THEY OWN UP.

LONDON, July 11.—The Conservative papers concur in conceding that Mr. Gladstone will have a small majority in the next Parliament, enabling him to force the Government to resign, but offering no guarantee that the Liberals will be able to carry on business.

SKIRMISHING FOR CRUMBS OF COMFORT.

The Standard (Tory) says: If the Gladstonians cannot be prevented from returning to office, they may yet be prevented from returning to power. Mr. Gladstone, with a nominal majority of 30, would be in as embarrassed and hopeless a position as the head of the Cabinet could occupy. He would not be able to maintain his position in the House of Commons for a month. If he tried to palter with his promises to the Irish, he would at once lose 80 votes, placing him in a minority of 50 if the Irish abstained from voting, and of 150 if they voted against him.

REJOICING IN INDIA.

The Calcutta correspondent of the Times says the native Indian press is jubilant over the election of Mr. Naoroji to Parliament. All the schools will have a holiday to-morrow, and illuminations and fetes will be given to celebrate the event.

TWO MORE LIBERAL GAINS.

LONDON, July 11.—This afternoon two more Liberal gains were announced, viz., Barnstaple, formerly represented by George Pitt-Lewis, Liberal-Unionist, and Forfarshire, formerly represented by James William Barclay, Liberal-Unionist.

AN EXCITING SCENE.

An exciting scene occurred at a Liberal meeting held in the Forest of Dean division of Gloucester, where Sir Charles Dilke is standing as the Liberal candidate against Col. Chester Wemyss. A resolution was offered declaring against Sir Charles Dilke, and adding that the electors of the district desired only a man of high moral character to represent them in Parliament. The wife of Sir Charles was on the platform when the resolution was put and she wept bitterly. There was great excitement during the voting, which was heightened when it was declared that the resolution was carried. Friends of Sir Charles demanded a recount, which only confirmed the previous result.

PUPIL VS. SCHOLAR.

The contest in East Worcester between Austin Chamberlain, Liberal-Unionist, son of Joseph Chamberlain, and Oscar Browning, Liberal, had some piquant features. Mr. Chamberlain was a pupil of Mr. Browning at Merton College. Mr. Browning was assisted in his canvass by other college dons while Mr. Chamberlain was assisted by a number of his college chums. His father's influence also helped him well. Chamberlain received 5,111 votes, against 2,517 for Browning.

SALISBURY GONE TO SEE THE QUEEN.

Lord Salisbury has gone to Windsor Castle to explain to the Queen the political situation. The Liberals are beginning to clamor for the Ministry to resign before the meeting of Parliament.

TORY MISCALCULATIONS.

Up to Friday morning the Tories were confident that the most Gladstone could do would be to secure a majority of eight or ten by the aid of the Irish members, and the intentions of the Government were a matter of common talk at the Carlton Club in Pall Mall and the Constitutional Club in Northumberland avenue. Lord Salisbury was to "hang on." The new Parliament, already summoned to meet for busniess on Aug. 4, was to be prorogued to November and thereafter to February, thus enabling the Government to enter into negotiations with the Irish members, with a view to obtain their support. The Government is deeply pledged not to grant Ireland home rule, but it is under a solemn promise to deal with the question of Irish local self-government, and it would not be difficult to draft a virtual home rule measure and style it a local government bill. The Irish members, it was urged, would prefer a half loaf to no bread. An installment of home rule would be better than nothing at all.

Sir Michael Hicks Beach, speaking at Barnstapie, predicted a Tory majority of 64, but in forming that estimate he coolly ignored the fact that at the time he was speaking the Liberals had made a net gain of 21 seats.

TOTAL VOTE POLLED.

LONDON, July 11.—The voting of yesterday brings the aggregate of the Conservative and Unionist poll up to 1,344,453, and the aggregate of the Liberal poll, including the labor vote, up to 1,418,712.

CANADIAN BLOOD TELLS.

Sir A. R. Scoble, K. C. S. I., who has been elected for the Metropolitan borough of Central Hackney, is a son of the late Mr. John Scoble, M.P., who represented West Elgin in the Parliament of Canada. His name is known in the literary world as the translator of some of Guizot's and Mignet's works; and he has held distinguished positions in India as Advocate-General for Bombay and as Legal Member of the Supreme Government of India. He was counsel with Sir Oliver Mowat in the Ontario boundary case before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Sir a Scoble is a Conservative.

THE LABOR QUESTION NEXT IN ORDER.

LONDON, July 12.—Gladstone addressed the final meeting of electors of Midlothian at Penicuik yesterday. He said the poll completely convinced him that the great majority of the British were in their hearts friends of the Irish cause. Next to home rule, labor questions would be the main subject for the attention of statesmen. Replying to criticisms on his foreign policy, Gladstone said it was quite true that the last Liberal Government had wars to deal with, but he contended that every one of those wars were undertaken to redeem honorable engagements into which the Government's predecessors had entered, or to remove difficulties which they had raised. The seasonableness of continuing the home rule controversy, he declared, rested with the nation, for now the nation voted for home rule, and to the nation would belong the honor of the victory or the shame and disgrace of failure.

SOME LATE RETURNS.

Forfarshire—J. Rigby, Liberal, 2,943; J. W. Barclay, Liberal-Unionist, 4,077. This is a Liberal gain. Mr. Barclay, who has been member for the county for a long period, had a majority of 407 in 1886.

Carnarvon Burghs—D. Lloyd George, Liberal, 2,152; Sir J. Puleston, Conservative, 1,958. This seat was captured by the Conservatives in 1886, but was redeemed by Mr. George by a majority of 18 in April, 1890.

Devonshire, Barnstaple division—A. Bilson, Liberal, 4,383; W. L. White, Liberal-Unionist, 4,236. In 1886 C. P. Lewis, Q.C., the former Liberal member, was elected by 1,262 majority as a Unionist. This is the second Liberal gain in Devonshire.

Limerick, East division—J. Finucane, Anti-Parnellite, 2,903; W. Noonan, Parnellite, 1,174.

Berkshire, Abingdon division — P. Wroughton, Conservative, 3,565; C. A. Pryce, Liberal, 3,239. In 1886 the Conservatives had a majority of 1,985, which has now been cut down to 326.

Banffshire—R. W. Duff, Liberal, re-elected for the third time, beating M. Barry, Independent Unionist.

Suffolk, Lowestoft division—H. S. Foster, Conservative, elected. In 1886 a Conservative was returned by acclamation for the district.

Wiltshire, Chippenham division—Sir J. D. Poynder, Conservative, elected. The Conservative majority in 1886 was 560 and the Liberals hoped to win this seat. Instead they have won two other Wiltshire seats that have been regarded as hopelessly Tory, the Cricklade and Devizes divisions.

Dumfriesshire—W. J. Maxwell, Liberal-Unionist, elected. The seat was formerly Liberal, but went Unionist in 1886.

Kincardineshire—J. W. Crombie, Liberal, elected. This seat is strongly Liberal.

Kildare, North division—P. J. Kennedy, anti-Parnellite, 2,153; J. L. Carew, Parnellite, 1,707. The division returned a Nationalist unopposed in 1886.

Donegal, West division—T. D. Sullivan, anti-Parnellite, was elected unopposed. There has been no opposition to the Nationalists in this Ulster seat for three elections.

Sligo, South division—F. Curran, anti-Parnellite, 5,440; Col. J. Ffolliott, Conservative, 548. Nationalist by acclamation in 1886.

Louth, South division—Dr. Ambrose, anti-Parnellite, 2,451; E. Nolan, Parnellite, 1,126. In 1886 the Nationalists were unopposed.

Galway, North division—Col. J. P. Nolan, Parnellite, 2,040; Tanner, anti-Parnellite, 1,651. In 1886 the Nationalists were unopposed.

Dumfriesburghs—R. T. Reid, Liberal, re-elected, 1,698; Sir A. Noel Agnew, Liberal Unionist, 1,366. The vote in 1886 was: Reid, Liberal, 1,547; Mattinson, Conservative, 1,217.

Tipperary, East division—T. J. Conden, anti-Parnellite, the sitting member re-elected.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE'S MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION.

Cabling from Granard, North Longford, the correspondent of the Toronto World, says: Mr. Blake has expressed himself as delighted with the remarkable outburst of public sentiment as evidenced by yesterday's mass meeting. Although of different religious faith from the great mass of the electorate, Mr. Blake finds himself warmly backed and supported by the Catholic majority. The priests of the various parishes have shown a lively interest in his candidature and are doing everything in their power to forward his interests. A big majority is, therefore, assured. Even Mr. Millar, Mr. Blake's opponent, I am told, admits that he has not the ghost of a show.

Justin McCarthy, who was beaten by a small majority at Londonderry the other day, will be the anti-Parnellite candidate in North Longford. Tim Healy was to have been the candidate, but he was elected in Cork, and the seat will now be contested by Mr. McCarthy. Mr. Blake and Mr. Healy have both invaded the North riding to speak for Mr. McCarthy. A rousing meeting is now going on at this place, at which both will speak. Mr. Blake got a tremendous reception when he appeared on the platform. He still wears his famous soft felt hat, and as a "tile" is the usual headgear of the candidate here, Mr. Blake is wherever seen immediately singled out as the "man from America."

The election in North Longford takes place July 15. Mr. Blake's day of trial is the 13th.

GLADSTONE HAS CAUGHT UP.

LONDON, July 12.—On the returns as they stand, the Liberals have practically caught up with their antagonists. Whatever further gains they may make will count double on their majority. A gain of 40 seats, for example, will give them a majority of 80. On Saturday's polling they won two seats out of nine held by their opponents, but as the contests happened all to be in Tory strongholds, this is no indication of the electoral drift. On Monday's elections in 33 divisions in England and Scotland they expect to do much better, but no news is in to show the results. The returns declared all indicate a great reduction in Tory majorities. Such Irish results as are in show the Parnellite faction to be in the same trivial minority as heretofore, save in North Galway where Col. Nolan has held the seat against a newcomer. Nolan, however, is by no means a bitter partisan. He is personally popular with Irishmen of both factions and is quite as much a Gladstonian as any of them. His election makes five Parnellites elected. There are two eastern districts in which they have a fighting chance, West Clare and Northwest Meath. The odds are slightly against them in both, but nobody really knows what the result will be. Even if they carry both they will have only seven seats.

THE VOTE SO FAR.

LONDON, July 12.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon the latest returns received show the election of 209 Conservatives, 179 Liberals, 32 Liberal Unionists, 34 anti-Parnellites and 5 Parnellites.

THE LIBERALS AND THE FUTURE.

LONDON, July 12.—There was an air of contentment and repose in Liberal circles to-night. It is taken for granted that the Liberals will cohere on home rule, and the Irish sections will accept Mr. Gladstone's scheme. The bill will be expedited immediately when the assembling of the House of Commons takes place and the House of Lords will be challenged, under a menace of the extinction of hereditary peers, to throw the act out. The temper of the Liberals plainly points to a fierce agitation against the House of Lords should the Home Rule Bill, carried by the House of Commons, even by an insignificant majority, be rejected.

