That the Common Council was wasting too much time discussing matters which properly belonged to the Civic Hydro Commission was the statement made at the meeting of the Council today. Dr. Frink, head of the police department, at a committee meeting of the Council today. He indicated that there would be no necessity for the Civic Hydro Commission to remain in existence. The Mayor presided and all the commissioners were present. Roy A. Willett, accountant-secretary of the Hydro Commission, was also in the committee room.

At the opening of the meeting the Mayor announced that he had requested a conference with the C. P. R. regarding the tracks in German street, however had been out of the city and the Mayor said he would get in touch with him on his return.

His Worship explained that an amount of $344,000, listed by the Civic Hydro Commission, was to be used for the construction of a hydro-electric station on the sub-station erection, consisting of charges of $400,000 in unit work, was underestimated and $270,000 for transporting and installing some equipment.

The Mayor said that the proposed conference between the City and the N. B. Power Commission could not be held at present on account of the absence of C. O. Foss from the city, but it was expected that he would return tonight and the meeting might then be arranged.

His Worship also said he had a further communication from the Gryo Club in connection with the appointment of Charles Gorman to a civic position. His subject had promised to refer the matter to the other commissioners.

The McLaughlin Co. had appealed against their assessment and other conditions in Canada.

The girls farmers were chaperoned on their trip across the Atlantic by Miss Stella Wolfe Murray, an English newspaper woman. On her arrival at Quebec, she was met by the Mayor and returned back to a glorious goose to the time when General Murray, ancestor of Miss Murray, was one of Wolfe's most trusted friends and captives. It was in his arms that the general was killed at the battle of the Clouds, and as he lay dying in Murray's arms, he turned to her and said, "You'll kill the boy after me."

Murray was proud to do so, and his son followed in his footsteps. The general became a family name, and at length not only were the sons of the general named after the general, but also the daughters as well.

Ossining, N. Y., May 28.—Robert P. Brindell, former head of the New York Building Trade Council, now serving a term in Sing Sing prison for extortion, was placed in solitary confinement yesterday after Warden Lewis surprised him in conversation with members of his family outside the prison walls. Brindell, who was working with the yardmaster's squad had been sent under guard to a jail within the prison house some distance from the main cell block. There it was said, his wife, daughter and son visited him. The warden, notified of the visit, ordered the guard to be informed that an automobile had been seen to stop there.

New York, May 28.—While talking over the long-distance telephone to his wife at Liberty, N. Y., Vincent W. McArdle, aged twenty-eight, drew a revolver and shot himself through the head. He died a few minutes later.

I cannot live with you any longer because of your fainting spells. I am so nervous wreck. Please use horse sense and do not call me on the phone any more. If you can come and visit me, come along."

Investigators said Mrs. McArdle told them over the telephone that she had repeated to her husband the substance of the letter and that he had answered, "You will be sorry for what you have done. Listen to this."

CHAMBERLAIN AND PARTY UNITY

Interesting Story of What New Premier Encountered

Said That Horne and Worthington-Evans Both Held Back for Post for Austen—Alleged Threats of Some Ministers.

London, May 28.—(Canadian Press)—An interesting story of Premier Baldwin's efforts to re-establish unity in the Conservative party is unfolded by the Daily Mail in a chronological recap of events since last Thursday.

Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor, who was the only co-ordinator of his party's efforts to re-establish unity in the Conservative party, is unfolded by the Daily Mail in a chronological recap of events since last Thursday.

Somehow surprised at this attempt to hold a pistol to his head, the Premier took this as a refusal, but in pursuing to discuss more than office at a time and suggested that Sir Lansing Worthington-Evans could take the position of Postmaster-General to Sir Lansing Worthington-Evans, who had been in the office since last Thursday.

Premier Baldwin made it clear, the Mail continues, that he was not disposed to discuss more than office at a time and suggested that Sir Lansing Worthington-Evans could take the position of Postmaster-General to Sir Lansing Worthington-Evans, who had been in the office since last Thursday.

What happened when Austen Chamberlain visited the Premier yesterday wrapped in obscurity, the Mail says, but a phrase in Chamberlain's letter in connection with the matter, "Chamberlain's intervention" is eloquent of the influence within the cabinet still hostile to the return of ex-constituents.

"Indeed it is openly stated that several of the Ministers, the Mail says, 'have threatened with varying degrees of directness to resign if the Chamberlainites are brought back.'

U. S. Tries to Meet Position of Other Powers on Prohibition Matters.
Washington, May 28.—Efforts will be inaugurated today by the U. S. treasury officials to reconvene the proposed prohibition recommendations with the position taken by the five foreign powers which have expressed the views of the State Department in connection with the recent Supreme Court decision having liquor from U. S. territorial waters.

There was evidence of a desire on the part of the government to temper the rigidity of the laws, a new construction in the interest of the comity of nations, but that there was no unwarranted interference with international intercourse. Treasury spokesmen declared they were willing to construct the court decision as liberally as may be legally and safely done in meeting the stand of Great Britain, Spain, Italy, France and the Netherlands.

MATRIMONIAL STORMS ARE ENDED AS NOTED STAGE STARS MARRY

EDITH DAY, MUSICAL COMEDY FAVORITE, AND PAT SOMERSET, ENGLISH ACTOR, WED AT LAST AND END INTERNATIONAL DIVORCE FEUD.

Greenwich, Conn., May 28.—The troubles of Pat Somerset and Edith Day are happily ended. Somerset's wife, Margaret Hammerman, obtained a divorce from him in London, naming Miss Day as co-respondent. This was after they had started together in London. When Miss Day returned to America, and was followed soon afterwards by Somerset, Carl Carlton, then Miss Day's husband, threatened to have Somerset deported and did bring proceedings against him before the immigration authorities in New York. A short time ago the Carlton-Day divorce became effective. Two days later she married her former leading man here, the ceremony being performed by Judge Albert S. Mead. This ended the international feud, apparently satisfactory to all concerned. Miss Day married Carlton, noted actor-manager and producer, in 1919.

Her rise to theatrical fame was largely due to his efforts. He "discovered" her and gave her a part in one of his productions. Her advance was rapid. Then she went to London and was started there in "Irene" with Somerset as her leading man. Off-stage he won a place in her affections and soon displaced Carlton. Carlton made a bitter attempt to prevent the English actor being received in America, but later relented and even attempted to withdraw the deportation proceedings. But the dapper favorite of the Strand avoided deportation and New York buzzed with talk of the tangled romance, and thrilled at the announcement of the determined pair that they would marry as soon as it was legally possible.

U. S. TO URGE OPIUM RESTRICTION PACT ON LEAGUE COMMISSION

Delegates at Fifth Session in Geneva Ask Prompt Hearing on Hughes Plan to Limit Narcotic Output.

Geneva, May 28.—The fifth session of the Opium Commission opened last week at the League of Nations headquarters here with nine countries represented, including the United States, whose delegates are Representative Stephen V. Porter of Pennsylvania, Right Rev. C. H. Brent and Dr. Rupert Blue, with Edwin L. Neville of the State Department as expert.

