HENRY MORTON, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology." "I have sualyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which is composed are pure and wholesome. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

Nors—The above Diagram illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of befter work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts. fair minded person of these facts.

While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.

—An experiment on a small scale is being tried on the premises of A.N. Whitman & Son, to test the practicability of drying fish with artificial heat. Thus far the several batches (save the first, which the experimenter tried "making haste too fast") have come out nicely crusted, and the inventor, C. H. Whitman, is so fully satisfied of the utility of the process, that he is now maturing plans for operating on a large scale during the coming season. The improvement in the article thus prepared will greatly enhance its value, and is similar to the difference between apples dried by the old method and those by evaporation, —Canso correspondence to New Glasgow Enterprise.

Partly Gave Up.

"In the year 1885 I coughed for six months, and having unsuccessfully tried many remedies, I partly gave up, thinking I had consumption. At last I tried Hagyard's Pectoral Balsan, less than one buttle of which cured me, leaving me as well as ever I was." Henry W. Caras, Wabash, Ont.