According to a Liberal estimate the highest conceivable majority is 98 and the lowest 45. The officials of the Liberal Executive Committee to-night admit that it will be unexpected good luck if they appear in the House with 60 majority.

A Gladstonian whip, Arnold Morely, speaking at Mansfield to-day, said that if the Lords were foolish enough to run counter to the vote of the House of Commons they would either be mended or ended.

RIOTING AT NEWBRIDGE.

Election riots occurred at Newbridge, Monmouthshire, yesterday. The police dispersed the rioters. Many horsemen were injured.

HANGING IN THE BALANCE.

The Standard says: "The Unionists should redouble their efforts where contests are still to be decided. Six seats may make all the difference whether Gladstone will undertake the risk of office or forthwith acknowledge home rule legislation impracticable."

FATAL LANDSLIDE.

A Large Number Killed and Many Wounded.

PARIS, July 12.—A terrible accident has occurred at St. Gervais-les-Bains, in Savoy. A heavy landslide occurred in the mountains that almost overhang the village, and without a moment's warning a number of houses were buried beneath the immense masses of rock and earth. All the men and youths in the village volunteered their services in clearing away the wreckage and in rescuing those who were still alive. It was known that many of the occupants of houses must surely have perished and already 30 dead have been taken out of the ruins. A number of persons who had been badly injured were rescued, while some were taken out unhurt. It is thought there are more bodies under the debris.

Killed by Lightning.

SHERBROOKE, Que., July 12.—At Leeds, Megantic county, two girls named Woodside and Rankin were killed by lightning. They were alone in the house scrubbing the floor near a stove when they were struck. They were found in a kneeling position with the scrubbing brushes in their hands by Mrs. Woodside and one of their brothers.

Over 6,000 Postmistresses.

NEW YORK, July 11.—It is estimated that over 6,000 women in the United States act as postmistresses. The largest number for any one State, 463, are in Pennsylvania, and 460 in Virginia. North Carolina stands third with 322. Only five other States have over 200 each—250 in Ohio, 243 in New York, 216 in Georgia, 210 in Texas and 209 in Kentucky. Alaska has only one and Rhode Island and Oklahoma have ten each.

The Death of Wm. Aster Reported and Denied.

NEW YORK, July 11.—A notice posted on the door of the office of the Astor estate, No. 23 west Twenty-Sixth street, to-night authoritatively announced the death of William Waldorf Astor as follows: "House closed on account of death of Mr. Astor."

LONDON, July 11.—An Associated Press reporter called at the Astor residence at an early hour this morning to inquire into the reported death of Mr. William Waldorf Astor. The domestics who answered the call declared that Mr. Astor was not dead. They declined to awaken members of the family for further information.

Austrian Methods.

VIENNA, July 11.—The Government has dissolved sixteen German students' clubs, on the ground that they had become political associations contrary to law. The mainspring of the Government's action was the course of the students in giving such an enthusiastic reception to Prince Bismarck.

President Diaz Re-elected.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 11.—The elections to-day resulted in the re-election of President Diaz, unopposed. President Diaz said to-day his policy would be the same as heretofore. His object would be to make Mexico respected at home and abroad.

Rich Results of a Slumming Tour.

PARIS, July 13.—The King of Sweden, who was recently piloted through the slums of Paris by Detective Rossignol, has sent that gentleman a splendid scarfpin, consisting of a blue enamel shield bearing the royal initials and surmounted with a crown in diamonds. Rossignol is said to have the finest collection of scarfpins in France.

A $30,000 Hunting Horn.

LONDON, July 11.—At Saturday's sale at Christie's the Colworth collection of famous Limoges enamal was disposed of. The article which brought the highest price was a hunting horn from the Strawberry Hill collection, which was bought by Herr Pfenugst, of Berlin, for £6,615. The next highest priced article was an ewer of Henry II. faience, which was secured by M. Lowengard, of Paris, for £3,880.

A French Cabinet Crisis.

LONDON, July 11.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company states that the French Ministry has been defeated on the Dahomey question, and that the Minister have resolved to resign.

PARIS, July 11.—By a vote of 287 to 150, the Chamber of Deputies to-day called upon the Government to place operations in the colonies under a single control. The Ministry of Marine is the only officer affected by the vote. Shortly after the vote was announced a Cabinet council was convoked, and the Ministers discussed the question whether the whole Cabinet should resign.

Called Them Dirty German Pigs.

BERLIN, July 11.—The facts in regard to the arrest of M. Jacquot, French Consul at Leipsic, are that Jacquot, while intoxicated, entered the cafe Bauer at Leipsic and began hustling and insulting the customers, and crying, "Get out, you dirty German pigs!" He was thereupon attacked and beaten and turned over to the police. At the police station he insulted the officials, and declared that France would avenge his arrest. He was released upon being identified as a foreign consul. M. Herbette, French Ambassador to Berlin, has wired his Government that Jacquot was wholly to blame in the matter, and that the incident is not worthy of diplomatic notice.

Afraid of the Fifes.

LONDON, July 11.—The Prince of Wales is spending a good deal of money in extending, altering and beautifying the so-called Bachelor Cottage at Sandringham, which is to be the Norfolk residence of the Duke of York, otherwise Prince George of Wales. The Prince is gradually putting off his mourning, and accepting invitations to dine out with friends. He would like to go on a cruise in the autumn with the Duke of York, who is now in command of the cruiser Melampus, but it is not likely the Ministers will allow him to do so. Warships have been known to founder at sea ere now, and if H. M. S. Melampus should go down with the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York aboard, the unpopular Fifes would come to the throne of England. The average loyal Englishman never ceases to think of such a possibility.

Carnegie Preached Too Much.

LONDON, July 11.—Englishmen have never taken kindly to Mr. Andrew Carnegie, although they have accepted with apparent thankfulness the free libraries and other good things which he has given them. The fact is that Mr. Carnegie has preached too much with his giving. There has been too much of the "Royal Maunday" business connected with his benefactions. Queen Victoria's Maunday money is given yearly at Easter to poor people to the accompaniment of much sermonizing, and that, in a measure, is the manner in which Mr. Carnegie has distributed his free libraries. No man, it is urged, can be considered a true philanthropist who continues to own millions while there is vice to eradicate and misery to relieve. That is the general tone of British press comments upon the terrible troubles at the Homestead mills. St. James' Gazette, the leading champion of "Law and Order," is especially severe upon Mr. Carnegie. It denounces Pinkerton's detectives as modern mercenaries, and declares that in the course of any strike private right must be enforced by the law of the land. Lawlessness on one side must provoke lawlessness on the other. That," it continues, "is a lesson of liberty which England can still teach her forward children. Freedom can only exist where all rights are safely secured. Mr. Andrew Carnegie has preached to us upon 'Triumphant Democracy.' He has lectured us upon the rights and duties of wealth, and we need only ask him to look now for commentary at his own iron works and his own workmen. It is, indeed, a wholesome piece of satire. From the way in which this American philanthropist has devoted his surplus energy to our education and improvement, it might have been imagined that on his own side of the water his house was set in order, swept and garnished, and that his own relations to labor were harmonious and perfect. But now it appears there was nothing of the sort. Mr. Carnegie went on the historic journey, and, even without returning, he now finds that the devils have indeed entered into his household. It is a satire upon him, but it is a satire, moreover, upon republicanism and its ways."

Cholera in France.

PARIS, France, July 12.—Four deaths attributed to cholera, were reported at Aubervilliers, seven miles north of Paris, yesterday.

A Mother-in-Law's Expedient.

BERLIN, July 12.—A peculiar tragedy is reported from Freiburg, Saxony. Karl Neuschoenberg could not get along with his wife. The wife appealed to her mother, and the latter, as a radical cure for the disturbance, shot her son-in-law. He is doing as well as could be expected.

"August Flower"

What is It For?

This is the query perpetually on your little boy's lips. And he is no worse than the bigger, older, balder-headed boys. Life is an interrogation point. "What is it for?" we continually cry from the cradle to the grave. So with this little introductory sermon we turn and ask: "What is AUGUST FLOWER FOR?" As easily answered as asked: It is for Dyspepsia. It is a special remedy for the Stomach and Liver. Nothing more than this; but this brimful. We believe August Flower cures Dyspepsia. We know it will. We have reasons for knowing it. Twenty years ago it started in a small country town. To-day it has an honored place in every city and country store, possesses one of the largest manufacturing plants in the country and sells everywhere. Why is this? The reason is as simple as a child's thought. It is honest, does one thing, and does it right along—it cures Dyspepsia. 29

Important Industry Proposed.

BRANTFORD, July 11.—A very large and important meeting of leading farmers from the various sections of the county of Brant convened last week at the residence of Joseph Stratford, Glenhyrst, adjacent to this city, to discuss matters of vital importance to the agricultural interests of this country. A volume of very interesting business was gone into, representing millions of dollars in its bearings. After four hours' session the meeting disbanded at midnight. Mr. Stratford is one of the largest stock breeders and farmers in this part of the country, and is an enthusiast with both his capital and influence in everything connected with agriculture and its prosperity.

Orchard and Garden.

—The advantage of raising grapes is known to but few persons. They can be easily grown and take up but little space, besides making a fine ornament. Many persons have a stone wall about their garden or grounds. Plant your grape vines upon one or both sides as you prefer. Be sure to keep them well pruned. Then they will grow and shoot down and cover this stone wall completely over. There seems to be something about stone that is peculiarly adapted to grapes. They will not mould and draw the sun.

—Even the 2,000 kinds of apples now recognized make a trifling list compared to the apples of the past, is the remarkable statement made by a student who has given the matter much thought. No one knows when the apple was originally indigenous. It is common with the garden author to write that "by the skill of the pomologist the delicious apple has developed from the wild crab." It is just as likely, from American experience, that the wild crab of the Old World, is the degenerate escape from cultivated trees. We know that the Greeks cultivated it, but as the root of the word is the same in all, even the most barbarous tongues, there is little doubt of its being cultivated long before the dawn of modern civilization. Remains of what must have been very fine specimens of apples are found in the mud under spots when the lake dwellers of Switzerland had left their cabins to found towns and villages on land. That it traveled with the white man from his early Asiatic home is much more likely than that nature, unaided by man, spread it over the woods and wilds of Northern Europe.

The Outlook.

—Memories in trade are so short that many people seem to be quite unaware that the conditions during the past year have been altogether exceptional. To all appearances they even forget that a year ago 500,000,000 bushels was considered a great crop, and no one then imagined that the yield of last fall would be 100,000,000 bushels larger. The country has already exported about 193,000,000 bushels, flour included, during ten months of the crop year, against only 85,000,000 bushels during the same months of the previous crop year. Yet this change of over 108,000,000 bushels in the foreign demand has by no means exhausted the supply. It is calculated that about 77,000,000 bushels could still be exported, without reducing the stock to the minimum quantity carried over ten years ago. But there is little probability that more than about 25,000,000 bushels will be sent abroad so that there will be a surplus of 50,000,000 bushels or more in excess of the minimum stock to be carried over into the next crop year.—[New York Commercial Bulletin.