According to the Havana Agency it is understood that the American delegation will ask for an immediate reduction in the production of opium in the British Empire, Turkey and Persia, and reduction in the manufacture of cocaine in the principal producing countries, which are Peru, Bolivia and Holland.

The participation of the Americans was the dominant feature of the opening session. An official letter to the secretary general from Mr. Porter, as head of the American delegation, read at a private meeting of the committee, gave notice that, at the direction of Secretary of State Hughes, certain proposals concerning the traffic in drugs, representing the views of the American Government, would be laid before the committee. Mr. Porter requested an early opportunity to be heard. He said Mr. Neville would present technical details regarding American legislation, and that it was hoped would result in a mutual understanding.

DRAGGED BY A HORSE THROUGH SHOP WINDOW
Policeman Badly Hurt Trying to Stop a Runaway in Fifth Avenue.

New York, May 28. — Patrolman Philip Mesall of the West 126th Street Station is in Harlem Hospital with badly bruised face, neck and hands as a result of an attempt to stop a runaway horse attached to a delivery wagon of Samuel Cohen. The horse started at 109th street and Fifth avenue and did not come to a halt until it had smashed the plateglass window in Woodworth's five and ten cent store at Fifth avenue and 118th street.

Cohen, who stuck to his seat throughout, was not injured, but the patrolman, who made a leap for the horse as it passed the school crossing at 111th street and Fifth avenue, was dragged along the ground and through the plateglass window.

Sergeant Hillman and Deputy Police Commissioner John Daly picked Mesall out of the wreckage, placed him in a police automobile and took him to Mount Sinai Hospital. Later he was transferred to Harlem Hospital.

The streets were crowded with children on their way to Public School 170, on 111th street, between Fifth and Lenox avenues. Patrolman Mesall, on duty at the crossing, motioned to the children crossing the street to hurry to the sidewalks and then made a leap for the horse.

Laxative Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

Try it when a Laxative is needed and see the wonderful results

IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and cool-lax in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger.

People should realize that mercury may salivate in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.

You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will realize that mercury may salivate in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause dermatitis and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause lassitude.

ANT FAMILY MAY TRY IT, FREE
Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy medicine that every one in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try my Laxative Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an immediate trial. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 31 Caldwell Building, Toronto, Ont. Do it now!

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant tasting aromatics, and does not cramp or grip. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The names of all the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. Geo. Reeve, of Galt, Ontario, writes Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin with good results and is greatly pleased with it; and Mrs. K. Jennings, of Toronto, Ont., finds it very satisfactory. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family try it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

It Doesn't Mean Me This talk about four in every five needing glasses sounds good to me, but I needn't pay any more attention to it, for it only goes to show I am the fortunate fifth who sees well enough without.

So many think they are the fortunate fifth instead of hearing the good news from the only competent judge, a good Optometrist. Nearly everybody has a ton of faith in the condition of their eyes, and all because they haven't seen the difference glasses make.

So they go on being one of the four. Run in any minute and get checked up. The years will reward your caution. L. L. Sharpe & Son (Registered Optometrists) 21 King St.

CALLING A HALT.

The expected has happened in connection with the strike of the bricklayers in New York for a rate of ten dollars per day for the next three years. Loans for building purposes have practically been suspended. This however, will not apply to loans for dwellings needed as a matter of public relief, nor buildings needed for emergency reasons; and those who are contracted for a period of several years. It is declared that "the present situation in regard to the supply of building materials and labor has become such that a contractor can no longer estimate with satisfactory accuracy what new work will finally cost."

"The result of this stand adopted by the loaning companies, in one banking official's opinion, will be to distribute the building programme at present in progress over a period of several years. His comment on the request made by the American Construction Council, that banks curtail building loans until fall, was that the situation is now such that this would afford only temporary relief, simply postponing the problem for a few months. A drastic step, such as the retrenchment of all loaning until building can be done economically, to which the banks have now been led, is, he said, the only real solution of the difficulty."

The Bricklayers' Union, however, is not worrying over the situation. Its secretary asserts that quite a number of contractors have signed an agreement to pay twelve dollars a day for two years, and he says the Mason Builders' Association is unfair and unreasonable. The latter has offered to arbitrate the ten dollar rate, but the union refuses to accept arbitration. The excessive and also uncertain cost of building has therefore led to a decision of the banks, and loan companies to withhold money until a more satisfactory condition of affairs is brought about.

Of course the ten or twelve dollars per day does not tell the whole story, since the evidence shows that with higher wages has come a smaller day's work. The number of bricks laid per man per day is much smaller than formerly, and the union takes care that the number of bricklayers does not increase so rapidly as to put any man's job in jeopardy. And, while the dispute goes on, the people who have no money to lend, or to purchase a house, or even to pay an exorbitant rent, are the real sufferers. They might well wish that they were other members of a Loan Association or a Bricklayers' Union.

The English people of today do not blame the founders of the American Republic for the Revolution. Their view was expressed last week by Dr. Ernest Barker, Principal of King's College, London University. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University had said in an address on American history, delivered in the Mansion House, London, that the break with the Mother Country was inevitable, because of America's consciousness of nationality. Dr. Barker, on the other hand, said he was still convinced that if English political and statesmen of the revolutionary period had been equal to the emergency the break would never have occurred. Dr. Barker's view is fortified by the fact that none of the other portions of the Empire nationally to get out of the Empire, as might have been the case had not British politicians and statesmen shown more wisdom than those of the time of George the Third.

At the time of the last coal strike in the United States it was declared that because too many mines were operated they could not all work full time, and therefore the miners had to demand higher wages for the time they were able to get work. Addressing the Board of Trade of Yonkers, N. Y., last week, a representative of the United Mine Workers asserted that four thousand coal mines could be closed and 800,000 miners sent to other industries and there could still be more coal produced than the country needed. If this is true, it would seem that a degree of Government regulation of the industry would be in the public interest.

The strikes and riotous proceedings in the Ruhr district make France's task there much more difficult. If chaos does not come the trouble will certainly be prolonged and the outcome rendered more uncertain by the attitude of the miners, and especially by the activity of the Communists. France went jauntily into the Ruhr, but the difficulties confronting her are far more serious than she had anticipated.

The British Parliament meets today after a recess, and the new Premier will face the House of Commons. He has failed in his efforts to re-ignite the Conservative party, and must face vigorous, if not united, opposition.

THE SNOBS.

His Play—Of all the weaknesses of the human character—Oh, don't make a face—the vice of snobbery is the worst. You, you women are the priests of the world. You have fifty-seven varieties of class distinction based on such idiotic pretensions as how much a woman's husband earns; whether her grandfather was born in Paris, Maine, or Paris, France; whether she plays bridge, cribbage or thump-thump whether her son is in public school or an academy. Now a man doesn't stand for that sort of snobbery at all. He judges another man by what that man is—not what influences may be attached to him. Why don't you women reform?

