

ANOTHER CLASH OF POWERS AND ITALY Britain, France and United States Send a Joint Note Want Explanation of Landing of Italian Forces in Turkey; Orlando, Replying in Council, Objects to Presence of Greek Premier

Paris, May 22.—(By the Associated Press)—It has been learned in trustworthy quarters that Great Britain, France and the United States have united in sending a note to Italy requesting an explanation of the landing of Italian forces in Turkey.

Premier Orlando is said to have made a reply to the Council of Four, after a sharp personal incident, during which he objected to the presence of Premier Venizelos of Greece. The latter retired from the meeting.

The reported Italian incident apparently complicates the Turkish problem, already a vexed one, with which the peace conference heads have been struggling for some time.

To evident anticipation of a Greek mandate to administer the Smyrna district, Allied forces were landed at Smyrna on last Thursday, meeting with considerable resistance from the Turks, but making themselves masters of the city.

There had been nothing to indicate that these landings were by agreement among Italy and the Allies, and indeed, some of the unofficial forecasts as to the probable division of Turkish territory under the League of Nations mandate had indicated the probability that Italy would be given the Adalia district to administer.

It is pointed out that there is an influential party in Germany, which might cause if Germany refused to agree to the terms of the peace, which might favor the signing of the treaty. Bankers, manufacturers and business men generally, as well as the military authorities, are said to share this view, believing, it is claimed, that anything is preferable to Bolshevism, which might cause if Germany refused to agree to the terms of the peace.

A KING'S COUNTY PROBLEM

We are sometimes told that the country districts have no social problems such as are found in cities and towns, but consider for a moment this case from Kings county.

A few years ago there lived in a rather remote district, on a farm, a man and wife and eight children, the latter ranging from infancy to the age of twelve or thirteen.

Another boy was sent, for another offence, to the Boys' Industrial Home.

Both boys escaped and are still at large. The father has since died.

The mother, has left the four smaller children, three girls and a boy, ranging from five to ten years, with a neighbor and has gone to work with another family.

The neighbor says he cannot keep the children any longer, and no other door is open to them.

None of the children in this large family has received any proper schooling.

An appeal has been made to the Children's Aid Society of St. John to take the four small children, but its field is confined to the city and county of St. John.

There is a municipal home in Kings county, where these children should be placed until foster homes can be found for them.

That that is not all. The county of Kings, and every county, should give more attention to social conditions within its bounds.

But meanwhile there are plenty of people in Kings county who know about the family described in this article. What are they going to do for those homeless and helpless little ones?

THE PUBLIC HOSPITAL.

At last there is the assurance that St. John is to have adequate public hospital accommodation.

The most gratifying news given out by Dr. Addy yesterday was that a gentleman had offered to contribute $32,500 for a maternity wing for the hospital.

This has long been needed, and has been described by Dr. Melvin, now provincial health officer, as the greatest need of St. John.

Now that one man of wealth has set the example we may hope others will follow his lead.

Montreal hospitals are great because rich men have heavily endowed them, and the same is true of hospitals in most cities on this continent.

The creation of a nurses' home will make larger the accommodation for patients in the main hospital and the better arrangement with the federal government, which grants $62,000 per year for the care of sick mariners will improve the financial situation to some extent.

The citizens therefore have every reason to regard the outlook with great satisfaction. Especially will the Ladies' Hospital Aid Association be gratified at the new turn in hospital affairs.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Some of those who are interested in maintaining a high tariff in Canada have expressed the opinion that the United States will increase its tariff, which, by the way, is not as high as that of Canada.

President Wilson's message to congress does not offer any encouragement to tariff boosters. In the course of his message the president made the following reference to the tariff:

"There is fortunately no occasion for general revision of our system of import duties. No serious danger of foreign competition now threatens American industries. Our country has emerged from the war less disturbed and less weakened than any of the European countries which are our competitors in manufacture.

Their industrial establishments have been subjected to greater strain than ours, their labor force to more serious disorganization and this is clearly not the time to seek an organized advantage. The work of reconstruction will, I am afraid, tax the capacity and the resources of their people for years to come. So far from there being any danger or need of accentuated foreign competition, it is likely that the conditions of the next few years will greatly facilitate the marketing of American manufactures abroad. Less of all should we depart from the policy adopted in the tariff act of 1913 of permitting the free entry into the United States of the raw materials needed to supplement and enrich our own abundant supplies." If congress agrees with the president such changes as will save the country from dependence on other countries for certain supplies, as in the case of dyestuffs of which Germany had a monopoly before the war, and will give the government power to retaliate if another country should adopt tariff legislation regarded as inimical to American interests.

So far as Canada is concerned, the tariff will be the chief bone of contention in the next election. That is quite clear from the tenor of discussion, and from the activity of the manufacturers on one hand and the farmers on the other.

CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND. The following interesting paragraph is from the Montreal Herald:

"In the third week of last month the British treasury paid donations to over a million persons who are unemployed. To further alleviate hardship arising out of military service discharged officers and men who joined up on or after August 4th, 1914, are to be granted state assistance if they wish to be re-started in business. The scheme is open to any discharged person, whether married or single, and the maximum grant is not to exceed one hundred pounds for a period of one year.

While there will be a general disposition to approve of the most generous treatment of discharged officers and men of the army, there is another side to the story of the payment of unemployed persons. A London correspondent recently wrote:

"The unemployment pay is earning almost universal condemnation in Great Britain, even from the union leaders. In the list of occupations represented by girls and men out of work are thousands for whom jobs are daily crying. Domestic servants are almost impossible to obtain, yet there are scores of thousands of out-of-workers who declare themselves as former domestics. While many laundry women and girls are doing nothing and receiving the unemployment pay, a rather good job has transpired at the expense of several cabinet ministers, including the premier.

The Fulham Laundry has closed its doors because it cannot get labor—and the ministers have to get their washing done elsewhere."

Of course such illustrations are exceptional, and the great majority of workers have little or no surplus in these days of high cost of living while there is doubtless a real problem in relation to unemployment, but that problem will not be solved by providing pay without work. Such a course encourages the shiftless and saps the recipients of unearned pay of a proper spirit of independence. Mothers' allowances, and a proper care of those who through no fault of their own are compelled to seek relief, are on quite a different basis.

Unemployment pay for everybody, regardless of merit, would soon pervert a community.

Toronto Globe.—"The projected air flights across the Atlantic have revived in the columns of The London Times a discussion as to the first steam vessel to cross, but that honor was decided long ago in favor of a Canadian vessel, the Royal William, and the facts are recorded in a tablet in the Parliamentary Library at Ottawa. The Royal William, designed and built in Quebec, crossed the Atlantic to London in 1833, and was the first to do so the whole way under her own steam."