A Mother's Experience.

A correspondent writes: A lady who has two cunning little boys said to me recently:

"When my children grow up I shall be perfectly happy."

I looked at her and shook my head.

"I think," said I, "that a mother's happiest time is when her children are very young. They are hers then absolutely. When she lays them down, she knows where they are for the night, or the day, or the hour. No other affections will enter their hearts and push aside the love for mother. But that is sure to come later. As an old nurse said to me once: 'When they are young they make your arms ache; when they grow up they make your heart ache.' To which I add, 'Sometimes.'"

BRUCE.

The Wiarton high school was inspected last week by Mr. Seath, who condemned both the buildings and the equipments, and said no government grant could be made.

At Teeswater Sunday Robert Hassard, a molder, during a fit of temporary insanity, jumped into Howson's mill pond. On rising the second time he was caught by Mr. Fulton with a pike pole secured from the neighboring saw mill and held above the water until assistance arrived. Dr. Gellies was on hand as soon as he was rescued, and energetic handling soon revived him.

An event of unusual interest to Walkerton and the county of Bruce was the investigation conducted by Æmilius Irving, Q.C., on behalf of the Ontario Government, into a number of charges brought against Wm. Sutton, sheriff of the county of Bruce, a position he has held for the long period of 26 years. The most important of the many charges made against the sheriff were that he absented himself from his office without leave for months at a time; that he neglected to serve jurors and constables as the law required, that he had charged the county and the Government for works he had never performed, and that he had overcharged for fees. At the conclusion of the trial Commissioner Irving intimated that in his opinion the charges made against Sheriff Sutton were proven, and that he would report to the Government accordingly.

ELGIN.

A Union correspondent writes: "Gordon, son of James Davidson, was badly injured on Friday night through falling from a beam in a new addition his father is having put to his barn. He was unconscious when picked up. No bones were broken.

Mrs. Cook, St. Thomas, a lady 84 years of age, though hale and hearty yet, has been terribly burned by taking ammonia by mistake.

John Dickson, son of B. Dickson, St. Thomas, while working in the M. C. R. shops there Saturday morning, had a large piece of iron fall on his foot, bursting open the shoe and badly lacerating the foot.

George Serase, plasterer, son of C. Serase, who fell from a scaffold at Griffin & Wright's new store, St. Thomas, Saturday morning, was badly shaken up and had his face cut.

A son of Job Wooster, St. Thomas, while playing on or about the merry-go-round at Port Stanley a day or two ago, fell and dislocated his arm.

Miss Clark, niece of Rev. Dr. Flannery, was the victim of a recent accident at St. Thomas, which resulted in the breaking of her arm. While driving down Talbot street at the L. and P. S. track the horse became frightened at a train. Miss Clark took the lines from the hands of the driver, John Barry, and the horse turned into the sidewalk, when the buggy collided with a telegraph pole in front of the Pacific House. Miss Clark was taken into the Pacific House and a cab sent for, which conveyed her to Father Flannery's residence. It was found that besides being shaken up the right arm was broken between the shoulder and elbow. Dr. Kains was summoned and set the fracture. The accident is particularly unfortunate, as Miss Clark was to have left this week with Rev. Dr. Flannery on a trip to the old country.

The serious illness of R. McCorkell, of Rodney, had a fatal termination Saturday. The deceased at one time lived at Port Stanley, and six or seven years ago occupied a farm a few miles north of St. Thomas, where he had a wide circle of acquaintances. Mr. McCorkell was father of C. A. McCorkell, of that city, brother of Mrs. Chas. Eads, of Port Stanley, and uncle of Chas. Eads, of this city. One son, William, is in Manitoba, and his widow and two daughters reside at home in Rodney.

The 3-year-old son of Collector Cheyne, of Windsor, met with a peculiar accident the other evening. The little fellow was lying on the lounge and fell off. He was picked up by a young girl and his left leg struck the edge of the lounge, breaking it.

HURON.

Seaforth Sun: "Our readers of all denominations will be glad to learn that the Rev. Dr. McDonald, pastor of the C. P. Church in this town, will be likely to remain among us. The congregation by a large vote invited him to remain, and offered to engage a permanent assistant. We have not heard whether the reverend doctor has decided to remain or not, but we think when he considers this handsome offer and cordial invitation he will reconsider his resolution."

John Fisher, the Petrolea man charged with negotiating a forged note with R. D. Correstine, had his examination before W. McLeay and Geo. Shirley, J. P.'s, at Watford, the other afternoon. He was committed to stand his trial at the assizes, bail in the sum of $2,000 being accepted for his appearance.

At the meeting of the Sarnia Presbytery, Rev. A. Beamer laid on the table his resignation of the charge of Petrolea congregation, with reasons thereof. It was agreed to order the resignation to lie on the table, and in the meantime to instruct the clerk to cite parties to appear for their interest at East Williams on the 26th inst.

The illness of Michael Fleming, Sarnia, of which note was made two or three weeks ago, has taken a serious turn and grave fears are entertained by his family and friends as to the result. At last accounts his condition was considered very critical.

WATERLOO.

John M. Geoble and another Hespeler man had an unpleasant experience at Puslinch Lake. John O'Keefe and Peter Collins were also at the lake, when an altercation occurred and Geoble was struck with a bottle. He fell to the ground in an insensible condition. On the following morning Geoble missed his gold watch, and he went before Mr. Ellis, J.P., and had a warrant issued for O'Keefe and Collins, charging them with stealing his time-piece. They have not been arrested.

Galt Reporter: While sauntering up the hill leading to the C. P. R. station one day lately, Mr. C. B. Linton was struck by the appearance of one of the stones forming the retaining wall close to the sidewalk. A closer examination satisfied him that a human skull was imbedded in the stone, the sockets in the eyes and the mouth being readily discernable. What looks like teeth in the mouth are plainly visible, and apparently quite natural. Mr. Linton says that the resemblance to a human skull struck him at once, but we must confess that we were not as quick at discerning it as he was. However, some of our readers may wish to see it for themselves, and the closer it is examined the more certain does it appear to bear out Mr. Linton's theory.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

Sims Reeves has been appointed chief professor of singing at the London Guildhall School of Music.

Lilian Lewis is preparing for her Canada tour, for which a fine company has been engaged. "Credit Lorraine," "As in a Looking Glass," and "Article 47" will be played. In addition to this she is rehearsing the feat of jumping from a running horse without breaking her neck, also how to mount, dismount and ride a horse man fashion. In the second act of "Lady Lil" Miss Lewis will appear on horseback in the uniform of a Prussian Uhlan, and in the third act on horseback in a circus rider's costume.

The Stock Yard.

—Pure water should be given freely to the fattening hogs. Milk, which is sometimes given in place of water, is too solid and does not relieve thirst as water does, and dishwater and swill from the house are often salty. Give fresh, pure water.

—It pays to give every sow full possession of a roomy compartment or of a pen when she farrows, and she should be placed in it two weeks before that event, that she may become accustomed to her surroundings. Otherwise, at farrowing time, she will be nervous—the thing to be avoided.

—The numbers of live stock on hand on July 1, 1891, in Ontario, were as follows: Working horses, 328,736; breeding mares, 127,188; colts, stallions, etc., 222,535; total, 678,459. Working oxen, 6,716; milch cows, 773,234; store cattle, over two years, 359,318; young and other cattle, 839,547; total, 1,978,815. Sheep, 1,693,751. Hogs, 1,156,316. Poultry, turkeys, 507,907; geese, 458,290; other fowls, 6,039,893. The total wool clip amounted to 5,498,141 pounds, and was valued at $1,066,639.

—In no manner does system in English agriculture show to better advantage than in the management of sheep. Flocks are restricted to a given area, instead of being allowed boundless range. The sheep are confined within certain limits by hurdles, which are advanced daily. Thus they are given at one time only so much land in grass as they can eat off clean, and when through with that space they have thoroughly manured it, so there is waste neither of grass nor of manure.

The Poultry Yard.

—Prevention is better than cure in the poultry yard. As a rule, it is hardly worth trying to effect a cure unless the illness is of a trifling nature or the fowl very valuable.

—The sweepings of the hay-mow and the chaff from the wheat can be put in the poultry house, and the fowls will find much pleasure in scratching it over and also much that they relish as food. Change of food is as important for the hen as for man, and the more they scratch the better. A little grain scattered in the chaff or straw is an excellent thing. When the fowl has to hunt and scratch for its food health and eggs usually follow.

—Poultry raising and fruit culture are excellent industries to combine. They are both full of interesting study and will afford a good profit, rightly managed. Plums and pears thrive well in the hen yard, and the pears raised by Mr. Palmer have taken first premium at the Rhode Island State fair several years past. He told the writer the size, weight and perfection was doubtless due to the fowls scratching about the trees and fertilizing them. Plums are less liable to be wormy and grow larger and fairer.

Mr. W. H. McAlister, 206 Front St., San Francisco, Cal., U. S. A., writes: "I used St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism in the muscles of my arm and shoulder. It gave immediate and permanent relief. A member of my family used it for the same ailment with good results." The best.

Gen. Longstreet's history of the late war will soon be published. He views the war in its purely military light, telling the story with the skill of a master.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

A good handful of salt should be added to the water in which matting is washed. The salt keeps the matting in color. Do not use soap.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Never leave a spoon in anything required to boil thickly. The spoon conducts heat away from the liquid.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

The Flower Garden.

"Oh, a rose and a pink have bloomed to-day!"
Said little lame Ruth to her mother;
"I watched them open leaf by leaf,
And they nodded to each other
As if there was something they wished to say—
A secret, you know—and there was no way.

"And then a spider with wondrous skill—
You'd hardly believe it mother—
Stretched a web from the pink to the rose,
So they could talk to each other.
And ever since then there heads are still,
For they say through their telephone what they will."

—Hanging baskets and vases will require an abundant supply of water from this time on. In watering them see that it is done thoroughly, and apply weak liquid manure at least once a week.

—Plants that are being grown for winter blooming require very close attention; keep them well supplied with water, and nip back their leading shoots freely, so as to insure compact specimens. A little neglect at any time means the ruination of many a valuable plant.

STATIONARY POPULATIONS.

The French Chamber of Deputies has now before it a bill to provide some remedy for the steady depopulation of the country which is now going on. The preamble states that the number of births is still far below the deaths, having fallen from 25 per thousand in 1883 to 24 in 1886 and 22 in 1890. One way to encourage fecundity would be to follow the example set by the French King, who bonused the early settlers in Canada to marry and rear families. His example was followed by Mr. Mercier when Premier of Quebec, with the result that a very large number of French-Canadians were ready to claim the reward of 100 acres of land granted to all those who have successfully reared a round dozen of a family.

