GIVES BOOKS TO LIBRARY

Judge Woods Presents Valuable Volumes to Public Institution

WORK OF A CHATHAMITE

Some time ago it was announced that Judge Woods intended to present the Chatham Public Library with some valuable volumes. He has done this and the gift is accompanied by the following letter addressed to the chairman of the Board:

Chatham, June 9, 1906.
Dear Mr. Stone,—You will recall our conversation about my proposed gift to the City Library of certain volumes, and as the Board has signified its willingness to receive these, I now send you six bound volumes of the Weekly Globe for the years of 1876, 77, 78, 79, 80 and 81, covering an important period in our legislative and commercial development. Also a work of great value of five volumes by Mr. Larned, known as "History for Ready Reference," containing some 11,000 double column pages. The latter was a gift to me by the distinguished author, and I prize it very highly, so much so that I have decided to give it to your elegant library instead of to one of my children, in order that it may enjoy a larger circuit of readers and students than it would have in a private one. An additional value and interest is imparted to its pages by the fact that Mr. Larned is a Chatham boy. This is an unlooked for distinction for our city. While we rejoice in the gift of our Library at the hands of the distinguished philanthropist Mr. Carnegie—the prince of givers—we can congratulate ourselves that the most imposing work in it is the product of one of our own sons. On writing to Mr. Larned the approval of my proposed transfer of his notable and noble work to the Library, he says, "You wish to make a gift of my books to the Chatham Library does me an honor which I appreciate very highly. I assure you Chatham has a warm place and a large place in my memory. My early period of life was a very happy part of my life. All my associations with the place—and they include my marriage—are among the happiest I have ever formed, and the most fondly cherished. It has often been a regret to me that I could not keep some close acquaintance with the good town. I shall find it very pleasant to think that your kindly action in the matter of my books may keep my name, at least from becoming quite lost from knowledge in the place of my birth."

Mr. Larned married a daughter of the Hon. Walter McCrea, our representative in the Legislative Council of United Canada for the Western Division from 1882 to 1870 and judge of Algoma.
Looking at a biographical dictionary, "Who's who in America," I see the following: "Larned, Josephus Nelson, Author, Librarian, born at Chatham, Ontario, May 11, 1836, son of Henry Sherwood and Mary A. (Nelson) Larned, educated in the Public Schools of Buffalo, N. Y. On the editorial staff of the Buffalo Express from 1854 till 1871, superintendent of the Buffalo Library from 1877 till 1897, President of American Library in 1893-94, author of "Talks About Labor," 1877; "History for Ready Reference," three volumes, 1895, sixth volume 1901; "Talks About Books," 1897; "History of England for Schools," 1902; "Primer of Right and Wrong," 1902; "History of the United States for Secondary Schools," 1903; "Seventy Centuries of the Life of Man," 1905; "A Multitude of Counsellors," 1901; "The Literature of American History," 1902.
Invoking every blessing on your Library, Mr. Carnegie its munificent patron, the present Board of Management and the city at large, with the warmest regards for yourself personally,
I remain,
Yours very truly,
R. S. WOODS,
Frederick Stone, Esq., Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Chatham Public Library.

WINDSOR CONSULATE

By the closing of a number of the smaller United States Consulates, the Windsor Consulate will now, in addition to its regular work, do the business formerly done at London, Chatham, St. Thomas and Amherstburg. The total value of goods reported to the United States through Windsor for the year ending June 30, amounted to $1,782,522, an increase of over $280,000 compared with the previous year. Of the total for the year, whiskey represented $713,883, or about $300,000 more than for a year ago.

BIG GAME TO-MORROW

Chatham Will Meet the St. Andrew's Team of Detroit at 4:30 Pm.

FINALS FOR WALKER CUP

A meeting of the Team Committee of the All Kent Football Club was held in the Balmoral Reading Rooms last night, for the purpose of selecting a team from the county to meet the St. Andrew's team, of Detroit, in the finals for the Walker Cup, the first game to be played in Chatham to-morrow afternoon. Needless to say, the committee found their task a very difficult one, as there are a large number of players in the county who are really deserving of a place on the team; but after considerable discussion the following eleven were selected:—

Goal—Harry French, Darrell.
Backs—Roy McKensie, Dover Centre; Alvin Fugh, Darrell.
Half Backs—Walter Bennie, Valetta; Lester Gregory, Darrell; Walter Coulter, Chatham.

Forwards—Cliff Langford, Kent Bridge; Harry McKensie, Dover Centre; Albert Beck, Mitchell's Bay; Arthur Martin, Chatham; Percy Parrott, Chatham.
The advisability of playing the match on the Fair Grounds and who the Cobalt and five miles away from New Liskeard. This town is a much nicer place to live in than Cobalt and, for many reasons, Haileybury will be the larger town of the two. The prices of provisions, clothing and other necessities are very reasonable here, as the appended samples will show. Butter 30c lb, eggs 25c a dozen, granulated sugar 18c lb, for $1, bread 5c a loaf, beef 15c lb, mutton 18c lb, fresh pig 6c lb, and white fish 8c lb. We are not out of the world altogether for we have recently had a visit from Cole Bros. Circus, and also from a patent medicine quack, same one that was in Chatham a couple of years ago. Lots of new houses are going up here, but if the mining industry does not pick up all round there will soon be lots of vacant ones. The country for about 30 miles north of New Liskeard is admirably adapted to agricultural settlement. But beyond the thirtieth mile there is uninviting rocky land. After describing the general aspect of the whole Cobalt district Jim deals with the mining side of the question.

NORMAL SCHOOLS

Hamilton to Have One—Other Sites Undecided—Chatham Favorably Mentioned

Toronto July 5.—Four new normal schools are to be built by the Government very shortly. For this purpose it will be remembered that the sum of $100,000 was included in the supplementary estimates. Hamilton may have one of the schools, if the city is willing, and of this there is no doubt. At present the normal college is located in rooms rented in the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, a Government grant of $4,500 a year being made towards it. On the establishment of the new normal schools, the normal college will be abolished, and a new building erected for the school. The county model schools will also be done away with, and teachers will be enabled to take out permanent certificates under the new plan. Toronto, London and Ottawa already have normal schools. Besides Hamilton, no definite decision has yet been arrived at for the location of the other three schools, but Peterboro, Chatham and Owen Sound have strong claims. Four more schools will be built next year.

Speaks Well For Chatham

A Toronto Company Makes Chatham the Distributing Point For Western Section—Mr. F. A. Tschirhart Makes Change in Business.

Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, Toronto, manufacturers of the Gourlay Piano, have been looking for a central point in a good city, in which to place a manager and factory sales room to look after this entire section, for some time past. They investigated the advantages of the different cities and towns in this vicinity and came to the conclusion that Chatham was the correct point.

They have made arrangements with Mr. F. A. Tschirhart, the well-known music dealer, of this city, to accept the position of District Manager, and Mr. Tschirhart will close all places of other makes he now has in stock and make repairs and improvements on his present store, room that will, when completed, make it the largest, best appointed and prettiest music store in this section. It will be the new home of the Gourlay Piano, the best Piano built in Canada to-day, and the Knabe Piano, the recognized leader of pianos in the world, also the Empress Piano, a fine instrument at a moderate price.

Mr. Tschirhart will have full charge of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming line of instruments, and is in a position to sell the Gourlay Piano direct from the factory to customers at a great saving and on terms much lower than ever offered by any music house in this section. He invites all his friends to call and see the Gourlay, Knabe and Empress Pianos, and assures the people of this city that he is now in a position to place the best instruments to be obtained in their homes at the lowest possible prices.

CHATHAM MEN IN THE COBALT

James Robinson Writes an Entertaining and Instructive Letter

PROSPECTS FOR SILVER

James Robinson, who left Chatham for Cobalt a short time ago, in company with Steve Palmer and some other Chathamites, has written from Haileybury to a friend in the city telling of the party's experiences in the silver land up to the present.
All the boys are in the best of health and spirits, but they are suffering considerably from the unpleasant attentions of the "black flies," which just now are causing a great deal of trouble and annoyance all over the mining districts of Northern Ontario. In order to combat these pests the prospectors have to smear themselves with oil of tar, and Jim remarks in his letter, "You can just about imagine what we look like when we have plastered our hands and faces with this black dope." One of the party was so badly stung by these flies that he was unable to sleep for several nights on account of the pain in the affected parts.

Regarding living conditions in Haileybury Jim has the following to say: "We are just about five miles from the town of Cobalt and five miles from New Liskeard. This town is a much nicer place to live in than Cobalt and, for many reasons, Haileybury will be the larger town of the two. The prices of provisions, clothing and other necessities are very reasonable here, as the appended samples will show. Butter 30c lb, eggs 25c a dozen, granulated sugar 18c lb, for $1, bread 5c a loaf, beef 15c lb, mutton 18c lb, fresh pig 6c lb, and white fish 8c lb. We are not out of the world altogether for we have recently had a visit from Cole Bros. Circus, and also from a patent medicine quack, same one that was in Chatham a couple of years ago. Lots of new houses are going up here, but if the mining industry does not pick up all round there will soon be lots of vacant ones. The country for about 30 miles north of New Liskeard is admirably adapted to agricultural settlement. But beyond the thirtieth mile there is uninviting rocky land. After describing the general aspect of the whole Cobalt district Jim deals with the mining side of the question.

