Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Port Mann, B. C. "I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was weak and run-down. I had headaches and no appetite and was unable for two years with sleeplessness. I tried many medicines, but nothing did me any real good. While I was living in Washington I was recommended by a stranger to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am stronger and feel fine since then and am able to do my housework. I am willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. C. GREAVES, Port Mann, B. C.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Royce nodded and started again. Melbury Wood was nearly three miles distant, but the horse was a good one, and, with the instinct of his kind, seemed to know that an effort was expected of him. Royce had no need to touch him with the whip, and before many minutes they had reached the wood.

A faint line of smoke rose from the leafless trees, and the slight awakened a gleam of hope in his heart. Madge must be there.

He rode straight into the midst of the camp. Round the fire was the familiar group. Mother Katie looked round her pot and uttered a cry of astonishment, the men rose, and the children ran with cries of delight to welcome "Mister Jack."

They gathered round the panting, steaming horse in silent amazement. Mother Katie came forward with her iron scup-ladle in her hand.

"Mr. Jack," she exclaimed. "You here?" Then she looked from the horse to Royce's white face. "Madge! Something's happened!"

A murmur rose from the men. One of them—it was Steve—uttered an oath.

"She is here," said Royce, hoarsely. "I want her! She is here, I know." Mother Katie looked up at him with a face full of apprehension and alarm.

"Madge isn't here, Mr. Jack," she said in a low voice. "Isn't she with you up at the grand place there, the Towers?"

"No," said Royce. "She left—I can't explain. If you won't take me to her, go and tell her I am here; that—that I want her. Tell her, if she hesitates to see me, that she is not to go back to the Towers."

A Dainty Toilet Accessory.

To use THREE FLOWERS, is a mark of refinement. At all drug and department stores.

"Not to go back? Why not?" said Katie.

Royce set his teeth. "For God's sake, don't stand there asking questions! I can't tell you! Go and tell her!"

Steve pushed his way to the front, close up to the horse.

"You can't tell, eh?" he said. "You needn't try. We can guess well enough. Why should she leave you if you and yours hadn't ill-treated her? I know it would come to that sooner or later. I know, she'd be glad to come back to us! She ain't here yet and if she was you wouldn't have her, once you! Yes, curse you! What have you been doing to her? Beating her, I shouldn't wonder."

Royce sprung off his horse. "I'll find her for myself," he said. "Stand back, Steve! Don't let any one touch me!" and he glared round, his teeth set hard. "Stand back! You mean well, but you don't know—don't understand!"

"Oh, we understand well enough!" said Steve. "And I say that if she was here, you shouldn't have her!"

Royce pushed him aside, but Steve sprang on him, and in an instant the two men were locked together.

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Seymour was a really admirable hypocrite, an accomplished liar, and as unscrupulous as a Choctaw Indian, but he lacked two qualities which are indispensable to the successful villain—he wanted courage and temperance.

He sat for hours in the library, trying to face the situation and screw up his courage, but it would not be screwed up. Most men in his position would have determined to show fight.

After all, possession is nine points of the law, and Seymour was very much in possession.

That he should have to fight, he was convinced, for he knew the countess well enough to feel that, having made confession of her fraud, she would not rest until Royce had gained his rights.

Now, Seymour could fight them, it is true, could succeed, perhaps, in beating them; or, at any rate, keep Royce out of the title and estates for years. But to fight you must have courage and money. The latter Seymour did not possess, he was up to his neck in debts—gambling and otherwise—and at that moment had his pockets full of darning letters. If he could have married Irene and secured her fortune, all would have been well with him, but he knew there was no chance of that now. Though he had asked the countess not to tell her, he knew that her ladyship would do so. No, he had no money, and his chance of marrying Irene was gone forever.

Then, as to his courage. As he walked furiously up and down the room, dropped into a chair—continually taking long drinks of brandy and soda, whether walking or sitting—he pictured the consequences of a fight. Everything would come out. It would be known that, disguised, he frequented gambling dens, it would be known that he was the son of a low-born scoundrel, all the papers would give sensational accounts of the case, and he would be held to the word as a hypocrite and impostor.

He shuddered at the remembrance that he was engaged to address a meeting at Exter Hall the night after next. Perhaps, if he decided to fight, the countess's story would have become public by that time, and he pictured himself standing before the vast audience a declared fraud.

As the day glided by he knew he should not be able to face the storm of obloquy and ridicule. Then what should he do? The rain beat against the windows the wind howled, and he sat and listened to them, and drank and drank, powdered and tamed.

If he could only silence the three witnesses! But it was impossible. Jake he could perhaps bribe, a thousand—two thousand a year would be as nothing compared with the vast rent-roll, and he would have given twice two thousand for the mere pleasure of keeping Royce out of his rights. But though it might be easy to bribe Jake—his father—he shuddered at the thought of the relationship—it was impossible to bribe the countess, and, he felt, just as impossible to bribe Martha Hooper, his mother. His mother! As he realized the truth he grew almost mad and absolutely desperate.

high-handed days, Seymour would not have hesitated in putting the three persons out of the way by means of poison or otherwise, but that mode of getting out of the difficulty was, unfortunately, not open to him, modern society having a prejudice against murderers, and carrying it to the extent of hanging them. But though he could no more have screwed up his courage to commit murder than he could walk the tight-rope, Seymour felt very much like a murderer as he crouched lower and lower in the chair and grew more and more desperate.

The servants knew he was there, but, though no one came to luncheon, Irene being with the countess and the doctor, they did not dare for some time to go to him.

At last the butler ventured to the library with a cup of tea. Seymour unlocked the door and glowered at him.

"Tea? No!" he said, hoarsely. "Bring me some champagne."

Then he sunk into the chair again and drank the champagne. He ought to have been intoxicated by this time, but in certain conditions of mind, alcohol loses some of its effect, and the wine only raised Seymour's spirits a little. In a very little time Jake would be there again. What should he do?

It was dark at five. He lighted a candle and sat in the dim light waiting.

The clock struck six, and a few minutes afterward there came a tap at the window.

With a shudder Seymour got up and opened the window, and Jake entered. He wore a long ulster and a travelling-cap with ears, and looked as complete a vagabond as one could desire to see.

"Well, my lord," he said, with an emphasis on the title, and a knowing leer, "eh? I am." He looked round the room. "Been having a drink to keep your spirits up? Quite right. I'll take a glass of sparkling myself, as you're so pressing." He stretched out a grimy hand and filled himself a glass. "Here's health and long life to your lordship," he remarked, cordially as he threw the wine down his throat. "And now to business. What's your lordship going to do? But I needn't ask the question. You're too sensible and up to snuff to kick up a dust when it'll choke yourself worse than anybody else. Mum's the word for all of us—eh? As to me, I said, you can depend upon me. I'm a gentleman."

Seymour broke in hoarsely. The harsh, vulgar voice filled him with loathing.

"I have decided," he said, though until that moment he had not done so. "I do not believe your story. It is a conspiracy."

"Right! That's your lay," assented Jake, approvingly. "Stick to that and you're right. All you've got to do is to keep us quiet and you're as safe as a basket of eggs." (to be continued.)

ACCORDING TO GOSSIP.

Her husband had been dead a year. To-day she flashed a scarlet hat. And all the neighbors smiled at that.

And even grandmas said: "Oh dear, it may be right, it may be wrong. Young widows never mourn for long!"

Flash colored stockings Mrs. Brown. Observed on her the other day, "And months ago she changed to grey."

The color of her mourning gown. Said old Aunt Agnes with a smile: "A broken heart must be in style."

She trips so early down the street. Her pretty head well-oiled in air. Nor seems to know, nor seems to care.

What curious places she may meet. Yet one remarked, when she had rode: "Well, well! She's put her carriage on!"

I set it from the nodding heads. And observations that were made. Collected by the sharpest eyes. Which follow her wherever she strays. It may be May, it may be June. But there will be a wedding soon.

Our Dumb Animals.

Report of Chief Agent S.P.A. For West Ending May 29th, 1924.

Called to Stuart Avenue to shoot a dog which had bitten a domestic in the neighbourhood, but the animal was sent away to the country. Also to destroy another dog for Mr. J. O. Driscoll, on Military Road; also a dog for a man on Franklin Avenue. He paid an entrance fee to the Society. I also shot a cat for a lady on Rennie's Mill Road; being old, she preferred having it put to death, and she paid her subscription fee to the Society. I shot another cat for a resident of Hamilton Avenue. I was also called on Sunday afternoon to Cornwall Avenue, where a horse, owned by Mr. Riely, which was struck by an automobile and had its hind leg broken in the fetlock joint. Under the instructions of Dr. Bishop, I humanely put the horse to death. I also was requested by several horse owners, who have their horses in pasture, on evenings and holidays, whose horses and cattle are served badly by boys, worrying them, by throwing stones and, in some cases, riding on their backs. In future those who are caught, I intend having before court, as I consider it cruel to horses who are working hard all day and I ask parents and teachers to co-operate with the Society, in putting a stop to this. I humanely put to death two bulls for Messrs. Casey and Bambrick, one being 2,500 lbs., the other a shade lighter in weight. Both these gentlemen were well pleased with the Humane Killer, and say it is excellent saving of time. Both animals bled well, improving the beef. I also put to death two cows for Messrs. Foster and Shields, who are importing a Humane Killer for themselves. Mr. Foster, as well as Mr. McIntyre, of the St. John's Meat Co. are well satisfied with the action of the Humane Killer as it saves both time and trouble and its work is instantaneous. I got a phone message from 1946 Wednesday night, about a dog which was run over by a motor. The dog was owned by Mr. James Phillips, Freshwater Road and was in company with Miss Phillips and a friend. The motor, driven by some unknown person, ran over the dog, seriously wounding it. I humanely put it to death. The ungentlemanly owner of the car, after running over the dog, switched off the tail light and drove on. I am trying to locate him for prosecution. I attended a sale at the St. John's Abattoir Company. I might say the Society has quite a number of these pictures, "The Humane Prayer," which are 50c. each without the frame. Some boys will be out selling them during the week, and we would like all teamsters and cabmen to purchase one, as the picture is ornamental and useful. Please all complaints to No. 563.