Mayor Hayes has issued a call for a meeting to discuss the matter of vocational training for St. John. It is a vital subject and has been in the air too long. Now is the time to get down to practical work. This province will get a share of the coming federal grant and St. John should be in a position to take advantage of it. A vocational training board should be appointed without delay.

The strike situation in Winnipeg appears to have improved to a considerable extent, although the danger of a serious collision is by no means over.

LIGHTER VEIN. "I can read Cholly like a book." "You're foolish to strain your eyes over a small type." Daughter—Marry that old Mr. Roxley! Why, I'd die first! "Mother—Nonsense, child! You'd out-live him forty years at least. "How long should a man keep his arm around a girl, do you think?" asked the sweet young thing. "Until he hears his wrist watch strike," retorted the young man in shock. "Why, wrist watches don't strike, do they?" "Of course not." "My grandfather could have had all this land around here for a song." "I don't blame him," replied the indignant vocalist. "He showed wisdom in going without the land rather than take a chance on the musical critics." Looked So. Mr. Flatbush—Who was that calling on the cook so late last night? Mrs. Flatbush—Oh, that was our milkman. "And who was that calling on her so early this morning?" "Oh, that was the night watchman." "Well, dear, don't you think she's got her dates mixed?" May (indignantly)—I don't care; I think Harry Easterleigh is downright mean. Marie—Why, May? May—Well, he wrote me from Egypt saying he had shot a crocodile seven feet long, and when he shoots another he will have a pair of slippers made for me. I'll never speak to him again. "Socially as well as historically, the war has brought many changes," said Senator Chamblain at a dinner in Washington. "The man who was boss at home quite often was the private at the front. In fact, things have been knocked topsy-turvy. At a ball the other night I overheard one lovely young matron remark to an officer with whom she had just danced for the third time: 'Do you know, captain, I can't get it out of my head that we have met before.' 'I don't doubt it in the least, madam,' replied the officer courteously. I was your milkman for the last three years." A New Incentive. "Be a good boy," said Uncle John, "and maybe when you grow up you can be president." "And rule the whole world?" answered Willie enthusiastically. "Geel you bet I'll be good."—Boston Transcript.

WORKING ON WEST SIDE PLAYGROUNDS
Members of Improvement League Getting Ready for Season; Grand Opening of St. John Baseball League Next Monday
The West St. John Improvement League are evidently bent on having one of the most up to date and best all around playgrounds in the city, judging from the energy displayed by members during the last few nights. Headed by Frank Belyea, Charles Morris and Clifford Price, a squad of men, young and old, have turned out, and as a result of their efforts the large diamond is now in fairly good shape, although considerable more work has yet to be done before it will be ready for the opening of the league. The men are putting a coating of earth over the cinders on the infield, and when this is rolled it will make one of the best infields in the city. They are also endeavoring to secure ashes, etc. to fill in the gully in left field.
A joint meeting of the executive of the St. John Baseball League and the members of the West St. John Improvement League was held last evening in St. Patrick's Hall, Charles Morris presiding. The plans for the season were first discussed and met with general approval. The grounds are to be under the supervision of the West St. John Improvement League, and all collections are to be taken up by them. They, in turn, are to furnish bats, balls and a catcher. The executive of the league and appoint any necessary officials. Frank Belyea, who was present, spoke about the efforts of the league to put the grounds in good condition so that the junior and senior leagues would be able to enjoy good clean sport in the fresh air. He said that the members will be working on the grounds during the evenings and on Saturday and hoped to have them in first class condition for the opening of the season.
The executive of the league then went into session and discussed playing rules and regulations for the coming season. Ground rules were agreed on and plans made for the grand opening game next Monday and Tuesday evenings. The Y. M. C. I. and Castleton are to meet in the first game and St. Peter's and Fairville in the second.

WILL APPEAL FOR FUNDS.
Having failed in their effort to get material switched from the dump at the foot of Charlotte street to their playground at the foot of Britain street to make a necessary fill, the South End Improvement League will appeal to the city for financial aid. Members have been working hard every night, but there is a great deal to do. Encouraged by the city's generous treatment of the League on the west side, the South End workers anticipate a cordial reception at city hall. They were the pioneers and they have made good.

POLICE COURT.
In the police court this morning two boys were brought up, charged with discharging firearms within the city limits. They pleaded guilty and were remanded. Four boys, charged with stealing three bicycles and three of the youths charged with breaking into a house in Misipe, were again before the court. B. L. Gerow appeared for one and asked for clemency because of the boy's previous good character. This boy pleaded guilty to both charges. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence. The others were remanded until Monday.
There were no drunks this morning. Those gentlemen who imbibe too freely must be resting on their laurels after yesterday's record of sixteen.

HON. DR. ROBERTS' IMPORTANT PAPER
Will Address Big Health Convention in Toronto on Saturday
Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, will leave this evening for Toronto where, on Saturday, he will address the Canadian Congress of Public Health on "The Reconstruction of The Adolescent Period of Our Canadian Girl."
The congress is being held in conjunction with the Ontario Association of Public Health, and will be an important gathering, especially in view of the new federal activities in the matter of health legislation. Hon. Dr. Roberts, because of his initiatory work in provincial health measures in New Brunswick, which in reality have anticipated the measures now being taken at Ottawa and elsewhere, is in close touch with Canadian health affairs in the larger sense and his proposals are always welcome and seriously considered.
The subject on which the New Brunswick health minister will be heard at Toronto is one that has exercised his mind for years. It especially deplores the onerous crowding of school studies between the ages of fourteen and seventeen, which the St. John physician says is a serious detriment to health of girls.
It is hoped the paper—which is certain to evoke spirited discussion—will be placed before the household public as its arguments both professional and lay, is said to be trenchant and consistent.

The Revival of Entertaining Suggests Home Beautifying
THE impetus that has been given to all social activities through the coming of peace and the return of "the boys" very logically involves refurbishing and decorating problems in a great many homes.
Beautifying plans that have been put off and put off during the long war period must now be met, for our thoughts are again turned to the home with all its attractions and charms.
Whatever plans you may have in mind—however little or much may be involved, though it may only be the selection of new things, perhaps a new rug, or some individual piece of furniture, you will want to secure maximum effectiveness at least possible cost, and you will want to assure to yourself the fullest degree of satisfaction through the years to come.
You can best satisfy yourself as to where you can obtain most economical service, by making value comparisons. While this store conducts no special sales nor offers any alluring price baits, let us assure you in advance that, quality for quality, no store anywhere can offer better values than you will find here. But we want you to draw your own conclusions from your own comparisons.

Washington, D. C., May 20—Precisely what form the single-tax movement will take in the immediate future, said Louis F. NATIONALIZE DOCTORS AND THE DRUG STORES

Government Operation of Mines, Forests, Railways, Power Plants and Ships Also Advocated

Hamilton, Ont., May 22—The nationalization or control of doctors and drug stores and the taking over and operating by the government of all mines, forests, railways, power plants and ships was one of the cures advocated before the royal commission on industrial conditions for the present unrest in Canada here yesterday. Two representatives from a mass meeting of unorganized labor advanced this as one way of solving the difficulty. They added, in the case of the doctors and druggists, "that these gentlemen work in two shifts."

