South London Library. The purpose of the gallery is to afford to the working masters.

which arrived here from
New York yesterday, ran into the steamer Adriatic Blankenau while she was going under way. The Adriatic received small injury, but the other vessel was damaged badly. Nobody was hurt.

London, Oct. 9.—The Countess of Clancarty gave birth to a daughter to-day. The child was formerly Belle Bliton, a well-known singer. She married the present Countess in 1889 when he was 1900, but the jury decided against him.

After the verdict he became reconciled to her.

London, Oct. 9.—Frances Willard has written to the Advertiser that she is unable to attend the pleading words uttered against the miners. "For a year I have not been earning as much as usual and I have no money at hand, but I send my love to the starving miners." Lady Widdowson sends £100.

Fears for the Pope's Safety.

London, Oct. 9.—The Tablet, the most influential Roman Catholic weekly in Great Britain, will say in to-morrow's number:
"Events now transpiring in Italy render the Pope's position one of extreme and imminent danger. The position of Italy is insecure and unstable to make her a guardian of the venerable person of the Pope, the most important of the world's heralds of the Catholic world."

The Embargo on Cattle.

London, Oct. 9.—The British Board of Agriculture has removed the cattle embargo against Norway. This shows that despite the agitation for the total exclusion of foreign cattle, Canada may expect a similar removal to follow a continued
supply from the States.

Scotsmen continue to agitate
the free Canadian cattle entry, or at least a British inquiry in Canada, while the British graziers find that the exclusion of Canadian stock makes the lean stock too to be fed at a profit. The Canadian cattle landed at Glasgow this week are being adapted to keeping than for slaughter,
the best beef fetching 5s 6d per stone.

"Carrying Coal to Newcastle."

London, Oct. 9.—Mayors of the large towns in the district affected by the coal strike are meeting in Sheffield to-day to consider means of settling the dispute between the mine owners and miners. If they accomplish nothing, the Government will step through the board of trade, will appoint a council of arbitration.

A Montreal dispatch says: "The strike
in England is evidently creating a coal famine there. A steamer has been chartered in Montreal to take a cargo of 2,000 tons of coal to Liverpool at a private rate. The vessels coming out here are all running late, and this is accounted for by the bad quality of the coal they are forced to use. They are paying $12 per ton for it in England."

The terms of the arrangements proposed in the miners are as follows:
First—That the men return to work at the old wages, but consent to a reduction of 10 per cent. in December.

Second—That the masters make advances to reinstated men in order to alleviate the distress, the advances to be repaid
in weekly installments.

Third—That delegates of the masters and the men convene and formulate a scheme
to establish a tribunal of conciliation whose duty it shall be to settle wage disputes.

The meeting adjourned to allow the mine owners to confer and the miners to take a vote on the masters' proposition. If the miners fail in their efforts to bring about a settlement the Government, acting through the board of trade, will propose a council of arbitration. A conference of mine owners and mine workers was held in Newcastle to-day with no definite results.
The conference was adjourned till Thursday.

VIGILANT VS. VALKYRIE.

The Yankee Boat Wins the Second Race.

SANDY HOOK, Oct. 9.—Prominent upon the decks of the English yacht Valkyrie, well off, is observed the Valkyrie, the blue yachting costume, who incidentally to be the mascot for to-day's contest. This is following out the example set by Lieut.
Hanna on board the Galatea in the race of 1888.

HIGHLANDS, Oct. 9.—Both yachts now on starboard tack. The Valkyrie leads by about three or four lengths, but the Vigilant is nearing her.

7:45 p.m. the Vigilant was leading by about 63 minutes.

went to see the yacht race on Saturday started again to-day. An effort will be made to have the excursion boats keep further outside the line of the course.

THE VIGILANT WINS.

HIGHLANDS, N.J., Oct. 9.—The Vigilant finished at 2:50:30. The Valkyrie finished minutes 35 seconds.

FINED 120 AT ONCE.

