A PARALLEL CASE.

Capture of Col. Synges by Eastern Brigands Somewhat Similar to that of Miss Stone.

Consul General Blunt of Boston Directed the Efforts that Eventually Secured the Officer's Release.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The capture of Miss Ellen Stone, the American board missionary, by Bulgarian brigands, is of more than ordinary interest to J. E. Blunt, C. B., the British consul general in this city, who, while representing Great Britain in the consular service at Salonica in 1880, was directly concerned in a case similar in many respects to the one with which the United States government is now endeavoring to bring to a satisfactory solution. From the experience of Consul General Blunt, who has returned from a pleasant visit to St. John with the British Veterans, and his knowledge of the usual methods and motives of those engaged in the nefarious work of brigandage in that eastern country, it is evident that to despatch troops in pursuit of those in whose custody the captive is. When soldiers are sent to hunt down outlaws of the desperate character of the Eastern brigand, the life of the captive is in great danger, and almost invariably the robbers slay the prisoner. The disaster which befel the party of Lord Muncaster, captured by brigands in Greece in 1870 and held for ransom, was due to the blunder of those who attempted to hunt down the outlaws with soldiers.

The case which was handled by Consul General Blunt, was that of Col. H. Synges, an Englishman, who was captured by brigands under the notorious Captain Niko at Tricovista, in the Carferia district of Macedonia. Eventually Col. Synges's release was effected by the payment of a heavy ransom, after all the machinery of the British government, including the despatch of several warships had been employed. The assistance of the Turkish government and that of Greece was also given, but at no time while Col. Synges was in captivity was there an attempt made to run the outlaws to earth with soldiers. Col. Synges himself specifically warned the British authorities against the employment of troops, soon after his capture, as he was certain that such action would mean his death.

During the negotiations for the captive's release, Lord Salisbury, the British premier, received a report that a Turkish detachment had been sent in pursuit of the brigands. The premier at once telegraphed the British ambassador at Thessalonica to use his influence to prevent the adoption of any measures that would endanger Col. Synges's safety.

Col. Synges was captured about nine o'clock on the night of Feb. 19, 1898. About 25 Greek brigands armed with Martini-Henry rifles, and led by Capt. Niko, invaded the property of Col. Synges at Tricovista. After considerably damaging the house by their shots, the brigands called on Col. Synges to surrender, threatening to burn his residence unless he did so. As they proceeded to carry out their threats, they were admitted to the house, and forthwith seized the proprietor and bound him. Col. Synges ordered his servants, three in number, not to resist, and no harm was done them. The robbers took what money the colonel had on him, seized two of his horses, and carried him off to the mountains.

The case was reported next day to Consul General Blunt at Salonica, and it was due to his tireless efforts that the captive was eventually released. The British government was immediately notified of the outrage, and for over a month the machinery of three governments was directed towards securing the release of the Englishman. The Consul General Blunt proceeded to Caterina, about 40 miles from Salonica, and some 10 miles inland on the west side of the Gulf of Salonica, in order to open negotiations with the brigand chief, Niko, relative to Col. Synges's ransom and release. After some days' delay he received the following terms:

- 1. That all movements of troops be suspended while negotiations were going on.
2. The amount of ransom to be 15,000 Turkish pounds, 15 gold watches and chains, a Martini rifle and a revolver and 400 cartridges for the Martini.
3. That Niko's father, brother and cousin, who are in prison in Greece wrongfully, as he states, should be released.
4. The release of several of his village friends who are in prison in Salonica, also, as he asserts, wrongfully.
5. The safe removal of some of his relatives from Caterina to Greece.
6. That four days should be allowed to elapse after Col. Synges was released before any pursuit took place.

The ransom was later reduced to 12,000 Turkish pounds, and this was paid by the British government. Niko's relatives were released, the Greek government agreeing to do this as the charges against them were not of unusual importance. Throughout the negotiations, Consul General Blunt was ably assisted by the Turkish authorities, who afterwards took steps towards apprehending the brigands. During the last stage of the negotiations, H. M. S. Conder was at Salonica, and Commander Edward P. Day gave able assistance. Mr. Hunt and Commander Day were both thanked by Lord Salisbury for the successful part they took in the affair.

Col. Synges was well treated by the brigands during his captivity. Had soldiers been sent after Niko and his band, however, the colonel stated, that the brigands would not have hesitated to kill him.

The situation which is the outgrowth of the capture of Miss Stone appears to be much the same, and those who are acquainted with the ways of Eastern brigands, believe there is little Love is unequally yoked with sickness. Labor is lightened by love, but love cannot lighten pain or relieve it. Many a man looks on at his wife's suffering willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

Sometimes, however, the husband's attention is directed to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and its remarkable cures of womanly diseases. He may not have much hope of a cure, but he is led to try the medicine, with the result that in almost every case there is a perfect and permanent cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularly. It dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled.

chance of securing her release without the payment of a ransom, much as it might encourage brigandage in the future.

STEEL LAUNCHES FOR NAVY. To Be Built by Victoria Firms at Cost of Fifty Thousand Dollars. (Victoria Colonist.)

A contract has been awarded by the war department to the Victoria Machinery Depot for the construction of two twin-screw steam launches for the submarine mining service in connection with the defenses of Esquimaux. The contract, which calls for the best material, is the first given by the imperial naval authorities for the construction of any vessel on this coast, and the work involved in the building will give employment to many skilled workmen for the cost of the two vessels will total $50,000. The plans, which have been forwarded to the Victoria Machinery Depot on the awarding of the contract, call for two twin-screw vessels, similar in size and model. Each will be 50 feet long between the perpendiculars, have a moulded breadth of 13 feet, and have a depth of five feet nine inches. They will have a hull of the best East Indian teak, which will have to be specially imported for the work. The teak finished cabins will be upholstered and fitted with the best furniture that can be secured. The cabin, which stands above the deck aft, will be formed of East Indian teak throughout, and will be framed and paneled with the same wood. It will have an entrance on the after end, with sliding tops, etc. The launches will be engine with fore and aft compound engines, and the boilers of the ordinary Scotch marine model will have to be submitted to the test by the admiralty of 240 pounds to the square inch.