Her Counter-Play—We will, dear heart as soon as you men stop joining silly secret societies which you seem to think gives you special distinction. And we haven't yet taken up golf. Is there any snobbery more profound than that evidenced in the attitude of the man who owns a Bolle-Joyce toward the other man who drives a Buick? And you dare to talk to me about snobbery—Tut-tut, my dear.

The Reference—Tut-tut is right. So wins.

LILACS.

(Elizabeth Scollard in New York Herald.) Today along the gray streets of the town The flower vendors wander up and down, Some offer pansy, rose or violet, And those who pause in passing halt to get.

The city that is surging like a sea About them with a dull monotony.

I come to one who shows me plume on plume Of fragrant white and purple lilac bloom.

Little he guesses as I take a spray That for me all the loveliness of May hides in this flower whose scent can bear me far Down country ways where other lilacs are.

Blowing along the western wall above A garden which I used to know and love.

There drifts again fraught with the perfume of those blossoms in the rain.

How they would glimmer through the silver mist Woven of silver and of amethyst.

A pay my trifling sum; I cannot tell The man who has these bits of bloom to sell.

That he has parted with the priceless key Which can unlock the door of Memory.

A book agent, approaching a negro running an elevator, tried to convince him he needed a certain book on mechanical engineering.

"No, boss, don't want no books. Don't got no time for readin' books."

"It eks all mah time to run dis elevator."

"But this book will help you to run your elevator. See here; there's a whole chapter here on elevators," persisted the canvasser.

"Don't want no help to run dis elevator," said the darky. "Dis elevator runs all right now."

"But," said the canvasser, "this will help you to run it better. You will know twice as much when you get through."

"No, boss, no, dat's just it," returned the darky. "Don't want to learn nothin' boss," he said. "Why, boss, I know more now than I get paid for."—From "The Americanization of Edward Bok."

The Advisory Board of the Waterloo Street Baptist Church met on Saturday evening with the pastor, Rev. J. A. Swetnam, as the chairman. It was agreed to adjourn on account of the death of one of the members of the board, George Earle. There were many expressions of regret and of sympathy for the bereaved expressed by members of the board and it was decided to send a floral offering for the funeral.

AN APPRECIATION OF ANDREW BONAR LAW

(Ottawa Journal) Mr. Bonar Law is commonly depicted as a dour Calvinistic Scot, a typical ironmaster from Glasgow, and he is an easy-going, friendly, tolerant soul, a man with a touch of melancholy, shy and reserved, yet with whimsical smile that suggests anything but hardness. In the British House and Press Gallery they call him "Old Iron," which is not a term of contempt—he is one of the best liked men in politics—but only an indication of his business interests. There is iron in him, too. He looks frail, shy, timid; but he is a quiet, stubborn fighter, indomitable in argument, and with something of iron about his stiff attitude, clenched hands, cramped little stiff gestures, when he speaks. His voice is poor, without cadences, but penetratingly sincere and convincing because of that, and his brain is as clear as a bell and his speech extraordinarily fluent. He is declared to have as marvelous a memory as Lord Birkenhead, and an amazing talent for dealing with facts and figures.

Bonar Law slipped unobtrusively into Parliament in the Khaki election of 1900. He was a member of the Conservative Unionist party composed mainly of squires and property-owning industrialists was knit together by the single touch of Tariff Reform. Mr. Law knew nothing and cared less about the mass of Unionist principles. He was a man of letters, a man of letters in the truest sense of the word. He was the only man who could convincingly demonstrate in a matter of minutes the soundness of his own views, especially in relation to Imperial unity. Wherefore the single touch of Tariff Reform, in his manner, his intellect, his philosophy, his doubts, took him to its heart. At a House of Commons leader he was not an instant success. Unaccustomed to the subtleties and artifices of Parliament, he had a disconcerting habit of blurting out his mind. But through Mr. Asquith's secret aid in the "new style" and notwithstanding the oddness of some of his followers, Mr. Law went on. He was painstaking, earnest, sincere, and very soon the Liberal ministers took to him. He was trained in business, was known only to a limited circle a few years before he became a member of the party of the Church, the Aristocracy, and the Land.

He had much in common with Lloyd George. In 1916 he carried the Unionist vote to the latter and made the Georgian coup. Beaverbrook, his friend and enthusiastic supporter, helped—a slight return for all that his erstwhile friend had done for him when he descended upon England as mere Max Aitken. Thrown into industry and industry he was a man of letters, and the separation following the first illness, and resignation from the Coalition broke the spell, and the Carlton Club rebellion with its brilliant success, killed the possibility of the friendship being resumed on its old basis of genuine affection.

PRINTING THE NEWS.

(Boston Herald)

We like Willis J. Abbot, the editor of our esteemed contemporary, Christian Science Monitor. We know of no newspaper man in America more versatile and accomplished. In a paper in Chicago the other day before the Medill School of Journalism, which the Associated Press "spitfully" published, he said: "A newspaper in any city can start a crime wave by 'accident' or by 'intentional' means. It is important if true. Every time a man goes to the printer, whether he walks on railroad tracks. Many persons were killed in that way, but we were well grown up before we realized that it was a bad practice, and so abandoned it. Now the railroads have inflated the country with posters picturing track-walking accidents, which are the most effective of any in the line of disaster of this kind. The railroads are now placing their posters with warnings against grade crossing accidents, with terrifying pictures of the locomotive bearing down on the unprotected motor car. Does this publicity promote accidents? Does it cause thinking about a thing of this kind create more of it? If not, why should it be different from a crime wave?"

There was a shocking and gruesome tragedy in South Carolina the other day, which a number of school children and their parents were burned to death. We do not like to print such a story. We share the disorientation of our neighbor, the Monitor, in this regard. That estimable journal made no mention whatever in its columns of the disaster. We should have been glad to do the same thing, but we are a newspaper, and we are bound to report the terrible happening, believing that school committees and superintendents of cities and towns would look with renewed diligence over their schoolhouses with a view to the three things which are the most important at Collingwood or Ashblair, incidentally directing scrutiny to existing conditions. We have an idea if no one ever heard of such disasters as these, things would be allowed to lapse into such conditions that we should have many more of them instead of fewer. It is true that bad things go out of existence when and because the newspapers cease to talk about them. This is exceedingly important. True, this is the one compelling and all-important question.

Laing, now Dean of the Faculty of Arts and head of the department of classics in McGill University, Montreal, who was recently appointed Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Literature in the University of Chicago, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters from the University of Toronto on June 7. Dean Laing, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Toronto and that of Doctor of Philosophy from Johns Hopkins, was formerly chairman of the Department of Latin at Chicago and general editor of the University Press. For ten years he has been vice-president of the Archaeological Institute of America, and has also been president of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South.

A POET PASSES.