SIR WILFRID'S LOVE OF LITTLE CHILDREN

Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier never had any children. The great statesman, however, loved children and knew how to sympathize with their joys or griefs. A pretty story is told of an occurrence when Sir Wilfrid was on tour in Manitoba. A public reception was being held, for which purpose a stand had been built on the prairie. An eight-year-old maid of the harvest field, with unadorned straw hat and bare feet, stood like the publican old after a long day's work. She was looking at Sir Wilfrid with wide, wondering eyes, like a more fortunate little lady, in the fluffy ribbed spotted daintiness so dear to the daughters of Eve, but big or little, gave the great man a beautiful bouquet of roses. She saw Sir Wilfrid and kissed her. Then she separated herself from the cheering crowd and came toward him, a manly lad who is doing his best to comfort his mother as she whimpers: "Never mind, mummy, I am going to earn some money some day."

He was opposed to giving federal aid towards the building of expensive roads where they were not required. He believed federal aid should be given along the lines which he had laid down.

ARMEN FLIRT WITH ETERNITY

Flyers Pull Daredevil Stunts While 1,500 Feet Above City

(Toronto Globe.) Travelling through space at seventy miles an hour, an Arzoon airplane piloted by Lieut. Milton Elliott of the U. S. A. Aero Corps, Lieut. O. M. Lockyer of the same unit from Fort Worth, Texas, and E. G. Erickson of Boston, climbed out past the second bay on the lower wings of the plane, and grasping the wing supports, hung out over the city while the machine was at an altitude of about 1,500 feet. This is the first time in the history of aerostatics that this feat has ever been accomplished. At many times during the long flight it was apparent that the machine was taxed to its utmost with the unusual strain placed upon it, and it seemed as if the feat would end in disaster. However, fortunately for the "dare-devils" a lucky landing was made after more than thirty minutes in the air.

A MIX-UP IN CITY ELECTION IN HALIFAX

Halifax, May 22—A new mix-up has occurred in the civic situation here. Under the board of control system no property qualification was required for aldermen, but when the aldermanic system was restored the property qualification was revived. A clause was added to the bill that restored the old system that the upper house of the legislature that abolished the property qualification but in the lower house this was struck out, but very few knew of this change. Several of the nominees for the election next week have no property qualifications.

AMHERST STRIKE SITUATION

Halifax, May 22—A new phase of "the holiday" as the strikers in Amherst call their strike, developed when Mr. Williams, manager of the Canada Car & Foundry Company, received a telegram yesterday from the directors in Montreal to proceed to headquarters at once. He left last evening for Montreal. The car works will be closed at least until he has returned, but there is a persistent rumor that some of the car shops will not open for a considerable time. The Amherst Boot & Shoe Company made no response to the demands of the men for a forty-hour week with pay increase. Christie Brothers have closed their works until they hear from the directors, who are in Toronto. The local management say that they received no notice that the men would join in "the holiday" until the employees walked out. The Robb Engineering and the Amherst Piano, Limited, are the only concerns in Amherst still open.

Allies Grant Germans Till May 29 To Decide

Premier Clemenceau Says It's Too Late Now for Huns to Try to Pass up War Responsibility

Paris, May 21—The German peace delegation has been granted an extension of seven days, or until May 29, in which to reply in full to the peace terms, according to an official announcement.

"It is too late for Germany to seek to deny both the aggression in the war and her responsibility for it." This declaration is made by Premier Clemenceau as president of the peace conference, in replying to the German note on reparations, the text of which with the reply has been made public.

Clemenceau's Reply.
The text of the reply of Premier Clemenceau is dated May 20, 1919, and is as follows:
"Mr. Chairman:
"In your note of May 19, you state that Germany, while accepting in November, 1918, 'the obligation to make reparations' did not understand such an acceptance to mean that her responsibility was involved either in the war or for the acts of the former German government and that it is only possible to conceive of such an obligation if its origin and cause is the responsibility of the author of the damage. You add that the German people would never have undertaken a war of aggression.
"Yet, in the note from Secretary of State Lansing, of November 5, 1918, which you approve of and adhere to in favor of your contention, it is said that the obligation to make reparations arises out of Germany's aggression, by land, sea and air."
"As the German government did not at the time make any protest against this allegation, it thereby recognized it as well as fulfilled. Therefore, Germany recognized in 1919, implicitly but clearly the aggression and her responsibility."
Too Late Now.
"It is too late to seek them today. 'It would be impossible, you state further, that the German people should be held as the accomplices of the faults committed by the former German government.'"
"However, Germany has never claimed, and such a declaration would have been contrary to all principles of international law, that a modification of its political regime or a change in the governing personalities would be required to extinguish an obligation already undertaken by any nation. She did not act upon the principle she now contends for either in 1918 or in regard to France after the proclamation of the republic, nor in 1917, in regard to Russia after the revolution which abolished the Czarist regime."
"Finally, you ask that the report of the commission on responsibility be communicated to you. In reply we beg to say that the Allied and Associated Powers consider the reports of the commission and the Fifth Avenue Association as documents of an international character which cannot be transmitted to you."
"Sd., Mr. Chairman, etc.,
(Sgd.) 'G. CLEMENCEAU.'"

FORMER CROWN PRINCE LIABLE TO BE TRIED

London, May 20—(Delayed)—Frederick William Hohenzollern, the former German crown prince, will be liable to trial under the terms of the German peace treaty, it was declared by Andrew Bonar Law, the government leader, in the House of Commons today. Bonar Law said that the commandants of prison camps would also be liable under the treaty's terms.

CURIOUS CONTRAST IN CHURCH RELATIONS

In One Case Anglican Boy Scouts Rejected Unity; in Others Anglicans and Methodists Exchange Pulpits

(Methodist Recorder.)
Here are contrasts re "unity." From Kings' Norton, Birmingham, England, this comes:
"May 1 commend the following for consideration by the union which was arranged for a division of Boy Scouts to hold a service in memory of old Scouts who have fallen in the war, in the Wesleyan church, Kings' Norton, on Sunday afternoon, March 16th to be conducted by the Rev. Frank Metcalf. At the last moment the whole thing had to be cancelled because the Scoutmasters of the Anglican Church troops—who are 'priests'—would not allow their troops to come, because the service was to be held on Methodist premises. The form of service would have been practically identical with the form which would have been used had the service been arranged to be held in an Anglican church. This is an instance of how union would work! The Scout movement is undenominational in character, and yet these men will not only dishonor their Lord by this arrogant spirit, but they deliberately break the Scout rule and make any further united church parades impossible. Surely these 'Christians' will want a separate heaven!"

