"THE AGE OF INNOCENCE"

REALITY OF THE UNSEEN

Faith Was Subject of First College Sermon

PRESIDENT FALCONER

Preached to Large Audience in Convocation Hall Yesterday Morning

The first of the University Sermons for this year was delivered in Convocation Hall yesterday morning by President Falconer. Notwithstanding the inclement weather a large number of the students and representatives of the Faculty attended to hear the President's address.

The President took his text from Heb. 12: 2, "Jesus the Author and Perfecter of our Faith." In a brief, but comprehensive manner the speaker explained the difficulties against which the early Christians had to contend. Against the powerful prestige and continuity of the older established religions and of the all-powerful Roman Empire, these struggling zealots had but their faith alone.

"Faith is the act of our whole nature that makes the unseen real. Faith is that co-operation of will, mind, and emotion that gathers up and gives body and substance to things we cannot touch. Faith tells us there are real things and that these cannot be moved."

"In the passage containing the text the writer brings before those to whom he is writing, an honour roll of those Israelites, who by faith have wrought great things. But there is one who far surpasses these—Jesus. There is one whose faith has superseded that of his predecessors—the Captain and Prince of Faith—He is the One who wrought himself into, and realised faith, and now stands forth among you as an example—Jesus."

"What I want to bring to you is this," continued the speaker, "the fact that Jesus had faith ought to be a tremendous power enabling us also to have faith. Who Jesus was matters not in this argument. His whole life was one of perfect faith and this is one of the most reassuring things in our struggles and one of those historic incidents that helps us to realise our faith."

THE WORLD HAS CHANGED.

Reference was made to the great difference between the world at the time these words were penned and now. Then, everything was in a dying state, learning, religion, science, government and commerce. Now the scope of man's knowledge has become enlarged to such a marvellous extent that "the mind of man seems to-day to be ready to encompass nearly anything. He has renewed his vigour."

With this great progress along worldly lines runs also, however, a tendency to neglect the spiritual and unseen things. Men become fond of the superficial side and little consideration is given to those things which are unseen and which are the only true and abiding ones. "On the whole, there is to-day less meditation and pondering on these unseen things than there has been for some ages in the world."

THE SOURCE OF FAITH.

To create an atmosphere of faith we must return to the source of faith—and that is Jesus. From his life and precepts—goodness, charity, the brotherhood of man and the Fatherhood of God—the moral life of Christendom has been renewed during the centuries. "Our past is made up of heroes and Jesus is the hero of Christendom. Look at him when in distress and there renew your faith."

THE BIBLE ON A NEW BASIS.

Owing to the advance of learning, scholarship and science, it has now been made easier to gain access to the sources of faith. New methods adopted in the interpretation of the Bible have placed it upon a new basis. "It has separated the essentials and non-essentials. After difficulties, which have naturally caused some people trouble, it is now easier to return to a living fount which has, as it were, been choked up but now streams forth clearer than ever before."

"Surely Jesus, the world's hero, cannot be mistaken! Surely those who before this believed cannot be mistaken! Surely those whose lives are rooted in the unseen are standing upon the realities! The human mind is naturally Christian. Faith in God, in His kingdom, faith in the destiny of humanity as brought out in Christianity, are fundamentally reasonable. That reasonable faith is immensely strengthened when it is known to have been held by men of all ages and by the greatest moral hero of the world—Jesus."

At the conclusion of his sermon the President drew the attention of the students to the Y.M.C.A. settlement work. It was urged, that, any having spare time, who desired to be of real service to their less fortunate brothers, should get in touch with the department of Y.M.C.A. activity.

THE OLD BOYS SUCCESSFUL

In Saturday's Game Against 1911 Team

SCORE WAS 11-6

Large Crowd and Good Football for First of Season

Varsity Old Boys vs. Varsity provided the first rugby attraction of the season at the University. The game was played on Saturday afternoon and attracted a large crowd. The event is important in more than one respect. In the first place, it marked the opening of the Stadium, which was completed during the past summer and which provides the University with a suitable place for its athletic events. Again, the game was the first of its kind that has been played. After the success with which it met, the event will be made annual. Six thousand was the official estimate of the attendance on Saturday. The game had a strong appeal for all who have taken an interest in rugby in Toronto during the past few years. It gave them another opportunity of seeing the heroes of other years and of comparing them with the men now in the game.

