Essay On Man

Lots of men have written on this subject, but I fear they have not told the truth. They seem to have been misled by a certain foreign gentleman, who used to write poetry for a living in England. He once wrote that the proper study of mankind is man. I believe my thoughts on this subject are worth recording, because I believe my thoughts are closer to the truth than are most of the essays on this subject that I have read. I think I know why most writers scribble falsehood for I have learned from sad experience that it is not the safest thing in the world to tell the truth. I learned that in tender infancy, and I have not yet discovered a reason big enough to make me change my mind.

I have read in books that man is a rational animal, but I agree with my Professor, who says we would never suspect, if we did not read it in the books. Like most common expressions, it holds only a half truth, and the truth is in the second half—the animal part. The rationality of man is extremely doubtful; the animality is most obviously evident.

If you doubt the truth of my assertion, I appeal to your own words. Recall some of the names you have applied to your friends, and to those who are not your friends. A man is a glutton for work; he is a bear. If this bear is a ball player and plays the game to our personal satisfaction, he is a whale. Let him buy some fake stock and he becomes a snucker. If a woman doesn't meet her sister's requirements she is a cat. If a man is clever at getting out of difficulties he is a fox. If he will not let another have what he doesn't need, himself he is a dog in the manger. If he leaps out of the manger and speaks and acts in a way we don't like, he is a cur. If a belle is born in Minnesota he is a gopher; if it happens in Wisconsin he is a badger. A mac, born in France, is a frog for the rest of his life. A boob is the center of the girls' attentions; he is a social lion. If a woman is not as graceful as we want her to be, she is a cow; but if she wears a meek expression on her face, the cow turns into a dove. If no color is high enough for a man's neck he is a giraffe. If a woman doesn't take our advice she is a goose. If a man allows another to walk all over him and is slow to take revenge he is a lamb; but if he is cowardly in his method of attack he is a snake. When we don't like another's style of laughing we call him a hyena.

If a man is enthusiastic over something that does not interest us he is a bug. If a man tries to get everything out of us he is a leech. If another eats more or faster than we do, it is because he is a hog. If a man is much larger than we are physically, he is an elephant; if, in the same respect, he is smaller than we are we call him a shrimp. If he says too little to suit us he is a clam. If we don't like the way he wears his face or the way he talks and acts, he is a crab. In a hundred various circumstances a man is a bird; but if the night witnesses his activities he is an owl. If a man gets the worst of a deal he is a fish. If a man swallows anything you hand out to him he is a fish. If the man is one of the many who are constitutionally silly he is a monkey. If men blindly follow another they are sheep. Men, and women, too, affectionately refer to the neighbors' children as little rats. And every man, sooner or later, and after that nearly always proves himself an ass—Jam in New World.

The Harm In Dancing

A press writer on the ways of health, whose opinions are guided solely by common sense, is here quoted by the New York World in a condemnation of dancing.

"The music of some modern dances is indecent. It has come by degree, the jazz music, and the rotten style of dancing which goes with it. Of course they couldn't drag such a thing directly from the evil resorts into the home, or into the respectable dancing academy; they sneaked it through the back door by means of the cabaret. Now it is accepted by people who are not squeamish as harmless enough."

But every one, the dancers themselves most of all, know that it is not harmless. It is an ever present menace to health, while more to our concern, being a proximate occasion of sin. The regulations of the Church, always ready to encourage legitimate amusements for the young in no uncertain terms puts the ban on modern dancing for Catholics. It is encouraging to find that the mid-summer conventions of Catholic women have pledged themselves to discourage popular forms of dancing. It remains for the thousands there represented to do their share in a thorough discouragement, each in her own sphere of life. True, reports from the summer resorts did not indicate any noticeable activity along these lines. Summer folly continued to silence conscience. It may not seem fair to ask them to assume responsibility for correction. Yet for dancing, as woman sets it by her indulgence or her disapproval, the standard will be high or it will be low.

Silver Cloud Has Dark Lining

This letter from Father Olacerts, M. S. C., written from his mission in Surigao Province, sounds a more cheerful note than many that come from the Philippines. A good test of the Catholicity of a people is their frequency at Communion, and of this Father Olacerts says:

"Although this village counts a thousand souls only, I have from eighteen to twenty thousand Communions a year; when I came here I had for three months only one, two or three Communions a day; now I have some forty daily Communions. Last year I was so happy as to be able to send a young girl to a religious community in Manila, the second of this province, and soon another postulant will enter the same community."