"I have seen some pretty good samples of silver in different places during my mining experiences, but I have never seen anything to equal the huge chunks they are getting up here. As far as silver prospects go this district has more than realized our expectations. They are certainly getting lots of the white metal at Cobalt. Of course there are a great many of the usual fake propositions to be met with, and the gentleman who gets most stock in these unstable 'companies' comes out the loser here just as he has always done in other mining camps. The general way that beginners make a mistake is that of re-locating on old claims that have been pooped on the register as 'dead ground.' When the holders of these claims, and the Government inspector, decide that the claim is not worth working, the claim is vacated and registered on a bulletin, posted up at the end of each week and containing a list of the claims open to re-location. There is not much pleasure in starting on each Monday morning to try your luck on a dead claim, so we have set our eyes on the wild, undeveloped country about 55 miles north of Haileybury, near the little town of Boston. We have already made the trip on one occasion and are going to tackle it again next week. Taking our general experiences up here since arrival we have had a very pleasant time, if, of course, we except those black flies, which, by the way, cause the annoyance after August 1st.

The letter is very bright and breezily written and is intensely interesting from start to finish. It's closing paragraph will be of interest to the many friends and acquaintances of the fortune-seeking Chathamites.

"Several of our party," it reads, "are new to the business of prospecting and are continually making very stupid mistakes. There is a sort of rubbing comedy continually running through our experiences."

THE CIVIC RATE

Ald. Scullard, chairman of the civic Finance committee, is making an endeavor to have the chairman of the various other committees bring in their statements of estimates for the current year at as early a date as possible. The rate may be struck at the next meeting of the City Council.

No information has been given out as to what the rate will be, but it is thought that it will be in the neighborhood of 28 mills.

It takes only a pint of praise to give a woman oceans of pleasure. Men devote two-thirds of their time to discussing money problems.

WILL PUSH ELECTRIC CO.

Citizens Are Very Anxious That Electrical By-law Should Pass

WILL BENEFIT THE CITY

A meeting of ratepayers who are in favor of passing the Electric By-law was held in the City Clerk's Office, Harrison Hall, last evening. There was a good attendance, many of the heaviest ratepayers in the city being present, and the general tenor of the gathering was one of enthusiastic support for the by-law. Among those present were—Ald. Austin, Stone, Potter, and Messrs. R. Gray, W. R. Leighton, Chas. Hadley, W. W. Seane, John McCole, Archie Park, F. Tschirhart, John Northwood, S. B. Arnold, Taylor, Frank Mcleodson, George Stephens and J. Simon.

The meeting was an informal one, and the business of the evening was mostly confined to making definite arrangements for conducting a campaign in support of the by-law.

Ald. Austin acted as chairman, and after briefly explaining the object of the meeting, he asked for suggestions. Mr. Gray suggested that two or three factory hands be engaged to talk the matter up among those workmen working in the factories, who the by-law should be boosted more in the press and in every possible manner. In his opinion, a canvasser should be employed to make a house to house canvass of the city and to sound the feeling of all the ratepayers on the matter.

A ratepayer suggested that a big public meeting be called later on to work up enthusiasm among the citizens, but his proposal was not acted upon.

After a great deal of informal discussion it was decided to ask for signs and help to get the vote out on election day. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Simon, Austin and Gray, was appointed to deal with the handling of the advertising in connection with the by-law and to keep the matter before the people in the press.

It was also decided to appoint a canvasser at $2 per day to boost the by-law among the ratepayers, the money to be raised by subscription. A list of the different committees who will take charge of the wards on the voting day was drawn up and a prominent and capable man appointed to look after each committee.

Another committee was appointed, with Robert Gray as chairman, to make representations to employers of labor in the city with a view to popularizing the by-law among the retreating workmen in the factories. Arrangements were made to have typewritten lists of all the eligible voters in each ward prepared and distributed among the workers to assist in getting out the vote.

Everything that could be thought of to make the Electrical By-law campaign a successful one was done, and the meeting is certain to be followed by unceasing activity among the supporters of the by-law in the city.

The Ever Increasing Trade....

That the people of Chatham have been pleased to favor me with this season is extremely gratifying for it shows an appreciation of my efforts to give them superior shoes at most moderate prices and not sacrifice in any detail of style or making.

I want to make this store, the pleasantest as well as the most economical place for you to shop for shoes, and I believe I am succeeding.

THIS BIG STORE with its big assortment and its fair prices is a good place to trade. The supply of swaggy well-made shoes and Oxford's for men is astonishing, and every man is surprised and pleased. All I want is to have you call once and then I know you will appreciate the store; its methods and its merchandise.

Women's Oxfords...

I want to add that my Women's White Oxfords are the swellest and the most fashionable shoes that have been made this season.

UNCLE SAM'S VETERANS

At Lee, in Berkshire county, Mass., there is being turned out under government supervision 250 headstones week to mark the graves of soldiers, sailors, marines, scouts, nurses, or others who have served a regular enlistment in the United States service. These white marble markers are furnished free on application to the quartermaster-general's department in Washington. The grave of anyone of whom the War Department or the Navy Department at Washington holds any record may be marked through application of a relative, Grand Army post or citizen, who can establish the name and service of the dead. Not only does the government furnish the headstone free, but it pays the freight to the destination of the stone. All that has to be done when Uncle Sam has delivered the stone is to have it carried to the grave from the freight office and set up. The United States government has provided 500,000 markers for the graves of its soldiers and sailors. From two marble quarries all these stones have been taken, one at Lee and the other at Rutland, Vt. Each quarry has furnished a quarter of a million stones during the last 30 years.

It is estimated that there are in the neighborhood of fifty former United States soldiers buried in the Maple Leaf Cemetery. It is now an opportune time for some one to take up the matter of procuring these monuments for Uncle Sam's many heroes who have passed away in Chatham.

One mill—the thousandth part of a dollar—per head of the population would provide the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis with all the money it has asked the Government for to put up a good fight this year against the white plague. Thus far the Government has cut the amount in two. This is small business and it reproaches Canada.—Ottawa Citizen.

Many Liberal papers continue to ascribe the present prosperity of the country to the policy of the Laurier Government. Sensible people, says the St. Thomas Times, will acknowledge that the good crops have more to do with it than any other cause. Whatever assistance nature may have derived from the Government is due to the Conservative Government, which inaugurated the policy that started Canada on her way, and has been continued by the present Government. One thing is conspicuous, however, and that is that the Conservative party in opposition has not deserted the country and persuaded the young men to leave it as Liberal leaders did when they were in the cold shades.

Some people along the Detroit River lately conceived the idea that Belle Isle, Detroit's great summer resort, was in Canadian waters. An Indian chief of the Chippewa reserve on Walpole Island, was reported to be in possession of an old chart showing Belle Isle and several other islands in the Detroit River to be on the Canadian side of the boundary line. The story was brought to the attention of James White, Dominion geographer at Ottawa. He pointed out that there was no possibility of a dispute arising on such a point, as the boundary has been definitely fixed by treaty. Detroit people will now be able to enjoy their park again without any qualms of conscience as to trespassing on Canadian territory.

People who take a great deal of care to keep their lawns looking well are often annoyed by pedestrians cutting across the sward in order to shorten a walk by a step or two. Few things are more trying, to the owner of a well kept lawn, than to have no one, comments the Woodstock Express, who sympathizes with the Detroit man who put three bullets into a neighbor who was thus trespassing, but there are a number who can at least understand his feelings. In Chatham there is always more or less complaint in this particular, and it is hoped that by drawing attention to the annoyance

Six Months in "2 in 1."

A Consulting Chemist Makes a Novel Experiment. An Unsolicited Letter that Explains Itself.

"I write to state that on account of your '2 in 1' Shoe Polish being criticised, and the charge made that it injured leather, I made this test as follows: I mixed the contents of a box of '2 in 1' Shoe Polish, bought at a retail store from regular stock, with four ounces of water and into this mixture put a kid glove, and left the said glove in the mixture in a bottle from June 15th to December 15th, 1905—a full six months. I then took the glove out, washed it and examined it. The fine leather of the glove was not affected in the least. It was as pliable and soft as when new, and was not altered in condition, nor were the stitches affected in any way. This test, I consider, proves that '2 in 1' does not injure the finest leather."

I hereby state that these facts are correct and true.

GIFTS IN ABYSSINIA.

Officials Will Take Them If They Are Presented in the Right Way.

The agent of the British Government who visited Abyssinia some years ago wished to return the favor of a native official by some suitable present. The bestowal of this was, however, a matter quite beyond the knowledge of one brought up in the court circles of western civilization. His experiences were instructive.

"The arrangement was badly handled," he says, "and when I arrived several persons besides the high official were present. After a few light topics had been discussed I mentioned my object in making the visit, and as no offer was made to dismiss the bystanders I exhibited my donation."

"In an instant I was aware that I had made a false step. A frown of mingled surprise and indignation clouded the hitherto serene brow, and tones of fathomless integrity declined the proffered gift, while strong inward feelings found vent in a rocking motion of his body."

"You have utterly misunderstood me," said he. "The friendliness which I have shown you has been extended solely with pure motives of kindness to the stranger in the land. Devotion to my sovereign and country is my duty, and the internal consciousness of rectitude. Your intentions are doubtless good, but greater happiness will await me from the knowledge that you will now recognize how disinterested my conduct has been."