QUITE A DIFFERENT STORY.

The Rev. George H. McNeal, superintendent of the Sheffield Methodist Mission, preached last Thursday at the special mid-day service at St. Paul's church, Sheffield, the pastor of which is the Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, M. A., Diocesan Missioner. St. Paul's church is the second oldest in the city, and has been used as a "Church of Experiment" as the Bishop of Sheffield put it a little while ago. The Rev. Spencer H. Elliott has preached at the Victoria Hall and Ebenezer Chapel, Mr. McNeal's subject was "Regeneration the true basis for Reconstruction," and he conducted the whole service from the pulpit.
In the Lockwood area of Huddersfield the cordial relationship between the churches was exemplified when the Rev. W. Partridge, B. A., Methodist, occupied the pulpit of Rastcliffe parish church. The vicar (the Rev. H. Kenyon) returned the visit by preaching in our Mount Pleasant chapel the following Sunday evening. Last summer the Anglican, Baptist and Methodist churches in this area carried through a successful series of out-door services, and preliminary arrangements for a further series this summer are in hand.
The Rev. Thomas Riley, supernumerary minister in the Ludlow Circuit, was invited to occupy the pulpit of the Neen Savage Parish church, and preached to a very large congregation last Sunday.
An unusual feature of Citizen Sunday in Dublin, and one characteristic of the spirit of the times, was the all-round interchange of pulpits between practically every section of the Protestant Church in that city, Methodist, Baptist, Congregationalist, Presbyterian, and also, we are glad to reiterate, Anglican.

War Cost Britain £6,700,000,000

That Colossal Sum Was Expenditure by United Kingdom up to March 31.

London, May 21—In the House of Commons today, Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, stated that the net cost of the war to the United Kingdom, up to March 31, was about £6,700,000,000.
Captain Guest, parliamentary secretary of the treasury, stated that owing to circulation of mendacious documents alleging outrages by British troops in Egypt, the police searched a room in the Imperial Hotel, occupied by the Egyptian association and seized documents which the director of public prosecutions was considering. No arrests have been made.

MATTERS TAKEN UP BY PREMIER FOSTER ON VISIT TO OTTAWA

While in Ottawa Hon. W. E. Foster in company with Dr. J. E. Hetherington and G. H. King, representatives from Queens county in the local house, endeavored to list a summary of the C. N. B. officials toward the use of coal from the Minto district on the lines of the C. N. R. in the province. The objection was put forward that the railway was not on the line of the government railway and that the policy of the railway was to encourage industries upon its own lines.
To effect this objection an interview was obtained with the authorities and the argument put forward that a connection of the Transcontinental with the Minto district would be an advantage to the mine owners but would aid in developing coal mines in New Brunswick and at the same time would provide additional traffic for the railway opening up a market for this coal at such places as Quebec and Three Rivers and other industrial points on the line of the C. N. R. west of the province.
The Valley Railway.
While the premier was in Ottawa the minister of railways introduced into the house a resolution extending the time within which the St. John's, N. B., Railway Company is authorized to complete construction and equipment of the line from Centerville to Andover. The extension was made Dec. 31, 1921. This referred not only to the extension of time when it might be completed but also had reference to the subsidy agreement.
This, Premier Foster explained, meant that should conditions seem favorable at any time for the extension of the line from Centerville to Andover the authority of the dominion government and the subsidy agreement will already have been continued.
Another matter in which the premier interested himself while at the federal capital was in connection with proposed dominion aid to the provinces in the matter of road building. "Notwithstanding reports to the contrary appearing in the press," the premier said, "I still have hope that the proposed aid may yet be forthcoming."

Public Nurse For Every 2,000 People

Child Welfare Conference Wants 55,000 of Them in Continental United States to Tell Mothers How to Rear Their Children

Washington, May 19—Resolutions adopted by the Child Welfare Conference of the children's bureau of the Department of Labor go so far as to advocate having public health nurses in the ratio of one to every 2,000 people of the United States. This project was among the "minimum standards" for "health, education and work" of American children, acted upon favorably by the conference. If put into effect, it would call for approximately 55,000 public health nurses in continental United States to give advice to mothers in their homes, radiating from "health centers" which would be established to supervise infants and older children.
The conference recommends sixteen as the lowest age at which children can go to work during the school term. Nine months' schooling, either full or part time, each year is proposed for children between seven and eighteen years. A child of sixteen years would not be permitted to work unless he had completed the eighth grade, and education beyond this age would be provided in continuation schools.
It is asserted that schools should be provided with nurses to teach the children the essentials of health, and physicians to make regular examinations. So-called sex instruction is advocated for adolescents, whether in school or not, who should be given opportunity for complete physical examination from time to time, with advice from a physician. Emphasis is placed upon the assumed need of "mental hygiene" for children believed to be sub-normal.
The working day for minors is placed at a maximum of eight hours and for children between sixteen and eighteen less than the adult working day. Night work and employment in hazardous occupations are opposed for minors, whose compensation, the conference concluded, should cover the necessary cost of proper living. An employment agency for children is recommended, to issue certificates only upon proof of meeting prescribed requirements as to age, education and "physical fitness."
Regional conferences in nine cities are to be held for further consideration of these proposals. The appointment of state child-welfare committees to carry out the programme for enlarged medical control over children of school age and pre-school age would be reduced in conjunction with federal action.

HENRY FORD ATTACKED.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 21—Henry Ford was attacked as an instigator by propaganda of the Preparedness Day parade bomb throwing at San Francisco, of inspiring resistance to government decrees during the war and similar offences by Attorney Stevenson, in addressing Judge Tucker today on behalf of the Chicago Tribune which is being sued by Mr. Ford for $1,000,000 damages on a charge of libel.
He compared the alleged Ford propaganda to the anarchistic literature which inflamed the assassin of President McKinley.

Fund Proposed To Improve Housing

New York Man Would Raise $10,000,000 to Build Model Tenements and Thus Defeat the Rent Profiteering Schemes

New York, May 19—While three different agencies are dealing with New York's rent profiteering and housing problems—the mayor's committee, the State Reconstruction Commission, and a joint legislative committee—Herbert H. Limburg of this city has proposed that a $10,000,000 fund be raised for the purpose of building new houses—model tenements—to put an end to profiteering the construction to be entrusted to engineers who have had experience in group construction at big war industry plants. It is suggested that various organizations, such as the Merchants' Association and the Fifth Avenue Association, for example, get together with bankers, insurance men, and others in such an enterprise.
The State Reconstruction Commission, in its first report, based on a survey of more than 1,000 houses occupied by 15,000 or more persons, says that apartment house rents have been raised repeatedly for the last year or year and a half, and even doubled in many cases. In some of the smaller two and three-family houses it was found that the rents had increased from 15 to 20 per cent, and that even in the remote districts, where modest improvements were practically unknown, there was a great demand for houses.
As for the model tenements that have been erected from time to time in the city, the commission found that as a rule they were not tenanted by the kind of families for which they were built, those in which children were many and dollars few, but rather by childless families and by single men and women whose incomes were greater than those for whom these tenements were planned. In fact, it has been said for a long time that these model tenements were the haunt of professional men and women whose bad it was to live in them.
The commission announces that relief from the present congestion cannot be had by the housing available, but only through building operations on a large scale to be begun at once, so that homes may be ready by next winter, and proposes that money be lent at a reasonable rate for this purpose.
The chairman of the mayor's committee has announced that since the majority of landlords were averse to extortionate raising of rents it had been decided to create a sub-committee on mediation and conciliation to make proper settlements between landlords and tenants wherever possible.

