TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS.

Y. M. C. A.—The regular meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in their rooms this Thursday evening. The report with regard to the proposed Town Missionary will be brought forward. There will also be a reading. As this will be a very important meeting it is hoped there will be a large attendance of members.

West Ward Election.—The Mayor has issued his writ to the Returning Officer for the West Ward to hold an election for a Councillor in room of Mr. John McNeill. The election comes off on Thursday next. We understand that Mr. George Elliott has consented to be a candidate. He is an old Councillor, and has proved himself a very efficient one, and if elected will do good service to the Ward and town. Mr. Hatch's name has also been mentioned in connection with the election, but we are not aware whether or not he has consented to be a candidate.

Mr. EASTY'S READING.—Last night Mr. Easty gave the first of his two readings in the Town Hall. The audience though not numerous was larger than the reader had been led to expect. Guelph some how having an outside reputation for treating with indifference this style of intellectual entertainment. Mr Easty came to us with an excellent character as an elocutionist, and his efforts last evening fully redeemed the promise of his coming. This evening Mr Easty will give selections from Irish and American literature, and those who wish to enjoy a hearty laugh as well as to acquire some eloquent maxims and considerable mental pleasure will do well to be present. We sincerely hope that the attendance to-night will remove a stigma from the intellectualism of Guelph that we much fear has hitherto had but too good grounds for its existence.

PRESENTATION.—A number of the pupils in Miss Holmwood's school, who had been promoted at the late examination, took the opportunity before leaving of presenting her, on Tuesday afternoon, with a handsome inkstand and a number of other articles, accompanied by the following address:

GUELPH, Ont., March 27, 1872.
Miss Holmwood, Dear Teacher—We, your affectionate pupils, who are about to leave you, after considering the kindness which you have manifested towards us, and the deep interest which you, since your arrival amongst us, have taken in promoting our welfare and happiness, take great pleasure in presenting you with this inkstand, not for its intrinsic value, which we are aware is not much, but as a slight token of our regard for you as our most respected teacher. During the time we have been your pupils we feel that we have spent many happy hours together, and we trust you may be in some of the future as you have been in the past.
On behalf of the pupils, EMILY MADDOCK, BERTHA KEABLES, Miss Holmwood replied very feelingly, expressing her satisfaction with her pupils, her regret at parting from them and her thanks for the very handsome presents they had bestowed upon her. She trusted they would continue storing their minds with useful knowledge, and fit themselves for high positions in after life.

A combination between the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Panama Railway has been effected as a rival to the Union Pacific Railway.

Harrison Correspondence.

HARRISTON FAIR.—The fair last week, notwithstanding that many of the best cattle have been disposed of during the last few weeks, was at least an average one. The day was fair, and snow having fallen all the Thursday previous, all needful out of door work was suspended, and there was a very large attendance of farmers. Prices were not much improved, and a good number of the cattle were sold in a poor condition. Horse selling seemed lively and Mr Scott from Galt, took away with him eight very superior animals.

Sales noted as follows:—George Bramhill, 1 cow, $39; George Reuber, 1 steer $16, and 1 cow, $23; John Henry, 1 yearling, $10; Robt. Jose, 3 head $54; Alex. Bruce, 1 cow $22; James Connell, 3 head $165; Wm Gallagher, yoke-oxen $105; Wm Roberts, yoke do, $108; J. Davidson, yoke do, $77; Daniel Scott, yoke do $80; John Thompson, 1 cow $27; Geo. Rickard, 1 cow $50; S. Wilton, 1 heifer $15; A. McMaster, 2 head $38; Mal McMaster, yoke-oxen, $118; D. McMaster, do $90; Louis Wilkins, 1 cow, $20; G. Hood, yoke oxen, $135; Wm. Wallace, 2 cows $15; Malcolm McEachern, 1 cow, $50; W. Owen, 1 do, $18; J. C. Pudney, do $21; Alex. McDougall, yoke oxen, $108; Mr. McCullough, cow, $30; Thos. Conron, 1 steer, $35; Wills Carter, 1 cow, $27; Jas. Connell, 1 horse, $135; Robt. Harding, 1 do, $150; Jno. Wilkinson, 1 do, $175; Mr. Dockstader, year old colt, $120; Alex. McDougall, 1 do, $110; Joseph Hall, 1 do, $115; W. Rutherford, 1 span do, $200. The complaint for want of feed for cattle is becoming loud and prevalent.