Sister Mary Edith, formerly Miss Agnes Broedel of New Jersey, and one of the few daughters of this country to give her life to the African missions, writes about her first impression of the Kay-

bles, a Mohammedan people evangelized by the White Fathers and the White Sisters. She has seen many strange and amusing things, and was greatly interested in the native manner of hearing Mass. "Until Communion," she says, "the little ones were allowed to toddle along the aisle but at the first signal for the adults to approach the rails, every baby scrambled up to its mother's back and borne to the altar. When the priest passed, distributing the Sacred Host to the parents, the babies opened their little arms and mouths as though desirous to partake of the Heavenly Food. No wonder the saintly missioner, Rev. Father Vidal, who has labored for over twenty years amongst this tribe of Kabyles, tells us he always feels tempted to give Our Lord to these little cherubs."

She adds: "It is really astounding how baptism visibly transforms our neophytes. When I meet a Kabye I need never inquire as to his religion, for I can easily guess by his appearance. Those who are not regenerated have a haughty, ignorant look, whereas the Christian neophytes have a modest, pleasant appearance, and polite and sympathetic manners, accompanied with childlike trust towards the Fathers and Sisters."

A Slow, Sluggish, Torpid Liver

RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY ILLS.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills stimulate the sluggish liver so that it will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels and thus clear away all the waste and poisonous matter that is responsible for constipation, biliousness, sick headaches, heartburn, jaundice, etc. Mrs. Alice Mehill, Napawa, Ont. writes: "I was very badly run down and had a torpid liver for over four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a box of Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills, and before I had used half the box I was much better. I only used two boxes, and I am a different person to-day. I can safely recommend Lax-Liver Pills to any one troubled with liver trouble."

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are 25¢ per box. Sold by all druggists or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

convent of the Sisters of St. Paul de Chartres.

"Nearly all the children are coming to my Catholic school, which I was able to build through the generosity of kind American Catholics. But, then, I must add that this affluence of pupils increases my troubles, because it greatly increases my expenses. The school will now cost me at least five hundred dollars a year. Where shall I get the money? "I pray that charitable Americans may save the Catholic Faith in these islands by making possible good Catholic schools. The Catholic school is the only means for preserving the faith of the present and future generations."

Siberia Offers a Field

Siberia offers vast opportunities for propaganda, and this may possibly be taken up in the near future.

At present the Catholics of Siberia are mostly the unhappy Poles, who were sent there by the decree of the former imperial Russian Government.

The population, which in 1897 was over five millions, had twenty years later reached 9,580,000, and consists of Russians and Poles, Lithuanians and Germans, Turko-Tartars and Mongols, Samoyedes and Tunguses, Chinese, Japanese and Koreans. The majority of them—some five to six millions—are members of the Orthodox Russian Church, about a quarter of a million are Ruskolniks, over a million are Mohammedans, 250,000 are Buddhists 30,000 are Jews and 23,000 are Protestants.

True, the climate of this vast country, three times the size of European Russia, offers many difficulties to priests of a milder clime, but our appetites are no accustomed to consider personal comfort.

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains, and have no bad after effects whatsoever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 25 cents a box.

Hearing a crash of glassware one morning, Mrs. Blank called to her maid in the adjoining room. "Norah, what on earth are you doing?"

"I'm doing nothin', mum," replied Norah; "it's done."

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford says: "It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box."

PIMPLES and BLOTCHES

ALL OVER HER FACE.

Pimples, blotches and all other ugly skin troubles are caused by the impure condition of the blood. These little festering spots, on the chin, and forehead, and on the nose, and although they are not a dangerous trouble they are very unsightly.

There is only one way to get rid of Bland's Blood Purifier for this purpose. Doubt the best remedy has been on the market for the past 42 years and its reputation for the past 42 years is not an experiment. It is such that you and untiring remedy with some new Brigley, 61 Maine Ave., Halifax, N.S., during the last two years, from pimples and blotches, having them all over my face. I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Bland's Blood Purifier, and I did, and as I believe, permanently relieved, as I haven't had a pimple or blotch since. I can highly recommend Bland's Blood Purifier.

