Dave Mogilevsky Arts

Having been present at most of the SRC meetings during the past seven months I have drawn a number of disturbing conclusions. One of these is that the SRC is failing to transact the business of the Student Union at a satisfactory pace. The long list of old business items (things which should have been dealt with at the preceding meeting) that are left dormant on the agenda is a testimony to this fact. The amount of such items on the agenda must be kept to a minimum because the SRC must deal with the issues affecting students today rather than always being a step or two behind. Councillors should either get meetings called earlier in the day so that

Beckie Leaman-Ackles Education

In running for re-election, I have not come to the students of the Education faculty empty-handed. I promised an EDUCATION CLUB. This club now exists, its constitution was passed by the SRC, and it has for the past week been recruiting a voting membership. We are determined that Education students shall get a direct return on their fees -- something we have been denied for too long.

During the past six weeks, in which I have tried to serve the interests of Education students, the word UNITY has taken on a new meaning for me. The divisions within our faculty are destructive; there is no excuse for the sort of isolation experienced in particular by Vocational, Physical Education, and Home Economics students. Education students must present a united front in order to win our rightful place among the other faculties which are together "down the hill." Every group in our faculty has something valuable to co. tribute to this university, and we must make ourselves visible!

I have been listening to the concerns expressed by Education running for Education Rep is to make sure that the students of the Faculty of Education are recognized around campus as a part of UNB.

If I am elected, the Education faculty will be a much more enjoyable faculty to belong to, and can be remembered as some of the best years you had in school. So to the people of Education, your vote can make a difference. Make it worthwhile. VOTE Kenny Roberts in the March 30 election. Thank you.

each meeting could last longer or else call additional meetings throughout the year to supplement the regular weekly meetings.

How should a councillor remain knowledgeable about the issues affecting students? There must be constituency meetings. No one can deny the fact that monthly constituency meetings are essential in order to have a strong Student Union. I realize, however, attendance for these meetings is usually quite low. With the proper publicity I am confident that this problem will be rectified. Since students may find it inconvenient to attend some of these meetings I believe that a councillor should post periodically a report of his actions in the SRC.

One of my first actions on the SRC would deal with the finances of students, and it is evident that ENTERTAINMENT heads the list. It is our intention that the Education Club answer this need. Films, lectures, seminars, contests, special events, road trips, pubs -- thase are only a few of the possibilities of what can be accomplished by joining forces and making your views known.

One last item -- STUDENT SER-VICES. Why shouldn't our student cards be more than pub I.D. and library cards? Student discounts and services on a par with other universities should be the goal of every member of a Council intended to represent students. It can be done. (Radio stations arrange contracts with the business community to provide benefits to their listeners). The UNB student body is a potentially influential group of consumers, and, as such, is entitled to the same considerations as are received by others.

Very simply, I believe that the duty of an elected representative is to learn the needs and wants of the constituents, and to serve these to the best of his/her ability. I ask the students of the Education faculty to support this ideal. On March 30, reelect Beckie Leaman-Ackles.

Wendy Dickinson Education

Greetings fellow students. My name is Wendy Dickinson and I am the Student Union. Should not the SRC transfer any extra funds to the contingency account so they could then be used by students? For example. The Student Directory still has $870.99 even though the Directory has already been published this year. We should take these extra funds and reallocate them to the contingency account. Surely by having all our extra money in the contingency accout we will be able to (1) get an accurate measure of how our SRC is really doing financially and (2) permit these extra funds if the need should arise to be redistributed to student groups.

In this brief commentary I hope I have proven to you that I know how the SRC works, how it does not work and how it should work. On election day will you give me a mandate to represent you?

Alex Stairs Arts

As one who has attended every SRC meeting since the 24th of January, I have become increasingly interested, aware and concerned in the running of OUR council. I fail to see why repeatedly the meetings end when quorom is lost, instead of when the business is finished. I also fail to see why some councillors never speak. I they are there to represent a constituency and they never so much as offer to second a motion, let alone debate one, then that constituency has no effective voice.

Students should be involved in external affairs. There should be no reason why society cannot accept students as citizens. We should be involved in such activities as political lobbying and demonstrating (i.e. actively campaigning against unreasonable tuition hikes). We have an opinion, we have a voice. let's use it.

I am on the History Liaison Committee, the History Club, and the P.S.S.A. (Political Science Students' Association). I endorse the Unity Platform and I will remain active, as I am now, in as many clubs and organizations as my academics will allow. Vote for an active voice, vote Stairs on March 30.

There are three main ideas I have which I would like to suggest as the reasons why I am running as the Education Rep. They are: a Federation for the students, entertainment, and student services. If these ideas are carried out, which I plan to do to the best of my ability, the faculty of Education will finally be recognized a part of UNB. The Federation is an idea in which a percentage of all student foes that we pay annually will be put back into each individual faculty. This means that the students of Education will at long last have a budget to work with - something we have not had in recent years. Entertainment: with the budget mentioned above, we can carry out many activities that Education

taking place. I can promise that many of these events shall take place if I am elected. Right now, a UNB Education Club is in the process of being formed. Memberships are being sold by the cafeteria in d'Avray Hall. This club will aid in many of the functions we hope to carry out.

Student services are something that many of us can use, other than the few we presently have. Such things as suggestion boxes in the Education building (d'Avray Hall), as well as in the Student Union, will help the Student Union see how students other than those on council feel. Another thing is to get rid of the pay phones in some areas around campus (such as the SUB and d'Avray Hall) and to put in phones which do not cost anything to use. These come in very handy, especially if you don't have a quarter.

To sum up, my main purpose for

Kevin Mackie Education

A major problem that I feel plagues the SRC now is the lack of respect that councillors have for other councillors which leads to very childish behaviour. A lot of time is wasted by immature remarks being tossed back and forth.

This council has been rocked by enough resignations and backstabbings. I feel that it is about a second year Secondary Physical Education student. I am running for a full year term in the SRC as an Education representative.

Prior to University, I have had experience in student government, debating and have maintained a genuins interest in student affairs at UNB. Therefore from a technical standpoint, in relation to student government, I believe I have a stable background. However, the most valuable charactertistics one can bring to the SRC are sonity, maturity. intelligence, a genuine concern for the students one is representing and independence from forces other than the voices of the students one is representing. These are the characterisitics | would like to take to the SRC for you!

And the Lord said unto me, in a revelation which was both ambiguous and confusing - "NO MAN CAN SERVE TWO MASTERS." This was, of course, a veiled and didactic parable. What the Lord actually meant, was that no person can successfully fulfill the aims and desires of two separate and opposing organizations - the Student Party and the constituents that s/he has been elected to represent. The aims and desires of the two groups can never wholly be in agreement, and thus the interests of one must necessarily be sacrificed for the interests of the other. John. . .

It is my intention to meet with my constituents to keep them informed and to take their concerns back to the council. I truly believe that the problems within the SRC are due to a communication barrier.

Lastly, I would just like to ask the students to be sure to vote, for it is them who are being represented.

In my 4 weeks as engineering representative, I found out that comedy isn't pretty. It has taken this long to figure out what is hap-. pening at SRC meetings. I think that when Jimmy Page wrote 'Dazed and Confused' he must have just left an SRC side show.

Engineers' may ask what I have done for them. To say I've done nothing is fairly accurate. In fact no one has done anything in the last month. At first I was discouraged then frustrated and now just pissed off.

The first thing I did was to not follow through on any of my campaign promises. I must say that wasn't too hard, but now I am faced with the problem of thinking up more plans and dark strategies.

I think SRC meetings should not be broadcast over the radio. To say that the members of council are playing to the radio audience is not entirely accurate as I am sure no one could listen to that noise for 3 hours. I admit we are funny but

Other 'Slash T.P.' groups may be Waltz/TP, Puke/TP, Walking/TP and Breathing/TP. Each group will be open to everyone but only 3-5 people will probably show up.

Where does Engineering fit into all of this you say. Lucky for your it doesn't as this is all a farce, a story, a lampoon. The T.P. has nothing to do with anything. We are just students who thought that UNB needed something to laugh about.

Mike (Suicide) Dubrule Rep-at-large

We consider this election to be of great importance to the future of the Student Union and student life in general at UNB. Since the first ever UNITY candidates were elected here at UNB in the Fall Election of 1982, we have worked diligently to uphold our promises and in some cases do even more. Listed below is a brief update on our progress and a few points that we hope to achieve over the coming year:

1. Reforms and Improvements

New rules are being introduced to ensure that students can at any time recall by petition any representative who is not doing their job. All of our candidates stand for monthly constituency meetings, an end to arbitrary appointments and a strengthening of student input to the SRC. Every action that we have made to improve the running of the Student Government will be included in a new con-behind the scenes here at UNB. In my high school years I was Winter Carnival chairman, secretary of the Graduate class, student council President and in that same year earned the honor of being the top student of Sussex High School. During my years at UNB I have been active in Orientation Committee, Intramural and residence activities, Campus Police and as a student marker.

Over the years I have organized many activities experienced and solved many problems and represented many people. I have enjoyed it and found everything a great learning experience; if you give me the opportunity, I will represent you to the best of my ability.

I have talked to student senators and I have an understanding of ourselves. Awake. . .

If elected as Education Representative for the Student Representative Council, I hope to achieve more than simply an end to party politics at the University of New Brunswick. I also hope to move all education resource materials to one central location, the Resource Centre. I want to give students a voice on the curriculum board helping to decide which courses are effective and which courses are ineffective. I want to move Marshall d'Avray closer to the rest of the compus, remove all obstacles stitution to be approved this year by the students in a referendum. 2. Information

We have succeeded in obtaining a regular Information Page in the Brunswickan to keep students in touch with what the SRC is doing and to allow us to hear from you. We propose to go even further and guarantee a complete end to editorial censorship and ensure that any and all recognized student groups may obtain free advertising in the paper. It belongs to all of us after all. 3. External Relations

The UNB Student Union has taken a leading role in the establishment of a province wide students federation. We shall continue to encourage the establishment of student action groups for things such as SOLIDARITY and AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL. At long last New Brunswick will start to hear the voice of the students so that no matter if its tuition hikes or rent increases, we will have a say in what happens to us.

what the senate does. The senate works for the common good of the students and the main problem I see is a need for improved interaction between the students and the edministration. I feel that I have the capability of accomplishing this feat. Other problems I feel that need improving are the residence meal plan (interested in different plans), better communicameal tions between the SRC and the Senate, stricter security on campus, improvements with Entrance Requirements, lab facilities and will work to keep the students cost down. I want to see that everyone gets the most from UNB.

I cannot promise that all of the above will be implemented but one promise that I will make and intend to keep is that, I will listen to you the students as representatives of

vices

At long last, after six years of waiting, the UNITY representatives have succeeded in reorganizing the entertainment system on campus. CSL is now directly run by the SRC and the first major concerts are being confirmed. We will not only se Aitken Centre performances but we will have the permanent establishment of weekly pubs and non-alcoholic dances open to all. The WOODSHED is operating well and we hope to see the membership fees at the Social club abolished. Planning continues for setting up a cheaper tavern on campus. 5. Student Organizations and Ser-

The video games have been removed from the SUB Blue Lounge, and even today, redecoration is in progress. It is our objective to recover all of the furniture in the Lounge, to have provided free telephones and to have opened a Student Exchange-Store to sell books, yearbooks, school rings and supplies. We shall not be stopped from increasing student employment at UNB. And finally not only will an ombudsman be demanded, but also, our student fees will be heid down and fairly distributed.

UNB; and I believe in you and your ideas I will work my hardest to see that they are fulfilled. I promise to give all I have to insure that we the students of UNB get the most out of our education and our years at UNB. Brant Drewery Rec-at-large

The ominous symbolism of the SP logo, the "Proclamations" from the Brunswickan and the possibility of eliminating all opposition to the Student Party leaves a sour taste in the mouth. Not only does the Student Party portray an undesirable image of the student body, their actions are not in the interests of any student. It is the students who control the SRC, not the Student Party which controls the students. As Representative-at-Large, 1 will be in the position to REPRESENT all students in the SRC, particularly those who live off campus. In the past, SRC members from residence were appointed to represent this large body of students. There is no one in a better position to represent off campus students than an off campus student. On March 20 all students with identification will be eligible to vote in the SRC elections. Let's change the image of our student government: vote for the Tupperware Party and put the SRC back in the hands of the students.

This year's Life Executive of Steven Grant (President), (Vice-Nagle Hope President), Susan Crockett (Secretary/Treasurer) and Mary Abraham (Valedictorian) have been meeting weekly since the new year. Plans for fund raising and other activities are nearing completion, but at the same time are flexible enough to allow for addition or deletion of other activities. Suggestions are always welcome and should be addressed to 1983 Grad Class, c/o SRC Office, Student Union Building.

with Nick Nolte and Eddie Murphy was shown in Tilley 102. Guy Anne Aucoin was the winner of first prize in the 'Grad Mug Logo Contest' and since then the mugs have been ordered and will be here for Grad Mug Nite at the CHSC. Anyone at the Social Club that night will be entitled to a beverage with the purchase of a Grad Mug.

A large motion picture success, "An Officer and a Gentlemen" with Richard Gere and Debra Winger is slated for Wednesday, April 6 also in Tilley 102. Several door prizes will be available to be won including sound tracks. Admission is only $2. Remember Winter Carnival? Well the hit of that week, RAM is coming back along with Bryan Jones on May 25 in the Student Union Building. This should prove to be the highlight of the entertainment year for no more than $5 (eat your heart out, CSL!).

Tentative schedule is as follows:

Mr. Hatthe guide for redistribution, but rural-urban makeup and field talked on reform in the the history of the area New Brunswick election should be considered. process and answered

Mr. Hatfield noted that the Political Process Financing Act is unique to Canada. This Act controls the level of spending of individuals and corporations. Before this Act, New Brunswick election campaigns relied heavily on the contributions of major forest companies.