A mark of pride

IT takes a good timepiece to get the trade mark Westclox on its dial. That name on the clock or watch is a mark of our pride in our product and a means by which you can identify it. It places a responsibility on us and on the timepiece. By it you can choose another or avoid it, and every care is taken to see that the clock or watch bearing that trade mark will warrant your commendation. The continued growth of our sales would indicate that Westclox live up to expectations. Look for the trade mark Westclox on the dial.

the Colonial Office in London, regarding the capture of R. A. Jaffray, Toronto, Canadian head of the Christian Alliance at Wuchow, who was carried off by Chinese pirates. Premier King, on receipt of the news that Mr. Jaffray, in company with three other missionaries, had been carried off, wired London and Washington requesting that everything be done to obtain release of the captives.

COOLIDGE IS OUTSPOKEN.
WASHINGTON, May 30. Proposals for the adherence of the United States to a world court, contingent upon its disassociation from the League of Nations, were spurned by President Coolidge in his memorial Day address at Arlington, as unworthy of the United States.

CONAIGAS MILL DESTROYED.
NORTH BAY, Ont., May 30. Conaigas Mill, at Cobalt, caught fire at 10.30 this morning, and was soon a mass of flames. Reports from the mill say the mill will be a total loss. The shaft house is ablaze and a high wind is blowing. A number of houses are expected to be destroyed. Conaigas is one of the largest silver mines in Cobalt. The property loss will be heavy, probably between $200,000 and $300,000, all covered by insurance but a heavier loss is likely to be the partial cessation of work, at least at the property.

PORTUGUESE AVIATORS RESUME FLIGHT.
LONDON, May 30. The Portuguese aviators, Lieuts. Pees and Belros, who are attempting a flight from Lisbon to Macao, Japan, and who crashed several weeks ago in a storm near Papat, in Johore, have purchased a new airplane, and have left for China, according to a news despatch from Lahore, British India. The new plane is equipped with an extra gasoline tank and carries many spare parts.

THE POPE'S MESSAGE.
ROME, May 29th. In the Papal Bull issued to-day addressed to "The Pius Bishops, servants of God and all the faithful," Pope Pius declares 1925 a "Holy Year." He calls upon all to "celebrate the 22nd jubilee" and the Bull constitutes a long invitation to the faithful to restore human society and a return to holy customs. The Pontiff prays fervently "that all non-Catholic should seek refuge in the true church of Jesus Christ and also that conditions in Palestine may be ordered and arranged in a way demanded by the right of the Catholic religion. The Pope adures all faithful men and women to avoid profane distractions and adopt a spirit of penitence, he said they should show modesty of expression and in manners and shun all in clothes and that they should seek during Holy Year exclusively the interests of their souls.

ENGLISH POLITICS.
LONDON, May 29. By what may under circumstances, be regarded as quite a comfortable majority of 48 the Labour Government to-night in the House of Commons again succeeded in resisting the attack on its existence when Sir William Joynson Hicks' motion to reduce the salary of the Labor Minister, Tom Shaw by £100 was rejected after a long debate. The motion was merely a technical way of expressing disapproval of the Government's policy respecting unemployment, and a similar motion was talked out of the House recently. Prior to the recording of the vote, Premier MacDonald declared in the event of the Government's defeat, Labor would go before the country in a general election. On division the vote stood 200 to 223 in the Government's favor; H. H. Asquith, Liberal Leader, having announced his party would not vote against the motion. One hundred liberals voted with Government and thirty abstained from voting. No doubt exists among observers that the Conservative wing of the Opposition is quite prepared to vote the Govt. out of office at any moment. This, however, is not the state of affairs in the Liberal wing, because in recent bye-elections the Liberals fared so badly the party does not dare take the risk of an appeal at present to the country.

Mice Thrive on Barren Isle

Carrington Island, a small piece of land in the Great Salt Lake on which there is an abundant supply of roofing slats, is infested with mice, according to Eli F. Taylor, of the United States land office here. A recent visit to the island by Mr. Taylor for survey purposes brought out the tale of the rodents.

There is no fresh water and no other sign of life on the island except the mice, and how they manage to survive is a mystery.

Dowden and Duffy

IGNORED BY FITZGIBBON TOUTERS IN ST. JOHN'S WEST.

With a view to putting a wide gap between Fitzgibbon and his colleagues, the former's special touters are advocating the ignoring of Dowden and Duffy, on the same lines that Binion to Placentia is working. They want to sink Dowden and Duffy well under water, much further even than they will be pushed by the great majority for the Monroe candidates; and by this means hope to get a few sympathy votes for Fitzgibbon from the Monroe supporters. The irony of it is that Dowden's special touters such as Mosdell et al are working the same game on behalf of "their little man," so both are giving a splendid exhibition of cut-throatism. The one and the other are throwing out libelles to the Monroe straight ticket supporters to give them a help, but there is "nothing doing," consequently on Monday there will be an unwavering determination in St. John's West to stand solid for the Monroe trio, CROSBIE, LINEGAR AND BROWNE.

Week-End Excursion

To accommodate voters returning to their Districts for Polling Day, the management of the railway have decided to put into effect a special week end excursion rate commencing from to-day, which will be good until Tuesday next. The first express special, going to Corner Brook, leaves the city on Monday next at 5 p.m., and leaves there on the return trip at 11.30 p.m. Tuesday. No doubt many of the voters will avail of this train to reach their polling centres.

Obituary

MARGARET WAKELY.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wakely, Haystack, P.B. was saddened yesterday when word was received from Orange, New Jersey, acquainting them of the death of their youngest daughter, Margaret.

The deceased lady was in her 19th year and left home in September last to take up nursing as her chosen profession. About three months ago she was taken suddenly ill and although everything possible was done to effect a cure, she gradually grew worse, the end coming peacefully on Thursday last.

The late Miss Wakely had many friends in St. John's, to whom news of her passing will come as a shock.

She leaves to mourn, besides father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. Alan Edwards, Circular Road and Miss Annie, stenographer, Crown Life Insurance Company, and one brother, Mr. Isaac Wakely, Patrick Street, to whom heartfelt sympathy will go out in their time of sorrow. The remains will be sent home for burial by the next Red Cross boat.

A FINAL WORD

To the Electors of St. John's and Conception Bay.

Monday, your votes will determine the destiny of Newfoundland for the next four years. You are helping to cleanse the public affairs of the country, and introducing a new era of business and prosperity for Newfoundland. You know that the Government party cannot be trusted. Coaker, who controls this grand little country of ours, and has brought poverty and distress to enter homes where, before his time, it was unknown. Hickman, himself, has been proven a corrupt politician. Voters of Conception Bay and St. John's! If you consider the standing and character of the men composing the two parties now before the country, the standing and character of the men leading them, and vote on merit alone, you will give the Government to Monroe's Party, and not to that led by A. E. Hickman and controlled by Sir W. F. Coaker. Help to improve the lot of yourselves and your families, help to redeem the lost reputation of your country, bring prosperity to Newfoundland, by voting for Monroe, Clean Government and a Square Deal to All.

Our Coming Premier

(Trinity Enterprise.)

The slogan has gone through our land
And louder does it grow,
The man to save our country now,
Is W. S. MONROE.

Throughout St. George's in the West
It echoes mile on mile,
Reverberates through hamlets fair
Of Burgeo and LaPoile.

In Fortune Bay, and Ferryland,
Burrin and Carriacou,
And the sea-swept shores of old St. Barbe,
It's welcoming sound they hear.

In St. John's East and St. John's West,
It's clarion sound is heard,
In Port-de-Grave and Harbour Grace
Right down to Bay-de-Verde.

Through the District of fair Trinity
It speeds on lightning wings,
And brings a cheer, to homes made drear,
By men's unscrupulous whims.

It climbs the hills of Twillingate,
It's heard on Fogo's shore;
That honored name once more.

Placentia and St. Mary's Bays,
Aloud proclaim his name,
And in its onward journey, sweeps
Through homes in Harbour Main.

Then we, the Voters of this land,
Shall have the world to know,
It's honest men we want in power
Like W. S. MONROE!

