DIPLOMAS FOR THE GRADUATES

Delightful General Hospital Function at St. Andrew's Church last Night.

Excellent Musical Program and Capital Addresses--President Malcolmsen Enthusiastic.

St. Andrew's Church last evening was the scene of a pretty and pleasing event, the occasion being the graduation exercises of five nurses from the Public General Hospital, Chatham, who turned out in goodly numbers to witness the ceremonies and enjoyed a program, which for excellence of musical numbers and addresses is seldom surpassed anywhere. The music was particularly good, the best talent of the city was there and never did the soloists do better.

The pulpit and altar rail presented an enhanced appearance, daintily arrayed with beautiful flowers and foliage, being the handiwork of Mrs. Wren Bishop and Miss McKeough. To Mesdames W. H. Taylor, President of the Ladies' Assisting Society, and W. E. Bishop is due the credit for the splendid program. These energetic and enthusiastic ladies are wholly responsible for the delightful few hours at St. Andrew's Church last evening. Treasurer Mrs. J. C. Pritchard was at the door and succeeded in securing the splendid collection of about $24.00.

Ernest Malcolmsen, long recognized as the father of hospitals in the Maple City, was chairman and he filled the position with the enthusiasm and earnestness of a man who has always shown in any work connected with the Public General Hospital. He has done wonders for this institution and well did he deserve the many encomiums showered upon him by all the speakers of the evening.

Rev. Dr. J. R. Buttaby, pastor of the church, opened with prayer and after a few introductory words from chair the program began.

Mrs. Milton Bogart, contralto, so favorably known to local musical circles as one of the best, gave the first vocal number, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Dr. Geo. T. McKeough's addresses are always popular and his oration of last evening was no exception to the rule. He commended the ladies of the Assisting Society on their splendid efforts and successes. He threw well merited bouquets at the chairman and Miss Kennedy, the superintendent of the hospital. He congratulated the young ladies who were graduating as nurses and gave them some good practical advice. In closing he wished the new nurses every happiness and prosperity in their future life.

Chairman Malcolmsen thanked the speaker for the kind words he had said about him and said his heart was right in the hospital work, but he gallantly gave the credit to the ladies whom he said were splendid workers in the cause of the hospital.

The next number was a duet by Miss H. Edythe Hall and Jasper Wilson. "Lead Kindly Light" was the selection. Both sang splendidly. Miss Hall is the possessor of an exceeding sweet voice, while Mr. Wilson bids fair to rank well up among the leading tenors of the country.

Dr. W. R. Hall was the next speaker. He gave a short synopsis of the inception and progress of the new hospital. "Chatham," he said, "has become known as a hospital centre and the work of the training schools is something the Maple City has great reason to be proud of."

He said the graduating nurses would be a credit to the hospital and to the work and the sacrifices the nurses made. In closing he took occasion to congratulate the graduates.

The solo of Miss Gertrude Somerville, soprano soloist of St. Andrew's Church, which followed, revealed all the power and sweetness of tones of this deservedly popular young singer. Miss Somerville's address was a credit to the hospital spirit; his opening remarks indicated that "Ladies and gentlemen, the hospital is in need of an addition. Where the money is to come from we do not know but we have been in the hospital before and the money has always been forthcoming. Much of it in the past has come from unexpected sources and the same may happen again." Continuing, he spoke in glowing terms of the success of Miss Kennedy as superintendent, and also said that the hospital was fortunate in securing the best material for nurses. About thirty had graduated from the Public General, and there has been a better class of graduates than this year.

The speaker then presented the diplomas to the five young ladies addressing a few words to each.

The new nurses are Misses Thomey, O'Neil, McQuig, Thomas and Gillis.

Dr. B. K. Holmes was next called upon to present the many bouquets of pretty flowers, from the ladies of the Assisting Society to the graduates. In so doing the doctor made a most appropriate speech. He congratulated the chairman in highest terms and spoke most enthusiastically of the staff of nurses and the graduates. He thought great wisdom had been shown in the selection of a superintendent.

Each of the ladies received an arrangement of flowers.

LOOKING FOR CABINET CRISIS

Days of Balfour Ministry Numbered, so Politicians Think.

Dissolution in September Predicted--Army Reform Bill Believed to be the Critical Issue.

New York, June 28.--A cablegram from London says a Cabinet crisis is rapidly approaching. In political circles it is generally agreed that the final days of the Cabinet are at hand. Premier Balfour is expected to have hard work to hold his party together until autumn.

The army reform bill, it is predicted, will be the rock on which the Government ship will founder, and cause dissolution of the Cabinet in September.

All eyes are turned on Chamberlain, but at present it is impossible to say who the next premier will be.

LOOKING FOR BIG BATTLE

The Heavy Engagement Now Expected To-day Fifteen Miles South of Hai-Cheng.

Japanese Score Another Victory--Russian Infantry and Cavalry Were Routed.

London, Wednesday, June 29.--A despatch from Hai Cheng, dated June 28, says: "A heavy engagement is expected to-morrow near the village of Si Mon Cheng, fifteen miles south-east of Hai Cheng and an equal distance due east of the railway. The Japanese have passed Dalin Hill and are twenty miles south of the Russian position."

THE DALIN HILL FIGHT.