Mr. Hatfield also mentioned the establishment of committees in the Legislature. By working on committees the M.L.A.'s can learn more about the province rather than just concentrating on their own constituency. He said that political parties have become more competitive in all constituencies, which keeps the political parties more open to the public. In past election campaigns, political parties have written off certain constitutencies because of numerous voting manipulations that could not be countered. Due to these reforms, no seat can be taken for granted in an election campaign. Democracy is in good shape in this province, however, the people of New Brunswick should be receiving better media coverage of election campaigns.

In the '82 election campaign, the P.C. party had election promises of $70 million. Asked why they changed their thought from a government expansionary promised budget to a call for restraint in the upcoming budget, Mr. Hatfield responded that the P.C. Party overestimated their election promises because of a miscalculation of their objective.

Mr. Hatfield was asked about student job programs this summer. He stated that New Brunswick has the highest number of jobs per capita of any government in Canada. In the makeup of a budget; social services, health and welfare, education and hospital costs must be calculated first, then programs will be studied, and considered for the budget. Mr. Hatfield could not reveal any details until the budget is introduced in the Legislature. When asked about increasing tuition fees, Mr. Hatfield replied his government's policy that tuition fees will increase percentage wise the same as the cost of living.

Mr. Hatfield also stated that the expansion of Point Lepreau will continue and the government will not be dictated by public polls or demonstrations.

Mr. Hatfield stated that the Irving's should not be forced to sell any of their media outlets because it would be the same as to deny the people rights of property. The CRTC are not in charge and have no relevant connection to the people of New Brunswick.

Mr. Hatfield further said that it is difficult to build a political career under today's leadership system. A democratic party majority no longer has a significant meaning. This "June exercise" as he called it, should not have happened. The leadership campaigns are a waste of money and time. He has no worries about wealthy candidates buying votes because money cannot buy political wisdom, which you need to secure victory.

According to Hatfield, political parties should always choose their leader, but leaders will usually rise to the top and prove to the party they are natural leaders. When a party leader is defeated in an election, he should resign unless he has overwhelming support from the party. Timing is important as when to call a convention, because you do not want to leave the party in a vulnerable position.

Mr. Hatfield has no federal leadership ambitions and plans to lead the P.C.'s into the next election. It's a challenge to lead the P.C. Party and the province. Mr. Hatfield's political mentors were Franklin D. Roosevelt and Robert Kennedy, but he has used his own political style to lead and develop New Brunswick.

Meagher addresses SRC

Third Century Fund topic of debate

by Mac Elman

The University of New Brunswick Student presentative council met for two and a half hours this past Tuesday evening. One of the first matters presented before Council was the Vice-Presidents' Report. Vice-President Timothy Lethbridge informed Council in his report that preparations to the upcoming March 30 election are progressing smoothly. Lethbridge stated that all poll workers and baliot workers for the election have been hired and he told Council that the vote tabulating method used last election will be utilized again for the elections Century Fund. In his presentation to Council Dr. Meagher expressed his support for a five year, ten dollar per student levy, running from September 1983 through to September 1987. He said that the money itself which is raised by the levy is not the primary concern, Meagher said that in his view one hundred percent student participation is of more importance. He said that when he goes into the corporate boardrooms of Toronto and Vancouver, it looks very impressive if he can say that one hundred percent of the students at UNB have contributed to the Third Century Fund. He added that if there is one hundred percent student participation, the Third Century Fund will surely get more corporate donations.

expressed the view that there should not be a compulsory levy, but instead a donation. voluntary Bosnitch said that the faculty donations to the Third Century Fund were voluntary and they proved to be very successful. He also stated that he did not think it wise that this year's council should make a decision which would affect students five years into the future. In addition Bosnitch suggested that Council consider a proposal of a few months past and direct all student donations for use on one project, specifically the refurbishing of the Student Union Building. After some argument over the wording of the resolution concerning the ten dollar student levy a role call vote was taken. The final wording of the Third Century Fund question which will be included in the upcoming referendum was decided upon by a vote of ten to two. It was decided that the question will specify that the ten dollar levy for the per September 1983 through to September 1987 will be optional. In other business, Council was informed by Education representative Randy Brodeur that the Education Club has been revived and has a new four member executive. Business Representative Oliver Koncz informed Council in response to a question by Forestry Representative Chris Chapman that the price of the UNB Yearbook has been lowered from fifteen to twelve dollars because of an anticipated increase in advertising revenue.

MALAYSIAN FOCUS

There has been some debate recently on the proposed abolishment of differential fees but ironically enough, discussions have as yet proceeded without so much as a squeak from the one body around which this whole issue revolves on - that of the foreign student body. Surely, we are not, the redoubtable creatures we appear to be, to stand idle and spectate this issue through. Should we not instead rally our resources, and in force, impress ourselves upon those whom such decisions must eventually rest on? It appears that we have been too complacent and reticent that our idleness have finally addled our brains.

Getting back to the original point in question; it is not incomprehensible that one of the purposes, if not the sole purpose, of differential fees is to alleviate the financial burden of foreign tuition subsidy by the Canadian Government. However, have we not overlooked some other intrinsic aspects of the matter which may warrant more attention? I am inclined to think that differential fees defeats, to a certain degree, its very own purpose by impeding a substantial influx of foreign currencies and investments. Moreover, if we were to ignore the purely economic sense of the matter, how then can differential fees be justified? Do we not impart to Canadians as much, if not more, than what we learn from them? Do not also the sharing of cultures propagate a sense of prevailing friendship, and enchances further our appreciation for the need for greater rapport and understanding? Do not these by themselves preponderate over the economics of the matter?

Let the MSS make its overtures now. It is not, I hope, in its precocity to follow always where it is led, never to assume its rightful onus, and forever shunning its laurel. Indeed, there is nothing more despondent than to see 'ambassadors' of an incomparable cultural heritage quiver with frail hearts at the mere prospects of a brazen challenge. The MSS can no longer stand muted, and must extricate itself from its impassive silence, for nothing can be resolved if determination in itself is lacking.

Now that I've had my fair share of pot-shots, let's proceed to something of a lighter note.

First of all, my commendations to all those involved in the International Students' Night. It was rather 'refreshing' to hear that the Malaysian spirit remained undaunted. . .even after those involved were informed that they, despite their inexhaustible efforts, still had to pay for their tickets. . . .must be the weather. . .

To those of you graduating, 'SYBAS'. I'm sure you will dearly miss the 'spills and thrills' of Fredericton life, and will undoubtedly carry home with you memorable thoughts of UNB. . . if not anything else.

And for those of you poor sloggers who have yet to get your funny hats, cheer-up, and think of those great times ahead. . .suggestions, . . .anyone?

Finally, your PRO (that's the Person Responsible for Obfuscation) tells me that there are still some tickets left for the upcoming MSS-OCSA Farewell Banquet. For further enquiries, you are asked to contact Clifford at 454-1636 or Desmond at 454-6478.

Courses offered in French

By WENDY MONTGOMERY Brunswickan Staff

Students interested in taking introductory courses in French will be able to do so in the Fall of 1984. Freshmen Canadian History, Political Science 1000, Economics 1000, Psychology 1000, and Chemistry 1000 are among possible courses to be offered. External funding for the courses will be made available by the Secretary of State, and the library will be upgraded to include French resource information material for the courses.

The only eligibility requirement to the program is that the students have confidence in his or her ability to handle the course material in French. The discretion will be left entirely to the student.

Students with questions concerning the program should contact Prof. Vigod of the History Department at 453-4621. from Kensington, P.E.I., won the award for his report on the estimation of the date of ice break-up and formation on New Brunswick rivers, which he wrote as part of the requirements for his bachelor's degree in civil engineering at UNB.

Civil engineering professor Dale Bray, who was Mr. MacGougan's adviser for the study, says that the report is of interest to the federal department of the environment, to hydotechnical researchers in Ontario, and to any group planning construction over waterways in this province. He says that Mr. MacGougan's master's degree research is focusing SP- what are they?

By ANDREW HARVEY Brunswickan Staff

The UNB/SP are an organization for all students to participate in UNB/SP started with the formation of the CAUSE committee on the UNB campus. The members of CAUSE produced a shocking image to traditional UNB. This image was to gain them attention by making UNB aware of their actions. In the present academic year, the SP have modified their philosophy and image to attract a wide cross section of students who have contributed many new ideas to the SP, but all share a common political ideology.

UNB/SP have a collective leadership of a five man executive. This year's executive are Political Director - Randy Brodeur, Organization Director - John Bosnitch, Information Director - Furey Oduaran, Finance Director - Oliver

Some of the branch organizations of UNB/SP include UNITY, SOLIDAR-Modern NOSC/SP, Students/SP, UNITY/SP and CAUSE/SP. Other organizations will soon be organized by UNB/SP. Members of organizations with SP after their title are automatically members of UNB/SP. The UNITY organization is also UNB/SP organized, but only for election purposes. All UNITY candidates have been endorsed by UNITY, but they do not have to be a member of UNB/SP and are voluntarily independent of all UNB/SP organizations.

The candidates running under UNITY/SP also belong to UNB/SP and concern and affiliate themselves with all UNB/SP organizations.

In the fall election UNITY candidates were successful in winning eight out of ten seats. In the February byelections four out of six UNI-TY candidates were successful. In the upcoming March 30 elections there are seven UNITY candidates and two UNITY/SP candidates.

UNB/SP have begun to organize the SP in New Brunswick high schools. UNB/SP also plan to run candidates in future municipal, provincial and federal elections or in any area where the interests of students need to be protected. UNB/SP plan to hold a convention before the end of the academic year. This will be open to the public and delegates will be selected from all SP organizations. They will decide long term policy and goals to be used in future election campaigns.

The SP plans to branch out to other universities. In the present academic year, UNB/SP was the parent organization for all SP functions. As UNB/SP continues to branch out, a new SP organization will have to be introduced as the parent organization, with UNB/SP becoming a branch organization overseeing all UNB/SP activities

THE SEARCH LITE

LIVING H20 by T. Brewer

"Never man spake like this man." (John 7:46) These words were spoken of a carpenter's son, a young man barely over the age of thirty.

The inquisative mind would ask "what would cause a band of officers to make such a statement?" The answer to this question may be discovered by looking at the life and teachings of this humble man from Galilee-Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

Yet what teachings of Jesus caused such observations to be made by the people who heard and were affected by his ministry? A study of the gospels would show us that there were many of Jesus' teachings that left his audience in wonder and amazement. However for the purpose of this article let's consider Jesus' words concerning the "the living water". This lving water was Jesus' topic o f discussion just prior to the multitude realizing that "never a man spake like this man."

The Bible records that "In the last day, that great day of the feast Jesus stood and cried saying, "if any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink. He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water". (John 7:37,38). This was not the first time Jesus had spoken concerning "the living water", earlier he conversed with a Samaritan woman concerning this water that would quench a man's thirst forever

Consider who it was that was speaking with such authority concerning this water which Jesus claimed only He could give. This was not merely a carpenter's son or a young teacher trying to accumulate a large gathering of followers for his own personal gain. He was rather the God of all eternity who had come down to earth in the form of man. Matthew records "Behold, a virgin shall be with child... and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is GOD WITH US" (Matt. 1:23). It is important that we recognize Jesus for who He is - the Almighty God. Paul states "...God was manifest in the flesh.." (I Timothy 3:16). So it was that the God of heaven, manifested in flesh, took time from ministering to the multitudes, to let a Samaritan woman know that she could drink of the water which he had to offer.

In John 4, Jesus requested of the woman that she give him drink. This eventually led him to reveal to her that had she known to whom she was speaking, she would have asked him for "living water".. Later, in this same passage, Jesus stated that the water he would give would be a well of water springing up into everlasting life

You may ask what is a person in today's world supposed to make of these passages which include such phrases as, "living water", "shall never thirst again" and "water springing up into everlasting life?" is it possible for a man to never thirst again? Spiritually, yes.

Once a man has drank from the wells of salvation he finds himself fully satisfied. Peter in his epistle refers to

by C. Haines

On Thursday, March 17, at 8:00 pm, fire fell in Head Hall C-13. Although you couldn't see the flames or smell the smoke, you can be sure fire was burning among those in attendance at the "UPPER ROOM CON-TEMPORARY GOSPEL CON-CERT."

Agapé Fellowhsip sponsored the concert featuring a 25-voice chorale from the United Pentecostal Bible Institute here in Fredericton. As the crowd worshipped and God began to manifest His presence in their midst, the result could only be properly termed "UPPER ROOM RELIVED."

On the day of Pentecost, as recorded in the Bible, this same Holy Ghost fire fell from Heaven. In the Upper Room on that day, all in attendance were filled with the Holy Ghost. The Spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ had come to be in them as He promised.

At "UPPER ROOM RELIV-ED," all were in one accord with praise and worship to Jesus Christ, our Savior; a testimony to the change He can make in the lives of a group of young people. The contemporary gospel music included numbers like "Yes, I Know Jesus," "It's Gonna utterance.") were evident in all of the believers.

Some might think such occurrences strange, but the fire that was falling in Head Hall was simply a continuation of the same power that flowed almost 2,000 years ago in the early christian church.

We, Agapé Fellowship, would like to thank you for your attendance, and the U.P.B.I. Chorale for their ministry in song. The chorale would like to invite you and Agapé to be present for their Easter Musical, "NOT ASHAMED", April 1-3 at the First United Pentecostal Church, 71 Downing Street (behind Royal's Field in Marysville). The presentation begins each night at 7:30 pm, and the admission is free.