There passed out of the life of Nova Scotia yesterday a pure and noble soul. William Edward Marshall was a native poet whose genius will endure as one of our choicest literary possessions. His "Brookfield" has been appraised as deserving a high place in English literature. His lyric poems and literary essays entitle him to worthy rank in the company of Canadian writers. He was a loyal son of Nova Scotia. His whole life was lived within sight of his southern coast, which gave him birth. He loved it as the homeland with the tenderness of a refined and sensitive nature. He was a man of retiring disposition, simple tastes and exceeding modesty, yet he lived in the company of high ideals; he had communion with truth and beauty in his daily experience. Mr. Marshall's death at an age when his ripened culture and artistry promise still finer creations, will be lamented as a great loss to Canadian letters, but it is in the circle of his family and the friends who knew the man and experienced the joy of the kindness and goodness that radiated from his serene and gentle heart that his death will cause the poignant of a personal grief. He leaves behind him the sweet and blessed memory of a true and good man, of a life spent in serving truth and beauty.

The late Mr. Marshall was a man of notable gifts for creative work in the fine arts. He modelled in clay busts of the late F. B. Wade and the Hon. Joseph Howe. The Howe sculpture was purchased by a Nova Scotian lady, and is now in the collection of the late Mr. Marshall's family. He achieved a reputation as a lyric poet in 1909 when he published a volume of lyric poems and legends in verse, which at once established his reputation for fine artistry in the lyric. Ten years later he published "Brookfield and Other Poems." This volume, especially the monody "Brookfield," increased his reputation as an original poet and artist in verse. "Brookfield" was acclaimed by some of the leading literary critics of the United States and Canada to be among the finest three-act plays in English language. He had in preparation for publication a volume of his literary essays and addresses, and it is regrettable that he passed before he saw the work published. He was an ardent collector of "Canadiana," and had a special collection of the work of the American abolitionist, William Lloyd Garrison, whose parents were natives of New Brunswick, and had lived at Grandville Ferry, N. S., before moving to the United States. A man of gentle and retiring disposition, sensitive to natural beauty, and always solicitous about the craftsman's hand of his verse, the man appears in all his poetry; and it is indubitable that the late W. E. Marshall's poetry will find an enduring place in the literature of Canada. His death causes an inestimable loss to Canadian letters.

HARDING'S SUMMER TOUR TO BE MOST EXTENSIVE YET MADE BY PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT WARREN G. HARDING AND MRS. HARDING, WHO WILL ACCOMPANY HIM ON TRANSCONTINENTAL TRIP TO ALASKA, RETURNING VIA PANAMA. MAP SHOWING PRESIDENT'S ITINERARY AND CITIES AT WHICH HE WILL SPEAK DISCUSSING A DIFFERENT SUBJECT IN EACH.

Washington, May 28.—The longest trip yet undertaken by any President of the United States will be the tour to be made by President and Mrs. Harding this summer. This is with the sole exception of the two trips to Europe made during the war by President Wilson. President Harding, however, will visit only American possessions. Leaving Washington about June 20, the presidential party will swing through the west, stopping at St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, either San Diego or Los Angeles or both, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. He will make a different speech in each city, talking on agriculture, business conditions and prosperity, railroads, the work of the government, conference, achievements in the Pacific, and economy.

As an example of the economy of the President himself, the party will not use the Mayflower, the presidential yacht, when he leaves Seattle but will proceed to Alaska in a regular naval vessel engaged in routine work, returning in the same way. And although it is planned to take a navy transport down the west coast to the Panama Canal and back to Washington by water, the President plans that if there is no transport sailing through the canal he will return to Washington by rail.

As there are several transports on the west coast, however, and one of them is needed on the Atlantic coast, it will be an easy matter to accommodate the distinguished passenger. It is hoped that Mrs. Harding's complete return to health will be assisted by the sea voyage.

Should the President come home through the West Indies he will probably visit Porto Rico. He will be accompanied by three cabinet members and their wives.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Mundee-Galbraith.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Galbraith, 184 Charlotte street, West End, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 4 o'clock on Saturday when their daughter, Miss Rhoda Galbraith, was united in marriage with Oliver Mundee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett T. Mundee, Prince street, West End, by Rev. W. Alvin Robbins. The bride was attired in a traveling suit of sand-colored pique with hat to match and a beaver scarf, the gift of the groom, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. After a reception and supper at the house, Mr. and Mrs. Mundee left on the S. S. Governor Dingley for Boston, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will reside at 384 Duke street, West End. Many presents were received, among them being a handsome reading lamp from the staff of the West St. John office of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, where the bride was supervisor. The groom is a transfer for the McCormack Manufacturing Company, of London, Ont. He served overseas as a member of the Second Divisional Artillery under Lieut-Col. W. H. Harrison.

For seventeen months he had been ill with tuberculosis.

All that loving hearts could supply in the way of care and treatment proved of no avail. The deceased was a very popular young man, his pleasant disposition and winning manner making him a favorite amongst his acquaintances. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Helen Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Murphy, of Sydney, and one daughter, Lois, four years old.

The members of the sorrowing family who survive are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conway, and five brothers—Rev. E. J. Conway, parish priest, Devon, N. B.; M. J. Conway, Canadian Press, Limited, St. John;

CELEBRATION AT GRAND PRE

A Feature on Aug. 9 Will be Unveiling of Statue of the Madonna.

The "Land of Evangeline" is to become the scene of another celebration on August 9. At a meeting of the Grand Pre Memorial Committee held in Moncton last week, arrangements were made for an excursion to Grand Pre on that day. Special trains will carry people from all points in Nova Scotia to the little town whence, the long suffering Acadians were deported by the English many years ago, and it is anticipated that people will join the excursionists from all parts of the Dominion.

One feature of the programme will be the unveiling of a statue of the Madonna, which will be erected in recognition of the noble work accomplished by the Acadian National Society L'Assomption, the Madonna being the patron saint of this society. The statue, which is 7 1/2 feet high, rests on a six foot base, has great beauty of design and is said to be the best of its kind on the North American continent.

As there is a general scarcity of money in Acadia the interior of the Memorial Church will not be completed this year, but F. J. Robitoux, K.C., A. D. Legre, K.C., Chas. D. Hebert, A. D. Cormier, and F. G. J. Comeau have been appointed a committee to collect Acadian relics and souvenirs for the Grand Pre museum, and to obtain if possible further works of art that the interior of the institution be in keeping with the statue.

BIG GAIN MADE IN PORT BUSINESS

The business of the port of St. John took a jump of nearly $50,000 for the year ended March 31, 1923 over the previous year, according to figures received from Ottawa by the Board of Trade. The exports showed a gain of $6,378,295 for last year, offsetting a loss of $681,288 in the import business. The totals for the two years were as follows:—1922 exports, $55,127,568; 1923 exports, $20,851,801; 1922 imports, $49,740,273; 1923 imports, $21,269,386.

In this connection another communication received by the local board commands some interest. It was from the Port Colborne Board of Trade and passed through the local board. The total quantity was in the vicinity of $3,500,000 bushels and, of this about 2,000,000 bushels were shipped via Portland, Me., about 600,000 bushels were sent via St. John and the rest went through the port of Montreal. It will be seen that St. John received a very small proportion, in comparison with what went to Montreal. On the other hand, however, the communication stated that a considerable amount of the grain shipped by Montreal was from U. S. centres.