"My offering was firmly waved away, and for some period his frame continued shaken by inward emotion, to the great edification of the bystanders, whose eyes remained fixed on the ground."

"It was undoubtedly very discomfiting, and my apologies for so great a mistake were profuse. I declared that I could not quit this abode until restored calmness had given me the assurance that his feelings had recovered their usual serene tone. As fortunately this soon happened, I left, properly comforted at the miserable management which had occasioned the awkwardness."

"Naturally I consulted a native authority who had witnessed the transaction and the mistake which I had committed, but he was so tickled by the circumstances that I extracted from him for some time little but laughter. His eventual view of matters was confined in a few words:

"Try again, but take more and have no witnesses."

"On the next occasion I found the governor alone, and when I opened the subject on which my visit was founded his eyes twinkled, and he said:

"I had a presentiment that we were ordained to be good friends. I do not know if Europeans have these presentiments, but with us they are general, and we do not find them deceptive. You may have heard—and I am aware it is generally stated of us by foreigners—that we are deceitful and avaricious. Do not believe this. All countries contain bad men, and your experience has perhaps been unfortunate. But we shall remain always friends. And what are presents, after all, but external emblems of esteem?"

"There were no difficulties on this occasion. He was obviously much pleased and finally said that the blessing of Providence would be sure to attend the exertions of a man who was thoughtful of the saddened circumstances of others, and he was 'poor, very poor.'—Youth's Companion.

PENGUINS FEEDING.

The Charge That Takes Place When They Enter the Water.

The appearance of the keeper of the penguins at the zoo, with his pail of five guineas, is the signal for sudden and intense excitement in the cages. The penguins wave their little flippers and waddle to the door, whence they peer eagerly down the wooden steps leading to the pool. The cormorant croaks and sways from side to side, and the darters poise their snaky heads and spread their batlike wings. At the water's edge the penguins do not launch themselves upon the surface like other water fowl, but instantly plunge beneath.

Once below water an astounding change takes place. The slow, ungainly bird is transferred into a swift and brilliant creature, beaded with globules of quicksilver, where the air clings to the close feathers, and flying through the clear and waveless depths with arrowy speed and powers of turning far greater than in any known form of aerial flight. The rapid and steady strokes of the wings are exactly similar to those of the air birds, while its feet float straight out level with the body, unused for propulsion or even as rudders and as little needed in its progress as those of a wild duck when on the wing.

The twists and turns necessary to follow the active little fish are made wholly by the strokes of one wing and the cessation of movement in the other, and the fish are chased, caught and swallowed without the slightest relaxation of speed in a submarine flight which is quite as rapid as that of most birds which take their prey in midair. In less than two minutes some thirty gudgeons are caught and swallowed below water, the only appearance of the birds on the surface being made by one or two bounds from the depths, when the head and shoulders leap above the surface for a second and then disappear.

Any attempt to remain on the surface leads to ludicrous splashing and confusion, for the submarine bird cannot float. It can only fly below the surface. Immediately the meal is landed both penguins scramble out of the water and shuffle with round backs and drooping wings back to their cage to dry and digest.—London Spectator.

YOUTHFUL WARRIORS.

Pizarro completed the conquest of Peru at thirty-five and died at forty.

Cortez effected the conquest of Mexico and completed his military career before the age of thirty-six.

The great Conde defeated the Spaniards at Rocroi at twenty-two and won all his military fame before the age of twenty-five.

Peter the Great of Russia was proclaimed czar at ten years of age, organized a large army at twenty, won the victory at Embach at thirty, founded St. Petersburg at thirty-one and died at the age of fifty-five.

Napoleon was a Major at twenty-four, general of brigade at twenty-five and commander in chief of the army of Italy at twenty-six. He achieved all his victories and was finally overthrown before the age of forty-one.

Frederick the Great ascended the throne at twenty-eight, terminated the first Silesian war at thirty and the second at thirty-three. Ten years later, with a population of but 5,000,000, he triumphed over a league of more than 100,000,000 people.

British Army Red Tape.

A letter of instruction said to have been sent to a British army officer, who reported that Private Blank had lost his greatcoat, runs as follows:

"The calculation of the value of a lost greatcoat should be made by deducting the value when worn out from the value when new, as given in article 75, 1905, clothing warrant, dividing the remainder by the number of months the garment has actually been worn and subtracting the sum thus obtained from the total value of the new greatcoat. The balance is the amount that should be charged."

A Sort of No Man's Land.

Australia's least known and least developed section is the northern territory. It is a sort of no man's land. Its capital, Palmerston, contains more Chinese than Caucasians and is the only place in Greater Britain where the Mongolian is the master and the white man the servant. The climate is very trying to the whites, and the aboriginal blacks are of a fierce and sanguinary disposition. Vast herds of buffalo, the descendants of a few experimentally liberated a century ago, roam over the plains, and the place will some day, it is believed, be a sportsman's paradise.

"Will Return Early."

Mrs. Rounder—Yes, and you still tell me the old, old story.

Mr. Rounder (in surprise)—When, dear?

Mrs. Rounder—When you start for the club.

CATTLE MARKETS.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

Montreal, July 4.—(Special).—Receipts were 500 cattle, 50 milch cows, 1000 calves, 500 sheep and lambs, and 1800 hogs. The larger proportion of the cattle were grass-fed, and these bring lower prices, but stall-fed cattle keep pretty high. Prime heaves sold at 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c per lb., but they were not quite as good as those which sold on Monday at 3 1/2c. Pretty good animals sold at 4c to 5c, and the common stock at 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c. Much cows slow of sale, and it requires a very good cow to bring 150, and from that down to 25 for common. Calves sold at 25 to 35 each, sheep sold at 45c per lb. for good, large sheep; the butchers paid from 3 1/2c to 4 1/2c. Lambs sold at 35 to 45 each. The market for hogs was firm and a good demand from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at 47 1/2 to 55 per 100 lbs., weighed off car.

BRITISH CATTLE MARKET.

London, July 4.—Cattle are quoted at 10 1/2c to 11 1/2c per lb.; refrigerator beef, 8c to 8 1/2c per lb.; sheep, dressed, 13 1/2c to 14c per lb.

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: It is indeed a masterpiece; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for.

A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it.

RAILWAY ACT WAS AMENDED

Mr. Emmerson's Bill Passes The House Of Commons

CHEAP FARE VOTED DOWN

Ottawa, July 6.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, announced yesterday in the House that the report of the committee on the revision of the rules would be considered on Monday, thus disposing of the hope that Parliament would prorogue this week.

Replying to Mr. Borden, Mr. Aylesworth said the bills relating to the election laws and independence of Parliament had been referred to a special committee, which had failed to meet. They were too late to be dealt with this session.

Subsidies For Mail Carrying.
Mr. Fielding submitted a statement showing the annual return made by various railways which have received subsidies to the Dominion by way of service in carrying mails, etc. This commenced in 1901 with $700 and grew to $18,200 last year, and made a total of $32,072.

Railway Act Amendment.
In committee again on Mr. Emmerson's bill to amend the railway act, Mr. Lancaster moved an amendment embodying the conclusions of the special committee on his bill. The amendment provided that trains may run up to a speed of ten miles an hour over level crossings in thickly populated parts of cities, towns and villages, but if they desire to exceed that speed they must protect the crossings in a manner satisfactory to the Railway Commission. The amendment was adopted and the date of coming into force was fixed as Jan. 1, 1908.

An amendment by Mr. Emmerson was accepted relating to regulation of less charges, providing that it shall not apply to existing contracts prior to Nov. 1, 1906, or until such time as the Railway Commission may determine.

Mr. Lancaster appealed for the insertion of an amendment giving townships, as well as cities, towns and villages, control over the erection of telephone poles, etc., on their highways.

Mr. Emmerson was willing to give control of villages, "incorporated or otherwise." He was willing to go far enough to give control in settled communities, but he did not think it fair to require a telephone company to get such permission in large, unsettled regions.

Mr. Lalor supported the amendment, which was not disposed of when the House rose at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Emmerson's Amendment.
At the afternoon session, Mr. Emmerson proposed an amendment, so as to make the section apply to "any city, town or village incorporated or otherwise."

Mr. Lancaster (Lincoln and Niagara) moved to strike out the words "city, town or village," making the section apply to any municipality.

The Emmerson amendment was adopted by a vote of 66 to 25.

Mr. Staples (Macdonald) moved an amendment conferring power upon the several provinces to expropriate existing telephone trunk line systems.

W. F. Maclean (South York) supported the amendment.

Appeals to Aylesworth.
Mr. Stockton opposed the amendment. He appealed for an opinion to the Minister of Justice.

Mr. Aylesworth opposed it. He did not regard public ownership as a practical question. It was something unlikely to ever happen. The Bell Co. had been declared for the advantage of Canada. Why could not Manitoba start a system of her own?

W. F. Maclean warned the Minister that the belief in the principle of public ownership was growing with wonderful rapidity.

R. L. Borden submitted that both he and Mr. Aylesworth might live to see the advent of public ownership. He was not prepared to admit the constitutional difficulties suggested, although it presented a difficult question.

The amendment was lost.

Maclean's Amendment.
The bill itself was then reported, and upon its third reading W. F. Maclean (South York) proposed an amendment fixing a maximum passenger rate of two cents a mile.

Mr. Emmerson opposed the amendment.