Canadian Trade

For the first time in several months Canadian exports show an excess over imports. It is a change that ought to be welcome, because for a country such as Canada, which has practically no foreign investments...

Canada Is Prosperous

"Taken all in all," says a circular issued by a New York Banking House, "the financial and commercial condition of Canada compares favorably with the most prosperous countries in the world."

There is less unemployment in Canada today than in any other country in the world.

We have less industrial unrest than most of the countries in the world.

The margin of income over outgo is as great in Canada as in any country in the world.

Canadian international trade, in proportion of population, is the greatest in the world.

Canadians, per capita of population have more money in the savings banks than any other people in the world.

These facts, official and easily ascertainable, are impressive. Placed against the unrest, turmoil, poverty and chaos which oppress most other countries, they should give rise to thankfulness instead of complaints.

The War Cemeteries

The British and Canadian authorities are dealing in a pleasing and sensible manner with the matter of war graves in France and Belgium. Permanent cemeteries for the British dead are being laid out in the war area after the plans and under the direction of distinguished architects.

The Veteran, official organ of the Dominion G. W. V. A., and not always friendly to the Government, has a notable tribute in its current issue to the work of the Soldier Land Settlement Board.

The total amount loaned by the board up to the end of the year exceeds $80,000,000, and there are approximately 20,000 soldiers who have taken up land.

An estimate of the chairman of the board, Major Barnett, gives the production of wheat in the Western provinces by soldier settlers as 2,627,000 bushels; oats 6,027,000; hay, 287,710 tons, with other commodities in proportion.

Unquestionably, the work of Soldier Land Settlement Board has been one of the finest achievements which any Canadian Government has to its credit.

A Time For Moderation

Employers were urged to be moderate with labor if changing conditions tempt them towards aggression by N. J. Kennedy, president of the Detroit Building Employers' Association, speaking at Winnipeg.

The waste of industrial conflict is appalling. It must stagger men inured to methods of business who stop to think of it.

The public attitude towards industry today is exacting. Good service is required. A further round of costly quarrels will cause the maximum of disgust and loss.

Right of Fishery

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—The privy-council decision in the Quebec fisheries reference, copies of which have been received here, more than vindicates the position taken by the Federal Government.

It is understood that the Federal fishery regulations are being amended immediately to place them in line with the law, as laid down by the Privy-Council decision, and that during the approaching fishing season, the fisheries in the navigable tidal waters as well as in the non-tidal portion of the streams that are in fact navigable from the sea, in Quebec, will be administered by the Department of Marine and Fisheries of Canada.

The Aftermath of Geneva

The return of the Canadian delegates to the first conference of the League of Nations has given Sir George Foster and his associates an opportunity of summarizing the constructive work done at Geneva.

If the conference had done nothing more than establish the International Court of Justice, which will be open to non-members as well as members, it would have performed a work of enduring value.

Yea there is little doubt that some of the most valuable work performed during the thirty-five days in which the sessions were held find no place in the written or the spoken record.

Drops a Billion

Washington, Jan. 21.—United States foreign trade in 1920 was the largest in the country's history, totalling $13,507,000,000.

This left a trade balance for 1920 of approximately three billions of dollars in favor of the United States, as against a balance the year before of approximately four billions of dollars.

In announcing the figures, the Department of Commerce said that exports were one-third greater than they were in 1913, the first full year previous to the war, and imports were nearly three times those of 1913.

The Land Of Live Over Again

(Written for the Catholic Bulletin by Dr. James Henderson)

Oh, the land of live over again is a land,
A land that is fair to our dreams,
A land that we all long for, that we have a song for
And sometimes a sigh too, it seems.

'Tis a land where we'll know each day how to do,
To leave no heartburning regrets,
To give no one pain, to bear not a hurt,
To pay all of honor's own debts,
Our love will be known at last to our own.

Our lives will be happy and calm
To run as a brook thro' the meadow of dreams.

Yes, all of a prayer and a song;
Our days will be fair, we'll never cast doubts.

To cloud or to darken the sky
In that land, Oh, that land we glimpse now afar,
Somewhere in the sweet by and by.