The Very Sad Tale of A Sunday Excursion

Life on St. John Street Cars a Stimulating If Not Fearful Adventure.

A citizen boarded a street car in King street yesterday afternoon. At Paradise Row he changed cars for Haymarket Square, and with many others clung to a strap all the way. Boarding an East St. John car, he was again, with many others, a strap-hanger. A second car followed immediately after, also jammed with people. At one of the East St. John stops the first car halted to discharge a passenger. The second car, close behind, could not be stopped quickly enough. There was a bump that nearly carried those who were standing off their feet, a crash of glass, and a chorus of screams from the women and children. One of the women was carried from the car into the shed, where she presently recovered, but did not re-enter the car. An appraisal of the damage showed head-light and some window glass in the car-ends broken and fenders twisted. The first car soon got away, and after a little the second one, and traffic was resumed, although not without incident. Returning to the city the two cars were again jammed, and the citizen and many others went to Haymarket Square. They did the same on the car to the head of King street, and on the car two young men who were considerably under the influence of liquor enjoyed the journey. At the head of King street there was no car to connect with the south end, and the citizen walked.

Altogether a Sunday afternoon street car excursion in St. John is a stimulating if not fearful adventure. As a demonstration of public utility efficiency it is a laugh. Some motorists, however, are thoughtful. They run past Paradise Row corner some distance along Main street, so that transfers for Haymarket Square who may have been seated may stretch their legs and limber up for the next stage of the journey.

REMINDER OF H. L. SPENCER.

Looking through a copy of the Halifax Chronicle of Aug. 1st, 1871, Allison Wisart discovered an advertisement, which recalls the memory of H. L. Spencer, more famous as a poet than as a man of business. The advertisement reads:—"Puritan Syrup, nature's own vitalizer; an iron tonic for dyspepsia, debility, dropsy, humors. Caution: All genuine has name Puritan Syrup, not Peruvian Bark, blown in the glass. A 32 page pamphlet sent free. J. P. Denton, proprietor, 88 Dey St., New York. Sold by all druggists. H. L. Spencer, St. John, N. B., general agent for the Maritime Provinces."

Mr. Spencer was one of the sufferers in the great fire of 1871, his business being completely wiped out. Later he engaged in newspaper work and some years before his death published his book of poems, The Puffins.

On his return he will remain in this city a few days and no doubt will have something interesting to tell of his recent visit.

FOR HAVING REVOLVER.

Cecil H. Wiggins pleaded guilty this morning to carrying a revolver without a permit. E. S. Ritchie, who appeared for him, said that the accused had not known that it was against the law to carry firearms. He had been arrested at 320 this morning and his explanation for being out at that time was that he drove a taxi for his brother. He would undertake not to repeat the offense. The accused was fined $50 and the fine allowed to stand.

WILL NOT PROSECUTE.

The Rev. George Scott of the Children's Aid Society this morning investigated the case in which it was alleged that a prominent citizen kicked a little boy in Union street last Friday night. The boy's parents said there were no marks on the child. There had been a particularly heeled scar on his forehead which was opened again when he fell on the sidewalk. The father said the driver of the car in question had come to him on Saturday and had talked the matter over. He admitted he was in fault and said he was sorry for what had happened. The father consented that he would not prosecute that he did not desire to prosecute.

The closing meeting for the season of the Methodist Ministerial Association was held this morning in Centenary church, with Rev. J. M. Rice presiding, and adjourned until September 10th. It was reported that Rev. J. K. Colter of Fredericton, the oldest minister in this Methodist conference, had passed away. The secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Colter.

Dignan, honorary president, a distinguished Canadian artist whose work has been seen in the Art Department of St. John exhibitions. It is anticipated that Mrs. Dignan will spend a few days in St. John on Wednesday. Mrs. Raymond's guest, either going or coming from the Halifax convention, has a fine home and gardens of its own in Toronto, and devotes a great deal of attention to the development of a general interest in art in Canada.

CAME TO HIMSELF IN MONTREAL HOTEL

Harold Arthurs Suffered a Lapse of Memory— Was Missing Since Last Monday.

The good news came to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Arthurs this morning that their son, Harold, who disappeared last Monday, was safe in Montreal. His father's theory of the case was correct. The young man had suffered a lapse of memory, due to over-study, and had come to himself last Friday in a Montreal hotel. On examining the hotel register he found that he had signed "S. Hart, Halifax." His own initials are S. H. The clerk told him on enquiry that there had not seemed to be anything wrong with him when he went to the hotel last Tuesday. He at once wrote to his parents and they received the letter this morning.

The family had not been worried until Friday last, as they believed he was at his camp at Blackall's Lake. When they learned he was not there the police were notified and a systematic search begun at the lake and elsewhere, but no trace was found. This morning the mystery was solved.

Mr. Arthurs says Harold had been taking three different courses of study and giving them too much attention for the good of his health, and his own first thought, which proved to be correct, when he learned of the young man's disappearance, was that he had suffered a lapse of memory. Fortunately he had funds enough to pay his way and will return home this week.

DECISION IN THE PROBATE COURT

Judgment in Matter of Estate of Catherine Haggerty and Various Claims.

In the probate court this morning His Honor Judge McInerney gave judgment in the matter of the estate of Catherine Haggerty, spinster, lately an employe in the Lancaster Hospital, personally $3,041.75. She had died intestate and as there were apparently no relatives to probate the estate the crown took the matter in hand and administration was granted to S. S. Skinner. Claimants to relationship came forward upon the issuing of citations, claims being presented by James and George McInerney, Annie Flynn and Mrs. Margaret Gallagher of this city, John Shields of Beachmont, Mass., Elizabeth Grace of the same place, four children of Patrick Shields, deceased, namely, Mary and Lydia of Doverchester; Margaret of Beachmont and Catherine of Chelsea.

The court heard considerable evidence having to do with the various claims to relationship and issued a commission to take evidence in Boston, which was executed. His Honor found that there was not sufficient evidence to establish relationship in the claim of James and George McInerney, but that the claims of the others were proved. A decree was accordingly made this morning in their favor and distribution of the proceeds of the estate. B. S. Smith was proctor and the various claimants were represented by W. M. Ryan, J. J. MacRae and E. J. Henneberry.

HENS CACKLE IN EVIDENCE IN POLICE COURT

West End Charge of Stealing Two from C. W. Earle.

James Boyd pleaded not guilty this morning to breaking and entering the henhouse of C. W. Earle, St. James street, and stealing two hens valued at $4. Policeman Hatt told of receiving a call from Mr. Earle and going with the patrol to the premises of Mr. Boyd where he had found the accused and Mr. Earle in the yard. There had been a hole in the wire fencing and nearby was a bag containing two hens. This was on Saturday night about 11.30. The hens were produced in court this morning amid much cackling and were identified by the complainant as his property.