DISCHARGE DEPOT STAFF TO QUEBEC

The staff of the local discharge depot in King street has completed its season's work as far as the port of St. John is concerned. Already Staff Q.M.S. J. F. Rooney, Sergeant Whaley, Sergeant Greenway and Miss Delaney have made preparations to go to Quebec where they will become attached to the big discharge depot there during the summer months. Major H. H. Smith, O.C. of the discharge depot here, and his assistant, Captain Ingleton, will leave this evening for Quebec for orders. The local staff has done much good work here and the fact that they are now being transferred to upper Canada to assist in carrying out the work there is a tribute to their efficiency.
It is understood that the staff will return in the fall or when the winterport season opens here again. There are many dependents yet to be brought home and it is estimated that bringing them in numbers of 400 to a ship they will not be all back by the end of the summer.
Sergeant McCullough who is also attached to Major Smith's staff in King street will be utilized at military headquarters in Sydney street until the discharge depot is re-opened. The rest of

A new BOOTH TARKINGTON

Here is a story that will make you young again

Story

TWO inimitably funny boys—and Florence, a little girl as diabolically naughty, as fascinatingly unexpected as the immortal Penrod . . . If you want to know how a small town can be uprooted—devastated—swept from its moorings—by the simple, outspoken publication of what two small boys overheard and saw—then read Booth Tarkington's big new serial, "The Oriole," in the June Pictorial Review.

The town of North End had been going along peacefully. Neighbors gossiped, young men "paid attention" to young ladies, young ladies "encouraged" young men in the comfortable, regular way. And then, all at once—a bomb!

Those two incorrigible boys, Herbert Illingsworth Atwater, Jr., and his friend Henry Rooter, decided to start a newspaper. Then enter Florence! You will laugh as no story ever made you laugh before. It is Booth Tarkington at his best—recreating, with a master hand, the magic and sparkle of your own adventures when you were fourteen.

There was a story going round now, continued Sir George, to the effect that, acting under instructions from his government, he had practically organized the revolution with the express purpose of compassing the ruin of Russia, but this rumor was obviously due to German propaganda.

Instructions To Bolshevist Agents

London, May 20—A special correspondent of the Wireless Press at Warsaw recently forwarded the following despatch:

The Polish government has received information from an authoritative source that the inner council of the Central Russian Soviet met at Moscow at the end of 1918 and drew up detailed instructions for the guidance of Bolshevist agents in other European countries.

The inner council of bolshevism first elaborated instructions to be followed in regard to international affairs, and these were recorded in writing as follows: "In the sphere of international politics, the agents of bolshevism are instructed to support all chauvinistic movements and to seek to stimulate all conflicts between different nationalities; to stir up any agitation which may provoke conflicts between different countries; to arrange for the diplomatic representatives of one country stationed in another country to be assassinated in order to provoke trouble between the two countries in question."

Greatest Triumph in History Of The Kentucky Derby Won First and Second

J. K. L. Ross Took Double Honors—Flew to New York—Flew back with the Preakness Stakes—$50,000 in Prize Money on the Two Races

On a recent Saturday at Louisville a Canadian horseman achieved the greatest triumph in the history of the Kentucky Derby, when Commander J. K. L. Ross' horse, Sir Barton and Billy Kelly, finished first and second for the most coveted prize on the American turf. It was the first time the race was ever won by a Canadian, and the first time in its fifty years' history that the winner and the second place horse belonged to the same owner. On Wednesday, another record was established when Commander Ross' Sir Barton won the Preakness Stakes, perhaps the richest race to be decided on American turf this year. In the two races he won not far short of $80,000, apart from bets, and the Montreal sportsman is known to be a generous supporter of his own horses. The result ought to be a matter of pride to all Canadians who love a good race horse, and who for many years have lamented the fact that practically no high-class stake horse was ever owned or bred in this country. Sir Barton is not Canadian bred, being a Kentucky product, but since Commander Ross, with unlimited means at his disposal with unbounded enthusiasm for the sport and with considerable luck has established a couple of breeding farms it is only reasonable to expect that in the near future he will taste the double joy of producing his own winners.

Good Canadian Horses.

So far as a Canadian is concerned the nearest approach to the achievement of Commander Ross is that of the late William Hendrie, who, a generation ago, won the Futurity with Martimas, the Futurity being then the most important and richest stake for two-year-olds on this continent, if not in the world. Mr. Segram used frequently to make a respectable showing in the list of winners on the American tracks, but, with the possible exception of Inferno, he owned no horse capable of holding its own with the American stake horses in weight-for-age events. The late Robert Davies had a more than useful filly in Southern Maid, which made a good showing in the Futurity some half dozen years ago; but with due regard to these exceptions, Canada has not notoriously backward as a producer of thoroughbred horses. She has bred and developed champion jumpers and carriage horses, record-breaking trotters and excellent hackneys of great renown and almost anything else in fine live stock, except the king of them all, the thoroughbred.

Village Kings.

A variety of reasons contributed to this lamentable failure. Perhaps one of them was the extraordinary and exaggerated importance attached to winning a few local races, chief of them the King's Plate. An Ontario breeder who could win this race, limited to provincials, seemed to think that he had won the Derby, and the public clamor confirmed him in the delusion. For a breeder who was in the game for advertising purposes, this success was more valuable than to win at Epsom, and the fact that the King's Plate winners and placed horses have frequently been sold at auction for less than useful delivery horses detracted nothing from the glory of the victory in the eye of the undiscerning, but enthusiastic public. In the good old days before the war, the stakes offered in Canada were not as a rule, sufficient to attract the best of the American handi-cap horses, which could earn more money in the United States. Therefore, the Canadian breeders, so long as they had a good enough stable to beat other Canadians, could win the majority of their home races, make a neat profit on the year and reap untold glory. There was no need for them to buy broodmares and stallions likely to produce racehorses capable of holding their own at Saratoga. Probably the climate in Canada is also unfavorable to the swift growth and maturity of the thoroughbred, and the tendency is for the rich prizes to go to the forward two year olds and three year olds. But John Sanford, of New York, with no more favorable climate than that of Ontario, has produced many noted winners, and the American breeder who wanted stake horses if he happened to live in New York, or in Minnesota for that matter, did not let local climatic conditions deter him. He bought his stock farm in Kentucky or Maryland or Virginia, a course that has always been open to any Canadian who had the ambition to have the best. Commander Ross has taken it, and we wish him success. Nor are untold millions necessary for success on the turf. The late James R. Keene was the most successful breeder of thoroughbreds in the history of the American turf. He was a millionaire, it is true, but there were many richer men competing against him, and competing in vain. Money does not tell all the story of a successful racing stable, by any means.

