WHAT IS THE GOOD OF IT?

By H. P. ... I had a hard time of it, but I had to do it. I had to do it for the good of the society.

TORONTO DISTRICT LABOR COUNCIL

The good attendance and the enthusiasm that prevailed at the regular meeting of the Toronto District Labor Council...

After a lengthened discussion the report of the Finance Committee was adopted and approved by the Council.

Communication from the People's Cafe was understood.

Communication from the People's Cafe was understood.

The writer, speaking of the members in the good days to come, said that the workers in that country...

John—You might have had Tom. You see, I had a hard time of it, but I had to do it.

IN THE WAKE OF A SIDE COB

By SYLVIA LEE

Copyright, 1914, by S. C. McElroy

When the first one comes on one has never loved before, though one has never loved before, though one has never loved before.

Well, one says the side counts with out a question, and later perhaps one reflects. But then it's too late.

It thus befell with Harbison, and Leda were the two weary heads on the deck of the boat.

And when, at a dance at the Lake-side club, young Wrycroft, the very famous, just back, invited Leda to go out for a moonlight row around the pier with him and Leda accepted and went Harbison not only wondered, but grit his teeth as well.

THE TOILER

When they were out later, there seemed to be a moon of shadow instead with the preliminary silence.

The man spoke first (and he waited a good while).

"You haven't found it, have you?"

"Oh, dear, no."

"Don't you think perhaps it fell out in the boat?"

"Why, there was nothing in the boat to begin with."

Leda's mouth flew open in wide amazement.

"What told you we were to be the boat?"

"I know it all the time."

"I never will again, truly."

"How could you believe so?"

"How could you believe so?"

"How could you believe so?"
