RUSSIA WORN OUT BY STRAIN OF WAR.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 2. Russia entered the war early and she is now worn out by the strain, Premier Kerensky yesterday told the Associated Press. He said that Russia claims as her right that the other Allies now should shoulder the burden of the war. Premier Kerensky declared that Russian public opinion was agitated by the question, where is the British fleet now that the German fleet is out in the Baltic? Russia, the Premier declared, has been fighting eighteen months longer than Great Britain, and Russia has fought her battles alone, and is fighting alone. The world must not lose faith in the Russian revolution because it is an economic one. No one, the Premier said, has a right to feel disillusioned about it, as it takes years to develop a stable Government. America's most useful way of helping Russia is in sending boots, leather, iron and money. Premier Kerensky said it would be impossible for the United States to send troops because the difficulties of transport would be too great. Russia is not out of the war, the Premier said in answer to reports to the contrary. Russia has fought consistently since the beginning. She saved France and Great Britain from disaster early in the war; she is now worn out by the strain, and claims as her right that her allies now shoulder the burden. Thus Premier Kerensky explained Russia's position to the correspondent. The correspondent called attention to the widely contradictory reports on Russian conditions and asked the Premier for a frank statement of facts.

CADORNA'S ADMISSION.

LONDON, Nov. 2. The Daily Mail's correspondent at the Italian headquarters, in a despatch dated Wednesday, says: General Cadorna's candid admission of the failure of sections of his army gives the clue to the real cause of the enemy's advance. On the other hand, in most cases, really desperate resistance was made. The men on Bainsizza Plateau, who had suffered worse from shelling, nevertheless brought up machine guns and held off the attacking forces for an hour and made several hundred prisoners. The resistance on Monte Nero was especially desperate, while the fifth Bersaglieri Brigade held the Clobocack ridge many hours. Other troops defending the direct entrances of the Pass into Italy at St. Lucia fought desperately, the village of St. Lucia being taken and retaken at least eight times. The Alpini, on the heights of Monte Nero, never gave way before the German attacks; they were still holding out Saturday, three days later, although they only had one day's rations. Airplanes flew over and dropped leaves of bread, hoping to reach the Alpini trenches.

BERLIN REPORT.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 2. The Germans have retreated from points along the Chemin-des-Dames in the Aisne sector of the front in France, according to a German official statement issued this evening. The communication gives no reason for the manoeuvre, but says that it was made during Thursday night systematically and without interference by the French troops. The statement says also that no fresh news is at hand from Italy. The text follows: In Flanders there has been lively artillery activity on the Yser. Unnoticed and undisturbed by the enemy, we systematically withdrew our lines from the hilly front of Chemin-des-Dames last night. Our airmen successfully attacked London and English coast towns Wednesday night. From the east nothing special has occurred. Nothing new has been reported from Italy.

IN MESOPOTAMIA.

LONDON, Nov. 2. The British official issued to-night dealing with operations near Jerusalem says General Allenby reports he is now holding a position covering Beersheba on the north. We have successfully raided another portion of the Turkish front. A large number of Turks were killed and 15 prisoners and a machine gun brought back.

IN PALESTINE.

LONDON, Nov. 2. An additional official statement issued last evening, on the Palestine campaign says: In Beersheba operations we captured 1,800 prisoners and nine guns. Our losses were slight in comparison to results obtained.

WASHINGTON'S VIEW OF RUSSIA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. Premier Kerensky's warning that Russia's allies will have to bear her burden of the conflict while the weary nation regains its strength, exhausted in the years of fighting her enemies without and within, has aroused new expressions of confidence in Russia's future, and assurances of support from the United States Government and representatives of all the Allies. The Russian Embassy made the Premier's statement of the Russian position the occasion to reiterate that she has no intention of quitting the war, and the State Department in an authorized announcement declared that in no way could the Premier's statement nor any of its official advices be construed to mean that Russia will seek a separate peace. As another mark of confidence in the Russian Government the Treasury to-day authorized an immediate advance of $31,700,000 out of credits of $325,000,000 already authorized. Secretary Lansing, deploring any interpretation of Kerensky's statement, to the effect that Russia was about to quit the war, as alleged by the Washington Post which printed over a brief and preliminary account of Kerensky's statement the headline, "Russia quits War." He authorized this statement: "There has been absolutely nothing in the despatches received by the Department of State from Russia, nor information derived from any other source whatever to justify the impression created by the Washington Post to-day, principally by the headlines that 'Russia quits War' and that 'Russia is out of the Conflict.' A reading of the full interview with Premier Kerensky, of which the paper publishes only an abbreviated and preliminary account, itself shows that the headline is entirely unwarranted. Our own advices show that the provisional Government in Petrograd is attacking with great energy the problems confronting it. Reports received from Petrograd by mail and telegraph show that Premier Kerensky and his Government, far from yielding to discouragement, are still animated by a strong determination to organize all Russia's resources in a whole-hearted resistance and to carry the war through to a victorious completion. At the same time this Government, like those of the Allies, is rendering all possible assistance."

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Nov. 2. The text of to-day's official statement reads: As a result of successful minor operations carried out last night and yesterday evening south and west of Passchendaele and southeast of Poelcapelle we improved our position slightly, in these localities and captured a number of prisoners. Lincolnshire and Lancashire troops carried out successful raids east of Vermelles, east of Shrewsbury forest. A number of the enemy were killed and prisoners were taken by us. Hostile artillery showed great activity during the night east of Ypres.

RUSSIA'S OPPOSING ARMY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. Notwithstanding the withdrawals of German troops from the Russian front for the Italian campaign, there are still 147 German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian divisions facing the Russian armies, the Russian Embassy announced to-day. It has received from General Dossino, representative of the Russian army with the British headquarters, the following figures on the strength of the Austro-German troops on the east front: Four German infantry divisions and three Austrian infantry divisions have been withdrawn from Romania and Galicia immediately prior to the attack on the Italian front. At the same time German divisions have been transported from the French aged German U-boat which was recently interned in Spain.

GOOD NEWS.

LONDON, Nov. 2. The Canadian Associated Press has had an interview with a civilian just returned from Germany who was an intimate fellow-prisoner of Dr. Belland, former Canadian Postmaster General. This gentleman escaped after a third attempt, having twice served periods of solitary confinement as punishment for his previous endeavour. Dr. Belland, he says, enjoys good health. He did not originally regularly live in prison, but has done so since June, although he is allowed out twice a week under guard and seems to have recovered his spirits a good deal after the blow of his wife's death. The news of her death was kept from Dr. Belland three days, apparently so that he would not have the good excuse to go to Belgium to attend the funeral. Dr. Belland had mentioned about going to Rhudeben camp, but prefers to remain at his present quarters, and is well liked by his fellow-prisoners. He has given his medical services freely to British prisoners, and maintains a kitchen at his own expense, in which he is the most efficient cook. He receives parcels from Canada and the High Commissioner in London, for which he is grateful.