The joy of the Lord was seen on every face, just as it was in the Upper Room in Acts 2 on the day of Pentecost. People were drunk under the influence of the Spirit; some were dancing in joy; some were crying with happiness for what Jesus Christ had done for them. POLITICAL PERSPECTIVES With RICHARD HUTCINS

In this week's perspectives I would like to take a close look at party politics and their place in university. First of all, I do not condemn Mr. Bosnitch for his ability to centralize and legitimize his student party into a dominant voice in the SRC., in octuality I applaud his ability to translate political activism and concrete action into hard earned seats on the representative council. This however is not the issue at hand I feel party politics can only be effective when there is a strong opposition to the party in power. Without this countering balance, the party in power can yield an uncontrolled influence on the outcome of SRC decisions. This is a dilemma which I see developing at UNB Mr. Bosnitch, although legitimate in the support of the SRC, has managed to attempt intervention into the media (which was a failure), has totally revamped CSL into a tool for his aspirations, (ie. losing $15,000 on the Payolas - Bobcats concert and planning another guaranteed failure) and finally has created an image amongst the student body as more of a destructive than constructive force in representing their desires. Now that I have made a personal afront on the man responsible for instituting party politics at UNB, i will make my condemnation of the rea! villains, the ones responsible for John's rapid rise to power, uncontested and unharnessed the opposition parties and mass of apathetic students at UNB!

Day in and day out I sit in the cafeteria and hear all the great quotations from UNB's "closet" opposition. Ignorant blasts like "the student party are fascists" or John's a social outcast" - well these slanderous comments would probably be taken more seriously if they were translated into politcal activism, the same things ironically John was able to condemn our previous SRC of and mobilize support around.

I believe that party politics (at least while Mr. Bosnitch is around) is a force to be reckoned with and a legitimate opposition must arrive on the scene soon or the aspirations of the student party will predominate the will of all UNB students. Only an apathetic university such as ours can place the "Tupperware Party" and the "Anarchist party" as the only legitimate efforts to date. I fear the democratic process can be undermined by a one party dominated government, be it student or national, the principles remain the same, a safe democracy must have strong pressure groups and opposition to keep it in line. If you don't support party politics, the next time voting comes around campus show your distaste by supporting independent candidates but until that time, live with a reality we the students have created by voting the Student Party into power!

I would like to finish off my deliberations with a personal challenge to Mr. Bosnitch and his Student Party executive to appear in the cafeteria at some future date to address the "claset" opposition on the issue of party politics at UNB. If nothing else is gained we will witness the public speaking and promise making of Mr. Bosnitch, something we haven't been graced with since his election!

Transition House auction

Both a television auction of services and articles donated by local businessmen and an Open House on public education and awareness will be on the agenda for Transition House in the weeks following.

you will be able to place your bid simply by phoning Channel 10.

Auctioneers for the event will include such wellknown citizens as Mayor Wilkins, Ilkay Silk, Paul Hannah, Sam Mullin and Shawna MacKenzie.

Articles to be auctioned will be on display at Kings Place, next to the Bank of Nova Scotia, Saturday, April 2, between 9 and 5 and April 5 and 6 between 11 and 2. Preliminary bids will be accepted. Articles can be picked up at the Kings Place location after the auction

April 7-9.

Some of the prizes which have been donated are: Vic 20 computer and games (from Interactive Computer Systems), man's watch (Fowler's Jewellery), metric converter (Paul Burden Ltd.), black and white T.V. (Wacky Wheatley's), get away weekend (Wandiyn's) 8 hours of labour (Diamond Construction), $50 tokens (Trius Taxi), Channel No.5 gifts (Ross Drug), food processor (Woolco), and gift certificates from a variety of grocery stores, clothing stores, and restaurants.

I would like to finalize this week's perspectives with a commendation of this years Brunswickan editor and staff, although as a reactionary I often felt them to be conservative, I fully support their efforts and strong will when it came to dealing with the SRC. In reality they were the only counter-force Mr. Bosnitch has come across and one aspect of student involvement he has not been able to gain control of. BRAVO!

On April 11 at 8 p.m. Transition House will be holding an Open House at the Monsignor Boyd Family Centre. This meeting will deal with the public awareness and education of family violence. The keynote speaker for the event is Trudy Don, coordinator of Transition and Interval Houses for Ontario. Honorary president Ann Crocker, Senator Muriel Ferguson and Transition House president Shawna MacKenzie will also speak at the event.

THE BRUNSWICKAN- 9

Third Century Fund

By BRENDA PAUL Brunswickan Staff

As the conclusion of the 1982-83 academic year approaches, the Third Century Fund drive continues to pursue its objective of $10,000,000.

A valid concern of UNB students raised at Monday's SRC meeting, however, was how exactly the monies raised will be used for the Federation campus. A referenda question on the March 30 SRC election ballots concerns the question of imposing a $10.00 levy for students to be allocated to the Fund. What will the Fredericton compus gain from this student expenditure?

$2,000,000 for new scholarships and bursaries. - $1,000,000 for new library acquisitions.

- $450,000 to put all library material on the PHOENIX computer catalogue.

$50,000 for the Baird-Turner Reading Room in the Library Engineering

Reason No. 2 for supporting the

Third Century Fund

One morning this week I got a letter from UNB president James Downey. I knew it was coming, but I didn't know what it was going to say. I knew it had to convince me that a $10 levy for the next five years was a good idea. I knew it had to point out the reasons why students, including me, had to care. Lucky for James Downey and for the Third Century Fund they had me convinced in September that misconception to believe that money raised during the Third Century Fund will go towards increasing salaries, and that the money would just be dumped into a "university pot" only to be swallowed up into the oblivion of red tape. I can only say that this is not true.

The following are some of the projects the Third Century Fund campaign will be funding:

$2,000,000 for new scholar-

Third Century Fund. After researching the facts and figures involved, we were convinced that the students could only benefit for contributing to the campaign. Well, the figures speak for themselves. While UNBSJ has donated, through a student levy, close to $100,000, UNB trails miserably behind with a contribution of just over $6,000.

The students of UNBSJ, our Saint John sister, are working diligently towards a SUB, something that a similar levy gave us over ten years ago. They believe in the good intentions of the Third Century Fund, and there's no reason why we shouldn't believe, too. sity's Third Century Fund. Yes or No be included on the referendum.

MARCH 25, 1983

That's the question. What will your answer be. Out of the $10,000,000 the Third Century Fund hopes to raise, organizers ask only $300,000 of students. It's not much to ask, really.

What is ten dollars? It is $7.50 American, it is one case of beer, it is barely a new album, it is two movie tickets and a small box of popcorn, it isn't even a text book. It's a small price to pay for the improvements, renovations, and services the Third Century Fund is offering to students.

the Third Century Fund was a worthwhile project and that UNB was a worthwhile place. Now it's my turn to help convince you.

When I came to UNB three years ago, I had big expectations. We all do, I guess, and big hopes. Unfortunately, most of us are under the impression that universities run by themselves, that the administration and faculty are here mainly because they get paid and that there's lots of money around.

Let's get one thing straight. It is a serious

First and foremost should be a comment on the fiasco of the recent Payolas/Bopcats concert. There has been heard numerous complaints or allegations that the Brunswickan is responsible for the poor ticket sales. It seems to me that once again Bosnitch and his group of henchmen are looking for someone on which to place the blame. Why is it CSL cannot accept the responsibility for the loss? I am sure that the numerous (slight understatement) free passes helped to keep sales down. It would seem to me that the students of this university have paid through their $10 entertainment fee for a party for the SP.

Why is it that we had to wait so late in the year for concerts? The fee was paid at the beginning of the year so we should have had entertainment early in the first term. Instead we were forced to wait until half way through March, a time of year when very few students can afford to attend a concert.

It seems the SRC is finally getting around to doing something constructive. They have (prepare yourself for this) been able to reach the "new business" part of the agenda. Still they are forced to have more than one meeting in any given week. I certainly hope that this trend does not continue for much longer.

The general elections will soon be upon us. The elections in the fall saw a good voter turnout, the best in a long time. It would be nice to see an even better showing this time. A lot has happened since the last general elections and if you are not pleased with what has gone on here is your opportunity to voice your displeasure. Use it

Just to be different I extend to all of you the following ill wishes: here's hoping none of you get summer jobs, none of you pass your exams and that you all have a lousy summer. Just kidding, but I thought you would probably be tired of hearing the same old garbage.

The last issue of the Bruns contained a story "Arts Building oldest". This story was written by Linda Squires Hansen.

Once again the SRC has done it to the students. Present as the meeting of last Wednesday were the following councillors: Bosnitch, Belliveau, Brodeur, Koncz, Leaman-Ackles, Lethbridge, Murray, MacDonald, Pringle, Roulston and Strickland. Absent were the following councillors: Blizzard, Chapman, Evans, Laurence, Nagle, Coombs, Glendenning, Kofie, Smith, Stephenson and Watson. This gives us a grand total of 22 councillors. Of these 22 only 11 were present at the meeting. Quorum is 50 percent plus one, so any one with just the slightest ability to add can see that quorum did not exist. Still, council felt it was well within their rights to dismiss three councillors, who were absent, because of missed meetings. They now had quorum. The question that comes to mind is how can council dismiss three councillors when they did not have quorum in the first place? This illegal action should not be allowed to pass without some justification. As it stands now, all that council accomplished during the meeting is useless because quorum was obtained through illegal means. Those councillors not present at Wednesday's meeting should see that something is done about this, especially the three removed from council.

Sounds added by Crass

Dear Editor:

In response to last week's letter in Soundoff regarding a song heard on our station, the song in question is a piece by an anarchist group call Crass. Actually, it is more aptly described as being a multi-media presentation combining the soundtrack of certain T.V. programs, plus sounds added by Crass in the studio.

The writer seems to have used hyperbole quite freely in his description of the work, and his claim that it is not music is dead wrong. What is music? Usually one can tell it is an artful combination of notes or sounds. One should bear in mind that music is the most abstract of all the arts and CHSR-FM's dedication to alternative forms of music. Hopefully listeners can set aside their preconceived notions about radio and music when listening to us, so as to better understand us.

The writer did make a valid point concerning the timing of the particular song; we try to play appropriate forms of music at meal times; but sometimes judgement can err. In closing, I would like to encourage listener response to be directed our way, not to other forms of media. This way, immediate action can be taken. Please write or call me at 453-4985 or to CHSR-FM, UNB, P.O. Box 4400, Station A., Fredericton, E3B 5A3.

Please keep in mind that we cannot improve without your response.

Yours truly,

Camera club thanks

Dear Editor:

The UNB Camera Club's Annual Ext.ibition has just ended at Memorial Hall and can be considered one of the best ever with over 300 entries. The prize winning photographs have been placed in a special display in Room 14 of Memorial Hall where they can be viewed until April 22.

The UNB Camera Club would like to take this opportunity to thank the Creative Arts Committee for supporting its exhibition judges, Susan Belyea, Brian Chisholm, and Glen Ross for their time and efforts, the staff of the Art Centre for their help and patience, the staff of the Department of Public Relations and Melanie Richards for their help in publicizing the event, and all the photographs who have helped to make the exhibition such a success.

The Club wishes all a pleasant summer. We hope to see the results of this summer's photographic endeavours in next year's exhibition.

Concert good, but.

Decr People,

I am a person who rarely finds the need to express himself by writing letters to the editor. But recent events force me to voice my opinions on a couple of topics. Shall we start with the Payolas Concert? Musically speaking, it was an excellent concert. Both bands proved themselves to be professionals in all senses of the word. But the concert organizers? I'll admit that this was a first effort on their (CSL) part, but that in itself tells a sad story. I am about to graduate from this university, and do you know how many decent concerts they have given us? I went to it Wednesday night. I paid $10 this year on the promise of some decent entertainment. Why did I have to wait until almost the end of the year to see a con-same procedure. I hope none of them were double parked. When a person tries to buy one ticket, with a supposedly valid i.d. card, why are they hassled? Is the i.d. worth anything? I guess not, because they wouldn't give me my ticket until they found my name on "the list". So what is my gripe? This procedure is not AUC policy. I was told that "the university" said to do it. Did I just imagine that one of these same people mumbied the letters "CSL"? Hmmm. 2. The door check procedure. Well, I for one do not enjoy being body searched by the student police. And the cryptic statement that "all bottles and illegal why was this one so badly run?

Why, you might ask, have I condemned the organization of this concert. Here are some reasons: 1. In order to receive my $2.50 student discount, I had to wait 15 minutes for the AUC staff to figure out that I was a student, and to punch another hole in my already violated i.d. card. They told me that this was the first time they'd had to do this. They also described it as a great waste of time. There were other people in line that day (Wed. March 9), most of whom were fellow UNB students, and yes, they too had to undergo the

Heart Marathon History

This April will be no different from the previous four! On Sunday, April 10th hundreds of runners from eastern Canada and the United States will gather on the Green (Queen Street) in keen anticipation of their run in the 5th Annual N.B. Heart Marathon.

The Marathon began four years ago when two physical education students (Doug Davidson and Garth Cochrane) and "Sam The Wonder Dog" ran out to Mactaquac (18 miles), got sponsors and donated the money to the Heart Foundation to aid in heart research. The following year, with the full support of the Heart Foundation, these two industrious students undertook the organization of the First Annual N.B. Heart Marathon, a project which counted towards Doug's fourth year recreation practicum.

With the success of the first Marathon in 1979, the event has become a rather unique and exciting sporting event in Fredericton each spring. The second and third Heart Marathons were also undertaken by fourth-year phys-ed (recreation) students, counting as their practicums. The fourth and fifth, however, have been organized by interested students and /or runners who chose to keep the Marathon going rather than not see it run at all.

There are several changes this year which are worth noting. They will all be explained in future articles but there is one worth mentioning now. This year runners will no longer be travelling the hilly and windy Fredericton-Mactaquac-Fredericton route. Cited as being one of the toughest marathon routes in North Amorica, it was feit that many potential marathons would be discouraged by it. This April runners will proceed from Queen Street to Oromocto and back, along the relatively flat Lincoln Road. Hopefully this will encourage a lot more runners to enter in the 26.2 mile event.

There are a number of othor changes but you'll have to catch them in next week's article. In the meantime, Keep on Running, and if there are any questions or comments be ure to call the Runner's Lino at 455-6598.