The late W. C. Whitney was another millionaire who had great success, and like Commodore Ross he had the good luck to be able to buy a winning stable on his first attempt, and laid the foundations for the great stable that his son, Harry Payne Whitney now owns. Sir Edward was far from being the richest race horse breeder and owner in England, yet when he started his racing stable he gave Lord Marcus Bevefords checks for $1,000 to draw on, which was never used, his winnings always more than covering his expenses. From three horses, Pursionimon, Diamond Jubilee and Florizel II, all sons of St. Simon and Perdita, he earned more than a million dollars in stud fees, and sold Diamond Jubilee for something like $150,000. It is neither wealth nor extreme carelessness that will insure success. One must have a bit of luck. For instance, the writer in an American turf paper, a learned man, a profound student of blood lines, and one of the best all round judges in the country, examined the pedigrees and performances of all the candidates in the Kentucky Derby for some weeks previous to the race in an effort to determine by sheer logic, what horses were bound to win. On the day of the race he predicted this result—Eternal Vindex, Regalo, Eternal and Vindex. Vindex, Regalo, Eternal and Regalo finished ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth. The only horse he paid no attention to in his learned summing up was Sir Barton, the winner.

UNREST IS FELT IN CONNECTION WITH ATHLETICS

Questions Raised Regarding Future of Amateurs

Some Proposals

Suggestion That Barriers Between Amateurs and Professionals Should Be Broken Down do Not Meet With Much Favor

(Francis Nelson in Toronto Star.)

Unrest, disquietude and criticism of prevailing conditions are not confined to the social or industrial order in Canada, but are in active evidence in connection with affairs of sport. Especially is this the case in regard to amateurism, since amateur sport is the major and most important division. Professional sport differs from it in its conditions and limitations are hardly things that are debated and disposed of by those taking part, but rather by those who control by reason of holding the purse-strings. The professional athlete, being in receipt of pay, is in the position of the employer, and his conditions are made by the employer. There never was a time, nor ever will be, when finally is reached in the regulations of amateur sport. Proposals of reform are always with us, and properly so, since times and conditions change. The campaign is more active and pressing now, though, because it is intertwined with the "reconstruction" which is going to take place, or which we expect is going to take place.

Exploiting the Returned Man.

The position of the returned man is the basis of many of the more radical propositions, though returned men whose views are received on wide circulation have in the main—Capt. Robert Pearson of Alberta, for instance—hardly made any claim that they are engaged for sweeping alterations in amateur conditions or drastic changes that would overturn the present standard. Captain Pearson was to the war as a chaplain, and then became a fighting man. He can speak from a wide range of experience, as he was a competing athlete and later an able legislator, before he went to France. He apparently holds no conviction that the abandonment of the old principles carries with it the assurance of a better state of affairs. He gave the Calgary meeting some recollections of the undesirable conditions of a few years ago, when the combination of amateurs and professionals in what was denominated amateur sport had brought about a deplorable situation. They were grateful to the Amateur Athletic Union for taking control and saving them from chaos, and "we can't afford to split sport in this part of the country for the sake of a few professionals," he wisely concluded.

Who is to Benefit?

In the last session Captain Pearson put his finger on the touchstone of the question—for the sake of a few professionals. There is a standard by which we may come to a pretty correct conclusion when dealing with the proposals that come up from time to time and which have as their general purpose the amelioration of the obstacles against the inclusion of the professional in amateur sport, to a greater or less degree. The welfare of amateur sport and the amateur spirit is the test to be applied to whatever is proposed that would minimize the distinction between those who play for pay and that immeasurably greater class who play for sport. It is to protect and encourage the latter that amateur rules are made and amateur bodies are established. "Reform" and "reconstruction" are words whose real meaning and effect must be made quite clear before they are adopted. Change is not necessarily beneficial. Alteration does not always spell improvement, and new things must prove their worth before acceptance. Assertion is not enough to justify abandonment of old and universal customs. These may not be perfect, but the onus is on the protagonists of the change to set out good reasons for its bringing into being. They must justify their demand by going beyond mere claims. Sympathy, too, is insufficient as a reason. It is not solid enough founded on which to rear an enduring structure which will withstand the storm and stress of the conditions of varied communities and survive the wear and tear of actual daily use.

The Record of History.

An examination of the desire for radical changes in the old order, guided by the test set out above, the welfare of the amateur develops the necessity of showing, to take up what is perhaps the main point, any instance of the successful operation of the mixing of professionals and amateurs. I mean successful as regards the amateur, with whom alone we are concerned. It is admitted that in old country soccer a certain prosperity has been attained, but that is the prosperity of the professional only. In so far as the chief football organizations

Every Woman's Ambition For Rosy Cheeks Now Easily Satisfied

Hollow cheeks, with dark lines under the eyes, how a woman hates them! But rosy cheeks, clear skin, and bright eyes, give them to a woman and she is happy.

The woman who attracts, whose fresh, dainty complexion compels admiration, is always careful of her health, particularly of her blood condition. Bad complexion always means bad blood.

Girls, don't let your blood grow thin or watery. To do so brings on haggard looks and declining strength.

Many a woman who has allowed herself to run-down, to develop that tired, worried look has built up again in this simple way. Why don't you try it?

At the close of every meal, just take two small chocolate-coated Ferronose tablets—any person can do this in a minute. The action of Ferronose is apparent at once. It sets you up, makes you feel good, starts up your appetite, aids digestion, brings that old-time feeling of youth into the system again.

Ferronose puts you on the right road—the one leading to health.

Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in ill-health, who won't receive immediate help from Ferronose.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferronose is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes, because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. For better looks and better health try Ferronose yourself, sold everywhere, 50c per box; 4 boxes for $2.00, or by mail from The Cataractose Co., Kingston, Ont.

CANADIAN PROVISIONS ARE CHEAPER IN ENGLAND

(Montreal Herald.)

One of the stock excuses for high prices of food in Canada is that there is a great shortage in England, with a big demand at high prices for all the food which comes from this country. English papers just to hand, however, show that practically all food is selling at substantially lower prices than in Canada.

