the fact that the city has recently passed a smoke by-law, and the officials were disappointed that none of them attended. Mr. Lamb will speak again this evening and twice to-morrow, and will then leave for British Columbia.

BABY SWALLOWED THIMBLE.

Only Prompt Assistance of Physician Saved its Life.

Toronto, March 30.—The one-year-old baby of Mr. S. Williams, 23 Caer Howell street, had as narrow an escape from death yesterday afternoon as it is possible for a baby to have. It swallowed a tailor's thimble, which lodged in its throat, and was strangling it, when its mother rushed out into the street for assistance. Dr. R. H. Robinson was passing at the time, and went to the child's assistance.
The little thing was already black in the face when the doctor got to it, and the thimble was wedged in so tightly that at first it could not be moved at all. A fruit held the child up by its feet while the doctor wrestled with the thimble, and it was only by a great effort it was moved. Last night the child was reported as doing well.

BERLIN IS A BAD TOWN.

Rev. S. E. Marshall Characterizes the Sunday Signs as Disgraceful.

Berlin, Ont., March 29.—Rev. S. E. Marshall, in Trinity Methodist Church last night, before the sermon, hit out drinking. On his way to church he had been jostled by a drunken man, and he considered it time for the laymen of his and other congregations to step out and do something to see that the Sunday closing was enforced. If they did not, he would.
It was a bad state of affairs when the bars were open, in spite of convictions in the police court, and when representations to the Provincial Government and signed letters to the press and numerous complaints from citizens were alike disregarded. The Sunday signs downtown he characterized as disgraceful in the extreme. The calendar called for "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," as the following hymn, but after the organist had started, the preacher stopped him saying he was in a mood for that hymn, and had it changed to "Stand Up, Stand Up, for Jesus."
POISON IN THE KISS.
Nurse Lost Her Life Through Acceding to Dying Patient's Request.
Cumberland, Md., March 29.—Having become infected from a kiss bestowed by request of a patient dying of blood-poisoning, Miss Marion C. Spier, a trained nurse, is dead at her home here. Miss Spier nursed Mrs. Virginia Callan Carder, wife of Dr. George L. Carder, a prominent society woman, at the Allegheny Hospital and displayed such a lovable disposition toward the sick woman that the latter asked the nurse to kiss her as she was dying. The request was granted, and in a few days Miss Spier was stricken with the same malady.

THREATENED ROOSEVELT.

Demented Italian Started for Upper Deck, But Was Restrained.

New York, March 29.—Giuseppe Tosti, a steamer passenger on the Hamburg, is the man who threatened ex-President Roosevelt, according to a special despatch from Horta.
The incident happened soon after the Hamburg was losing sight of America. Then Tosti broke from his companions in the steerage and started for the upper deck where Mr. Roosevelt was standing with his son, Kermit.
"He has attacked me," said Tosti to Mr. Roosevelt, and a few of his fellow passengers.
Tosti, after his imprisonment, refused to eat for four days, crying, "Roosevelt is trying to poison me."
The ship's doctor now must taste all food offered to Tosti before he will eat it.

HORROR OF PROFANITY.

Lived as Recluse to Avoid It, and Pallbearers Will be Non-Swearers.

Utica, N. Y., March 29.—Ell Christian, an aged man, was found dead sitting in a chair in his home some distance south of Mohawk to-day. He lived alone.
All his life Mr. Christian has abhorred profanity, and he held himself aloof from people because he heard profanity gave him so much pain, he requested long ago that when he died he should be borne to the grave by men who never used profanity, and he selected those who should act as his bearers.
They are alive and Mr. Christian will be buried as he desired.

When Your Child Has a Cold

Are you satisfied with anything that sells under the name of cough medicine.