EXPORT OF CORN PROHIBITED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. The War Trade Board yesterday issued an order prohibiting the export of corn except in special cases where sufficient evidence of necessity of export is established.

TURKISH TORPEDO BOAT SUNK.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 2. In an attack on Turkish vessels at Inada Bay, on the Black Sea, near the Bosphorus, Russian torpedo boats sank a Turkish torpedo boat and destroyed two Turkish steamers and a naval battery in the Bay, the war office announced to-day.

MORE TROUBLE AT KIEL.

LONDON, Nov. 2. Three officers and a number of sailors of the German navy were killed in another mutiny at Kiel early in September, according to a despatch from Amsterdam to the Daily Express, which claims to have authentic details. The outbreak occurred aboard the battleships Kronprinz and Schleswig Holstein, and started when the men revolted against being drafted into submarine service. The sailors on the Kronprinz threw Admiral Schmidt overboard and stabbed and threw overboard Lieut. Raut, the Admiral's aide, and another officer. A battle on the ship's deck between officers and sailors followed. Three officers and a number of sailors were killed. Similar scenes occurred on the Schleswig Holstein. Admiral Schmidt was rescued, but it was necessary for him to leave Kiel. All surviving mutineers were arrested.

RESULT OF AIR RAID.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 2. Despatches from Pirmasens, Bavaria, reporting the Entente air raid, says bombs were dropped on the town and its environs. One person was killed and four wounded. Some material damage was done.

ZEPPELINS FOR TRENTINO.

GENOVA, Switzerland, Nov. 2. The newspaper La Swiss's Lake Constance correspondent says a fleet of Zeppelin airships left there Wednesday for the Trentino front off the Austro-Italian theatre.

ALFONSO AND COALITION.

MADRID, Nov. 1. King Alfonso to-day entrusted Marquis Manuel Garcia Prieto with the task of forming a Coalition Cabinet on the widest possible basis. The Marquis on several occasions held portfolios in the Spanish Cabinet and was Premier from April until June of the present year.

Ball Met His Match.

(From Tit-Bits.)

Sir Robert Ball, the famous astronomer, was dining with a number of scientists at a quaint Stratford inn. Sir Robert was full of fun and at the end of the dinner he said to the landlady: "Madam, have you ever heard of the great Platonic year when everything must return to its first condition? Listen, madam! In 26,000 years we shall all be here again on the same day and at the same hour, eating a dinner precisely like this one. Will you give credit till then?" "Glady," replied the landlady. "It is just 26,000 years since you were here before, though, and you left without paying up then. Settle the old bill and I'll trust you for the new."

The German Retreat.

Despite the quiet and unobtrusive way in which it has been announced, and which should deceive no one, the German withdrawal on the Alsace front is the first item of importance in to-day's news. The German bulletin is simply the usual German bluff, confessing the retreat as if it were the abandoning of a few miles of difficult country. It is in fact a forced retreat from positions made untenable by the recent brilliant advance of the French, which gave them possession of the high ground commanding the valleys of the Allette and the Aisne Canal. It seems that the Germans have fallen back directly upon Laon, for months the greatest goal of the French. It is unlikely that they will be able to make it a purely local operation, for it is certain to compel a further readjustment on the right, towards St. Quentin, and may even, the message says, affect the line as far as Arras. The news is most heartening. The retreat would not be made if it were not imperative, and it is made to a point where further retreat will involve the whole German line in France. It is a most effective antidote to the Italian mishap, which now seems to be in a course of rapid redemption.

Kerensky's Statement.

We have a sneaking sympathy for putting on certain very injudicious words of Premier Kerensky an interpretation which, if not the exact truth, is a good deal nearer that part of it which is of practical importance than some of the things which Mr. Lansing himself says in rebuttal. Russia has not yet "quit" the war, it is true. She has a large army in the trenches which is constantly occupied in firing "fusillades." Behind Liège has almost as large an army of politicians who are very much indeed at war—with one another. This is the state she has been in for nearly a year, and to all appearances will continue to be in for another. Kerensky's remarks, whatever government officials may say, have not a pleasant sound. They come very near to recrimination against Russia's allies and that sort of thing can do no good.

Further Exploits of Our Regiment.

Thrilling Stories From The Wounded of the Action of October 9th.

"ADVANCE, NEWFOUNDLAND!" In another thoroughly successful advance amid the antagonistic woods and rain and Flanders mud, the Newfoundland Regiment has very honorably sustained its battle honors. Our officers and men on leave, and our wounded from the front, are aglow with the victories that have crowned their efforts, and although the attack of August 16th through swamp and morass was a remarkable test of physical endurance and stubborn resistance against overpowering elements, the affair of Oct. 9th is reckoned the most thoroughly satisfactory battle of the lot.

Our two years of active service have served to harden the will and solidify the soldierly qualities of the remnants of the brave Battalion that faced the storm at Suvia Bay, and participated in the subtle evacuation of Cape Helles, and the example of these hardened veterans—coupled with the enthusiasm of the newly-joined reinforcements—has produced a combination of loyalty and bearing that is worthy of the famous 29th Division.

CONCRETE STRONG-POINTS.
 We are told of the advance through water-soaked, shell-torn ground which formed the "No Man's Land" in front of our Regiment on Oct. 9th, and the wounded speak in amusing terms of the fighting against the line of concrete strong-points, or "pill-boxes," which spat bullets through narrow slits against our men, and when bombed and beaten, discharged numbers of Hun crying for mercy. In this advance our Regiment cleared easily all their objectives and for a period—in their enthusiasm and fighting—held the most advanced positions.

A GALLANT N. C. O.
 Working side by side with the Battalion, I am told, were the "Guards"—these famous examples of discipline who had frequently been associated with us on other occasions—notably in the operations on the Somme. In the present instance our flanks often touched, and one thrilling story is current regarding the

Police Neglect.

Carbonara, Oct. 31, 1917.
 Editor Evening Telegram.
 Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to let the Government and the public know how the fishermen-farmers are treated in this place.

I arrived home a few days ago and the first news my neighbors had for me was that the dogs killed a number of goats, sheep, hens and young cattle, to the value of a hundred dollars or more. Now, Sir, we have got four policemen in this town, and they were told about these dogs killing people's cattle, also they were told who owned the dogs. But not one of these dogs are killed by the policemen. People that stay home all the summer tell me that the policemen spend their time selling cabbage, potatoes, rabbits and eggs.