Mr. Earle said he had heard the cackling of the hens on Saturday night and that he had seen the accused and got his brother to go into the yard and secure the man while he watched him. The wire of the henhouse had been broken and the door open. The accused was remanded.

The magistrate directed that the hens be returned to their owner at once as there was no provision for feeding them at the police station and there was no need of "fowl" play.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

"Cap" Plunkett Himself In This Year's Show

Captain M. W. Plunkett, or "Meri," as he is better known to his many friends in Canada, is making his first public appearance as an entertainer since the old days in France, in his "Dumbells" revue, "Carry On," which comes to the Imperial June 6 and 7. His return to the footlights after four years of attending strictly to the managerial and production end of his company, is about in an unusual way. Last summer he wrote a song called "Come Back Old Pal" which was popular in the old days. He has now written a new "Dumbells" show. When rehearsals started for "Carry On" he tried out several boys in the number, but none of them seemed to get the exact idea of what he wanted to "put over" in the song. Finally he went back stage and asked the musical director to play it over while he demonstrated what he wanted brought out in the song. When he had finished the first verse and chorus there was a burst of applause from the boys who insisted that he both keep the song in and do it himself.

"Carry On" has since proved to be one of the biggest musical numbers in the new show, and to satisfy the repeated demand for an encore he has written a new song, "The Old Pal," which is on the stage at the time, play it as a waltz selection.

The Civic Hydro Commission recommended that a contract for meters be granted to the Canadian General Electric Co. as follows: 1,000 at $2.90-$3.00; 100 at $14.70-$15.00, plus sales tax, a total of $18,960.

It was said that the several tenders quoted the same price. It was decided to refer the matter back to the commission to ascertain why the contract might not be divided among the various tenders.

Market Square Matter. Commissioner Thornton offered a suggestion that, as it was planned to place the Market Square, the gas plot there might be removed and the space used for a parking space for automobiles.

Commissioner Prink, in reply, said that he planned using the space for the installation of an underground conduit system. He said that he had a good offer for the privilege of operating the station, and felt that the revenue would more than pay for the carrying-charges on the capital expended.

ENGLISH G. T. SHAREHOLDERS DISSATISFIED

London, May 28. - (Canadian Press) - The Times says that reference to a pensions have been written to it with regard to the increase in the gross revenue of the Canadian National Railway since the beginning of the year, particularly Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, four per cent, debenture holders, protesting against the discountance, since the end of April, of the publication of separate Grand Trunk Railway statements.

The correspondents protest on the ground that they are now deprived of any means of judging as to what prospect there may be of a resumption of interest payments on the debentures. The Times says that it is a point which deserves consideration.

A correspondent of the Times says he has received a letter from Mackenzie King's private secretary, saying that a statement which will embody the decision of the Canadian Government on the whole question of the acquisition by the Government of the Grand Trunk Railway is in process of preparation.

"Presumably this statement," the Times says, "will be a statement of a compassionate allowance which the Canadian Government in its own interests would wish to make, but to which it reiterates it is under no obligation."

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE PASTEURIZED MILK

(Statement by Board of Health.)

Ninety-nine and one half per cent of all milk sold in Toronto is pasteurized, and the other half is certified milk.

The milk sold to Toronto citizens is purchased from 4,000 farms and is distributed by 38 dealers.

Pasteurization is made compulsory in Toronto in 1914.

The Infant Mortality in Toronto for five years previous to compulsory pasteurization averaged 155 deaths to 1,000 births, while the infant death rate in 1921 was 86.8 and in 1922 it was 82 per 1,000 births.

In view of these facts are Saint John citizens justified in their criticisms of their pasteurized milk supply?

LIBRARIES ASKED FOR SPICY BOOKS

Ever, Declare Custodians of Bookshelves

Cry for Something New—Minority of 25 Per Cent of Public Ask for Literature—Varying Tastes Eshown.

(Montreal Gazette) Has the taste of the reading public been raised since the war? Those who are in charge of the public libraries of Montreal think not; it is, they say, just about on the same old level as in the years prior to the great upheaval. The women still show a marked predilection for love stories and the men for those of adventure.

The tired business man has now put aside books for golf or for the contemplation of possible golf, but during the winter he read rather more than usual, according to the opinion expressed by the librarian in one of the leading book depositories. Another librarian said that in experience more people are reading now than ever before.

There is a steadily maintained minority—perhaps twenty or even twenty-five per cent—of readers who ask for what can, with little fear of contradiction, be called "literature," including essays, biographies, belles-lettres, drama, poetry and classic fiction, but the great majority that want "something new," English, Canadian, or American, but preferably with a not too long delayed unwinding of the plot.

Women, one of the lady librarians affirmed in a tone of deep conviction, are not averse to "spicy" literature, in fact, in her experience, they decidedly favor books of this character. She led the way to a back room, where in a had been placed on the shelves, had been chosen and read by perhaps half-a-dozen people, several of whom had subsequently protested against the violation of their finer feelings, following which the books had been withdrawn and relegated to comparative oblivion.

Some Solid Reading.

But there another type of reader who is a delight to the librarian's heart and to all those who seek the raising and enlightenment of mankind. Hector Garnau, head of the Civic Library, meets many of them. This library is especially strong in scientific and economic books of various sorts, and it is for these that the great bulk of the 65,000 or so people who visit the library during the year ask. There is very little demand for fiction, Mr. Garnau said. During the past year the library has experienced a notable increase in the number of readers. In the winter months as many as four or five hundred visited it on Saturdays and Sundays, the majority of whom were working men or students.

The Fraser Institute, according to the head librarian, P. B. de Crevecoeur, finds that about 60 per cent. of its circulation is fiction, this is spite of the fact that the library contains only 6,000 volumes of French and English fiction and 94,000 books of non-fiction. In the English department the "something new" query is frequent, but this is not so marked in the French section. There is, however, a steady demand for George Meredith, George Sand, Guy de Maupassant, Balzac, Zola, and tales hinging on the doings of detectives and others on the trail of adventure. About 20 per cent. of the people ask for "literature," and perhaps another 20 per cent. for scientific works. During the winter months between five and six hundred books were given out every day.

The Westmount Library, according to one of its chief librarians, finds that Canadian and English novels are preferred to those of United States origin. English biographies are asked for a great deal, books on psycho-analysis are enjoying undoubted popularity, and travel and art books are not being neglected. Evidently the intellectual minority reigns in greater strength in Westmount than some other places, for the librarian said that Wrong's "Concept of Canada" in 40 volumes, was very popular, almost as much so as fiction. But, nevertheless, she ended up by saying that most women want a cover that the men stories of adventure. There is a general lack of discrimination, and the majority of the average number of persons visiting the library was 290 on Saturdays, and on other days about 175.

In the juvenile department an effort is made to direct the children's reading to parents, apparently, do not take this responsibility on themselves. The old, beloved fables, "Beauty and the Beast," "Cinderella," "The Three Little Pigs," and other books which some time ago became firmly entrenched in the affections of the juvenile readers.