The trouble in France is that they do not marry early. In Canada they bring children into the world and educate them, only to find them go off to the United States as soon as they reach early manhood. The best way to encourage fecundity in both countries is to make the conditions of domestic life as attractive as possible. In France they sustain a "protective" tariff in order to raise the enormous sum necessary to a constant state of preparedness for war. It may be difficult to get away from this condition, until one more try is made to get back Alsace and Lorraine. But in Canada we have no such excuse for maintaining high tariff taxes. We need not prepare for war. Our neighbors in the States embrace one-fourth of the Canadian people. They are our kinsmen and are as much opposed to war as we are. Hostilities with any other country we can have none. Therefore all we need to do is to cultivate the arts of peace, extend our markets by the removal of unnatural barriers and restrictive taxes on both sides of the line, and moderate prosperity and progress will be ours. How the tariff decimates the population of Canada is well illustrated by the special commissioner of Le Canadien newspaper who has been investigating the immigration question in Quebec. He writes from Trois Pistoles, a parish with a population of 2,800. The land is good and the benefit of having the Intercolonial Railway, which runs through the whole parish, would afford exceptional advantages to the farmers, if they only had a market at their disposal, says the writer; but whole families leave for the New England States every spring, having no means to live. As a rule, before leaving, they sell their farms to the village merchants with whom they run into debt. Twenty years ago there was a flourishing village at the Trois Pistoles River, with about 300 families, one-third of whom were farmers. Now there are not more than 25 families and all the rest have emigrated. For the last five years, an average of between 30 and 40 families left every year, and the majority have not returned. Taking the average to be 7 in each family, we find an emigration of 1,050 persons from this parish alone since 1886.

Some there are who tell us that for this condition of affairs, which is duplicated, to a greater or less extent, in hundreds of parishes and townships in Eastern Canada, there can be no remedy: That it is the natural outflow of population from the lesser to the greater country. This excuse does not meet the case. Canada is the lesser country in point of population; but in point of natural advantages it is equal if not superior to the tier of States that lie immediately to the south of it. Ontario, indeed, is in almost every respect superior to the neighboring State of Michigan. Yet, with all its advantages it only increased 186,000 in population in the last ten years, whereas Michigan added to its population 453,000. The fact is that Canada's great need to-day is opportunity for its people to trade as freely as do its neighbors. The people of the United States have the British market just as we have. But they have in addition a free market on this continent extending over 40 States and affecting fully 60,000,000 of people. Canadians cannot trade on equal conditions with their neighbors while the trade barriers remain between the two countries. Their most profitable market for many millions of dollars worth of Canadian products of the farm, the forest, the mine, the factory and the fisheries is cut off by this trade restriction, to the serious injury of every Canadian who is not a partner in one or other of the great combines. The best way to keep the population we have got, and to make Canada attractive to immigrants, is to seek the removal of these unnatural barriers, which are a great injury to the workers on both sides of the border, but particularly to the people of this northern land.

Some Queer Facts About the Clubs of London.

Curious Bits of Information Picked Up by the Folk-Lore Society.

The Next Lord Mayor of London To Be a Roman Catholic.

[From the ADVERTISER Special Correspondent]

LONDON, Eng., July 1, 1892.

I do not know whether you will have noticed, in your English files, complimentary references to a gifted Canadian young lady, Sarah Jeannette Duncan. On this side the great waters the general impression in literary circles is that the literature of Canada is not up to the standard which might fairly have been expected by this time. Considering the excellent educational facilities of the Dominion, it is thought that literary development has been slow. I am afraid that Goldwin Smith has somehow fostered this unfavorable judgment of the critics. My opinion is that the English critics know little of the work done, and of the high average excellence of that work. Certainly no Shakespeare has yet been produced between St. Johns and Vancouver, but England has only one Shakespeare, only one Milton, only one Tennyson, and it is a very old country. Canada is young, sparsely settled, and the struggle for subsistence is strenuous, admitting of little literary leisure.

It is pleasant, therefore, to find Lily Dougall and Sarah J. Duncan spoken of so favorably. The work by the latter entitled "A Social Departure: How Orthodocia and I Went Round the World by Ourselves," is commended very highly, and "An American Girl in England" though pronounced "inferior," far surpasses in vivacity and freshness the ordinary run of travel literature." Well done, Canadian girls!

Michael Davitt, in his description of his recent journey through the Dominion, was specially delighted with the West. He exhausts his command of adjectives in graphic descriptions of the Rockies and British Columbia, and one of our leading English journals, in its comment on Mr. Davitt's lecture, says: "We have as yet thought too little of Canada, and do not realize what a vast and glorious region it is. It should be taken care of. Some day there will be a craze for visiting the wonderful Western land of giant peaks with everlasting snow, of glaciers, cataracts, lakes, rivers, valleys, and pine woods which fascinate and amaze the traveler all the way from Alberta to Vancouver. The C. P. R. will, when the time comes, take throngs of visitors to the Canadian wilds(!) And when a new outlet is wanted for multitudes of our crowded home population, Canada will welcome them. She can furnish fertile plains as vast as those of Russia and glorious mountain districts big enough to make half-a-dozen Switzerlands." Meanwhile it is interesting to learn that the export of horses from the Dominion to England is steadily on the increase. Good prices are paid for them here. Why should not Canadian farmers pay special and increased attention to horse breeding? There will always be a good market for horses in England. We have to get large numbers from Ireland, but Canada is not far away now. The horses which pay best are heavy draught horses, but carriage horses and ordinary hacks fetch good prices. Sir Charles Tupper, and the agents of the Canadian Government in England, could give all needed information.

A recent number of the Illustrated London News gives an abstract of the will of the late Mr. Alex Allan, shipowner in Glasgow, who died April 2, aged 67 years, and was one of the owners of the Allan Line steamers. The value of his personal estate was £519,022 14s 4d, including £102,861, as the value for probate of his shares in the fleet of 46 steamships and sailing ships.

Mr. John Murray, head of the famous publishing house, has recently died at the advanced age of 84 years. Three John Murrays in succession have managed this business since 1768, and a fourth is left to continue it. The late John Murray's father established the Quarterly Review—an able Tory publication, which still holds on its way valiantly, in spite of the cheapening of this ponderous class of literature. The third John was, in his youthtime, familiar and friendly with Scott, Byron, Moore, Southey, Campbell and Crabbe. Mr. Gladstone was on the most friendly terms with the Mr. Murray who has just passed away, and who had a high reputation for mercantile honor. In confirmation of this, it is reported that a certain author sold his M. S. to the great publisher for £600, preferring that sum to the risk of the half-profit system, on which Mr. Murray offered to publish the work. Some time afterwards the author received a check for £2,400 and a letter informing him that that would have been his share on the terms originally proposed.

In this metropolis, we have a great number of clubs. These are the clubs, not of savages but of a civilized people; though we have a Savage Club. Club-land is quite an aristocratic quarter of London. The habitues of the clubs are people of respectable social position whatever may be their rank in the moral world. After a residence of years in the city, I have not met with "A Book of Clubs," giving an account of the origin, the history the characteristics, and the celebrities of the numerous clubs of London. Such a book, up to date, is a desideratum. If I were not such a busy man, I would prepare such a book and, of course, make my fortune! Never more should I have to complain of impecuniosity. The "Clubs" would have settled me in otium cum dignitate. One of the least-known clubs is The Quekett Club. In 1848 John Quekett published a "Practical Treatise on the Microscope." In 1856 he was conservator of the Hunterian Museum and professor of histology (the doctrine of the organic tissues) to the Royal College of Surgeon. In 1861 he died at Pangbourne, about 40 miles from London—a year after his election as a Fellow of the Royal Society. In 1865 the Quekett Club was founded by 11 miscroscopists and now it numbers 400. The object is, of course, to promote practical microscopical work. Perhaps nothing is more fascinating and elevating, and of greater educational value in training the senses of touch and sight, the development of a habit of accurate observation, or the cultivation of patience. In addition to a fine technical library there is an excellent cabinet of 4,000 specimens available for the members. Mr. H. F. Hailes, one of the original eleven (not cricket but crickets they studied), is the honorary secretary and editor of the journal. The president is the Rev. Dr. Dallinger. The habitat of the Quekett Club is Hanover Square, London West.

There is a Folk-Lore Society here in Old London, and many curious bits of information come to them. The Rev. James Sibree, F. R. G. S., of the London Missionary Society in Madagascar, and who is returning thither on the 24th inst., after a holiday in England, read a paper before this society on "Divination Among the Malagasy." He pointed out that they had a powerful and ancient belief in fate (which they call vintana), and connected therewith was a system of divination called sikidy, which was held to be a divinely-given method of ascertaining secret things and future events, together with the means of averting or remedying all evil. The sikidy was worked by the diviner taking at hap-hazard a number of beans or seeds from a heap, by twos, and with any left forming figures and combinations, arranged in twelve columns. Answers were supposed to be obtainable from these combinations, as each figure and row had a certain significance. It is evident that such methods give ample scope for imposition, and Mr. Sibree said there was doubtless much trickery. Absurd notions, however, were held by the uninitiated in regard to the power of the diviner and the value of the answers. This sikidy was of Arab origin, as was evidenced by many of the divining words being Arabic. The Malagasy hold the fatalistic belief that certain days in each month are unlucky; hence infanticide is largely practiced in Madagascar among the heathen tribes.—Dr. de Lacouperie has clearly shown that there are traces of Chaldean influence in the early civilization of the ancient Chinese. "Black-Heads" was the generic name for the people in the basin of Hwang-Ho, as it had been long before and from very remote times in the Euphrates Valley. He proves that the designation "Black-Heads" of Babylonia referred originally to the clever and able dark-raced civilizers of the country from the Erythrean Sea. But in coarse of time, under the rule of the clear-skinned Akkadians and Semites, the expression preserved only its secondary and less precise acceptation of able-bodied people. Such was the sense of the term as known to the blue-eyed, ruddy-faced, and not black-haired race who were the civilizers of China seventeen centuries after the time of Sargon. They had obviously carried it to the East with the many other notions and ideas which they had received from the Chaldæo-Elamite civilization.