Mr. Editor, we want policemen here that will look after the interests of the people and not give all their time doing their own farming. I do not think it is right for us poor people to be taxed so heavy to pay these policemen large salaries and have them looking for cows and doing other work for themselves and not giving their time for the interest of the public. I think it would be wise to have them taken back to St. John's and have them newly done up, and give some new ones.

Yours faithfully,
 INJURED.

The Sparing of Metz.

(From the Chicago Evening Post.)
 The other night German aeroplanes dropped a ton or two of bombs on the City of Nancy. Ten civilians were killed and forty were wounded. Nancy is an open town, and no military advantage possibly could be gained by the bombardment. It was just the Teuton's way of frightfulness.

Metz, the capital of German Lorraine, a fortified town, crowded a large part of the time with soldiers, lies only about twenty-five miles from Nancy. French aviators can reach it from their lines in fifteen minutes, but thus far no bombs have been dropped on Metz. It is true that the French, in retaliation for the brutality of bombing some of their defenceless towns, have let fall on some German cities well back of the line some bombs which, exploding, have voiced French indignation and perhaps a suggestion of French revenge in heavier blows yet to come, but Metz, fortified and crammed with soldiers and munitions, thus far has been allowed to go free. There are military men who say that the French will never bombard the City of Metz, if they can avoid it and yet win the war. Metz only forty-seven years ago was a French city to-day as the French themselves view it. Its church towers form an easy mark for the long range guns of the republice placed in the Valley of the Moselle at Pont-a-Mousson. There are fourteen German forts guarding Metz. They may be reduced one by one and the city finally isolated, but Metz will be spared if there is any way to spare it without jeopardizing the success of the final grand campaign.

WAR REVIEW.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. The Germans have retreated from points along the historic Chemin-des-Dames sector on the Aisne front in France, where for several months the French troops of General Petain had been keeping them sharply to task. Just where the retrograde movement took place and how far it extends cannot yet be told, as the German official statement announcing it merely says that the Teutons "unnoticed and undisturbed by the enemy" systematically withdrew their lines from the hilly front in this region. The entire line to the north of the Aisne, where the Germans were last reported as facing the French, is undulating in character from the Soissons sector east to the vicinity of Craonne, and therefore it is impossible to delimit from the rather terse acknowledgment of the withdrawal the terrain which has been given up. Nevertheless it seems apparent that the Germans, tired of the terrible ordeal they had been forced to undergo for some time from the French artillery and violent infantry attacks, have decided to fall back upon Laon, the capital of the department of the Aisne, which with its network of railways has been the quest of the French. It is possible and seemingly probable that the withdrawal of the Germans will compel also a falling back of the German forces in the turn of the battle line in this region running northward to St. Quentin, if it does not affect the German positions as far north as Arras. On the Italian front the Teutons and Italians are in combat along the middle and lower regions of Tagliamento River, with the Teuton forces on the east and the Italians on the western side of the stream. As far as is known the enemy has not yet been able to cross the river, which is in freshet, but it seems apparent that from the Carnic Alps south along the battle line to the head of the Adriatic the Italians are now holding their own line of defense securely. Meantime with the Italians waiting for eventualities on the east "Trull" rains the sentiment in Italy among all classes is something with patriotic fervor, with even the old Garibaldi veterans and men invalided home as the result of injuries in the present war desiring to rush to the scene of hostilities and lend their aid in repelling the further invasion of the enemy. On the other fronts there have been no engagements of great importance. The British carried out minor operations for gains west of Passchendaele and southeast of Poelcapelle, in both of which prisoners were captured. To the east of Ypres the German guns have been violently shelling the British line. Although, according to the Russian Premier,

Russia is war worn and believes that she has the right to claim the Allies now should take the heaviest part of the burden of her shoulders, the new republic has no intention to declare herself out of the war. Help, he said, was urgently needed, especially in the form of money and supplies. He told the world not to lose faith in the Russian revolution.

GERMAN UPRISING IN BRAZIL.
BUENOS AIRES, To-Day. A German uprising is in progress in Southern Brazil, completely paralyzing railway traffic, according to private reports received in railway circles here. The strikes inaugurated in this district are said to be spreading to other parts of Brazil. It is reported that only the strictest military measures are making the movement of any trains possible. The despatches continue to report "The severest military measures against Germans in Southern Brazil, where there are large German colonies." Details as to these measures and general conditions are withheld by censorship.

ALEXANDER EXHORTS GREEKS.
WASHINGTON, To-Day. Despatches from Athens to the Greek Legation to-day told of a visit of King Alexander to the barracks yesterday to witness drill and get into personal touch with the soldiers training to join the Allies at the front. In a speech to the officers the King said: "I am very happy in realizing that you are working hard. I want to recommend you to be all heart with your service and to keep away from politics. You must keep working more and more, because we have to be ready at the earliest possible, so as to participate in this war with our Allies to try to break down our enemies."

The torpedo struck the coal bunkers, which lessened the effect of the explosion. Among those aboard the Finland were several survivors of the crew of the transport Antilles which was torpedoed and sunk some time ago. Those injured aboard the Finland are in hospital here.

NOTHING SPECIAL IN FLANDERS.
LONDON, To-Day. Artillery activity continues in the Ypres sector but otherwise there is nothing special during critical political periods. The entire country to-day is placarded with announcements from the Ministry calling upon citizens for their aid and asking the women to help to support the morale of the soldiers.

ECONOMIC STRENGTH WILL DECIDE THE WAR.
LONDON, To-Day. Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of Blockade, in his weekly talk with the Associated Press declared yesterday that there was not the least reason to suppose the Italian reverses will affect the result of the war. What has happened may affect the duration of the war, or it may not, Lord Robert said. Sooner or later the economic side of the war is as likely as anything else to produce the desired effect, according to the extent of the resources of the Allied powers and the enemy to carry on an economic offensive. In this connection Lord Robert pointed out the great preponderance of the Entente's Allied resources. He added: "The Central Powers already are in a precarious condition. I see nothing but greater economic ruin for them after the war the longer it lasts. He declared the Allies are already winning and will do all possible for Italy and would regard the battle fronts in all the war theatres as one comprehended from the White Sea to the Mediterranean. It is the spirit of Italy means that we and the other Governments must make stronger exertions. He added in conclusion: "We cannot afford to neglect any chance. Our information is that the spirit of Italy is untouched and that there is no sign of disagreement or panic at the reverse, but only a strengthened determination to finish the fight."