Brooklyn's Police Justice Quickly Dis-
poses of Drunkards.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Police Justice
Walsh, of Brooklyn, has invented a new judicial system. The other day he fined 120 prisoners for intoxication in a batch, without seeing them.

Police Judge Walsh, in explaining his new method of conducting the court, said:
"There must have been 120 prisoners whom I find $1 each for intoxication without having them brought before me. When I got to the Butler Street Police Court I found that I had taken the bench when the jail
prisoners arrived."

"Really, there was no hole into which they could have been squeezed. I decided on the course I pursued as the most humane way out of it, so I sent the court policeman into the pen to call out for any prisoner who would not plead guilty. They were asked if all would plead guilty. All said they would. I could hear, the door being open. I didn't hear a single voice say 'not guilty,' so I fined them all.

I did what I did solely in the interest of humanity."

The lawyers who are complaining have nothing to say about humanity, but allege that Police Justice Walsh has violated the law.

Great Rally of the Young Liberal

for the Ensuing Term.

Ex-President Wanless Presented With a Purse of Gold.

A Tremendous Vote Polled and a Close Run Between Messrs. Cowan and Burke—Mr. Hyman Enthusiastically Received—Short Addresses.

Last night was the most exciting in the history of the Young Liberal Club. It only needs an election of some kind to bring out the strength and spirit of the club. The night was the highest degree—even their opponents can testify. The present was the first occasion on which there had been a contest for the presidency. The candidates were Messrs.
R. K. Cowan and L. W. Burke, both popular young men, and their friends worked for them with the energy which characterizes the organization in every thing it undertakes.

The campaign was conducted with the best of good feeling, as became those united in the band of Liberalism. Perhaps the best evidence of the interest taken, of the numerical power of the club and of the vigor of the campaign was the tremendous vote polled. In view of the enormous poll the race was a close one, and Mr. Cowan's hours the voters streamed into the reading marked, and the voters waited patiently for the Wanless announced them as follows: For

For first vice-president—Mr. I ward:

THE RESULTS.

Seldom have the club's rooms been more crowded than was the case when ex-President Wanless entered to make the returns at 10:30. The figures were:

For Burke.....257
For Cowan.....217

Majority for Burke.....40

For O'Flaherty.....313
For James Fairhead.....140

Majority for O'Flaherty.....173

Tremendous cheering followed the concluding announcement, participated in cheerily, of course, by those who had supported the victors. When the successful candidate for the executive office was called upon to make a speech, however, the unintended plaudits with which he was greeted, universal as it was, indicated that the conflict, though carried on with spirit, had not in the least engendered feelings of acrimony or ill-will.

PRESIDENT BURKE.

Mr. Burke will shortly deliver an inaugural address, in which the policy which he intends to pursue in the conduct of the club's affairs is to be fully outlined.

The observations which he addressed to those present were, therefore, few. He began by thanking his supporters for having placed him in the chief administrative position in the society. He had not sought the honor; indeed, he would have been glad to see Mr. Cowan elected by acclamation. This was originally his idea of the course which should have been pursued.

It had been pointed out to him that the club's funds needed recuperation, and that, in order to gain this practical aid, a contest was advisable. It was only when this fact was pointed out that he had consented to enter the lists against Mr.
Cowan. He thought in view of subsequent events—when the large vote, which meant a similar increase in funds was taken into account—the wisdom of the present contest was amply shown. Although Mr. Cowan had been his antagonist, he had no better friend than that gentleman in the city. He hoped the friendly rivalry which had marked this contest
would be productive of good to the club.

The year upon which they were entering would be to them a memorable one. The local elections would soon have to be fought, and the address, though they expected a transformation in the city. William Ralph Meredith would have to fight the Young Liberals of London—strong in numbers, firmly organized and indomitable in spirit.

MR. COWAN.

His defeat did not seem to have a very

Marys and Its Lions.

The Thrifty Town Rests on a Solid Basis.

And Develops a Healthy if Not a Rapid Growth.