Or do you search out a medicine of proven value such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.
How few cases of consumption there would be if every child's cold were looked after as it should be.
Did you ever think of it in this way? It is the neglected cough and cold that leads to the dreadful lung diseases sooner or later. From repeated attacks the lungs are weakened and there comes pneumonia or consumption with their dreadfully fatal results.
How watchful parents should be of their children. How careful to use effective treatment instead of trusting to cough mixtures which are often of little value or of harmful effects.
Because it is prepared from linseed, turpentine and other simple but wonderfully effective ingredients, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is particularly suitable as a treatment for children's coughs and colds.
Croup, bronchitis and even whooping cough yields to the influence of this great medicine, and for this reason it is kept constantly on hand in the majority of homes and has enormous sales.
Mrs. John Chesney, Inverkip, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured my little girl of whooping cough when the doctor had given her up, and since that we always keep it in the house as a treatment for coughs and colds. It is the best medicine we ever used."
There is no getting round statements such as this, and you want the most effective treatment possible when your child becomes ill. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25c a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FAVOR NEW SITE FOR A HOSPITAL.

City Council Appoints Special Committee to Consider This Important Question at Once.

No Objection to Appointment of Firemen-- Question Asked re Police Reorganization.

By a vote of 12 to 6 the City Council last night struck out the clause in the Finance Committee's report, which recommended that the present isolation buildings be enlarged at a cost of from $8,000 to $10,000 and appointed a special committee to select a new site for a general hospital.

The Mayor, before the vote was taken, made this comment: "We are not legislating specially for the medical fraternity in Hamilton. They did not care about us when they made us spend $30,000 to change the property with the Canada Screw Company."

The recent scarlet fever outbreak, which taxed the capacity of the old isolation buildings, brought the matter to a climax. The Board of Health took a determined stand, expressing itself opposed to spending any more money on the present hospital grounds, and requesting that the council furnish the funds for a new isolation hospital.

The recommendation to the Council was as follows: "The question of increased accommodation for contagious diseases was fully considered, and the committee recommends that the present isolation wards at the City Hospital be enlarged, as a probable cost of $8,000 to $10,000, so as to give the necessary accommodation."

The Mayor pointed out that nearly all this expenditure was shown in the pay sheets and any alderman could get any information he asked for.

Just before the Council adjourned Ald. Ellis, seconded by Ald. Applegarth, moved that the Council offer a reward of $300 for information that would lead to the arrest and conviction of Constable Harry Smith's assailant.

The Mayor said that this was a case of where a man simply did his duty. "I think it is a mistake," he said, "to offer a reward, and I hope the aldermen will not spend any more money on the present hospital grounds."

A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Frank Sandeman, the great war correspondent, who sent many of the Canadian despatches during the late Boer war, owes his health to Zam-Buk.

He has passed unscathed through twenty-nine battles, but a scratch which turned to blood-poisoning nearly ended his days. Zam-Buk saved him and he writes as follows:

"I have proved Zam-Buk such a blessing that I want others to know of its merits. The poisonous dye in some undecolouring toilet soap got into a scratch I had sustained and blood-poisoning set up. Inflammation was followed by great pain and swelling, and then ulcers broke out on my legs. For some time I could not walk, nor even put my feet to the ground. On my left leg below the knee I had seven ulcers which caused holes into which I could put my thumb. On the right leg I had fourteen ulcers. Medical treatment failed to relieve, homely remedies were applied in vain. Week followed week and I gradually got worse, until I was worn out with pain and lack of sleep. On the advice of a friend I obtained some Zam-Buk and left off everything else while I tried it. It seemed to give me almost instant relief from the pain, and in a few days I noticed that it was healing the ulcers. This was cheering indeed, and gladly I persevered with the Zam-Buk treatment. Bit by bit the poisonous matter was drawn out. The ulcers were healed, and new healthy skin grew over the previously diseased places. I am now quite cured and in gratitude I mention these facts that other sufferers from skin disease may know of something which will cure them."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for eczema, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, piles, bad legs, suppurating wounds, cuts, burns, bruises, chapped hands, and cold cracks, and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at fifty cents or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

The Board of Works report, which contained the following clauses, was adopted: That the tender of Thomas Hibson for painting the High Level bridge with a coat of paint for the sum of $880 be accepted.

That a by-law be introduced providing for the erection of advertising signs on telephone, telegraph, electric light and power poles throughout the city.

That the usual amount be given for the construction of the following cement walks as local improvements, 60 per cent. of the cost thereof to be borne by the city: King street, south and east sides, from Sydney street to Paradise road. Estimated cost $1,904.