PATRIOTIC BISHOP.
LONDON, To-Day. The Sinn Fein movement has suffered during the last few days a serious blow in consequence of the denunciation of any sort of armed rebellion by some prominent members of the Roman Catholic clergy, according to the Daily Mail. The correspondent of the Dublin correspondent of the Daily Mail, Theobald Mathew, offers especially to a sermon by Rev. Thomas Gilmartin, Bishop of Gloucestert, on the eve of the recent visit to Loughrea of Professor De Valera, one of the prominent Sinn Fein leaders. Bishop Gilmartin declared that recourse to armed force under present circumstances would be morally unlawful.

VON HARTLING THE NEW CHANCELLOR.
COPENHAGEN, To-Day. Von Hartling has been appointed German Chancellor. This is announced in an official statement received from Berlin. It is understood that Michaelis will take over another high imperial office. Our correspondents report that Von Hartling has succeeded in establishing satisfactory working arrangements with all parties except the Socialists and Conservatives. The Socialists, it is added, although not abating their attitude of reserve, can be counted upon to make no difficulties for the new Government unless unforeseen conditions develop. This virtually amounts to a continuance of the existing Reichstag bloc with the active support of the National Liberals in the Reichstag. The Conservatives alone maintain an adverse attitude toward the incoming Chancellor.

THE KERENSKY INTERVIEW.
LONDON, To-Day. Most of the morning newspapers print Kerensky's interview conspicuously, but comment is not general. The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who is now in London, writes that Premier Kerensky's statement seems to have been taken a little too seriously in some quarters. It has been construed as a hint that Russia is toying with ideas of separate peace. This theory should not be allowed to establish itself. Probably all that Kerensky wished was to indicate facts familiar to close students of Russia for some time, and they are such as to arouse sympathy rather than suspicion.

Little Boy Drowned.
A message to Deputy Minister of Justice Summers from Magistrate McDonald, of St. George's, states that Arthur Abbott, the five-year-old son of Arthur Abbott, of Sandy Point, fell over his father's wharf yesterday and was drowned. No further particulars were received.

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL.

PETROGRAD, To-Day. The following official was issued to-day. Southwest Front.—Yesterday southwest of Brody the Austrians left their trenches in open formation and approached our wire entanglements, but were repelled by our gunfire. Elsewhere there have been only fusillades and scouting.

GOVERNMENT WILL STAY IN PETROGRAD.

WASHINGTON, To-Day. The Provisional Government has decided to defend Petrograd to the last extremity, and has abandoned for the present the plans to change the seat of Government to Moscow. Cablegrams received here to-day say the commission of the defense of Petrograd had reported that decision, because the critical situation of the country made it expected, while the Government remain in Petrograd as long as the capital was not directly menaced by the enemy. A constituent assembly, it is expected, will be convened at Petrograd.

ROME TO-DAY.
Italy is undergoing a re-birth of patriotism. Everywhere men are clamoring to go to the front. Even the Garibaldi veterans have marched in body to offer their lives on their country's altar. Thousands of younger veterans of the present war, interned in hospitals or invalided home, are insisting on returning to their commands. Emmanuel has returned to Army and shows how confident he is in the spirit of the country, since he always remains in Rome during critical political periods. The entire country to-day is placarded with announcements from the Ministry calling upon citizens for their aid and asking the women to help to support the morale of the soldiers.

ITALY DID NOT ASK FOR HELP.

LONDON, To-Day. James Ian MacPherson, Parliamentary Secretary to the War Office, in a written reply to certain newspapers yesterday, declared that no doubt had been expressed by General Cadorna or the Italian Government to the British General Staff of the Italians' ability to meet the Austro-German attack, which they knew was about to be made against them. No request was received from Italy for help before the attack took place, the Secretary added.

The nineteen men were in a lifeboat and had been adrift for 48 hours before being rescued, evidently having been left to the mercy of the ocean after their ship got her fatal blow from the piratical Hun. ## The Dread of New Friends.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Do you rather dread to meet new people? I think there are a good many folks, especially folks who are a little older than they once were, who dread to be in contact with new personalities. New people move into the neighborhood. We see them on the street, they look pleasant, we mean to call, we fully intend to call, we are surely going to call to-morrow, but the days and the weeks and sometimes even the months go by and we have not called.

"And The Folks You Can't Miss You See Lots."

Or one of our housemates tells us he has met some interesting people in his work and wants us to invite them to the house and make their acquaintance. We acquiesce willingly enough, but when it comes to finding a definite time to do this—

There are so many of our present acquaintances we must see (some of them people we do not care anything about but what of that, we have got into the habit of seeing them and keep on seeing them, we must); and so many of the routine conventional things do (many of them things we don't really care about doing if we stopped to think, but we so seldom do).

Why are we so foolish? Partly inertia lack of the force of character that lifts one out of the rut of daily routine. Partly the instinctive subconscious dislike of the new, the unknown.

And yet when one overcomes this inertia, this subconscious dislike, what wonderful rewards one—some times receives.

True, nine strangers might as well have remained strangers but the tenth may be a real event in one's friendship life.

Just Supposing I Hadn't Gone!

Last winter I met two new people. I had been invited half a dozen times to meet these people before. In the previous winter I promised several times in that pleasant way we promise such things, to go and call on them some day. Finally, however, I was cornered and went. I remember how much I dreaded going that evening. I had been up very late the night before and had had another engagement that had to be squeezed in ahead of that call. And behold that call opened one of the most congenial friendships I have ever had in my life.

They were such folksy people. In ten minutes we were really talking, not just making conversation. We stayed until midnight and went home in a fine glow of mental excitement.

Congenial Incomes and Congenial Tastes.

We have met these people again and again since then and found them that rare and delightful combination, congenial people with a sense of humor, congenial income, and congenial tastes.

And to think I missed a year of their company just because I let that fool dread of meeting new people, that mental inertia keep me from getting out and meeting them before!

After all, our human relationships, friendships, love, family ties are the most important things in life. Houses, possessions, pleasures, are just the background for these relationships.

No one can afford to get in a friendship rut.

Have you made any new friends this past season?

THE HOTEL.

The hotel is a retail establishment which furnishes sleep and indigestion at $2 per day. If a man doesn't care for the indigestion, he can take crackers and milk at the dairy lunch without affecting the size of his hotel bill in the slightest.

Hotels are conducted on two plans—American and European. The American plan is one under which the guest pays for a room with bath and has several unemotional meals thrown in free. This plan is preferred by frugal guests who are able to sleep ten hours every night and never get fully awake until they are at the breakfast table, when they brighten up with amazing rapidity and consume more wheat cakes than a grist mill. The alarming frequency of this occurrence has caused many hotel keepers to abolish the dining room and sell nothing but insomnia and liquid soap.

Every once in a while, some thrifty citizen from the unspoiled West will ask the price of a linen closet on the nineteenth floor.