The result was a victory for the Old Boys by a score of 11-6. This was expected. Opposed to the University team were the best of the veteran players in recent years. These men, old boys though they may be called, are not at all old physically. They have been the best athletes of Toronto and are too fond of the work to give it up. Lawson, Gall, Dixon and the rest appeared almost as strong on the field as ever.

The 1911 Varsity team is considerably lighter than the team they faced. The game showed that they were essentially a running and tackling team. When they have worked together for a few more days they should develop form in an open game equal to anything that has appeared at the University. Captain Maynard showed up in fine style.

The game was an interesting one from the spectators point of view. Those who have watched University Athletics for years declare it was one of the best first games of the season that has been played. The playing was almost entirely open. It was decidedly thrilling throughout practically the entire time.

One feature which was not quite up to the mark was the cheering. For a college game, there was little noise. However, it is needless to emphasize that. University students may be depended upon to develop the necessary amount of yells and songs when they have once entered into the rugby spirit.

BANQUET SATURDAY NIGHT

To Rugby Players—Old Boys' Game to be Annual

The rugby players who battled for supremacy at the Stadium on Saturday afternoon attended a banquet at McKonkey's on Saturday night. At this banquet it was decided that the Varsity—Old Boys' game should be an annual event, the season being opened with it each year. Dr. Barton was appointed a permanent secretary for the Old Boys' team and members of teams will leave their addresses with him so that they may be summoned for the combat each year.

It was due to Billy Foulds that Saturday's game was arranged. All lovers of rugby owe him their thanks for starting what promises to be a most interesting feature of university athletics.

MEN WANTED FOR ATHLETICS

Toronto University has the reputation of having more men actually engaged in athletics than any other college on the American continent. And yet there are not nearly enough of the undergraduates taking part in the advantages which the Physical Director has laid before every one in the University. Dr. Barton after his trip last year through the departments of physical instruction in the largest of the United States universities, stated that while we here have excelled in the number of teams and contestants in the various undergraduate competitions, we have wanted in enthusiasm for physical development on the part of the individual student, who for one reason or another does not make a place on the various teams. "We lack the man who needs the exercise," said Dr. Barton.

It is safe to say that if more students would make a specialty of one branch of athletics there would be a much higher degree of health and spirits in our midst. There is no place like the football field, the running track, or the hockey rink to make a man feel his latent powers. In keen competition, man to man, there is the basis of development of health, strength, grit, patience, and the spirit of genuine fair play. Nor is there a better opportunity for a man to make friends. We call a man by his first name five minutes after being introduced, when the meeting place is the locker room or the football field. And, while the sequence is not infallible, the man who can play a good clean game is the man whom we cherish as a friend for life.

Men of the junior years, and men of the senior years who have neglected your opportunities, turn out and be a physical man once in a while! Learn to play football, learn to box, to fence, to swim, to handle a tennis racquet or a hockey stick. Get that exhilaration which comes in no other way but through keen competition with your fellow.

There is room for two or three more football teams in each faculty; the boxing classes are never over crowded; the fencing room awaits you, the tennis courts are there for your use. If the whole University had more the spirit of our athletes there would be more spontaneity among us.

HE'S A COLLEGE BOY

(Contributed.)

The college-boy of the musical-comedy chorus and of the Blumenthal posters is obviously considered an exaggerated type, but the truth is that many come to college secretly cherishing this type as the ideal. The man with the debonaire manner and the extreme clothes is followed about by vapid grins of admiration. No ridicule follows him as it follows the same chap who forgets to press his trousers. And yet follow that man of fashion into his boudoir and you will see him sitting over a rugby hand-book painfully memorizing the positions of players so that, with this full knowledge of the game, he can stroll on the sidelines and fill his retinue with admiration by languidly remarking that so-and-so makes a corking scrim, or that such-a-one should never play half. Listen to him on the side-lines and he will causally make it known that the only reason he refrains from playing the game is that he is too rough, and couldn't hold himself in to good team-work with weaker men. He is fond of the Yonge Street promenade, and he knows the exact location of every-plate-glass window between College and King where he can receive a full-length reflection of his immaculate person. At the games you can see him earnestly striving to wave his pennant and to join the yells after the manner approved by tailors' advertisements in the Saturday Post.