The two launches will have a high speed, and will be specially fitted for the service into which they are to be placed when delivery is made by the Victoria Machinery Depot to the naval officers at Esquimaux. Forward large derricks are to be placed, leaning over the bows, each capable of lifting heavy weights, mines, etc. The steel hull will be sheathed forward with teak, and the fitting about the deck will be of brass and galvanized metal, in fact the best of everything is to be used in the construction. All the forged work will be submitted to strict tests by the admiralty officers and the steel plates are all to be strictly tested.

Up to the present the tariff of New South Wales was practically on a free trade basis, and as such was one of the British colonies specially mentioned in the Canadian customs tariff. Our chief exports to Australia during the last three years were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Value. Includes Broadstuffs, Carriages and bignons, Colons, Agricultural implements, Machinery, Laths, and Furniture.

It is evident from what can be gathered from the monthly reports of the Australian tariff that it is not as favorable to "Canada as the British preferential tariff" is to New South Wales. It is to be hoped, however, that the governments of the two chief "British dominions beyond the seas" will arrive at some reciprocal arrangement whereby the removal of the Canadian preference on the products of New South Wales may be obtained.

Here is another matter for the attention of the Canadian trade and commerce department.—Hardware and Metal.

President Roosevelt Once Gave to a Young Law Student. President Roosevelt gave some advice a few years ago on "How to Get on in Life" to a young law student, which is so characteristic of the soldier-statesman and so pertinent that it is worth reproducing now as a guide to the woman who is faltering and groping her way to fame and fortune.

This is what the strenuous Roosevelt advised the wavering young lawyer to do: "I know that you will want out my mind and get a case. I don't care how you get it. Your own wits ought to find one at least which no other lawyer has. I wouldn't take a justice shop case, either. I'd find a case that was right up in the regular courts and which possessed some merit. I wouldn't take it for nothing either, or on a contingency. I would have a decent fee

AUSTRALIAN TARIFF.

Long Expected New Tariff at Last Brought Down.

A Matter for the Attention of the Canadian Trade and Commerce Department.

Australia's long-expected new tariff has at last been brought down, having been submitted to the federal house of representatives on October 8 by the minister of trade and commerce. The average ad valorem duties are 18.7 per cent. And, while the maximum ad valorem duty is 35 per cent, some of the composite and fixed duties will, it is said, reach 100 per cent. Excluding narcotics and alcohol, it is estimated that the remainder of the duties will average 30 per cent.

The rates of duty, according to the cable information, are as follows: Galvanized and corrugated iron, 10c per ton. Agricultural machinery, 15c per cent. Sparking wire, 12c per gal. Other wire, bottled to the federal house, 10c per gal. Other wire, in bulk, 8c per gal. Tobacco, manufactured, 5c per lb. Excise tax, 10c per lb. Cigars, 10c per 100. Cigarettes, 10c per 100. Cottons and linsens, 10 and 15 p. c. Furniture, 10c per cent. Glass, 10c per cent. White labor alone.

In order to encourage the development of the iron and steel industry, a system of bonuses similar to those existing in Canada is proposed. In his tariff speech the minister of trade and commerce said the bonus on pig iron would be 12s. per ton when made from Australian ore and 8s. when from foreign ore. On steel ingots, when 50 per cent of Australian ore is used, the bonus will be 12s. The bonus will be given from July, 1902.

It is so happened that the first case which this young man tried involved at the time a technical point not first noticed by him, which it would necessitate the United States supreme court to pass upon. His case was the case of "Roosevelt's enthusiasm" into the case, found the technicality, carried it through all the courts of the state, took it to the highest tribunal and in fact, the rule applies to every walk of life. If your heart is in what you have to do, no matter how small the undertaking, the greater things are certain to come to you, and in rich reward.

Headaches, Biliousness and Constipation are Thoroughly Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

There is no single organ in the human body which exerts such a wide influence over the other organs as does the liver. It has been well named the regulator of the system. Once the liver grows sluggish and fails to filter bile poisons from the system, there comes pain and distress. The head aches, the tongue is coated, the bowels become constipated, the digestive system is thrown out of order, and foul impurities, that should be removed from the body, are sent back into the blood stream to find their way to the weak spots of the human frame.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct action on the liver, bring prompt relief and lasting benefit. Nearly everybody is familiar with the extraordinary virtues of these pills. In the case of a sample of the letters received from cured ones: Mr. John Skelton, the well known bridge builder, of 10 Sherwood street, Ottawa, states: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney and liver derangements brought on by exposure, and find them better than any pill or medicine I have ever used."

"I cleaned my system and made me healthy and vigorous and better in every way. Besides, I cured my liver, my liver and kidney medicines that I know of."

Mr. G. Bird, Harrison, Ont., says: "I have suffered agonies from sick headache and dizziness, often having to take to my bed. Besides, I was afflicted with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, I tried a box of these. They indeed are wonderful—relieve quickly."

Mr. James Baird, postmaster Concession, Ont., says: "I give me and my wife much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a family medicine of superior value. We use them in preference to all other pills in our family, and I might here state that they cured my wife's suffering from biliousness, and also cured my wife of sick headache, from which she suffered severely."

A CABPAGE TREAT. Slice half a tender young cabbage very thin and fine and put it into a deep dish that has a close fitting cover. Sprinkle it with salt, let it stand an hour or two, and drain well before pouring on the dressing. Make the latter in this way: Heat one cup vinegar, add butter the size of a walnut and two beaten eggs. Stir well together and bring to a boil. Add one-half teaspoonful mustard, a little pepper and a tablespoonful of sugar that have been wet with vinegar. Stir constantly, and as soon as this sauce has thickened pour it, boiling hot, over the cabbage. Cover closely to retain the steam and set aside until the next day. Serve cold.

attached to it. In other words, I would have as many respectable citizens, attached to the case as possible under the circumstances.