The Countdown Begins

The countdown begins - as less than three weeks are left before Sunday April 10th rolls around and, with it, the 5th Annual N.B. Heart Marathon. President James Downey will officially begin the race at 1 p.m. on Queen Street, where close to 500 runners are expected to gather. The entire event will be closely patrolled, so runners

The entire event will be closely patrolled, so runners needn't worry about annoying traffic or hazardous drivers. The City police, RCMP and Heart Marathon vans will be travelling the 26.2 mile distance. A local cycling club has also offered their assistance by having their cyclists pedal the route, insuring that all is safe for the runners. As well, Marathon volunteers will be stationed at all major intersections as "TRAFFIC DIRECTORS" so that participants will be able to enjoy a smooth and continuous run.

The Organizing Committee is really encouraged by the support and enthusiasm which has been witnessed so far. Many local merchants such as the Trail Shop, the Deli, Neill's and Salad Gardens have been supportive as well as sporting goods retailers such as Nike and Kangaroo. The Heart Marathon is for everyone - not just the experienced runners. It doosn't matter what age or shape you are, or what your running abilities are. What matters is that you are involving yourself in a worthwhile and physically active fund-raising event along with hundreds of others.

Since the underlying aim of the Heart Marathon is to raise money for the Heart Foundation it is really important to start gathering that pledge money. It's an easy aspect of the event to neglect, but one which requires just a little bit of work. All proceeds are given directly to the Heart Foundation to aid in their research efforts. By SARAH ABRAHAM Brunswickan Staff

This year's India Nite was staged at Le Centre Communautaire Sainte-Anne on Saturday. The SRC sponsored evening of music and dance was presented by the UNB India Association. Featured in the show were talented local performers from the Indian community and a special guest segment performed by "The Navarang Group" of Monced the opportunity to spend an evening sharing in the rich cultural heritage offered by the participants of India Nite.

strumental and vocal selections.

The instrumentalists combined traditional Indian instruments like the tabla, harmonium and tamboora, with the western acoustic and electric guitar. This unique synthesis of sound was truly pleasurable. The Compto-Electro-Chem-Connection, which included among its members our master of ceremonies, performed light pop music from popular Indian films.

Toward the end of the evening the "Nagarang" Group of Moncton, a troupe of Indian performers, presented "Image of India." This segment consisted of short musical sketches of Indian lifestyles from the village where men flirt with the young working women to the temple where families pay homage to their gods. The Navarang presentation was produced and directed by Sadhvi Baipai. On the whole, though slightly long in duration, India Nite provided a unique opportunity for local talent to perform for the public. More importantly, however, if offered the community at large a glimpse into one of the oldest and riches cultures in the world.

Opening the show was an Alarippu dance performed by young students of classical Indian dance. Intricate footwork coordinated with hand and eye movements made this a particularly enjoyable and well disciplined dance number. At the Woodshed

Friday and Saturday evening the Woodshed is pleased to present local song poet Paul Lauzon as our special entertainment feature.

Paul comes from a musical Quebec family. By age 14 he was playing guitar and writing songs. Since 1968 he has been active as a professional singer and actor. He has studied with private teachers in Montreal, Halifax and Boston, and also at the Canadian Mime School in Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Paul has worked for Theatre Vagabond, Theatre New Brunswick, CBC Radio and CBC TV. As a singersongwriter he has toured the British Isles and throughout North America. He has been involved in four LP recordings of original songs, the latest being "The Prisoner" on the largalon Records label. With Lutia Lauzon he has created 12 musical plays, all of which have been aired on regional and/or national radio. His work has been recognized by support from the Canada Council. In 1972 Paul was chosen CAPAC Canadian Songwriter of the Year.

Paul's performances are marked by a wide repertoire of original and traditional songs; a variety of instrumentation including 6 and 12 string guitar, harp, mandolin and harmonica; and an array of stories, jokes and monologues. As a performer he projects a warmth of feeling and a sense for the audience's needs. Paul is a direct descendent of the Troubadour - here to make you laugh, perhaps to make you cry, surely to relive the long forgotten pathways of the heart.

On Sunday, March 27th at 2:30 p.m. the Fredericton Chamber Orchestra and the Fredericton Choral Society will present the SAINT JOHN PASSION by J.S. Bach, at Wilmot United Church, Fredericton.

This oratoria, composed in 1723, was Bach's first setting of the narration of the Passion story and the meditation on the various events in that story. The part of the Evangelist, who recites the words of Saint John's Gospel (Chapters 18-19), will be sung by tenor, Brian Roberts, who is on the Faculty of Education at Memorial University, Newfoundland. He performed this role many times during his six years as a tenor soloist in Europe. Other soloists for this work are: Phyllis Knox from Saint John; Spencer Belyea, who is well-known in Saint John music circles; David Mitchell, who studies music in New York and is presently on the staff of the Bethany Bible College in Sussex; and Sharon Bachinski, who is a professor in the Geology Department here at UNB. Her lovely alto voice is wellknown in Fredericton as she performs regularly with the Bell Canto Singers and the Gilbert and Sullivan Society

British film

By WILFRED LANGMAID Brunswickan Staff

MARCH 25, 1983

The upcoming British film Party, Party is an eagerly awaited one. The spring of 1983 release of the film, directed by Terry Winsor and produced by Davina Belling and Clive Parsons, has been preceded by the December release of the movie soundtrack.

The movie Party, Party tells the story of New Year's Eve, the day, and then New Year's Eve, the party, and it has been described in press releases as a hilarious but accurate portrayal of young people and the enjoyment they seek.

The nostalgic festive party mood of the movie is effectively set by the music in the soundtrack. Old standards such as "Yakety Yak" and "Tutti Frutti" fit in nicely with timely selections prepared specially for the movie.

The musical "who's who' line-up on this album is indeed impressive. Elvis Costello and the Attractions start things off strongly with the title cut "Party, Party", tooling it with their own special sound. Other artists on the album include Sting of Police fame, Dave Edmunds, Bad Manners, Pauline Black. Altered Images, Madness, Modern Romance, Midge Ure, Bandarama, and Charles and Dave.

The music on this album is considerably diverse. It ranges from the punkish sounds of Madness in "Driving In My Car" to a slick pop rock sound somewhat like that of KC and the Sunshine Band with a poor man's ver-

Carl Dreyer's " The Passion Of Joan of Arc" is devoted entirely to the trial and execution of its neroine, Joan.

The trial is conducted in a brutal third degree manner, which has its twentiethcentury parallels. It is essentially an idealogical trial in which Joan must be led to condemn herself for the sake of power politics. Joan is the victim of earthly authority which cannot allow itself to be put to question by a young woman whose integrity of a vision would certainly challenge the wise and righteous religious men of that time.

demonstrates the facts in the grotesque manner in which they occurred. The unusual camera work and intense close ups boldy portray human persecution and suffering.

Marie Falconetti's superb performance, not as Joan the Warrior, but as Joan the sexless young woman surrounded by enemies whose calculated trickeries leave her confused. Her brief recantation displays doubt, not in her conviction, but for leaving a life she has barely known. Symbolic reminders of mortality surround her; perpetual imprisonment makes her painfully aware of impending spiritual and sion of Herb Alpert thrown in on the curious cut "Band Of Gold" by Modern Romance. Other notable tracks include "Run Rudolph Run" by veteran rockabilly artist Dave Edmunds and "No Feelings" by a 1950s version of the Go Go's called Bandarama. There are some really offbeat surprises too, one of the most striking of which is "Elizabethan Reggae" by Bad Manners. Picture a classic Elizabethan melody performed by a Bob Marley discipline and you've got it.

THE BRUNSWICKAN-17

Amongst the all-star cast of The Secret Policeman's Other Ball earlier this year which included Phil Collins, Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck, Bob Geldof, Johnny Fingers, and Donovan, Sting emerged as the dominant and most memorable musician. The same holds true on the Party, Party soundtrack. He is certainly one of the most talented and versatile artists in contemporary music, and his masterful handling of the deep bluesy "Need Your Love So Bad" and the old classic "Tutti Frutti" will add fuel to his proponents' fire.

All things considered, this album is a good investment. Some of the performers are suberb and most are enjoyable. As such, even if the movie itself falls flat on its face this spring, the soundtrack album will firmly stand on its own merits.

The story avoids the question of her visions. Her Sainthood too, is an irrelevancy. Simply, she was a person obviously sincere and determined to believe in her own innocence. This film is a commentary showing the "cruelties, prejudices, superstitions, hypocrisies and dogmatic assertions that have made up so great a part of the history of so many established churches."

Dreyer, not merely brings to life a historic event, but physical restraint and so she retracts choosing death and innocence.

Have you ever wondered When you'll wake up In the morning To have someone say It's your turn to receive Take it all!

Is it too much to ask That someday you can Freely take, Without any guilt, What you've been giving For so long?

And is it also Too much to ask that, Rather than being a tower of strength You can have one full day Of being a weeping willow, With all your feelings Lying limp around you Gathering strength from a great oak.

Quest for the Crown of Trent The final battle

by MIKE MACKINNON

MARCH 25, 1983

(Summary: Jar, accompanied by Tran and the sea captain Tralick, has gained the Turin Keep. Entering the keep through a breach in the outer wall he is knocked unconscious and thrown in a dark cell. A short while later he is confronted by Turin and informed he will have to fight the rulers best warrior. The fight is short lived as Drak puts an end to it. Jar takes advantage of the confusion to locate the crown.)

Jar stared about helplessly. There was no escape. Anyway, he was powerless against the wizard Drak. Turin reached to take the crown, but Drak stopped him.

"The crown is no longer yours." Drak said ominously. "Your betrayal has cut all promises between us." Turin started to protest but the wizard cut him short. "I will deal with you and your lack of faith after I have taken care of more pressing business." sizing his chances of using his army to delay Drak while he escaped. He realized Turin was no fool and knew his army was in Drak's control now. A shout of despair broke from Turin's mouth and he ran across the compound to the breech in the wall. Drak merely turned and watched, allowing Turin to gain the outer wall. He snapped his fingers as Turin stepped through the opening. The ruler fell back into the keep and collapsed on the ground. He writhed in agony, clutching at his throat. Drak watched calmly, his face frozen into complacency. He snapped his fingers again and Turin arched his back, screaming at the sky, his hands clawing at the air. Saliva trickled from his mouth as the scream became a low gurgling sound. The saliva turned red and Turin slumped on to the dirt. After a final twitch

As Drak turned back to the Badlands and Jar felt this was what had given him his greater powers.

"You have seen how I deal with those who don't please me." Drak said. "You have caused a great deal of trouble, even though the outcome was inevitable. It is a constant source of amazement the way you lower races feel you can out wit or defeat a wizard. Had it not been for your friend Valton I would have resolved this matter earlier. No matter though; he is dead and you soon will be. The crown will belong to me as will the continent of Haln. Nymn I already control. Soon the world will feel my revenge for the wrongs done to me by your Valton and his council of wizards."

Jar tried to gain some time in the hopes his friends would show up. He wondered again where they were.

"What wrongs were committed?" been easier for him but I chose to allow him to observe my actions as I ruined his beloved council. The council I destroyed but not without harm to myself. A spell was more powerful than I thought and I was trapped in the dimension in which you found me."

"You have used the people of Haln and Nymn for your selfish means." Jar shouted angrily. "You have manipulated many lives, mine included, in order that you may gain revenge. It is about time you were stood up to."

The wizard laughed mirthlessly. "I suppose you feel you have that ability. You have been quite persistant in your attempts to foil my plans but all you have succeeded in doing is delaying me. You will not stand in my way any longer."

Jar decided to attempt a bluff. "What about the talisman Drak?" Drak's face paled and he stepped back. "Your power is based on that Talisman and I have it."

"It will not work for you, only I possess the secret of releasing its power."

Jar shook his head. "You're wrong Drak." The wizard show no mention. "I was able to use the talisman to dispell the amnesia you had placed on me before boarding the ship at the Oceanic Port. I know it was the shaman who was watching me from the dock."

Emotion played across the wizard's face. "no matter." he said through clenched teeth. "Your will is obviously stronger than I had thought but you will still give in to my power. I have waited a long time for this moment and not even you will stop me from achieving what I want." up but found he could not move. The greenish glow grew deeper in color and turned the fabric of the air into an opaque sheet. The sheet wrapped itself around the wizard forming a protective cocoon.

"Give me the talisman." The voice came from within the cocoon. "It will be useless to you. Nothing can penetrate my aura."

Jar tried to speak but his mouth and throat were too dry. "You won't get it Drak." he rasped.

"Fool." Drak raised his arms over his head. Jar scrambled to his feet and prepared himself for the blast.

"I haven't got the talisman." he shouted through cracked lips. The forces Drak was drawing to himself were buffeting Jar and making standing difficult. The wizard did not appear to hear him. Jar started to back away, hoping that Drak would be blind from his madness and not see him.

"Don't move, Farnel." the wizard warned. "There will be no escape from my wrath. Even if you don't have the talisman I will still destroy you. I no longer need it, I have grown beyond the weakness of using it as a catalyst.

Now prepare to die."

The air about Jar exploded into fury. Green flame lashed at him, causing his skin to burn in agony. The crown he still clutched in his right hand absorbed much of the heat and took on the greenish glow. The red jewel in the crown burst into flame. Jar stared at the crown, not comprehending what was happening.

"Put the crown on your head." Jar could barely hear Drak laughed hollowly. "Did Valton not tell you?" Valton had told Jar about Drak's history but Jar wanted to hear it from the wizard himself.

"I was banned from the Council of Wizards because of my curiosity of the darker aspects of wizardry... scorcery. That was a fate I could not bear so I plotted the downfall of the council. Valton was able figure out was I was up so he tried to stop me. He failed though and I imprisoned him in the ravine. Death would have

During the exchange the guards had moved back and formed a circle around Jar and the wizard. Drak extended his arm and turned his hand so the palm faced Jar. An invisible force hurled Jar against the wall of Turin's quarters. The wizard laughed ominously and stepped in front of Jar. He stood there with his legs splayed and hands on hips, glaring. The air abut him took on a greenish glow and Jar could feel the tingle of electricity. He tried to stand the voice and had difficulty placing it. "The crown. Put it on."