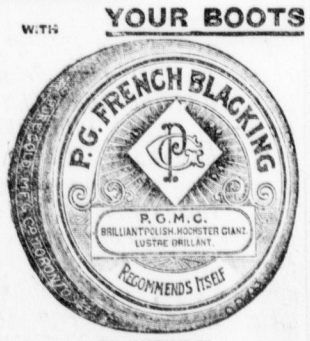

It is a rather singular thing how, just at the present time, Welsh people are coming to the fore, and ably filling conspicuous offices in Church and State. Sometimes shrewd and aggressive Scotchmen push to the front and occupy the highest positions with consummate tact; then Irishmen put themselves in evidence, and by their cleverness, refinement, grace of manner and sense of humor command admiration for the efficiency with which they discharge the duties of important posts. But here in London to-day the lord mayor, Mr. Evans, is a Welshman of whom his countrymen are justly proud. The manager of the Bank of England, Mr. David Powell; the chairman of the Congregational Union, Dr. Herbert Evans; the chairman of the Baptist Union, Rev. R. H. Roberts; the new cardinal of Westminster (in succession to Cardinal Manning), Herbert Vaughan or Fychan, and the famous Wesleyan evangelist, Hugh Price Hughes (who is likely to be president of the Wesleyan Conference when it is held next year at Cardiff in Wales)—are all Welshmen of prominent ability and high character. By the way, Mr. Alderman Knill, who is next in rotation for the civic chair in succession to our present Welsh Lord Mayor, is a Roman Catholic; and though said to be strict, has undertaken to attend the various religious ceremonials that are held in St. Paul's and at the Protestant city churches in connection with the corporation. Where the strictness comes in, I cannot see. I should call him a broad churchman, and considerably so; and admire him none the less. In this connection I may mention that in accordance with a court etiquette which greatly exasperates ultra-Protestants, her most Gracious Majesty (as the phrase goes) lent her congratulations to the Rev. Dr. Vaughan, the recently elected Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminister. The custom is to congratulate the prelate who is the spiritual head and representative of her Majesty's millions of Roman Catholic subjects in England. Some persons have, however, attempted to put a personal construction upon this act of royal courtesy, for they have asserted that the congratulations were forwarded simply and only because Dr. Vaughan was a persona grata to her Majesty. But that is not the reason. The Queen is very broad in her sentiments, and while an Episcopalian in England is a Presbyterian in Scotland, and has the courage to be courteous to a dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church. I have just been informed that Mrs. Oliphant, the distinguished novelist, resides at Windsor, and is on terms of friendly intimacy with the Queen. Mrs. Oliphant's new novel, "The Marriage of Elinor," is nearly ready for publication.

A LOCAL MATCH.

A baseball game was played Saturday between Messrs. E. Leonard & Sons and the London Barrel Company's employes. It resulted in favor of E. Leonard & Sons by 15 to 4. Any shop club in the city wishing to play a game should address J. Naven, E. Leonard & Sons.

FLYS.

Decker and Connors, of the Illinois-Iowa League, have been signed by Chicago.

The Syracuse baseball club of the Eastern League has been transferred to Utica.

Herman Doescher has resigned from the Eastern League staff of umpires and accepted the management of the Binghamtons.

The Eastern League scores Saturday: At Syracuse—Syracuse 1, Providence 3. At Albany—Rain. At Buffalo—Buffalo 4, Elmira 5. At Rochester—Rochester 8, Troy 7.

The Bostons have won more games in the last inning and by one run than any other team. It may be luck, but there is a great deal of good, nervy ball playing mixed in with the luck.

The collapse of the Milwaukee and Fort Wayne clubs practically brings the Western Association to an end. On the last day Secretary Friese had $18 as the home club's share of the game, and this was divided among the players in lieu of the three weeks' pay which is due them.

THE TURF.

Five Points, the horse that won the 2:28 class race at the recent London Turf Association meeting in Queen's Park, has been entered for the $10,000 stake, 2:24 class race, at Detroit this month. The owner, George Leroy, of Monticello, Ill., paid $500 for the horse and has since been offered $8,000. It is a deceptive-looking animal, and odds were 10 to 1 against it here at first. Its backers made a pot of money on that account.

LACROSSE.

The Stratford and Brant lacrosse clubs played their second match of the season in the Canadian Lacrosse Association series on Riverview Park, Paris, on Saturday afternoon in the presence of about 2,000 spectators. Stratford won by 4 goals to 3.

AQUATIC.

R. G. Muntz, of Toronto, won the race for the Toronto Canoe Club's international paddling trophy.

THE WHEEL.

The Seaforth club will hold their races Aug. 5.

Hyslop, of the Torontos, got second prize in the three-mile lap race of Tonawanda, N. Y., on Saturday. Dorrnge of Buffalo, won with 78 points in 8:46 2-5. Eight riders started.

F. G. Lenz, the bicyclist who is making a tour of the world on a wheel as a representative of Outing, left the Grand Pacific Hotel, Chicago, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and resumed his journey to the Pacific coast.

THE TRIGGER.

The third Canadian Military Rifle League match was shot on Saturday. The local scores were: "D" Company, 800; Seventh Battalion, 808. The Seventh's individual score is appended: Col. Payne, 85; Capt. Hayes, 84; W. C. Noble, 82; Pte. O'Brien, 71; Sergt. Pryor, 70; W. C. Hiscott, 66; Pte. Hayne, 90; Pte. T. Hiscott, 90; Corp. Rose, 85; and B. M. Hiscott, 85—total, 808.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Hitch in the Work of Extending the Exhibition Grounds.

TORONTO, July 11.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell has ordered the city off the Garrison Common until the agreement with the department is finally ratified. The agreement under which the city took possession provided that such possession should terminate whenever the militia corps should cease to use the new Mimico ranges. The city solicitor suggests an amendment by which the city may hold possession so long as it lives up to the agreement to find suitable ranges elsewhere. The citizens voted $150,000 last week to erect a grand stand and prepare the grounds which have been added to the exhibition grounds from land in dispute and work began directly. This action of the Militia Department stops all operations at least temporarily and will probably prevent the additions being ready for the September exhibition.

—Red raspberries pay well both in nectar for the bees and in fruit. The drooping blossoms protect the honey from moisture, and the bees can work upon them when the weather is so wet that they can obtain nothing from the upright blossoms of the clover. They furnish a succession of flowers during more than three weeks, and yield a supply almost as lasting as the white clover. In favorable seasons the plants supply the table with delicious berries which are more easily gathered than strawberries during as long a time as the plants are in bloom. Where is the farm that cannot afford a few rods of ground on which to raise this luxury?

Fatal Fight at the Frisco Mine in Idaho.

Union and Non-Union Men Shoot Each Other Down.

Four Persons Killed—A Mill Blown Up—Non-Unionists Surrender.

The Situation at Homestead—The Workmen Resolve to Welcome the Militia—Pinkertons Tabooed in Colorado.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—A battle occurred at the Frisco mine and gold mine at the town of Gem this morning between union miners and non-union miners. The fight lasted for several hours. Four men were killed.

Among the killed are Gus Carleson and Harry Cummings, union men. The other two were guards at the mines.

The wounded so far as learned are: John Ward, of Gem, shot through the arm; Hugh Campbell, a union man, hit by a rifle on the head; J. W. Gankroger, a non-union man, shot through the hips; G. A. Peters, of Tacoma, a non-union man, shot in the head.

THE NON-UNION MEN SURRENDER.

The mill at the Frisco mine was blown up during the fight and is a complete wreck. After the mill was blown up the non-union men in the Frisco mine hung out a flag of truce. Hostilities ceased and about 60 men surrendered. The men are now under guard at the Miners' Union headquarters in the town of Gem.

NINE KILLED.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 11.—It is impossible at this hour (7 p.m.) to learn the exact condition of affairs in the Cœur d'Alene mines. It is known, however, that nine are dead, that the Frisco mill has been destroyed by dynamite, and that the Gem men have surrendered to the strickers and been taken to Wallace. A dispatch from the superintendent of Gem mine reports one man killed at Gem and the other eight at Frisco. To avoid further bloodshed he surrendered the mine and all its arms.

BOISE, Idaho, July 11.—The governor has made arrangements to send all available militia to the Cœur d'Alene mines. It is thought 200 men will leave for the scene to-morrow.

HOW THE MILL WAS DESTROYED.

A late dispatch from Wallace, Ida., in describing the fight between the non-union and union miners says the Gem and Frisco mines were guarded by men behind barricades and armed with Winchesters. The Gem barricade is withing 200 feet of the center of the town. The canyon is narrow where the mines are located, and the barricades commanded well the approaches. At 5 a.m., a miner from Gem started for Burke and was fired on from opposite the Frisco mine. The alarm was given and soon a regular battle ensued. One miner and one non-union man wered killed and six wounded during this engagement. The miners in the meantime went around the hills up the canyon above the mine, loaded a car with 750 pounds of giant powder, and sent the car down the track toward the Frisco mine. Directly in front of the mill an explosion occurred, shattering it to splinters. The non-union men then showed the white flag and surrendered. While the fight was going on at Frisco the guards suddenly began firing volley after volley into the town of Gem. The number of killed so far as at present can be learned is four and about ten are wounded, though there may be bodies under the Frisco mill.

THE CAUSE.

The cause of the strike was the demand of the union miners of the district for $3 50 per day for every man working underground. The mine owners held that the unskilled laborers should be paid only $3. When the miners refused to accept the scale the mines were closed. A lockout was begun April 1 by the Mine Owners' Association, and 3,000 miners were thrown out of work. The example at Homestead and the decision of the United States courts at Boise, making a perpetual injunction against the Miners' Union brought matters to a head.

NO USE FOR PINKERTONS.

DENVER, Col., July 11.—Gov. Routt of Colorado has refused to renew the license of the Pinkertons. The use of the Pinkertons at the Crested Butte strike and the Burlington strike aroused the feelings of the Colorado workmen against their employment in that State. It is said that the Pinkertons will make another attempt to have the license renewed.

TROOPS FOR HOMESTEAD.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—The Fourteenth regiment, numbering 450 men, and the Eighteenth regiment, numbering 414 men, of the National Guard from Pittsburg and Allegheny, left this evening. Battery B, with 60 men left soon after the infantry. The battery took to Homestead four field pieces, three inch rifle guns and two Gatling guns.

WILL WELCOME THE TROOPS.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 11.—At a mass meeting of the strikers this afternoon it was decided by a unanimous vote and amid enthusiasm that the militia should be welcomed to the city by brass bands and other ceremonies. It was also resolved that any striker who should shoot at the militia or otherwise fail in proper respect to the State's representative should be ducked in the river, and a committee was appointed for that purpose.

MILITIA SENT TO HOMESTEAD.

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—The Philadelphia regiments making up the First Brigade left here at 11:50 this morning for Mount Gretna. They marched in heavy order with knapsacks, overcoats, canteens and all the paraphernalia of regulars about to take the field.

THE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—The committee of the Judiciary Committee, charged with the investigation of the Pinkerton problem in general and the Homestead troubles in particular, left for Pittsburg this evening.

ANARCHISTS MUST GO.

The burgess was requested to invite all citizens having no business in Homestead to depart, as it was feared some unwise and Anarchist sympathizers with the strikers might seek to perpetrate disturbances. All the leaders made speeches and the three brass bands of the city tendered their services in the welcoming ceremonies to the militia. No one doubts that all will be peaceful henceforth.

CARNEGIE'S PITTSBURG EMPLOYES INTERVIEW FRICK.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—The committee of workingmen which called on Mr. Frick to-day was not from the Homestead strikers as at first supposed, but a committee from the City Mills of the Carnegie Company appointed at a meeting of the Amalgamated Association in Pittsburg last night to ask the company to confer with the strikers. The scale has been signed between these men and the company. The committee disclaimed that they were here for interference, and wanted it expressly understood that they called solely in the interests of peace. Secretary Lovejoy, of the Carnegie Company, said: "The men as members of the Amalgamated Association, called to ask us to confer with the Homestead strikers. We declined to do it. The strikers have taken possession of our property, and have murdered our watchmen, for which they will have to answer to the district attorney. We will not see them."

"Did the committee make any suggestion about making an agreement with them and not meeting the Homestead strikers?"

"No," was the answer. "We cannot make an agreement with the city men about Homestead scale."

