Of late, however, we find them appointing committees to deal with a great variety of practical affairs. The Christian Science Monitor enumerates some of their more recent activities, and points out that they have to do with "such practical matters as neighborhood and school centres, playgrounds, the creation and care of parks and park-ways; the care of lawns, schools and general gardening, cultivation of vacant lots, civic cleanliness and beautification and municipal improvement in general; as well as with educational extension, libraries, art galleries and public entertainments." Their work is thus of an intensely practical nature, and the sphere of their use-energy from the sun would be about $152 per horse-power, says Frank Shuman in the current issue of Power. An excellent steam plant could be put down for $40 and the standard charges on the one hundred odd in excess of this would and better advertising have given the buyer an insight into the possible usedollars a long ton. It would appear that One of the most hopeful signs of the imes is the tendency of buyers to buy supplies instead of simply having them sold to them. In other words, the engioutlay greater than it would be at the

Miss Marguerite Adams, of the sophomore class, was announced as winner of Brydone Jack scholarship for proficiency in third year physics.

In Praise of the Founders

Speaking on this subject, R. B. Miller, M. A., M. F., said:—

It is customary, upon this day, to commend in a brief address those ality and perseverance have been built into it—I refer to the former chancellors and professors of this institution.

After all, the faculty are the keepers of this light upon the hill. New faces may come and go, but the light must still burn. This institution has something back of it better than the conceptions and ideals of its founders, noble as these may have been—the personal endowment of spirit and energy which these teachers of the past have contributed out of an ever waning store, as the hair whitened, the voice lost its old ring and the step became more feeble. These men, more than the founders, would I praise today, whose rich heritage of mind and memory we enjoy. Theirs is an unbroken line of kingly succession. It was their devotion to duty gether, rather than the church and the state, is significant of a profound change in social relations and corporate thought. It would lead us too far afield if I were Neglect is the Cause of Gray Hair

Easily Corrected If You Only Will

No woman nowadays need lose the charm of her rich, lustrous hair with advancing years. Gray and faded hair destroys a woman's charm as nothing else will do.

It would lead us too far afield if I were to try, were it a subject I were properly qualified to speak upon, to place before you the causes that led to the close connection of the prelates who were the exponents of the religious feelings of a people with the princes who were its governing authorities. Apart from the obvious fact that the religious and moral beliefs of a people must find expression in its constitution and its laws—are indeed the very fibre of its construction—and that therefore those two essentials of community life, faith and law, must be linked together, there were two outelse will do.

It seems a shame that any woman should suffer the annoyance of gray hair standing reasons why in our early history church and state were named in the same breath. Those were the great the same breath.

> of the church came the first lessening of its direct part and influence in government; and with the spread of knowlment; and with the spread of knowledge and learning among the laity there ceased to be any reason why the latter should not fill many of the places formerly held by the clergy in the making and execution of the laws.
> Add to these the loss of unity in the clarge and the consequent manifold sub-KODAK FILM church and the consequent manifold sub-division of the forms of religious belief, and I think we have the essential ele-ments of the spirit of the change that ments of the spirit of the change that has taken place in this regard during the last century or two of our civilization.
> The time was, too, and not so many generations ago, that a learned man, be he churchman or layman, was learned not in a special field, but practically all domains of knowledge could be his. mint into gold; but when it finds the ore has the gold in its veins, it can extract it, and refine it, and mould it into noblest relief. Fortunate is the university which can truly admire its handi-work in one case out of every hundred. But that one may be made to influence the lives of hundreds and thousands of his fellow men. Such men, I say, the country needs; but more than that, such men the country needs in the country's service. This is true of every state; but especially so in this young country where the problems are not only great and com-plicated, but where the idea of service to the state is yet in its infancy.

The need for trained men in its service, not only in its greater aspects of statecraft and constructive legislation, but in all the ramifications of its admin-istrative and executive work, has led istrative and executive work, has led almost every enlightened government to foster universities in its midst. These state universities are as broad in their sympatheties, and as unschackled in their teaching, and as wide in their interests, as are the varied constituent elements of the state. What the German universities, not only state-aided but even state-directed, have done for that country one does not need to urge upon even state-directed, have done for that country one does not need to urge upon you. We all know the outeries that have been raised against them, how they have been hot-beds of agnosticism, and of socialism, and even of anarchism; but it only means that their government has been wise enough and sane enough and far-sighted enough to leave young German mentality uncurbed, knowing that only good can come in the end from that only good can come in the end from this Lehrfreiheit.

The philosophical and religious con-ceptions and the social order that will not stand the acid test must submit to modifications. To know is to believe, and religion and society have nothing to fear from knowledge; but rather from darkness. The result has been progress in every phase of human thought, whether philosophical, scientific, religious aesthetic or commercial. The state has been the gainer, the body of truth has been enriched, and the truth shall make us free.