The amendment was lost on a vote of 8 to 105.

Interchange of Phone Business.
Dr. Sproule, seconded by Mr. Maclean, proposed an amendment compelling full interchange of business on terms to be fixed by the Railway Commission between all telephone companies.

This was lost by 21 to 88.

Mr. Emmerson's bill to amend the Railway Act was then passed.

Militia Estimates Pass.
The House in supply passed the estimates for the Department of Militia and defence.

Canadian Hall Mark.
Ottawa, July 6.—The Commons banking and commerce committee yesterday morning passed the Senate bill respecting the sale and marking of manufactures of gold and silver, i.e., to establish a Canadian Hall Mark.

Retail Merchants Feel Restrained.
Ottawa, July 6.—Yesterday morning a large delegation, representing the Retail Merchants' Association, waited upon the Premier, Mr. Patterson and Mr. Aylesworth and asked that they be relieved from the existing law under which the retail merchants could be held guilty of conspiracy for restraint of trade because they met in conference with wholesale merchants to discuss prices. Sir Wilfrid Laurier assured the deputized delegation that the Government would give the matter most careful consideration.

GOT FIVE YEARS

Woman Pleads to Be Allowed to Serve Terms For Both.

Woodstock, July 6.—Five years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence yesterday meted out to Alfred Nowell, the self-confessed burglar, arrested on Sunday morning.

The authorities called Mrs. Nowell into the dock and sent her to the same institution for two years and six months on a charge of receiving stolen property, knowing it to be stolen.

Nowell took his sentence like a stoic, but was moved to tears when his wife was sentenced and broke down.

Nowell stood up valiantly for his wife, and pleaded with the magistrate not to sentence her, while the young woman asked to be allowed to serve both her husband's term and her own, a period of seven and a half years. This was denied her.

On six separate charges Nowell elected to be tried summarily by the magistrate, and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced on each count, the terms to run concurrently.

PUNISHMENT NECESSARY

Danger Ahead In Europe, Warns Sir Edward Grey

SURPRISE FOR BRITAIN

London, July 6.—Parliament and the country were given a surprise last night by an unexpected and sensational speech by Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, on the situation in Egypt.

Speaking in a solemn tone and amid a tense silence, the Minister declared that the recent attacks on British officers at Tabah was not accidental, but a deliberate manifestation of the fanatical spirit which had necessitated the strengthening of the garrison in Egypt.

He declared that unless the authority of Lord Cromer and the Egyptian Government were strongly upheld it might lead to a situation requiring the adoption of such unconstitutional measures to meet the emergency as would be especially distasteful to the Liberal Government.

During the consideration of foreign estimates several members offered criticisms suggesting that a fleet be sent to Constantinople.

John Dillon (Nationalist) strongly denounced what he termed the brutal barbarism of floggings and executions in Egypt, accusing Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, of a desire to cloak the affair.

Sir Edward, in a general reply, stated that all foreign relations were friendly, and, speaking in a solemn manner, said:

"As things are now, I say deliberately and with a full sense of responsibility that if Parliament does anything at this moment to weaken or destroy the authority of the Egyptian Government, you will come face to face with a very serious situation, for should fanaticism get the better of constituted authority there might arise the necessity for extreme measures."

Dealing with the Congo question, the Foreign Secretary said he distrusted the proposed reforms because the system was wrong. If other powers would join Great Britain in insisting on reforms the Government would welcome them.

Was Glad to Be Saved.

Windsor, July 6.—Edward Gough, whose home is in Toronto, and who travels for a Chicago house, attempted to drown himself here Wednesday night by jumping into the river from the Michigan Central dock, but shouted for help as soon as he struck the water.

Watchman Girardin fished Gough out of the water. He cried for joy at being saved. He was despondent as a result of habits he feared he could not overcome.

Cholera at Manila.
Washington, July 6.—The War Department was advised yesterday of the virulent outbreak of cholera in Manila.

For the week ending July 4, there were 116 cases and 99 deaths. For the 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock in the morning of July 6, there were 12 cases and 6 deaths in the provinces. During the same period in Manila there were 29 cases and 23 deaths.

Killed While Asleep at Crossing.
Windsor, July 6.—Celestine Soulier was ground to pieces under a Canadian Pacific train a few miles from here on Tuesday night. He drove home from the city, and must have been asleep as he approached the crossing. The train struck the end of his rig, throwing him under the train. He was 38 years of age and leaves a widow and a daughter.

Notice the number of "infloosh-shul" citizens who are attending the beet sugar meetings!

The Government will surely not take the Normal school past this bright, up-to-date, city to drop it in a dead town like Sarnia.

However, it's a blessing that Hicks' hurricanes don't put in an appearance every time they are billed to.

SURPRISE
A PURE HARD SOAP

BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

Father of Plaintiff Used to Sit Up Until 2 a. m. While Clerical Suitor Wooed His Daughter.

The Rev. Joseph Jennings Smyth, the incumbent of St. Donard's, Belfast, occupied the unenviable position of defendant in a breach of promise action, which was partly heard by Lord Chief Baron Palfrey at Belfast recently.

The plaintiff was Miss May Robinson, who has not yet reached the age of twenty-one, and who lives with her parents at Dunmurry, a picturesque suburb of Belfast, on the Lagan. She estimates that it will take £1,000 to console her for the loss of the incumbent.

It is not often that the public has an opportunity of criticizing the methods of love-making employed by the benighted clergy, but Sergeant Dodd, K. C., who tore aside the veil on behalf of Miss Robinson, made it plain that their methods do not differ widely from those of other men.

The romance—"as pretty a little love-story as I have ever come across, either in actual fact or in a story book"—was Sergeant Dodd's description of it—had its inception when the Rev. Joseph was a mere curate in the parish of Derrynally, four miles from Miss Robinson's home.

He posed as her suitor, the sergeant said, and practically became the son of the family.

Proud of His Feet.

He was passionately fond of her, though at the time the passion was more on his side than hers. She was a little bit shy, and he more than a little ardent. He caressed her, and insisted on his right to kiss her, to put his arm round her, to pull her on his knee, as he eventually came to do in her mother's presence.

He never took off his boots when he came to the house, and used Miss Robinson's. "Perhaps he was proud of his feet," suggested Sergeant Dodd, and the court gave itself up to uncontrollable laughter.

Miss Robinson's heart went out to him, and more to the curate, until at last he had her affections in his grasp.

Mr. Smyth went to Cork in 1903, and wrote a series of letters, which were unparaphrased, said counsel, for they were absolutely free from demonstrations of affection and those affusions which sometimes amused the gallery. And this in spite of the fact that Miss Robinson had written: "If my love Mr. Smyth were here, I would not have left the house, and always signed her letters with 'love'."

Papa's Philosophy.

The classical lover became cool at times. On one of these occasions, Miss Robinson became ill. Mrs. Robinson was annoyed, but Mr. Robinson took the matter philosophically, and said: "If they fall out, they can fall back on me."

After he obtained a living Mr. Smyth went to the house and explained that although he loved Miss Robinson he could not marry her, as the clergy told him her position was not good enough.

Then he put her arms round his neck and took her on his knee. "I thought my daughter was sitting on the knee of an honorable gentleman," was Mrs. Robinson's indignant remark.

Sounds Like Busfuss.

Many of the little rifts within the lute appeared when Mrs. Robinson was ill. "I don't like you," she said to her husband.

Once she was in that position and toying with his ring. She took it off, with the gentle words, "I will keep it now, Joe, till you get me my engagement ring." He had to go away while she was in that mood, and he did not repeat it until he had written a very cross letter.

It was followed by one dated Jan. 6, 1904, in which were the ominous words: "There never was any engagement between us."

What asked Sergeant Dodd, was he there at all, kissing the girl, accepting the father's hospitality, and keeping him up until two in the morning if there was no engagement?

He had said that in his professional position he was on friendly terms with the family. Was it part of his professional duty to kiss the youngest girl and take her on his knee? Was that the way he interpreted his mission on the earth to preach the gospel?

After evidence had been heard the case was adjourned.

A Whistler One.

Of Whistler, the famous painter, an artist said: "Mr. Whistler had been poor himself, and he saw nothing shameful or dishonorable in poverty. If you were poor he would mock without pity your destitution."

"I knew and admired Whistler in the early days of my career in Paris. He was luxurious. I lived in a garret. Though he liked me none the less for that, he did not permit any false delicacy to keep him from joking me about my poorhouse ways."

"One day, in a very shabby suit, I was strolling on the Boulevard des Capucines when some one hailed me from the rear. I turned and saw Whistler hastening toward me in his tall hat and his lemon-colored gloves, waving his long black cane."

"Ah," said I, rather flattered, "so you recognized me from behind, did you, master?"

"Yes," said Mr. Whistler, laughing maliciously, "I spied you through a hole in your coat."

ARGONAUTS OUT OF IT.

Beaten By Trinity Hall For Grand Challenge Cup By Half a Length.

Henley-on-the-Thames, July 5.—(C. A. P.)—Trinity Hall beat Argos half a length in the time of 7.09. From the start to the finish it was a magnificent race, nip-and-tuck to the end. The Argos was seen from the referee's launch seemed to have a slight lead at the top of Temple Island. The time for the half-course was 3.25. Both crews steered a fine course. It was by far the most exciting race at the regatta.