Burlington street, north side, from Wellington street to Ferguson avenue. Estimated cost $495.

Sophia street, west side, from King street to Head street. Estimated cost $378.

NEED MORE MONEY. Further Estimated Expenditure Presented. Four Hundred Thousand Dollars For Ensuing Financial Year.

Toronto, March 30.—The Provincial Treasurer laid on the table of the Legislature yesterday supplementary estimates for the ten months which constitute the ensuing financial year, and also the main estimates for the year following, ending October 31st, 1910.

The supplementary estimates call for an additional expenditure of $417,917.06, making a total estimated expenditure for the ensuing financial year of $7,361,378.21. Among the principal items of interest is the vote asked for in connection with the establishment of the new Provincial police force, there being set aside for the chief of Provincial police for seven months $1,166,67, with $750 travelling expenses, presumably in connection with organization work.

The Treasury Department is put down for the railway auditor. Under the head of administration of justice $1,250 for assistance to the Crown Attorney for Toronto, and constables at Gogwanda and Cochrane $1,105. For assistance to the Provincial police in new districts $4,000 is asked, and for high schools examinations in the same districts $2,500. Technical education calls for $11,600; divided as follows: Hamilton, $3,000; Sault Ste. Marie, $5,000; and other technical schools, $3,600. Under the head of public institutions maintenance the Mercer Reformatory gets $5,450. The Agricultural College is given $5,333; agricultural societies, $7,000; expenses of local representatives, $8,000; and with a number of smaller items, make up the total additional grant for agriculture to $16,500. The King Edward Sanatorium gets a grant of $4,000. Public buildings get the large appropriation of $18,573, the biggest item being $150,000 for the purchase of land and erection of buildings for the new Central Prison. The sum of $25,000 will be spent on erecting the Kenora Court House. The other items are for painting and repairs to various public buildings.

The item which will interest New Ontario most is the appropriation of $50,000 for a road from Charlton to Gogwanda. On other colonization roads $8,310 will be spent, and other public works of minor importance will absorb $17,200. In the Crown Lands Department fire-rangings will cost $35,000, forest reserves $10,000 and additional mining recorders $3,000. A conditional grant of $15,000 for the Hawkesbury bridge and the first annual payment of $20,000 to the Kingston Mining School complete the important expenditures. The main estimates for 1909-10 call for $2,508,004. Of this sum $295,000 is on capital account in connection with public buildings. It may be pointed out that the contemplated expenditure for 1910 is two millions less than the total expenditure for last year, but, as was forecasted in the Provincial Treasurer's budget speech, the estimates only include such items as the Government can be reasonably certain about. In view of what has occurred in past years it may be expected that at least a million or a million and a half dollars will be added in the further supplementaries.

FOR NAVAL SUPREMACY.

Hopeless to Expect Cessation of Warship Building.

Parliament, by Party Vote, Rejects Resolution of Censure.

Von Buelow on British-German Friendly Relations.

London, March 29.—By a strict party vote of 353 to 135 the House of Commons to-night refused to express lack of confidence in the Government's naval policy. The motion on which to-day's notable debate hinged was proposed by Arthur Hamilton Lee, Conservative member of the House from Hants. It set forth "that in the opinion of this House the declared policy of his Majesty's Government respecting the immediate provision for battleships of the newest type does not sufficiently secure the safety of the empire."

The result of the vote on the question was expected, but the debate preceding it was one of the most important the House has listened to for years. The assembly of diplomats and Peers testified to its international as well as domestic importance. The leaders of both sides took part in the debate, and in addition Sir Edward Grey, Foreign Secretary; Mr. Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Mr. Alfred Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, were present. Mr. Lee accused the Cabinet of incompetence, and demanded that eight Dreadnoughts be laid down immediately. Mr. Asquith and Sir Edward Grey reproached their opponents for making a party question of the most vital matter of the country's foreign relations.

RACE FOR ARMAMENTS.