The total losses in the Dalin Hill fight are not yet known. Eighty wounded have arrived here and on Sunday last a hospital train with 200 passed, going to Liao Yang. The fighting lasted the whole of June 26 and June 27, and the Japanese successfully pushed the Russians from three positions, occupied them with artillery as the defenders retired. Wounded Russians, recounting the two days' fight, say that the Japanese again demonstrated their reliance on their artillery, and that they were greatly superior, both in number of guns and in skill. On the second day of the fight they brought up a heavy battery, which silenced the lighter Russian guns and caused severe loss. The Japanese artillery practice, however, was inaccurate, and was not so effective as they seemed. They shot empty positions, or shot over the Russian columns. The fight started at dawn, ten miles south-west of Dalin Hill. The Russian Rifle Brigade held the position until noon in the face of a heavy artillery fire, but the Russians were finally outflanked by infantry and cavalry, the Japanese actually getting a field battery in the rear of the Russian position. Then the brigade fell back. The Dalin Hill fight continued from 6 o'clock until dark. The Japanese worked furiously all night long and employed two batteries on the vacated Russian position. The fighting was resumed at 3 a. m. on June 27. The Russians silenced the two Japanese batteries, but the Japanese brought up a train of big guns and silenced the lighter Russian artillery, which was again running out of ammunition, and the Russians were once more forced to retire. The Japanese cavalry and infantry threatening to surround the Russian position, forced a general retreat. The Russians carried off all their guns and got revenge on the Japanese cavalry column, which was caught in close formation and was shelled with terrific effect, being forced to scatter."

It Must Come.

As inevitable as the changing seasons of the year is the change which comes to every woman. And just as one anticipates the changes of other seasons it is wise to anticipate this change of season and prepare for it. In this way the discomforts and disasters suffered by many women at the period of change can be avoided or overcome.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine for every season of woman's life, entirely meets the needs of women at this period of change. It cures the physical ills and relieves the mental anxiety and depression usually associated with this critical period. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED. Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and unbroken cures, a record such as no other remedy for women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now offer a reward of $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Pimples, Weakness, Erysipelas, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

J. S. Carlisle, Esq., of Manchester, Coffee Co., Tenn., writes: "I have been using your medicine for the last sixteen or eighteen years in my household. I am a sufferer from Medical Discoveries and Pleasant Pellets are the best medicine for the diseases for which they are recommended. I have ever used them for my wife's life at the time of change of life. I have never recommended your medicine to any afflicted woman and have also guaranteed that if it did not cure I would pay back the money spent for it. I have used your medicine and I have seen it do good. I have never found anything to equal the Favorite Prescription for diseases of women."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Skirt Management. "Inherent grace is no greater in French girls than in English girls," says an authority. "But in the dainty art of carrying their skirts in their hands while taking the air of the boulevards French girls are incomparably superior to their English cousins. The secret is that the French maid's petticoat is made to clear the ground, while the English girl's drop skirt is as long as the outer garment. The English girl must lift both skirts to prevent their trailing in the dirt of the streets. She grasps a great bundle of unwieldy cloth so heavy and clumsy that almost invariably she pulls it around in a way that plays havoc with the effectiveness of her gown. The French de-moiselle has only the outer skirt to care for."

To Waterproof Shoes. The following is a useful recipe for preventing rain penetrating through the soles of boots, which with the modern expeditious modes of tanning are often very spongy: Melt together in an old pan two parts by weight of tallow and one of common resin. Warm the soles of the boots, and apply the liquid warm, but not hot, and so long as it will sink in. A pair of badly hammered, porous soles will take up as much as four ounces of the mixture, which will prevent the absorption of as much water. Repeat the application as the soles wear, and it will greatly increase their durability. The upper leathers may be treated in the same way, but the resin diminishes their pliability.

Don't brood over the past, or dream of the future, but use the instant and get your lesson from the hour. Minard's Liniment is used by Physicians.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. ROBERT L. PARSONS.

A Business Woman Who Believes in the Broad Field For Women. Mrs. Robert L. Parsons, head of the Chicago School of Physical Education and Expression, regards the indisputable fact that more and more married women are becoming prominently identified with business and professional life yearly as the natural culmination of many slow growing causes. It would be almost impossible, she believes, for other conditions to prevail.

MRS. ROBERT L. PARSONS.

tion now general among women gives at once the means and the possibility of telling work in the field outside the home. Of what use is this education unless applied to some practical purpose? This, I believe, is the underlying thought that lives in most thoughtful women. It is but another expression of the creative impulse common to all.

"As to the right or wrong of married women entering the business world it would seem difficult to me to come to any abstract decision. One woman can scarcely judge for another. Personally I cannot understand how any mother of young children can care to leave her for the sake of any outside endeavor, but there are plenty of women with no ties of this kind. And, as to the theory that the married woman in business is unjustly occupying the place of the unmarried worker who must earn her own bread and butter, the moment work becomes in the slightest degree individual or distinctive this theory is disproved. And I cannot think that the repression or elimination of the creative impulse that sends the otherwise unoccupied married woman out into the larger field could be productive of any good."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Be Independent. The idea of the propriety of house-keeping as the work for women owes its origin to a very natural feeling that woman as well as man should do her part of the world's labor. It is only just. But man chooses his field; why not the woman? For what reason is she bound to confine herself to one kind of work if she can do another kind better, more profitably to her family and more to the advancement of her nature and abilities?