Wright at the start rowed 41, and never got lower than 38, but stroke side was too strong. Wright has no excuses whatever, for the defeat; he declares himself perfectly satisfied with his work. He will row no more. Yesterday's race, he says, is his last. As showing the Argos were able to stay the course, at the last 200 yards they caught up nearly level with Trinity Hall. The most disappointed man at Henley is Wright. He feels the crew's defeat most keenly. Wright, no doubt, was the strongest man on the crew.

Weather conditions during the race were excellent. Some lookers-on claim that the half-length given officially should have been one-third. O'Brien expressed the opinion that had there been 50 yards more the Argos would have won.

This put the Argonauts finally out of the contest for the Grand Challenge Cup.

Belgians beat Third Trinity easily by two lengths in the time of 7.03. The Belgians and Trinity Hall will thus contest in the final for the Grand Challenge Cup to-day.

The London papers this morning all speak in praise of the Argos and regret their defeat.

SUCCESSFUL HORSEMAN.

Never allows his horse to suffer pain. He always uses Nerviline, which is noted for curing stiffness, rheumatism, swellings, and strains. Nerviline is just as good inside as outside. For cramps, colic, and internal pain it's a perfect marvel. In the good racing stable Nerviline is always used, because it makes better horses and smaller veterinary bills. Twenty-five cents buys a large bottle, of Nerviline, try it.

Charged With Arson.

Whitby, July 5.—Charged with having set fire to a building in order to conceal speculations from lodge funds, Fred Law of Pickering is under arrest here. He will be brought before a magistrate this afternoon. The endeavor of the prisoner's wife to prevent a catastrophe led to the arrest.

Candidates For Prince Edward.

Montreal, July 5.—At the Liberal convention at Charlottetown, P. E. I., for Queen's County, A. B. Warburton, the last election, and candidate at the last election, and Hon. George Simpson, were chosen as federal candidates.

22,000,000 Appeal Dismissed.

London, July 5.—(C. A. P.)—By the Privy Council yesterday the Whitney v. Joyce appeal was dismissed with costs. This was an appeal from John Joyce's £200,000, being par value of the stock of the Shawinigan Water and Power Co. The action is based on an alleged verbal agreement of partnership entered into in the year 1899. The respondent denied such an agreement.

THIS MEDICINE IS BREATHED.

That's why it is sure to cure catarrh. You see it goes direct to the source of the disease—its healing vapor repairs the damage caused by catarrhal inflammation. "Catarrh" always cures because it goes into those tiny cells and passages that ordinary remedies can't reach, goes where the disease actually is. Impossible for Catarrh to fail as any doctor will tell you. Don't be misled into thinking there is anything as good as Catarrh—use it and you'll soon say good-bye to catarrh.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

HARD TO REALIZE ON.

We dream of a time when our ship shall arrive
With spices and such in the hold;
We dream of a mansion, we dream of a farm.
We dream of a barrel of gold.
One dream fades away, but another comes on.
And always of rooster hue,
But we would, I venture, fall dead with surprise
If one in a thousand came true.

We dream of the time when the people shall call
In tones that we cannot but hear
And say, "Here's an office; just take it, although It's only five thousand a year."
Of castles in Spain or the isles of the sea
Or some other place far away,
But none of our dreaming comes round to make good.
Though we work at it eight hours a day.

We dream of a maiden with wonderful eyes.
When asked for the asking he had;
Or if we're a lady we dream of a prince
With a noble and wealthy old dad.
We dream of a house with a spacious front yard
On Easy or some other street.
And sometimes we venture to dream of a dream
That places results at our feet.

We dream of a time we shall rest on our oars.
Sit down and look work in the eye
And say to it: "You are no longer for us.
Begone, take your knitting and fly."
We dream in our playing, we dream at our work.
At mealtimes we set in a few.
But we would, I'm certain, fall dead with surprise
If one in a million came true.

What It Was Good For.

"This," said the guide impressively as he waved his hand in the direction of the battlements, "is historic ground."
"Which is mighty lucky," observed the practical and unromantic old farmer, "as it looks as though they couldn't raise anything on it but monuments."

Strictly Platonic.
"I knew a woman who fell in love with a man twenty years younger than herself."

"How very foolish!"
"But it seemed a natural thing for her to do."

"Seems unnatural to me."
"But you must remember she was only twenty-two years old and didn't know any better."

Unusual.
"His family was starving, and he stole a loaf of bread."

"I suppose they sentenced him for life."
"No; the jury said it was grand larceny and let him off."

They Happen Around.
A chance you bet, they never miss. These busy little brothers. Observe that they are others.

Not In Sight.
"I heard you were trying to grow a mustache."

"Well, it is a barefaced lie."

On the Way.
"Has he ever been in jail?"
"Not yet. He has only got as far as the city council."

Trouble For Nothing.
"He was born in a log cabin and went barefoot until he was seventeen."

"And he isn't president of the United States?"
"No."
"Say, what's the use?"

PENSION VESTED RIGHT

Sir Adolphe Caron Protests Against Repeal of 1905 Act.

For Himself and Other Privy Counsellors He Claims It Would Be a Breach of Faith—Senate Is Being Lobbied to Defeat Measure, and It Is Believed Movement Has the Secret Support of the Government.

Montreal, July 5.—There was a despatch in The Star last night from Ottawa, covering three columns, giving the text of a protest addressed to the Governor-in-council at Ottawa from Sir Adolphe Caron in his own behalf, and of his co-pensioners, against the repeal of the pension to privy counsellors. Hon. Mr. Tarte of La Patrie has been at Ottawa all week lobbying in the same direction.

They claim that they have a vested right, and that it would be a breach of faith for Parliament to repeal a pension once given.

A gentleman who came here last night from the capital says that there is a decided effort being made to induce the Senate to throw out the bill repealing the pensions, and that this movement may even have the secret support of the Government, notwithstanding that they and their supporters in the Commons will carry the act of repeal in the popular chamber with a rush.

The Senate is being lobbied now to do this.

FOURTEEN PASS MILLIONS.

Other 200 Representatives of the People Supposed to Be Satisfied—To Deplete Welland Canal.

Ottawa, July 5.—When the orders of the day were called in the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Fisher answered a question put by Mr. Lake Tuesday regarding H. J. Moberley, said to be a census enumerator for a certain district in Saskatchewan, who was alleged to be a man who had been fined $100 for election irregularities. Mr. Fisher said there was no such person as Moberley in that district. The work was being done by two men, Alex. Macbeth and James Flett.

Supply Items Passed.
The House went into Committee of Supply, taking up harbors and rivers items in the Public Works Department. Items amounting to $73,750 for Prince Edward Island, $24,600 for New Brunswick, $22,500 for the Maritime Provinces generally, were passed, with little discussion.

An item of $750 to complete the Disraeli Wharf revived this familiar scandal. The so-called "wharf" is nothing more or less than a municipal bridge. The town is midway between Lake Ayler and Black Creek which are connected by a long, marshy depression, used as a cow pasture, and sometimes as a meadow in summer, but overgrown in the spring. There was an amusing colloquy between Mr. Moberley (Dorchester) and Mr. Tobin (Richmond and Wolfe).

W. F. Maclean (South York) suggested that it would be economical to present this bridge by deed of gift to the municipality. As it was, the Government would be called upon to keep the so-called "wharf" in repair. He would not be at all surprised to see a wharfinger appointed.

The committee passed bills respecting the Mississippi & Keewatin Railway Co. and incorporating the Temagami, Cobalt & Temiskaming Railway Co. Would Deplete Welland Canal.

During the hour for private bills, a bill, which had passed the Senate, and had been reported by the committee, and sought to incorporate the Grand River and Western Power Co. was discussed.

Its real purpose and effect was pointed out by W. F. Maclean (South York). The Grand River was to be the scheme of a source of supply, but the scheme was to divert the water from Lake Erie. One direct result would be to deplete the Welland Canal.

Mr. Hyman stated the Government would oppose the bill. The International Waterways Commission had recommended their respective Governments to grant no further franchises for water powers, and there has been an order in council adopting this policy. Indirectly, this scheme would affect the waters of Lake Erie and might deplete a feeder of the Welland Canal.

R. L. Borden asked to see the order in council. There were some curious rumors afloat respecting the opposition from some members of the Government. It was said that they were interested in a rival company.

Mr. Hyman did not produce the order in council, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, upon being appealed to, could not recall the order.

Mr. Emmerson said he cared nothing about the order in council, but he opposed the bill as threatening navigation on the Welland Canal. The public works of the Government in that part of the country were imperilled.

The bill was still being discussed when the hour for private bills expired.

Fourteen Pass Millions.
Among other matters discussed in supply last night were the dredging of Toronto harbor, by Claude Macdonell, the collapse of the wharf at Sorel by Mr. Kemp, and the resignation of Mr. Taylor, the supervising architect of the Laurier tower, by R. L. Borden.

Substantially all the estimates presented by Mr. Hyman, involving as they did, many millions of dollars, were passed after 11 p. m. by about 14 members, the remaining 200 representatives of the people are supposed to be entirely satisfied.

G. T. P. Bill Passed.
Ottawa, July 5.—In the Senate last night the committee yesterday the Grand Trunk Pacific Branch Lines Co.'s charter was passed without amendment.