ACCIDENT.—The Rev. Mr. Doelstaer came into the village on Saturday last, and having fastened his horse to a post in front of the post office, went to transact his business. In his absence the horse became frightened at a bus returning from the railway station and made some desperate plunges for liberty, throwing himself over and kicking a fine woman, and in a few moments succeeded in making good his escape, leaving the bridle and one of the reins on the stump. He dashed down Elora street, and ran against a sleigh, which, however, was not injured, but breaking one of the sashes and fender of the cutter which he was at the moment engaged in his homeward course unattended by Mr. Archibald Wright. The practice of fastening horses to posts is here still very common though dangerous. In a place like this where horses have been accustomed to railways, whistles and other noisy contrivances, it is not only more dangerous, but it is also more likely to result in some accident.

THE WEATHER.—The 1st of April, and more show than we had a week ago. Yesterday we had frosts and thaws alternately, but towards evening frost, snow and drift obtained the ascendancy, and to-day the Railway west, and sides lines are as badly drifted up as they have been at any time during the present winter. The mixed train from Cliffort due here at 8:15 a.m., succeeded in getting down about 12:45 a.m., but only got as far as Lang's cut near the cars drawn by two engines ran off the track. The up accommodation train due here at 2:15 had to remain at Drayton, to await the arrival there of the down one, and up to the latest hour to night nothing has been heard of it. Tuesday morning mail got in about 1 o'clock a.m., and the weather is again moderate.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES
Disraeli at Manchester.

Funeral of Prof. Morse.

Republican Victory in Rhode Island.

London, April 3.—Disraeli, who is on a visit to Manchester, addressed a Conservative meeting in the Free Trade Hall in that city this evening. Disraeli began by saying, "We have assembled here to protest in our resolution to uphold the constitution of the Kingdom. We have come together to talk of a programme for future action, which will not despoil churches nor plunder landlords, but further the interests of the great body of the people." He then went on to make an earnest defence of monarchy. To the throne, he said, must be ascribed the blessings which Englishmen enjoy. The sovereign does exercise a real influence. Monarchy was an institution around which in peril and adversity the people came rally. The English monarchy cost less than that of any other nation. The expense of the sovereignty of the United States, which embraces Congress and State Legislatures as well as the Executive system, was between 700,000 and 800,000 pounds sterling, double the total of the English civil list. He closed with a vindication of the authority and defence of the House of Lords as an essential element of government.

New York, April 4.—The funeral of Professor Morse will take place at 11 a.m. on Friday, from the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased has been for many years a member. The remains will be interred in Greenwood Cemetery.

New York, April 3.—Steamship Humboldt, which left New York yesterday for Stettin, returned to-night, having broken a flange of her propeller.

Judgment reserved. Mr. T. Mass, Q. C., and Mr. Lemon for Plaintiff. Hon. E. Blake, Q. C., and Mr. Watt, of Guthrie, Watt & Cutten, for Deft.

McGARRY vs. McGARRY.—A Bill for specific performance on the part of Patrick McGarry to procure a conveyance of 50 acres of land in Pilkington from his brother Bernard, having been in possession for over 20 years. Famine and its attendant pestilence, still continue their deadly work in Persia, and more especially in the large towns. The Government appears to be indifferent to the sufferings of the people. In Teheran, Isfahan and Shiraz, the famine still continues in all its intensity.

Death of Prof. Morse.

This celebrated electrician died on Tuesday, after a short but painful illness. He was born in 1791. In his earlier years he was a successful painter, but in 1829 his attention was turned to electricity, and the use it might be put to in conveying messages. In 1835 he demonstrated the practicability of his invention by completing and putting in operation in the New York University a model of his "Recording Electric Telegraph," the greater part of the apparatus having been made by himself. In 1837 he filed his patent at the patent office in Washington. The Americans claim that Prof. Morse was thus the inventor of the electric telegraph, but they carry their claims a little too far. Prof. Morse did not discover the principle, but applied it by an invention peculiarly his own. For this the world must give him credit. At the same time, it is only fair to European claimants to the discovery and application of this important agent of verbal intercommunication to state that Mr. Wheatstone, the English inventor of a magnetic telegraph, took out, in conjunction with Mr. W. F. Cooke, a joint patent in England in May, 1837; while Steinheil, in Bavaria, invented a system of his own about the same time, and both different from Morse's, and from each other. Wheatstone's system is in use in England and other parts of the world; Morse's system is in use throughout America; while Steinheil's system, from its complicated and expensive machinery, has been proved impracticable for extensive practical operation. Four years later the first line on this continent was completed. It extended from Baltimore to Washington. It is less than thirty-five years since that first line was opened up by day telegraph (orses are to be found in every hamlet in North America, the wire in use is many thousand miles in length, the receipts of the companies amount to millions each year, while the benefits the public reap from the system are beyond value.