Design and Progress of the Place—Present Population and Property Assessment—Substantial Character of its Public Buildings—its Free Library, Churches and Industries.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE ADVERTISER.] ST. MARYS, Oct. 9.—In one respect at least this snug and thrifty little town differs from any other in this part of Ontario—it is founded on a rock. A vast mass of limestone—said to be hundreds of feet in depth—underlies the town and for some distance surrounding. Whether its business foundation is as substantial is another thing. Its growth is healthy, but it has not been at all as rapid as many of the other towns west and north of this. It has had a habitation and name of its own for nearly 50 years, and has yet but a population of 4,000 inhabitants. It is holding its own, however, and something more.

One of its most intelligent and reliable citizens gives these items of its history, which are no doubt correct. About 1840 the Canada Company gave a grant of 400 acres of land here to James Hamilton Ingersoll, a member of the well-known Ingersoll family, the pioneers of the place, on condition that a flouring mill and saw mill would be erected on it. Both these conditions were fulfilled, the water power of the Thames River being excellent at that time, but much more uncertain to-day, in consequence of the country above having been since cleared and drained. The flour mill was erected in what is now the heart of the town, and has always been in existence since, though rebuilt and more than once enlarged, and its machinery many times replaced and improved. The saw mill was erected a little farther down the stream, at "Little Falls," but its usefulness has long since gone.

PROGRESS AND POSITION. The locality of the mills began to grow into a village at once and it has continued to grow. At that time, of course, it was a long way in the backwoods. Hamilton was the nearest town of any importance, and the nearest point of navigation. Of course there was no railroad at that time. They tell the story of the first merchants driving through the woods from Hamilton with a load of goods and sleeping under the wagon at night, for want of other shelter, and allowing their horses to graze as well as they could on by.

In 1856 the Grand Trunk Railway was opened here, and, of course, that gave it a business importance it never had before. The next year the branch to London was opened. These days of railroad building were busy and wealth-producing days to all the surrounding place such as probably they will never see again.

In 1864 the village had grown to such importance as to be qualified to become a town and it was then incorporated as such, and as a municipality, from the country. As to its other progress, these facts will testify. It has now a population of about 4,000 and a property assessment of about $1,200,000. It is something more than holding its own in point of numbers, and while the value of real estate has fallen here, as elsewhere, houses are in good demand and somewhat difficult to obtain.

ITS PUBLIC BUILDINGS. If the character of the public buildings of a town give indication of the intelligence and spirit of a people, the inhabitants here have good reason to feel proud. Very few towns in Canada of twice its size can boast such a commodious and substantial town hall. It is a very neat and pretentious structure of stone, costing over $15,000, erected in 1891. It is very complete in every way in its appointments—indeed more so than some of our cities. The high school building is also a large and complete building of white brick, far in advance of most towns of double the size of St. Marys. It was erected in 1875, but has been a good deal improved since. For many years it occupied about the third or fourth highest position among all the schools of its class in the Province of Ontario. Young men have gone out from its walls who are now occupying foremost positions as educators and among the learned professions both in Canada and in the States.

One fact may be mentioned here which is well worthy of note, and ought to give a synonyme to many other towns: There is a well established public reading room, open and free to not only every citizen but to every person who wishes to enter. In the commodious town building a large and well-furnished room, lighted and warmed, furnished free to the Mechanics' Institute, together with a grant of $75 a year, condition that this free reading room, well supplied with leading journals, shall be kept freely open to all. For years before this room was thus provided the town council made an annual grant of $150 for the same purpose. No wonder that the young men grow up and to with more than ordinary intelligence and public spirit. The Mechanics' Institute has also a good library, the advantages of which are given to every member at $1 a year.