Wherever a woman can best employ her powers, there is her sphere. As she lives best for herself, so she lives best for all those associated with her. The idea has obtained too long that woman's duty is to some one else. If it were in truth a thing so noble and excellent she would not so long have had a monopoly of it, says the Business Woman's Magazine.

Women's cause is man's cause; they must rise or fall together. Are not women the mothers of men? There are many things women should know and practice. Banish fear, worry and doubt. Think your own thoughts. Live your own life. Others may advise, but they cannot see life from your point of view.

Saving Steps. "Never go empty handed." This is what mother used to say to me so many times when I was a child. If I was going upstairs I must look about me and see if there wasn't something downstairs that belonged upstairs that I could carry up and put into its place, and so on from one part of the house to another. She always said it would be a great help in one's housekeeping and save lots of unnecessary steps if they would just remember that little rule, and, although I fall in many ways to practice all the good things she taught me, I very often find myself saying to the children as they help about the work, "Never go empty handed." Children have such a wonderfully unconscious way of walking right over things instead of picking them up and restoring them to their proper places. So I shall often repeat the little rule to them, partly to help them and partly to relieve my own feelings at their carelessness, and if they do not always obey the injunction now while they are young they may in after years remember it as one of mother's little helpful rules.—Boston Brown Book.

For a Ribbon Box. A rather large cigar box makes a most useful and dainty looking receptacle for gloves or ribbons. If it happens to retain an odor of tobacco put it in the sunshine for a little time before proceeding to decorate it. Then cover the outside of the box with pretty colored linen. The inside is glued firmly and the outside stretched tightly and held in place with little brass nails. The lining of the box will be all the better for a little padding of cotton wool sprinkled with sachet powder. The softness of the padding is attractive looking, and the perfume imparts a pleasant fragrance to the contents of the box. Smaller cigar boxes, covered with chamote leather or the wrist parts of long tan or gray evening gloves and prettily lined with satin, padded with cotton wool, make charming little jewel cases. These boxes should contain in one corner a small wash-leather pincushion for brooches and lace pins and in another corner a tiny bag for rings.

Tinted Spectacles For Beauty. "Tinted spectacles," said a New York optician who makes a specialty of them, "are mainly for women who demand that their beauty as well as their sight shall be considered. A light gray or a pale blue eye looks very weak and unattractive through ordinary eyeglasses. By slightly tinting the lens we can add very much to the color of the pupil of the eye and to the general attractiveness of the face. The tinting does not at all interfere with the magnifying properties of the glass. In fact, some oculists send us prescriptions for tinted glasses, maintaining that for blue or gray eyes they are far superior to the ordinary crystal glasses. Blue eyes absorb more light than brown eyes, so that any tempering of the sun's rays is sure to be beneficial."

The Boy's Room. When a boy's room is not furnished with a couch the boy is extremely apt to lie on the bed to read, the chances of his removing his shoes or protecting the white spread before lying down being extremely slender. Rather than indulge in vain remonstrances banish the white spread altogether and substitute denim, blue, if it can be made to fit into the color scheme of the room. Have the center of the spread plain, with a border twelve to eighteen inches deep of figured denim, fleur-de-lis or something similar. The denim takes on a better color, as repeated washings dull its first brightness. It does not easily wrinkle, and the comfort of the boy is insured.

Wash the Hair. Hair experts say that if women keep on wearing pompadours it is only a question of time before they become bald. To be sure, it will not be quite so far reaching as a man's, but bad enough to destroy their good looks. As a forehead reaching to the middle of the crown is not considered a mark of beauty, it behooves women to "watch a little out" for the receding hair line. One way of preventing its becoming noticeable is when arranging the hair for the night to brush it in the opposite direction from which it has been worn all day. This rests the hair and keeps it from becoming warped in one direction.

The Dainty Desk. Old brocade, or, rather, brocade in old time colorings and patterns, as well as tapestry, is being utilized with marked success for women's desk fittings. Blotters, paper and envelope racks, letter boxes, calendar frames, notebook racks, stamp and pen boxes, etc., show coverings of these soft luscious fabrics, dull gilt braid being employed for the finishing touch. Chintz is likewise used for desk sets, but the more delicate tinting of the other materials, tapestry particularly, has won for them a greater measure of popularity.

Cold Cream. No toilet table is complete without a jar of cold cream made of oil of white poppy, four ounces; oil of almonds, two ounces; white wax, one-half ounce; balsam of Peru, two drams. Melt the wax, add the oils and beat together until they form a cream, then add the balsam and lastly a little rosewater. This is an emollient which may be used with good effect once or twice a week, after the bath, to soften and soothe the hands, neck and arms.

A Medical View of Whipping. Against this subordinate sway of savagery, this proposition to rule little children by terror and by pain, the Medical Record most emphatically protests. The whip inspires terror of itself and not of the crime. Its physical effects, quite aside from the pain engendered, are bad and may be deplorable. Its moral influence is shameful and degrading.—Medical Record.

Clean Lace in Naphtha. Lace will not thicken if washed in naphtha. Immerse in the fluid and let the lace remain for an hour or two. Then gently squeeze between the hands, rinse with clean naphtha and pull into shape. It will dry almost immediately.

Humming is one of the best exercises in the world for girls. It contributes for one thing that elasticity without which grace is impossible and spurs every bodily function to its appropriate duty. Wood alcohol rubbed on a polished table stained or marred by a hot dish will restore the finish if followed by a polishing with linseed oil.

