Monday Was Election Day in Canada And Things Happened Even in Charlotte

WILLIAM F. TODD is Member-Elect and the Invincible Gilbert White Ganong on Monday Evening Found Himself Among the Slain

Mr. Todd's Victory was Complete, Decisive and Beyond Dispute

Charlotte has joined the Liberal majority, her people have returned to their love of a dozen years ago. Hon. William Pugsley, the brilliant New Brunswick leader, may well be proud of the vote given the Liberal candidate in Charlotte.

The election was quiet, the morning dawned a little hazy but warm. In the town active members of both parties were about the polling booth very early—Liberals confident and Tories determined. It was a battle royal all day long, and it was seen early in the day that Liberals were up against a back yard canvass that proved too much for them. The Conservatives carried the Town, which was a feature of the election no pride can be taken in, and the victory was hollow.

L'Ecluse with a bumper majority saved the credit of the Parish, and St. George, Town and Parish, have good reason to be proud of the vote they gave Todd. Beaver Harbor gave the Liberals the first ray of hope—they did it well, and the loud hurrahs that greeted the result were but a forerunner of the cheers that kindled enthusiasm in the hearts of the Laurier supporters as district after district came in showing gains for Todd. Pennfield came with an increased majority and St. Andrews settled the fate of the day in the minds of the workers in the political fight.

It was only a question of the size of Todd's majority and the returns below tell the tale of "The way it was done in 1908."

Laurier's Great Victory
Gains in Ontario, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island

NEW BRUNSWICK SENDS ELEVEN LIBERALS AND TWO CONSERVATIVES

Ottawa, Oct. 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and all his colleagues will come back to the capital with an overwhelming endorsement of the campaign of probably the worst character in the history of Canadian politics waged by the opposition. The returns from all provinces received here up to midnight show that the country has given a conclusive answer to slander by returning the government to power by a majority of 142.

in most generous and almost unexpectedly large measure another lease of power to finish his work." With scarce an exception every leading member of the government side of the commons was re-elected, while Mr. Borden finds himself in command of another uncompromising band of opposition with most of his chief lieutenants in last parliament Bennett, Bergeron, Lefurgey, Fowler, Cockshutt, Kemp, Clements, Pringle all among the most prominent of the obstructionists last session, went down in the general wreck.

Toronto, Oct. 26.—The Ontario Liberals are a happy crowd tonight. Going into the fight with the feeling running rather against them and an adverse majority to overcome with the prestige and force of the Whitney government, the Liberals of this province have won a splendid victory and contributed in no small degree to the triumph of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his government.

Ontario has done better than expected, and at this writing it appears certain that a small Liberal majority will replace the Tory majority of eight in the representation of this province.

The Liberal campaign was in all respects admirable. There were few appeals to which objection could be taken. High patriotic appeals were made to the electors and no part of the province was neglected by an corps of Liberal speakers. Victory has been won more on appeals to reason and high principle than by personal canvasses, although that was not neglected.

The verdict of the electors today will surely give a quietus to the campaign of slander and vilification that has been so entirely discredited by the electors.

Quebec, The Liberals secured 50 seats in the province by good majorities, while two seats went by acclamation, Hon. Mr. Brodeur, in Rouville, and Demers, in St. John and Herville. In addition two elections will not be settled for a week in Gaspé and Chicoutimi. These will as a matter of course go Liberal, making the total representation from Quebec fifty-four Liberals to eleven Conservatives.

Nova Scotia—Halifax, N. S., Oct. 26.—The Conservatives came out of the contest in Nova Scotia with six seats, one of them Colchester, held with the narrow majority of 64 by John Stanfield. The size of R. L. Borden's majority in Halifax which in about 800 surprised his friends and is due partly to good organization which was better than the Conservatives ever had.

P. E. I. Charlottetown, Oct. 26.—In Prince Edward Island the only Conservative elected is A. L. Fraser, rejected by their constituencies.

The Liberals have a majority in the West.

In New Brunswick—New Brunswick gives Laurier a great victory—the greatest it ever gave him. Hon. Mr. Pugsley goes back to Ottawa at the head of the strongest Liberal delegation New Brunswick ever sent to Parliament—eleven out of thirteen seats.

St. John city and county places Hon. Mr. Pugsley at the head of the New Brunswick contingent with a fine majority.

Charlotte sends Todd—a great victory for the Liberals of that fine constituency.

Kings-Albert, with a majority of the smashing sort, chooses McAlister and sends Fowler down to defeat—Fowler, who boasted that he was going to be Minister of Railways—Fowler whose defeat will be good news to the whole country.

Hazen's lieutenant, Morrison, is snowed under by Loggie in Northumberland and the rest of the North Shore also went Liberal—solid.