"Having got that case," continued Roosevelt, "I would try it as if it were the last case ever expected to come or which would ever be in the courts. I would not make a nuisance of myself. You know enough to avoid that, but you can be so insistent that you will win the respect of every one who in any way, comes into connection with the trial. Put all of yourself in the case. Get every side of it, and above all things, hammer it into your client by the force of your actions that your integrity is above reproach."

"When you get done with that case you will have a reputation that many lawyers devote years in other ways trying to obtain. You will find that a second case is certain to come to you, whether you lose or win the first one. I would treat the second case," he continued, "just as if it were the first one. Live and act as if there was never such a case in existence before, and master it just as you are required to master your studies at the law school. If you find the rule applies to every walk of life, if your heart is in what you do, no matter how small the undertaking, the greater things are certain to come to you, and in rich reward."

OTTAWA.

Militia Department Notified of Several Canadian Casualties in South Africa.

Delay in Completing Militia Store Building—Amendments to the Kings Army Regulations—Hay Shipments.

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—The Houseworkers' Union (domestic servants' union) has decided to issue a circular to distribute in all the cities of Canada protesting against the action of Hon. A. G. Blair in introducing Chinese servants into his household. The union proposes to try to work up an agitation which will arouse public opinion against the innovation and prevent others from following the example set by the minister.

Lord Minto and suite returned to Ottawa this afternoon. The Duke of Cornwall distributed over 1,600 South African medals in Canada, leaving 600 for the department to send out. The Bourassa will not be invited to the general assembly next session on the ground that he divulged secrets of the caucus in the house last session. General O'Grady-Haly is confined to his house with an attack of bronchitis. He was to have left for Halifax today, and spend Thursday and Friday there inspecting the third special service battalion of the R. C. R. I., but in view of his illness this will not be possible on the dates named. The general is due at Fredericton on Wednesday next, and may go there before proceeding to Halifax.

Col. Cartwright, inspector of musketry, is at present engaged in preparing a new set of regulations for the use of military and civilian rifle associations throughout the country. The department of militia was notified today that the Massey-Harris company shipped 28 transport wagons to South Africa, this being a portion of the order of 50 placed with that firm by the war office, through the department of militia.

The Ottawa Car Co. some time ago sent a shipment of similar wagons to the seat of war, and they have given general satisfaction. Since the outbreak of hostilities the value of goods shipped from Canada, on order of the imperial authorities, exceeds $1,250,000. These orders included saddlery of all kinds, hats and caps, wagons, etc. Capt. Bell and 2nd Lieut. E. G. McLean, 6th Regiment, have received musketry certificates. His next of kin is J. Z. Milne, Q'Appelle Station, Trooper J. B. Dewolfe, dangerously ill of enteric fever at Bloemfontein, son of J. Dewolfe, Ingersoll, Henry Tunstead, reported missing last week, has re-joined his troop.

Truant officers report that yesterday 2,900 pupils were absent from the city schools on account of sickness. The building committee of the militia stores building has been roofed in for several weeks, work on the structure has been practically at a stand still for four months. The building cannot be completed until early in the new year.

Militia orders issued today make certain changes in the regulations regarding the full dress of field and garrison artillery. Amendments to the King's army regulations, dealing especially with military training, are published. They are of particular interest to commanding officers.

The formation of a rifle association in connection with the Halifax Garrison Artillery has been approved. The total shipments of hay from Canada to South Africa on account of this city, with orders to sell her. The price fixed is not known.

ESCORT RETURNS. Several of the Vessels that Accompanied Ophir Part Way to Newfoundland—Had Fine Weather—Back at Halifax—Had Fine Weather—Blake—The Manning of the Yards.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 23.—The war vessels that accompanied the royal yacht out of the harbor, returned yesterday afternoon, with the exception of the Crescent and Proserpine, and the Crescent will remain at St. John's until Thursday. The Proserpine went to Bermuda, and the Niobe and Diadem are consorts of the royal yacht. The fleet met with fine weather after it got outside. The royal yacht ran through a snow storm off Chatham Head, and after that experienced fine weather, with a clear sky and bright sun. A salute was fired by all the returning warships when they reached the harbor, with the exception of the Diadem and Niobe, with the Crescent steaming alone on even terms with the other vessels of the fleet. The torpedo boats number 41 and 42, after their return from accompanying the Ophir, were housed for the winter, and repairs on them will be commenced at once.

The Crescent on her return to Halifax will remain here till the 8th of November, when she will go to Bermuda, then to Portsmouth, where she will go out of commission and be assigned to the reserve. According to the present report of the dockyard, the Crescent will be replaced on this station by the cruiser Blake. The Blake was the largest cruiser that ever visited Halifax, except the Diadem and Niobe. A report was in circulation today that there would be an investigation by the admiralty into the facts regarding the manning of the yacht armament by H. M. S. Alert. It was stated that the sailors who manned the arms were nearly perished before they were allowed to come down. The men were in their bare feet and had no gloves on their hands, and at the time they were aloft the weather was very cold, with snow. No investigation was held up to the time of the sailing of the Alert this morning for Panama.

THE NEW PRESIDENT. A Frayer. The following poem, by Clinton Dangerfield, is reproduced, by permission, from advance sheets of the November Century.

Not for the silent thief whom Death Gently and sedulously keeps Within a splendid calm; taught mars His well-worn laurels where he sleeps. Rather for him who natively stands Half started on a slippery height, Like a strong falcon with some hand Unhoped rudely, whom the light Floods unforeseen, but who shall prove A wide-winged strength! For him we pray.

Give him such wisdom swift and keen He shall restore us yesterday! Dillon, Georgia.

shooting at the nation of shopkeepers. But Napoleon died on the same British island where many of the Boers, whom Mr. Bourassa admires, are now sojourning.

More interesting is Mr. Bourassa's denunciation of imperialism in Canada and gives his story of the way in which Mr. Chamberlain procured the Canadian contingents. We take this report from the Montreal Herald.

Speaking in England, Mr. Bourassa said Chamberlain had tampered his views to the colonies by sending his followers to the colonies.