ANDER BLUFF EXPOSED

ander Project will go Through if Monroe is Elected--Promoters Ask no Concessions and Have Not Consulted Government.

The Gander Project, which the Advertiser has been boosting as part of Coaker-Hickman programme, will go through if Monroe is elected. The Telegram has received this information from the most reliable source possible, and thus, another bit of bluff on the part of the Government is exposed. The Gander proposition has been in the air for many years, and it is only now that the promoters are in a position to finalize their plans, and commence construction. The only connection that any Government will have with the scheme will be its passage through the Legislature, a formality which attends all projects of this nature. Neither Hickman nor Coaker have had anything to do with the conception or progress of the Gander scheme, and the credit which the Advertiser gives to the so-called Liberal Government is entirely undeserved.

ST. JOHN'S FOR MONROE

Government Meeting Breaks Up in Disorder--Candidates Severely Heckled, But No Rowdiness Displayed.

Meeting held last night in the Theatre by the Government candidates for St. John's West, was marked by severe heckling, and the speakers failed to get a hearing. There was no rowdiness of any description, the disorder being caused by the weakness displayed by Messrs. Dowden and Duffy in answering pointed questions put to them by the audience. Mr. J. V. O'Brien, was chairman, and was unable to escape a severe rebuke. Mr. Fitzgibbon was the first speaker among other things, he referred to Hickman's coal grab, and said that he was not one of those who had voted to award the Premier the Contract. His remarks were confined principally to the vice of his family, but he became so confused by the questioning that he even forgot that. Mr. Duffy spoke about the use of the initials "C.L.B.", although why the Monroe candidates could not use their initials on their election cards could not be satisfactorily explained by him. Presumably Mr. Duffy thinks that Crosbie, Linegar and Browne should have their names printed on their cards without the initial letters. Commander Howley addressed certain questions to the speakers and announced himself as a Monroe man, a remark which drew forth loud cheers for the Opposition Party. Last night's meeting proved beyond a doubt, that St. John's is showing a united front to the menace of Coakerism.

Electors of St. John's East and West

Remember Your Solemn Duty on Monday to Yourself and Families--A Final Message of Good Cheer to You All.

Electors of St. John's East and West, brothers and all in this struggle for the last great chance to free the city from the misery of Coakerism, take the liberty of addressing you on the eve of the contest which will be held on Monday night.

We have it in our own hands now to elect St. John's forever of the cast-iron influences which brought the present conditions of the city to the state of things of the past four years. We are to do our duty on Monday and we will do our duty to reproach ourselves no more on Monday night.

As a member of the Board of Works and at the bidding of Coaker and Hickman he voted to Hickman a coal contract on which he made an excess profit of three thousand dollars. You helped to pay into the Treasury that money which Fitzgibbon made a present of to Hickman, and as in that instance he bent to the whip of Coakerism, it stands to reason he would do so again to even a greater degree should you not now prevent him from doing so.

Dowden is merely a political tool and crony of Mosdell and as such should not be tolerated. To cast a vote for Dowden means that you subscribe to Mosdell's infamous tactics and willingly consent to have Mosdell enrich himself to the tune of $25,000 a year at your expense and the deprivation of many comforts for your own wives and children.

Any man amongst us who owns a house of his own to-day should seriously think of how he would be helping to ruin his very own self by voting for Dowden. As a civic representative this Coaker candidate is the worst menace property-owners are up against. Instead of standing by the citizens who placed him in that position, he runs into the arms of Coakerism, and by that act seeks to make conditions disastrous in St. John's because Coaker has sworn to make the grass grow on Water Street.

You know what the city has been like under Coaker rule. It will be worse if we have any more of it, and another great danger is that continued depression will assuredly result in doubling Municipal taxation and thus hastening the day when your house will have little more value than piles of old freewood.

Demand Inquiry of Coal Company

POINTS PUT TO OTTAWA AND N. S. GOVERNMENT.
DUNEDY, N. S. May 20.—The demand for coal in Cape Breton for a show in connection with the opening of the Nova Scotia coal areas by British Empire Steel Corporation, seemed more tangible than yesterday when a meeting of the committee, held at Saturday's mass meeting, adopted three resolutions, one to the Department of Labor at Ottawa, one to the Nova Scotia Government, and the third to the corporation. The main resolution sets out that the British Empire Steel Corporation in connection with the Nova Scotia Steel Company, one of the corporation's subsidiaries, has a distinct disadvantage to the area and prosperity of communities in Cape Breton. The resolution asks that the Department of Labor at Ottawa appoint a commission to inquire into the cost of operating the coal areas, general policy of the department, solvency of the corporation, salaries of officials, and the cost of operation, interest on holdings, and what portion charged against coal operation.

It is also asked that the commission have power to hold enquiries, as recommended by the corporation, and that the amount of profits to be provided out of profits of the corporation to carry on the work be less inviting as proposed for investors and for workers, and that more permanent employment be provided.

It Means Much to the Woman

It is the woman who has to do the family shopping. It is her business to watch for values in purchasing the daily necessities for the home. Perhaps there is no product of daily use that women are called upon to buy as often as toilet soap. It is something that is continually running out, and a saving on toilet soap means much in the expenses of the family budget. For all general toilet purposes no soap is as economical as IVORY. Not only is its first cost low, but its lasting qualities are so great that a double saving is effected by the woman who uses Ivory for all toilet purposes. As far as quality is concerned it is a foregone conclusion that no soap is better to cleanse than IVORY. It possesses all the qualities which the correct toilet soap should have. It has no unnecessary qualities—it is the unnecessary qualities that usually cost the money. Economical women are daily proving these facts and insisting on Ivory soap for the family toilet. You can get Ivory for five and ten cents a cake—it will last a long time and give you entire soap satisfaction. Why not try Ivory? At all grocery stores.

If your own dealer does not keep Ivory Soap, he is not doing his best to please you. He can get stocks of Ivory at a moment's notice from any jobber or direct from the agents.

Another Tribute to Three Flowers Talcum

"I never did use ANY Talcum Powder because my husband objected to my doing so. It occurred to me to try Three Flowers (Clendestinely), and I've been using it ever since, with the result that my husband after questioning me, has become a user, and now we both agree that we can't resist such a delightfully uncommon fragrance."

Monroe Candidates Hold Monster Meeting at Bell Island

Stirring Addresses by Higgins, Crosbie, Bennett, Russell, Cramm, Vinicombe, Fox.

The most successful meeting in the history of Bell Island took place last night in the C.L.B. Armoury. The hall was packed and hundreds eager to hear the candidates stood listening at the doors. The monster meeting was arranged by the energetic committee of Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vinicombe at the request of the several hundred voters from the different parts of Conception Bay. These men unable to get to their homes to attend the meetings of the different candidates were desirous of hearing the arguments and pledges of the Monroe party, and hence it was arranged that the candidates would be present.

CANDIDATES ATTEND.

From Harbour Grace came Messrs. John R. Bennett and C. E. Russell, and Mr. E. Simmons, Mr. R. Cramm came from Bay de Verde, on behalf of himself and Mr. Puddester, in the interests of the three hundred miners

MR. HIGGINS, K.C.

The first speaker was Mr. W. J. Higgins, the popular leader of the famous Fighting Trio of St. John's East, and in the greatest platform speech of his career held this huge audience at a pitch of the highest attention. His able, well-directed arguments and the strength of his telling words amazed his hearers, and in the case of any who doubted, justified the course he has taken in supporting Mr. Monroe and his policy, and winning many of them over to the cause of the Opposition. In clean, definite language he explained the trend of happenings since disunion, and showed that the hand of the Master Lord of the North wrought havoc with all efforts to form a stable government that would have the confidence of the people and carry out a policy of reform and rehabilitation that would give some benefit to the working people of our long suffering country. He left no doubt in anyone's mind that the attitude adopted by the Opposition of last year was the only consistent one to follow, and made known his intention to retire completely rather than for a single day become the sort of Coaker, the breaker or maker of the Governments we have had for the last ten years. The people in every corner of Newfoundland to-day know the condition of affairs as they have been, and it was their duty on June 2nd to have their minds made up one way or another. An election was thrust upon them, they were thoroughly acquainted with the facts, and deep down in their own hearts they would, for the sake of their native country, decide what they honestly believe right. The issue was the clearest ever yet placed in the hands of the electorate, and Mr. Higgins summed it up in the words: "a vote for the Government means approval of domination and group control for the next four years and a continuance of all the petty discriminations in favour of sections and individuals, as well as uncontrolled waste of public money. Every ballot cast for Monroe candidates means a voice raised in disapproval of the Coaker's maladministration, and a demand for a new order of things based upon retrenchment in public affairs, and a clean, straight policy, based upon giving every man and every section a real square, fair deal." A resounding ovation marked the conclusion of Mr. Higgins' address.

SIR JOHN CROSBIE.