McLean, at last accounts, was safe over Wilnot in Queens-Sunbury, though with a small majority.

Michaud had practically no opposition in Victoria-Madawaska.

Fighting Frank Carvell downed another of Hazen's lieutenants—Smith—in Carleton.

Emmerson swept Summer out of political existence in Westmorland.

In Kent the veteran Le Blanc—a tremendous majority.

Crocket holds York and Daniel St. John city—two seats out of thirteen. And, had the campaign lasted another week Fender would have beaten Daniel with ease.

Well, eleven out of thirteen will do for this time.

PANDORA RANGE

Train up a girl in the way she should bake, and when she is married she will not depart from it.

My mother taught me how to bake, and told me why she always used a McClary Range.

"Now I have a 'Pandora', and, as with mother, my troubles are few. After fire is started, I simply bring thermometer to desired heat and leave the oven in charge of the baking. It's built for faithful service."

While housewives with other ranges are poking fire and changing dampers, I sit and read the 'Joy of Living'.

HER TWO LOVERS

Thomas Gilkes dismounted from his stiff old cob. He slipped it rearingly on the shoulder, glanced with some disfavor at its hairy legs, its hoofs, over-generously blacked by the cowboy, and its battered stirrups, and bit, and then handed the reins to a boy who came clattering down the cobblestoned street at the signal of his lifted hand.

Gilkes had been a smart man and a good judge of horses in his day—the day when wheat was 50 shillings a quarter. He now wore a black coat and sand-colored trousers, very little better than his thatcher's Sunday suit. His hands were hard and stained; his shirt, though clean, atrociously ironed.

He had stopped in front of a large house with a red-brick front, a parapet, and a row of alternate real and drummy windows on the first floor. There was a grained front door at the top of two steps and an iron gate at the side of the house a brass plate setting forth that here was the office of "Dunster & Sons Solicitors."

The gate opened on a paved passage, where the office windows looked down upon a garden wall barely eight feet away. The passage was very clean, respectably dreary, and inhabited by a cutting dwarf.

Gilkes shut the gate and looked back through it to where the cob stood in the sun with its head drooped, and the small boy posted before him in an attitude borrowed from the photographs of grooms in the Newmarket stables.

Gilkes took a coin from his pocket, looked at it, and then climbed the stairs and asked whether Mr. Dunster could see him.

A man about his own age, who sat doing nothing before a desk covered with papers, welcomed him with a great show of heartiness.

"Glad to see you, Mr. Gilkes," he said, his voice heavy with that spurious benevolence which comes of physical well being and a mind intent upon itself. He sat forward and rubbed his large hands together, wondering whether Gilkes had at last come to try to raise money. Rumor had it that Gilkes bank balance was down among the twenties, and that he had bought his seed potatoes cheap.

Gilkes shook his offered hand and sat down at the other side of the desk; he was a man of slow thought and, unready speech, and for a moment there was a silence.

"It's a long while since we saw you here!" said the lawyer, setting his heavy shoulders into his round-backed chair, and making up his mind that there was a small profit in raising money for old Gilkes.

Times good! asked Gilkes at last.

The other broke into a stream of complaint; no one paid him; he would be obliged to spend his old age in the workhouse; he did not know where to turn for a 2s note. This was the only subject upon which he was fluent: this was his ready-made answer to children creditors, clients and beggars for the last 30 years. It had never been true, it had hardly ever deceived the most generously blacked by the cowboy, and its battered stirrups, and bit, and then handed the reins to a boy who came clattering down the cobblestoned street at the signal of his lifted hand.

As he spoke he glanced up at the ordnance map on the wall opposite. His own land—a field here and a field there, a farm or a row of cottages in this parish or that, all marked in red ink, and adding up to 3000 acres or so. He smiled with satisfaction, and waited for Gilkes to unfold his business.

Gilkes took the gold coin out of his waistcoat pocket and laid it upon the table.

"I want a word with you, Dunster, he said, and I will pay for it before hand. I come to you because I have known you a good many years, and because your wife was the best woman I have ever seen or heard of, and because I was sorry for the boys."

Dunster rubbed his hands. It is a good rule to give your business to old friends, Mr. Gilkes, he said in his thick expressionless voice. Then he blamed himself for using the word friends lest it should embolden Gilkes to ask a loan when the other business was settled.

Gilkes put out a finger and pushed the sovereign a little farther across the desk, making a track in the light dust as he did so.

"Do you think he asked, if you were penniless tonight, that there's a man in the world who would give you a bed or a meal, or as much as let you sit by the warm ashes of his fire? Is there anyone to whom you've done a good turn in all your long life—that you could go to for help? Not eat if you had leave to whistle them up from all England, graveyards and all. Your wife and your sons (who are dead and no expense to you now) would heap help like coals of fire on your head, but that they're beyond anything for you now, poor souls. Jim and Edgell are half way across the world where you sent them, schoolboys, with your blessing, and boots half-worn-out to start with. He looked across at the Lawyer, who sat in his chair, looking slightly puzzled, but quite unmoved.