The Niswari Tragedy.
The trial of Phoebe Campbell still continues. On Tuesday the evidence of Richard Blackmore, Wm. Craig, Mrs. Margaret Wiseman, Mary Craig, Charles Hutchison, Patrick Kelly, Thos. Gourlay, and Mr. Sutherland was taken. No startling disclosures were made, but the general tenor of the preceding evidence was corroborated. Thos. Gourlay, who went to Campbell's house after the murder, gave evidence that went strongly to show that one person had occupied the bed the night previously. It was elicited, however, on cross-examination, that his statement was not made until after the inquest; nor had he, at the time of making his observations, spoken to any other person on the subject. Mr. Sutherland, a shrewd old man, and who had early suspected the prisoner, described her apparently forced attempts to show grief and the absence of tears alluded to by other witnesses. He too had examined the bed, and swore that from its appearance, only one person could have slept in it. A model of the bed was produced, and as witness described how it was turned down on one side, the prisoner betrayed much emotion. The cross-examination did not shake his testimony, and he explained that his reason for not stating these facts at the inquest was, that he had known prisoner's family for years, and did not wish to have anything to do with the matter. The interest in the case appears to be increasing as the trial proceeds, the court being much crowded. The prisoner's firmness appears to be failing, but all through the proceedings on Wednesday she sat with her veil down, and her face buried in her handkerchief.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD OF TORONTO.—The Toronto Synod of the Canada Presbyterian Church began its regular yearly meeting in the Rev. Dr. Jennings' Church, on Wednesday evening. A sermon was preached by the retiring Moderator, the Rev. Mr. Rogers, of Peterboro; after which the Rev. Dr. Thomson, Oshawa, was unanimously elected Moderator, and took the chair.

KNOX COLLEGE.—This college was closed, on Wednesday. The attendance of students at this institution during the past session than in any of the previous ones since 1865. Nine Bursaries were awarded to different students and a special prize for excellence in reading New Testament in Greek. Mr. Campbell having lectured on Church History during the Session, was presented with a very kind and flattering address by Mr. Scribner in name of students, and he made a suitable and short reply.

DESERTING EMPLOYMENT.—At the Toronto Police Court John Auld was charged by the proprietor of the Telegraph with deserting employment. He had signed an agreement to work for a year. Mr. Barry, who appeared for the prisoner, asked permission for him to return to work, but the magistrate said that the prisoner had committed a flagrant breach of the law, for which he had the option of fine him $20 or of sending him to jail for 30 days. He sentenced the prisoner to 30 days imprisonment in the common goal.

EMIGRATION TO THE SASKATCHEWAN.—Emigration to this part of the North West seems to be receiving attention in Canada and not too soon either, as the French half-breeds here are making a move in the same direction. Many in the Province will move out there shortly, and a number of those who formerly were plain-traders and buffalo-hunters in that district, have resolved on selecting a location for a permanent settlement, and under the direction of their priest, are to take a large block of land suitable for that purpose between Carleton and Edmonton; so that the same effort will be made there as in Manitoba to secure the best parts of the country for the most population.

At Glasgow, Scotland, one ladie factory uses up 6,000 tons of sea wool every year.

THE HERALD'S PENNY WHISTLE.