The next speaker was Sir John Crosbie, and a tremendous reception was accorded him. Always foremost in the handling of the fishery, Sir John unfolded a story somewhat new to the intrepid mining industrialists of Bell Island. The mass of knowledge he has gathered relative to Newfoundland's staple industry proved him an authority. Dealing with the slump in our foreign markets, the misapplication of the Fisheries Regulations, the salt scandals, and the fluctuation of selling prices, with supplies at their highest he described how impossible it was for our hardy toilers of the deep to prosecute a season and realize sufficient to afford them a livelihood during winter and spring. All this he attributed to the misguided administration, of which Sir William Coaker was the dominant figure. He demonstrated that the temporary Government led by Mr. Hickman was guided and controlled by the same Coaker, who in all vital matters had the influence and the power to enforce his demands. The other sundry units of the Coaker-Hickman party were as pawns in the hands of an experienced player. They all had their quota of reward and depending upon the same, they could not, and at the same time gain their own ends. Institute a policy, that would be to the general good of the people of Newfoundland. Sir John took occasion to refute the numerous allegations of misdemeanor made against him by Dr. Moesell and his boss's Advocate. He showed up how instead of doing wrong he had in many instances done great good for the country. In happy confident terms he described the wonderful support he is receiving throughout St. John's West, and told of the huge change of sentiment that was sweeping the country. In conclusion he bade his audience weigh well the issue before them and no matter what opinions they held of the candidates in their respective Districts to vote for the sake of Newfoundland for the party pledged to reform and fair treatment led by Walter S. Monroe. Sir John's speech last night on Bell Island was the best delivered by him since the days of his well remembered debates on the Fisheries Regulations. Throughout his address frequent and hearty applause endorsed the telling points of his argument, culminating in an ovation at the close.

MESSRS. BENNETT AND RUSSELL.

Messrs. Bennett and Russell speaking on behalf of the Harbour Grace section of the Monroe campaign, delivered a thrilling address. Fresh from their fight against the leader of the Government they appeared for the purpose of explaining to the constituents of their District working on Bell Island the issue upon which they had to decide when they returned home on Monday next to vote for the Government of the next four years. Dealing principally with the section of the campaign as it most materially concerned Mr. Grace, they outlined the destruction brought upon its many prosperous little towns, that are mainly concerned with the fishery, by the power of one man, who for his personal and business ends favoured his immediate environment to the ruin of the rest of his district and of the country, Conception Bay was the centre most to suffer. Once the most populous and thriving section of Newfoundland it has within a few short years been reduced, despoiled and impoverished. The mad-car schemes and exploits of W. F. Coaker backed by a Government content to waste and squander were alone responsible. The revelations of recent days had demonstrated the crying need for a change so both Bennett and Russell in cogent terms described the benefits to be derived from the Monroe policy. In its pledges were to be found the only reasonable possibilities of a return to sound, sane government, and in the characteristic honesty of Walter S. Monroe was there the much desired assurance that Newfoundland and its suffering people would at last receive a square deal. The receptions and applause that greeted these two popular candidates were wonderful, and coming as it did in the major part from the residents of the District, which after Monday they will have the honor to represent, it but affirmed the forecast already made that Bennett, Russell and Simmons will be returned by safe majorities. Certain it is that the large majority of Harbour Grace voters now working on Bell Island are standing behind the MONROE PARTY and the cause of re-establishing CLEAN, HONEST GOVERNMENT.

MR. CRAMM TELLS OF BAY DE VERDE CAMPAIGN.

Mr. Cramm was next introduced and was received with rounds of applause in which the voters of Bay de Verde led. He opened his remarks in words that displayed the confidence he placed in his numerous supporters. His speech struck a new note in the campaign, and as he proceeded he was followed with rapt attention by his hearers. Fresh from the District of Bay de Verde, where with Mr. Puddester he was concluding a successful canvass, he outlined the great receptions they had been given throughout the entire section. He said that since the opening of the fight in his District, it had been the policy of Mr. Puddester and himself to fight clean and above board in keeping with the policy of their party and he assured the audience that the people of Bay de Verde were with them and that the voters on June 2nd would endorse their policy by a straight ticket vote. Mr. Cramm added that in the surrounding Districts of Trinity, Carbonar, Hr. Grace, Pore de Grace, the people had risen to the call and were hand in hand with Monroe, seeking the only means of an honest and square dealing Government. It was not to the Hickman-Coaker combination that they had turned to look for the prosperity and happiness that has so long been denied them, but to the man who showed by his frank and straightforward manifesto that it was his sincere objective to cleanse the public life of our Island. Everywhere the people were clamouring for Monroe, and with them the loyal sons of Bay de Verde would stand shoulder to shoulder, just as he with his colleague, Mr. Puddester, had pledged themselves to look after the interests and welfare of the people of that district, so would they on polling day rally to the support of the Liberal-Conservative Party of the Monroe party, pointing out in concise and clear terms the benefits to be gained therefrom. It promised the nothing that was unattainable or which the country was not at present in need of, but it entailed the restoration of the one sacred gift, which our ancestors possessed, and cherished, and which we were deprived of by the avarice of irresponsible rulers, and without which Newfoundland must revert to the status of a Crown Colony, that is the happiness and prosperity which goes hand in hand with clean government. At the close of his address the audience rose to their feet and three ringing cheers shook the hall for Cramm and Puddester and Bay de Verde.

MR. VINICOMBE FOLLOWS.

As a tribute to his popularity on Bell Island, Mr. N. J. Vinicombe was accorded a warm welcome as he was introduced by the Chairman, and in his straight forward style treated his audience to a splendid address. In common with the rest of his fellow countrymen he knew, as they knew, that our people were not getting fair treatment from those who had been entrusted with the welfare of our country. He deprecated the insults that had been heaped upon the intelligent, free and independent electors. In every way their rights had been taken from them and to-day hundreds, nay thousands, are suffering the loss of their birthright, by being enforced to seek a livelihood in foreign lands. The men by whom these injustices had been cast upon the people, however, are to-day reaping the reward of their misdeeds and the electorate of Newfoundland are rising up in their might to put an end to all that is against their interests. Mr. Walter S. Monroe is foremost in the fray, leading them to victory, and when the ballots have been counted after Monday next, the little Island home of ours will see again days of peace and happiness, and its people assured of a square deal and clean, honest Government. An outburst of applause marked this speech, which continued as the next speaker took the platform.

eloquent address by Mr. Fox. Despite the late hour, the huge audience showed continued and increasing interest as Mr. Fox opened his address. This popular member of the East-End Trio is well known throughout Bell Island, and his fame as a speaker has spread far and wide. The root and evil of our downward path at present of depression, said Mr. Fox, was attributable to the wholesale desire for waste and squandering and the undeniable proof lay in the fact that ten years ago Newfoundland governed itself at a cost of four million dollars. To-day our people are being taxed to the extent of ten millions and they are getting no better or greater benefits than they did then. The calamities and baneful consequent upon group control, Government were also dealt with as were the many inconsistencies and self-promoting intentions of the make up of the present temporary administration. An able plea was advanced for the support of a clean policy, and the Monroe pledges of an honest attempt by telling argument. Of all the addresses delivered by Mr. Fox on Bell Island this was the most stirring. Applause made the rafters ring as he concluded. After a hearty vote of thanks had been accorded the evening's chairman, the singing of the National Anthem brought this remarkably successful meeting to a close. As the gathering dispersed the enthusiasm broke out in renewed and stirring cheers for the evening's speakers and the NEW MONROE GOVERNMENT.

Marvellous Enthusiasm for Monroe

THE NORTH HAS SLIPPED FROM COAKER'S GRASP—THE SOUTH WEST COAST HAS GONE CLEAN FROM HICKMAN AND CONCEPTION BAY WILL BE A WHIRLWIND AGAINST THEM ALSO—THEIR GAME IS LOST AND RIGHT WELL THEY KNOW IT.

The enthusiasm that Monroe has aroused is so extensive and pronounced that the Coaker-Hickman boosters and supporters are frantic with despair. They are so shaken to pieces as to be utterly demoralized. They are beaten everywhere and they know it right and well, even to the extent of throwing up their hands and acknowledging that the tide is too strong against them, and that it is impossible for Hickman to win the Government.

The North is sending in the most gratifying assurances of a magnificent victory for the Monroe trio in Bonavista Bay, that Trinity Bay is turning around rapidly in favor of the Monroe trio also, and that even in Twillingate, Fogo and St. Barbe there is a wonderful change in favor of the Monroe candidates.

As to the South West Coast not a man in St. John's to-day will concede that Hickman can get a seat in that section of the country and it is useless to expect it.

Within the last twenty-four hours a regular whirlwind of popular sentiment has spread around Conception Bay predicting a demolishing of the Coaker-Hickman forces there.

No wonder they are in a frenzied condition of absolute hopelessness, no wonder they recognize the game is up and that Monroe will sweep the country.

Earl Haig Regatta

COMMITTEE MEETING LAST NIGHT

A meeting of the Haig Regatta Committee was held at the Great War Veterans' Association Headquarters last night. The veteran Arthur Haddock was in the chair. Reports from the Boat Clubs stated that the racers were all in good condition and would be available for practice next week. The wharves will be put out on Monday and a bandstand will also be erected. It is proposed to hold band concerts at the course whilst boats are practicing. The Haig races promise to be the most exciting held in recent years. There are seven races on the programme. Great interest is centred in the International Ex-Servicemen and Inter-District Races. If M. S. Conroy, a French, and probably an American warship, will be in port and the crews will race in ship's boats. Crews from Bonavista, Conception, and other Bays, have signified their intention of competing in the Inter-District Race, which promises to be keenly contested. It is probable that this race will be run off in ship's boats. From now until July, a Committee will meet every Friday night.