THE CHURCHES. The number, size and appearance of the churches also give good indication of both the good morals and intelligence of the people. Coming in by rail from the west, two as fine churches, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic, are seen crowning the hill, as may be found almost anywhere. The Presbyterians have two large and finely-finished churches. Revs. A. Grant and T. A. Cogrove are the ministers. There is also a splendid new Roman Catholic church, opened but a few months ago, and built at a cost of over $30,000. Rev. Father P. Brennan is now the pastor. The Methodist have a large white brick church, to which a splendid addition is now being added, for Sunday school and other purposes, at a cost of over $3,000. Rev. Mr. Scott, the present popular president of the Conference, is the pastor. There is also a large and neat Church of England with beautiful and well-kept surrounding grounds, of which Rev. W. J. Taylor is the minister in charge. The Baptists have a substantial stone church, with Rev. S. Boone as minister. Here, too, the Salvation Army is also earnestly at work. The Latter Day Saints have a small band. We wonder the more of the place that we add to this there is a strong Royal Templars' Council, with about 130 members, and a well-established and respectable W. C. T. U.

THE INDUSTRIES. The manufacturers are not numerous, as the water power of the Thames has become scarce here now in the summer season. Messrs. Carter & Co. are the proprietors of the large flouring mill, which has a first class reputation. It is being run day and night, and turns out from 200 to 300 barrels of flour each day. They are also extensive grain buyers and exporters, and own or occupy several storehouses. Maxwell & Sons have very extensive machine shops, where agricultural and other implements are made on a large scale. They are well supplied with machinery and are capable of giving employment to 150 men. They are running quite low just now, only about 25 or 30 hands being at work. There are also two flour mills here. The establishment of Weir & Weir was burned not long ago, but is now being rebuilt on a larger and more permanent scale. They give employment to about 30 hands the year round. Large stocks of flour are now standing near by ready for the machines as soon as they can be got in operation. Clarke & Eward are the owners of the other, which is not on as large a scale. There is also a woolen mill owned and operated by S. Myers & Son. J. S. Moore has a planing mill and sash and door factory. Richardson & Webster are pretty extensive manufacturers of dairy and cheese-making machinery and mill orders to many parts of the Province.

AS TO POLITICS. Politically the town is very evenly balanced. When Mr. Trow ran his last great contest there was only a majority of one in the whole town. Leading men on both sides positively assure a stranger that "it will be better than that next time." Very likely it will, but you may take your choice, good reader. Mr. Pridham, the present M. P. of the district, is a Conservative, but on the other hand Mr. Ballantyne, the M. P. for the past twenty years, is just as decidedly loaded up the other way. Each party has a well-sustained and spirited local organ, the Argus, Liberal, and the Journal, Conservative.

THE THAMES. The Thames River here runs through the first important town in its course. Mr. Whelan, the country registrar, who, by the way, seems to know everything about the town that is worth knowing, tells me this mighty river that so divides London into two cities, has its source in the townships of Lobo and Elma, about 35 miles above here, where two small streams unite. At the town of Mitchell other tributaries join it, and this side of Stratford the great Avon merges its waters. Between this and London the distance is 24 miles and some mill wheels are turned by its running waters, but there is no town. At this season a child can walk across its rocky bed but in the springtime it swells here, as at London, to a deep and rapid river often causing serious anxiety and considerable destruction by its rampage.

THE WIDOW RODE A BICYCLE.

Her Conduct Caused a Church War at Birmingham, N. Y.

BIRMINGHAM, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The High Street Methodist Church is now in a turmoil over the property of women riding bicycles. The trouble began when Mrs. Burrows, a widow, purchased a bicycle. She is an active worker in the church. At a prayer meeting the other night Samuel Stanley arose and denounced the act of bicycle riding as unchristian, unbecoming and a disgrace to the church. The decision of the audience by attempting to ride a bicycle of a woman riding a bicycle. The pastor, Rev. John Bradshaw, took sides against the bicyclists. Mrs. Burrows' friends threaten to carry the question before the next conference. The Young Women's Christian Association has established a wheel club in open defiance of those who disapprove of bicycles.

HAZED THEM WITH MOLASSES.