The keynote of your home harmonies is sounded by the hall. See that the tune is welcoming and pleasant. Fashion worn without style is characteristic and often hideous.

A Miracle to Order.
 In the days of his youth M. Coquelin was ambitious, and the parts he loved to play were those in which he died in full view of an appreciative audience for his art. He had one of these roles one evening at the Boulogne theater and played it splendidly, getting a ringing round of applause as he fell dead upon the stage. Then his troubles started.

The audience's applause woke up a mosquito, which applied itself to M. Coquelin with so much assiduity that the corpse felt it must either scream or scratch. Another actor, who played a general in the corps of which the dead M. Coquelin was a young ensign, was standing near the body and had to say: "See, then, how sad a thing is war! But now this youth was living. Now he is dead—motionless for all time! Nothing save a miracle can give him life again!"

But M. Coquelin could hold out no longer. The mosquito was still biting busily and Coquelin had to sit up and slap his leg. "The miracle has happened!" cried the general, while the audience laughed until it cried at this too lively corpse.

DRESS HINTS.

Throughout your entire wardrobe avoid cheap, tawdry effects.
If your shoes get very wet wipe off all dirt with a damp cloth, then rub them with sweet oil or cream.
Alcohol diluted with water is generally an effective renovator of silk. If grease spots are to be removed, rub first with gasoline.
China silk waists should be washed, then starched in a thin starch and ironed while damp. This makes them look just like new.
Restore fine net veerings which have become stringy by sponging them with a weak solution of black starch. Pin them out to dry, keeping the edges perfectly straight.
Tucked chiffon when crumpled and shabby looking, may be easily refreshed by passing a hot iron over the wrong side of the material. This makes the tucks have the raised appearance they had when new.
German Women in the Professions.
Back twenty or thirty years ago a few women began to call the attention of their sisters to all the evil and dependence the lack of education meant for them in a country where knowledge is accounted the highest good. Quiet, steady work followed, undismayed by legislative action and by public abuse and ridicule, until now almost all the German universities are open in a measure to women, allow them degrees in various branches, and high schools and preparatory schools and courses exist in various cities.
With the right to study the professions at home has come the right to practice as physicians and a few women lawyers in Germany today, something that would have been considered impossible thirty years ago.—Pilgrim.
The Hot Sand Bag.
We are all acquainted with the virtues of the hot water bag, but many persons are not aware of the fact that a sand bag is even better. The way to prepare it is this: Get some clean, fine sand, dry it thoroughly in a kitchen stove, make a bag about eight inches square of flannel, fill it with the dry sand, sew the opening carefully together and cover the bag with cotton or linen cloth. This will prevent the sand from sifting out and also enable the person using it to heat the bag quickly by placing it in the oven or on the top of the stove. After once using this no further recourse will be had to the hot water bottle.

BABY'S ECZEMA

CURED BY CUTICURA

Now Six Years Old with Thick Hair and Clean Scalp. Cure Permanent.

My baby was about six weeks old when the top of her head became covered with thick scales, which would peel and come off, taking the hair with it. It would soon form again and be as bad as before. I tried several things and then went to the doctor. He said it was Eczema, and prescribed an ointment, which did not do any good. A friend spoke of Cuticura Soap. I tried it and read on the wrapper about Cuticura Ointment as a remedy for Eczema. I bought a box and washed her head in warm water and Cuticura Soap and gently combed the scales off. They did not come back and her hair grew out fine and thick. She is now a year and a half old and has no trace of Eczema.

MRS. C. W. BURGESS, Irwin Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 21, 1903.

Mrs. Burgess writes Feb. 29, 1903: "My baby, who had Eczema very badly on her head, as I told you before, after using the Cuticura Remedies was cured. She is now six years old and has thick hair and a clean scalp."

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tormented babies and rest for tired, worried mothers in warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle skin-cures with Cuticura Ointment, purged of emollients and greatest of skin cures, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent and economical treatment for itching, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusty and pimply skin and scalp humors, with loss of hair, of infants and children, as well as adults, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

IN QUIANT SEATHWAITE

LIVED THAT "VERY EXTRAORDINARY PARSON," REV. ROBERT WALKER.

The Duddon River, on which is Seathwaite, Divides Cumberland and Lancashire for About 25 Miles, and Has Been Immortalized by Cowper in a Series of Beautiful Sonnets—Charming Link With England's Past.

No river flows through more picturesque scenery than the Duddon. It rises on Wrynose Fell, divides for about twenty-five miles the counties of Cumberland and Lancashire, till it enters the Irish Sea. The stream would possess distinction were it only for its commemoration by Wordsworth in a series of beautiful sonnets.

One of the quaintest and most primitive little villages on the Duddon is that of Seathwaite. In its peaceful churchyard, near an ancient yew and a sundial, is a gravestone, a plain blue slab, with the inscription: "In memory of the Reverend Robert Walker, who died the 25th day of June, 1802, in the 33rd year of his age, and 67th of his curacy at Seathwaite. Also of Anne, his wife, who died the 28th of January, 1802." Born in 1709 at Undercrag, in Seathwaite, the youngest of twelve children, Walker obtained the rudiments of his education in the consecrated building where he afterwards officiated as pastor and schoolmaster. After ordination he obtained the curacy of Seathwaite, which had a house attached to it, and married a domestic servant.