The European plan is an ingenious and successful effort on the part of the landlord to make the grill room pay the entire expenses of the hotel, including ice water and towels. This is accomplished by the a la carte method of producing heart failure, as

It is a penitentiary offense in most States of the Union to list anything on a grill room menu smaller than a $2 bill. This accounts for the increasing popularity of the humble but fly-specked restaurant where a table d'hote dinner with a grand, cream pie climax can be obtained for the price of a napkin and a glass of water at the grill room.

The best hotels are run on a business basis, and are content to make a complete turn-over once a week. It is far cheaper to live at a first-class New York hotel for a few days than it is to buy a lot and build a bungalow in the same neighbourhood.

Every once in a while, however, some thrifty citizen from the unspoiled West will walk into one of these hotels with a telescope grip and ask the price of a linen closet on the nineteenth floor, with access to a bathroom in the basement, after which he will retire in an unobtrusive manner and write home that Jesse James is still doing business at the old stand.

Hotels are frequented mostly by traveling men, who are always given the best rooms, the most white meat and the highest rates. If it were not for the traveling man there would be no hotels or railway guides disguised as hotel clerks. Furthermore, if every town had a good hotel fewer traveling men would jump over four countries every Saturday night in order to reach a shower bath.

Household Notes.

A satisfactory washcloth is made of two or three thicknesses of mosquito netting. The edges are finished by crocheting a scallop in pink or blue.

When boiling cabbages, try placing a small vessel of vinegar on the back of the stove. The odor of the cabbage will not be so unpleasant.

It is easy to remove finger marks around a doorway by using a clean cloth dipped in kerosene; then wipe with a cloth wrung out of hot water.

When preparing chicken or turkey for roasting, try rubbing the inside with a piece of lemon. It will whiten the flesh and make it more tender.

Sheets that are wearing out should have their selvage sides sewn together, then they should be cut down the middle and have the new sides hemmed.

If one is cooking with gas and wishes to bake one or two dishes, why not plan the entire dinner to be baked? It will take no more gas to heat the oven for five dishes than for one.

Spaniard's Bay Notes.

All our fishermen have returned from the Labrador; Capt. Butt bringing the key. Those who fished at Sandy Islands and vicinity did exceptionally well, whereas those who fished at Horse Harbor did not do much and we hear that many of them will barely clear expenses.

Nearly all the crops have been taken from the ground. The hay crop was certainly good, but the potato crop is much below the average, and as they are inclined to rot, many people will be without potatoes before half the winter is gone. The August blight was the cause of this serious deficiency. We hear that the whole of Conception Bay potato crop was affected by this blight.

On Tuesday and Wednesday nights, respectively, the children of the High School entertained the public in giving it a treat in the form of an up-to-date pleasing concert. The children certainly performed their respective parts creditably. Mr. Jones and his assistant, Miss Millin with the help of Miss Isabel Millin must have worked exceptionally hard to bring it to such a success, and much credit indeed is due them. At the instance of Mr. Jones the ladies of the Patriotic Association served 10c bowls of soup the first night and 10c teas the second, thereby realizing a handsome sum for patriotic purposes.

Owing to a defective chimney the Rectory was near being burnt to the ground on Monday night, and but for the timely discovery by the Rectory, a serious fire would have happened, which would have swept all the houses in that part of the settlement, as it was blowing a gale at the time.

Miss Squires, who has been spending a time with her sister Mrs. M. M. Young, leaves by to-morrow's train for her home Bonne Bay. We hope that Miss Squires thoroughly enjoyed her visit.

The Ada Mildred, Capt. M. M. Young, also the vessels Hermony and Harry Smith, owned by Capt. George Gosse, are discharging their cargoes at Harbor Grace.

Obituary.

On Sunday 28th inst. there passed away at Pouch Cove, after a long illness, Mary Ryan, aged 69 years, wife of Henry Ryan. She was full of hope and aspiration for a bright future when the dread disease encircled her in its torturing grasp. As it increased and made her sufferings intense, she was very subdued, and was enabled to manifest a most exemplary spirit of submission to the will of God, knowing that he alone could prolong her earthly existence awhile, or call her apart to rest awhile to dwell with Christ. Her death means a heavy blow to her husband and family. She leaves a large family to mourn the loss of a dear mother; five sons and two daughters, three brothers and three sisters and a large circle of friends. All extend the deepest sympathy to the bereaved, and knowing it is the Lord, let Him do what seemeth him good.

EARLY GERMAN PLEDGE FOR THE WEST.

When Parliament resumed to-day, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Balfour, announced that the Government had decided to persuade the Foreign Office from its traditional policy, and follow the course of the State Department in Washington.

Mr. Balfour's true intention was to reveal the German diplomatic machinery before the outbreak of the war. Much good might be effected by the disclosure of how much was done by the Central Powers in plotting and planning before the ostensible struggle came into existence of the Kaiser now in the again indicated in his Pope's pacific proposals, was none of his seeking upon him unawares. In 1914, it was rumored in circles that definite intentions came into the hands of the Office of the existence of the seizure by Austria of certain strategic railways in Serbia, a full fortnight before the outbreak of the war. Such a plot reached office here from Rome early in the war was said to have been referred to by Britain's ambassador to Italy in a telegraphic message to the Foreign Secretary (Mr. Balfour). This statement was the main confirmed by the made by the Italian Government Italy's declaration of

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, Oct. 31st, 1917.

EARLY GERMAN PREPARATION FOR THE WAR.

When Parliament resumes on October 17th we shall not have to wait long before an attempt is made to persuade the Foreign Office to depart from its traditional policy of reticence, and follow the example of the State Department in Washington by revealing the true inwardness of German diplomatic machinations immediately before the outbreak of war. Much good might be effected by the disclosure of how much had been done by the Central Powers in the way of plotting and planning the war before the ostensible cause for the struggle came into existence. The cue of the Kaiser now is to assert, as he again indicated in his reply to the Pope's pacific proposals, that the war was none of his seeking, and came upon him unawares. This can be tested by a matter of which Whitehall has full cognisance. In November, 1914, it was rumoured in diplomatic circles that definite information had come into the hands of the Foreign Office of the existence of a plot for the seizure by Austria-Hungary of certain strategic railway points in Serbia, a full fortnight before the murder, on the preceding June 28, of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his Consort at Sarajevo. A rumor of such a plot reached official quarters here from Rome early in July, and it was said to have been subsequently referred to by Britain's Ambassador to Italy in a telegraphic despatch to the Foreign Secretary (then Sir Edward Grey). This statement was in the main confirmed by the revelations made by the Italian Government after Italy's declaration of war against

Austria-Hungary in the following spring.