Gamma Delta Initiation Through Which Boston University Girls Passed.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The Gamma Delta Society of young women at the Boston University initiated the freshmen girls last week. For a few days a summons had been tacked upon the ladies' gymnasium door, ordering the freshmen girls to meet. They wore the gymnasium costumes, and were required to perform various feats, greatly to the amusement of the upper class women. First the timid freshmen were blindfolded and compelled to climb ladders backward. Then, with the bandages still upon their eyes, they were forced to eat molasses from a spoon. The results were headless ghosts, and with groans and sighs they hovered about the newcomers. This is the only chance the sophomore women have to "haze" their freshmen sisters, and they made the most of it. But the ordeal which every Gamma Delta had to pass through was regarded as harmless and amusing. After initiation the freshmen were served with refreshments.

CALVERLEY'S PROGRESS.

The Wire Walker's Improvement Astonishing to His Physicians.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—The doctors of whom several were in attendance upon Calverley yesterday, regard the rapid progress which he is making as wonderful as his recovery itself. The right arm is not going on so well as could be wished, but with great care it is believed the hand will be saved. Dr. Cantwell told Manager Jackson that he now had every hope that Calverley will be able in due time to again follow his profession, and there is a probability that he will be able to fulfill an engagement to open a lengthy season at the Alexandria Palace, London, Eng., on May 1. Calverley's father and his late employer, O. B. Ormsby, Toronto, were in Trenton yesterday and to-day.

Well Diggers Strangely Killed.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 9.—Geo. Anderson and Wm. Hunt, farmers, who live near Corns, were boring a well, when their drill struck a rock and broke short off. It was necessary for some one to go down into the well and dislodge the drill, and Anderson went. After he had reached the bottom, 160 feet, Hunt looked over the edge, and by some misfortune missed his footing and tumbled headlong into the shaft. His head collided with that of Anderson and the skulls of both were crushed, killing them instantly.

—JUNIOR BISMARCK.

London, Tuesday Oct. 10.

To-Day's British Cables.

The correspondents cable this week that in default of political excitement the English public has found others both foreign and domestic. The coal strike, though an old story, is one. Bismarck is for a limited number another. The Church Congress for a much larger number is a third. Londoners find something to think of in the meeting of their highly remarkable council, which resumed its weekly sittings on Tuesday, and is about to enter upon fresh adventures. The academic world and all the lettered public are in mourning for the Master of Balliol. The postoffice has lost its permanent secretary, Sir Arthur Blackwood, one of the most amiable and obstructive chiefs it ever had. The church is about to gain, or seems likely to gain, the services of Mr. Tom Mann, a leading agitator among the laboring classes. Edinburgh and York have been entertaining the Duke and Duchess of York, and a loyal ferment has pervaded those two cities and the parts thereunto adjacent. The rest of the kingdom is remaining, however, tranquil. More important possibly than the royal festivities is the official announcement that the Manchester Ship Canal will be ready for traffic on New Year's Day. It is a handsome present to that great city, therefore, to rank as a seaport. Every new sound enterprise is the more welcome because the depression of English trade continues and extends. Money is cheap, the bank rate reduced, the deficit in the revenue, which is the commercial thermometer, exceeds $6,000,000 for the half-year, and Sir William Harcourt's reputation as a financier is in some peril. In metropolitan circles the talk is of Gilbert and Sullivan's new opera, "Utopia, Limited; or the Flowers of Progress." When the first production of the piece was given at the Savoy on Saturday, the theater was filled with the most brilliant audience ever seen in this most fashionable theater. The seats in all parts of the house, except in the pit and gallery, were allotted long ago. The struggle to get into the unreserved parts of the house was tremendous. Four ladies took up positions outside the pit doors as early as 10 a.m., with the prospect of a ten hours' wait. When Sullivan took the conductor's seat the audience rose and cheered lustily for several minutes. The performance, from first to last, proceeded without a hitch, and ended in a general pronouncement that the opera is one of the best, if not the very best, of the Gilbertian series.

The scene is laid in the South Pacific Islands. There are two acts. The first reveals a palm grove in the garden of King Paramount (Mr. Barrington), and the second the palace throne room, a magnificent piece of staging which evoked cordial applause. The electric light was never before so charmingly utilized for decorative purposes as in this throne room.