PROVINCIAL NEWS

HAMPTON, Kings Co., Oct. 22.—This morning at 10 o'clock Judges Landry and Barker opened their court for the trial of the petition of Thomas Gilliland against the return of George W. Fowler, under the Dominion Controversial Elections Act. R. LeBert Tweedie, K. C., was registrar, and W. H. Fry, stenographer. George A. Blair, jr., counsel for petitioner, said he had no witnesses to produce before the court, and the respondent, G. W. Fowler, for himself, added he had nothing to submit further than to ask that the petition be dismissed without costs. Mr. Blair asked that an order be made that the amount deposited with the government by the petitioner be returned to him, less the sheriff's expenses. Thereupon Judge Landry declared the petition dismissed and the court adjourned sine die.

H. J. Fowler has purchased a five year old trotter from Dr. Rudick of St. Martins. Its sire was Arclight, out of a Sir Charles mare. It is a picture of strength and symmetry, as it spins up and down our roads under the experienced handling of its owner. The price paid is said to be in the neighborhood of $500.

PEITITODIAC, Oct. 21.—There will be a birthday sociable in the Methodist church on Wednesday evening for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the new bell, which was hung last week.

Quite a number of Peititodiac people went to the city last Thursday to see the royal visitors.

It is understood that the Baptists have engaged the Rev. Mr. McNeill of Hampton as pastor. The church has had no regular minister since last May.

Mrs. Peck is enjoying a visit home after an absence of 20 years in British Columbia. Mrs. P., who was a Miss Crandall, is a sister of Mrs. W. P. Price.

The station and platform were very prettily decorated with flags and bunting, in honor of the royal party passing en route to St. John last week.

MILLSTREAM, Kings Co., Oct. 18.—A deep gloom was cast over this place when it was learned that Mrs. Patrick Morgan, a highly respected and much beloved lady, passed away at her home on Friday, 11th inst. She leaves a husband, two sons, John, of this place, and Patrick of the U. S., and one daughter, Mrs. Francis Ross, now residing in Sussex. She also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Michael Haines, Mrs. Francis Dube, Mrs. Phillip O'Donnell, her father, Mr. Haley, and a number of other relatives and friends.

Up to the present writing no opposition has developed to the present members of the municipal council. Messrs. S. G. Flewelling, and H. J. Fowler, whose nomination papers have been duly filed.

A very interesting harvest service was held in the old parish church last Sunday morning, the decorations of flowers, fruit and vegetables being tasteful and suggestive. The sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. C. D. Schofield.

Section Foreman Thomas Conway and his men have been busy for the past week in taking up and renewing the track at and about the station; old sleepers have been removed and new hemlock ties substituted, and heavier rails laid to bear the greater wear and tear of the heavy trains now being run.

SALMON CREEK, Kings Co., Oct. 21.—A very pleasant event took place at the home of Henry Porter on the evening of the 19th, when his daughter Lizzie was united in marriage to Charles M. Larkins. The spacious parlor was beautifully trimmed with ferns and moss. As the notes of the wedding march sounded forth from the nuptial touch of the bride's sister Alice, the bridegroom took his place under the floral arch. The bride was given away by her brother Harry. She was dressed in cream colored, cap-trimmed with ribbon and silk, with bridal veil and natural flowers. The presents were numerous and beautiful. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. H. Clark in the presence of upwards of fifty guests. After partaking of the wedding supper, the bridal party, followed by showers of rice and good wishes, left for their future home at Newcastle, Queens Co., where a reception was held the following evening, which a very enjoyable time was spent. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome gold watch chain.

H. B. Cradall of the King Lumber Co., who has been suffering from ill health, is taking a much needed rest at the Central Railroad, which is being extended to Newcastle, is giving employment to a number of our young men, and our lumbermen find help very scarce.

M. J. McPherson, the catechist, who has labored so successfully among us for the past six months, leaves by today's boats for Halifax to attend the annual conference of the Synod of the Evang. Church in that city. Mr. McPherson is a very earnest and energetic worker, and leaves his community followed by the good wishes of all.

The Rev. W. McIntrire, assisted by Deacon Martin, has been holding very successful revival meetings in Chipman Baptist church. Twenty-one candidates have been baptized.

A wedding reception was held at the home of John Fowler in honor of his daughter, Miss Howard Morant, nee Miss Lucy Dunlop. The happy couple were married on Wednesday morning, the 16th, and took passage by steamer May Queen for Chipman.

SACKVILLE, Oct. 22.—The death of Captain Benjamin Reed occurred here last night. Deceased has been a great sufferer with rheumatism for many years, and in consequence has been laid aside from active duties, but otherwise has enjoyed good health until a short time prior to his death. Mr. Reed had a rather eventful career. He was born at Bayside, followed the sea for a long time, and afterwards went west, where he lived for a number of years, and eventually returned to his native province. He was married twice, his second wife, who survives him, being Mrs. Annie Victoria widow of James Wright, by whom he had a son, Dr. Frank Reed of Moncton, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Dixon of Portland, Oregon. He was 88 years of age at the time of his death.

About the first of the present month it was noted that two ladies from Boston, Mrs. John Harding and Mrs. Charles McLennan, while driving along Bridge street here were thrown from their carriage and injured in consequence of founders of earth negligently left in the road by those constructing the Sackville water works. Messrs. Teed & Copp have been retained by the ladies mentioned, and yesterday wrote a lengthy and elaborate report, and Freeze Wheaton, contractors, who it is alleged were the parties at fault.

On the night of the 15th inst. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dixon were surprised by about twenty-five of their friends, who called upon them for the purpose of congratulating them upon having enjoyed twenty years of wedded life. An address was read by John T. Carrington, a first class tea set was given as a token of good-will, and appropriate music. Interment was made at Rural cemetery.

Charles McSorley, a popular-brake-and-repair man, of the company of the late Mrs. D. W. Estabrooks took place from the home, Charlotte street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and was numerously attended by the captain of the fire department, the brother of the deceased lady, Rev. Mr. Coy of Woodstock. Rev. J. H. MacDonald officiated at the solemn services, and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Gaskin. The choir of the Baptist church was present and rendered appropriate music. Interment was made at Rural cemetery.