Sir Edward Grey's speech was the most notable contribution, because of its remarkable candor. He dwelt on the diplomatic aspects of the British-German rivalry, and the hopelessness of expecting any cessation of the race for armaments, and he predicted eventually European bankruptcy if it continued. He did not attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation created for Great Britain by the German naval programme. He declared it meant that when Germany had completed this programme she would have thirty-three Dreadnoughts, the most powerful fleet the world had ever seen, imposing upon Great Britain the necessity of rebuilding her fleet entirely.

At the same time Sir Edward took the House more into his confidence than other members of the Cabinet are in the habit of doing. He outlined the steps already taken by the Admiralty to secure increased plants capable of coping with any acceleration in warship building that the situation might demand. He assured the House that the Government had taken adequate steps to place British capabilities of construction beyond doubt.

There was an apprehension in Germany that Great Britain was preparing to attack her. This he characterized as "a wild and absurd idea." He did not consider it a cause for complaint that Germany had not entered into an arrangement with Great Britain, as one would expect, on the basis of the British navy, which would be a difficult thing for the German Government to put before its people.

"The Germans," said the Secretary, "view their programme as one made for their own needs, and one which has up to now been successful. Their idea is that if we built fifty Dreadnoughts a hundred they would not build more than the number already decided upon, and if we cease to build altogether they would not build one less. We have no difficulty in accepting that view without reservation, and in fact, in saying frankly that our view of our naval needs is that our expenditure is and must be dependent upon German expenditure. It is essential that we keep our navy in a superior position. If I would name the one thing which would most reassure us, it would be that the prospects of peace it would be that the naval expenditure of Germany is being diminished and that ours is following suit."

Germany has given verbal but explicit assurances, continued Sir Edward, that she did not intend to accelerate her naval programme, and would have only thirteen Dreadnoughts by the end of 1912. The British Government had accepted these assurances, but was informed that the German Government was to stage six months earlier, according to the German custom, capable of being put into commission. Moreover, changes in the European situation might lead to a change in the German programme. He did not believe that the British Government would order eight ships immediately, as they would not be completed any sooner than four were withheld. Some time, he pointed out, Germany might change the type of her ships, which would necessitate a corresponding change in the British programme. He then spoke of the progressive improvement in Anglo-German relations, and said that in his opinion the only thing that could disturb these relations would be an attempt by either country to isolate the other, a thing which neither contemplated.

SOCIALISTS AND REDUCED ARMAMENTS.

After Sir Edward Grey's exposition of the Government's policy the speeches from the Opposition benches seemed half-hearted, although flashes of enthusiasm arose kindled among the Opposition members by the announcement, while Mr. Balfour was speaking, of the victory of the Conservatives in the Croydon election.

The Socialist members of the Reichstag and the British Laborites exchanged telegrams, pledging themselves to work for the reduction of armaments, just about the time that the British Foreign Secretary was frankly declaring that the British navy was designed solely for protection against Germany.

THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR.

Berlin, March 29.—Chancellor von Buelow made a speech in the Reichstag to-day on the foreign relations of the empire. The Chancellor alluded pleasantly to the recent visit to Berlin of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and spoke of the excellent terms upon which Great Britain and Germany were now living. He then referred to the "abundance of the political fantasies in assuming that there was any hostile feelings between the two peoples," and reviewed the economic "community of interests" that united Great Britain and Germany.

"Great Britain," continued the Chancellor, "is for us the most important of all countries with which we trade." One-fifth of all that Germany sold abroad went to the United Kingdom and the British colonies. The Chancellor declared, and Germany during the past ten years had taken an average of nine per cent. of all Great Britain's exports, while the United States had taken seven and France five per cent. The Chancellor was warmly applauded. He closed without making any reference to the Socialist interpretation as to why the German Government took no step toward the limitation of armaments through agreement with the powers.

CURE WAS QUICK AND COMPLETE

Dame Parent's Heart Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

She Suffered for Two Years but Now Advises All Troubled as She Was to Give Dodd's Kidney Pills a Trial.

St. Robert, Richelieu Co., Que., March 29.—(Special)—"I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all my friends." These are the words of Dame Joseph Parent, of this place. And the good dame gives excellent reasons why she does so. "For two years," she says, "I suffered from Heart Disease, Headache, Backache and a dragging sensation across the loins. Seven boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I hope all who are troubled as I was will give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial."