The Mechanics' Institute has from eight to nine thousand volumes of fiction and 10,000 non-fiction, but the circulation runs about 85 per cent. fiction. The people who formerly read historical works are now reading books on social problems and those on psycho-analysis. There is a steady demand for old fiction, but the prevalent requests is for the new productions. The demand at this library is more novel, "The Sheik," "Burning Sands" and others of their ilk, are by no means ignored.

The Society For the Control of Cancer

Dr. George A. Soper is Managing Director—Campaign in United States and Canada.

New York, May 28.—The American Society for the Control of Cancer announced yesterday that Dr. George A. Soper, the well known consulting engineer and epidemiologist, has been appointed managing director of the organization.

Dr. Soper has been active in public affairs for many years, particularly as an expert in sanitary investigations and is possibly best known as the man who discovered that a series of virulent epidemics of typhoid fever were caused by a carrier.

Dr. Soper has been sanitary expert to the New York City and State Departments of Health and was president of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission of New York City and in personal charge of its scientific and technical work. Following the Galveston flood in 1900, he was placed in charge of the sanitary work of that city.

In the Medical Department of the Army and became head of the division of epidemiology of the Surgeon General's office. He is a member of many engineering and public health societies and has written numerous books and scientific articles.

In commenting on Dr. Soper's appointments, Dr. Howard C. Taylor, vice-president of the society and chairman of its executive committee, said he considered the society most fortunate in obtaining a man of such ability and wide experience in public affairs to direct its activities.

"This year makes the tenth anniversary of the foundation of the American Society for the Control of Cancer," said Dr. Taylor, "and we are gratified that Dr. Soper has found in the society opportunities for broad, effective public health work and has agreed to accept the position. His affiliation with the society will mean much to its future development."

Dr. Taylor said that now that the financial support of the society is assured, the work of educating the people of the United States and Canada as to the nature of cancer and the means of curing it can be carried on with greater energy. To this end Dr. Soper will be of particular value to the society, because of his business knowledge and experience in handling large affairs. The recent growth of the society has been extraordinary and it has become necessary, Dr. Taylor said, to organize its work on a much larger and broader scale than has been possible with the limited budgets of the past.

Dr. Taylor said that new aspects of the whole problem will now be taken up under Dr. Soper's direction and it is expected that not only will the society continue to broadcast cancer information as in the past, but that it will also take up the work of collecting facts and collating cancer statistics for the information not only of the public but of those physicians who desire to acquaint themselves with the

Is Your Boy Glad You Are His Dad?

Is your son proud of you? Or does he wish Wally Lawson's father was his father?

Wally says his father is the best in the world. To prove it, he shows you boy the peach of a new C. C. M. Bicycle his dad bought him.

Sticks Up For You

Your boy stoutly sticks up for you. But deep down in his heart, he's wondering if Wally Lawson's father doesn't think more of Wally than you do of him. He can't even get you to talk about buying him a bicycle. You put him off from day to day. And he feels it, though he may not say much.

He's a Good Boy, Dad

He's doing well at school. You're proud of him, even though you don't tell him so.

Maybe he's joined the Boy Scouts. That means wonderful trips to the country, and all sorts of thrilling and boyish sports. If he has a bicycle. A Boy Scout and a bicycle are as inseparable as a cowboy and his pinto pony.

Isn't it up to you to make your boy glad by giving him a real bicycle?

C. C. M.'s are the favorite bicycles with Boy Scouts—and all other boys who want real bicycles.

Built to Stand the Gaff

C. C. M. Bicycles are made to stand the bumps, the wear and tear, that the joyous energy of youth puts upon them.

Frames of English seamless tubing, strongly reinforced. Bearings of hard, tough automobile steel. Nickelling done over copper so it won't rust. Glossy enamel baked over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand all kinds of weather.

C. C. M. Boys' Bicycles are equipped with the famous C. C. M. Triplex Hanger—the same as the adult models. This is the hanger that makes the C. C. M. ride so easy you feel as if you were coasting along.

Very little pressure is needed on the pedals. The youngest boy can ride a C. C. M. without tiring himself out.

And the Hercules Coaster Brake gives him perfect control of his bicycle. He can stop it slowly or quickly by pressing back on the pedals. He can glide down any hill with safety.

The Kind He Won't Outgrow

Go with your boy to the C. C. M. dealer's and look over the snappy, glistening new models. There is a new 14-inch model for the very young boys. And the special Curved Bar 18 and 20-inch models that will fit equally well the lad of nine or the youth of twenty. The Curved Bar is the bicycle the boy won't outgrow.

Prices of boys' and girls' models have been sharply reduced from the war-time peak prices. The quality is the best ever put into C. C. M. Bicycles.

There are also C. C. M. Joycycles for little folks too young to ride bicycles.

BUCK SMASHES TWO RED AUTOS PARKED OUTSIDE HIS PASTURE. Rochester, N. Y., May 28—Two valuable automobiles belonging to Ernest and Earl Blaisdell of Welcott were badly damaged when charged upon and butted by an enraged Durham bull. When farmers came to the rescue of the motor cars they were forced to retreat until pitchforks and stout clubs were obtained with which to ret the animal back to a pasture near by. The Blaisdell brothers, being twins, they affect the same tastes, and their cars are both painted a deep red, which attracted the attention of the bull when they were parked on a road near his pasture. His anger rising rapidly, the animals

DOUG FAIRBANKS JR. IN PICTURES AT LAST; SAYS HE'S LIKE MERTON

It's Been His Big Ambition Nearly All His 13 Years and Now He is to Get $1,000 a Week; Wants to Work in Stories Containing "Heart Interest."

(New York Tribune.) "I want to do pictures with a heart interest in them," young Doug said seriously. "Of course, I'd like to do a little comedy, but no freckle-faced arch parts for me. The big thing to me is not what kind of picture they select for me, but the fact that I'm in the pictures at last. I was a little bit like 'Merton of the Movies,' only he was a star and I'm a nobody. I'd like to be an actor. I want to break in."

Severe Kidney Trouble

Mrs. F. Rinehart, Campbellville, Ont., writes: "I had trouble with my kidneys and very frequent urination. This was followed by pains which at times were very severe. The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and that an operation might be necessary. To this I refused, and began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. From the first few doses I felt the benefit. The pains left, urination was corrected, and I have had no recurrence of these ailments."

ANOTHER ST. JOHN MAN SPEAKS

Mr. Reg. Wilkins Tells How Quickly Deco Overcomes Digestive Troubles—Praises This Fine Medicine Highly.

A majority of people's ills can be traced to the stomach. When that important organ becomes weak or disordered, and fails to supply nourishment to the other organs, many ills follow. The liver, kidneys, bowels and blood all depend on the stomach to keep them going. Deco, by toning and regulating the stomach to proper working condition, quickly restores these other organs and the blood to normal, healthy action.

Deco is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King street. It is also sold by Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward street, and F. W. Munro, 357 Main street. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop, and by a good druggist everywhere.