Charles McSorley, a popular-brake-and-repair man, of the company of the late Mrs. D. W. Estabrooks were quietly married at the name this morning by Rev. Willard Macdonald. The bridal pair left upon the 6 o'clock P. M. train for Gardner. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald were accompanied by Lieut. Hill of No. 1 Co., R. C. R. I., an accomplished and enthusiastic gymnast, and takes a deep interest in gymnastic and athletic matters.

Supported by the captain of the company and the commandant of the fire department, Capt. Lister and Major MacDonnell, Lieut. Hill is procuring a fine lot of gymnasium apparatus and is setting it up in the drill shed for the use of the members of the company. A horizontal bar and parallel bars, and necessary mattresses, and a lot of dumb-bells have been procured. A spring-board and travelling rings are to follow. Mr. Hill will act as gymnastic instructor, and will regularly put the men through gymnastic exercises. Indoor ball will also be played.

HAVELOCK, Oct. 21.—The strawberries here had a last week's notes having been picked by Mr. Thorne were not expected to be so good, as stated. This year the crop was unusually large. On October 18th Miss McNeil picked strawberries from her garden, and on the 19th she picked a bunch of strawberries from the Jersey Farm placed on exhibition at the Dominion Exposition a bunch of strawberries from the same place.

A party of American hunters came to St. John to be present at the celebration of the Duke and Duchess, and after waiting several hours, were disappointed, as the train was late. There was a slight quarrel at Havelock station on Saturday afternoon, between a party of the inspector the meat was removed from the train and it was shipped from Peititodiac to St. John.

The sad news reached here of the death of Michael Reynolds, who died at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. Carroll of Boston. Mr. Reynolds was the eldest son of the late Patrick Reynolds, a native of Queens Co., but for a number of years has been living in the United States. Deceased leaves two daughters and one son to mourn.

HOPEWELL HILL, Oct. 21.—The funeral of late Mrs. Wm. Steeves, whose death occurred here on Friday, took place yesterday, the body being taken to Alma for interment.

Schr. Velma A. has gone to Mary's Point for a load of stone for the River-bridge culvert.

There was no service in St. John's Church of England last evening, Rev. Mr. Smithers being in St. Andrews assisting the rector of the church there. Nominations for councillors for the parish of Hopewell closed today. The following gentlemen were nominated: W. J. Carnwath, Levi Downey, W. J. McAlmon, W. Crane Bennett. Mr. West withdrew his nomination on account of illness.

FREDERICTON, Oct. 22.—The death occurred quite unexpectedly this morning of James Campbell of Kingsclear, one of the most highly respected and most aged residents of York county. Although nearing the 87th year of his age, the deceased was able to be about his home and place until within a few days, and peacefully passed away, as above stated.

The late Mr. Campbell was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, and came to this country with his parents when four or five years of age. The family settled at Kingsclear, where the deceased acquired a farm of his own. He was a thrifty and successful agriculturist and accumulated considerable property. Although taking no prominent part in public affairs, his judgment and expressed opinions had much weight with his neighbors, and he was a man universally looked up to and respected. He had been an elder of St. Paul's Presbyterian church for about forty years, and was a long friend of Senator Weir, who is one year his senior in age.

Three sons and three daughters survive—John Campbell, M. P. P., Kingsclear; James B., residing on the homestead; R. M. of this city; Mrs. Wm. Cooper, King street; Mrs. Wm. McNeil, Mythe street, and Miss Annie Campbell, living at home, Kingsclear. The funeral of the late Mrs. D. W. Estabrooks took place from the home, Charlotte street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and was numerously attended by the captain of the fire department, the brother of the deceased lady, Rev. ALBERT CO. COURT.

October Sitting Opened at Hopewell Cape.

Judge Wedderburn Presiding—The Docket—True Bills in the Criminal Cases.

HOPEWELL HILL, via Albert, N. B., Oct. 22.—The October sitting of the Albert county court opened at Hopewell Cape today, His Honor Judge Wedderburn presiding.

The following members of the bar were present: M. G. Teed, K. C., Jas. O'Neil, Dorchester; Geo. P. Thomas, Moncton; H. S. Keith, St. John; M. B. Jones, Elgin; W. A. Trueman, Albert; M. B. Dixon, K. C., Riverdale. The following are the members of the grand jury: Chas. Morris, Wm. Bray, John McMillan, Zama Turner, Charles Ayer, H. H. Hoar, Geo. Hawkes, J. T. Bishop, J. L. Pye, Job Stiles, Luther Archibald, George A. Steeves, John Eastmont, Richmond Steeves, A. E. Gaskin, E. S. Chapman, Jas. Irving, B. T. Carter, foreman; the petit jurors are: S. A. Copp, Isalah Milton, Wm. A. Stuart, Jos. Keiver, Francis Connor, Chesley Smith, E. O. Barber, P. P. S. Keith, J. Tinley, James C. Wright, Michael Layton, R. Steeves, Solomon Harrison, Robt. Thompson, W. A. Fries, E. W. Mitchell, Jos. Steeves, John Cartwright, M. T. Steeves, D. B. Livingston, John I. Steeves.

The members of the grand jury were briefly addressed by his honor, who laid particular stress on the regrettable prevalence in Albert county of offences committed against officers in the discharge of their duty. The following cases were presented:

Criminal Docket. King v. Hazen Wilson, theft—M. B. Dixon, K. C., for the crown; W. B. Chandler for defendant. King v. Hazen Wilson, resisting arrest—M. B. Dixon for crown; W. B. Chandler for defendant. Civil Docket—Jury Causes. Caleb Smith v. Luther Archibald—M. G. Teed for plaintiff; Hon. H. R. Emmerson for defendant. Withdrawn.

Non-Jury Docket. Thomas Brownell v. Addison Derry—H. S. Keith for plaintiff; M. B. Dixon for defendant. John A. Moore v. Albert Carriage Co.—J. H. Dickson, Withdrawn. Alex. Hawkes v. Oscar Withdrawn—Withdrawn.