Jar stared at the crown again. Dare he do it? He was going to die if he did not do something so he placed the crown on his head. A searing pain penetrating his scalp where it came in contact with the metal. The smell of burning flesh assailed his nose as he grabbed at the crown in agony. He tried removing it but it would not come off. The air cleared and Jar was able to see Drak stan-(continued on p. 20) 20-THE BRUNSWICKAN

Discovery of power

(continued from p. 19) ding not more than ten feet from him, still wrapped in the green cocoon. Energy burst from it in green bolts of flame. The ring of guards had scattered and Jar saw his three companions watching the battle. Valton stood there with them.

Jar wondered why Valton was not participating in the fight, instead of just standing there watching. Valton seemed to sense the question on Jar's mind.

"Jar, you have to fullfill your destiny." Jar did not understand. Too much was happening to him. "Jar, the crown is yours. That is why you were chosen to go on this quest. Only you can defeat Drak." That is why you were able to use the talisman just as you can use the crown. Drak knows that."

Drak whirled about and stabbed a finger in Valton's direction. The wizard placed both paims to accept the blow. A golden fireball smacked into them, throwing the wizard into Tran and the others. Jar watched helplessly, now knowing how to use the power he was supposed to have. Drak threw another fireball at the aroup and Valton accepted its force once again. It was only a matter of time before Valton was too weak to protect himself and the others. Jar clenched his fists in frustration.

ed to answer. "It hardly matters. With the crown the talisman's location will be known to me."

"A lot of good that will do you." Jar retorted. "It lies at the bottom of the ocean."

Drak exploded into a rage of fury. Green flame lashed out at Jar's companions. Valton tried to form a protecting shield but is was faint. He lacked too much the necessary strength. Jar screamed in frustration, his fist clanching at his sides. White fire exploded from the crown and enveloped him. The sound of the explosion caused Drak to turn. The flame that surrounded him shot towards Jar but it could not penetrate the white fire. Jar stepped towards Drak and drove the flame back. Drak stood his ground, forcing the green flame to grow in intensity. Jar fed his anger to the white fire and its brightness was too much for onlookers. He stepped into the cocoon around Drak and embraced the wizard. Drak screamed in agony as Jar's white fire extinguished his flame. Slowly the cocoon faded so that Drak was immersed in white fire. Jar watched as the wizards face melted revealing his skull. His lips were drawn back in a grimace. The white fire burned away the wizard's clothing. Still Jar continued his embrace, driven on by his anger. Anger at the manipulation of his life, anger at the harm done to his friends by Drak and anger at the lack of control he had over his life. With a final groan of pain Drak slumped in Jar's arms. Jar let him drop to the ground.

The white fire burned out of control. It fed on Jar's angers and he had no way of stopping it. He looked for an outlet to expend the rest of his anger. The guards of Turin's army stood about watching Jar. He turned his wrath against them. They scattered before his fury. He wandered about the compound aimlessly letting his fury subside. White fire lashed out in all directions but slowly it died out. When the fire was completely dead he turned to his friends wearily.

They were staring at him astonishment. Only Valton was smiling.

"You did Jar. You have destroyed Drak and the threat to Haln."

"So how come I don't feel happy?" Jar demanded.

"You have just discovered a power that scares you. That power will be with you all your life so you had better learn to to master it. It was in control of you."

Jar glared at the wizard. "I don't want the power. I'm tired of this whole quest. All I want is to go back to Trent and try and forget this whole ordeal."

Valton placed an arm around Jar's shoulders. "It is not that easy. I told you before to fulfill your destiny and I say it again. At this very moment Haln is on the verge of civil war. I have "Jar, you are weary from the battle and the discovery of your power. In time you will grow out of this weariness and come to accept the power."

"What if I become too accustomed to power? What if I misuse it?"

"We all have that potential."

Jar smiled softly to his companions when they approached him. Not a word was spoken yet much passed between them. With a sigh Jar turned and led them from the keep. He did not bother to look back at the charred smouldering remains of the wizard who had tried so hard to destroy him.

A breeze came up and blew across the compound stirring the tattered material of Drak's robe. The burnt skinless bones of the wizard's right hand flexed slightly then were still.

Married?

Drak extended both arms and green bolts flashed out towards Jar. Instinctively he raised his hands to fend off the blow. The bolt glanced off them harmlessly to smash into the wall. Jar stared at his hands in surprise. Again Valton tried to explain Jar's role.

"Drak needs that crown just as he needs the talisman. Both were forged by the same wizard and both give their owners the power of the original owner. Jar your ancestors came from the wizards. You are half man, half wizard. He watched as Drak readied himself to hit again. The wizard turned to him.

"Valton is right Jar. Just as you can destroy me you can save the lives of your friends. I will destroy them, crush them like flies, unless you hand the crown over to me."

"Don't give it to him." Valton said weakly. "With the crown and the talisman he will be unstoppable."

"I don't have the talisman." Jar replied.

"Where is the talisman?" Drak demanded. Jar refusbeen able to delay it somewhat but it is inevitable. Drak was merely a means for that war to come about. Haln is about to undergo a change and the only person who can control that change is you."

"What if I don't want to have anything to do with it?"

"You have no choice."

Wearily Jar shrugged the wizard's arm from his shoulder. "I had a feeling when I first undertook this quest my life would be different. The shaman's warnina came true."

Our puritan beginnings

By CAMPBELL MORRISON

About 200 years ago a ew loyal British subjects came to rest on this place, that we now call Fredericton. They ran from America because of some recent political developments which they thought were dangerous - such as democracy. Well, these Puritans arrived here, which was frontier New Brunswick, and decided they were uneducated. So, These Loyalist Puritans took 6,000 acres of woods and created the College of New Brunswick. There were nc buildings on the 6,000 acres however, so they were forced to use the back of someone's cottage for classes, which would be on University Ave. if it still existed.

The curriculum, as you might well imagine, was quite limited. They could pray or work, which all Canada's first ever Law Fraternity has sprung up at the UNB Law School. Delta Theta Phi, a U.S. based law fraternity installed the officers of its UNB chapter Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Zed was appointed Dean of the Fraternity with Vice Dean Tim Dunlop and three honorary members, Attorney General M.F. Dubé, Mr. David Hachey Q.C., and Professor Daniel Hurley installed. The chapter entitled "Viscount R.B. Bennett" (so named in honour of the ex New Brunswick Prime Minister) has an official membership of 14 males and female(s). The Fraternity, itself, is academically oriented as well as socially and its objectives include the creation of such projects as a scholarship fund and an endowment fund. In addition, the benefits of a Fraternity with such an international base provide for an extensive referral system, discounts at hotels, businesses, and organizations, an insurance plan, 4 issues of the "Paper Book" the official publication of Delta Theta Phi, and individual members' names listed in an International Directory.

Delta Theta Phi came to the attention of UNB students by Fraternity Chancellor Jim Baine of Arkansaw who visited the campus earlier this year. The Fraternity which presently stands at 80,000 official student and alumnai members is experiencing a surge in growth and Zed notes that correspondence with the University of Saskatchewan, Ottawa University, University of Windsor, and Dalhousie is progressing in the hope of a Canadian expansion. Zed is planning to attend a Delta Theta Phi convention in Dallas, Texas this summer with funds allocated by the alumni. In addition, an alumnai drive in Fredericton is to begin shortly.

they couldn't do anything else because a Puritan who isn't working or praying is crippled by guilt. However, the College of New Brunswick came up with a wonderful idea. They combined the two, praying and working, and added academic overtones, and created the first course at the young UNB - Astronomy 1000. Staring at stars was a mortal attempt to speak with God, so they were praying, and periodically they scratched something down on a piece of paper and mailed it to Greenwich, which was the British Empire's centre of astronomical observation, and 50 convinced themselves that there were also working. Although it is commendable that the history of UNB's interest in astronomy is so deep, there was one drawback in that the professor's used each other's lecture notes, because of this it has only been two years since UNB astronomy students discovered that the earth was not the centre of the universe.

Puritans were good at, but

Even in 1804 the reasons people had for coming here were ridiculous.

However, I'm sentimental enough to be joyously warmed by the thought of UNB's humble beginnings. Imagine being a student fighting off sheep to get to an 8:30 class, Praying 3815. The sheep's wool sticks to your pantlegs like burs while you sit through the class held in the back of someone's cottage on a map-weapons" had to be left outside. Oh, shucks, I lost a perfectly good bazooka. "IIlegal weapons" my Lord! I know they found a bottle or two. One was dumped out almost on my feet. But, funny enough, I saw at least a half dozen bottles or wineskins inside. Effective security. But maybe I'm complaining too much. My throat wasn't cut with an "illegal weapon." A question. Where were the police? True, there was one token police cruiser outside, but at every other concert l've been to, they were more than happy to "help out" at the door. Aren't they paid to do this? 3. how effective the security was. (A Note: I saw several student police walking around on the floor during the concert. Funny enough, but those "substances" kept on being consumed. Not once did I see a member of the student police attempt to stop this activity, although you would have had to be blind to miss it. Actually, that's wrong. All you needed was a sense of smell!) (Heli, I wouldn't have been surprised to find a bunch of people sitting around a hookah! The security people probably wouldn't know what to do with a water pipe. I could offer a few "suggestions".) 4. We were forced to

4. We were forced to stand outside on a rather cold night until 7:35 at the earliest. I was lucky to be near the head of the line. The concert was supposed to start at 8:00 p.m. Did they consider 25 minutes enough time to "process" everybody? I know that bands never start on time, but why were we kept outside? The excuse was "we aren't ready." When Will you be ready?

5. Considering the number of them hovering around, it seemed that the events was designed to spotlite the SP and not the bands. A lot of them walked around with flash lights and pretended to be important, while the rest just spent their time pagoing, and whatever else those people do. For the record, I am political. I couldn't care less what a person's politics are. But party politics at the Student Union level? I mean, really! Is there something that makes a person feel "grown up" by wearing the buttons and belonging to one of these parties? Well they certainly don't act it. what with their ridiculous posters everywhere and their assumption that what they're doing means anything. Grow up, children.

I voted for John Bosnitch, in the last election. Surprising? Considering the success we've had with presidents the last few years, I figured he'd at least be consciencious. Well, I listen to the SRC meetings. I find that Mr. Bosnitch is there to serve one person, and to hear one person's voice. I leave it to your imagination to guess who I'm referring to. What has he done for the students of UNB? What does the entire SRC do except argue the same points over and over again? And they do like to take votes. A lot of "unity" in the results, I might add. I wouldn't be surprised if they attempt to change their name to SRC/SP. Funny? I'm not laughing. I may have criticized the Brunswickan in the past. Weli, at least you have integrity. (A brief word to Ms. Walker: I hope you don't consider your efforts this year to be in vain. I hope your successor has principles as high as yours. Good luck in whatever you do in the future).

I'll be leaving this university this spring. For the first time, I won't be able to say I'm sorry. What is there to miss? The pettiness? I'll miss those people, students and faculty, who really cared. Not those who tried so hard to make us believe they care. You know who you are. Some may be glad that I'm leaving. It makes me sad to say it, but I'm glad to. Hell what happened to this place?

Support the referendum

Dear Editor;

I feel compelled to write considering this is the last issue of the Brunswickan and my last year at UNB.

While I sit writing, I am overwhelmed by a series of ideas about the past two years which I feel were unfortunate but, I am inclined to chalk those events up to 'political experience'. This is to say, people who want your job more than you do will do anything to destroy you to get it. Enough said. My real intentions for writing this letter is to ask all UNB students to support the referendum to raise SRC fees for the Third Century Fund. There are so many things on this campus, especially for you as UNB students, which will benefit from this worthy fund raising endeavour. The period of time in which I was involved, I witnessed many students donating to the Third Century Fund and I would like to say thank you because you gave me much pride knowing there are many students who really do care about the future of UNB.

Before I wittle away your attention, I would like to ask you to find out about Third Century Fund, help the Third Century Fund, help UNB, and finally, help yourself.

India Nite was a success

Dear Friends,

It is our pleasure to inform everyone that "India Nite '83" held on March 19, 1983 turned out to be a great success. This was very apparent from the packed audience that attended the event. From the reaction of the audience and the views expressed by individuals, we are thoroughly pleased to know that the occasion was an enjoyable one. We write this letter in appreciation of the support extended in making this event a success.

We are grateful to SRC and the executives for making this event possible. We are also thankful to the media including Brunswickan for giving wide publicity. We express our gratitude for all the participants whose untiring efforts made this event successful. We would like to thank all well wishers of the UNB India Association for giving us the moral support and the encouragement. We are certain that the occasion will get better in the years to come and we look forward to it.

Thank you,

Executives of UNB India Association

Dear Editor:

We, the undersigned, have been feeling somewhat left out of the party politics scene at UNB lately. In order to remedy the situation, we have decided to create our own political party - THE FID-DLEHEAD PARTY. Our objective will be to promote Maritime culture by bridging the gap between education and socialization, i.e., having a good time at university. (Isn't that what it's all about in the first place?) We are an equal opportunity party stressing the following characteristics: 1. Able to eat several help-

To The Bruns Staff,

Thanks for the bad press. Sometimes what you consider the truth hurts. Next time we will ask for and hopefully receive your support in promoting a concert. I don't want to tell you how to report a story but what I would like to hear is some constructive criticism not some negative trend reinforcement just before a concert! We found your editorial a little harsh but more fair than viewpoint and mugwump of your last issue.

STUDENT ASSISTANTS IN-VALUABLE

As spring rapidly approaches we come to the end of another year in the Physical Recreation and Intramural Program. While there was the occasional problem, on the whole the year would have to be declared a success. Much of the credit must go to the approximately 250 student volunteers who served as coordinators, convenors, referees- in- chief, officials, team managers/captains, and sport club executives. Without their dedication and hard work the program as we know it would not exist. On behalf of all the participants and the staff. I would like to extend a sincere thank you to all the students who helped this year.

If you would like to become involved with a dynamic program, meet some new friends, gain some valuable experience, and earn a little spending money, we need you. You don't need experience --just interest and enthusiasm. All those wishing to work in the Physical Recreation and Intramural Program next year should contact the Recreation Office, Room A120 L.B. Gym.