Some people may ask how Dodd's Kidney Pills, which are purely a kidney remedy, can cure Heart Disease. And the answer is simple. Diseased Kidneys fail to drain the impurities out of the blood. If these impurities are left in the blood they not only increase the work of the heart in propelling the bloods through the body, but they also cause the disease. Pure blood removes the cause of the disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make pure blood by putting the Kidneys in condition to strain all the impurities out of it.

HOTEL PORTER FINED

A Cobalt Method of Distributing Refreshments.

Cobalt, March 29.—Cobalt's liquor traffic was explained in Magistrate Atkinson's court to-day in a way that while probably new to the outside world is by no wise new in Cobalt. Rumor had it that the Prospect Hotel had been fined $100 and costs, for selling liquor without a license, but the truth of the matter is that it was a porter employed in the hotel who was convicted. It was also proven that the porter was acting on his own initiative, without the knowledge of the hotel manager, and the guests of the house made up the fine to save the porter getting three months.

It appears the porter had been in a blind pig somewhere in town and was in the habit of securing whiskey by the bottle for guests, when requested to do so. The Prospect Hotel has always maintained its reputation for complying with the license law, in the hope, it seems, of ultimately getting a license. This conviction of the porter was secured through Chief Norman Burk, of the Cobalt force.

CRAZY SNAKE.

His Band Scattered in Battle in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Ok., March 29.—A detachment of Crazy Snake's band of delinquent Indians was surrounded by deputy sheriffs this afternoon near Crazy Snake's home, and a lively battle ensued. More than 200 shots were fired, and one Indian was killed. Eight Indians were captured and the remainder fled with a valiant effort to pursue.

How to Reduce Fat Proportionately

Proportion is the thing. A fat woman yearns to reduce her abdomen, but she doesn't want to produce a scrawny neck. This fact condemns the dieting method of reducing. You can't starve the fat off one place and not off another. Simply impossible. But why try dieting, or even exercising, when there is a better way of reducing fat than either.

Try the following: One-half ounce Marmola, 3/4 ounce Fluid Extract Castor, 4 1/2 ounce 4 1/2 ounce of Peppermint Water. Any druggist will fill the above cheaply. Take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime and see if in a few weeks you are not losing about a pound of fat (resistants) seem to have been dropped with the sinking of the sun to-night.

THOMAS C. WATKINS HAMILTON ONTARIO

WITH THE M. P. P'S Superintendent of Education Added to University.

Toronto, March 30.—His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor attended the opening of yesterday's session of the Legislature, and from the throne gave his assent to the following measures, the first completed legislation of the session: Respecting the fiscal year, to amend the municipal act, to amend the forest reserve act, to amend the act to provide for development of water power at Dog Lake, respecting the Rideau Club, to amend the audit act, respecting the municipality of Neelburg, respecting the Ontario Veterinary College, to amend the act respecting stationary engineers, and an act to provide for the transmission of electrical power and to validate contracts entered into.

Heavier Succession Duties to be Imposed on Heirs of Estates.

Two important Government measures were introduced, that of Hon. A. J. Matheson to amend the succession duties act, and that of Hon. Dr. Pyne to amend the university act. The amendments to the succession duties act are largely technical," said Hon. Col. Matheson, "and aim to remove some of the objections to the act made in a recent case." The Treasurer explained that the surtax on lineals, which stopped at three per cent. on gifts to single individuals getting over $800,000, now imposes four per cent. on single gifts of $1,000,000 to $1,200,000, and five per cent. on gifts to single persons over $1,200,000. This is in addition to five per cent. they would otherwise pay, making to the total payment, where lineals (i. e., the children) get over $1,200,000, equal to ten per cent.

The Minister of Education's bill, Hon. Dr. Pyne explained, proposes to place the Superintendent of Education (Dr. John Seath) on the faculty of education of the University of Toronto. On the second reading of the Government bill to amend the act respecting agricultural societies, Hon. J. S. Duff explained that its purpose was to give the Minister of Agriculture power to add six directors to such of the larger societies as required additional directors. For newly-organized societies it is proposed to place the membership at 300, instead of 600, the Provincial grant being $1 for each member.