The grand jury found true bills in both counts in the criminal cases. The case of Brownell v. Derry is a cause for remuneration for labor done by plaintiff on the sch. Velma A., owned by defendant. The plaintiff had contracted to do the work for fifty dollars, but owing to additional labor, made necessary by various accidents and delays, the plaintiff was for the sum of one hundred and fifty-five dollars. The case excited considerable interest. Several expert witnesses were on the stand.

DEATH OF ROBERT D. HOWE. SUSSEX, N. B., Oct. 23.—Robert D. Howe, aged eighty-one years, of Hillsdale, Kings Co., died today from injuries received from burning on Monday last. Mr. Howe had been confined to his bed for some months with dropsy, and in some way he set fire to the bed clothes with matches, and before help could be got he was burned so badly that the flesh dropped off his legs before he died. His son, Frank W. Howe, was badly burned about the head and face, and only for a large quantity of salve which had been on hand, and used to put the fire out, the house would have been destroyed.

MAY GO TO ENGLAND. HALIFAX, Oct. 22.—Within the past few days a rumor has been circulating to the effect that Canadian troops would be sent to England to represent the colony during the King's coronation in June. The rumor could not be traced to a definite source, though it is believed by prominent members of the militia, and an officer said he thought it pretty certain that the 3rd R. C. R., now stationed here, would be chosen to go.

WILL CLOSE NOVEMBER SECOND. BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The board of directors of the Pan-American Exposition this afternoon adopted the following: "Resolved, that Saturday, Nov. 2, at midnight, be fixed as the time of the final closing of the exposition." At midnight of Nov. 2 the lights of the electric tower and other lights used in the grand illumination will be finally turned off and the exposition closed.

TWO MONTHS IN JAIL. NICHIBUCTO, N. B., Oct. 23.—The county court, Judge Wells presiding, opened this afternoon. The only business before the court was the case of Robichaud of St. Louis for causing the death of young Frigo. The grand jury found a true bill for assault against Robichaud, the prisoner pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two months in jail.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

Grand Division Meets in Annual Session Last Night.

Reports of Grand Worthy Patriarch, Grand Scribe and Grand Secretary—The Work Progressing.

At the opening of the annual session of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance last night the reports of the Grand Worthy Patriarch, Grand Scribe, and Grand Treasurer were read and considerable other business transacted.

G. W. P. REPORT. In his report, presented by proxy, G. W. P. James Crisp, after expressing his regret for his inability to meet with the members and his hope for a pleasant and profitable session, directed the attention of Grand Division to the demand of the work upon the closest attention of its members and pointed out much to encourage in the work of the past year.

Still there were many difficulties in the way. Men from all ranks and professions were interested in the liquor traffic, and about one person in every 100 personally or financially connected with it. Thus any united and strong effort to put down the liquor traffic is met by a strong and well organized opposition, with large financial resources, and no moral sense of honesty or fair play in its movements.

As soon as we begin to interfere with this enormous evil we are confronted first by the retailer, then by the landlord on the capital invested; then by the great army of drinkers. With us this battle cannot be fought without much time and money. There is also a large number of intelligent and well-informed people who still hold aloof from temperance reform and their aid must be obtained.

In temperance reform there are two fields of work: to keep the man from the drink and to keep the drink from the man. The first relates to moral suasion and the latter to legal prohibition. United action is the one condition of success in each respect. It looks at present as if prohibition were so difficult an undertaking that any attempt to bring it about at this time would be unwise. Still it does not follow that nothing helpful to the cause can be accomplished. We must form a more compact army than heretofore and must adopt some method that will unite all our forces in better organization.

The G. W. P. then spoke of the great progress made in the past, illustrated by the change in public sentiment regarding the drink habit. A society today in a very different light from what he did a few years ago. Education has worked a greater change than legislation. Our hope in this cause, as in many others, lies with the young. They are learning temperance principles while they are free from party lines, before business interests pervert their judgment and before false theories obstruct their vision. In our own province special temperance instruction is found in the common schools, and one large and influential section of the church has finally and authoritatively declared that "the liquor habit is so pernicious in all its bearings that the only proper attitude towards it is Christians in that of relentless hostility." That "license, high or low, is vicious in principle and powerless in remedy."

In closing his report, the G. W. P. insisted again on the necessity of better organization and urged the members to keep heart and continue to labor. He thanked them for their diligence in the past, for their kindness to him, and expressed his appreciation of the courteous manner in which his fellow grand division officers had always conducted themselves.

GRAND SCRIBE'S REPORT. Grand Scribe A. J. Armstrong reported 30 divisions had reported for the quarter ending June 30, and 22 for the quarter ending Sept. 30. During the year Chipman Division, No. 428, had been organized by Bros. H. J. Evans and J. W. Fowler, and two reorganizations have taken place.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: L. P. D. Tilley, G. W. P.; J. Wesley Fowler, Hampton, G. W. A.; A. J. Armstrong, Grand Scribe; Thomas Lawson, Grand Treasurer; Rev. Geo. Steel, Grand Chaplain; H. P. Dole of Chipman, Grand Gen.; H. A. Morrison, Miramichi, Grand Sentinel; Jacob S. Kierstead, Colliha, G. S. T. P. W.

At last night's meeting J. S. Kierstead presided, and L. G. Whitaker, G. W. A., was among those present.

For Infants and Children. MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—It was definitely learned today that St. Christopher Purses, James Clergue of Sault Ste Marie and other prominent American and British capitalists have a big scheme on foot to establish a big marine insurance company for the St. Lawrence, and also to establish a first Atlantic service, which will rival the best New York service.

AN AUTHORITY ON INDIAN LANGUAGE.

Very Rev. M. C. O'Brien, Rector of St. Mary's, Bangor, Master of a Most Difficult Tongue.

His Valuable Library - Scholarly Priest Recognized as Highest Authority on Abenaki History and Language.

The Very Rev. Fr. Michael Charles O'Brien, rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Bangor, is the owner of an exceedingly curious as well as important library, which is by far the largest private library on Indian dialects and books printed in the various Indian languages, possessed by any student in Maine, if not in New England.

