Historical Synopsis Centenary Church.

The present church edifice was commenced in the year 1866 and completed in 1868, 30 years ago. In the year 1880, alterations were made in the basement of the building in order to form the present parlor. when the organ and choir gallery were enlarged, but no general repairs to the church were undertaken.

About eight years ago the Quarterly Board recommended that the property at the rear of the church be secured while it was free and in the market, on which to erect a more suitable and modern Sunday School Building. This was done and the property has been held in trust by three members of that Board since that time until the present, and the part required for the school has now been made over to the church

In 1895 the Congregation appointed a large general committee to consider the subject of a "New School Building," and a "General Renovation of the Church." This Committee decided that both undertakings were urgently needed.

Plans were prepared and approved of by the General Committee and Trustees, with the result that the New School which we now occupy was built.