York Loan Liquidation.

The liquidators of the York County Loan & Savings Company expect to be in a position to declare a dividend in November, and the rate will be announced a month earlier. The first dividend new appointment, such an officer being deemed necessary. He would be in charge of the constabulary in the newer districts and report to the department as to the necessity for police protection and make recommendations. Hon. A. G. Mackay observed that when the Government was expending over half a million dollars on the Parliament buildings an effort should be made to improve the acoustics of the Legislative Chamber. If nothing could be done, he suggested turning the present chamber into office rooms and erecting a new or second chamber. Sir James Whitney agreed that present conditions were deplorable. It was his intention to have the engineer look into the question of extending the galleries. The Liberal leader pointed out the importance of the traffic that was going into the new mining district, but in response to other queries he ascertained that the summer road had decided not to build a summer road from Selkield to South Gogwanda.

If You Desire Better Complexion THIS WILL TELL THE WAY.

Who can gainsay that the joy and pride of every woman is a dainty complexion and a good figure. They attract attention, command respect and are coveted by all sensible women. If health is good, it's natural for most women to have pleasing looks. But when the face is bloodless and the tears are ready to flow, there is a dragging weakness somewhere that needs attention. Such was the case with Mrs. J. J. Perry, of Lindsay, Ont. She tells how she turned sickness into health, how her good looks were restored. "About ten years ago I was confined to my room for five months under the constant care of a doctor, suffering from weakness and female trouble, since then I have scarcely been able to stand, being always run down in flesh, nervous and hysterical. My appetite and digestion became so poor that my strength failed entirely. A constant headache, palpitation of the heart and dizziness at the corners of my mouth added to my burden. My druggist, Mr. Dawson, advised me to try Ferrozene. I used three boxes at first, and noticing an improvement, bought six more. I improved steadily and grew stronger each day. Finally Ferrozene cured me. I am twenty pounds heavier, I have a splendid appetite, and my complexion is everything that is desired. My heart trouble is gone, and to-day I am a strong, healthy woman, just what Ferrozene made me. My life was saved by Ferrozene and I am glad to testify to its great merits." Pale, weak women who are dependent and ailing will find hope and new health in Ferrozene. It makes rich blood, braces the nerves, strengthens feeble organs. Ferrozene correct stomach trouble, improves the appetite and brings color to the cheeks. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers. It will pay you to use Ferrozene.

FIGHT PICTURES.

Large Crowd at the Grand Last Night.

Hamilton has the distinction of being the first Canadian city to see the original motion pictures of the Burns-Johnson fight, which took place in Australia, when the Texas Smoke took the world's championship away from the Canadian, Tommy Burns. They were shown at the Grand yesterday afternoon and evening. There are over 5,000 feet of film and most of the pictures are good and clear.

The interest in the pictures yesterday was greatly enhanced by the running account given by Hugh D. McIntosh, the man who promoted the fight and who was the third man in the ring. His story was quite interesting. At the afternoon performance Mr. McIntosh was introduced to the spectators by the sporting editor of the Times and in the evening Billy Carroll had the honor. The pictures will be shown again this evening and to-morrow afternoon and evening.

The best teams will roll this week, and the games every night for the balance of the week will be worth coming a long way to see.

Gossip and Comment

The interest in the Johnson-Burns fight has been renewed here by the presentation of the pictures of the great battle in the Grand yesterday. There is quite a diversity of opinion among the fanatic fans as to whether the referee was right in awarding the title to Johnson. Burns did all the leading and was strong and on his feet when the police interfered. He was badly punished, however, while the colored man seemed unharmed. The pictures show one thing—that the open clean break style of boxing which prevails in Canada is better than the hitting in clinches rule under which the pair met. The fight was a poor one from the spectators' point of view.

When admitted on December 12 last at the jail he gave his address as Colborne, and his occupation that of bartender. He gave no address or occupation, but he left the impression with the jail officials that he had friends in or around Colborne.

Special arrangements are being made for ringside and stage seats.