Can't we lose him? Can't we drop this lightweight into some post-hole? We lustily sing—"velut arbor aevo,"—and yet we allow this fungoid growth to sap the strength of our dear old tree. Let us now demand sincerity in everything and in everybody. Sincerity is full-sister to simplicity, and to solidity; and when we have this family elevated to the pedestals in our halls, we shall have a spirit of good-fellowship that is befitting this, one of the finest Universities of the continent

DISGRACEFUL CONDUCT

To the Editor of "Varsity."

Dear Sir:—Allow me to voice my indignation at the indecent occurrences attendant upon this year's registration at the office. My own experience has prepared me for a little bustle and pushing in connection with admission to the office but never have I witnessed such a disgraceful occasion as on Thursday last when a crowd of waiting freshmen made a determined rush at the open door, and by flinging aside and crushing to the wall ladies who had been waiting much longer, gained admittance. It is indeed regrettable that the lining-up of applicants in the hallway is not enforced, and more that the young men on that occasion, apart from their own sense of courtesy should so soon forget the substance of the President's address on the previous afternoon.

Sincerely,
Toronto, Sept. 29. "Graduate."

CONVOCAATION HALL

(BY A FRESHMAN.)

This will ever be a memorable day to me, for on it I have attended for the first time, as a member of the newborn class of one-hundred and fifty, my first convocation ceremony at this University.

In after years, when the conflict with man and affairs has turned my hair grey, I will, when in a reminiscent mood, put my feet across the hearth, and, gazing through the circling clouds of cigar smoke, look back to this day, when I found myself a solitary unit in that immense concourse of students and realized that my academic career had begun.

Standing outside the "Round Church," almost a total stranger, I was possessed of a great longing to read the thoughts of each man, there assembled, and judge of his attitude to what lay before him. But this was denied me, and acting upon advice judiciously given "I got in right," went up stairs to the right, and at once found myself in a puzzling maze of passages and galleries. Coupled with this feeling of strangeness there was always the danger that I should by accident stumble into undesirable company. One well intentioned man, warned me against any aggregation of "shool men," as they were noted for "passing up" and "throwing out" any visitors who might by chance stray within reach of their arms. This fact I presently found to be literally true.

Finding a set of men who seemed to be peaceably inclined I sat down in a position directly opposite the platform and watched the entertainment.

Never before had I witnessed such a scene and the novelty of it made it strangely fascinating. The banks of faces rising tier upon tier, the millinery of the freshettes below, the magnificence of the building, the electrical condition of air, because of yells and counter-yells, all served to keep one on the "qui vive."

Here it is obvious that the School of Science men are masters of the situation. They are organized and their resonant yell coveles all others into silence. Growing bold, they attack unsuspecting parties, wrench them from their seats and pass them bodily over their heads to the exits. For a time one can see nothing but a swaying mass of humanity, and above them a waving pair of arms or legs. In the process they made themselves doormats for dirty boots, but in every case emerged triumphant. A little organized opposition on the part of the Meds. and Arts men, is soon howled down, and the School is supreme.

There is a prolonged sh-sh-sh and from the side entrance the faculty headed by Principal Falconer, pass in with measured and dignified pace. There are the "patres," the men of weight and intellectual ability. In another setting they might have closely resembled the historic scenes in the Senate House at Rome when the greatest orators the world has ever seen, faced the great assemblies of that age. There is loud burst of applause and as they take their places, and every student rises in his place. This is a grand magnificent, inspiring moment, surely one which the President of the University must look forward to from year to year.

Presently every one is seated, and the President steps to the central position on the platform of this vast auditorium. Every eye is fixed upon him, and robed as he is every inch a President, he does not disappoint the onlooker. The applause again bursts out, and is prolonged until it has had time to rise to the vast dome above, and echo to every corner of the building, then it dies away as the speaker opens his lips and there is an impressive silence.

COLLEGE NEWS

FACULTY OF MEDICINE

A dinner will be given to the freshmen by the Medical Y.M.C.A. on Wednesday evening October 4, at 6 o'clock. This affair, which is to be held in the Y.M.C.A. Building, promises to be in every way a truly enjoyable one. Every freshman will be given a hearty welcome and an excellent opportunity to meet and become acquainted with his own classmates. Senior men will be on hand to help entertain and make themselves general useful to the incoming students. Let the first year turn out en masse and enjoy themselves.

'Tis said that the Third Year are to instal a tonsorial establishment with special facilities for trimming the moustaches of certain of its members. The committee in charge have decided to make the services of this establishment practically free.