Raw Meat Juice for Tuberculosis

"CAVEMAN DIET" ADVOCATED AS CURE AT ACADEMY OF SCIENCES.

PARIS, May 20.—His new method of treating tuberculosis by feeding the patients pure dried juice from raw meat was described to the Academy of Sciences last evening by Prof. Charles Richet, famous physiologist and winner of the Nobel prize for medicine in 1913.

Prof. Richet applied his method in hospital work during the war with most encouraging results. One hundred patients treated by the professor steadily increased in weight for two months, their gain being attributed to reconstitution of muscular tissues wasted by tuberculosis.

Prof. Richet has long advocated a "cave-man diet" as the only one according strictly to the dictates of physiology. His experiment with dogs have shown that those fed exclusively with raw meat flourish while others, fed cooked meat, decline and die within a relatively short time.

Rheumatism

Don't suffer—don't give in—don't let it drive you mad—keep it handy for RHEUMATISM, BRUISES, NEURALGIA AND ALL NERVE PAINS.

Sloans Liniment

As it is impossible for tubercular patients to take raw meat in sufficient quantities it must be replaced with the juice which he says possesses the same therapeutic qualities and can be taken in large doses without inconvenience. He administers about 100 grams daily to a patient. The treatment, he claims, is equally good for anemic children and in cases of convalescence.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The Parish Weekly Bulletin, under date of May 11th, of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Wilkesburg, Pennsylvania, (Diocese of Pittsburgh, U.S.A.), contains the following announcement, which refers to a Harbor Gracean, viz: Mr. John S. Taylor, son of Mrs. Annie Taylor, Noad St.:

Our Recent Vestry Meeting.
"At a full attendance of the Vestry, last Monday evening, May 6th, when much business was transacted, a resolution was unanimously passed congratulating Mr. John S. Taylor, Rector's Lay Assistant, on his approaching Ordination to the Diaconate, to take place in St. Stephen's Church, Wilkesburg, Sunday morning, July 28th, 1924, at 11:00 a.m. He has, in obedience to conviction, made a very substantial financial sacrifice to give his life to the ministry of our church. It is of more than ordinary interest to further note that he has been associated with St. Stephen's as a worker for twenty-four years, and a very active Lay Reader in the Diocese for quite a long period. His main occupation has been that of Head Instructor, for eighteen years, in the Carnegie Technical Schools, having succeeded in building up his Department wonderfully. We are proud to state that Mr. Taylor has been unanimously called to be Rector of Trinity Church, Rochester, Pa., and will begin immediately after his Ordination. The Rochester Parish is leaving no stone unturned in making the Rectory, inside and out, attractive and comfortable for Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, and also financial provision that indicates distinct pride in the coming of their new Rector and his wife. The Altar Guild members of our own Parish have shown, as usual, they are magnanimously alive, for through their own personal contributions, and skilled work, they are making an exquisite linen Surplice, which they will present to Mr. Taylor. The Vestry are to furnish him with a Cassock, Girdle and a set of Stoles. This will be the second candidate for the Ministry that Dr. Porkeess has had the great joy of presenting. The greatest pleasure of all has been this week, when the Rector of St. Stephens wrote a special congratulatory letter to Mr. Taylor's dear mother, who is in Newfoundland in her 84th year. How full of joy her heart must be with regard to her worthy son. May God abundantly bless her, and may He also make that son, my dear brother in the Ministry, a winner of many souls for the Master's Kingdom."

The above is under the heading "Rector's Notes," and it speaks for itself. The continued advancement and success of Mr. Taylor has been noted, by his many friends here, and we may all feel justly proud of this worthy son of Terra Nova. Mr. Taylor with his wife (nee Miss Minnie Davis) and their two children, spent last summer in the home town, being which they on different occasions. Mr. Taylor took charge of the services at Christ Church, and also at St. Paul's.

We tender our congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, and his dear mother, and trust that our highly esteemed former townsman may see many years of service in the Master's Vineyard.

The congratulatory letter referred to as having been sent Mr. Taylor's mother, by the Rector, Rev. William Porkeess, D.D., has been received by Mrs. Taylor during this week.

Mr. Ed. L. Oke, leaves by to-morrow morning's express, en route to Toronto, Ont., to attend the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association Convention, which is being held there during next week.

Mr. Oke purposes spending a short while in Montreal, and other places, and will be absent about two weeks. His many friends extend best wishes for a very pleasant trip.

Miss Flo Goodwin, daughter of Dr. W. S. and Mrs. Goodwin, who has been attending College at Sackville, N.B., arrived by the express Sunday morning, to spend the vacation with her parents and friends here.

Among those to spend the week end in the city, were—Messrs. Jno. Tapp, T. O. Ford, L. T. Chafe, Ed. Mortuary, Mrs. H. Simmons, Misses Ida McKee, M. I. Simmons. They returned by Monday night's train.

Miss Elsie Murphy, of the London, New York and Paris Association of Fashion, St. John's, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Murphy.

The Monroe candidates are meeting with great success all over the District. "Midst flags flying and sounds of musketry, they have been welcomed at different places. Spoon Cove, Island Cove, Coley's Point and Shearstown are among those who have given them a big reception this week. They are holding a meeting in Coughlan Hall this evening, when addresses will be given by the "Clean up, and keep clean" candidates.

Bennett, Russell and Simmons. The almost sudden death of Mrs. Amelia Kitchen, of Kitchen's Hill, occurred early this morning. Deceased was attending to some household duty.

Quebec Man Found Complete Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Rheumatism and Backache were two of his ills. The others also came from sick kidneys and Dodd's Kidney Pills drove them all away.

Padoue Station, Que., May 30. (Special)—"I have suffered with rheumatism, backache and headaches for five years I also had cramps and could not sleep. Five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills have given me complete relief."

This statement comes from Mr. G. Levesque, a well-known resident of this place.

Other sufferers from rheumatism and backache tell of pains relieved and health restored through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They strengthen the kidneys and put them in shape to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Uric acid crystallizing in the muscles causes the pain known as rheumatism.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have built up their reputation on the good work they have done.

Obituary

MR. JAMES KINSSELLA.

There died at his residence, Brockton, Mass. recently after a protracted illness, a gentleman well and favorably known in St. John's in the person of Mr. James Kinsella. The deceased, who was a son of the late John Kinsella, an old and respected resident of King's Road, left here some 40 years ago, and took up his residence in Brockton, where his upright character and geniality of temperament earned for him the respect and esteem of his citizens. A cooper by trade, Mr. Kinsella served his apprenticeship with the firm of Baine Johnston & Co. and was a mechanic of exceptional ability, versatile and industrious, and his demise will be sincerely regretted by those of his contemporaries yet with us and by many of a younger generation who knew him by repute. Mr. Kinsella was a man of excellent physique, athletic and dexterous and was an exceptionally fine carman, his prowess in this respect being often evident on his historic Quidi Vidi Lake in the 70's and 80's of last century, when he rowed to victory with the coopers in many a gruelling event in the Tradesmen's race at our annual regatta. Always evincing a keen and sympathetic interest in everything conducting to the well-being of his native land, he was generally well-informed as to conditions here and the social or material progress of the Dominion afforded him the satisfaction, which only an intensely patriotic son of the soil could feel. During the forty years of his residence in Brockton, he made for himself and family a comfortable competence. Mr. Kinsella visited his native city of St. John's about 15 years ago, and renewed the associations of earlier days and during his stay made many new friends. The deceased was in his 74th year and his wife predeceased him six years ago. There are left to mourn their sad loss one daughter and four sons, who served in the United States forces, in the Army and Navy, during the war, and one brother, Mr. Daniel Kinsella, the well-known and respected mining expert of this city, while Mr. John Brophy of the Eastern S.S. Co., Boston, is a nephew, to all of whom the sincere condolence of the Evening Telegram is extended.

London Police Changing

COLLEGE GRADUATES NOW BEING GIVEN CHANCE TO SWING CLUBS.

The day when London's police force was made up of a stalwart though ignorant recruit from the East Side has passed. The beer-drinking hercules with the Cockney accent is stepping aside to allow the university graduate a chance to carry a whistle and a club. It now takes more than six feet of brawn to qualify for a pair of thick boots. The policeman's duty is now a profession in London.

Once, before the war, a man joined the London force when he could not get anything else to do. The policemen in those days earned 30 shillings a week, he worked ten hours a day for seven days a week and he had no recreation centres at his disposal. 30 shillings, even in the days when a shilling knew a lot more tricks than it does to-day, hardly sufficed to keep a family. The guardian of the public welfare was always ready then to accept a tip for any little service he might perform.

Now the pay is good, the chances of promotion to responsible jobs are many and the conditions and hours of service easier. The municipal authorities are taking an interest in their police force. They have provided clubs for the men and their families, they are given better uniforms, and promotions and salary increases are granted for educational attainments, as well as meritorious service.