Good luck to all in your exams. Best wishes for a pleasant summer.

CO-ED VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE The Co-Ed Volleyball League Play-offs were held Wednesday, March 16, 1983. In Semi-Final play, the Social Club beat the Hooters 15 - 6 and 15 - 9 while the Earthquackers snuck by C.S. (Chervl Smith) with scores of 15 - 6, 7 - 15 and 15 - 12. The Social Club and the Earthquackers met for the Finals at 9:30 pm. The Social Club lost their first game 15 - 8 then went on to defeat the Earthquackers 15 - 7 and 15 - 12. Members of the victorious Social Club team are: Paul Murray (Manager and Captain), Moyra Dolan, Jackie Greenman, Kathy Doyle, Todd Moore, Joanne Daigle and Les Graham. Congratulations Social Club!

MEN'S ICE HOCKEY

The Men's Intramural and Inter-Residence Ice Hockey Leagues have come to an end of another season. Sixteen teams in Intramurals and eight teams in Inter-Residence advanced to the Play-offs. There were a number of upsets in the preliminary games as teams who were ranked higher went down to defeat. In the Intramural Semi-final games Computer Science defeated the Buck Fuffaloes 5 to 0 and D.Y.G.S.P. narrowly defeated P.S.S.A. 1 -0. The Championshop game was closely contested with the score at the end of the third period tied at 2 - 2 but Computer Science scored first in the sudden death overtime to defeat D.Y.G.S.P. 3 - 2. In the Inter-Residence league one goal determined the winner in both Semi-Final games. Neill upset Harrison 3 - 2 and MacKenzie defeated Aitken 2 - 1. In the Final Game in front of a sizable crowd, Neill took an early lead to defeat MacKenzie 4 -1. Congratulations to the Champions and special thanks to the officials, timer/scorers and equipment room managers.

Women's Ice Hockey Tournament Results

Sunday night, March 20, was an evening of fun and laughter for the four teams who participated in the first ever Women's Ice Hockey Tournament. They were the Red Losers, who emerged as the tournament champions, the Tibbits Tigers, the Write-Offs, and the Shooting Stars. The first game of the elimination tournament found the Red Losers against the Shooting Stars who may have been looking at the stars instead as the Red Losers beat them 12 - 0. Tibbits then lost to the Write-Offs 0 - 6. Thus, the consolation final pitted the Shooting Stars against the Tibbits Tigers. The Shooting Stars came back to earth to beat Tibbits 5 - 1 and win the consolation final. In an exciting final game between the Red Losers and the Write-Offs it looked as though the Write-Offs would be tough competitors as they scored the first goal. However, the Red Losers came back to win the Championship. Members of the Red Losers team are Gail Costello, Janice Morrison, Anne Campbell, Donna Phillips, Kathryn Mac-Dougall, Barb Leaman, Caroline Ball, Leanne Fitch, and Marleigh Moran.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

This years Intramural Basketball program wrapped up on March 17/83 involving ten teams with a close competition for first place in the League. In the Semi-finals the Razzamatazzers managed to outlast the Red Sticks by four points and the other game saw the Dunn Dunkers down Tibbits by a score of 37 - 25. On the Consolations side of the Play-off Single Elimination Tournament, the Forestry Dribblers

Bruns Sports Quiz

Even though the NHL's Stanley Cup tournament is a few weeks away, this is the last issue of the Bruns for this school year, and we at the Bruns Sports staff thought we'd close off with this little quizz to help get you in the mood for the REAL NHL season. So, enjcy! (But no cheating!)

1. Only two teams, in the history of Stanley Cup play have been down 3 games to none, then come back to win the series 4-3. The Toronto Maple Leafs, in the '40's, were one team. Which was the other team, what season did they accomplish this feat in, and who were their opponents?

2. In the 1970-71 season, goalie Ken Dryden led the Canadiens to a surprising Stanley Cup Championship, as a rookie. Only one other team won the cup with a rookie between the pipes; what team was that, in what year, and who was their netminder?

3. Which one of the following NHL players has never played on a Stanley Cup winner? A. Stan Mikita B. Jean Rateile C. Gary Doak D. Al Arbour.

4. Which expansion team was the first post-1967 team to win a Stanley Cup play-off game against one of the "original six", which team did they win it against, and in what soason?

5. Which NHL player helped the U.S. Olympic team win the gold medal in hockey in 1980, then went on to join his NHL team, and help them win the Stanley Cup later that same year?

6. Which Canadian-based team, aside from the Montreal Canadiens, was the last one to win the Stanley Cup and what year did they win it in?

7. True or false: the Boston Bruins have won the most Cups of any American-based team.

8. In the mid-70's, Fred Shero led the Philadelphia Flyers to 3 straight finals, winning 2 of those. The Flyers also made it to the 1979-80 finals. Who was the man behind the bench for Philly in that season?

9. Who scored the winning goal in the final game of that series? (Hint: it was in overtime.)

10. Who won the Conn Smythe trophy in the 1981 Stanley Cup play-offs?

THE BRUNSWICKAN-27 Coleen Dufresne: Red Bloomers

COLEEN DUFRESNE - JUST progress and scholastic YOUR AVERAGE CIAU COACH OF THE YEAR

The figure sits on the end of the bench. The banter between her and the two figures beside her seems endless. Suddenly a whistle blows and the figure is up, checking on a referees call or a players thoughts. More play, another whislte, and a horn sounds. The public address announcer intently states "time out, UNB". The players in red quickly gather around as plays are changed, weaknesses re-discussed, and strategy is laid. The horn blows again, and the teams are summonded. A quick word with her floor leader and the figure is seated again, totally engrossed in the task at hand. This is the side of Coleen Dufresne that the public gets to see. But the part of Coleen Dufresne that is really important in her job as coach of the University of New Brunswick Red Bloomers is the part that most people know little about. Her dedication shows in the hours of practise, the many meetings with both the team as a whole and the players individually. This is the part of Coleen Dufresne that earned her the plaque that now hangs on her wall. it simply states: "CIAU COACH OF THE YEAR, 1982-83"

Coleen Dufresne is someone many would class as a disciplinarian. A few simple policies must be followed if a player is to be successful in her system. Academics, of course, are a must. She undefeated at that. How easy follows her players academic it seemed.

And if Coleen says something you know she means it. No punches pulled for this lady. When it comes to talking about her team, "humble" is not one of her strong points. Nor need it be! Early in the season Coleen would tell anyone that asked that her team would easily capture the AUAA championship, and then she led her Red Bloomers to an easy romp through the Atlantic University world, and

INTRAMURAL BALL HOCKEY

The Intramural Ball Hockey League has just ended another successful and enjoyable season. The league consisted of fourteen teams segragated into two divisions, Red and Black respectively. Each team played a total of six games each, with the top two teams in each division advancing to the Play-offs. This year's semi-finalist were 1st place Forestry Grads and 2nd place Big Lads representing the Red Division, and the 1st place Miramichi Manics and 2nd place Forestry Engineers representing the Black Division. The first place team in each the respective division, played the 2nd place team of the opposing division; therefore, matching the Forestry Engineers against the Forestry Grads and pitting the Big Lads against undefeated Miramichi Manics. Both semi-final matches were fast-paced and exciting, unfortunately only two teams could earn the right to ad-scoring three goals a piece. Early in the second period the Miramichi squad applied the pressure and went on top 5 to 3 but the Forestry Grads caught their second wind and raced back to pull ahead 6 - 5 at the conclusion of the second period. The third period was the most exciting of all three periods. The Forestry Grads team started with a full steam of attack and nearly dominated the third period. With less than six minutes to go the Forestry Grads were winning 10 - 6 and looked like sure winners, but then the tables turned and the Miramichi Manics roared back and scored 4 unannounced goals tying the game at 10 - 10 with less than a minute left to play in regulation time. Suddenly there was a scramble front of the Forestry Grads net and with less than 25 seconds left to go, Roy Mills scored the winner (one of his five goals for the game). Both teams played valiantly and were worthy contenders for the Championship, but the Miramichi Manics proved to be the better team for this year ending.

Hey! Why not join the ski team

By IVAN

Everbody in Canada is aware of the successes of the National Ski team. The names of Steve Podborski, Ken Read, Gerry Sorenson, Laurie Graham and Tod Brooker have become as familiar these last few years as that of your favorite brew.

Although it has had little publicity, UNB does indeed have a ski team. And yes, they're OK. They participate in the N.B. Cup circuit; a regional set of stalom and giant slalom races held under the auspices of the CSA and the N.B. ski association. This year, four different meets were held; two in Campbellton, one in Sussex and the final one in Edmundston.

UNB Ski Club racers compete as a team for overall team points which count towards the NB Cup. As well, individuals vie for individual titles in the same manner as World Cup races.

After a very close struggle throughout the season between UNB, St. John and Edmundston, the final races at Mt. Farlagne resulted in St. John edging out UNB by only 4 points for the NB cup.

By Darrel Bradbury

Leafing through last Friday's edition of the Brunswickan at my usual torrid pace I failed to read the column by Nick the Greek.

After attending my classes I felt that since it was Friday afternoon, I would get myself highly motivated to conquer a fierce enemy, one who gives no sympathy, throws lightening fast manouvers

Individually, Patsy Dawson wrapped up the women's senior cup after a 1st in the slalom and a 3rd in the GS at Edmundston. In the same races Doug Johnson got 1st in the slalom and 2nd in the GS in the men's senior A division. But there's more to it than racing. Someone once said when skiing becomes more trouble than it is fun, then it's time to quit. It would not be presumptuous to say that the people skiing for UNB have no intentions of quitting. Is ski racing the reason for savage road trips to such "exotic" destinations as Campbellton or Sussex, or merely the excuse? Who forget the could 'seriousness' of ski tuning the night before or the training session at the Arms. Or Doug Johnson in the starting gate uttering his famous "Have a good run guys." And especially Dave Jusnierczyck's rendition of the Stones' 'Angle' (as well as various assorted rugby songs). All in all it made for some finest kind adventures and provided fond memories for everyone (However expensive they may be Steve).

This year's UNB Ski club

Nick, had offered me space in the Brunswickan as a punishment for making a mockery of his interesting little column and his unique writing style. Nick believed that since he worked for three newspapers his image had been unduly violated when I frankly informed him that he had no journalistic ability whatsoever. With that intro let me reveal my story.

What constitutes a good

These people may not have the publicity of the Red Raiders or the Red Devils, but they certainly know what and who they are. (And maybe so will everybody else - for better or for worse - after the Can Am.)

Every good reporter realizes that a story must be factually correct. It cannot contain inaccuracies or personal opinion. It must be objective and relate only the events that actually took place. This is especially true of sports writers because it is their objective to give a clear, concise analysis of the proceedings. Failure to do so could mean a loss in credibility and readers, a fate worse than death to a serious reporter. The reporter must

Following a derecgatory remark aimed at establishing some sort of sexually deviant rendezvous, Tallon responded by hitting Ms. Paul in the nose with an empty Coke can.

"I feel like Marsha Brady," responded Paul when asked to comment about the incident. Roulstoned maintains his position with an impeccable defense prepared by his SP lawyers. His statement, "I believe there has been some sort of misunderstanding. Common SP sexual practices utilize empty Coke cans. I was merely making my intentions clear to Paul. SPCO created

By MOGI Bumswickan Staff

Last night, during a large meeting, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Oranges was created. The rise of the SPCO was caused by the actions of the Tupperware party which demanded that every new member to be done!"

The first objective that the group has is to force the TP to stop using oranges. Realizing that these victimizers of oranges may not wish to stop using oranges voluntarily they are proposing that the Student Union have a referendum to matter. Th decide the question would read: "Do you believe that oranges should never be used as a membership dues to any organization, club or committee at UNB."

Nik finally gets it kidnap a helpless orange and give it to the Party. This new group believes that the orange is nature's most perfect fruit and should not be degraded as merely an item necessary to join the Tupperware Party.

When asked why the group has only started up, now the leader of the SPCO Mr. Egnaro responded "Of course we were angered when the Tupperware Party first subjected oranges to the status of a membership dues however when we began hearing reports that they were actually cutting their oranges in two and squeezing the juice out of them we felt something had

The group has other objectives to promote the respect they feel oranges deserve. They wish to forbid the printing of any recipe that uses oranges, create a Bill of Rights for Oranges, have the post office print a stamp with an orange, and of course create an Orange Foundation to investigate the many illnesses, some even fatal, that oranges can get.

The bullet riddled body of Ace Sports writer, Nik the Geek, was found early Wednesday morning. The body was found by Bumswickan • business manager • • Deke McDoorknob. Said Deke, " I just came into the office, sat down and typed out my assignment for about an hour. Well, I asked Nik if he heard that the Exbos had blown away the cards last night. I got no answer so I looked over and saw these bullet holes all over the place and great big pools of blood on the freshly waxed floor. Right away I grabbed my camera and snapped a few shots, I mean, you know the Dairy Creamer would pay at least 15 bucks for these. Then about an hour later the heat arrived. They snooped through everything. I mean, they even found my dust man.

It's not known who committed the murder, or rather the alleged murder, according to our SRC prey, but it is speculated that there are several suspects being investigated. John Gory, radio announcer and Quiché-eater supreme is on top of the list because Nik had a higher percentage in picking NFL winners. John Bodfish, president of the student radical council is second on the list, rumour has it that he and his party, the student pansies have not appreciated Nik's fores into news.

Also rumoured to be involved are people that Nik often referred to as "friends from the old country," you know the type, black suits, fedora and they always carry musical instruments.

The student police expect to make an arrest before the end of the week, if they can ever stop smoking dope in the SUB. 4-THE BUMSWICKAN

Political Perversions with Hutchard Ichens

In this week's perversions, I would like to announce my candidacy in the upcoming Conservative leadership campaign.

Being a non-partisan individual, I am certain that such an undertaking will facilitate a favourable response from long-standing Conservative back benches.