The plot, in its main features, is simple but is made doubly interesting by numerous subordinate harmonious incidents. Zara (Miss Nancy Mackintosh), the king's eldest daughter, has been to Giron, where she received English ideas of civilization which she persuades her father to adopt. She has brought with her six typical Englishmen, described as "Flowers of Progress," namely, a British Lord Chamberlain, captain of the Life Guards, a naval captain, a company promoter, a member of Parliament, and a county councillor. The king makes these Utopia be converted into a limited liability company run on joint stock principle.

Naturally the women show more readiness to adopt the faults rather than the virtues of the English model, but the new arrangement answers so well for the general welfare that the military, naval, medical and legal interests which have hitherto employed their time as insurance. Revolution is averted by the discovery of Zara that one thing has been omitted. Zara's speech is a good example of the satire which abounds in opera: "Government by party! Introduce that great and glorious element, at once the bulwark and foundation of England's greatness, and all will be well. No political measures will be attempted, because one party will assuredly undo all that the other party has done. Inexperienced civilians will govern your army and navy. No social reforms will be attempted, because out of vice, equality, and drunkenness no political capital is to be made, and, while grouse are to be shot and foxes worried to death, the legislative action of the country will be at a standstill. Then there will be sickness in plenty, and the lawless, crowded jails, insupportable confusion in the army and navy, and unexampled prosperity."

With the topsy-turvydom characterizing the Gilbertian opera, this advice is accepted, and peace is restored.

The opera comes nearer to being a political-social satire than the others of Gilbert. The European thrones are not spared. On character declares in song that:

The spotless king and prince
Have disappeared some ages since.
The company promoters are ruthlessly assembled.
Their method is declared to be to have as small a capital as possible since that is the legal measure of their personal liability. Haying started the concern.

They then proceed to trade with all who'll trust em.
Quite irrespective of their capital;
It's shady, but it's sanctified by custom.
Bank, railway loan, or Panama Canal.

You can't embark on trading too tremendous.
It's strictly fair and based on common sense.
If you succeed your profits are stupendous.
And if you fail, go, goes your eighteen pence.
By eighteen pence the author means the capital.

Despite the satire running through the opera, it is bright and genial. The greatest comic hit is the Cabinet Council, which discusses affairs of state and burlesques a negro minstrel troupe.

There is in the opera more than a suggestion of the opera of "Pinafore." The naval Flower of Progress is our old friend Capt. Corcoran, K.C.B.

Though we are no longer hearts of oak,
Yet we can steer and we can stroke;
And thanks to coal and thanks to coke,
We never run a ship ashore.

The astonished courtiers exclaim:
"What, never?"
Corcoran replies, "Hardly ever." Then follows a hearty chorus:

Words of love too loudly spoken
Ring their own nutshells and Noisy vows are rudely broken.
Soft the song of Philomel,
Whisper sweetly, whisper lowly,
Hour by hour and day by day;
Sweet and low as accents holy,
Are the notes of lovers lay.

One fine unaccompanied chorus runs:
Eagle eye in cloudland soaring,
Harrow whistling on a road,
Tiger in the jungle prowling,
Frightened fawn in grassy mead,
Let the eagle, not the sparrow,
Be the object of your arrow;
Fix the tiger with your eye,
Pace the fawn in his pride;
Glory then will crown the day,
Glory, glory, any way.

Encores were frequent. All the performers were called before the curtain. At the close Gilbert and Sullivan were twice called out. Sullivan shook Gilbert heartily by the hand. There were cheers but no speeches.

Advanced Chicken Counting.