In 1754 a writer on the Annual Register describes the life of the Rev. Robert Walker, regarding him as "a very extraordinary parson." The correspondent, out for pleasure in the Lake country, had heard so much of him obtaining happiness out of small means that he resolved to pay him a visit. He found Walker in the parsonage sitting at breakfast at the head of a rough, square table, dressed in a coarse, blue frock with black horn buttons, a check shirt, a leather strap about his neck, a stock, a thick apron, and a pair of wooden shoes. He was sitting with iron, having a child upon his knee. Mrs. Walker and some of the children were waiting upon each other; the rest spinning and teasing wool. In that trade the clergyman was a great proficient. When it was ready for sale, Mr. Walker related, he laid it, whether sixteen pounds or thirty-two pounds, upon his back, set out on foot even in the depth of winter, and would sell it in the market. The interviewer was greatly struck by the energy and good humor alike of parson and his spouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker reared a large family. A son, by the father's extraordinary economy and ingenious management of a very small income, went to Trinity College, Dublin, and afterwards was ordained. Other sons were put to trades. The income of Seathwaite Chapel was for years only £15 a year, but as its curate grew in age it was increased. In his younger days Walker was not only parson and schoolmaster, but weaver, shoemaker, tailor, gardener, and farmer "rolled into one."

Never was there a clergyman more kind to the poor and more generous in his hospitality than "Wonderful Robert Walker." Every Sunday were served by the host at his tablelesses of broth for those of his congregation who lived at a distance. Fresh animal food, too, was cooked on the Sunday for the wayfarers, and the clergyman and his wife had the remains during the week. In one of his letters to a son he writes when over ninety: "We (the wife and himself) are in our wonted state of health, allowing for the hasty strides of old age knocking daily at our door, and warningly telling us we are not only mortal, but must expect ere long to take leave of our ancient cottage, and lie down in our last dormitory."

In the Duddon sonnets Wordsworth on "Seathwaite Chapel" described Robert Walker: This low pile a Gospel teacher knew Whose good works formed an endless river.

A pastor such as Chaucer's vera portava: Such as the Heaven-taught skill of Herbert knew; And tender Goliath crowned with deathless praise.

Fuddle Fish, or Spoon-Bill Cat. This fish was caught in the Spanish River, Algoua, and has been stuffed and presented to Mr. Bass.

SPoonBILL CAT. tado, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries. It is five feet one inch long, and the bill extends about a foot from the body.

Accidents in Mines. Last year there were 1,061 fatal accidents in the mines and quarries of the United Kingdom, entailing the loss of 1,172 lives. Compared with the previous year there is a decrease of 14 in the number of fatal accidents, and of 57 in the number of lives lost. Three-fourths of the fatal accidents by explosions of the damp or coal dust were due to neglected lights, the illegal use of matches, or the illegal opening of a safety lamp.

NERVOUS TROUBLES

Promptly and Permanently Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is no torture more acute and intolerable than nervousness. A nervous person is in a state of constant irritation by day and sleeplessness by night. The sufferer starts at every noise, is shaky, depressed, and although in a constantly exhausted state, is unable to sit or lie still. If you are nervous or worried or suffer from a combination of languor and irritation, you need a nerve tonic, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely the best thing in the world for you. You can only get rid of nervousness through feeding your nerves with rich, red blood, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. There is no doubt about this—thousands can testify to the blood-making, nerve-restoring qualities of these pills. St. Vitus' dance is one of the most severe forms of nervousness, and Mrs. H. Hevenor, of Gravenhurst, Ont., tells how these pills cured her little boy. She says: "At the age of eight my little boy was attacked with St. Vitus' dance, from which he suffered in a severe form. His nerves twitched to such an extent that he was almost helpless, and had to be constantly watched. He was under a great deal of doctor treatment, but they did not help him, so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these have completely cured him, and now not a sign of the trouble remains."

When you buy these pills always look at the box and see the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is printed on the wrapper, and refuse to take anything else. You can get these pills from all medicine dealers or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box. Write for boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville,

The Magnetic Needle. There are two places on the earth's surface where the magnetic needle must point due south. They are not easy places to reach. One is in the arctic region north of the northern magnetic pole, on the line between that pole and the geographical north pole. The other is in the antarctic region, south of the southern magnetic pole, on the line between that pole and the geographical south pole. In the first case the point of the needle is attracted to the northern magnetic pole. In the second case the other end of the needle is attracted to the southern magnetic pole.

Curious Customs. In Friesland, it seems, there is a custom that the news of a birth or death is announced verbally by a man who calls at every house in the village for that purpose. If he brings the news of a birth he wears white gloves; if of a death they are black. Some days back a child was born dead in a Frisian village. It was necessary that the usual announcement should be made, but in what colored gloves? The harbinger was a man of resource. He went his rounds wearing one white glove and one black one.

MAKES MEN SOUND AND STRONG

Detroit Specialist Discovers Something Entirely New for the Cure of Men's Diseases. In Their Own Homes.

YOU PAY ONLY IF CURED. Expects No Money Unless He Cures You—Method and Full Particulars Sent Free—Write for It This Very Day.