Here is a story that leaked out from the office to-day. A student, looking over one list of clinicians, remarked that they were not very good. Then being shown a list containing such names as Dr. Primrose, Dr. Starr, and Dr. Ryerson, said with an air of superiority, "These are rather a poor lot, too!" No doubt the doctors concerned will endeavor to brush up for the coming term.

The "Vic" reporter of last issue states that "the new tower stands more defiant than ever against the wrath of Heaven." The gall of the Methodists! Think of it! Bet you a shilling it wouldn't stand half the time against the wrath of the Meds.

If one follows the advice handed out to Meds in last issue, where does the book-worm, rather book-lover, get time to get busy. You need it—it needs you.

Maynard is assured of a strong coterie of lusty lunged bellowers to cheer him to victory. No doubt the braying will be especially forthcoming from the freshmen year.

Wycliffe hopes for "a full attendance of men at every session in the new chapel during the first term." That will undoubtedly be a long enough strain on their constitution.

Dont' forget the handbook, nor yet the handclasp.

Everyone will be at lectures today. It is for many an unusually early start with academic work.

Students in the history department greatly regret that Mr. Bell has left the University.

We are glad to welcome back Mr. E. B. Code who played on the University O.F.A. team in 1910. Mr. Code was prevented by sickness from attending college last year, but is now entering Second Year Political Science.

FACULTY OF APPLIED SCIENCE

Things are livening up around the "School" and the good old "Toike Oike" will soon be heard sounding through the halls. Everything, infact, points to a record-breaking attendance this year. Work will not properly commence till Monday. However, some lectures have already been given and a few more are slated for Friday and Saturday.

The Miners tell interesting tales of their experiences in the recent fire at Porcupine. Some had narrow escapes.

Wonder, what the freshmen's yell will be like? We hear that Dr. Ellis has already padded his doors and windows in anticipation.

"Has anybody here seen Fellowes?" Well, if you haven't, you ought to. He is bigger than ever—that is going some—and they say he can't get through the door of C 70. Moreover, he has a beautiful black moustache. Now here's a chance for the razor artists to perform.

It will be welcome news to II Yr. 3 and 7 to hear that Mr. Ardagh, far-famed for his prowess in the lab., cordially invites them to afternoon tea, Friday at 2 p.m. in C 70. We venture to say that our esteemed host has set a rather early hour for the event but doubtless he anticipates a record-breaking attendance that will prolong the entertainment well on into the evening.

FACULTY OF EDUCATION

Work was commenced in the Faculty of Education with an address by Prof. Coleman, who, in the absence of Dean Pak-enham, welcomed the students to the Faculty. Mr. Groves, Principal of Ryerson School, also spoke a few words of welcome. Registration to date shows a total of 232, of whom 51 are University graduates. This, while not complete, shows a possible decrease in graduates, who have in other years numbered 70 or 75.

Convocation Hall

I will never forget this speech. Others may be critical, or comparative, or indifferent, or all three by turns, but this I know, that my position, duty and responsibility as a prospective student were presented to me as never before, while those words of counsel, (delivered as they were with perfect ease, and the perfect Oxford accent) fell from the lips of President Falconer.

Within the space of thirty minutes my whole attitude towards University life was changed, and my outlook widened. I became aware for the first time of the age and scope of the University movement; of its increasing popularity, and the many avenues of investigation which it opens up to enquiring minds. I realized the need of at once noting my own in tellectual limitations and acting accordingly, also of harpooning without delay, the sword-fish of vice and throwing the tackle barrel overboard, lest the destructive monster turn again and wreck my barque.

The audience gave the most complete attention. One could have dropped a pin and heard the feeble echo. At times a few violent freshmen stamping in the corridors or lost freshettes seeking a seat, disturbed the quiet, but in every case the warning hush-sh, was obeyed.