According to the cablegrams published here, Mr. Chamberlain has expressed to interviewers in New York the opinion that the Tories will win at the next general election by a majority of at least 100. He was similarly sanguine on the eve of the last general election. It is his business to be optimistic, but his past failures should have convinced him that he does not shine as a prophet. Mr. Chamberlain's real opinion doubtless is that with the help of the peers the Home Rule Bill will be again and again rejected until Gladstone shall have been wrenched into retirement or into the grave, and Mr. Chamberlain's very strong hope and firm belief is that, in the confusion which would inevitably follow that political ecstasy, he would come out right on top, even if it should be rejected. To the painful necessity of kicking down his dear friends Salisbury, Devonshire and Balfour. As for the Tory majority of 100, Mr. Chamberlain probably entertains the opinion that Gladstone must win at the next general election unless the agricultural laborers can be converted in large numbers to the Conservative policy. He and his lieutenants have formed more than one organization directed to that end, and he is credited with a share in the paternity of the latest scheme of the same kind, the details of which are announced to-day. A sort of Tory college, or forcing house, is to be established, wherein selected laborers are to be trained in Conservative principles, and whence they are to be sent into the neglected rural districts as political missionaries. They are not to be made too cultured, however, and, in particular, their native accent and pristine grammar are to be tenderly guarded from educational contamination; for, as we are told, it is essential to the success of the scheme that "they should talk to their audiences in their own dialect and in a fashion they will understand." Earl Winchester and Mr. Chaplin, ex-Minister of Agriculture, are also believed to have had some share in devising this remarkable plan of campaign.

Some Lively Preachers.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's opportune visit to America has relieved him from the duty of entertaining the bi-hops, which, as a good Conservative and the friend and ally of Lord Salisbury, he would have been compelled to perform in connection with the Church Congress held this week in Birmingham. The town has literally swarmed with prelates and parsons, and the congress has been voted a great success, especially seeing it was held in one of the most unregenerate places in England. Decorum did not have undisputed sway at all the congress meetings. Some of the reverend brethren said unkind things of others, and the rulings of the right reverend chairman were not infrequently disputed or defied. At one meeting the services of the police had to be summoned before an unruly brother would hold his tongue, and, altogether, the scene was most unedifying.

Startling Practical Joke.

The reading of the Church Congress proceedings could not have suggested the practical joke which, it is learned only to-day, was played upon the Archbishop of York on last Sunday evening, in a suburban church near London. His lordship was in the midst of a most moving discourse when unearthly groans and cries as if some creature in dire mental and bodily distress were heard proceeding from one of the windows. The archbishop stepped speaking and all eyes were turned fearfully toward the window. In another moment the window sash was suddenly and unhesitatingly raised. A ghastly grinning human skull appeared, hovered momentarily in mid-air, and as quickly vanished. Women fainted, men howled, and the archbishop gasped and turned white, although, of course, being a very learned and godly prelate, he knew it could only be a poor joke. Some strong-nerved and brawny young members of the congregation rushed into the graveyard outside, but, in the pitch darkness, could discover neither the joker nor his property skull. Meanwhile the more hysterical women had been removed to the vestry, and the archbishop, pulling himself together, resumed his sermon without making any reference to the apparition. The window, however, all the evening exhaled a disturbing fascination. More eyes were turned to it than to the preacher, and the effect of the discourse was entirely spoiled. If the jokers can be found they will be charged, under an ancient statute, with brawling in church. The lawyers hope they will be caught, so that the interesting question may be argued, How can anybody brawl in church if he does not enter the sacred building?

A Fat Job Goes Begging.

The English eye is supposed to turn reluctantly to India, or at least indifferently, but the most careless are watching the movement of the mission of Sir Mortimer Durand to the Amer of Afghanistan. His mission is pacific, yet not without peril from Afghan fanaticism, which even so strong a ruler as the present Amer cannot control. Thus far everything has gone well, and the official reception of the British envoy is as handsome as Kabul can make it. Meantime the Viceroyalty of India, one of the most splendid posts in the world, still goes begging. Lord Spencer could have it if he would, and Lord Roberts, I hear, though the precedents are against a soldier, is strongly backed.

At Last!

Lord Kimberley, Secretary of State for India, has sent to the Indian Government a letter insisting that the home Government's order against the official regulation of the Chakla women in the cantonments be observed.

Lady Somerset's Movements.

Lady Somerset, the temperance advocate, sailed Saturday on the steamship Paris from Southampton for New York, where she will meet her son on his way home from a hunting trip in British Columbia. Lady Somerset will attend the international convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Chicago, and will sail for Liverpool on the steamship Majestic on Oct. 25.