"I've said what I have to say, Gilkes went on, and I shall say it once a year. I shall not say it often. Neither shall I occupy your time for nothing.

He stood and rested his hands on the edge of the desk, and for the first time stopped to pick his words.

"I've seen my land get poor and foul, and the buildings rot, and the stock die, and I shall not see a man rot year after year and never give him warning."

Dunster sat still, with his eyes on the gold piece torpid and tolerant. When the other man ceased he smiled vaguely,

Is there nothing more I can do for you Mr. Gilkes, he said.

He was not angry, not even interested as he sat absorbed in his interminable calculations of pounds, shillings and pence; of acres and cottages and house property.

Gilkes wondered how he could, for so many years, have hated so impersonal a thing. The woman whom Gilkes had loved had married this man. She had been too proud not to seem content, and it was not for many years after her death that the man she had not chosen knew what her life must have been. He felt that he did well to be angry. The thought that he was not as this money-grubber had comforted him through monotonous years of disappointment. Failure itself was a kind of triumph when set against Dunster's mean success.

At last came a day when Gilkes, sitting by his solitary hearth, saw that he was rejoicing in his enemy's wickedness. All the warmth and color in life, it seemed to him, in that moment of vivid illumination, came from the spectacle of Gilkes going his own way to perdition. There was a dreadful night when he lay and felt himself unworthy either to live or to die. Then his every-day outlook reassured itself, and he found it as difficult to keep his eyes fixed on his own sins as his own virtues.

All that was left of the night-mare was a conviction that it was his duty to warn Dunster.

It was done now, and he stood for a moment erect and intent, as if expecting a blow, or at least a cause.

"Good-day to you, sir," said Dunster, raising his eyes till they rested upon Gilkes' shabby coat, and then glanced off to the map again.

Gilkes went slowly downstairs to where the cob stood, in a patch of sunshine, and they jogged back again to the hungry, ill-doing farm.

"It's worth it, boy," said Gilkes to his mount. "I shall do it again—though a man might as well agree with Pharaoh."

Mother

Of all the words cherished in the recollection of man—of all the names held sacred in his memory, that of mother falls upon his heart with the most sublime influence. How sweet the recollection in after years of a mother's tender training, and who is there that finds no relief in recurring to the scenes of his infancy and youth gilded with the recollections of a mother's tenderness. And how many have nobly owned, that to the salutary influence, then exerted, they must ascribe their future success, their avoidance of evil, when no eyes were upon them, but which rested on the heart, the warnings, the prayers and tears of a mother.

Others may love as fondly, but never again while time is ours, shall any one's love be to us as fond, as tender, as devoted, as that of our dear old trembling mother. Through helpless infancy her throbbing heart was our safe protection and support, and through ill and maladies of childhood, her gentle hand ministered and soothed as none other could. We feel animated to struggle more manfully in the great battle of life, when we remember our mother's holy counsel to us in childhood's early dawn and in the slippery paths of youth. Ah! those words of tenderness—those pious precepts softened by a mother's love—too much unheeded, then disregarded—live now brightened in memory, and constitute our sweetest recollections. Her prayers for us in childhood—her sparkling crystal tears—made an impression on our young mind as durable as time, and even now they bid us walk in the paths of rectitude.

But alas! how little do a majority of us appreciate a mother's tenderness while living! How heedless are we in youth of all her anxieties and kindness! But when she is dead and gone, when the cares and coldness of the world come withering to our hearts, when we experience how hard it is to find true sympathy, how few love us for ourselves, how few will befriend us in our misfortune, then we think of the mother that loved us and to her our hearts turn yearningly.

Sown the Wrong Seed

A practical committeeman in presenting diplomas last June to a graduating class spoke as follows: "Girls, in presenting you these diplomas, it is by their significance you are led to allow your mother to do all the work, bake all the bread, sweep all the floors because you can read Latin or because you demonstrate a theorem of geometry, then has your school been a most unfortunate course, and in all the teachings you have vœr received at my hands, I trust there has been no lesson that has weaned you from the dish pan. Boys, if from this graduation you go out into the world too nice to carry wood and swill the hogs, if need be, then has our school failed in its purpose and sown the wrong seed."

Prevent Taking Cold

Often you come home, cold and shivering—feet are wet, throat is raw, chest a little sore. A bad cold is just beginning. Put on Nerviline Porous Plaster on your chest, rub your throat with Nerviline, and take a stiff dose of Nerviline in hot water. This prevents a chill, and checks the cold instantly. No remedies so useful in the home as sure to prevent serious illness as Nerviline and Nerviline Plasters sold by all dealers, 25c. each, but be sure you get the genuine, and refuse the substitute.