Robert Stanfield and the late John Deifenbaker's 12 year old mongrel "Lester" are two prominent individuals whom I intend to fully endorse in my bid for the leadership. They will also have guaranteed Cabinet portfolios.

In addition, I have support from a number of reputable Liberal party affiliates including Trudeau's hairdresser and Judy Erola's gynecologist because I essentially endorse a liaison with the Liberal Party of Canada.

Party politics as we have seen on a large scale are totally useless and accomplish very little. Canada is in such a political dilemna then to welcome such an innovative concept. The newly formed Conlibs are the answer! Support a winner! Support me!

As a late addition to perversions, I would like to add an additional Party affiliation, Conlibs/SP are the only alternative! With myself installed as party leader, John Bodfish Fredericton's leading upstanding citizen can take over the Cabinet post with the highest profile and the most political power, Minister of Finance. In this position he and other SP members are looking into developing a new coal consortium in Nova Scotia (or has it already been done?)

By GERARD FINNIHADDIE

It has been revealed to the Burnswickan by a confidential source that only I know about (actually I just happened to be working SUB staff that night so I practically saw the whole thing myself) that SRC Vicepresident Wimothy Wethbwidge was sexually assaulted by close to a dozen female UNB students. Wethbwidge was apparently overheard by the girls when he announced in the Bumswickan offices late one night, "I lust after all women.'

Determined to put this boast to the test, the twelve really know what this word means but I overheard someone, well, okay, my exgirlfriend, used it to describe me to her roommate at Titbits. So I think it's a good word to use because I'm really a sexy hunk and all that and she just wanted me for my body only now it's been so long that I don't really remember. Maybe ! should volunteer to walk some cute chick home -- all us guys at Kneel and Get Lucky house do that kind of stuff -- she'd be sure to fall for my toothy boyish grin and a body that won't quit) waylaid women Wethbwidge on his way home and dragged him into the nearest men's washroom. The vicepresident fought valiantly for his honour, squeaming, "I'm saving myself for mawridge."

Those wicked girls didn't even listen and Wimothy was forced to satisfy them all. He then left quickly (I know because my face got caught in the door where I was listening) determined to hide his humiliation from the world. (I looked in the can and there they were, the sluts, all asleep with smiles on their faces.)

Concert control a problem

According to Gorbes, several High School students were caught leap-people were charged with ramming the twelve or so student spectators on the floor of the Aiking University Centre. All twenty spectators in the seating area arrived at the same time and wanting the same seat. CP's quickly, after a half hour, managed to bring things under control.

Campus Police also had problems with the constantly moving crowd when SRC President John Bodfish arrived on the stage to boast. The crowd, eager to meet and hear Bodfish, pushed and shoved through nine people to get close to the stage. The CP's managed to calm the crowd with SP buttons.

The end of the concert also caused problems. As the sixty or so spectators left, many tried to leave out the same door at the same time. Gorbes and her CP's also had problems with controlling the crowds around

Imperial Gonad missing

By KILLER GNOME/SP Bumswickan Staff

The Supperware Party/SP held an emergency meeting yesterday to decide upon what action shall be taken on the mysterious disappearance of its Imperial Gonads.

Michelob Crinkle, the Imperial Gonad of the SP/SP, was reported missing when he failed to show up at the latest FLAG meeting.

Various solutions were put forth, some of which were either illegal or fattening

One of the members suggested that they should hire a spray plane to spray Fredericton with orange juice. Rumour has it, that any member of the Supperware Party/SP, when sprayed with orange juice becomes extremely sexually aroused and cannot be restrained by any force known to man. Hopefully the Imperial Gonad would escape, the member stated, but then another member mentioned that he may vent his lust on innocent small furry animals, and thus the idea was abandoned.

One other member suggested the membership should enmasse search the

Finnihadie replaced

Meager said that Bodfish jumped up and down and threatened to hold his breath if Finnihadie was allowed to remain as chair-, man.

Bodfish informed Meager that Finnihadie had something he wanted and he felt he should have it because he took his other job. Bodfish said he wanted everything Finnihadie had as President.

In an interview with the Bums, Bodfish confided that Finnihadie was a "bad boy", at least that was the image he was successful in giving him, and he thought he had him out of politics. Bodfish said he thought he could do

Others suggested they enlist the aid of the Student Pansies to track him down using their Killer Chihuahua tracking dogs. That idea was scraped for obvious reasons.

The final solution was to abandon their intrepid leader and elect a new Imperial Gonad.

a better job because, "UNB understood him and that he was UNB."

Meager said Finnihadie did a good job but Bodfish could be a real "poop" if he didn't get his way. Meager hoped that Bodfish could make the campaign successful. Meager also informed the Bums that Bodfish threatened to take his job away. Bodfish denied this saying he never says bad things about people and that he hated sports.

Campus Serviettes Limited/SP holds a great pep rally and invite lots of friends free!

We think the Payola$/Bopcats concert was a really wonderful way for the Student Pansies to attract a lot of attention. We think the 600 odd people who were smart enough to get that great deal on those tickets (only $17.50) should be commended, and the SP thought so too; after all, weren't they handing out SP badges to everyone in attendance including the band members? Isn't it wonderful that the SP'ers are dedicated enough to hand out propaganda to naive junior high school students

Also, it's wonderful that a group of dedicated CSL (Campus Serviettes Limited) board of directors would be taking nothing more than a ticket for their pains -- and yet many of these same people, mostly Student Pansy members, would mercilessly slash already pitiful honoraria. These people believe that running newspapers, radio stations etc. is a duty. We figure organizing such fantastic concerts is not. Is it?

We also think it's simply marvelous that the promoter received only 30 or so free guest passes for his hard and dedicated work.

We think that the mere sum of $250 for all his troubles is peanuts for all the things he managed so successfully to botch. We don't think details are necessary -- people with tickets can look at the spelling of the word Payola$ and have a good laugh whenever they want. Yahoo! We also wondered momentarily about the 200 odd free guest passes that were mysteriously handed out, but disregarded any really knawing curiosity. After all, who are we?

Rumour has it that almost $13,000 was lost on this concert, and that aside from poor organization, and a fair amount of blame being shrugged off on many unsuspecting souls, we at the Bums thought the concert was a wonderful, unprecedented success.

Best of all, we heard Bodfish liked it, after all isn't that what happiness is? - A president who sits on the floor and wiggles!

Hey, Abbott, look what got. It's the coolest - Kuntz and Bodfish were holdin' a secret meeting and I hid a microphone in Bodfish's mouth and I got it all.

Golly gea, Abbott, that's terrific. Could you repeat what they said.

Well, Costello, it is sort of x-rated and personal but hey what the hay.

Here goes. (and remember this is confidential).

Bodfish: Let's see now, on our bags we've got Who's on first, What's on second, and I don't know's on Third. Kuntz: That's what I'm trying to find out. Bodfish: Well like I'm saying, Who's on first, What's on second, I Don't Know is on third.

Kuntz: Are you sure you got a list of the players?

Bodfish: Sure, I'm sure.

- K: Ah, well then, who's on first?
- B: Yes.

K: I mean the fella's name.

- B: Who.
- K: The guy on first.

B: Who.

- K: The first baseman.
- B: Who.

K: The guy playin' first.

- B: Who is on first.
- K: You got a lot of nerve askin' me who's on first. 8: I'm not asking you, I'm telling you, Who's on first.
- K: Who?
- B: That the man's name. K: Let me put it to you this way: you got a contract to the
- first baseman?
- B: Absolutely.
- K: And who signed the contract?
- B: Why certainly. It's no good unless he signs it.
- K: It's no good unless who signs it?

B: Of course not.

K: When you pay off the first baseman every month, who gets the money?

B: Every penny of it and why not, the man's entitled to it. After all, Who is the best first baseman in the league. K: Who?

- B: Absolutely.
- K: Who collects the money for playin' first.

B: Yes, except when the Mrs. comes down and picks it UD

- K: Mrs. who?
- B: Yes.
- K: Come on will ya, what's the guy's name on first? B: What's the guys name on second.

Open letter to students

Dear Editor,

As a change of pace, here is an open letter in praise of Our Leader. .

Dear students, perhaps we have been just a touch too uncooperative with The Party this year. First and foremost, we should recognize in humble gratitude the great fortune bestowed upon us in the person of Our Leader. It is imperative that we not stand divided because "Solidarity" is the key to our (and their) success.

Dear friends, this is not a propaganda ploy, but merely a statement of fact. Our Leader has made numerous improvements in our unparalled, political system. It is he who is the respected friend of the (other) administration and beloved mentor of all student organizations. So consciencious is He of minute organizational detail that Our Leader has had the genius to devise two more organizations; the supreme Presidim and the (soon to be) time honored Secretariat. Those who stand loyal to The Party should be dismayed and angered by the dissidents in our midst who accuse Our Leader Great of perpetuating needless and wasteful bureaucracy.

We need merely to examine the record. Our Leader has always acted in the best interests of the student body. Consistently, he has been resolute in his decisions and uncompromising in his policies. Our Leader has been swift to stand bold on the side of liberty, honesty, justice and the freedom of the press. He has been quick to suppress the ignorant voices of a dislogical minority who mindlessly rebel against his love power

Dear Ms. Stalker;

Hi. My name is Randy MacDoughboy and I think you Bums people are out to get the SP. I am Editor of the Yearbook/SP and thanks to John Bodfish I finally have some power.

I have been trying to get involved but people won't let me. So Bodfish came along and now I'm very powerful. I now know I'm something else and I want the students to know that if they want to be something, they should join the SP.

In closing I would like to tell you that my friend wants to be editor-in-chief of the Burns and Bodfish said he will make sure of it. Just watch.

You bet we are supreme authority; stamping out apathy and marshally the students to the dawn of a new political era. The Party slogan "UNB Awake" proudly emblazons the corridors of our institution; a promise of things yet to come. This battle cry has stirred the hearts of our humble student populace.

Perhaps we are at the crossrcads of a glorious new era. Yes, if we continue the course so ably charted by Our Great Leader, we can look forward to a successful future in which we, the loyal intelligensia, will have played a major role. If we continue on this course, The Party, our vanguard, will as George Orwell would say, lead us confidently into 1984."

Sahara A.

I hope this letter will make you people a little wiser because you better stop saying those nasty things about Bodfish, he will get you, he always does.

Thank you very very much,

Randy MacDoughboy SP and powerful.

B: Well you mentioned the third baseman's name. K: If I mentioned the third baseman's name, then I would know who's on third, right? B: Wrong, Who is on first. K: Forget first, I want to know what's the guy's name on third. B: Uh, uh, uh, What's the guy's name on second. K: I don't wanna hear who's on second. B: Well, you won't 'cause he's not. Who's on first. K: I don't know. B: He's on third. K: OK, get on third, stay on third, and don't get off it. B: Simmer down will ya. K: Well, who's playin' third base? B: Do you really believe Who is playin'g third base? K: No. B: Then why do you keep saying it? K: Saying what? B: No, who? K: I don't know. K and B: Third base.

Yes, you bet you are. How could you people say I decided to write to the those terrible things about Bums because you people Bodfish. He is trying hard are a bunch of terrorists.

Bodfish in the final days.

Miss SP '83.

SP executive (L to R) Talon Rolstone, Raunchy Brador, Oily Kuntz, John Bodfish, Dough-boy McDunce, Andy Dung, John Germy (since departed).

John Bodfish was born to Yugoslavian parents in the slums of Fredericton. He led an unremarkable childhood, disliked by all. From his first days as a student he showed an abnormal intelligence and a strong empathy for facism. In grade one he started the oppressed party movement for those elementary students who were outcasts of the system. The years efforts culminated in a March of seven grade 1, 2 and 3 students on the vice-principal's office in protest of shorter recess periods.

The rest of Bodfish's school career was checkered with similar incidences. In grade four he engineered a takeover of the hall monitors. His purpose; to eliminate the lack of freedom brought about monitoring halls. By the eighth grade Bodfish was moving on to bigger and better things. Public Speaking.

Bodfish was convinced that his ability as a public speaker and debator was unsurpassed yet, he received only little recognition. This caused a great deal of frustration which Bodfish turned inward. To those who knew him he appeared to be the radical but harmless activist he had always been but deep inside the entire chemistry of the young Bodfish was changing. Indelible patterns were being traced on his subconscious.

Frustration was to take its tall on Bodfish. He went for long periods without eating, resulting in his gangly looks. During rages of despair he would rip huge chunks of hair from his scalp forcing his mother and later his girlfriend to cut it short in order to hide the white spots and to prevent his repeating the act. The greatest damage; however, was the growing resentment towards WASP's.

Bodfish's friends in the later years of high school were the minority groups, the unwanted and the unliked. He was able to form a number of political parties that took an active role in high school politics. In each election his candidates were defeated by the WASP candidates.

University provided Bodfish the opportunity he had long awaited -he and a small group of close friends (?) formed the SP-Student Pansies, their slogan was "UNB Go Back to Sleep." The idea behind this party was to lull the students into a state of lethargy so Bodfish could walk into the presidency. To his disappointment the students of UNB were more than awake and the SP did poorly in the spring elections.

In an attempt to dull the minds of the politically aware students the SP started to dress in facist style and played facists war games. This and the sight of SP "Men" dancing alone convinced students the SP was not to be taken seriously. As a clinching touch Bodfish campaigned to br-ing the non - WASP element into the party.

The ploy worked. The following general election saw the SP get a majority on council. The takeover began. SP gain control of all major committees and clubs, the lone exception being the Bumswickan. A bitter war was fought over this issue and the paper came out victorious.

This final battle proved to be the downfall of the SP. Their image of being fools was intact, only they now had the reputation of being dangerous fools. The death blow to the party was the assasination of Bodfish.

One lonely evening, at five minutes to nine, screams of hysteria could be heard coming from el presidente's office. A force of campus fuzz broke into the office to find Bodfish staring into a mirror that had been strategically placed so he could not avoid it. He was rushed to hospital but the effects of seeing his reflection proved to be too much. That night he died of laughter.