We'll lay down our heads when day's work is done,
Sweetly on pillows of down,
In the thought that the day was well spent
And, with never a doubt or a frown.

Our years will run into glad summers of ease,
Nor will we dread winter's cold, nor its pain,
In that land, Oh, that land that shall quiet our regrets,
The land of live over again.

Tom The Newsboy

(Concluded.)

A startled cry caused him to turn, and then he saw something that made his heart jump. In the path of an un-coming trolley stood a little girl of about two years. In a flash Tom let fall his papers, and dashed from the sidewalk. Rushing to the spot where the child stood as though riveted, he seized the little one in his arms. But the cat was almost upon them, and then, in a dazed way, he knew he was throwing her to one side. Then it seemed as though something heavy pressed down upon him. Everything became dark and he knew no more.

When Tom opened his eyes he was bewildered for a few minutes. The strange room and the strange faces at the bedside made him wonder what had happened. A man with a strangely familiar face bent over and patted his head which somehow felt tightly bound. Tom attempted to lift his right hand, but found he was powerless to move it. Then in a flash came the recollection of what had happened. He made an attempt to sit, but the man gently forced him back.

"Must be quiet for awhile, sonny."

"The little kid—is it all right?" he asked weakly.

"Good as new," smiled the man, "and you're a real brick—a hero, and don't you forget it."

Tom began to wonder in a dazed way where he had seen that man before. Something about his face and manner seemed to impart a sense of security and comfort.

Just then to his astonishment who should suddenly appear at the foot of the bed but Lizzie. Her face bore traces of tears but a joyous smile parted her lips as she hurried forward on her errand. A kind-faced woman had come in with her, and she and the smiling man looked on with moist eyes as brother and sister greeted each other affectionately.

After the effusive greetings were over and Tom had been assured that the doctor said he wasn't badly hurt and would soon be well, Lizzie whispered:

"Tom, don't you know who the man is?" And the man oversteering, said kindly, "I don't believe Tom knows an old friend. Take another look."

"Why, Lizzie, if it isn't the nice fellow that giv' me all that money—that that your little kid I yanked off the track?"

Mrs. Lane had quietly left the room, and now she came in carrying a sweet, blue-eyed little girl in her arms.

"Baby wants to kiss Tom and thank him for saving her life,"

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, small and bearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic.

"I was ill for four months with catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and raised blood. I had become discouraged when my husband bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and persuaded me to try it. I advise all to take it. It has cured and built me up." Mrs. Mrs. H. J. Jones, West Lacombe, N. S.

she said. She bent over and Margaret gave her rescuer a resounding kiss on the cheek.

"Tom—nice boy—I like Tom, mama," she announced. Then Mrs. Lane tenderly embraced the boy and said many kind, beautiful things to Tom and Lizzie, too. And that night Lizzie slept in a pretty little room in the Lane home, and it all seemed like fairyland, or, it would have seemed that way had it not been that Tom was injured. Still, she knew that Mrs. Lane was sitting up with him that night and taking the best care possible of the good, brave boy. And several times she stole in softly to see if Lizzie was comfortable, and tucked the blankets around her, and Lizzie, as she went off to sleep almost imagined that her own dear, kind mother was back again.

Well, Tom and Lizzie kept on staying at the Lane's and finally it was all arranged that they would make their home with these new friends. Mr. and Mrs. Lane were happy to befriend them and brighten their existence especially since they learned that they were Catholics like themselves.

So now Tom goes to college instead of selling evening papers and Elizabeth is rapidly regaining health and strength under the care of a skillful surgeon. And the Lane household is one of the happiest on earth.

Hildebrand And The Green Chicken

A well-known French author Theophile Gautier, had a splendid cat, all yellow-and-black velvet, named Hildebrand. Hildebrand was the handsomest of cats and a very imperious one, allowing no liberties to be taken with him, and strongly resenting anyone else's pets being introduced to his master. Ordinary cats took care to keep out of his way, for he really resembled a small tiger more than a creature like themselves. His master thought Hildebrand the finest thing going, and Hildebrand thought well of his master, but more of Hildebrand. One day a friend of Gautier's asked him to look after his parrot for the day, as he was obliged to leave town.