CRAZY SNAKE.

The Chief of the Creek Indians Offers to Surrender.

Was Trapped in His Lair But Safe From Troops.

Guthrie, Okla., March 30.—Crazy Snake or Chitto Harjo, the chief of the Creek Indians, offered to surrender. The proffer of the wily old chief, who has been sought by five companies of state militia since Sunday, was made to officers of the militia this morning. He sent word that he desired to come in but feared with Crazy Snake and his followers a portion of his band of Indians, half breeds and negroes apparently trapped in the north Canadian bottoms, more than 300 Oklahoma militiamen, deputies, cowboys and farmers hurried forward at dawn to-day to join those already on guard to crush or capture the belligerents.

The Indians were in a timbered stronghold. On all sides ranged a dense growth of unbroken timber, by great trees capable of affording protection against a legion of galling guns. In this fortress, but by nature the like of which has afforded protection to red men and palefaces alike in many a fierce struggle, Crazy Snake and a portion of his band crept last night when Col. Hoffman's pursuing soldiery got too near for comfort. Here they prepared to make their last stand.

He was well protected in his wooded retreat and all his followers were well armed and desperate and had sworn with their Indian rites to stay by him to the last. The white men had Crazy Snake in their grasp, but were unable to take him. He could not escape, but so great was the peril of the situation that none of the State's representatives cared to risk any engagement in the darkness.

Fighters under military and military rules were rushed to the scene, mounted and afoot. Ammunition and supply wagons, all loaded for emergency, soon were rumbling on their way to the front. While this was in progress, Crazy Snake and his followers had fled to their homes.

Adjutant Gen. Ganton in Guthrie is keeping close watch on the situation, ready to move into the field and take command at a moment's notice. Had the Snake succeeded his forces and given the whites open battle after their own fashion he would have been annihilated. So he tore his companies apart into mobs, sending some here, some there. With their savage instincts, they may be expected to make full use of the natural defences in which Oklahoma abounds and so prolong the conflict.

Henrietta, Okla., March 30.—"Everything is quiet in the district surrounding Hickory Grounds," said Adj. Gen. Ganton here this morning.

100 FROM THIS CITY

Will Attend the Great Laymen's Congress in Toronto.

Hamilton will be represented by probably 75 or 100 delegates at the Canadian National Missionary Congress, to be held in Toronto this week, beginning to-morrow and lasting until Sunday.

The congress, it is expected, will bring together representative men from every section of the Dominion and many from abroad to consider the adoption of an adequate missionary policy for this country. It will be the first meeting of the kind in the world.

It is expected that there will be 2,500 laymen in all told. Five hundred of these will be from Toronto. Fifteen hundred clergymen will also attend the meetings of the congress.

As Massey Hall, where the meetings are to be held, will not accommodate a greater number than the delegates to the congress, the public will not be admitted. There will be, however, four public meetings. Two of these will be for women, and will be held in Convocation Hall, on Thursday, April 1, at 3.30 p. m., and on Friday, April 2, at 8 p. m., Dr. S. M. Zwemer, E. R. G. S., will make an address on "Life and Work in Muslim Lands," illustrating his address with lantern slides.

On Thursday and Friday nights there will be two public meetings in the Metropolitan Church.

Some very pleasant social features will be connected with the congress. Sir Andrew Fraser will be entertained by the Presbyterians at a luncheon in the Temple building on Friday. He will also be entertained at Government House.

A luncheon will be given at the King Edward Hotel to the Executive Committee of the laymen's missionary movement on Thursday by the Canadian members.

The delegates belonging to the English church will have a luncheon on Friday night.

WILL SHE?

Many People Think Miss Fay Can Help the Police.

