Comments are being made on the marked absence of party bitterness in this election, largely due, many think, to the elimination of the rabid party newspaper organ, and also to the fact that there are no scandals being aired. Necessity required the abandonment of many fields of at least one paper, and then another necessity arose, which consisted in recognizing the equal rights of all parties to fair and unbiased reports and comments. Nevertheless there is wide interest in the campaign, and no citizen should neglect to vote.

A man still young, but wise for his years, wrote recently, "Every street has every kind of people that there are," Doubtless many who read it thought of a book called "Main Street," in which some of the people of the community are represented as of the community are represented as narrow and crude and uninteresting. Well, you will find just as narrow minds in any of the big centres of populations. There are men who have had every possible advantage, who can talk of nothing but business, and women who have been equally favored, who are interested only in dress and how to keep from getting fat by a form of diet. As for the broad, liberal people!

Well, if you look around you, you will find some of them on the street where you live, perhaps under the very roof that shelters you. THE ROMANCE OF AUTUMN

A spirit of romance, which few, for fear of ridicule, will admit sensing, pervades autumn. Perhaps romance is something for lovers, the adolescent and women folk and to be spurned by sober manhood. Yet most men, if honest with their fellows would be compelled to confess to a quickening of the pulse when the first leaves fall and darkness comes before supper

For an explanation of this fall remanticism one might hearken back to the days of boyhood when autumn was the cue for hunting nuts, rel shooting, corn roasts and ball. Ask any boy which is the best season in the hills and the question will find autumn on the tip of his tongue.

And if the adage is true that "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach," then the harvest accounts for a part of the romantic atmosphere of the season. Where is to be found romance in greater abundance than in a golden brown pumpkin pie, in a glass of sweet cider, and in a basket of new apples?

Peace in Europe

The news of supreme importance in the week just past is that concerning the conference at Locarno, which tchieved an agreement which restores peace to Europe. Britain, France and Germany, each putting aside natural prejudices and war hatreds, have clasped hands on the subject of European peace. The conference is said to have achieved the most soilid and practical results of any gathering of the nations since the end of the war due in most part to concilatory diplomacy. As one English observer puts it, "We may say truly that there is peace in Europe again. The seven years after the armistice were employed in disagreements about architect's plans, but at Locarno the foundation stone of European peace was solidly laid and the real building begun." The pact means, among other things, that Germany is soon to enter the League of Nations and that Britain and Italy have agreed to throw in this strength with either research phases to the agreement signed by the other. There are several different phases to the agreement signed by the seven nations represented at Locarno, and until their texts are thoroughly understood there is room for speculation as to their ultimate reception. However, in spite of the last few doubts of the press and the people, diplomats in all countries are the people, diplomats in all countries or for the people diplomats in all countries or for the people diplomats in all countries or for the carries of the proper diplomatic products to be an announced on behalf of mean transportance of the rits of the rits of the rits of the part of the reception. However, in spite of the last few doubts of the press and the people, diplomate in all countries are congratulating each other upon the prospect of the future. Almost the entire British press unites in singing the praises of Austin Chamberlain British Foreign Minister, for his share of the enormously important work. In the terms of the agreement, which is to be officially signed in London in December, after consideration by all the governments involved the security of Belgium, France, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia are assured, Germany may be induced to give up her idea of revenge and Great Britain will secure her reward in increased trade, and employment for her great out-of-work army. It is the best news that has come out of Europe in seven years.

Revolutionary Medicine

This is apparently a great age of medicine and one magnificent discovery follows close upon the heels of another, as the results of long years of experiment are brought to fruition. Dr. Mervyn Gordon, F.R.S., a member of the British Medical Research Society, is now reported to have made a discovery which may revolutionize medical history. The discovery has been made after twenty-seven years of experimentation and laterly in conjunction with the discoveries of Bernard and Gye, along cancer lines. It may eventually lead to the elimination of smallpox, cancer, measles, sleeping sickness, influenza and colds. Instead of injection of serum as in vaccination, the patient under this method is treated by sniffing a solution of dead germs which had been heated under specially prescribed conditions.

The visit of Hon. Arthur Henderson, formerly Home Secretary in the MacDonald Labor government of Great Britain, has been accompanied by considerable crossing of swords with Communists. During an address in the Labor Temple of Toronto the speaker was subjected to continual heckling and he was asked "Will you work for the abolition of the Royal Family?" If our foresight had been as wood as our hindsight, we would never he're built the excessive railway plant we have today. But what is done cannot be undone. There is no use crying over spilt milk. The problem now is to chart for ourselves the course that will most quickly and most surely place the Canadian National Railways on a paying basis.