The aspiring young Tory who now guides the destinies of the Herald is at present in a very troubled state of mind. The cause of it all is the holding of two meetings last week in Painsich by Mr Sturton. Most people would not doubt think that the holding of such meetings by a Member of Parliament on the eve of another session was a very proper proceeding. It is not so, however, with our perturbed confere. He can see nothing in all this but a desire for popularity, and a bid for the nomination at the next election. Under ordinary circumstances, we might feel inclined to quarrel with our young Tory aforesaid for looking at this matter from such a purely selfish point of view, but remembering from what quarter it emanates, we must make all due allowance. Selfishness being the great underlying quality in his composition, it would be unnatural to suppose that he would estimate any man's motives and actions by any other test than that which he employs in estimating his own. Then, we very much fear that jealousy and disappointed ambition have taken complete possession of this young and gushing exponent of old family compactism and elite Conservatism. It will yet be in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant of this good town that he once on a day by some fortuitous accident got himself elected a Town Councillor; that then by a lucky stroke of good fortune he was hoisted into the Deputy Reeve-ship. This last elevation was more than he could stand. The feeling began to haunt him by day, and it grew into conviction in his dreams by night, that he was a heaven-born legislator. And so he once on a time ran for Reeve—only, however, to meet with a most inglorious defeat. But this defeat did not teach him wisdom. The old Adam within him would assert itself—the old ambition would come uppermost, and visions of M. P. P., in large capitals, tacked to his name consoled his wounded spirit. For this he has been scheming and working, and now after all his plans were nicely laid, here comes David Sturton across his path, and the whole fabric of his dreams is shattered to atoms. No wonder that he raves and scolds by turns at the unheard-of impudence of Mr Sturton daring to hold a meeting without consulting him. No wonder that in his lame burlesque of these meetings his anger and disappointment are more apparent than the fun he seeks to evoke. In his running commentary on Mr Sturton's speech he turns up his nose at Mr Sturton's plebeian origin. We don't wonder at it. What else could be expected of one who has the purest and bluest and most aristocratic blood coursing through his veins—who does not know what honest labour is, and who prides himself more on the adventitious honours of parentage than on all the credit that attaches to a man who by the exercise of his own talents and labour, has unaided worked his way up in the world. He thinks that the compliment paid to a man for his honesty is rather an equivocal one. With most people it is not considered a such, but then as it is a mere commodity in that quarter, we are not surprised that he puts so little value on it. To some people honesty is not the best policy by a long way. He sneers at what a plain, conscientious man like Mr Sturton calls discharging his duty to the people. We would be safe in taking our all-lavir that our confere never felt any responsibility as to whether he discharged his duty or not. To look after himself and his motto, and if that is all right, then duty may take care of itself. Who talks about duty now-a-days but simple, well-meaning men like Mr Sturton? Our young Tory aspirants for office have reformed all such old-fashioned ethics. Their plan is to deceive the people by making profuse promises, and then when they get into office casting these to the wind, and following the course which will lead to their own individual benefit. Mr Sturton is accused of getting up these meetings in order to ensure his being brought out again as a candidate. Here, again, our confere has shot wide of the mark. As far as we can learn Mr Sturton is very indifferent whether or not he is brought out as a candidate. We fancy, had he consulted his own personal wishes and interests, as our confere always does, that he would long ago have given up public life, and devoted more attention to his own affairs. But of one thing we are very sure, that the electors in this Riding will never ask our friend of the Herald to fill his place, nor will they ask him who they should bring out at the approaching election. An attempt is also made to make fun of Mr Sturton's speeches. It is true Mr Sturton is not gifted with that flaming eloquence for which our confere is so distinguished, and which he is so anxious to air in our halls of legislation. But he always manages to give utterance to the thoughts within him, and he has not yet learned the art, as our neighbour has, of employing a multiplicity of words to conceal his meaning, or of revelling in verbiage to make up for paucity of performance. We are treated to another notice in the Herald of yesterday on the Morrison meeting, which possesses all the characteristics of the first tirade, but we have not space to review it to day. It is evident, however, that the man who controls the Herald is in a bad way, and we are afraid before all Mr Sturton's meetings are over, that his mental condition will require close looking after.

THE DEBENTURE QUESTION.—The Herald is merry over the refusal of the Government to allow our Municipality to issue debentures, and wonders how the Council is to get over the difficulty. We can assure him of one thing, that they won't ask his advice on the subject, and will get over this and all other difficulties without his help.

The Echo contains an article on the Union of Canada with Great Britain, in which it hints strongly that the connection between the two countries is artificial and intimates that Lord Dufferin is probably the last Viceroy of the Dominion. Bosh.

A writer in the London Canadian News believes that if the title of this great Confederation was changed from that of the "Canadian Dominion" into that of "The British North American Dominion," it would have the effect of bringing the whole of the British territory from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific into harmony.

It is pleasant to read of a plucky old woman in England, though her name is not given. Being upward of seventy years of age she had gone into Kensington Workhouse; but, appearing before the Board of Guardians, she declared herself still able to work as a cook, provided she had not to run up and down stairs. Some inquiry being made, a good place was obtained for this energetic dame at a salary of 29 per annum. The Pall Mall Gazette with true British solemnity says:—"This announcement was received by the Guardians with much satisfaction; the conduct of the old lady of Kensington seeming truly magnanimous." True as gospel!

ACCEPTED A CALL.—At a meeting of the Toronto Presbytery of the Canada Presbyterian Church, the call from the Men-Nab street Congregation, Hamilton, directed under the charge of Professor Inglis, was accepted by the Rev. D. H. Fletcher, Scarborough.