"Certainly," said the author, "bring him along. I'll be company for Hildebrand while I write." Polly and perch were brought in; Polly's master departed; and Gautier settled down comfortably to his writing. Hildebrand at his side on the soft cushion on which he loved to doze. But there was no doze today. He fixed an eye of cold shining emerald on the newcomer blinking a bit now and then, as if considering the situation. Poor Polly saw that unfriendly eyes, and feeling instinctively what was coming, gazed just as fixedly; but there was no fright in that gaze, which Hildebrand was not long in finding out. His owner, wrapped up in his work, saw nothing of what was going on silently at his side. He didn't know what thoughts were gathering in the brain of Hildebrand, nor what fears were shivering along the spine of Polly.

"What can the thing be?" said Hildebrand to himself. "It's not a cat—it's not a dog. I don't know what it is. It's nothing."

ALL DRUGGISTS

Minard's Liniment for Diptheria

THAT PERSISTENT HACKING, RACKING, COUGH

Can Be Quickly Relieved By Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

The terrible, hacking, lung-racking cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, is a great danger to your health, and the longer it sticks, the more serious the menace becomes.

The constant coughing keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition they get no chance to heal.

You will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy that loosens the phlegm and heals and soothes the lungs, thereby fortifying them against serious pulmonary disease.

Mr. J. W. F. Whiteley, Vermilion, Alberta, writes: "I was suffering from a very severe hacking cough, and all the remedies I tried failed to relieve me. At last I secured a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's' and after taking it I secured great relief. Needless to say it is now my intention to always keep a supply on hand."

"Dr. Wood's" is 35c. and 60c. a bottle as all dealers. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three parts per cent trade mark manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

I've ever seen before. I wonder if I could tell any better if I got closer!

"What can the thing be?" said Polly to herself. "It's not—I don't think it's a cat—it's not a dog. It's something I don't like the look of. I hope it won't get any closer. Oh, if that man would only look around! If I could only get off this perch!

Oh—! It's coming!

Hildebrand's yellow-and-black was up in ruffles. His eyes were opening and shutting and sending out sparks like Catherine-wheels. His tongue was licking swiftly, though softly, across his lips.

"It's a green chicken!" he said. "It's got no business here, out of the chicken-yard. I'll put it in its place and keep it safe."

A bound—he was on the perch. Then—a mew that was a scream, a rush for life! From out the green chicken's throat came a deep rough voice, such as no green chicken ever before spoke with.

"Had your breakfast, Jack?" Polly spent the rest of the day very pleasantly and went home with her master in the evening in high spirits. Hildebrand spent the rest of the day under the sofa, whence no coaxing or persuasions could dislodge him. The 'chicken' was not so 'green' as he thought!

One of the best known guides in Nova Scotia gives this testimonial of MINARD'S LINIMENT—

Have used MINARD'S LINIMENT in my home, hunting and lumber camps for years and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as Sprains, Bruises and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when log driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly.

HEART AND NERVES BOTHERED HER. Housework Played Her Out.

Mrs. Earl Parr, Ogema, Sask., writes: "Three years ago my heart and nerves began to bother me. I could not do my housework without being almost completely played out. After sweeping a small room I would have to sit down and rest, and would feel as if I could not get through it."

Every few nights I would have horrid dreams, such as the well-saved in which I was pumping a pail of water, or the children, or my husband falling in, and I could get no rest. I would be awake some time after. I went to my doctor, and he told me it was my nerves, that they had been shaken by a nervous illness. He gave me some medicine, but as soon as it was gone I was as bad as ever. I got a box of Minard's Heart and Nerve Pills, and they helped me so much. I got more, and can truly say I have no more of those horrid dreams for months and months.

AND EQUITABLE GRADING MADE
—NO DELAYS AT ANY POINT—

We are registered with and recognized by the United States War Trade Board and all of the Collectors for Customs under licence P. B. F. 30, and you can send your furs to us direct by our tag or any tag, changed to suit, to marked "Furs of Canadian Origin," and your furs will come right through.

FAIR GRADING

The rules and ethics of the exchange do not permit us sending out alluring price lists, yet we give you an exact and expert grading and pay you at a rate of five to twenty five cents more on the dollar than the average advertiser fur company, as we cut out all middleman's profit in dealing direct with you.