INTERESTING NAVAL PROMOTIONS.

A first result of the recent patriotic retirements of elderly Admirals to facilitate the advancement of younger men in the promotion to Rear-Admiral of Captain Vivian Harbord. Although this officer is only forty-eight he has been thirty-five years in the Navy. He is a great gunnery expert, and has been in command of the Gunner School at Devonport. He has also held the important post of Commander of the Naval Intelligence Department's mobilization division. His appointment as Aide-de-Camp to the King dates from last July. The new Vice-Admiral, Rear-Admiral Sir Hugh Evans-Thomas, is also comparatively young for his latest step in advancement. He is not yet fifty-five, and has been forty-one years in the Navy. Sir Hugh was "mentioned" for his services in the Jutland Battle. During his lengthy career he has commanded some of our finest warships. Three First Lords of the Admiralty employed him as private secretary—Earl Cawdor, Lord Tweedmouth and Mr. McKenna.

THE CHESTNUT HARVEST.

Walking in the parks just now one sees under the horse chestnut trees neat little heaps of greenhards left by people who have been gathering the chestnut harvest for the Ministry of Munitions. In private gardens and fields, even in cemeteries, all the chestnuts are collected with care, and though our ordinary farm's crops have disappointed the high hopes of summer, chestnuts like potatoes are a bumper harvest. The Government is to make a coarse spirit from the nuts and use it in munitions, thus releasing barley and molasses for human food. In Germany, where they used the chestnuts last year, the ingenuity of the professors actually converted them into a breadstuff. Some process was used to remove the bitter substance and the white flour which remained proved edible. At any rate it was no worse than that other woodland delicacy of the Huns, acorn coffee.

THE SHRAPNEL COLLECTORS.

Collecting bits of shrapnel is the most fashionable hobby of the London small boy. To-day I saw an urchin digging motor tyre studs out of the wood blocks of a London street—London pavements are wonderfully rich in these relics. When I asked what he was doing with them he said, "Sell 'em as sharpnel!"

THE LATE GENERAL MAXWELL.

General Frank Maxwell (who has been killed) was one of the (then) junior officers who had not the slightest fear of Lord Kitchener. As Kitchener's aide-de-camp he would point out to him anything he thought amiss. There was a story current that on one of the few occasions when Lord Kitchener was rather restless Maxwell said "If you don't give us a little quiet we shall have to talk to you about Stellenbosch." Maxwell only went to France in May, 1916, just before Lord Kitchener's death. He won the clasp for his South African Victoria Cross before he had been out two months, and his whole career was a succession of acts of gallantry that were not indiscreet.

AN OUTFLOW OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

Not unnaturally there is a movement out of London, not confined to the foreign population of the Eastern quarter. It is flowing in a westerly and southwesterly direction, and consists chiefly of the women and young children and the more prosperous grades of the working classes. The course of it is up the valley of the Thames. During the last week or two there has been a notable incursion of these trekkers in the little towns and villages of West Middlesex and every available lodging has been snapped up. The people have plenty of money, apparently, and will pay any price for the meaneast accommodation. In some cases the women and children are accompanied by their husbands, and at some stations there has been a heavy jump in the issue of daily workmen's tickets. The people declare frankly that they are getting away from the raids—for the sake of the children most of them say. The movement is likely to grow, and it is causing anxiety to urban and parial councils, who are looking to the Local Government Board for guidance. There is the overcrowding difficulty, and there is the question of food supplies. In the area which has begun to be overrun by these "refugees from London," as they are locally called, the tradespeople are unable to get adequate supplies for the normal population. If further raids give the exodus an impetus the situation will need firm handling, and will produce a fresh crop of administrative difficulties.

PRIME MINISTER AS LITIGANT.

The action for libel which Lloyd George is bringing against London evening newspapers and a news agency is not the first he has brought against the press. In 1909, when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer, he sued the proprietors of a Sunday newspaper for libel. On that occasion he went into the witness-box and denied on oath the truth of the statements made, and the case lasted exactly half an hour. The proprietors of the paper expressed their regret, and offered an unqualified apology. They agreed to pay £1,000, which Lloyd George said he would apply to charity, and also to pay his costs. The then Mr. Rufus Isaacs (now Lord Reading) and F. E. Smith represented Lloyd George and Sir Edward Carson the defendants.

PLACATING THE FATES.

One of the by-products of the raid season, it appears, is an increased and ever-growing demand for what are called "mascots." The practice of sending to the men who are doing the fighting little nondescript objects—mostly quite meaningless—to be worn as charms or "luck-bringers" has become very common. But no one quite expected that stay-at-home Londoners would themselves take to the wearing of such rather pathetic offerings to the gods of blind chance. That is what is happening, however. A prominent West End of London tradesman states that there has suddenly grown up a brisk sale for these trinkets, which are worn by the buyers as "protection" against the perils begotten of the Gotha. It is rather amusing, but it is full of interest for the student of war psychology.

SOCIETY WIDOWS AS BRIDES.

Two Society widows, whose names figure in the peerage, are in this week's list of the newly-engaged. One is the Countess of Kinnoull, who was the second wife of the late Earl, and is step-grandmother of the present Earl, a schoolboy of fifteen or thereabouts. A handsome woman in the mid-thirties, Lady Kinnoull is a well-known figure at war charity fetes on both sides of the Border. Like most brides of to-day, she is marrying a soldier, Captain B. E. Bland, London Rifle Brigade. The other widow, Lady Norah Brassey, the fiancée of Captain Alan Graham, is a war widow. She is a sister of the Earl of Donoughmore, and her husband, Capt. Harold Brassey, a nephew of Lord Brassey, fell in France in the second year of the war.

If You Want Evidence

That Hemorrhoids, or Piles, Can be Completely Cured Read These Letters—Both Are Sworn Statements.

Toronto, Ont., November 3rd. — Next to personal experience the sworn statement of reliable people is the strongest evidence obtainable. If you have any doubt that Dr. Chase's Ointment will positively and completely cure piles, these letters should convince you.

Mr. Samuel Parker, fruit grower, Grimsby, Ont., has made the following declaration before Mr. W. W. Kidd, Notary Public of the same place: "I do solemnly declare that I was troubled with bleeding piles and was advised to go to the hospital to have an operation performed. My wife said 'No, get a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment.' I did so and have used it according to directions while living in an operation hospital. I obtained a complete cure, for I have never been troubled with piles since. I am now seventy years of age and want to recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to all sufferers from piles. My wife has used it for itching skin and obtained complete cure."