BOSTON WORKINGMEN ORGANIZE FOR DRILL.

BOSTON, Mass., July 11.—A secret organization of workmen called "Our Own Club, was formed here yesterday for the purpose of giving union workers military training. The men who took the oath of allegiance state that the time has come when the working people of this country must prepare to overthrow the Pinkertons or any similar body of what they term "hired assassins and mercenary desperadoes." It is the opinion of these men that the large capitalists of this country have concluded to destroy all labor organizations in order that reductions of wages may be enforced without protest from the wage-earners. It is claimed that the New England Granite Manufacturers' Association is in sympathy with Carnegie, Frick and Pinkerton, and that its members will take similar action to that of Homestead in the granite centers if they have the courage. Sub-committees were appointed to organize branches of the society in every industrial center of the Commonwealth.

AFTER THE CONFLAGRATION.

Thousands of St. Johns Citizens in Need of Help.

Relief Tendered From All Quarters of the Country—Arrival of British Steamers With Provisions—The Councils of Various Canadian Cities Ready to Assist.

TORONTO, July 11.—At the special meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade this afternoon it was decided to take up subscriptions at once for the sufferers at St. Johns, and a special meeting of the board is called for noon to-morrow to take further action. Two thousand dollars was subscribed inside of half an hour. A special meeting of the City Council for the same purpose is called for Wednesday night.

HAMILTON, July 11.—Mayor Blaicher telegraphed to the mayor of St. Johns, extending Hamilton's sympathy and asking if aid is required. In reply he received a dispatch from the chairman of the municipal council stating that 5,000 people were actually destitute, forest fires near by are causing much alarm for the remainder of the city, and food will be scarce for the next two weeks. A meeting of the Hamilton City Council was immediately called, and Mayor Blaicher was authorized to tell the mayor of St. Johns, Nfld., to draw on the city of Hamilton for $1,000. Many private subscriptions are being sent from here.

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 11.—At the meeting of citizens to-day it was resolved to request the council to make an immediate grant of $5,000. It was also decided to open a subscription list, and a committee was formed to collect money. Over $1,000 was subscribed.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—Halifax has already provided for the sending of $11,000 worth of provisions, etc., to St. Johns. Every town in the Province will hold meetings to-night to provide for contribution to the relief fund.

MONTREAL, July 11.—A relief boat will leave Montreal for Newfoundland on Thursday laden with provisions. Mr. R. G. Reid, contractor for the Newfoundland Railway, telegraphed $500 to-day, Munn & Co., $200 and others smaller sums. The city of Montreal will vote a sum of money and a public subscription list will be opened.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 11.—The flag ship Blake and H. M. S. Emerald arrived at St. Johns, Nfld., with provisions for the suffering mass this morning. To-night telegrams are pouring in from all over the Province of Nova Scotia, pledging sums for the relief of victims.

OTTAWA, July 11.—Court Ottawa, No. 41, Independent Order of Foresters, set the ball rolling in the order for the relief of St. Johns sufferers by voting $50 for that purpose to-night.

A CIRCUS TRAIN WRECKED.

The Manager Weeps Because Fourteen Horses and No Darkies Were Killed.

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 11.—Cook & Whitby's circus train of 22 cars was wrecked six miles below McGregor Saturday morning. A broken truck ditched five cars. Thirty horses were killed.

One car contained fourteen horses and fifteen colored musicians. Every horse was killed outright, but every man escaped except two, one of whom was injured perhaps fatally and the other slightly.

The circus manager burst into tears exclaiming: "My God! My fourteen best horses killed and not one of those —— darkies."

Killed by Lightning.

HARRISBURG, July 11.—During a thunder storm in this vicinity this afternoon a farmer and his hired man were working in a hay field about two miles north of this place, when both were struck by lightning, the farmer being killed and the man being so seriously injured that his recovery is impossible. The lightning was very vivid for a short time.

Water Mixed With Wine.

It becomes more apparent every day that the use of heavy wines at dinners and banquets is gradually being abandoned, and one of the magazines has published interesting evidence of this in letters from fashionable dinner givers.

Rhine wines, clarets and champagne are holding sway, while burgundies, ports and madeiras, formerly obligatory, are being pushed aside. And what is of interest to abstainers, or those holding moderate ideas, is that these light wines are served with the accompaniment of natural table water, which is used either alone or mixed with wine, and so much so that Apollinaris is ever a welcome guest at banquets, clubs and in homes.

Of the light wines champagne is undoubtedly the favorite, being now often served through the whole meal, as is done in England

The Cottage Hearth.

All day she hurried to get through,
The same as lots of wimmin do;
Sometimes at night her husband said,
"Ma, ain't you goin' to come to bed?"
And then she'd kinder give a hitch,
And pause half way between a stitch,
And sorter sigh and say that she
Was ready as she'd ever be,
She reckoned.

And so the years went one by one,
An' somehow she was never done;
An' when the angel said, as how
"Mis' Smith, it's time you rested now,"
She sorter raised her eyes to look
A second, as a stitch she took:
"All right, I'm comin' now," says she,
"I'm ready as I'll ever be,
I reckon."

CRUSTS AND SCALES.

Hair and Eyebrows Fell Off. Doctor and Many Remedies No Benefit. Entirely Cured and Hair Restored by Cuticura.

My wife has been troubled for years with dry crusts and scales on her head and eyebrows. After seeming to lie dormant for years in her system, it broke out over a year ago in all its fury. Her hair came out in big patches, her eyebrows all fell off and she presented a pitiable condition. We tried almost everything, but she continued to get worse. Then we tried one of our best physicians, but all to no purpose. Finally my wife believed that the CUTICURA REMEDIES would cure her. After she had used nine boxes of CUTICURA, and about a dozen cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and four bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, she was cured entirely. Her hair came on again, and to-day she has as fine a head of black, curly hair and as smooth skin as any lady in Allentown. Her eyebrows are heavier than they ever were, her scalp is free from dandruff, and her health is excellent. Now, for the benefit of those suffering with the same disease, or to those who may doubt the truthfulness of this statement, write me, inclosing a stamp, and I will cheerfully answer. I am sure that the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured my wife, for she used nothing else during the four or five months she used them. FREEMAN STOEKER,

British Cattle Trade.

LONDON, July 12.—The election has somewhat unhinged business in the cattle trade in most parts of the country. In London yesterday 800 Canadians sold freely at an increase of 2d per eight lbs. for prime qualities. Seconds maintained the previous price. In Scotland rates varied. Prices were strong at Yorkhill, but at Glasgow for a fine lot of Canadians the price fell 40s per head.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

Parties leaving the city on their holidays can have the Daily ADVERTISER mailed to any address in Canada or the United States for 40 cents per month.

Mrs. S. R. Manness and family have gone to spend a month in Port Rowan and Forestville.

—The full capacity of the leading hotels of the city has been engaged for next week by Masonic delegates.

—The primary and junior leaving examinations are going on at the Collegiate Institute. Over 100 candidates are writing.

—Ald. Gartshore is acting chief magistrate of the city, Mayor Spencer being away on a flying business trip of a day or two.

—The People's Excursion Company and the Sons of England will run an excursion to Niagara Falls, Niagara-on-the-Lake and Buffalo via the M. C. R. Civic Holiday.

—Through unforeseen circumstances it has been deemed advisable to postpone the presentation of the district master's regalia to Wor. Bro. Munson until the meeting of the Grand Lodge. It will not therefore take place this evening.

—"I was in Windsor yesterday," said a citizen, "and was surprised on returning home to find it had rained heavily here. It was burning hot there all day." "How do you account for it?" was asked. "I suppose it's because I took my waterproof with me."

—The Seventh Battalion had a novel drill last night. Three companies under Col. Payne and Major Beattie paraded from the drill sheds on Wellington, Colborne and Dundas streets and Queen's avenue, performing a number of movements while on the march. The men did well.

—Andrew Murphy, the lad who stole hardware and cash from James Cowan & Co., pleaded guilty before Judge Elliot this morning and was remanded for sentence. John Holmes, the youth who stole cattle from an Ekfrid farmer, was allowed to go on suspended sentence. A benevolent citizen has taken him in hand.

—The 12th of July here is quiet after the celebrations in former years. The only intimation citizens received of the anniversary of the Boyne was about 9 o'clock this morning when the local Orangemen and True Blues, decorated with the flaring regalia of the order, and accompanied by Hackett Lodge's brass band and the shrill notes of two fife and drum contingents marched from Orange Hall to the C. P. R. station, taking the train for Woodstock. The turnout was big, the ranks being swelled by delegations from the surrounding neighborhood.

The Plaintiff Still a Winner.

In the wages case, Ross vs. Sterling Bros., tried for the third time before Judge Elliot, the jury gave a verdict for the full amount sued, viz., $69, with costs. The first verdict gave $42 and the second $30.

Safe.

Rev. George Boyd, pastor of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, has been relieved by a message from Mrs. Boyd, who has been visiting in St. Johns, Nfld., announcing that she is safe and sound. Mrs. Boyd states that she left St. Johns the morning of the fire, just before it broke out, and she is now the guest of her father in Bay Roberts, Nfld.

Grand Exhibition at Montreal.

The second annual Quebec Provincial Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition will be held in Montreal on Sept. 15 to 23. The grounds have been enlarged and extensive alterations and improvements have been made, providing greatly increased facilities. C. S. Stephenson, the popular manager and secretary, is sparing no effort to make the fair successful. Prize lists are now being distributed.

London Will Aid St. Johns.

London will not be behind in extending practical sympathy to the destitute people of the fire-swept city of St. Johns. A special meeting of the City Council has been called by Acting Mayor Gartshore for 4 o'clock this afternoon to take action in the matter of a grant of money. City Clerk Kingston was busy telephoning the aldermen this morning, and with one exception they approved of the course.

They'll All Be There.

The Band of Seventh Fusiliers will perform the following programme this (Tuesday) evening in Victoria Park by permission of Lieut.-Col. Payne and officers:

March—Boom Ta Ra.....Williams
Quadrille—New Promenade.....Coste
Waltz—Little Gleaners.....Roeder
Wedding.....Mendelssohn
Gavotte—Queen of Hearts.....Le Thiere
Song—There is a Green Hill Far Away.....Gounod
(Cornet solo).
Selection—Iolanthe.....Sullivan
Xylophone Solo—Sylvan Polka.....Muller
Waltz—Atmospheric.....Gung'l

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

Before I had reached this stage, my father had been for some time dead. Mr. Murray of Murryshaugh, the father of our friend Hew, a surly old gentleman of very ancient family, and very meager estate, was my guardian; and we boys, having fairly concluded our academy course, began to form plans for our future life not without much magniloquence of speech. Maxwell wavered between the two grave professions of medicine and the Church. The latter was at first decidedly the favorite, for Johnstone, with malicious glee, drew so exquisite a picture of an adoring congregation, and ministering angels, in the form of ladies, old and young, that the gentle Edwell in her cottage, on the Watch-brae, had no manner of influence in the Church, while she had the shadow of a promise from some patron of her husband's to procure for Edward a situation like his father's that of an assistant army surgeon. So Maxwell's fate was determined. He was immediately to commence his studies as a medical student.