Selected Canadian cheese is quoted at thirty-two cents per pound, while in Canada Canadian cheese sells at forty cents. Bacon in England is quoted at thirty-two to fifty-four cents per pound, here the price is sixty to sixty-four cents. Lard in England, thirty-two cents; here, thirty-eight cents. Potatoes in England, two cents per pound; here, forty cents per peck of four or five pounds.

Beef in England, twenty-six to forty-four cents per pound; here, fifty to fifty-five cents. Lamb in England, twenty-six to forty-four cents per pound; here, thirty to fifty cents. In lieu have in this country and the difference between the D. F. A. and the generally accepted rules of the Amateur Athletic Union is probably responsible for that failure. The game, wherever D. F. A. rule prevails, is practically unplayed by the native-born. In Ontario, especially western Ontario, soccer has entirely lost its vogue in many places where it flourished to a most gratifying extent before the institution of the D. F. A. Lacking a governing body in accord with the conditions prevailing in all other Canadian sports this fine game has fallen into desuetude. No, the case for the intermingling of pros and amateurs cannot be proved by any experience in Canada, and it is by our own conditions that we must be guided. Athletic history tells the same tale with regard to our own national game. No one who has followed lacrosse in eastern Canada can fail to regret the evil step that is practically responsible for the deplorable condition of the finest field game in the world. The game went back with amazing rapidity from the moment that its weak-kneed government listened to the temper's plea that all it needed was to ignore the amateur and let the professional have full swing. He had it and the goose was killed.

Social, Not Athletic Distinction.

Cricket is another game to which the advocates of the mongrel style point as an argument. There is no similarity between English and Canadian conditions when we come to this matter. It is true that there is a distinction set up between amateur and professional cricketers, and that both still play on the one team, but the origin of the distinction there is not really a sporting or competitive one. It is a class difference essentially. The amateur is a "gentleman" and the pro is not, but we are a democratic people in all our sports and no such condition is desirable when perpetuated in Canada, where we are just now even doing our best to abolish titles lest we might be suspected of a lack of democracy. Nor is it true that there is no flaw in the amber of the state of English cricket. Even there the predominance of the professional has become a matter of concern. The Marylebone Cricket Club, it is true, is not like the football association in the trend of its control; it is in the hands of the "gentlemen" for that. Yet complaint was made that when the last English cricket team visited Australia before the war England went on the field in some of the most important matches with a team of two "gentlemen" and nine pros, another demonstration of the predominance, in fact, whatever may be the theory, of the professional player in any game in which he competes on even terms.

Soccer and Lacrosse Lessons.

That soccer in Canada under the rule of the Dominion Football Association permits the same state of affairs as in Britain is true, but it is not true that the game has made the progress it should

VALUE OF HUMAN LIFE

(New York Globe.)

A common dogmatic belief that human lives reach their lowest valuation in periods of war needs revision in the light of modern practice. When, as in early days, a dozen died of wounds to five killed outright in battle, it seemed that nations cared little what became of their men once they were rendered useless for combat by injury. The record improves steadily, however. Complete records of the world war are not yet compiled; but in the British army 90 per cent of the wounded who lived to reach the ambulance were saved, and the medical department of the United States army returned 85 per cent of the men injured in combat fit to resume the fight.

SMOKE MACDONALD'S INDEX
FIRST AID FOR THE LAWRENCE BARREL
(Christian Science Monitor.)
Few cities better exemplify social and industrial conditions that ought not to continue to exist in the United States than the Massachusetts city of Lawrence. In a total population of about 100,000, more than one-third are workers in the great textile mills for which the city is famous, but of these 85,000 operatives more than 10,000, or about one-third, do not speak or understand the English language. That in itself would appear to be enough to explain the continually recurring labor troubles from which the community suffers, but the situation is aggravated by the fact that the non-English-speaking portion of the people is subdivided into many different nationalities and dialects. Almost the last thing that might be expected from such a situation would seem to be that the diversified groups should be able to arrive at a real understanding, whether over industrial matters or anything else. Certainly they can never reach an understanding until they learn to communicate with one another intelligently. Only the other day, an Italian who had lived and worked in the city for at least half a life-time, according to the social welfare agent who cites the instance, went as usual to the gates of the mill where he was employed, but was prevented from entering by the police who took him to be one of the present strikers. He could neither speak nor understand English, so in spite of his attempts to explain that he was entitled to go to work in the mill, he was arrested, and kept in police hands until an interpreter could make his position clear. This man recognized the logic of the situation. He began forthwith to study English. If the same logic could be made to appeal to the thousands of other Lawrence operatives who have for years contented themselves with being in the United States but not of it, there would be some reason to look forward, even for Lawrence, toward a future of comparative peace. Detroit, Michigan, menaced in similar fashion in the years just before the nation entered the war, got right by means of a comprehensive and unremitting campaign to make English the common language, both in the factories and throughout the city.

Bolshevism In The Dominion

Leaders Not All Aliens, Says Business Man

Many Easterners

A Revolt Against Trade Unionism Because it Has Not Brought the Millennium Quickly Enough to Suit the Impatient Ones

(Toronto Globe.)

A prominent western business man, who has much to do with labor, says the opinion commonly held throughout eastern Canada that the leaders of the revolutionary groups in western labor centres are alien enemies or foreigners of some sort is without foundation in fact. Among the rank and file of the organizations that have been swept into the "One Big Union" movement there are many foreigners, but the real leaders of "direct action" are in most cases British-born or eastern Canadian workmen in revolt against the trade union organization, which they regard as having failed to bring about the new industrial order promised by labor reformers.

These social revolutionaries are unreservedly in favor of the application in Canada of the principles of Lenin. They cheer for Bolshevism, and cry out against any interference with Bela Kun's new Bolshevik State, built upon the ruins of Hungarian nationalism. It is necessary that the people of Canada should know what these extremists would put in the place of the present federal, provincial, and civil governments had they the power to act. H. G. Alsberg, an evident sympathizer with revolutionary methods in general, presents in "The New York Nation" a picture of conditions in Budapest under the Commune. His letter is dated March 30th, and directs attention to the wholly new code of laws necessary "when society has to be made

There are five simple ways to tell good tea.

First, by the bright copper color of the tea when steeped.

Second, by the exquisite aroma. Third, by the delightful, refreshing flavor.

Fourth, by the satisfying richness.

Fifth, by the economical strength.

Make a brewing and you will find all these qualities combined in Red Rose.

Red Rose Coffee is as generously good as Red Rose Tea over to attain the proletarian heart's desire." Among the steps taken are "the nationalization of banks, of houses, of art collections, of factories. There are regulations restricting the withdrawal of bank deposits to $400 per month and cutting down all fortunes to the $10,000 level. There are new wage scales which bring the average of wages to $300 a month, and do not permit the experts and entrepreneurs to get more than $600 a month. Also there are laws which give the soldiers a total monthly wage of over $600."