Under the quickening influence of the state university in the United States, American education has made great strides, and American life has been stimulated on many new sides by the university-trained man, and the state is drawing into its use a larger and larger number of men trained for constructive effort. In our own country Ontario has seen the error of its earlier ways, and the western provinces have made an enviable beginning. You in New Brunswick have here in this university an institution which deserves your support in a way you can not overestimate, and you have not, as in my unfortunate province, much to undo before you can o forward to bringing to bear on future greatness one of the greatest in-fluences a state can possess, a free and fluences a state can possess, a free and broad-based, state-assisted seat of learning. I would like to say to you—strain a point to cherish it; let it, make it, grow; the period you must wait for the product of its fruition will not be long, and will amply repay the privations you may suffer in the days of its growing.

The present inefficiency of our governmental methods, whether civic, provincial or federal, has become almost a hy-word. We have set up all sorts of Hagersville, Ont., Aug. 26th, 1918.

"About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys and liver were not doing their work, and I became all run-down. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen "Fruit-a-tives" advertised, I decided to try them.

Their effect I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the results all that could have been expected.

My liver and kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old time vitality. Today, I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever enjoyed, and I unhesitatingly give you this testimonial for publication if you wish."

B. A. KELLY.

In hundreds of letters received by the Fruit-a-tives Company, the same expression is used "Fruit-a-tives is the best kidney remedy in the world." At any rate, these tablets have proved the best to the hundreds of men and women who have been cured by taking them. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

In negretatine day, have set up all sorts of technical and special schools and commissions for the training of men for trade, for commerce, for journalism, for manufacture; but we train and select no men for the far greater business of managing administrative affairs. We are glad to give that to the man who offers himself for it, well knowing that in the majority of cases his unfitness for any great work is the reason he is free to accept this one. It is also pitful to observe our cities casting about for new forms of government, city commissions, howers of control, etc., as if the form, not the personal element, were the fact-or for success. Until the political spoils system is eradicated from our national life, and we call to its service the educated intelligence and trained conscience of the community, so long we must retard our own progress and make the criminal blunders we are making today, from which coming generations will suffer even more than we. Every day, legions of people get rid of their corns with Blue-jay. This easy method now removes a million corns a month.

You who suffer with corns do yourselves an injustice. Blueay will instantly stop the pain. And in 48 hours, without any soreness, the corn comes out

About half the people know this now. When a corn appears they put Blue-jay on it. Then they forget it. In a couple of days they lift out the corn and bid it good-bye

You can't do that by paring corns. And you can't with old-time treat-ments. You may get relief for a little while, but the corns simply stay and grow.

Try this modern, scientific way— the way now employed by physicians and hospitals. Get rid of the corn. It is just as easy, just as painless as

Start Right-Save Money-and Get Well By Taking Disaster at Moosehead Lake, GIN PILLS For The Kidneys

It is a great mistake to experiment with unknown, untried remedies, if there is any tro-ble with Kidneys or Bladder. It usually results in a waste of time and money, and serious injury to the health. GIN PILLS have cured thousands of cases of Kidney and Bladder trouble, Backache and Rheumatism. GIN PILLS have proved their value. GIN PILLS will cure you. Be guided by this letter and take GIN PILLS.

Trank Crockett, of Brockton, Me., and Romeo Gegare, of St. Justine, Que., were killed on Tuesday last on Elm stream, seventeen miles above Moose-deal. The pain in his back was dreadful and the kidneys failed to do their work properly. As he became worse, we found it necessary to begin treatment and unfortunately, wasted time and money on remedies that were little or no good.

After taking one dose of GIN PILLS, he found them to be exactly what he needed, and after taking order to start the drive of logs they had two boxes of GIN PILLS, was completely cured. We heartily recommend GIN PILLS at every opportunity to our friends and relatives."

No Hairy Growths

After This Treatment

(Beauty Notes).

After much experimenting it has been found that delatone is as effective for removing hairy growths as the electric needle. And the argument in favor of the new method is that it is inexpensive, painless and takes little time. Here is the treatment: With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the undesirable hairs, apply and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off and with it comes every trace of hair. The skin should then be washed to remove the remaining delatone.

Young Moore is survived by his parents, Captain and Mrs. Everett Moore, of Parrsboro, N. S., where his home is situated, and by three brothers and one sister, all of whom, with the exception of one brother, Parkland, who is at sea, are at home. His father, Captain Moore, late of the schooner Eva Stewart, is well known in St. John, and friends will sympathize with him in the loss of his young son.

The working conditions of handling the winter business during the last season had not been at all satisfactory, he said. It appeared that neither St. John nor Halifax had adequate facilities at the present time and with a mind to future business it was absolutely essential to hasten forward the development of the harbor work on the west side.

"The C. P. R. had no quarrel with St. John, he said, and he was glad to know that the purpose of having the delegation meet him was to arrive at a better understanding. He made a very candid statement concerning railway and steamship matters in the last winter and left the impression upon the minds of the delegates that the Gutelius agreement, so called, had not worked out satment, so called, had not worked out satment, so called, had not worked out satment.