NOT SICK ONCE IN FOUR YEARS NOW

Mrs. Smith Declares Health Has Been Perfect Since Tanlac Ended Stomach Trouble.

"For ten years hardly a day passed that I didn't suffer from stomach trouble, but I took Tanlac four years ago and haven't had a sick day since," is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Thamar Smith, 88 McGee St., Toronto, Ont.

Seen as Tom Sawyer in a new version of the book.

His characterizations will typify the America boy of high school age, which is what Douglas is now, although he has never been to high school, having had a tutor, who will accompany him to Hollywood. However, he will enter college when he is seventeen years old, for his contract specifies that his work before the camera must not interfere with his studies.

Jesse L. Lasky, at a convention of Paramount distributors, said of young Fairbanks' contract.

"I believe it is one of the most important things I have done since I came to the motion picture industry," Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is a typical American boy at his best. I liked him the moment I saw him, and so will every other American father and mother when they see him on the screen. He is manly, handsome and remarkably athletic."

Our Portrait of Mr. E. F. WHEELER, of 22, Regent Street, Balby, Doncaster, England, who writes—

"About two years ago I had a nasty wood break out in my big toe. It had attended to for about three months, but during that time it had spread to all the toes, with the result that I had to undergo an operation, but with no avail. Then, after another operation, as it did not get any better, I thought I might give your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' a trial. After taking the first three bottles I could walk better, and now after having nine bottles the wound has quite healed, and I am pleased to say I have not seen any sign of it breaking out since."

Sufferers from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Itch, Scalds, Swellings, Piles, Eczema, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Rheumatism, Blisters, should realize that lotions and ointments can but give temporary relief—to be sure of permanent cure, the blood must be thoroughly cleansed of the impure waste matter, the cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks, overcomes, and expels the cause of such troubles. Pleasant to take, and free from injurious ingredients.

When the owner emerged from the store he found that a small boy had placed his hands on the door of the car and left a smudge. The boy began to run and the man pursued him. Rev. George Scott, agent of the Children's Aid Society, was notified and will conduct an investigation. If the charge against the man is substantiated a case will follow.

Big Cache Of Liquor Found

Liquor Inspectors Crawford and Klein, accompanied by a customs officer, on Saturday afternoon discovered a lot of liquor consisting of between thirty-one and forty cases in a stretch of woods in the rear of what is known as the Higgins farm on the Black River road. Following a tip the officers hastened out there and when they got to the farm found all in order. A wagon track was noticed leading to a strip of woods and following this the inspectors came to two large mounds covered with brush and tar paper. Investigation revealed a quantity of liquor valued at retail prices by the bottle at about $2,500. The lot was made up of Haig and Haig's Five Star and Black and White. No arrests have been made in the matter yet.

Bat-Boy Now Shortstop.
St. Louis, May 28.—(A. P.)—The development of Howard Freigan, shortstop of the Cardinals, is one of the chief topics of discussion in fanland. Freigan, who served as a bat boy part of last season, is regarded as one of the most promising recruits to come up in the major leagues.
He is but 20 years old. His hitting has been timely, and his defensive play has been described as spectacular.
He was born at Dayton, O., and signed by the Cardinals while attending college. He was turned over to the Syracuse Internationals, but was recalled late last season. Not being in the line-up, he voluntarily handled the bats and was referred to as the "highest paid bat-boy" in baseball.
This season he has been placed regularly at short because of the incapacitation of John Lavan by illness.

Phillies Trade With Pirates.
The Pittsburgh and Philadelphia National League clubs completed a trade at the conclusion of a game last week which gives Lee Meadows, a pitcher, and John Rawlings, second baseman, to the Pirates in exchange for Charles Glamer, pitcher, and James Tierney, second baseman. In announcing the deal President Baker of the local team said it was a straight trade, with no cash considerations. Rawlings recently was purchased by the Phillies from the New York Giants.

St. Croix League.
The St. Croix League got away to a good start in St. Stephen Saturday afternoon when the home team vanquished Milltown by a score of 10 to 0 in a fast, electrifying contest. Shields pitched for the winners and had sixteen strike outs. McCourt also pitched good ball for Milltown.

Woodland Wins.
The second game in the league was played at Woodland, Me., when the home team defeated Calais by a score of 10 to 2.

Amateur League Game.
St. Rose's and St. George teams will meet tonight on Queen Square diamond, West St. John, in the Senior Amateur League fixture. The St.
George team has been greatly strengthened by the addition of William Craft, Mike McPhee, Ira Hannah, Merle Knid-dell and Charles Gorman. Gorman will play in right field and he should prove a valuable addition to the team.

Old Ball Player Dead.
Bridgton, Me., May 27.—Willard Ebens Mains, fifty-seven, known to thousands of baseball fans as a player from 1887 to 1893, died last week at his home at Sandy Creek, where he conducted a bat factory for years.
Heart trouble caused his death.
He was known in baseball as Billy Mains and he made his professional debut on August 10, 1887, with the Portland New England league team. He had the sobriquet of the Windham Wonder, earned because of his speedy pitching and remarkable hitting. He was the best drawing card of that circuit.
The next year he pitched for the Cincinnati club of the Brotherhood league, and in 1891 he was transferred to the Boston club. Before the season opened he went to the St. Paul club, played one season, and was sold to Chicago.
Dialling the west, he returned to the Portland club in 1892.
The next year he was a member of the Lewiston club of the New Eng-

The greatest adventure, the greatest danger, and the greatest love, all burst forth from one letter—a frivolous letter sent in jest. ST. PETERS ARE AGAIN WINNERS Defeat G. W. V. A. on Saturday, 7 to 3—Two Catchers Hurt.
St. Peter's again defeated the G. W. V. A. team in an exhibition game staged at St. Peter's Park Saturday afternoon, by a score of 7 to 3. They outdid and outplayed their opponents and practically put the game on ice in the first inning. The St. Peter's boys availed themselves of every opportunity and made a number of brilliant plays, the work of their outfield being especially noteworthy. O'Regan and Clarke pitched well for the losers as did Gonnell, the young local catcher, who replaced Buchanan after he had a finger injured. Killen, who started to catch for St. Peter's was forced to retire because of an injury to one of his fingers.

Booth Tarkington Knows Pretty Nearly All About Fellows and Girls
SEE HIS MASTERPIECE TODAY:
Honest now—did you ever think this about yourself?
"Oh You Darling"
"THE FLIRT"
SHE WAS SWEET OF FACE and graceful of figure—so alluring in fact that she captivated herself. And often she pressed her lips to her own image in the mirror and murmured, "You darling!" She moved the swains down right and left, and awoke to the shallowness of her soul only after she had involved her loved ones in grief and near-tragedy. It is such a story as Booth Tarkington has always loved to write—full of dramatic situations, irresistible humor and just enough pathos now and then to arouse the softer emotions. No one knows life as Tarkington knows it, no one can depict it more graphically.
THIS PICTURE WILL WAKE UP SOME GIRLS!