Mr. Donald M. Campbell, Campbell's Mountain, N.S., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment with great success for hemorrhoids or piles of fifteen years' standing. After trying all kinds of so-called pile cures, three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment gave me a complete cure. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and there are no others so good. You may use this letter, if you wish, for the benefit of others who may suffer as I did."

Sworn before me, Murdoch Gordon Campbell, J.P., in the County and for Inverness County.

If you would like to try Dr. Chase's Ointment at our expense send us a recent stamp to pay postage and we shall mail to you a sample box free. Full size box 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Napoleon's Great Admission.

Napoleon was a master of flaming sentences as well as of the science of war. This sentiment, uttered at St. Helena, and quoted by James M. Beck in an article on the war, might be emphatically echoed by the Allies to-day:

"I made the mistake of my career, when I had the opportunity, that I did not remove the Hohenzollerns from the throne of Prussia. As long as this house reigns and until the red cap of liberty is erected in Germany, there will be no peace in Europe."

THE CHAMPION GRIEF.

You talk of mournful things, my friend, you say your wee's the best yet; I'll tell, if you an car will lend, the saddest t h i n g that's happened yet. It is to meet your lost Lenore, or female of some other name, the peach you loved in days of yore, when love was quite a fevered game. Somehow she drifted from your life, for youthful dreams go galley west; in time you gathered in a wife, but always loved the old girl best. In memory she kept her place, the lost Lenore with stary eyes, with curly hair and angel face; the lovely image never dies. And now that you are waxing old, you go back to your native town, where once, with foot-steps quick and bold, you ran the fleet jackrabbit down. And there you meet an ancient dame, who'd scare a burglar with her face; she has a large and bony frame, she talks a deep and rumbling bass. Ah, then you shed the bitter brine, and lean against the Blue Front store, for you feel saggy in the spine—this beldame is your lost Lenore! To find your girl of love and mirth become so punk and fierce a bluff! This is the saddest thing on earth: there's nothing else so d-d-blamed tough!

Everyday Etiquette.

"What is the proper thing for a man to do when he goes to call between the acts on a woman friend in a box?" asked George.

"If the door is closed, the courteous thing to do is to knock. If curtains only are separating the box from the corridor, the visitor should enter quietly and greet the occupant with whom he is friendly," said his father.

These Coats are all this season's styles and all British made. At the Board of Trade Rooms yesterday afternoon the retail grocers met the members of the Board of Food Control for the purpose of discussing matters affecting the trade in foodstuffs.

Hon. P. T. McGrath presided and about thirty retailers were present. It was moved by Mr. F. Steer, seconded by Mr. W. A. Ellis and supported by Mr. J. C. Marshall, that the Board be empowered to name a committee of six who will confer with the Controllers on matters relative to the trade. The names of the committee men will be made known as soon as possible.

Wild. Banking Capt.

FOR THE NORTH SEA.

We understand that Captain Walter Kennedy, the famous banking skipper and successful fish-killer, who had been taking a special naval course in Canada, has passed a creditable examination and has been given a commission in the Royal Navy. He is a passenger on this evening's incoming express on a short furlough home before proceeding to the North Sea to assume his new duties.

A Voice From Germany

This striking extract from a serial story which is at this time appearing in the Neue Zuercher Zeitung, a German-Swiss Liberal newspaper that has a large circulation throughout Germany, is published by the Labour Leader. One of the characters in the story is a Socialist who has lost his only son, a young man of brilliant promise, in the war. He is addressing a tumultuous crowd:

"He stopped for a pause, threw high his arms, his eyes grew large, and said: 'Ten million corpses; ten million men have ended. The flowing blood of these murdered ten million men, ten million gallons steaming human blood, could substitute for a whole day the gigantic water masses of the Niagara.'"

"All the rolling stock of the Prussian railways would not suffice to transport the heads only all at once of these ten million murdered men. 'Civilization! Make a chain of these ten million murdered murderers placing them head to head and foot to foot, and you will have an uninterrupted line measuring 10,000 miles, a grave, 10,000 miles long, encompassing all Germany, winding itself through fields and woods, passing many a village and town, corpses here and there, corpses everywhere, along valleys, too, and rivers, and seashore, 10,000 miles—not yards—a gigantic grave all round Germany.'"

"Head to head, foot to foot, 10,000 miles of corpses! Civilization!"

Girls! Have Wavy, Thick, Glossy Hair Free From Dandruff

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments—try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides its immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scrub robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very, very, its strength and it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

His Will.

"It was with horror and fear, and not simply with astonishment, that I read recently in the column of white 'one item' says Dr. Forsyth, in London Quarterly. 'The head of one of the largest industries of its kind left about a quarter of a million, and of that he bequeathed $1,500 for distribution among certain of his employees. No other public legacy was named.'"

"It was time we had war. No hell could be worse than the unavailing passion of such a soul to return and give it freely away."

Flaring cuffs finish the bottoms of some of the tight-fitting sleeves.

Our Volunteers.

Yesterday afternoon all recruits at Headquarters marched through the city, accompanied by bagpipers and drummers. To-morrow morning they will hold church parade and if it can be arranged one of the city bands will turn out with them.

Only one recruit offered at the Water Street Recruiting Station yesterday, namely, Michael Foley, of Fortune Hr., N. D. B.

A Word to Slackers.

Does the honour of your country Not appeal to you? Surely you'll avenge your brothers, Some have died for you. Do you realize its for freedom We are fighting now? And the call comes clear as ever It is your duty, go!

Does your duty to the Empire Not appeal to you? The flag that waves for Freedom, Has oft protected you. You don't like name of "coward" To be applied to you? Then be a man and take your gun And make us proud of you.

Does the nickel and ice-cream shop Hold in thrall your heart? Think of those who've been out fighting Ever since the start.

Are you better than your brothers: They gave up all for you? Oh! be a man, give up this sham, And make us proud of you. ONE BOY'S MOTHER.

Instant Relief From Eczema

You can stop that awful itch from eczema and other skin troubles in two seconds.

Seems too good to be true—but it is true, and we vouch for it. Just a few drops of the simple, cooling wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for eczema, a new remedy that is attracting widespread attention and the itch stops instantly. The first bottle will prove it.

Eczema, Bad Leg, Ring-worm, Salt Rheum, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Open Sores and Itching Rashes and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years and years of misery. Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema.

If you have skin trouble of any kind, get a box of D. D. D. Prescription today. Sold everywhere. Recommended by T. Murdoch & Co., A. W. Kennedy, M. Connors, Peter O'Mara.

An Incident at Lambeth Palace.

"The Archbishop of Canterbury was conducting an induction service at Lambeth when the aerial bombardment began, but no interruption was made," says the London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. "The service went on as if no danger threatened, and the congregation remained some time singing hymns.