Thus far the main effort of its management has been to get more businessfreight and passenger-for the C.N.R. by taking it away from the C.P.R. By that method, the cost of securing business is greatly increased for both systems, with no real advantage to either. They are merely fighting over the division of a loaf, which isn't large enough to provide sustenance for both.

The only way our railway problem will ever be solved is for the voters of Canada to see to it that our railways are given a bigger loaf to divide—a loaf of freight and passenger traffic that will be large enough for both systems to thrive on.

We Have the Acorn, We Must Grow the Oak

How to increase freight traffic—that is the kernel of our problem! The average Canadian freight train earns $5.00 per mile travelled; the average passenger train earns only $2.00. So it's upon the freight end of the business that we must concentrate.

Of course, some kinds of freight are more profitable than others. There is very little margin of profit in carrying grain, first because the rates applicable to it are lower

he rates on any ver to ther c cond because the grain m peakload traffic, ater art of the year. that are will

But there is a substantial margin of profit in hauling general merchandise. What can we do to ensure our railways getting more of it?

Higher Tariff the Cure

Increase our population—start a big immigration movement—and the rest will follow as a matter of course! Easier said than done? Not at all! All we have to do to start the tide of immigration flowing through our ports is to hold out to the prospective immigrant the assurance of a steady job at good wages, or the chance to engage profitably in farming or some other form of production or service.

A higher tariff, that will be a real Protective Tariff, will give him a guarantee covering every point. And nothing else under Providence will!

A Lower Tariff is Poison

A Tariff policy that allows the Canadian market to be supplied more and more by outside workers, automatically operates to reduce the freight traffic available for our When for instance, due to railways. insufficient tariff protection, the Libbey-Owens glass factory in Hamilton was forced to surrender the Canadian field to its sister plant in Belgium, Canadian railways lost the hauling of 2,000 carloads of raw material

If Canadian cotton and woollen mills only had the making of the textiles that we import every year, our railways would have the hauling of another 50,000 carloads per year of raw material freight.

Picture to yourself the scores of other things that under a low tariff policy we import, when under a higher tariff policy we would be making them in our own workshops, and you can hardly fail to realize that the sane—the sure—solution of our railway problem is all ready-made for us, and awaits only our order via the polls to put it into operation. The necessary traffic is there. All we have to do is reach out and get it!

Increasing Imports Bigger Railway Deficits

Every time that low duties take away a portion of the domestic market from a Canadian industry and give it to a foreign industry, our railways suffer in four ways.

- 1. They lose the hauling of the raw material that such industry would have used.
- 2. On the finished product, instead of the full local rate, they get only their proportion of the through import rate—a much lower net.
- 3. When it results in the Western Canadian market being supplied from a U.S. factory, they lose the long East and West haul, and get only the short haul from the international boundary.
- 4. They lose the hauling of all the mer chandise that would have been consumed by the workers who, due to the resultant unemployment, emigrate to the United States.

Lower duties throw people out of work. They just as surely throw railways cut of work. We can never save our railways by giving them less work. We must use our brains and our courage to secure them more work-better paid work! Higher tariffs will do it.

The event was unique in that it celbrated the clearing off of all financial encumbrance in connection with the building enterprise. The scheme was commenced in 1920 unfor the leadership of Rev. C. J. Moorehouse. The following spring a commodious church shed was completed in which the people worshipped until the church was finished. The foundation of the church was also commenced that spring and the cdific was completed in the fall and dedicated for refigious worship. This building is one of the finest country churches in these parts. It speaks well of the far seeing vision and faith and splendid sacrifice of the people and it seemed fitting that Rev. C. J. Moora ouse should preside at the services which were to mark the lifting of all financial debt from the building. He preached helpful and eloquent sermons Sunday morning and evening to a church packed to capacity. The choir rendered beautiful music under the leadership of Mrs. Watson, and Miss Marie Jackson delighted the congregation with her harp selections. On Monday evening the Ladies Aid served a fowl supper in the Sunday school rooms of the church. The tables were delightfully decorated and laden with all kinds of appetizing food, which was greatly enjoyed by a large number of people from far and near.

After the supper a pleasing and well-balanced program was giver in the auditorium of the church by Misses Joy and Marie Jackson of Comber, and Miss Peltier. For two hours the large audience enjoyed instrumental selections from the piano, harp, violing guitar and several vocal numbers. Congratulatory and encouraging addresses were given by Revs, G. T. Procure the Bulbs by October—Rich Loamy Soil Is Needed—Bury Boxes In the Cellar—Feeding Bees for Winter—Spray or Dust Potatoes? (Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The narcissus varieties may be potted for winter bloom as soon as the bulbs are obtained in September or early October. If it is desired that the bulbs be grown in the home window, it is advisable to use either a six or eight inch flower pot, setting from five to ten bulbs, according to the size of the stock. Good Deep Boxes for Cut Flowers.