B. C. Railway Bill Beaten.
Ottawa, July 5.—The bill to incorporate the Pacific & Eastern Railway Co. from Victoria, B. C., to Edmonton, was defeated by 27 to 42. The incorporators were Sir Henry Pellatt, B. F. Pearson, Halifax; Hugh Blair, Toronto; E. Tasse, J. F. Bethune, Ottawa.

Scientific Slaughter Houses.

Paris, with her genius for organization, probably leads the world in her scientifically conducted slaughter houses. Almost perfect precautions for public safety are taken by means of the rigorous inspection of the meat by the police. There are two immense municipal abattoirs, and the charge for slaughtering, known as the "slaughter house tax," is 2 francs per hundred kilograms, or about $4.22 per ton, which the city sets aside to defray the cost of maintaining and repairing the abattoirs. In round numbers the city receives $760,000 a year.—Public Opinion.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up the hill? If he did, his sensible horses would probably balk. Many a man in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him. What his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition impaired in their functions, a friction set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of his duties. A foul stomach makes a foggy brain, and then man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's business as a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem presented to his mind "wrong end to." This condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system to a condition of perfect health, and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties. When constipation clogs the bowels of the body, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will work an effective cure of that disastrous effect.

"It Is to Laugh"

By M. J. Phillips

Copyright, 1905, by Beatrice Reade

Bob Wentworth tucked his sister and himself snugly into their cutter and started old Dobbin on a brisk trot, for there were three miles of crisp white road to be covered, and it was almost chore time. When they were fairly under way Wentworth turned to his pretty sister, christened Elsie, but known as Toots to all her many friends, and said, "I hear you're going to get married, Toots."

Miss Wentworth's very becoming dress was no doubt due to the weather, for the thermometer hovered about 80. At any rate, she answered very complacently: "Oh, indeed! And who told you, Mr. Smarty?"

"A little bird, Elsie from Chelsea; a little bird," he bent a waggish glance upon her. "I say, which one is it going to be?"

"Ask your little bird," she retorted. Bob tried a new tack. "Well, Harry Crossman is a nice fellow."

"Indeed he is," replied his sister. "Good looking."

"Better looking than Luke Cotter, I think."

"Do you?"

"And more money too."

"Romantic disposition too," Bob was warning to his theme. "Any fellow who will go west and be a cowboy for a year must have some romance about him. Now, I don't believe that Luke Cotter has even been out of the county."

HE BORE DOWN ON COTTER AND THE STEER.

"He was in Chicago last summer."

"With a load of stock. He stayed all of twenty-four hours. Seriously, Toots, I approve of your choice. Cotter's all right, but all he's got is a forty acre farm, and that's mortgaged."

He seemed almost dissatisfied with his sister's nod of assent. After a moment's silence he burst out boyishly: "Oh, I say, Toots, be a good fellow! Which one is it, and when is it going to be? 'Fess up now."

Toots reflectively smoothed her muff; then she said cautiously, "Do you promise not to tease me?"

"Crisp my heart."

The girl looked down pensively. "They've both asked me."

"God."

"And—and they're both coming to-morrow for their answers."

"Hurrah!"

"You're not to tease now."

"I won't, honest."

"Well, I haven't really decided which it is to be."

Bob chuckled gleefully. "What a beautiful situation! Toots, you're a winner. I've always said it. Peck's Bad Boy wasn't in it with you for getting into trouble. When are you going to decide, for heaven's sake?"

"I don't know."

Miss Wentworth essayed to say more, but her courage failed her. Bob slipped Dobbin with the reins, interrupting a long drawn whistle to grin expansively.

"Bob!"

He raised his hand. "Oh, I know what you're going to say, and my advice is, don't say it. You want me to help you choose, and I won't. I know you, Toots. If I picked one, you'd marry the other, and if he beat you up you'd blame me. No, my dear, a man should select his own neckties and a woman her own husband."

"I think you're just as mean as you can be," pouted Toots.

"The lady or the tiger," apostrophized Bob, waving a long arm at the horizon.

"The gallant cowboy or old Stick-in-the-mud; the heir to well-to-do, thousands and the poor but honest youth; the—hello, what's this?"

A sharp turn in the road had brought them to a most interesting tableau. A team of horses, attached to a sleigh, stood facing them. Behind the sleigh a man in a fat coat hung stubbornly to a long rope. At the other end of the rope an angry steer was plunging and bellowing. Evidently the animal had been tied insecurely to the sleigh, had worked the knot loose and had been about to make a dash for liberty. At this moment the driver had discovered the status of things and taken a hand. The steer swung abruptly to the left.

The man in the fat coat was swept off his feet by the move and sprawled full length on the snow. The steer charged the rail fence by the roadside, scattered the rails as if they were so many matches and galloped into the smooth meadow lot beyond. The man still dangled at the end of the rope. As the animal began moving in a wide circle through the field he attempted repeatedly to rise, but his heavy coat and the plunging of the steer hampered him.

Bob leaped out of the cutter. "Luke Cotter," he remarked. "His arm's tangled in the rope so he can't get up. The beast can't hurt him, but that dragging will play the mischief with his coat."

There was a rapid thudding of hoofs down the road from behind, and a horseman, a handsome fellow, with dark hair, dashed by, with a smile and a nod. He swung his horse through the gap in the fence and bore down on Cotter and the steer. Bob climbed back into the cutter and grinned. "Harry Crossman!" He settled himself to enjoy the denouement. "The plot thickens!" His sister sat silent and breathless.

Within half a minute the big bay was running easily in the rear of the prostrate Cotter. Crossman shrewdly anticipated the steer's next turn, grasped the rope midway and set his horse back upon its haunches. Checked in its career, the steer rolled over in the snow.

Cotter scrambled to his feet, freed his arm and secured a firm foothold. Then he and the steer fought it out. In vain the animal threw his weight against the rope; he was conquered, and, accepting philosophically the fortunes of war, he suffered himself to be led back to the sleigh. This time he was tied beyond the possibility of escape.

Beyond a brief word of thanks to his rescuer in the field Cotter had preserved the most profound silence. Crossman rode up to the Wentworth cutter. His black mustache curled back, disclosing pearly lips, like those of a spoiled child, but he smiled modestly at the compliments for his clever action that Bob showered upon him.

When Cotter had finished tying the steer he walked over to the cutter. He surveyed his coat, hore and there snow bare from contact with ice and snow and fence rails, in silence; he turned to the field and the circle, marked by bits of fur, around which he had so recently swung. The twinkle in his eye as he caught Miss Wentworth's eye was irresistible. In a moment the whole party was shaken by a gale of merriment, Cotter's care-free laughter ringing above all the rest.

"I've decided, Bob," said Toots when they had driven on.

"I thought that would catch you," remarked her brother gloomily. "He rides like a fender."

"But it isn't he, it's Luke. I guess it's always been Luke. Imagine Harry Crossman laughing after being dragged all over a tea acre lot by a wretched steer! He'd cry with mortification."

And it's better to go through life with a man who will laugh instead of cry, isn't it?"

"You may kiss me, Toots," replied her brother impressively. "I thought I possessed all the brains of this generation; I'm glad I'm wrong. Old Luke was my choice from the start."

Catherine Built the Palace.

The Petrovsky palace is a charming monument to the more picturesque side of Catherine the Great's character. It was her villa without the walls of Moscow, where she could live at her ease surrounded by her intimates, the Apraxins, the Volkonskys, the Golitsins, the Razumovs. She would have no soldiers to guard her. She preferred to rest under the protection of her own people, and the people came crowding about the palace, saying: "Make no noise! Do not disturb our little mother!" She loved the fields and woods of Petrovsky, as well she might. It was in this neighborhood that she herself awaited the approach of her coronation, staying in Count Razumov's wonderful villa, which she astonished Lord Herbert and William Cook in 1778. She had the palace built to commemorate the Russian victories over the Turks and entrusted the task to a native architect who knew how to adapt Gothic lines to Russian taste and to combine splendor with comfort. The red walls, with their white stone facings and round towers, seen among the trees, give a delightful impression of elegant seclusion. Since Catherine's day all the emperors of Russia have awaited the day of the triumphal entry in the Petrovsky palace.—London Standard.

Financial Distinction.

"There goes a man who was once a great bull operator in this town," said a broker as an elderly, listless gentleman passed through the lobby of a hotel.

"How long ago?" asked his companion.

"Oh, a good many years. He failed three times and his financial career illustrates a curious trait in human nature."

"After his first suspension the creditors got together for a conference with him. When it was found that his liabilities ran near the million mark they eagerly helped him resume, for the sake of preserving general business confidence," they said.

"Some years later he went under again. There was another conference of creditors. The liabilities were smaller this time, but ran into the hundreds of thousands. 'We mustn't impede an able financier,' they decided, and he was helped to become solvent once more."

"But after his third failure the liabilities ran up to almost nothing at all—for Wall Street—justly $25,000. His creditors met and decided that the age showed too strong a tendency toward reckless speculation. So they drove him into bankruptcy."—New York Press.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

Mrs. M. B. Lefebvre.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvelous results among sick and ailing women.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs, with bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. Soon after I began using it I felt a change for the better, and at the time of my next period I noticed a great difference. The pains gradually diminished, until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and I am great rejoicing in the house over the wonders your medicine worked."

M. A. C. Lefebvre, 732 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful periods, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, pelvic catarrh, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, lachrymose or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, or some derangement of the organs. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FIRED AT QUEEN'S COLLEGE.