"A clergyman who was present tells me that after the service the Archbishop and his procession of clergy withdrew to the shelter in one of the old Norman towers of the Palace, and there remained for a time.

"One likes the colour and contrast of the picture—the ancient background of the Palace, the Archbishop and clergy in their traditional robes, and overhead a firmament of modern warfare which would have made the stoutest Norman heart quake with the fear of black arts."

L.O.A.B.A. Hold Successful Sociable.

The members of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association held a successful sociable last night in Victoria Hall. Mrs. Rollings, the Worthy Mistress of Jubilee Lodge, No. 137, presided. After full justice had been done the good things supplied by the ladies, the following programme was well rendered:—

Instrumental selections by Messrs. H. B. Chafe and Walker; song, Mrs. Rollings; recitation, Miss May Rowe; song, Mr. A. Lucas; recitation, Miss Rose Whitten; song, Miss Barbara Langmead; recitation, Master S. Jeans; song, Miss Jones; pianoforte selection, Miss Hansford; recitation, Easter F. Rowe; song, Mr. A. Barnes; recitation, Master W. Martin; song, Miss Oliver; recitation, Miss Quick; song, Miss Burridge; recitation, Miss Hazel Cook.

The efforts of all were much appreciated. Owing to the sudden illness of Mr. A. W. Martin, whose delightful readings are much sought after by concert goers, he was not able to attend. The committee are to be congratulated on their efforts.

How Do We Stand in the West?

ALLIED PLANS THAT HAD TO BE ABANDONED.

By Col. A. M. Murray, C.B.: Who Points out Why the Franco-British Offensive was Held Up.

The arrival of autumn with the return to winter time reminds us that the Summer Campaign is well nigh over, and the period for marking time is at hand. How do we now stand? Have we done what we hoped to do during the past year, and when may we expect to finish the task which we took up arms to accomplish? In an article contributed to the Sunday Pictorial on March 25 last the writer expressed the confident hope that before the end of the year we should have expelled the Hun invaders from France. The hope was at that time justified. The Germans had retreated from the Somme and taken up a new line of defence behind it. We had beaten them out of positions which they declared to be impregnable, and what we did once we could do again.

It is reasonable to assume that if Sir Douglas Haig had done in Artois what he has done this summer in Flanders British troops would now be fighting on the Somme instead of on the Lys. How came it about that Sir Douglas Haig left Artois and went to Flanders?

It happened in this way. Last April by a brilliant piece of tactical work the Canadian troops stormed the Vimy Ridge and the Third Army broke through the German lines at Arras. This was a good start. We had seized a powerful outpost of Hindenburg's line, and the town of Lens was at the mercy of General Home if he had chosen, which he did not, to batter it to pieces with a thousand guns. A succession of hammer blows, such as General Gough struck one after the other on the Ancre, would have delivered Douai and Cambrai into our hands, and by this time British troops would have been fighting on Vaubans' line of defence between Valenciennes and Maubege. Why are they not there?

For this reason. A week after the capture of Vimy the French started an offensive movement on the Aisne. They aimed at Laon, the southern buttress of the Hindenburg line. General Nivelle won a victory, but it was a Pyrrhic one. The French could hardly expect to succeed where Napoleon, the greatest of all masters of war, failed.

Then General Petain came on the scene. Resolute, silent, long-headed, a calculating strategist who has many of Napoleon's military qualities. The Chemin des Dames was to be held, but not used as a starting-point for attacking Laon. On no passera pas. This was to be the guiding principle of French strategy till the American Army arrived in France. French manpower should on no account be wasted in adventures. If an offensive step was taken it should be where the enemy was weak, not strong. Hindenburg must be left to take care of his own line.

It was not till the end of July that Sir Douglas Haig was ready for his Flanders campaign. He has struck three blows, and all successful ones. On July 31 he straightened out the Ypres salient. On August 16 he got back to the line he held before the Germans sprang their dastardly gas attack on the unsuspecting French. Day by day we are retracing our steps. More such steps and the road will be open to Mons.

Mons is a strategic point of the very first importance. If we take up a map we see what the possession of the Germana bridgehead at that place means for the Allies, and why Lord French was so anxious that Sir Henry Rawlinson should seize it in October, 1914. Its seizure then was impossible, but circumstances are altered.

A British occupation of Mons would split into two sections the enemy's armies operating north and south of the Lys River. Lateral communications between von Armin's headquarters at Roulers with the German garrison of Lille would be interrupted, and we should witness another of those "voluntary retirements" which resulted from Sir Douglas Haig's tactics on the Somme.

This is why Hindenburg is making such desperate efforts to stop our progress down the Ypres-Mons road, where he has collected what little remains of the flower of the old Prussian Army, which was once the pride of Germany and the terror of Europe. We are winning hands over, not by lightning blows, for these are no longer possible under modern war conditions, but by the slow and sure methods which have been adopted by the Allies all along the western front from the North Sea to the Adriatic.

A Question of Organisation. The development of the mechanical side of warfare with the increased power which it has conferred on the defensive precludes tactical rapidity. As at Verdun and on the Isonzo during the past month, so in Flanders, the same principles of tactics are uniformly observed by the Allied commanders. A great concentration of artillery first takes place on a limited front, with the object of shattering the enemy's defences and breaking down the moral of the defenders. When this has been done, the heavy guns are turned on to the enemy's artillery for counter-battery work, so as to silence his fire during the infantry attack. The field batteries meanwhile support the advancing infantry with their creeping barrage of shrapnel fire.

A battle now goes like clockwork, according to a pre-arranged timetable co-ordinating the action of both artillery and infantry. Given the necessary antecedent condition of artillery preponderance—the Allies have got it—and victory is all a question of organisation.

The choice of objectives is a varying factor dependent on the terrain. Weather has more say than it used to have in tactical operations owing to the weight of the impedimenta accompanying modern field armies. When the weather is bad transportation slows down, and the interval between the "pushes" is longer. Given a fine October, and we may expect a considerable extension of the salient which Sir Douglas Haig is pushing out into Belgium.

When shall we finish our task? The answer is: When we have beaten the Germans, not in one, or two, or three fights, but in a succession of sustained battles which will so weaken their belligerent strength as to deprive them of the hope of further resistance. Then we may begin to think and talk of peace, but not before. Stockholm won't bring us salvation, nor will the Vatican. We must trust to our own strong arm. We are out to win, not to lose, and we can win, and shall win, if we quit ourselves like men.

"Be patient," said General de Castelnau to the writer of this article a few weeks ago. "Be resolute," said M. Painleve a few days later. Patience and resolution. Let these be our watchwords till victory comes at the appointed time.