A Detroit specialist who has a certificate and diploma from medical colleges and state boards of medical examiners, has perfected a new method of curing men's diseases in their own homes; so that there may be no doubt in the mind of any man that he has both the method and the ability to do so as he says, Dr. Goldberg, the discoverer, will send the method simply free to all men who send him their name and address. He wants to hear from men who have a structure that they have been unable to get cured, prostatic trouble, neural weakness, varicocele, lost manhood, blood poisoning, hydrocele, excitation of parts, impotency, etc. His wonderful method not only cures the condition itself, but cures all the complications, such as rheumatism, bladder or kidney trouble, nervous debility, etc.

DR. S. GOLDBERG, The Possessor of Diplomas and Certificates, Who Wants No Money That He Does Not Earn.

The doctor realizes that it is one thing to make claims and another thing to back them up, so he has made it a rule not to send for money unless he cures you, and when you are cured he feels sure that you will willingly pay him a sum of five dollars. It would seem, therefore, that it is the best interest of every man who suffers in this way to write the doctor confidentially and lay your case before him, and he accepts your name and address. It is equivalent to a cure, as he does not under any consideration accept insurable cases for treatment, and, moreover, if he does cure you, you need never pay him a cent. He sends the method, as well as his name, by mail, on the understanding that the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely paid for, will be sent to you immediately by mail.

ROPEWALKER JENKINS

"THE CANADIAN BLONDMAN" TELLS OF WONDROUS TIGHT ROPE FEATS.

Andrew Jenkins' Fame as an Aerial Performer is Wide as America—Crossed the Niagara Gorge on a Velociped in August, 1869—Difficulties Before the Accomplishment—Now Lives Retired in a Frigate House in Branchton.

In the pretty little village of Branchton, the prettiest home is that of Andrew Jenkins, and there he lives in quiet retirement, a man who in his day occupied a position very conspicuous in the public gaze. In Canada, from Montreal to Windsor, and in the United States from Fort Lead to the Gulf of Mexico and west to the shadow of the mountains he was known, a fact which makes the recollection of his later life all the more notable. But his retirement is not content, and shows no longing for a return to the days so far distant, so far different.

The Canadian Blondin is the name by which Andrew Jenkins is best known; for he was a rope walker, an occupation which he followed for many years, and one in which he gained an international reputation. Treading a hempen pathway, he has crossed many a deep and dangerous ravine. An interesting record of the history of daring entertainment is the story of his performances, and the greatest of these was his bicycle ride on a rope suspended over Niagara gorge. This was in 1869, at a time when the bicycle had few adopters, when men were less familiar with the perils of the gorge than now.

Born in Lincolnshire, Andrew Jenkins came to Branchton in 1851. He early showed a taste for travel and adventure. In 1862 he went to Canada, the first of British Columbia's gold fields. His next trip was to the comparatively unknown Isthmus of Panama.

He returned to the Branchton home in 1865, and at the end of that year decided his life work. That summer the great Blondin walked a rope across Niagara gorge. In the vast throng present was one young man, who was seized with the idea that he, too, could walk a rope. The man was Andrew Jenkins. He practiced for a time at his home, and not long after gave his first public performance at a country picnic. He was given the sobriquet "The Canadian Blondin," and the name stuck to him ever since. On Aug. 18 he gave an exhibition in Galt, which won him such high praise from the local party that he soon arranged a tour over a dozen bookings. The tour started at Galt, Ontario, and all the important towns were included up to Walkerton and Owen Sound, and the closing engagement was at Fergus, where he walked over the gorge below the bridge with a rope forty feet above the water. His modest sum of $400 was all that the tour realized, but it was enough to make the young man look to rope walking as a permanent occupation.

The two years following he confined his engagements to Ontario towns and cities, but in 1868 he extended his field and gave a series of exhibitions extending from Detroit to Milwaukee. At the latter place he opened a private performance in St. Quentin Park, at which his audience was wholly made up of civic officials and newspaper representatives. The public performances that followed were a tremendous success. On the 4th of July he gave an exhibition in Chicago, and here he got his first really great recognition. The reputation he won was such as to ensure his success. His Milwaukee performances, by the way, were repeated for seven consecutive seasons.

Crossed Gorge on Bike. It was in August, 1869, that he came most prominently to Canadian notice. He resolved to cross a rope over the gorge by means of a bicycle, a means of travel then almost unknown. The loop-the-loop and flying leap were of course utterly unheard of; in fact, in his use of the bicycle as a means of aerial travel he was most assuredly the pioneer.

He made out plans of his machine and went to the Galt & McCulloch Co. of Galt to have it made; but that firm, learning the purpose for which it was intended, refused to accept the contract, believing if they made the machine, they would be aiding in an extremely hazardous undertaking the outcome of which was more than likely to result fatally. After peddling the proposition, Prof. Jenkins at length had his bike made by a Hamilton firm. When he got home he proceeded to test it on a rope stretched from the ground to a tall tree top. He was able to mount the incline, and felt sure he could do the Niagara trip.