At the same time the law of supply and demand has raised the standard of requirements. The candidate must pass a stiff educational examination, and he must know more English than is contained in the yellow penny thriller.

and be familiar with the national government's organization and operation. There are many where a knowledge of two languages is necessary. The authorities are satisfied with regard to manners and habits.

After the policeman has accepted an apprenticeship of two years is necessary, then he is allowed to regular duty. If he is not fit, he may even get to be a constable, with a "Siri" in his name. The London policeman earns from $20 to $35 a week regular duty.

A Splendid Feature at the Majestic To-Night

Thursday night's performance at the Majestic will be repeated to-night and this afternoon. Miss McShane and Miss Habel submit five items in their singing and violin act, which will more than please the patrons Wallace Reid, the great star, gives one of the happiest interpretations of his career in the feature, "The Ghost Breaker," which was voted a big success on Thursday night.

"The Ghost Breaker" is a melodrama with modern trimmings. There is a wonderful old Spanish castle in Aragon, which is peopled with ghosts. A lovely Spanish girl (Lila Lee) who is much annoyed by the ghostly visitants; a young and red-blooded hero, played by Mr. Reid, who bumps into a feud in a visit to Kentucky, just because he happens to be a remote branch of the Jarvis family; a funny colored servant, Rusty Snow, which will introduce Walter Hiers as a black face artist; feud scenes; a thrilling fight in an elevator of a New York Hotel; a chase after a liner; scenes in mid-sea aboard the liner; some fine pastoral effects and so on. All of which supplies color in plenty, as well as thrilling gallop. The star is supported by Miss Lila Lee, as leading woman, and Walter Hiers, in a black face role for the first time in his career has an excellent comedy part. Much credit is due Alfred Green for his skilled direction. The support is wholly adequate.

Amateur Contest Well Patronized Last Night

LARGE AUDIENCES IN SPITE OF DISAGREABLE WEATHER.

Whilst the "weather-man" frowned on the city last night, nevertheless the lady in the box-office at the Crescent was kept busy, as it was a big night at this theatre, and why not? It was the big Amateur Contest and no weather can keep people away from this bumper weekly attraction. Several good turns were rendered and a most enjoyable night was spent. The film "Close Harmony" was participated in by all, and the singing was enthusiastic.

The sweep of the sea, the rush of the waves, the lash of high winds all combine to give splendid atmosphere to Robert Thornby's stirring drama of the ocean "Stormswep," now holding forth at this theatre. "Stormswep" is being distributed through the Film Booking Office of America and includes such prominent players as Wallace and Noah Beery, Arline Fretty and Virginia Brown Faire.

"Broken Chains" to be Shown on Monday

Heralded as the winner of a $10,000 prize in a scenario contest conducted by the Chicago Daily News, being selected out of 35,000 manuscripts submitted, the Goldwyn production, "Broken Chains," deals with the regeneration of a coward through the power of love. A striking point in the picture is the logical development of the action along straightforward lines with no devious bypaths. There is intense characterization, strong dramatic situations and thrills, and this coupled with the strong human interest, make it a worth-while picture, considerably above the average, and one which should satisfy a majority of patrons, even in the face of a heavy screening of the brutal side of the villain. But it is this handling of the subject to the intensity of the drama.

There is strong suspense in the situation involving a bride over a deep chasm which has been equipped with a trap arrangement so that the unwary is liable to be precipitated into the river below. And there is an unusually thrilling stunt where four men on horses make the jump across this big gap to aid in rescuing the girl.

This is the very kind of picture that will appeal to local movie fans, and all should make a special effort to witness it on Monday. The film will be shown for three days only.

Monroe Candidates Complete Campaign

IN ST. JOHN'S WEEK.

Last night the Monroe candidates Linegar and Browne, held two meetings which were in line with the meetings previously held throughout the district. Sir John Crosbie was on Bell Island and could not be with them.

MEETING AT SANATORIUM.
The first meeting took place at the Sanatorium. Dr. Rendell acted as chairman and pointed out that Sir John Crosbie had been a benefactor of the institution and had given a box for use in going around the coast. Messrs. Linegar and Browne referred to the conditions as present existing in the country, where unemployment is so prevalent, and the young blood is forced to leave our shores to seek living in other countries. The voter present at the meeting displayed great interest in the arguments advanced, and showed by their applause that they were in line with the rest of the country for clean government and on polling day will register their votes for the straight ticket, Crosbie Linegar and Browne.

MEETING AT TOPSAIL ROAD.
At the second meeting which was held at the house of Mr. Peter Cowan Topsail Road, Mr. Peter Murphy acted as chairman and introduced the speakers.

Mr. Linegar was first called on to address the gathering. He reviewed the labor situation in the city and also the mismanagement of affairs under the different Coaker controlled governments, proving to his hearers that an administration that is being supported by men of this type is not able to bring back to the country a return of the happiness that she experienced a few years ago. Mr. Linegar's address was punctuated by applause and at the close he was accorded a generous ovation.

Mr. Browne regretted the absence of Sir John Crosbie, who was on Bell Island, but he felt that his hearers appreciated the desire of Sir John to be present and put his case before them. However, Mr. Browne felt certain that the people of Topsail Road would give the West End the same support that all candidates under the Monroe banner are deserving of. The country knows the record of the present administration and it has before it the policy of the Monroe party, which calls for clean government. What steps the electorate will take on Monday rests with the electors themselves, but they owe it to their country and to the coming generations to use their franchise for the improvement of the present deplorable state of affairs. The Government party is boasting the Gander proposition, but this is simply propaganda of an insincere character because the Gander will be proceeded with no matter what Government is returned to power. Mr. Browne concluded with an appeal for the party whose motto is a square deal to all, and who are pledged to clean up and keep clean.

THE ADOPTION COMPLEX.

Did you ever pass through a subject in your life when you wondered if you were by any chance an adopted child? Did you ever go further than just wondering a nd catch your parents on the subject? Somebody brought up this topic the other evening, and the four women in the group all confessed that they had at one time had this adoption complex. Of the men, only one admitted having passed through this stage. (I don't know whether the other men were less romantic or merely less honest than he. I think it is an open question.) He admitted having put his father through the third degree as to his own place in the family after he had been told that one of the boys in his class at school was an adopted child.

we all have to be different in some way to stand out from the crowd. Most children belong to their parents—to be adopted is a distinction. And then there was a book very popular when I was a girl, about a large family of girls in which one stands out from the rest because she is prettier, more delicate, more talented, and more high-strung than they. She turns out to be the adopted child of the family, and though she is pictured as feeling terribly when the truth is revealed to her, there is an aura of romance about her which deeply appealed to the young girl reader. It was after reading that book that I had the adoption complex.

Of course I had been told by visiting adults all my life that I had my mother's eyes, and been told by my mother stories of the wild night when I came rather unexpectedly to the family. Also I had seen my birth record in the family Bible. But all these things, I reasoned hopefully, might be camouflage (though I didn't call them that then). I remember how hard the hope that my family were deceiving me died.

In literature the child is always heartbroken when he or she discovers that he is an adopted child. To a writer who wants to write about real children I suggest the study of the real child's reactions on the subject. Though perhaps if we had found out that we really were adopted after all we should have had different reactions, I wonder.

We certainly should have no reason for shame or for any feeling of not being loved. Children sometimes come by birth to parents who do not want them, but no one adopts a child unless he heartily wants one.

As the little boy, who was teased by another youngster because of the fact that he was adopted, put it: "My father picked me out from among a hundred other boys, but your father had to take what he got."

P. E. I. Fox Industry

Not since 1914 has the famous Prince Edward Island black fox industry enjoyed such activity as this spring. Breeders are receiving a good price for the better grade breeding foxes. The highest priced silver fox skin at the recent London sales was the property of a Summerside rancher, and the world's champion silver fox, winning all of the sweepstakes at the Boston show, was also the property of a Summerside company.

The Search for Egyptian Antiques

The discovery of Tutankhamen's tomb has given a great impetus to the sale of Egyptian antiques, but the great difficulty for the purchaser has been to discover whether one is getting the genuine article. About three miles beyond Heliopolis on the way from Cairo, there is an old burial-ground by the side of the road. The place is pitted with large holes seven or eight feet deep, and men can be seen searching the ground for skeletons.

To some, the disturbing of these ancient graves may appear to be a somewhat gruesome affair, but a little experience of the interesting finds which are sometimes made is usually sufficient to banish such scruples.

One is sure to find large quantities of beads, perhaps a block of bronze jewellery, and occasionally a scarab. The beads are small, cylindrical, of a variety of colors, and have the appearance of earthenware. While of no value, they are very interesting, and curios are well worth the search.

The search, however, is the prize for which all seek. A scarab is a carving of the holy beetle, and was used as a sacred emblem in temples and tombs, but the smaller varieties, which are most common, were used in jewellery and as seals.