Medical Building Damaged to the Extent of $75,000.

Kingston, July 5.—Fire yesterday morning gutted Queen's medical building on the university grounds. It is supposed to have caught from a gas jet burning in an oven where paraffin moulds are made.

By 8 a. m. the flames were under control, but the whole interior of the three-story building is damaged. The building and contents were valued at $75,000; insurance $23,000.

The valuable instruments and laboratories are all destroyed, including the bacteriological and public health departments, subsidised by the Ontario Government. The dissecting rooms and material in the basement is all right, save for wreckage.

The building in early days was the original arts building on the campus.

LIFE ON EASY STREET.

It is an Ideal Place and Worth Striving For.

There are more strong limbed, clear headed, brave hearted people living on Easy street than anywhere else in this broad land, and their prime condition is the natural consequence of living there, for, although you may not have thought of it, there is a close relationship existing between good health and the consciousness of getting on well in life.

You can see this for yourself if you will note how a strong man droops, like a frost nipped flower, who by some mistake loses his position, his possessions or the esteem of his fellows, one or all. Shylock made a hard bargain with a borrower, and in his effort to foreclose the bond lost his cash and won the contempt and scorn of all men.

Mental disturbance followed, including physical ill being, and staggering away from the judge's bench and clutching at the air, he cried, "I am not well!" But you need not go back so far to get an illustration.

And on the other hand you can see by observing for yourself how the gain, or even the anticipated gain, of a home on Easy street will make a sick man well, quicken a drooping man into life and change the water of sorrow into the wine of joy.

Recent literature has reminded us how a happy turn in the tide of the affairs of Josiah Wedgwood, afterward to become the world's great pioneer pottery artist and inventor, raised him from an invalid's couch and started him upon the road to affluence and distinction among England's industrial princes. Similarly Mary Wollstonecraft, afterward the mother of the poet Shelley's wife, ill from neglect and discouraged by hardships, was, by the success of her modest ventures in literature, heartened to undertake her great life work, which soon yielded her a handsome royalty.

Read the story of Angelina, who lives on East street and has no desire to move and lose her clear headedness and her health. She was engaged to be married to Allan. He was a clerk receiving $12 per week, and she earned $85 a month teaching school. After a few years Angelina explained her connexions with the family by saying that she had given Allan time to develop into a larger money getter, and he had not done it, so she decided against the advisability of exchanging her $85 a month position for a $50 a month husband. It is quite true that when poverty comes in at the door love flies out of the window, but it is not because the Angelinas are without sentiment. It is because love cannot feed on incompetency and thrives best on Easy street.

So the importance of everything that will aid any one to get on in the world is the testimony of facts. We do not expect all mere money getting, but those qualities of head and heart which make life worth living, but rather emphasize the honorable getting of it as a conservator of them. And hence the wisdom of living on Easy street.

The Orchid Family.

There seems to be a general misconception as to just what an orchid is. Many call any plant which grows on a tree or has some peculiar feature an orchid. This mistake is frequently made with the pitcher plants and the "tail flowers." The uniting in one organ, called the column, of the stamens and pistil serves to distinguish the orchid family from all related ones.

The orchid family embraces 6,000 or 7,000 species, of which comparatively few are found in the warm temperate and almost none in the cold temperate zones. They are mostly distributed in the tropical regions, in hot, humid places. Orchids, however, do not invariably prefer humid conditions. Nearly all tropical orchids grow on trees, but in temperate regions they grow in earth.—Youth's Companion.

"Good morning, mammy," greeted the tourist.

"Maw'nin', sah," responded mammy. "Where's your son Sam?"

"Gone, sah; I dunno when."

"Well, he always was a bad boy, mammy."

"Dead he was, sah. He was dead lak det ole black an' lo' in de thunderstorm. He was bad to raise, powerful bad to raise, an' afteh Ah did raise him he jes' jumped away from me, an' Ah ain't seen him since."

Arithmetic.

"Yes," said the old mathematician with a grin in his eyes. "I've always looked at it that way. Marriage is a multiplication, when the dissensions become too numerous to multiply, then the husband divides his division and when the final parting comes it's subtraction."

"And how about divorce?" asked the listener.

"Oh, I guess that would come under the denomination of fractions."

A Rare Article Indeed.

A little girl not long ago displayed a bit of feather-black as it happened to a caller at the house. This man looked impressed and inquired gravely, "What is that Nelly, an angel's wing?" The child slowly shook her head. "Oh, no," she answered at once. "Angels' feathers are white, and I think they are very scarce."

ASSUMING A VIRTUE.

What Can Be Done by Right Thinking and Self Control.

Zopyrus, the physiognomist, said, "Socrates' features showed that he was stupid, brutal, sensual and addicted to drunkenness." Socrates upheld the analysis by saying, "By nature I am addicted to all these sins, and they were only restrained and vanquished by the continual practice of virtue."

Emerson says in effect, "The virtue you would like to have, assume it as al-ready yours, appropriate it, enter into it, and live the character just as the great actor is absorbed in the character of the part he plays." No matter how great your weakness or how much you may regret it, assume steadily and persistently its opposite until you acquire the habit of holding that thought or of living the thing not in its weakness, but in its wholeness, in its entirety. Hold the ideal of an efficient faculty or quality, not of a married or deficient one. The way to reach or to attain to anything is to bend oneself toward it with all one's might, and we approximate it just in proportion to the intensity and the persistency of our effort to attain it.

If you are inclined to be very excitable and nervous, if you "fly off the handle" over the least annoyance, do not waste your time regretting this weakness and telling everybody that you cannot help it. Just assume the calm, deliberate, quiet, balanced composure which characterizes your ideal person in that respect. Persuade yourself that you are not nervous or excitable, that you can control yourself, that you are well balanced, that you do not fly off on a tangent at every little annoyance. You will be amazed to see how the perpetual holding of the serene, calm, quiet attitude will help you to become like your thought.—Success.

Cheap Globe Trotting.

What can be done in the way of globe trotting nowadays by men of limited time and means is really astonishing. Ulysses Junior informs us that he is a clerk in the city on a salary of $120 and with a fortnight's holiday in the year, and yet he has, though still in the twenties, explored almost the whole of Europe. "Every year," he says, "I make a point of seeing a new country. So far I have visited every country in Europe, from Norway to Italy and from Russia to Portugal, with the solitary exception of Turkey, and this I mean to do this year. I have foot, on bicycle and by train I have traveled over 8,000 miles on the continent. I have seen almost all the more interesting sights, and yet my average holiday expenditure does not exceed $15. or, roughly, $1 a day."—Tit-Bits.

Medicine For Trees.

Often the roots of fruit trees, more exhausted than the parts in the air, refuse to supply the branches with their proper nourishment. To cure or prolong life of trees possessing still a certain vigor a French investigator has injected solutions of sulphate of iron and other chemicals into their trunks. The liquid penetrates into the cells of the trees, but not into the old wood. It follows the young layers, descending into the roots and rising to the top of a quarter foot and rising to the top of the tree with a uniform distribution. Good results are said to have been attained.

THE WATER COMS.

The Water Commissioners met in the Clerk's office in Harrison Hall last evening to transact monthly business. There were present Chairman Sheldon, Dr. Cornell, Secretary Weir and Superintendent Jones.

The following accounts were ordered paid: Planet, $17.50, 75c; Park Bros., 40c, $21.46, $12.50; J. F. Hardy Co., 82c; Doherty Manufacturing Co., $17.99, $35; Lake Erie Coal Co., $70.14.

A communication was received from the Grand Trunk Railway Co. asking what changes were contemplated in their contract with the city for water. The G. T. R. it seems, by reason of the former contract, have been getting a little the best of the city in their water rates. Secretary Weir will write them regarding the new contract.

LOCAL OPTION WAS QUASHED

But Owen Sound will Stay Dry Pending an Appeal

MANY IRREGULARITIES

Toronto, July 6.—Judgment was yesterday morning given by Mr. Justice Maheé quashing the local option by-law in Owen Sound. A vote was taken on the question and resulted in a poll of 1,238 for and 762 against local option. The result was disputed by a ratepayer, who moved to have the by-law quashed.

Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., appearing on behalf of W. H. Sinclair, a contractor of Owen Sound, charged that women had lobbied and been influential in securing the vote. He also specified other irregularities.

His Lordship in giving judgment finds that the courts do not interfere with the preponderating will of the electors except for the clearest and plainest of reasons.

No Authority For This Notice. It was argued that the by-law was not duly approved, because the ratepayers in the different wards were not allowed to vote where their names appeared on the lists. The decision quotes in full the printed proclamation issued by the Town Clerk to the effect that voters must poll in the subdivisions in which they resided and there only, and calling attention to the statutory penalty for voting more than once.

There is no authority in the act for giving a notice of this sort, says his Lordship, "and the Town Clerk was a friend of the by-law."

The act is quoted to show the ratepayers are entitled to vote in each ward where they are qualified, and although the Town Clerk claimed that wards had been abolished in Owen Sound by by-law in 1898, the by-law did not have this effect.

316 Good Votes Thrown Out. As ratepayers were entitled to vote in each ward where they were qualified, Mr. Justice Maheé finds that 316 votes against the measure were thrown out which should have been counted, and it was shown that in addition 100 people voted who had no right to vote. This favored the by-law, and this reduces the majority to 40 votes. It was also found that there was nothing to show that the 573 votes to which 287 persons in one ward were entitled to in all wards were cast, and if so this effectively sets aside the by-law. On the other hand, if 287 were assumed to have voted, the majority of 476 is reduced to 160, and the 100 illegal votes reduces it to 60.