Great were the preparations. All the central portion of Ontario was billed, together with the border cities of New York. In the newspaper advertising, considerable difficulty was met. The Globe and other newspapers refused to accept the contract for the same reason that the Galt & McCulloch Co. had refused to make his machine. Some journals commented editorially on the professor's undertaking, and they called upon the authorities to stop the foolhardy young man from riding to the certain death that awaited him. The Galt Reporter of Aug. 27, 1869, said of his performance:

Description of the Feat. "Prof. Jenkins has for some time been making preparations to cross Niagara Falls in a manner the most astounding that has yet been attempted—that is, on a velociped driven across a tight rope. This feat he successfully accomplished on Wednesday last in the presence of an immense concourse of spectators. It was announced to start on his journey at 8 o'clock, but a delay of half an hour took place owing to the desire of the 44th Battalion Volunteers to be present. In the meantime the professor mounted and submitted to the ordeal of photography. Several good pictures of him were obtained. It was not until twenty minutes to four o'clock that he set out on his bicyclic journey.

His departure was signalized by three shots from a revolver. The Galt brass band performed a short and lively air as he left the shore, and at the conclusion of which all noises were hushed, and all eyes were turned on his movements. He progressed very rapidly and steadily down the Canadian grade, stopping in the middle to wave his hand to the people on the bridge. His signal was answered by the waving of hundreds of pocket handkerchiefs. As he commenced the ascent of the American grade, having a rise of one foot a ten, a gust of wind caught the bicycle and gave it a swinging rotation which nearly upset it. But by a sudden and firm movement of the feet Jenkins succeeded in keeping his balance and stopped until the swaying had subsided. The ascent seemed to be a work of no little difficulty, for whether obliged to do so or not, he took three rests in its accomplishment. The whole time occupied was ten minutes.

It might be said that this machine was the first geared bicycle to be made in Canada, and long preceded the "safety" which it much resembled in construction. Prof. Jenkins was the third person to cross Niagara Falls on a rope. Blondin and Leslie preceded him. He made a second journey over the Falls in 1870.

Fame in the States. His performances in the States were given from Buffalo, Toledo and Cleveland in the north to New Orleans and Galveston in the south. At Rocky River he walked 100 feet above the rocks. It was at Taughton, however, that he gave his most noteworthy performance. His rope was 1,000 feet long, and at the centre 365 feet above the earth. His longest engagement was ten weeks at the National Theatre, Cincinnati.

The carrying of people on his back was one of his favorite tricks, no less than 60 persons having submitted to the ordeal, 20 of whom were women. He once carried a man on his aerial tour, who weighed 205 pounds, a feat the more astounding in that the professor is not a large man himself.

An unfortunate accident to his eyes ended his career as a rope walker. Though he sees very dimly, his intellectual eyes are bright, and he looks back on the old days with a keen zest. His treasures are all memories of his past professional life.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH. Business Incident Which Shows Each an Equality in Canada.

Le Rappel of Montreal, has discovered racial intolerance in Hamilton, Ont., and gives a long account of the "proudly patriotic act," whereby it was dealt with by Rev. Father Benoit, Superior of the Canons of Notre Dame de Lourdes, Montreal. The Rev. Father wrote to a well-known Hamilton house giving an order couched in French, and received the following reply:

Hamilton, Ont., April 29, 1904. Dear Sir: We have received a letter from you written in French; also one of our order sheets on which you have written an "Iron Mitre Box $3.75." We would ask you to tell us what you wish us to do in reference to this, and would request that you write us in English, as we do not understand French.

Yours truly, Stanley Mills & Co., Limited.

To which the French-Canadian cleric retorted as follows, needless to say, in French: "I have just received your postal card of April 29, in which you ask me to renew in English the order I had previously given in French to your firm.

"My good friend, I shall send no further orders to your firm until I learn that you have an employe who can speak and write French. I shall further request all the superiors of our religious houses to adopt the same line of conduct.

"What! Frenchmen to-day travel all over England, and make themselves understood in their own language by every Englishman who has a smattering of education; and here in Canada, where politically and socially French is on an equality with English, must a Frenchman find a translator to give an order to a commercial house which floods the whole Dominion with its products? "I assure you, my good friend, that I shall take my time about looking for a translator, and with all the respect that is due, I remain, etc."

The Clumber Bittersweet. The bittersweet manifests a decided preference for the cedar, which it seldom strangles, but twines about it a helpful way. Perhaps it is because the dark, palm-like sprays of the evergreen afford the finest contrast for its glowing orange and scarlet. Nowhere does it seem so well to deserve its common name "waxwork" as when drooping between the shelving foliage of a snow-dusted cedar. There it shows that the season of fruition can reveal beauties surpassing the bloom of spring, beauties unmarred by ebullient utility and free from the persistent and oppressive sense of evanescence.

Fish Slides Should Be Compulsory. A large number of speckled trout of large size have been caught in Clarkburg and up the river, this year, which old fishermen say is due to the Thornbury dam being out. When rebuilding it would be much easier to put a proper fish slide on than to do so afterwards. We mention this, as we understand a movement is on foot at Heathcote and Kimberley to compel owners of dams to make provision for fish to get up and down, and it's better to have it settled without delay one way or the other.—Clarkburg Reflector.

There is nothing like Sunlight Soap for Household Utensils. When you have to use hard water it is not an easy matter to wash household utensils. To do good washing you should have good soap and soft water (rain water). If you use hard water you must have good soap, and the best soap you can get is Sunlight Soap because it softens the hard water and makes a copious creamy lather. Use Sunlight Soap for all household purposes and the results will surprise you.

THE CAPE TO CAIRO ROAD

ONE OF THE LATE CECIL RHODES DREAMS NEARING A REALITY.