Those found at Heliopolis were buried with the body as charms and are inscribed with mottoes. They are usually made of a material similar to colored marble, but are sometimes found carved in agate and other semi-precious stones. They vary in length from a quarter to three quarters of an inch. For a poor specimen, a dirty pale green in color, as much as $2 is asked, and often given, but with a little bargaining it may be bought for half the sum. Choice specimens, beautifully colored, fetch anything from $5, according to size and color, but are rarely found in this place.

Pastor Will Fly Over His Parish

AUSTRALIAN CLERGYMAN TO USE AIRPLANE IN PASTORAL WORK.

LONDON, May 22.—Rev. L. Daniels, pastor of an Australian parish of over 40,000 square miles, is here to buy an airplane to help him in his work.

"I tried to do it with a car," explained the pastor, "but after heroic work the car failed me.

"I am a hundred miles from a railway station," Daniels continued, "besides having to attend to the spiritual needs of seven villages, anywhere from 50 to 210 miles apart. I have to visit outlying sheep farms."

"By using a car and sleeping out on the ground at night, I was able to get around. But not even a "livver" will stand everything. On the last journey I had several punctures, a broken spring, and other mishaps before the gasoline tank came off with the help of my boy chauffeur. I caught as much of the gasoline as possible in spare cans. No one was likely to pass that way for a week, so I drove while the boy poured can after can of gasoline into the feed pipe."

Daniels was a pilot in the British Air Force during the war. He is selecting a small single seater airplane, and says that if he can find one suited to his needs his transportation troubles will be over. There are plenty of landing fields, as the country is flat.

Found Fish Fresh After 17 Days in Car

BROUGHT FROM HALIFAX UNDER NEW PROCESS.

MONTREAL, May 22.—The freight car containing 20,000 pounds of cod and haddock brought from Halifax seventeen days ago under the new pre-stored refrigeration process, was officially opened yesterday in the presence of Dominion Government and other officials at the C.N.R. yards and on critical inspection found to be in perfect condition.

The fish inspected this afternoon underwent no re-icing in their long ride and went through a further positive test in that many warm days were experienced since shipment, the members of the fishy tribe withstood the test and when the boxes were pried open, the contents were found to be in their natural and edible condition.

Included in the big shipment were about 1,000 pounds of fresh filets, this constituting the chief item of interest among dealers and other experts present when the car was opened.

Walter S. Josephson, inventor of the process opened the heavy car doors this afternoon, pulling a box from the top of the consignment. J. J. Gowie, Government representative, pried open the lid and the fish were lifted out and passed around to the eager guests.

The freight car was speedily emptied and the boxes of varying sizes placed on a special platform, where they were subjected to close inspection—and much handling.

Village Gossip

CAUSE OF INQUIRY INTO WELSH DOCTOR'S DEATH.

Village gossip was declared to be one of the reasons for referring to the Home Office the mystery of the death of Dr. John Dickey, aged 34, a popular medical man of Senghenydd, a Rhymney Valley, South Wales, mining village.

"Dramatic" evidence was given at the inquest. In view of the rumors which had circulated as to the cause of death, it was stated, the internal organs had been sent to the Home Office for analysis.

At the inquest Mr. Gilbert Rees, who had assisted Dr. Dickey for about two years, said he left the doctor smoking a cigarette in his surgery, and on returning ten minutes later found Dr. Dickey lying on a bed, his face gradually changing color.

"I rushed up to him and picked him up in my arms," he added, "but he just smiled and died." Police Sergeant Coles said that when he searched Dr. Dickey's bedroom he found some crushed glass, which was covered with a powdery substance. He also found a box containing morphine sulphate, and there were two tubes of this drug in the doctor's waistcoat pocket.

The inquest was adjourned to await the result of the analysis.

Wonders From New Zealand

Among the wonders of the New Zealand exhibit at Wembley is a monster coconut-eating land crab. This strange creature which climbs palms and detaches cocoons with its powerful claws, will be shown in the Samoa late, or native house. The mysterious "palolo," a minute coral fish, which appears only for two hours in each year, will also be exhibited. The fish, a great delicacy, can be caught only at dawn on one particular day in the year. When the tropical sun appears over the horizon it sinks again into the depths. The natives, who can foretell the exact date of its arrival, await over the reefs in their canoes and boats, and frantically net as much of the fish as they can in the brief time at their disposal.

A Ready Help For The Girl Who Needs Blood

DURING the critical period between twelve and seventeen there is a special strain on the young girl's system which often leaves her in a weak run-down condition.

She becomes anemic or bloodless. The gums and eyelids as well as the complexion generally become very pale and there is weakness and lassitude.

Indigestion and constipation are usual. There is shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, headaches and irregularities of the vital organs.

These symptoms are also common to chlorosis in which case the complexion assumes a greenish tinge.

More blood is needed—rich, red, invigorating blood.

Since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest of blood builders this is the treatment indicated.

The restorative qualities of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food have never been more certainly proven than in the treatment of young girls for anemia, chlorosis and such ailments which arise from a debilitated condition of the blood.

Since young girls seldom understand themselves at this age the responsibility rests with the mother.

The whole future health and happiness of your daughter may depend on getting through this critical period in good physical condition.

There is no question of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food being the most effective means of overcoming the anemic condition.

It is only necessary to have a little patience and keep up the use of the Nerve Food regularly until the growing body is supplied with an abundance of rich, red, life-sustaining blood.

Dr. Chase's Medicines are for sale in Newfoundland by all druggists and dealers in medicines.

If your local merchant cannot supply you write direct to Mr. Gerald S. Doyle, Water St., St. John's, as he is sole agent for the Dr. Chase Medicine Co., in Newfoundland.

Millions Spent in Gems

Famous Sea Fights Seen at Wembley

Defeat of Spanish Armada May Be Seen Several Times Daily.

If the shades of Drake, Frobenius, and Raleigh were to visit the British Empire Exhibition this year, they would be astonished, and probably gratified, to see the wonderful deeds they performed more than three hundred years ago, reproduced with working models on a miniature sea.

A large portion of the British Government's Pavilion at Wembley has been devoted to a Theatre, the stage of which will take the form of a large sheet of water, and the Admiralty has made itself responsible for historical sea spectacles of altogether unprecedented size and beauty.

The defence and ultimate defeat of the Spanish King's fleet will be reproduced in the most correct detail several times a day. In fact, every naval episode, which has contributed towards the establishment and maintenance of the great naval status that we hold to-day will be presented with faithful adherence to detail and scenic environment.

Most previous big scale attempts to convey pictures by means of pageants have suffered from being historically inaccurate; too much reliance has been placed upon the imagination of the producers.

Recent advances in mechanical science have made it possible to control the movements of a ship at sea from the land, and it is mainly this fact which has made the nautical display at Wembley possible.

Battle Scenes

In the Wembley Room of the War Office, where all the preparations of the British Government's exhibits are going forward, the Army is busy preparing a series of magnificent large scale models, depicting the most thrilling battles and incidents that occurred on the Western Front during the Great War.

The central galleries of the Government Pavilion will look down on a huge relief map of the world, with a 30 ft. on which miniature ships, moving in water, will indicate the main trade routes of the Empire.

TRINITY

RICHARD WATERMAN.

A Child of Trinity Two Hundred Years Ago.

"One of the few, the immortal names that were not born to die. One of the names that I find on the earliest pages of the old Church Registers, and one that is, decided euphonic and distinctly English, is the name Waterman. Though there are several entries in those Registers in which the name Waterman is found, yet there is more or less of the usual number of definite and minor detailed statements lacking in them—such details as I usually find in connection with entries—that in order to make the history consecutive, as well as interesting, I shall have to use more or less fiction, in order to join the facts together; but, as good fiction is only a statement of possibilities, I have no apology to make for the use of it occasionally. My object is to revise the memory of Richard Waterman and to gratefully acknowledge the definite share that he had in establishing family life in Trinity one hundred and sixty years ago; so that we, in our days of peaceful possession, may realize how much we owe to men of his day and generation. Let us forget.

The first representative of the Watermans, of Dorset, England, came to us in the person of Richard Waterman about the year 1730. He was married to Mary—before the regular Church Registers were begun. The oldest headstone in the churchyard, however, records the death of two children of Richard and Mary Waterman (named Robert and Ann) in the year 1744, aged three, and seven years, respectively. During the years of Richard Waterman, he was a by-boat keeper; or what we should now call a planter, or a middle-man, who fitted out a number of men and boats for the fishery. There was much profit in the prosecution of the fishery at and around Trinity during those years; for in the account of the Colony put forth by Lieutenant Griffith Williams, R.A., in 1765, he mentions that "several boats at Trinity caught 990 qts. each during the year; and that fully one-quarter of the whole catch of fish in Newfoundland, from the year 1745 to 1762 was to be credited to the fishermen of Trinity, Catalina, and Bonavista. There were, we must remember, five men in a boat, or rather a large skiff. Thus Richard Waterman's share was a mainly part in the uplifting of the prosperity of Trinity in those days; and within a few years of each other, he and his wife were called to rest during the closing years of the 18th century, and their son, Richard, succeeded to all their worldly possessions.