"It appears that some at least who had no votes not only voted, but were very energetic supporting the law. Practically a threat of prosecution was held over the heads of the voters," says the judgment.

"The very greatest confusion was likely to arise from the similarity in size and color in the local option and the Keenan by-law. In his Lordship's opinion, and error actually did occur, a clerkman and a banker voting in mistake."

"The applicant complains of many irregularities connected with the vote, and certainly very many existed."

On the 28th of June, 1906, the clerk, Charles Gordon, entirely omitted to supply with the provisions of sec. 153 and 154, but furnished each deputy with a large printed volume, entitled "voters' lists of the town of Owen Sound," declaring it to be the revised list.

"Many irregularities were attributed to the carelessness of deputy returning officers."

"In one case James Buchanan, deputy returning officer in No. 10, and Joseph Meburn, poll clerk. The deputy certified that all proper entries had been made in the poll book. There were 287 votes recorded at the poll, yet the poll book does not show that a single voter voted on either of the by-laws."

"Very many glaring omissions and irregularities," observes his Lordship, "appear in connection with proceedings upon the vote, leading to a reasonable conclusion that the election officials were selected without regard to fitness. I think the by-law must be quashed, with costs to be paid by the town corporation to the applicant."

There will be a trial of strength between the two camps.

Mayor Joyce, Owen Sound, wired the license department yesterday that the local option by-law had been quashed and requested that no licenses be issued in the town pending the result of an appeal against the decision. The department telegraphed the chairman of the commissioners of North Grey saying that no licenses are to be issued until the appeal is disposed of.

QUESTION OF LAW

London May Experience Some Difficulty in Keeping Electrical Company From The Maple City

London, Ont., July 5.—A meeting of the Manufacturers' committee has been called for Friday afternoon. Mr. E. J. Sifton, manager of the London Electrical Construction Company, which has an offer to go to Chatham, will be asked to attend and state what terms the company desires to make with this city to remain here. There is a strong possibility that the city will make the case of the Electrical Construction Company a test one as regards the power of municipalities to attempt to bribe industries to leave other municipalities.

The matter above referred to was discussed at the Industrial meeting held in Harrison Hall last evening, and there is just some doubt as to what powers London has to act in the matter.

The International Electric Co. have made arrangements to come here, and the city holds a signed agreement from the directors, to which Mr. Stephenson's name is attached. This agreement binds the company to come here provided their by-law is passed.

IT'S A BUGABOO. Aid. Chas. Austin, chairman of the Industrial committee, in an interview this morning, said with regard to the claim made by London, that Chatham is endeavoring to lure away one of their industries:

"There is no authority in any communications or negotiations with the Electrical Construction Co. of London. We have been dealing entirely with the International Electric Co., and I had a conversation over the phone with one of their prominent officials yesterday, and he assured me that they had no intention of considering any proposition from London or anywhere else. They signed the agreement with us in good faith and intend to await the results on July 20."

"If the directors of Chatham indicate by their votes that they want the industry, the directors guarantee that they will locate here."

SHOULD BE REMOVED

After the storm of some weeks ago, the trees along Wellington street, west were trimmed of broken branches, and the brush was deposited in heaps along the boulevards and the pavements.

These old limbs have been left where they were piled, and they have become ugly eye-sores along one of the prettiest residential thoroughfares in Chatham. They not only mar the appearance of the boulevard by killing the grass beneath them, and the piles on the pavement are an aggravating obstruction to traffic.

A ROWDY FOURTH

Number Killed 28; Wounded 2,789
Damage by Fire $66,450.

Chicago, July 6.—The Tribune yesterday publishes its ninth annual summary of the deaths and injuries caused throughout the United States by Wednesday's celebration of the declaration of independence. The figures up to an early hour yesterday were as follows:

Dead—35; by fireworks 3, by cannon 1, by firearms 11, by explosives 7, by toy pistols 4, by runaway 1, by drowning 5.

Injured—2,789; by fireworks 1,099, by cannon 261, by firearms 393, by explosives 497, by toy pistols 304, by runaways 35.

Fire loss, $66,450.

Last year 42 persons were killed outright, but when lockjaw and other diseases induced by injuries completed their work over 400 lives had been sacrificed.

The number of injured, 2,789, is in excess of last year's figures by 358.

NOW UP FOR BIGAMY.

Young Woman Acquitted of Man-Killing Arrested Again.

Montreal, July 6.—Miss Tracy, nee Eva Beard, who was acquitted Wednesday evening at Sweetsburg by the coroner's jury of the charge of murdering Howard, is once more under arrest. At the inquest Eva Beard, the admitted player of Howard, gave her age as 24. She was alone in her home with her two children when Howard came in, she said, and he asked where her husband was. She told him Ed was in the guest washing the wagon. Howard looked through the window and said "Ed is coming." She went to the window to look out, when Howard grabbed her.

When Howard rushed at her with open arms, she grabbed the first thing to hand, which was the gun. She told him that unless he got out she would tell Ed, and when he came towards her again she leveled the gun and fired. When he fell she ran to Mrs. Gleason's.

She declared she had married Ed. Tracy at Richmond, Vt., five years ago, but knew that he had another wife living. She has a marriage certificate. She knew the deceased, and declared that he had previously tried to assault Nancy Whitehead, Emma Beard and Floyd Todd.

A SANITARY INSTITUTION

The Kent Canning Factory Is now in the Midst of a Busy Season

THE PROCESS EXPLAINED

There is an axiom that cleanliness is next to Godliness, and in nothing else is the truth of the saying more apparent than in the preparation of food. Modern living conditions have made the canned eatable, which not very long ago was looked upon as a novelty, an indispensable household necessity and now, it is safe to say, a very large percentage of the world's everyday food is contained in the brightly-labelled tins that daily emanate in such large quantities from the canning factories.

At the same time, although the canned article finds its way into nearly every home, there are many people who oppose its introduction on the grounds that the food is not prepared under their own supervision and is, therefore, liable to be unclean. In Canada there are several large canning factories, one of the biggest of which is situated in our own city, and it was with the intention of finding out the exact way in which operations are carried out in the local establishment that The Planet paid the Kent Canning Factory a call yesterday afternoon.

One of the first things that caught the reporter's eye upon entering the building was a notice to employees, painted in large letters on one of the walls. It read, "We are preparing food; cleanliness is absolutely necessary," and all through the factory scrupulous cleanliness told that the notice was being observed. At half a dozen tables sat over a score of women and girls busily picking the tops off strawberries and washing the fruit in basins of cold water. Enquiry elicited the fact that this was the first stage in the preparation of the fruit, which is at present being canned, and the remainder of it proceeds was followed with great interest by The Planet man.

After leaving the pickers the hands the berries are emptied into a "shaker," which automatically fills the cans, and upon leaving the shaker the latter pass into the hands of a part of girls who stand at a long table and pack in enough berries to fill the small space left empty by the shaker. The cans are then filled with a heavy syrup and are passed over the "canning" machine, where they commence a series of adventures along a revolving belt which, after they have encountered the soldering machine, finally pushes off on a table all ready for steaming.

This steel belt carries them from the wiper, which cleans off all the splashed syrup, etc., and in its passage to the soldering apparatus, the can engages an adding machine which amours the top around the opening with an acid in order to allow of the small tin caps, laid over the opening by the nimble fingers of girls, to be soldered on. In the soldering machine a dozen cans are dealt with at a time, the method employed being a marvel of ingenuity.

The cans enter the machine on the main revolving belt and when the required number are in place they are pushed under a set of circular soldering irons, which, in themselves, embody a variety of clever devices, the solder being automatically fed to them from reels, and the heat being maintained by fine gas jets. While the hot irons are securely sealing the first batch another dozen are filling into place and, as soon as they are all ready, the soldered cans are pushed out and carried away on a second belt to the examining table, while the others take their place.

Upon arrival at the examining table the cans are looked over and the perfectly soldered ones are placed in racks on a truck by which they are conveyed to the "ovens" or "steamers," in which they are cooked. This method of cooking the fruit after it is in the can is the most up-to-date one in use and has superseded the old style of filling the can with the cooked fruit and trusting to luck to preserve it.

After cooking, the cans are immersed in a long trough of water through which they are carried by a slowly-moving belt which finally delivers them to the packers, who stow them away into boxes ready for the final labelling and shipping. It must be mentioned, however, that before the cans are labelled they are left in the boxes with their ends outward to admit of inspection for at least two weeks. If there has been the slightest defect in the canning process the ends of the can bulge out during this time and these spoiled ones, known as "swells," are taken out and destroyed. By this means the factory proprietors are assured that all the goods sent out by them are in the very best of condition, no chances being left for any air to reach the inside of the cans and set up fermentation.

So far for the canning process, and as far as the visitor can judge, it could not be improved upon, but a few remarks on the general conditions under which the work is carried on are required to fulfil the purpose of this short article. The predominant feature of the whole factory is cleanliness. There are tons of clean water in use, plenty of wash-basins for the use of employees, strict supervision of their work, and an all-round and successful attempt to carry on the canning process under clean and wholesome conditions seems to be the animating spirit of