If it is desired to grow the bulb bloom in quantity and use the cut flowers in vases, then plant the bulbs in boxes of any shape and not less than three inches in depth. A box twenty-four inches by twelve inches by three inches by twelve inches by three inches is very handy. The soil should be a rich garden loam to which add one-third of the bulk of leaf mould and sufficient sand to keep the soil from clinging. Suitable drainage provided by means of coarse cinders or broken pottery should first be placed in the botto of the pots or boxes and then. Prepared soil in quantity sufficient reach within one-half inch from top of the box or sot after fin the bulbs should be pressed in self and covered firmly, just the fip showing.

Bury the Boxes in the Collar.

When all the boxes or pots are prepared such should be buried if peasible in cold frame or in the basement, watered well, and then covered with five inches of sand or screened ainders. This covering will insure the necessary cool condition and prevent drying out. Such treatment will develop a good vigorous root system, a condition which must precede the bloom. Eight weeks beneath the sand is usually sufficient. A pot may be examined then and if found to be full of roots it can be moved to the light and heat. by three inches is very handy. The

From four to six weeks of forcing are required to bring narcissi of the following listed varieties into flower: Von Sion, Glory of Lieden, Sir Wathin, Trumpet Major, Emperor, Empress, Golden Spur, Olympia, Sulphur Phoenix, Bi-color, Victoria, Barri Conspicua, Madame Plemp, Alba Stella, Cynosure, Poeticus ornatus, Poeticus grandiflora and the Polyanthus and Poetax types of all varieties.—L. FEEDING BEES FOR WINTER.

lee That They Are First Carefully Fed With Well Prepared Syrup —Carefully Replace Packing for Winter Stand.

At all times during summer and early autumn care should be taken to see that colonies do not staye. So long as they have enough for daily food winter feeding should be delayed until the first half of October. Each hive should then be given all the syrup it will take. This may be anywhere from 10 pounds to 40 or 50 Bounds, depending on the strength of the colony and the amount of stores it already has. The syrup is made of two parts best granulated augar to one of water. Boil the water, then add the sugar and stir till thoroughly dissolved. The only points to be observed are to avoid scorching the sugar and to see that no granules are left in the syrup to start crystallisation after it has been stored in the combs.

When feeding time comes in the early part of October, the packing is removed from over the feeder-boards and a number of filled pails or jars are inverted over the holes. If the days are warm this is done towards evening to prevent robbing, and if the nights are cool packing is put around the feeders to hold the brood-chamber heat and help the bees take down the feed. As fast as feeders are emptied they should be refilled, until the bees signify that they have enough by ceasing all work on the feeders. The latter are then removed, the burlap, paper and packing are replaced, and the roof is aligusted for the winter. The feeding may take a week or more in cool weather, but should be gotten through with as rapidly as possible after it is once started. started.

To Spray or to Dust Potatoes? The high efficiency of liquid Bordeaux mixture for the control of insect and fungus enemies of potato foliage has been demonstrated in tests so often as to make its use general with potato-growers. Dusting has been used considerably, but carefully conducted tests over a period of four years show that the practice is not so efficient as the liquid form of application. Where water is difficult to obtain, and in small fields where it is necessary to use hand apparatus, dusting is advisable. For areas larger than one zere and with water and a power sprayer available,

And we prove it. In the next column we list a few Canadian products imported by the United States under the 1921 tariff and under the raised tariff of September 21st, 1922. Canada will be flooded with farm products from other countries at these low rates, but Canadian farm products are shut out of other countries by high tariffs. Meanwhile half a million Canadians have moved to the United States because of the tariff reductions that have closed up or slowed down hundreds of factories. That is, half a million buyers of Canadian farm products have been lost. The farmers are hit twice.

PRINCIPLE NOT PARTY
The Montreal Witness, a non-political journal, had an editorial last week reading as follows:—
"If those of liberal mind in Canada are sincere in their desire to keep protection from winning the day they will follow the example of Durham and North Simcoe. In the former the Progressives, after interviewing Mr. Massey, decided to support the new Liberal cabinet Minister. In the latter the Liberals, after interviewing Mr. Drury, decided to support the former Ontario premier, the Progressive candidate. This is as it should be. The chief hope of the protectionists is that their opponents may neutralize one another's efforts. The clearheaded voter has therefore the responsibility not only of voting for a candidate who upholds the principles in which he believes but of doing his best not to have to use his vote in defeating those principles."