Having been sent as a priest to the Penobscot Indians, inhabiting Indian Island in Oldtown, in 1877, Fr. O'Brien soon found that it was necessary for him to know their language in order to properly perform his religious administrations among them.

It was from this study of the native language from intercourse with the children. He would ask them the names of all common objects in their own language, and would make notes of every word and definition given.

Very naturally the first and by far the most important book in the Indian collection of Fr. O'Brien, and one upon which he based his studies of the Abenaki language in the "Dictionary of the Abenaki Language in North America," by Rev. Sebastian Rasle, S. J., which was found after the fight at Norridgewock, Aug. 12, 1724, in which Fr. Rasle was killed by the English.

This is a French Indian index or concordance and explanation of 8,000 Indian words. In dictionaries, grammars, parts of the Scriptures, prayers, books and catechisms there are in Father O'Brien's library, among many others, the following: Grammar of the Ojibwa and Mohawg, by Jean Andre Couv. Such then is the life in this colony of peace. It is to be wondered at that Queen Alexandra, the Empress of Russia, and our own King will combine in thinking it the most peaceful spot on earth. To state-wrecked kings and emperors this backwater in the great river of progress must stand for all that is Arcadian.

For some time past the club women have been interested in preserving the folk songs of the Maine Indians, and for several years the Maine Federation has numbered among its clubs a club of Indian women of Oldtown. They are bright, intelligent women, who seem anxious to improve their condition. It is to be hoped that some measures may be taken to preserve the songs and stories of the people who are so fast passing away. A choice little volume by Samuel Lane Boardman entitled, "Six Private Libraries of Bangor, Maine," states that such provision has been made regarding Fr. O'Brien's library of rare works, that the entire collection will eventually be deposited in the perpetual keeping of the Maine Historical Society in Portland.

KING ON CONTINENT. How His Majesty Passed His Time at Frederoburg.

By his life amid the oak and beech forests of Frederoburg, the King of Denmark is quiet, domestic and blissful. Down in the English-looking village, not far from the castle, a quiet military atmosphere pervades. The stolid peasant forms a contrast to the great officers and soldiers.

Early rising is a feature of the Danish court. Visitors at Frederoburg are usually sitting before the work of the day, or the number of the night before. It is no unusual thing to see a member of the Danish court coming back from a walk or a ride about 7 o'clock in the morning; and his relative and visitors take pleasure in following closely the bluff old monarch's exertions.

In fact, the King of Denmark openly avers that the secret of long life lies in getting up betimes and breathing fresh morning air. Long before the castle clock strikes eight the whole royal household may be seen strolling in groups round the park, or sitting where the blue waters of Lake Errom roll along its shores. From the elevated view is to be obtained—not the ragged scenery of Scotland, but rather the view one gets in southern England, of rolling meadows, broken here and there by the golden spires of churches and castles.

After a light morning meal the royal visitor attends to their private or public matters. The Frederoburg correspondence is by no means the lightest in the world, and letters and telegrams are constantly sent to all parts of the earth. King Edward, King George and the Czar have their state affairs in North America, regarding four nations of the world are planned, and carried out in this "New World."

At half-past one "breakfast" is served, consisting usually of some three or four light dishes. Thereafter the several amusements of the day occupy the royal time until evening. Sometimes the members of the court make trips into the outer world, or to play cricket on the velvet lawns that fringe the castle side.

Occasionally the old King arranges a picnic party. And to the transportation of these outings he invariably attends himself. Frederoburg picnics have developed into a species of institution. At the appointed time a long line of carriages and a semi-circular drive. The King of Denmark alofts his guests their places, and himself drives the leading vehicle to a favorite spot in the neighborhood.

Such then is the life in this colony of peace. It is to be wondered at that Queen Alexandra, the Empress of Russia, and our own King will combine in thinking it the most peaceful spot on earth. To state-wrecked kings and emperors this backwater in the great river of progress must stand for all that is Arcadian.

MISTAKES OF HISTORY.

Some Well Known Tales That Are Not True.

Yet for Centuries Fact Had Not Been Able to Catch Up With Fiction in the Race.

The celebration of the King Alfred millennium in England and elsewhere throughout the British Empire recovers the stories of the deeds for which the Anglo-Saxon has for centuries been paying honors to the great King's memory, which chide him as never did. Alfred, the King who founded Oxford University; who fathered the system of trial by jury, and who, as every man was taught, let the cakes burn in the old woman's hut, has been lauded by millions of the English-speaking people.

Unfortunately, historical research has disclosed that Alfred, good man and great king though he was, did nothing of the sort. Most of the story years about Alfred sprang up hundreds of years after his death, and are of a piece with other entertaining stories which have clung to his name under the head, Mistakes of History.

Probably one of the most affecting scenes connected with the making of literature is that described in the oft-quoted story of the blind poet Milton dictating Paradise Lost to his daughter. Dr. Johnson, however, has been quoted as denying it. He said, furthermore, that Milton never even permitted his daughters to learn to read and write.

Likewise the story that the Duke of Clarence was drowned in a butt of Malmsey is an error of history which passed current as genuine for several centuries. The inside of cigar box covers are sometimes ornamented with a picture of the Colossus of Rhodes, with ships in the harbor, and the great statue stretched legs of the giant.

These pictures reflect the popular, and what for centuries was the historical, account of the Colossus, which was accounted one of the seven wonders of the world. It may be interesting to know that all drawings of the statue are purely imaginary and what is more, are modern, not ancient, efforts. The Colossus was completed in 280 B. C. The most trustworthy account of its construction is that contained in a manuscript dating about 150 B. C., in which the height of the statue is given at 105 feet.

The Colossus was not a statue of Rhodes as is 350 feet across at the base, was manifestly impossible that the legs of the Colossus should span the entrance to the port, or that ships should sail beneath it.

As a matter of fact the Colossus was not built across the harbor, but on an open space of ground near it; but for all that it was a wonderful statue. People who are easily aroused have wept over the wrong of Belshazzar, the conqueror of the Vandals, who, many were taught, "begged his bread at the city gates," after having commanded victorious armies and the best of men.