Richard Waterman Jr., who was born in 1742, was married to Sarah Gillet. Women undertook the responsibilities of married life at an early age in those days; thus, Sarah Gillet was married in 1762, and died in 1765, and was only 20 years of age when she died. In 1766 Richard Waterman Jr. was married again to Sarah Archer, and to them were born several children. One of those Watermans, who was born in 1780, and who, twenty years later, became the wife of Mr. Joseph Gover, who was one of Slade's first agents in Trinity, and the progenitor of all the Govers in Trinity since and down to the present day. Mr. Gover's headstone, standing next to that of Richard Waterman's in the old churchyard, indicates that he is buried beside his father-in-law. One interesting feature of a biography of this kind, is the variety of names that become associated with the original name through marriage. Thus, in addition to the original name Waterman, we get associations with the names Gillet, Archer, Bailey, Gover, Whittle, Pile, Newell and Stevenson; and then more or less so directly or indirectly down to the present. Thus, the name Gillet takes us back over a hundred years, when a part of the property at the eastern side of Tisack's Hill (that was till recent years owned by Mr. James Gent) was then owned by Richard Gillet, and then by Charles Randall, of Somerset, who married Richard Gillet's widow.

They in turn passed it over to the ownership of David Durell for Messrs. John Butley, and George Garland, and then it was purchased by Mr. Samuel Augustus Gent. Richard Gillet was a blacksmith, and his forge was situated at the north end of the Gent property. This accounts for the fact that coal clinkers have been found there for years past by those who did not know till now of the location of Gillet's forge a hundred years ago. Not very important, but an explanation, nevertheless.

Then the names Waterman and Archer become associated through marriage. Mr. Waterman's second wife was a daughter of Mr. Thomas Archer who carried on a business at Hog's Head about the middle of the eighteenth century, and whose head-living in Twillingate, or Fogo; but whether they are relatives of the Trinity Watermans, I know not. All those references are respectfully submitted. REPLY TO INQUIRY. Some time ago I had an inquiry, re how many men by the name of James Collis lived in Trinity a hundred years ago. In reply, I gave the names, etc., of two, then I found a third, and since then I have found a fourth. They were all Englishmen, and as follows: 1846—Married, James Collis, master of the ship "Lady Ann," of Ponce, England, and Jessie Warren of New Pictoucan. 1821—Married, James Collis, of Knowle, in the Island of Furbeck, England, and Mary Jenkins of Trinity. 1830—Married, James Collis, of Poole, England, and Joanna Sabin, of Trinity. 1833—Married, James Collis, of Milford, Hants, England, and Sarah Hodder, of Trinity. JOHN MAIBY, 1800, AND THE SECOND GENERATION. One of the names that was brought from the old country to Trinity about 140 years ago, was Maiby. The name is still retained in Trinity by several of our citizens, though it is now spelled Maybee. John Maiby came to Trinity about the year 1800, and I find his name for the first time, in the following entry in the old Church Marriage Register: "1810—Married, John Maiby, of this town of Poole, Dorset, England, and Dinah, daughter of the late William and Mary Bugden, Trinity." To them were born ten children as follows:—Sarah, Thomas, Dinah, Mary, John, Elizabeth, William, Priscilla, Aquilla, Anne. I can find no further reference to either Sarah, or Thomas, beyond the record of their baptism. Re the others: Dinah died in infancy; Mary married James Miller in 1836; Elizabeth married Martin Miller in 1839; Priscilla married John Late in 1844; Anne married Thomas Late in 1845; Aquilla was married to Caroline Bailey in 1848; William was married to Mary Lucas in 1851; John died in 1840 aged 23 years. The family that was begun in Trinity moved to Trouty about the year 1822. John Maiby (the father) died in Trouty in 1826; and his widow married John Brown, of Stalbridge, Dorset, England in 1829, and to them were born two children, viz:—Mark and Jane.

Put the amazing power of this simple food to work for you

The example illustrated here is typical of thousands of similar tributes to Fleischmann's Yeast. There is nothing mysterious about its action. It is not a "cure-all," not a medicine in any sense. But when the body is choked with the poisons of constipation—or when its vitality is low, so that the skin, stomach and general health are affected—this simple, natural food achieves literally amazing results. Concentrated in every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast are millions of tiny yeast-plants, alive and active. At once they go to work—involving the whole system, clearing the skin, aiding digestion, strengthening the intestinal muscles and making them healthy and active. Dissolve one cake in a glass of water (just hot enough to drink)—before breakfast and at bedtime. Fleischmann's Yeast, when taken this way, is especially effective in overcoming or preventing constipation. Or eat 2 or 3 cakes a day—spread on bread or crackers—dissolved in fruit juices or milk—or eat it plain. Write us for further information or let us send you a free copy of our latest booklet on Yeast for Health. Address: The Fleischmann Company, 201 Duckworth Street, St. John's, N.F. "A year ago found me morose and irritable, with a nervous, rundown body and an exceptionally bad complexion. Horrid pimples on my face were the bane of my existence. One day while sitting at a soda fountain I read this ad: 'Try Fleischmann's Yeast for your Health's Sake,' and concluded to give it a trial. Within a week I slept better, and everyone complimented me on my improved appearance. To-day I am a picture of health, have a wonderful complexion, and everyone says I look five years younger." (A letter from Miss Jane Branch, of Houston, Texas.)

Fleischmann's Yeast comes only in the tinfoil package—it cannot be purchased in tablet form. All grocers have it. Start eating it to-day! A few days' supply will keep fresh in your ice box as well as in the grocery.

Bonus Will Be Paid Fishermen

1. The Public Enquiry which has been so well begun, and has resulted in such startling revelations, shall be promptly and vigorously continued to the end. Impartial justice shall be meted out to those evil-doers whose misconduct shall be disclosed by the Enquiry.

2. I am personally favourable to a bounty upon fish caught, believing that the stimulating effect would abundantly repay the expenditure. I promise that if my party be returned to power, a bounty shall be given, commensurate with the ability of the country, and in a manner best calculated to benefit the fishermen.

3. I promise that, if given power, I shall cause a careful investigation to be made into the way in which improvement can best be made in the financial methods of the country, and I shall enforce a policy of wise economy and retrenchment.

4. Earnest enquiry should be made by qualified persons how best to encourage the development of mineral resources, and I promise the appointment of a committee of qualified men to enquire and report upon this matter.

5. All labour necessary to the development of the resources of this Colony should be given to its people. They should be well paid and well housed. The profitable employment of our workmen shall be with me a prime object, and I will not tolerate anything less than a fair deal to all.

6. If empowered by your votes at this election to act in this matter, a measure embodying the repeal of the Prohibition Act, and the principles of an alternative measure, shall be introduced into the Legislature, and be referred to a joint Committee of both Houses, before which representative people shall have the opportunity to express their views fully and freely; and I shall hope to thus be enabled to procure the enactment of a satisfactory law upon this important matter.

7. Upon those who demand a thorough cleansing of public life, and an effort to clean up, to keep clean, and to give stable government to this country, I make a claim for support, and if that support be freely and strongly given, I promise the devotion of my energies to the service of my Country.

The Athletics Association is busy arranging for the annual Outdoor Sports, June 23rd. The Committee hope to have the help of some of the expert Old Comrades to assist in training the C.L.B. track team. The annual boxing tournament of the Brigade will take place early in November. Boxers can use the Armoury and athletes can use the shower bath which is now being put into commission. Captain Phil is organizing all C.L.B. sections into various football teams for inter-section football competition. The Rev.

John Elliott, at our last Church Parade, suggested everybody should play the game and not be fans, so Captain Phil is going to give all his boys a chance to learn the game every fine evening except Thursday, which is Battalion night, for the summer season, Tuesday's parade being cancelled. Captain Phil is now looking for a field—if anybody has a field to loan will they kindly offer it promptly? Our next Church Parade will be June 18 at the Cathedral. Ex-Captain Miles was a welcome visitor to the Armoury last night, taking an interest in his old boys. He is always a welcome guest at his old Headquarters. Portugal Cove and Bell Island Companies are applying for a loan of C. L. B. lantern slides which illustrate Brigade work in England. We have good news from Ponch Cove, the Rector, Rev. Arthur Tulk, is considering organizing a Company there. Lt. Col. Rendell and officers will help all they can as they feel sure that Ponch Cove Church folk can make a C. L. B. Company a decided success. Colonel Franklin, D.S.O., writes cheerfully from Nairobi, East Africa, under date of April 8th, he would like to visit his old Newfoundland C. L. B. Regiment again. His wounds still bother him considerably and he had been resting up in bed for ten days.

He, however, cheerfully and manfully carries on. He sends his congratulations to Lt. Colonel Walter Rendell for maintaining the standard of efficiency and carrying on so splendidly. He refers very kindly to the great work of the late Major Melville and the high plans of discipline laid down in 1882. This has always been the basis of our plans. The Pedlars' Parade last week was a great success, thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary. Miss Mary McKensie Bremner, who organized so well the Grand Musical March of the Pedlars, deserves a special merit of praise for her kindness in making this one of the most attractive items on the programme. We also thank the Pedlars' Orchestra, including Mr. Organ, the violinist, for their great assistance. The officers thank you, ladies and gentlemen, one and all.