Eva Fay, who has assumed the modest title of the world's greatest model typist, may have her powers put to a very severe test when she arrives here next week, by being invited to take a hand in clearing up the remarkable murder mystery, which so far has defied solution. Manager Appleton, of the Bennett Theatre, where she is billed to appear, says it is surprising the number of people who have faith in Miss Fay's ability to give the police in mysterious cases, and information in this case. Correspondence from all parts of the city and surrounding country has poured into his office since he announced Miss Fay's appearance, and in nearly every case the offer of a reward to the murderer. Most of them suggest that Miss Fay find the revolver for the police. Every effort so far to locate the weapon has failed, and the persistency with which the detectives have hunted for it seems to have constituted a large section of the public that this is regarded as one of the most important points in solving the mystery. Miss Fay's manager says that she has frequently been called upon while appearing in American and European cities to assist the police in mysterious cases, and that very often the advice she has given has been of the greatest importance. He intimates that she will readily assent to help solve this case if the police invite her to.

St. Catharines Springs.

Rumors that "The Welland" at St. Catharines, was about to close, are entirely without foundation, merely a re-adjustment of the company. "The Welland," spite of the depression, has had a busy season, and is being conducted under the same management as before. This is just the time of year to take a course of tonic baths.

WANTS HIS MONEY BACK.

Acting on behalf of Emmett Burke, Nesbitt, Gault & Dickson have issued a writ in the High Court for the return of $500 from the Ellis Manufacturing Company. A SAD CASE.

Young Scotch Girl Abused by Gang of Foreigners.

Hamilton Clairvoyant in Trouble at Brantford.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, March 30.—Madame Baker, who said she came here from Hamilton a couple of weeks ago, was charged at the police court yesterday with practicing clairvoyancy. The defendant created quite a stir in court when she took the witness stand on her own behalf, and testified that she was able to look into the future and foretell events. She has been holding forth at the Commercial Hotel for some days, charging $1 per seance. Magistrate Livingston asked Madame if she could pick the winner of the English Derby, and other similar events. Chief Slemin testified to know why she did not stay in Hamilton and help solve the recent murder mystery. After an all round crossfire from the court, a remand was granted at the request of counsel T. Woodruff, who wanted to look up a couple of points in the local foreign element, from which she was held forth at the Commercial Hotel for some days, charging $1 per seance. —The police believe they established a good case against her.

REVOLTING CASE.

Domini Rossi, an Italian from Toronto, was arrested here yesterday evening on a serious charge. It is alleged, he brought Edith Brown, a 17-year-old Scotch lassie from Toronto here on Tuesday last for immoral purposes, placing her in a shanty on Durham street, where she was at the mercy of a gang of the local foreign element, from which she was rescued on Saturday night by the police. The girl, who was rather good looking, told her story in the court, accusing the Italian, who was arrested on the point of leaving the city. She stated she was kept in the room against her will and had friends in Canada. She will be looked after by the authorities, and an effort will be made to connect Rossi. When arrested the girl was alone with 16 foreigners in the house, conclusive evidence of the nature of her presence being added.

IS JIMMIE BAUM HERE?

Rumor to That Effect Was Going Around This Morning.

Is Jimmie Baum here?

That was the question that was asked this morning by the Times of the police and members of the Kinrade family, but all maintained silence on this point. Jimmie Baum is the actor-author of Portsmouth, whose name was mentioned at the Kinrade inquest. Correspondents from the States sent long stories of Jimmie's life and what he had to say of the murder. He said he had letters that would help Florence Kinrade if she should need help. The rumor that is now going round is that Jimmie is here. For some week or more a man has been staying at one of the leading hotels here. The fact that he was seen in the company of Earl Kinrade, and that the stranger was wearing a southerner, led to the report being circulated that it was Jimmie Baum.

Earl Kinrade was spoken to this afternoon and said he did not know the celebrated playwright, Jimmie Baum.

"Have you heard he is in town?" he was asked.

"Well, you hear a whole lot of things," was the only answer he would give.

Detective Miller was in town this morning, and has been for the past three days. Detectives Blackley and Coulter will visit the Kinrade house this afternoon. They intend going through the house from top to bottom, even looking in the places suggested by self-appointed police advisers. The revolver with which the crime was committed is still the object of their search. The detectives are searching for letters, papers and other things that might help them.

Mrs. and Miss Florence Kinrade are staying at a private house on Sherbourne street, Toronto, with friends.

Mr. Martin has been very successful in his work in Grimsby and his host of Hamilton friends are looking forward to hearing him sing with Knox Church choir to-night.