Johnstone at once and promptly decided for the law, in some one of its occult branches, I scarcely recollect which; but he had not the gift of utterance, and therefore was disqualified from entering the highest and most showy class of the profession.

Charlie's destination was less easily fixed. He was eager to grow rich—he aspired to be famous—he liked all the good things of this world so well that he was undecided which to grasp at. He thought of India, and his eyes sparkled; but some indefinite feeling, which was not home-love made him determine to remain in Scotland. I used to wonder at this; for Charlie, with his frank fascination of manners, and his adventurous spirit, was the very man to travel—the very man, as I fancied in honest boyish admiration, to succeed brilliantly wherever he went; but he resolved to remain at home. Then he thought of business—of becoming a great merchant—for youthful calculators have a happy knack of leaping over all the initiatory steps—but for that the capital was wanting. He had nothing—I not very much, and while I would joyfully have shared my utmost farthing with Charlie, that gruff old Murryshaugh growled forth his veto—"There's enough tint with merchandise for one generation of ye l" so we relinquished that.

But the gift that Johnstone wanted, Charlie had in perfection. He was a natural orator; and the momentous decision was made at last. Charlie decided upon being a great lawyer—the most brilliant pleader in Scotland—perhaps Lord Advocate eventually—certainly a Member of Parliament—member of Edinburgh! Charlie rose from his low carved chair by the fire as that crowning glory burst upon him—the grandeur of it was overpowering—member for Edinburgh!

Murrayshaugh was an impoverished and poor estate. Its possessor had been "wild" in his youth, and now resented and avenged upon his children the poverty himself had made. Lucy Murray grew up in forlorn and lonely seclusion, acquainted from her youth with many cares. Hew was designed for a civil appointment in india, where his father ordained his industry should redeem the fortunes of the family. The harsh old man was a despot—there was no appeal against his arbitrary will.

But Murrayshaugh withal was a gentleman and a scholar; as anxious that his son should be fully and carefully fitted for the position he was to occupy as determined that in this way, and no other, should Hew's life be spent. So Hew also was to join our little band of students in Edinburgh, and to have the advantage of two or three sessions' training there, before he departed to his far-away labor. I could not part with them—Charlie and Hew especially were my sworn brethren; and after a long siege Murrayshaugh yielded to my very reasonable wish of accompanying them, and gave to Charlie and myself the necessary funds, commenting bitterly—

"Your father, Adam, gave me no charge of furnishing two lads for the college. An it be your silly pleasure to spend your means on your cousin, the way is to deny yourself, my man—not to think you are a pink of generosity when it costs you nothing. But take it—take it—I wish ye much gratitude. If ye get but the common share ye will be well repaid."

"Never mind my father, Adam," said Lucy, as I emerged indignantly from the dreary library of Murrayshaugh into the luxuriant garden, with its mossy terraces sloping to the river-side. "Simon says true, his bark is worse than his bite—and I think though he would not say it, that he is sad about you all going away, and only looks angry because he thinks shame."

"Are we to go, Adam?" said Charlie, eagerly. He had come to Murrayshaugh with me, and had waited on the terrace with Hew and Lucy while I bearded the lion within.

"Yes," said I, with some heat—for there is nothing that one resents so warmly in one's first youth as any prophecy of ingratitude on the part of those whom we delight to honor. "Yes, we're to go. I would like to know why old folks continually think young ones fools."

I was nearly eighteen—I drew myself up.

"Perhaps because they are often Adam," suggested Lucy gently.

I could not be angry at Lucy Murray. I was too full of boyish chivalry, having re-entered the age of imagination, to be anything but gentle and deferential to a girl.

"How you do speak," exclaimed my cousin; "you think us fools, do you, Lucy?—very well—you'll see that by and by."

"When you read the honorable member for Edinburgh's great speech," said Hew, with his frank and pleasant laugh, "about—what will it be about, Charlie?"

"And I would like to know," continued Charlie, angrily, "what we have done that we should be thought so very foolish. We have only been at home all our lives, no doubt—people get so much more culture in Yorkshire!"

Lucy turned away.

"Never heed him, Lucy," said Hew, "he shoves the cloven foot. It's all about poor Dick Fendie. Why, man, Charlie, to be jealous of him!"

Charlie was past eighteen. He had some time since thrown his handkerchief on Lucy Murray, and regularly engrossed her society; by no means to her own satisfaction at first, but she had become accustomed to it. He had wounded her feelings now. He saw it himself, and was maliciously pleased. I saw it as she wandered along the terrace toward the water-side, and could almost have thrown him over the wall in spite of our brotherhood.

"What is the matter?" said I. "Quarrel with Hew or me as you like, Charlie, but what has Lucy done?"

Charlie twisted the graceful curl by the side of his cap, and swung round on his heel to follow Lucy without answering me. He was very handsome, and had a frank manliness in every look and gesture which disarmed one's reproofs. At present, too, the conscious smile of power was on his face—he felt himself too sure of immediate forgiveness—so perfectly able to restore the smiles of Lucy Murray.

Hew and I stood watching him, as he went along the terrace after her. Our eyes met—we exclaimed in chorus, "He does not mean anything—Charlie would not hurt any one's feelings for the world."

"It was Lucy's own fault, talking so much of Dick Fendie," said Hew. "Mamma's good boy has come home, Adam—have you seen him yet? And Lucy would defend him; but I suppose it's all over now. By the bye, Adam how does it come about that you and I never quarrel with Lucy?"

"You and I—why, is she not your sister, Hew? and almost mine, too—Charlie you know—Charlie is different."

Hew became thoughtful for a moment, and ended with a laugh. "Ay, that's because Mrs. Mense at Mossgray says they were made for each other. But I say, Adam, do Lilias Johnstone and you battle at each otherlike these two?"

I blushed a tremulous blush—it was desecration to name this sacred name so lightly. The two things were altogether different—how or wherefore I did not stay to analyze—but my reverent boyish adoration, and Charlie's bold demands upon the constant patience and sole regard of Lucy Murray, had no resemblance to each other. I shrunk back—I would have had Lilias Johnstone distinguished by the reverent respect of all men, and to hear her name thus profanely conjoined with mine!

(To be Continued.)

The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is not accidental, but is the result of careful study and experiment by educated pharmacists.

It has been stated that for every 800 bullets fired during the civil a man was killed.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband: but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Six millions of dollars are invested yearly in the manufacture of dynamite in the United States.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

The value of the art treasures of the Museum of Art of New York city is $7,000,000.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.

Mrs. Hattie Brooks of Maine is conducting an extensive locomotive building establishing near Dunkirk, which turns out a locomotive a day.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Elizabeth More, a pretty young girl of Edgeworth, N. Y., with the help of a girl friend, has recently built a little cottage for herself, laying the foundation, doing all the carpentering and plastering the rooms.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

A Spanish lady has succeeded in crossing the Andes in a carriage, a distance of 300 miles. The journey was completed in eleven days, though nearly a mile of the road had to be built for her use.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellegg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

A SLIDE FOR LIFE.

How a Telegraph Lineman Escaped a Horrible Death.

NEW YORK, July 11.—H. J. Beany, of 127 Jackson avenue, Long Island City, is a telegraph lineman. Saturday morning he climbed to the top of a tall, tapering telegraph pole in Jackson avenue and Third street, Long Island City. The pole was decayed through at the bottom. When Beany reached the top to replace some lines the weight of his body snapped it off close to the sidewalk.

Before the horrified spectators had time to think Beany had slid more than half way down the falling pole, and when it was within several feet of the ground he sprang clear of it, escaping without a scratch. The whole occurrence took place in less than a tenth of a minute. The pole was delayed slightly in its fall by interfering wires. Beany lost no time in clearing the wreck and repairing the damage done.

The Dairy.

—Nobody tries to dispute the fact that one first-class cow will furnish as much milk or butter as two poor ones and quadruple their profits.

—Commercial butter has a uniform color the year round, and butter with a good color is more satisfactory to consumers. Relish depends upon appearance as well as flavor.

—Don't guess that the cows are paying. Test them and be sure. Watch each animal and become familiar with their peculiarities. If the butter be hard and crumbly, as it is sure to be if you are feeding cornstalks or corn, add a little linseed meal to the feed and the difficulty will end. It will also help to give the butter a lovely color.

—Why should not farmers' wives and daughters in a large neighborhood organize and establish a co-operative creamery, to which they would furnish all the cream? There are abundance of farmers' daughters seeking employment in the cities, studying art, studying what not, who could do all the work of such an establishment except the work of lifting heavy buckets, which ought to be done by a male employe. There is no essential part of the work of butter-making which may not be better intrusted to women's hands, than to men's. The establisment should, of course, be conducted on strict business principles. There should be agencies for the sale of the butter in the cities and villages where it will command the best price, and such agencies should be in charge of daughters of those interested in the co-operative scheme. There is no possible reason why many of the army of unemployed women who are continually drifting to the cities for work should not be aided by such a project as this. There is always a demand for home-made bread and cake, home-made pickles, and home-made preserves, at prices which will compete with the inferior produce of this kind. Canning and pickling establishments of a similar kind might also be conducted on the co-operative plan by unemployed women. It is not our purpose to add to the many burdens of the farmer's wife. It it not a question so much of whether she finds enough to do as whether what she does gives the best result. There is no use of farmers of limited means educating their daughters for teachers, for the ranks of teachers are over full. There is little more use in educating them in art than there is in educating them to write poetry as a remunerative profession. What they need is practical employment, which will bring a practical money return.—[New York Tribune.

The Grimsby Gold Cure Institute.

It is now a fact recognized by the medical profession and by all enlightened people that Confirmed Drunkenness is a Disease. This being accepted, the logical conclusion is, that the drunkard must look for reformation mainly to medical treatment, skillfully and specifically directed to his particular symptoms and organization. The Double Chloride of Gold has been found in the past few years to possess an almost magical therapeutic influence over the morbid appetite for alcoholic liquors, inducing such changes in the centers of organic life, that not only is the desire for drink eradicated but the very taste and smell of such beverages become disgusting to the patient. The patient is thus freed, forever, from the galling shackles of a depraved appetite, by restoring the pathologically affected nerve centers to their originally healthy physiological condition. The moral and intellectual functions of the man then have full, complete sway, and he is once more a responsible being.

The Double Chloride of Gold Company of Canada (Limited) has opened an Institute at Grimsby, Ont., only a few miles from the Canadian Chautauqua, where living practical proofs of the foregoing statements can daily be presented to the public. Searchers after truth, philanthropists, and unfortunates are welcome visitors. Write for a copious supply of free literature, including a comprehensive "Essay on Drunkenness, its Cause and Cure," mailed with pleasure in plain wrappers. Patients, male or female, are treated, if desired, in the most complete privacy. No restrictions whatever. No sudden cutting off of alcohol. The patient is supplied with all he wants until he drops it voluntarily. Physicians who are skilled and experienced specialists in this department, can be consulted either at Grimsby, or at the Company's second Canadian Branch at St. Anne de Bellevue, P. Q. Faithfully,

KEEPING THEIR PROMISES.