Now it is all over but a few announcements, and these being delivered, I pass out again into the open air, where the sun is making a brave attempt to conquer the on-coming clouds. I see old friends re-uniting, watch the helter-skelter rush for the Registrar's Office and turn aside to think it over. It is my first visit to Convocation Hall, and I trust it may not be the last. I am but a freshman, a member of the class of oneety-five but I am proud of it, let us all be freshmen, let us retain our individuality (for there will soon be enough of imitation amongst us) and make of ourselves a year, which will be famous in the annals of this University.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Of University College—Why It Was Formed

As many of the University College freshmen have very vague ideas regarding the University College Athletic Association, and consequently look upon those who are taking subscriptions for it as hall-way robbers; some explanation concerning it is in order. Meds and School men are brought together and become acquainted with one-another at the draughting-board and dissecting-table, and the result is that they form two united bodies. Both have for years, supported Athletic Associations, and until recently had things more or less their own way in Interfaculty sports. The year before last a genius conceived the idea of establishing an Athletic Association as a unifying influence among Arts men and organized the U. C. A. A. This association is now a formidable opponent of the other two, and if it continues to receive such support as has been given it so far this term the present year will be the best of its short history.

Messrs. C. N. Cochrane and F. H. Underhill sailed on the 22nd from Montreal on the Teutonic. Both intend to take "greats" at Oxford, Cochrane at Corpus Christi and Underhill at Balliol.

THREE DOLLARS EACH YEAR

From Students Would Provide Fund for Medical Attention

A class in life insurance under the direction of Professor Epstein of the University of Colorado is doing work which should provide useful information for universities.

Since the beginning of the term the class has been collecting data concerning the amount of medical attention required by the students of the University. The aim of the class was to study the feasibility of organizing a mutual benefit society whereby all students, by paying a small annual fee, could secure free of any other charge, all necessary medical service and a room at the University hospital when ill.

The work was done at first merely as a drill for the class but careful study showed that the plan was so easily possible that Professor Epstein, realizing the benefit that such an organization would be to the students of the University, began to consider the matter seriously.

Statistics show that one student in every sixty spends two weeks of every school year in the hospital at a cost of about $100. Many students who are taken sick are unable to meet the sudden expense and are forced to leave school in consequence.

"If every student in the University were to pay an annual fee of three dollars there is no doubt in my mind that a strong mutual benefit society could be formed," said Professor Epstein. "Similar or-

Old Boys Successful

The Old Boys had the better of the game at the start. The first score was made in the latter part of the first half when Billy Foulds went over on a run around the end, Gall converted, making the score 6-0. In the second quarter Varsity was forced to rouge twice, giving the Old Boys the lead by 8-0.

The second half began with several changes in the line-up. Cruikshank replaced Gage in the Grad. team, while on Varsity, Duff Wood replaced Gardiner, Bell replaced McDonald, and Knight went on in place of Curtiss. German carried the ball over the line for Varsity and Maynard converted. The score then stood nearly even, Old Boys 8, Varsity 6. In the last quarter the Old Boys added three more points on rouges, making the final 11-6.

The teams were:

Varsity:—Full, McLaren; halves, Maynard, Ramsay, Frith, McKenzie; quarter, Gardiner, Wood; scrimmage, Taylor, McDonald, Cory, Bell; inside wings, Clark, Curtis, Knight; middle wings, Grass, German; outside wings, Sinclair, Bob Thomson.

Old Boys:—Full, Dixon; halves, Gall, Newton, Lawson; quarter, Foulds; scrimmage, Rankin, Bell, Carroll; inside wings, Gage, Kingston; middle wings, Duncan, Kennedy; outside wings, Parker, M. Thomson.

Referee:—H. C. Griffiths.

Umpire:—Dr. W. B. Hendry.

WILL ERECT A LADIES' COLLEGE

Vincent Massey announced the other day in Regina that the Massey estate definitely undertook to bear the cost of erecting a ladies' college in connection with the Regina Methodist College, at an estimated cost of $200,000. The necessary plans are to be at once prepared for the college which is to provide accommodation for two hundred lady students, and which will aim to be, it is claimed, the best equipped college of its kind in the Dominion.

CHEER LEADERS WANTED

The Athletic Association desires to secure two or three good men for cheer leaders.

Organizations are now active in Stanford, Nebraska, West Point, Annapolis, Arkansas, and many other universities throughout the country. Dr. Hoogendijk who suggested this scheme, states that this system is in vogue in all the German universities. Everywhere the scheme is eminently successful."

"Better pull down the window curtains" said the guest at the mountain hotel to his wife; "remember the mountain peaks."

The Royal Military College of Canada

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to cadets and officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and, in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills, and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation, is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same examinations as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years, in three terms of 9 months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instructional material, and all extras, is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College, takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont.; or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.