Entertainment 12-THE BUMSWICKAN MARCH 25, 1983 The British are coming

On February 30th of this year CSL will be presenting the concert of the year, if not the decade. This show will see Britain's 3 premier rock bands on the same stage for the first time ever. The opening act will be the Rolling Stones. When asked how he feit about not being the main attraction Jagger replied, "I can't get no satisfaction!"

Performing after the Stones will be the Who. The group decided they would do one final show just for the sake of UNB students who have been deserving of a good concert all year. Special guest appearance by Keith Moon during the infamous "My Generation" rumble will be the highlight of the Who's show.

The best act has been saved for the last. For the first time in over fifteen years the Beatles will appear on stage together. This show should prove to be the most unusual as the fifth Beatle will be present. Madame Zelpa, the reknowned medium, will fill this role.

It is hoped by CSL that this concert will be to the satisfaction of students at UNB and that the credibility factor will be ignored.

Lemmings recognized with civic holiday

By DEEK MCDOORKNOB Bumswickan Staff

Today Friday 25 is the second annual "BE KIND TO TEMPERMENTAL LEMMINGS

DAY". It all started one day a little over two years ago. My little sister came home from school and told me all about these poor little fur balls who every four years all fur all well, 1 decided to do something about it. Thus was born Lemmings Day.

> Recently I moved to this wonderful country of Cananada so I decided to transplant my holiday. Today, in the SUB I have set up a booth to show what Lemmings Day is all about. Featured are many of the uses as this remarkable little creature. I have brought my mothers lemming skin book cover. Refreshments will be served, notably lemming-aid and lemming tea. There are many interesting dishes that lemmings can be used in. Stew is one of my favourites. Just grab 50 or 60 of the little beggars from the freezer and chuck them in the pot. Each one is just the right size to pop in your mouth, whole day off work and we have a barbeque, ahh roast lemming on a spit. Then at night is the parade, this year's grand master is Jack Lemming. We have fireworks and everyone dresses up as a lemming.

Then we go to the river and

THE BUMSWICKAN-13

The beginning, middle and end

Quest for the Gown of Kent

rancid water leaking into his mouth between his clenched teeth. It reminded him of a bitter ale his mother used to make him when he was a child. Then he touched bottom, Jarred was at the other side. Triumphant he emerged from the water, covered in slime with his gleaming sword raised before him. He was ready for anything Drat would throw at him. "A Towel sir," spoke the Dwarf who obivously had taken the easy way across.

After drying himself off, Jarred set out to scout the interior of the castle. Stealthfully he crept up to the first door he could find. Listening to the door he could hear groaning on the other side. Mustering his strength he kicked the door down and rushed into the room wildly swinging his huge sword.

Spying on the man and woman on the bed he immediately jumped into the midst of the two and while weaving a complicated figure eight patters with his sword, cut off their heads. Jarred stood there amongst the spasmodically jerking bodies and yelled his battle cry while he was covered with their spurting life fluid. There was no stopping Jarred now. He ran out of the building and attacked the nearest living thing he could find, a cow. After the cow chewed her last cud, Jarred was pounced upon by four of Drats men. Borne down by the weight of his assailants, Jarred had to let go of his sword, but he would not give in. Gathering the last of his strength, Jarred raised himself from the earth and shook his assailants from him. Then, lashing out with hand and foot, he began to slowly but surely destroy his opponents. Suddenly, he was alone, panting, but alone. "Good fight m'lord, I especially liked the part where you made that one swallow his arm up to his elbow," muttered the dwarf who was busy smacking on a chicken he had found somewhere. "Aye Turret, but now we must push on if we are to find the evil wizard Drat," exclaimed Jarred as he fingered the Amulet about his neck. Ah, the amulet, he had gotten it so long ago, it felt like it was a part of him. He remembered that day long ago when Drat was buried beneath a volcano, but he had returned. So many times has Drat died and returned, but Jarred was positive that this was the last time.

They pushed on, but then, Jarred heard a whistling noise. He whirled, just in time to pluck a spear from the air. Twirling it like a baton he took aim and let fly the spear. Unfortunately Jarred had not thrown a spear in 20 years and his aim was a wee bit off. He did though hit a peasant girl squarely in the back, killing her instantly. After muttering a short prayer, the party went on.

Having reached the inner keep, Jarred could feel his heart pounding, his blood boiling, he wanted battle. Breaking down the set of double doors, Jarred pushed his way into the keeps interror and was met by a creature, a grizzly bear. Unfortunately, for Jarred, he nealected to have his sword out and was grappled by 1800 lbs of fighting mad bear. Gritting his teeth, Jarred stood his ground and gave the bear a two fisted, double handed, uppercut that staggerd the bear and shook the room. Again, summoning his strength, Jarred utilized an ancient art form he had learned years before while he was chasing Drat in the Far East. Painting his hand like a knife he plunged it deep into the Bears body. Groping for the bears heart, he found it and tore it, still pulsating, from the massive creature. "VICTORY IS MINE" yelled Jarred as he was covered in blood. Enfreshed and envigored, Jarred pushed on, he had a meeting with destiny.

would crush his opponents into dust.

Jarred was still pushing forward. He was ready slowly, they walked up the steps ready, waiting for anything to happen. They reached the top of the winding staircase. Carefully they touched the door, it swung open. Apparently Drat was expecting them. They stepped into the room. Drat was sitting there, smiling. "Hello, boys, long time no see. Care for a drink?"

"We have you now you skum-sucking worm" shouted Jarred at the top of his lungs and attacked. Drat rose from his chair and from no where drew a blade and parried Jarred's lung. "I've been practising oh soon to be toad," muttered Drat under his breath.

The two stood toe to toe each just barely able to stop the other blows.

Then, the unexpected happened. Jarred's blade broke. Drat, seizing upon the moment placed his sword in Jarred's chest.

"I've done it, finally after all these years, I've killed Jarred. Never again will I have to worry about...

"For Taylor", said the dwarf as he pulled his sword from Drat's back. He then cut off Drat's head and placed it in his dying companions hands. "The evil one is now truly dead", the dwarf told Jarred.

With that, the Dwarf swung his broad sword and neatly cut off Jarred's head. There was a sucking sound as the veins tried to take in air to replace the rapidly diminishing supply of blood.

By NOSE MACKINNON

Summary: After trailing the evil Wizard Drat for 26 years, Jarred has finally cornered him in an old castle.

"Stand fast there turret, that drawbridge looks like a trap to me," spoke Jarred. inis was it at last thought Jarred, finally, after all these years he was going to pay back the Evil Drat for everything he had done. "There's no one there," argued Turret, the short stocky Dwarf, "how can it be a trap?" I can smell 'em shorty, when you've been at this as long as I have, you develop a sixth sense for this type," said Jarred with a gleam in his eyes. Though Jarred wasn't sure the drawbridge was a trap, he had come too far too long to take any chances. Hew drew his sword and clenched it between his teeth, then drove

Meanwhile, upstairs, Drat was getting worried. His minions were not doing a good job of stopping Jarred and his companions. Drat! He was almost done, just a few more hours and he would have the fabled Gown of Kent out of its protective casing and into his hot little hands. With the gown he would be all powerful and

"Now for a little loot" said the dwarf and began to roam about the room. Quickly the stocky dwarf began stuffing all the valuables he could find into his knapsack. But then, he came across a chest. Well, it didn't stay locked for long in the force of a determined dwarf. Turret gasped when he saw what was in the chest. The fabled gown of kent. Bright blue with red boots and a red cape with a little stylized S. He tried to put his grubby little hands on the cloth but there was some sort of invisible shield around it.

"Oh well, easy come, easy go," said Turret as he walked out of the castle.

REVIEWS

This week i am discussing a problem that deeply touches me...child pornography. Yes, fellow students, I am publicly criticizing the Scott Spermburg film "The Extra-Testicle."

In this film, the centrel character E.T. and his earthling friend Elliot develop a rather close relationship when E.T. gets left on earth by his out of this world friends. This little duo actually exchange vows before E.T. leaves to return to space.

This example of soft porn is most revolting when one considers the young children involved. There are connotations of E.T. being a transvestite as we are subjected to watching Elliot's baby sister dress him in her clothes. The final line should not be "E.T. come home," but merely "E.T. come."

An Officer and an Facist

This blazing war story which spans 14 decades discovers poor Johnathan's (played by Richard Queer) underlying homosexuality. His officer friend, Phil. X. Lopi, recalls at the end of the movie "I cam from Nigeria, and Johnny welcomed me." Phil, played by Sammy Davis Jr., is shot to death in the last few tense moments of this box office hit. A sequel is pending.

Billy: "Golly C.H. I don't know."

C.H.: "Why Billy, so they will have a place for their motorcycles to park! . . Say, did you hear that Herb's nickname is King Neptune!"

Billy: "O.K., how do you get down off a tuna fish?" C.H.: "You don't, you get down off a duck! Harrr."

Billy: "Captain Highliner, if you had a tuna fish on your back, would you beat him off?"

C.H.: "Harr, Billy, we're setting sail for Madagascar. Grab ahold of my rudder and steer."

Billy: "Eye-eye captain, I swabbed the deck like you told me to but i haven't hoisted the F.L.A.G. yet."

Frosh brutally beaten by upperclassman

By GERARD FINNIHADDIE Bumswickan Staff

During a post-orientation dance put on by the Post-Orientation Committee/SP, a downtrodden frosh was badly beaten by an upperclassman.

Stan Lee Meek was walking home around 11:30 p.m. from the dance when from out of the dark air, appeared a monster of a man swinging his fists in anger. Meek stopped to find a fist planted on his nose. The upperclassmen jabbed and punched at Meek with such verosity that Meek fell, smashing his head on the ground.

Meek was continually bombarded with fist after fist until he was finally knocked unconscious by a kick to his nuts. Meek later woke up in the Dr. Emily Calmers Hospital with multiple wounds and other more serious injuries.

In an interview with the Bums, Meek stated that the hardest thing he was forced to deal with was his newly acquired homosexuality. Meek felt he could get used to it but added he wished the student that beat him up would write or call to say sorry. The upperclassman, in an uncensored secret interview with the Bums, felt Meek was queer all along and thought Meek was making a big thing about a little thing. "No, I'm not talking about his balls," said the upperclassman.

The Dean of Students, Baron Tumsten, said he is continuing his investigation into the matter and expects to file a report following ace photographer Scott Poodle).

Meek's public denouncement that he is Tumsten's grandson.

Once again, the UNB Red outclassed. Zoomers outscored and outdressed their latest opponents, this time by the ridiculous margin of 87-45. This week, it was their archrivals, the Dalhousie Lady Leopards whom they thrashed, stomped, smashed, whomped, and otherwise taught a few things about playing basketball.

In this week's contest, it was Singin' Sue McFaster who led the team to victory: her "Big Mac Attack" style offence netted her yet another single game record of 36 points, shattering her previous record of 32. The "Tantramar Terror" Jennifer Fred, added 17 points and contributed 10 rebounds. Also playing a super-strong game (again) in directing the team's offence, was perenial all-star point guard 'Jock 'n' Jill" Jeffrey, who sank only four buckets, but notched a career-high 34 assists.

"It was a really superb team effort," Coach Colleen DuChayne said after the game. "Our defence could have played a little tougher defence down the stretch we did allow Dal 20 points during the last seven minutes - but, of course, our starters were all out of the game by then, and our j-v's were on the floor."

Every Zoomer saw some floor time, and every one scored at least two points, in what this reporter unbiasedly thought was another tremendous allround effort by the girls. This win brings their already awesome record to 10-0. giving them a very comfortable 8-point lead over the 2nd place Leopards, although the Zoomers have played two more league games.

"Sure, we've played two more games," commented assistant coach Andy ("Smooth-as") Cream. "But we've played both games against Dal now, and we've outscored them 152-98, so we're not really in any danger. We just have to keep the girls playing good

The Fords are quite an athletic family and this university would be a dull place without them. The only Ford of any fame not to grace these was their Uncle Jerry, he took some cushy job in the States. (He wasn't very athletic either).

Niks Piks

Well folks, this week Nik lays it all on the line with his most daring column ever. Yes, it's time for Nik to pick the Real Women on campus.

As you know Nick the Greek of the Brunswickan, did a real men column a while back, and the Bumswickan being more open minded, felt it only fair to give the gals equal time. Well, here goes.

UNB's Real Women

Colleen Doofressnay - She's a real woman, and I'm not big enough or stupid enough to say otherwise.

Derol McFoley - She's (he?) is only half a woman.

Krassten Boddywin - not a real woman, real women can keep track of their men.

Cruisin' Speed - not a real woman, real women don't date Irishmen.

Steve Makky-lindon - he's a real women, enough said.

Boopsie - she's a real woman, because only real women are called Boopsie.

Mary Dickland - definitely not a real woman. Real women don't moan without reason.

Susan Kneel - not a real woman, cause real women date real men.

Mary Abradum - real women don't run escort services.

Willing Stevenson - real women don't have to wear Angora sweaters.

Christ Stalker - she's not a real woman, because she's a real man.

Ciller Cowalski - Killer's a real woman, because he really is a woman! This came as no surprise to the Bumswickan women who have always said Killer had no balls, when he was a no-show at the media bowl.

Well there you have it, UNB's real women on campus week. A few players scored (on the ice as well), the cheerleaders were nice, the goaltenders let a few goals in and Coach Jock Demers said his boys had alot of class (he couldn't have been with the boy's last night at the Klub Kosmoo).

In addition some players have been called up numbers (don't look at me I don't know the names) 0,5.2,7,14,19; some players have been sent down,some have been traded and one was even injuried, trip over his skate going on the ice.

In this weeks stangest play, the Zamboni driver got a game misconduct for running over the referee at the 10:50 marh of the first period. Now the strange part about it was that it took him three tries to do it. I belief that they should get a new driver, preferably someone more competent. Three tries, come on I

This is personal complaint against the Aiking Centre. Just where do you get your hot dogs from? I My God, (sorry boss) one of them bit me on the nose the other night. Get on the ball Gordo.

Dear Bert, the beer was not cold this week; do something about it, ehl