Exempted Industries Conform With the Bylaws—Reports on the Subject—Court of Revision Work.

A meeting of the Court of Revision was held last night, Ald. Judd (chairman), Ald. Leonard, Ald. Yates, City Clerk Kingston and Commissioner Grant being present. The purpose of the meeting was to confirm local improvement measurements and hear reports from manufacturing establishments which had been granted ten-year exemption from taxation under certain conditions.

The London Bolt and Nut Works by bylaw was to employ fifteen hands for two years and twenty during the remaining eight. John White, proprietor, sent in a statement showing the average number of employes to be 16 7-12. Mr. White explained that the failure of agricultural implement establishments and the pressure of large eastern firms had somewhat retarded his progress, but things were now in a better condition than ever before. Ald. Yates said that Mr. White had been fighting the big bolt combine in Montreal and the east. The court decided to report favorably to the council for Mr. White.

The Featherbone Corset Company was exempted on condition of employing 50 hands. The average number has been 70. No report has been received from the firm. It will be asked for.

John Ferguson & Sons were exempted above $10,000. Mr. Ferguson said they had complied with all requirements.

The casket factory was to employ an average of 50 hands in consideration of ten years' exemption. The number now is 74, with probabilities of adding.

Mr. Smallman, on behalf of the Canada Chemical Company, reported that that establishment had not been idle a day and had added another branch. The bylaw requires them to run ten months in the year and fixes the taxation at $300 per annum for ten years.

E. Leonard & Sons were exempted above $70,000. Their present assessment is $83,000. The bylaw demands that 75 men, residents of the city, be employed. The present number is 128.

The above will be reported to the council.

Measurements of 40 feet front on Clarence street (Saunders' wholesale), artificial stone walk and the frontage of a stone walk on the south side of Dundas from Clarence to Wellington were confirmed.

One hundred and twenty feet were knocked off Burgess Howie's and Ald. Heaman's properties on Stanley street as the drain was of no benefit to them.

Messrs. McLeod and Perry, who have property in the rear of Stanley street, desired to drain into the Stanley street sewer. This would necessitate the lowering of the sewer. No action was taken by the court.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—The Hobbs Hardware Company shipped 22 tons of binder twine yesterday.

—The Detroit Cricket Club will not be able to play here to-morrow as expected.

—A parcel of children's and ladies' linen awaits an owner at the G. T. R. station. It was found on Talbot street.

—Michael Powe was fined $5 and costs yesterday by Squire J. B. Smyth, for assaulting Patrick Mitchell, of Biddulph.

—The Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist Sunday schools of South London will picnic at Port Stanley on Friday next.

—The charges against Mr. C. C. Woods, of Woods' Fair, of two breaches of the Pharmacy Act, were withdrawn at the Police Court this morning. Detective Allen was the nominal complainant.

—Sarah Jane, a bay mare owned by Mr. D. Ferguson, London, was entered at the Saginaw races yesterday. Mr. Ferguson purposes entering his trotting stallion Sardine at approaching racing events.

—The great gathering of the season will take place at Port Stanley on Wednesday, Aug. 3, when the St. Andrew's Society and Clan Fraser will hold their annual games. A splendid programme is in preparation.

—The quartet of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church has been broken up. Miss Mutch, the soprano, has returned to the Congregational Church and sang there on Sunday. Attempted salary reduction is the cause assigned.

—A New York dispatch says Kate Castleton, the actress, died in Providence yesterday. Kate Castleton will be well remembered by Londoners who have admired her piquant acting at the Grand Opera House on more than one occasion.

—Peter Smith, W. Smith, W. Smith, jun., and Frank Smith, of con. 2, East Nissouri, were charged before Squire Shadwick at Ingersoll yesterday, with destroying fish by dynamite in the branch of the River Thames above Thamesford. The examination was adjourned until Monday.

—Minnie Smith, alias Nichols, the young woman who was found in Mrs. Barnes' disorderly house was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Mercer by the police magistrate this morning. Minnie belongs to that class brought from the old country to swell Canada's population by philanthropic authorities.

—Mr. Court, of the Wortley road, found a dead homing pigeon some weeks ago on Richmond street. It had evidently been killed by contact with telegraph wires. He kept the ring attached to the bird and discovered yesterday that it was the property of Mr. Loveiy, of Sarnia, who was flying a number of pigeons from Buffalo to Sarnia.

—Mrs. Powell, mother of Joseph Powell, architect, of this city, who has been among old friends and relations on a visit, returned to London on Saturday. She is in her 77th year and is hale and hearty. She enjoyed a ride on the electric railway, and remarked that Hamilton presented a much different appearance to what it did on her visit to the place in June 53 years ago.—[Hamilton Times.

—Port Stanley items: Rev. Canon Smith, of London, came down to-day with his family and will occupy their cottage on New Orchard Beach for the summer.—The Joe Milton will run a moonlight excursion next Monday night from Clearville and Morpeth to Rondeau.—Mr. Geo. Mitchell and wife, of Hamilton, are visiting at Conductor Smith's.—Senator Green, of Illinois, has arrived at the Fraser House. The aged Senator has spent the past ten or eleven summers here.—The hill leading to New Orchard Beach is being improved.

Two Years After.

Two years ago James Percival, a young man employed in the postal service in this city, was charged by the officials with opening registered letters and pocketing the proceeds. He left before he could be brought to trial. Since then he has lived most of the time in Detroit. This morning he gave himself up to the police authorities. With the lapse of time any evidence there might have been against him had disappeared. None was forthcoming from the complainant, Inspector Barker, and Percival was accordingly discharged by the magistrate.

Captain Hudson's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Captain Hudson yesterday afternoon was a large one. About 75 employes of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company, marched on foot and there were many carriages in the cortege. The remains were conveyed from the family residence to the church of St. John the Evangelist, where funeral service was performed by the rector, Rev. W. T. Hill. The interment was made in Woodland Cemetery. Col. James Heskett, John Puddicombe, T. Harry Carling, E. W. Graves, Fred. Hammond, and A. W. Woodward were the pall-bearers.

It Stoops to Crime.

Canadian politics is not to be purified by exalting half-way obedience to the laws of political decency to the level of virtue. The country has become so inured to villainy in politics that a Government is applauded as virtuous if it only cheats and does not maim opponents. The modification of the gerrymander, and two or three other improvements upon Sir John's practices, are rightfully accepted as cheering evidences of political improvement. Satisfaction that encourages politicians to compromise their indebtedness to common honesty at 50 cents on the dollar is dangerous. It has a tendency to palsy the hands that would fight the battles of decency and justice. Parliament has this year outraged the country by a villainous gerrymander. It has by a deliberate vote formally made itself a party to the fraud, which transfers the franchise from the city of London into the hands of persons who were struck off the list by Hon. John Carling's own revising officer. A great Government defiantly becomes an accomplice in the crime by which one of its members profits. This villainy must temper the country's satisfaction with the virtues which its Parliament has developed. —[Toronto Telegram (Independent Conservative).

Hard on the Cow.

The Niagara Falls accommodation narrowly escaped being ditched when approaching the city about 10 o'clock last night. A cow was struck a few crossings east of the London East station, and the passengers were badly shaken and frightened. The train kept the track, however, and no damage was done (save to the cow) further than the breaking of several steps on one side of the cars. The iron railings were bent and twisted like so much straw. Curiously enough, it was the baggage car in front and a passenger coach in the rear that were most affected. The animal was evidently lying alongside the track and attempted to rise.

A Lightning Visit.

Lightning made a very unceremonious visit at 89 Elmwood avenue yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Gunn, who lives there with her daughter, Mrs. Bond, was felled to the floor while sitting in a rear room above. It was some time before she regained consciousness and was able to walk to a neighbor's. Dr. Piper attended her, and though the elderly lady's nervous system received a bad shock, no serious results are expected. The deadly fluid tore a hole through the floor of the room in which Mrs. Gunn was sitting. Furniture, plaster and glassware were smashed. Outside the chimney and cornice were considerably battered. The lightning found its natural exit in the ground.

Masonic.

The Detroit Free Press says: "The negotiations which have been in progress for over two months, by which the building committee of the new Masonic Temple has sought to secure the additional portion of the northwest quarter of the block bounded by Lafayette avenue, Fort, Cass and First streets, culminated yesterday in the purchase of the property. The portion previously held was the site of the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and the portion secured by the purchase is all the additional quarter of the block adjoining on the west. This gives the fraternity a magnificent site of 150 feet on Lafayette avenue by 130 feet deep, running to the alley. The portion fronting on Lafayette avenue was owned by Mrs. Ruth Mowry, and a lot in the rear, fronting on First street, by Robert Hosie. The price paid was $100,000, a sum that several leading Masons of the city have industriously been at work to secure for the past eight weeks. It was finally subscribed yesterday. The purchase of this site means the erection of a grand Masonic temple, which will be undoubtedly the finest architectural ornament in Detroit. Bonds will be issued, based on a mortgage of the realty and building, and a general idea obtains that the cost of the new temple will be in the neighborhood of $250,000."

Y. M. C. A. Camp Notes.

PORT STANLEY, July 11.—Everything is booming at camp, and the boys are having a good time. Saturday was a great day for them, and they all came in to camp at night decorated with ADVERTISER badges of different colors.

The ADVERTISER staff was well represented by Messrs. R. D. Millar, Thomas Bland, M. W. Rossie and others, who called in to inspect things. One visitor tried hard to bury himself in a clay bank, but was not quite heavy enough to sink, so gave it up as a bad job, and spent the best part of an hour trying to get the clay off. He likely has some of it yet.

Sunday was a glorious day, and the boys were astir quite early, but not early enough for "Acting Inspector" Geo. M. Reid, who paid them a visit, and recommended a 6 o'clock parade for them. Promptly at 10 o'clock the boys fell into line, and after going through some movements marched off to church, where they listened to an excellent sermon from St. Matthew, xi., 28. The afternoon service was held on the hill, and the lesson was taken from Ecclesiastes, xi. and xii. In the evening a song service was held, led by our orchestra, who rendered excellent service. The boys turned in early, and thus closed the first Sunday under canvass for '92.

Watermelons (furnished for the boys through the kindness of Mr. John Cameron) helped to keep them in good humor. A moonlight bath, with a huge camp fire on the lake shore, was a feature of Saturday's sport.

The campers are all in good health and spirits, and every day is moving along nicely. About a dozen more are expected this week. SCRIBUS.

Forcing Up the Price of Hops.

UTICA, N. Y., July 11.—The hop-growers of Central New York have perfected a combine which they claim holds 3,200 of the 3,500 bales of hops of 1891 remaining in first hands in this State, whereby no hops are to be sold for less than 24 cents a pound this week, 25 cents next week and a rising weekly advance of 1 cent till the new crop is available. It is probable the combine will be extended into the new crop season. Offers of 23 cents were refused at Waterville to-day.

WHY NOT?
You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine; you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone: more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with one another. Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. y