The home, the very foundation of civilization, is swept away by the Hungarian Communists, as it has been by the Russians, for the nationalization of houses involves the surrender to the state not only of the ownership of the house but also of the family, but of the right to decide who shall be lodged within each house. In Petrograd surplus rooms in the homes of good citizens were occupied by all sorts of undesirable on the orders of the Communal authorities.

Scarcely less dangerous to civilization than the destruction of the privacy of the home is the exclusion of all classes, save manual workers, from participation in the government of the country. Mr. Alsberg put it thus: "Another feature, unpleasant to the capitalist, is the law governing the coming Soviet elections. In these elections only working people can vote; no capitalist will be allowed to cast a ballot. The barber who shaves me points out that he will be allowed to vote, but his boss, who also works all day shaving customers, will not be permitted to do so, as he is a capitalist."

It may be asked why self-respecting men and women who are not manual workers suffer themselves to be excluded from the rights of citizenship without making a fight to retain their franchise. The reason is to be found in the fact that the Hungarian Red Guards, as Mr. Alsberg tells us, are paid twice as well as the workmen, and at a higher rate than the technical experts and superintendents who manage the factories of the commune. Force takes the place of justice, and men who are prepared to shoot down the protesting citizens, robbed of his property and his citizenship, are paid more highly than any other class of the community.

The word of the revolutionary leaders is the supreme law. There is no other. We are told with evident approval that "the old law courts have been abolished and revolutionary tribunals established where a lawyer may not show his face, except under penalty of death. The people's commissary said in stern Cromwellian tones when appealed to by briefless barristers, 'If you can't learn a useful handicraft, then you'll have to learn to sweep the streets.'"

Against the terrible tyranny that deprives men of their homes, their savings, their right to vote, their equality before the law, no protest is permitted. Public meetings are barred to opponents of the Soviets in Russia, while in Hungary Mr. Alsberg tells us: "To old-fashioned eyes this dictatorship of the proletariat may look oppressive. There is, for instance, no such thing as a free press in Hungary. All the newspapers have been nationalized, and write exactly as they are told; all look alike, and are alike uninteresting."

So that to the destruction of the home, the denial of the right of self-government, and the abolition of trial by legal process, the Bolshevists have added the throttling of the press. For all except the commissaries and their camp followers life under such conditions must be almost unendurable. The autocracy of czarism has been outdone by the autocracy of the Commune. Do the Canadians who cheer for the "One Big Union," with its Bolshevik appeals, understand that one of the first measures of the "Reds" were they to succeed in imposing their views upon the people of this country, would be the socialization of houses, a step destructive immediately of the privacy of home life, and ultimately of home itself. There are in the Dominion hundreds of thousands of workmen's houses owned by the workmen themselves. How would they like the idea of turning their homes over to a communistic state so that the least thrifty and least progressive elements of the community would become equal owners with them of the houses built by years of steady thrift? Yet that is involved in the form of communism which Canadians are asked to initiate.

The time comes for the taking of defensive measures of a drastic sort against those who produce in Canada the conditions now existing in Russia and Hungary.

MANIFESTO ON THE FUTURE OF TURKEY

Mr. Balfour Has Received Petition Signed by the Aga Khan and Others Opposing Policy of Dismemberment of Turkey

London, May 21.—A memorandum on the future of Turkey has been forwarded to the Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, opposing the policy of dismemberment to be regarded to the country and territories now in British occupation in the near East. The memorial bears the signatures of His Highness the Aga Khan, Amir Ali A. Bey, M. N. Ispahani, A. A. Mirza, H. S. M. Anik, Shaik M. H. Kidwai of Gadhla, Khwaja Kamran Khan, Muzammil Pictahall, S. H. Kidwai of Rampur, Ibrahim S. Haji and about twenty other persons. By the courtesy of His Highness the Aga Khan, the memorial has been placed at the disposal of "The Christian Science Monitor."

It may be recalled that in a previous memorial of January 1, in respect to the future of Constantinople, Thrace, and the homeland of the Turkish nation, the signatories refrained from expressing their opinion with regard to the other parts of the Turkish Empire, reserving it for a further representation to the British government as they were not acquainted with the proposals before the Peace Conference for their ultimate disposition.

"We now learn, states the memorial, that it is proposed to form them into self-governing states, under the protection of one or other of the allied and associated powers. As there is no Muhammadan representative on the conference to place before it the opinions of His Majesty's Mussulman subjects concerning the vast problems affecting the whole Islamic world which form the subject of consideration by the conference, we venture to take the only constitutional course left to us for acquainting His Majesty's government and the allied powers with our views, viz., to submit those views in this memorial."

"We welcome the proposal to create self-governing states in the occupied provinces of Turkey and in Armenia under the guarantee of the League of Nations, but we most strongly deprecate the suggestion to sever them absolutely from the Turkish Empire. Our reasons for this submission are not sentimental; they are founded on grounds of expediency and policy which we respectfully venture to think deserve the serious consideration of His Majesty's government and the allied and associated powers. The evidence as to the depth of feeling, not only among the vast Mussulman population of India, but also among the Afghans and the frontier tribes, who form the bulk of the Mussulman element in the Indian army) against the dismemberment of Turkey in favor of the preservation of her prestige, is accumulating day by day.

"We hope that, with the disappearance of the two enemies that hitherto exploited Asiatic unrest and misgovernment to their own advantage with a view to final political or economic absorption, the new peace would assure the pacific development of western and middle Asia on durable lines. We have no hesitation in expressing our conviction that Turkey, under a government such as she has now been fortunate enough to obtain, with her prestige among the Mussulmans of the world, would be an immense source of strength to England and the allied powers who rule over large masses of Moslems. We feel sure that a new era would dawn on western Asia if His Majesty's government were pleased to accede to the request of the Turkish government, made, we believe, before the world war for the loan of the services of a distinguished Anglo-Indian administrator, with a competent staff, to take charge of the civil and revenue administration of Asia Minor.

"We fear, however, that the complete and absolute severance from the Turkish Empire of the provinces whose future status is under consideration will give rise to a rankling sense of injustice. "In any event, we venture strongly to urge that these proposed new autonomous states should not be withdrawn from the spiritual suzerainty of the Ottoman sovereign as Caliph. Our reasons for making this submission are based firstly on our desire for the peaceable development of western Asia; and secondly on the necessity, in our opinion, of an endeavor on the part of His Majesty's government to meet—so far as possible—the wishes and legitimate feelings of the Mussulmans who form fully one-fourth of the population of the Empire.

"Under the Sunni system of jurisprudence, the investiture of a new ruler by the Caliph, the Chief Pontiff, regulates his status in the eyes of his people and makes any rising against him illegal; it gives him a prestige in the Mussulman world and places him in an unimpugnable position. This was the reason that led the Mussulman sovereigns of India, before the rise of the Shah Empire, which divided them from the Western Sunnis, to apply and obtain investiture from the Chief Pontiff