A Coming Convention.

The National Union of Conservative Associations, which will meet at Cardiff early in November, will elect the Earl of Dunraven, owner of the Valkyrie, to be its president. Although yachting is his dominant passion, Earl Dunraven is an earnest student of public affairs. He is an effective speaker, and, while Under-Secretary of the Colonies, he displayed unexpected qualities as a discreet statesman. The conference probably will not add any new plank to the Conservative platform, which naturally cannot be enlarged with the ease attending the development of the Liberal programme. The Marquis of Salisbury will make his first speech since the adjournment of Parliament before the conference.

Two Sides Stated.

At the Episcopal Church Congress in Birmingham, during the discussion on reunion of the churches the references to the Bishop of Worcester's friendly intercourse with Nonconformists at the Grindelwald Conference were received with cries of "Traitor." Men of such varied theological tendencies as the Archbishop of Dublin, Archbishop Denison and the Rev. Canon Gore, author of "Lux Mundi," agreed that reunion was impossible unless the Nonconformists accepted the sacraments and the historic episcopate. As leading Nonconformists have already refused to consider these conditions, further talk of church reunion is futile. The congress' conception of Christian Socialism has proved to be merely that clerical ideas and influence must be extended more powerfully among the people.

Not Afraid of the Lords.

Speaking in Edinburgh this week, Mr. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the last Salisbury Cabinet, hinted that Mr. Gladstone's projected Registration Reform Bill would be rejected by the House of Lords, unless the measure should be accompanied by provisions for such a redistribution of such Parliamentary seats as would reduce the number of Irishmen at Westminster. The Cardiff conference will pass resolutions favoring a redistribution of Parliament to 80 members, instead of 103, as at present. Liberals say, however, that the rejection of the Redistribution Reform Bill by the Lords would lead to a dissolution any more than did the rejection of the Home Rule Bill. Even if the Peers serve themselves to throw out every important Liberal measure sent up to them by the House of Commons, Mr. Gladstone will proceed to pass through the Lower House all the measures announced in agreement with the Newcastle programme. The Speaker comments thus on the report that the Lords will make a fight all along the lines: "If the House of Lords is bent on such a course, it is not for the Radicals to complain. The enemies of the Peers may well exclaim, 'The Lord has delivered them into our hands.'"

Cottolene

A SHORTENING.

Down the street through the busy way
A lady passed on marketing day.
Who, pausing at a grocery store,
Stopped quickly in the open door.
With bated breath and anxious mien,
She queried: "have you COTTOLENE?"

The grocer, leaving off his work,
Interrogated every clerk;
But none up to that time had seen
An article called "COTTOLENE."

"What is it?" said he to the dame,
"That answers to this curious name."
What is it made of? What's its use?
My ignorance you'll please excuse."

"You're not the merchant for my dimes,
I see you're quite behind the times.
For COTTOLENE, I'd have you know,
Is now the thing that's all the go,
An article of high regard;
A healthful substitute for lard.
Its composition pure and clean;
For cooking give me COTTOLENE."

As from his store the lady fled,
The grocer gently scratched his head—
On his next order, first was seen,
"One dozen cases COTTOLENE."

Ridgetown on the Rock Regarding the Matter of Gas.

Indications of Fuel Play Discovered Near the St. Clair Tunnel—Great Harvest of Prizes Reaped by Shorter Brethren in North Essex.

ESSEX.

The citizens of Ridgetown are becoming alarmed that the supply of natural gas will not hold out. It is now a little over a year since then 100 wells have been put down, the most of them being successful. But the fact that gas was struck at a depth ranging from 50 to 100 feet demonstrated that they are only surface wells, which, by experience, have proved to be short-lived. Many of those that, when struck, proved to be gas wells have played out. Some of the promoters are now contemplating putting down a deep well, and think that if they get through the Trenton rock an everlasting supply will be obtained.

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Notchrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 215 to 110 pounds. All food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could never possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. JEAN VALCOURT, (Signed) General Merchant, Wotton, P.Q.