The facts are that a conspiracy against the Emperor Justinian being discovered, two of Belshazzar's officers confessed under torture that the old general was in the plot. He was condemned under further hearing, his property sequestered, and he suffered imprisonment for six months.

STREET SIGNS IN MOSCOW.

Painted Reproductions of the Goods Sold Within the Shops.

There is one custom in St. Petersburg, holding all over Russia, so droll and amusing to the letters of it, that the shopkeepers have signs over their doors, and these signs are painted with the reproduction of the wares that are in the shop. This was formerly a great convenience to the visitor who could not read, and even at the present day was not too much ridiculed by myself.

One would get along famously in Russia could he read the law-breaking notices on the letters of it, that the shopkeepers have signs over their doors, and these signs are painted with the reproduction of the wares that are in the shop. This was formerly a great convenience to the visitor who could not read, and even at the present day was not too much ridiculed by myself.

For example, a dairy will have a door with a picture of a cow, a butcher a couple of tubs of butter and leaning against a background of cheeses, while glasses of foaming milk stand on the counter, and a sign of a pig, that a place of eggs was another feature, but never unless the hen who is responsible for them is portrayed loudly by sticking out their freshness.

In spots of the city, where the signs are all very many and cheap, the growth are about 50 cents apiece here. The signs lend great color and gaiety to the streets, although you really feel you are in a city of the past.

Real organic disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic. The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action, hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Food digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart. The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

SIR THOMAS SAILS FOR HOME.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton sailed for home today on the Celtic. Before going aboard he said he had not given up the fight for the America's cup. As the vessel pulled out from her dock he was forced to bow and wave his handkerchief continually in response to the cheers from those on the dock.

Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, the Erin, will sail at noon tomorrow. Just before sailing, Sir Thomas reiterated to a reporter his intention, expressed yesterday, to wait a reasonable time and then challenge again for the America's cup.

"Will you challenge with a new yacht?" he was asked. "I cannot say anything about a new boat until I have seen the designers," he replied. GLASGOW, Oct. 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton, while desiring to avoid monopolizing the British side of the America's cup contest, has already taken Mr. Pitt's name as a challenger for the trophy.

Acting on Mr. Pitt's suggestion, Captain Weir went to Scotland, to provide for the better preservation of the Shamrock II, which will be used in the trials on this side of the water. The Shamrock II will be employed in the trials on the American side of the water.

A farm lad wanted to escape the Drudgery, so he went up to the City, and after he had been there for fifteen years he had a nice position. He stood on his feet from eight to six every day cracking up Dress Goods, and after he paid his Board and Room Rent there was nothing left of his Salary except the Crust.

"What is there to do?" asked Jed. "The Wind-Mill is pumping water for the Stock, grinding up the Chop-Feed, and working the Cluck, I finished my Fall Plowing yesterday." "Plowing is Hard Work," said the City Salesman, sympathetically. "Oh, I don't know," replied Jed. "I use a Riding Plow with a White Umbrella over me, and a Cushion on the Seat. You may not know it, but the Farmer is getting too Strong to Work. You can't make him use a Walking Plow any more. He wants his Corn with a Check-Row Machine, lifts his Hay with a Patent Fork, cuts his Grain with a Self-Binder that has a Fundle Carrier attached, and then puts it through a Steam Thrasher that cuts the Bands, does the Feeding, measures the Grain, and dumps it into the Waggon and stacks the straw. I suppose about next Year they'll have some hundred Tobacco Trugs and somebody to the Bank and cash the Grain Tickets."

"The lowly Agriculturist now has his Telephone and daily Rural Delivery, and a Rubber-Tire Buggy, and when he meets an ordinary Dry Goods Salesman such as you he just cracks his 82 Red Whip and drives right over him. Don't you come out here pitying the Poor Farmer! We've got everything you have in the City, except the Noise. I'm going to put Golf Links in the west 40 next year. Then as soon as they give away an Automobile with one hundred Tobacco Trugs and somebody gets up a Corn Shucker that will do the Work, I'll be fixed."

People's department done. In St. John one of the first tasks which Fr. O'Brien set himself about after having acquired a knowledge of the Abenaki language was the making of an index to Basle's dictionary.

This is a French Indian index or concordance and explanation of 8,000 Indian words. In dictionaries, grammars, parts of the Scriptures, prayers, books and catechisms there are in Father O'Brien's library, among many others, the following: Grammar of the Ojibwa and Mohawg, by Jean Andre Couv. Lexique de la Langue Inouit. Dictionary of the Cree (Cris) language. Roger Williams' Key to the Language of America, or An Help to the Language of the Natives in that Part of America Called New England." One of the rarest of the books in Father O'Brien's collection is a little 16 mo of 70 pages, called The Indian Prayer-Book compiled and arranged for the benefit of the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy tribes. This is the first book ever printed for the use of In- dians in Maine.

But the most valuable and important of all the rare manuscripts in the collection is an ancient book without title (which is almost the only leaf missing from the entire 570 pages), which may be called a general service book of the church at mass and vespers, containing the liturgy and prayers for the church and laity. This is in the neat, accurate and beautiful handwriting of Father Ambrey, being one of the two manuscripts saved from his large collection, which was destroyed by the burning of the Abenaki church in Pierreville in 1759. It contains the music, hymns and signs used in the service. The Indians were taught to read and write by the missionaries; and some parts of this manuscript were written by the Indians themselves as shown from the crude and imperfect handwriting appearing in some places. The leaves of the book are thumbed and worn from use.

In 1879 Father O'Brien printed "A Brief Catechism for the Use of the Oldtown Indians," and a little pamphlet of eight pages, which is one of the curiosities of philology. Fr. O'Brien has been elected to the American Antiquarian Society. The only other Maine member of the society is Hon. James P. Baxter of Portland. Fr. O'Brien's election to the American Antiquarian Society was in recognition of his services in Indian researches and he is today considered the highest living authority on mat- ters pertaining to the history and languages of the American Indians, and particularly those of Eastern and Northern America.