Tourist Tickets to Victoria Falls Are Being Issued and Another Long Stretch of Travel Will Soon Be Under Rapid Construction—Map Shows How the Cape to Cairo Project Stands at Present Time.

Writing in 1900 to Ewart S. Crogan, a plucky young traveler who had just completed a journey from the Cape to Cairo, Cecil Rhodes said: "Every one supposes that the railway is being built with the only object that a human being may be able to get in at Cairo and get out at Cape Town. This is, of course, ridiculous. The object is to cut Africa through the center, and the railway will pick up trade all along the route. The junctions will occur in the East and West coasts which will occur in the future will be outlets for the traffic obtained along the route of the railway as it passes through the Bulawayo, where I am now, it has been a payable undertaking, and I still think it will continue to be so as we advance into the far interior. We propose now to go on and cross the Zambesi just below the Victoria Falls. I should like to have the spray of the water over the carriage.

If Cecil Rhodes were still alive he would see this last wish realized, for the railway from the South has been carried from Bulawayo through the Wankie coal fields to the edge of those wonderful falls, which are twice the height and more than double the width of the Falls of Niagara, while a bridge consisting of a single span of 500 feet is now being constructed over the gorge, and will be completed by the end of the year.

The bridge will have the distinction of being the highest in the world, the level being 420 feet above the river, 55 feet higher than the dome of St. Paul's, while the construction of the great span is in progress the rails for the extension northward will be conveyed across by aerial gear to avoid delay.

It was originally intended to carry the line from Bulawayo direct through the Matungu district, crossing the Zambesi at the Kariba Gorge. It was found, however, that the country north of the Matungu district has no good roads, and that the value of the coal deposits is not to be compared with that of the Wankie coal fields.

The certainty of a large tourist traffic if the line were carried to the Victoria Falls formed the western terminus to choose the western route, and accordingly the line northward from Bulawayo was begun in May, 1901. Last year it reached Wankie, a distance of two hundred miles, and the additional seventy-five miles to the falls have been constructed in less than a twelve-month. Tourist tickets to the Victoria Falls are being issued, and among the visitors next year will be two hundred and fifty members of the British Association, who have accepted the invitation of the British South Africa Company to pay a visit to Niagara's rival.

Starting from the south, the railway is now completed from Cape Town to Victoria Falls, a distance of 1,635 miles, and a further stretch of 350 miles in a northerly direction to Broken Hill Mine, one hundred miles beyond the Kafue River, will be begun at an early date, the contract having already been let. This section, which is to be completed by the end of March, 1905, will tap a district rich in copper, on lead and zinc deposits, beyond which is a region with vast supplies of rubber. There will then remain only a section of 450 miles to complete the connection with Kitula, at the southern end of Lake Tanganyika, where the Chartered Company's away terminates. Survey work here is now in progress, and there is no doubt that within a few years this line will be made.

From this point onward, however, Rhodes' scheme has had to be modified as the nature of the country around the chain of lakes stretching from the Zambesi to the Nile came to be known. As Grogan pointed out, Lake Tanganyika is hemmed in by steep mountains offering well-nigh insurmountable difficulties to railway construction, but on the other hand, the lake itself offers a magnificent waterway of four hundred miles on the direct line between the Cape and Cairo. It may be taken as granted, therefore, that this part of the journey will be made by water, and that passengers will be carried by steambot from Kitula to Usambara, at the north end of the lake. From here to Lake Kivu is ninety miles, offering no serious obstacle to a railway beyond a rise in level of two thousand feet. Lake Kivu is sixty miles in length, and this sheet of water also is surrounded by high and precipitous mountains, so that another break in the line will have to be made and the waterway utilized.

THE ANGLESEY ESTATES.

Marquis, After Six Years' Possession, Relinquishes to Trustees to Pay Debts.

The Marquis of Anglesey finds himself in money difficulties, and at a recent meeting of creditors a deed of assignment placing the family estates in the hands of trustees to meet the liabilities was accepted. One of the recent London auctions was largely attended, as it was whispered abroad that some of the Marquis' jewels, of which he had made a great collection, were to be disposed of in the sale.

Henry Cyril Paget, fifth Marquis, is a great grandson of the Waterloo Field Marshal, one of Wellington's generals. He was born in 1875, and came into possession of the estates in 1899, marrying in the same year his cousin Lillian, daughter of Sir George Chetwynd.

Proceedings were taken to annul the marriage, but were eventually withdrawn. Everything underwent a change at Anglesey Castle, or Plas Newydd (the new Palace), as it was formerly called, when the present

Wonders of Memory.

The memory may be cultivated to an extraordinary degree, as all are aware. Seneca, the Roman rhetorician, was able to repeat 2,000 words upon once hearing them, each in its order, though they had no dependence or connection on each other. Pontius Latro retained in his memory all the orations he had ever spoken, without failing in even a single word. Cynaeus, Ambassador to the Romans from King Pyrrhus, in one day so well learned the names of his audience that the next morning he saluted the whole Senate and all the populace assembled, each by his name. Cyrus knew every soldier in his army by name, and Scipio had a speaking acquaintance with all the citizens of Rome. Herr von Neuhlin, a celebrated German scholar, was once clerk in a bank of Copenhagen, in which capacity he gave proof of his remarkable memory by restoring from recollection alone, the entire contents of a leaf in the bank ledger which had been accidentally lost by fraud or accident.