Make Home Pleasant

Make your homes pleasant to your children and there will be no armies of unemployed marching through the country. In America every sober, industrious, honest young man can find employment. He may have to accept of an humble calling, but will rapidly climb the ladder. "As the twig is bent the tree is inclined" and it is the home without pleasure or happiness that sends the children upon the streets in search of a more congenial atmosphere than they find beneath the parental roof. There are none of us so poor but we can train a few roses on the humble wall, and their scent and beauty will long be remembered, and many a boy, instead of going to loaf upon the public highways will linger at home among the flowers. Moral degradation always begins at home. Honesty is never gained or lost suddenly, or by accident, but idleness feeds upon it, and will, in time, use up the last vestige. The happy home, be it a cottage or a mansion, furnishes no recruits for an army of unemployed.

Defeated by Dr. Hamilton

In no way is health so menaced as by constipation. It leads to indigestion, insomnia, anæmia and a hundred ills. Ordinary remedies fail—they relieve—don't cure. The worst case is defeated and cured quickly by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which cleanse the entire intestinal tract, stimulate kidneys and liver, keep the pores of the skin open. You'll never have stomach trouble, yellow complexion or headaches if you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They are a perfect system tonic. 25c. at all dealers.

Home Happiness

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over and he feels that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace with his family, is something real. It does not make much difference whether you own your house or have one little room in that house, you can make that little room a home to you. You can people it with such sweet fancies, that it will be fairly luminous with their presence, and will be to you the very perfection of a home. Against this home none of you should ever transgress.

The great drawback to domestic felicity often lies in the fact that we get too familiar with one another. There should be a certain reserve in the most intimate relationship. Members of the same family have no right to burst into one another's rooms without knocking. Wives have no more right to search their husband's pockets than they have to do the same little service for a distant acquaintance. You have no more right to rob the baby's bank, than to force the vault of the first National.

TIME TO BUY CREAM
SEPARATORS
NOW

There never was a better time to buy the best of Cream Separators than right now.

The advantages derived from the use of the good Cream Separator are greater in the fall and winter than at any other time—when the cows are old in lactation, the loss of butter-fat is otherwise greatest, and butter prices are highest.

Likewise are the advantages of the superior DE LAVAL separators greatest over imitating separators when the milk is hard to separate and the weather cold and variable.

In every case a DE LAVAL separator, of suitable size, will surely at least save its cost between now and July 1st next, and go on returning 100 per cent. per year on the investment for twenty years to come.

The agricultural and particularly the dairying outlook was never brighter and more promising.

COINS THAT ARE BASE

Metals and Methods Used in Making Counterfeits.

HOW THEY MAY BE DETECTED

Spurious Coins Cannot Stand the Three Tests of Weight, Diameter and Thickness—Gold Pieces That Are Sweated, Plugged or Filled.

The most dangerous counterfeits are those made with a die and are usually imitations of gold coins. Molds of various kinds are extensively used, but counterfeits so made are inferior to those made with a die.

In counterfeits made from a mold lettering, milling and reeding are usually poor and weight defective. The coins lack the sharp and clear cut appearance of genuine coins. Most counterfeit silver coins in circulation are made from molds, as it is an inexpensive form of counterfeiting. Some fair specimens have been produced in this way, but usually they are much lighter than the genuine and if of required weight differ in diameter or thickness.

Various metals are used by counterfeiters, principally platinum, silver, copper, brass, antimony, aluminum, steel and iron, and their various compositions.

Among the most dangerous counterfeits of gold coins are those of a composition of gold, silver and copper. They are a low grade gold, and the gold test shows they lack the fineness of standard gold by the United States mint, which is 900 fine, or 21.66 carats. These counterfeits average from 400 to 500 fine. Platinum counterfeits are dangerous as gold coins used gives required weight, and they are heavily gold plated. When they have been in circulation for a time the plating wears off, especially on the edges.

The most dangerous counterfeit of silver coins is made of a composition of antimony and lead, the former metal predominating. These counterfeits are of the dollar, have a fine appearance, and are heavily silver plated with fair ring, and some are only slightly below the standard weight.

Some pieces among the smaller coins are made of brass, struck from a die and when heavily plated are fair imitations. They lack required weight, except in a few instances. Counterfeits of type metal, lead and other compositions are much lighter than genuine. Those having required weight are much too thick.

Genuine coins of all kinds, for the sake of gain, are tampered with in various ways. These operations are confined almost exclusively to gold coins which are sweated, plugged and filled.

Sweating is removing a portion of the gold from surface of coin. The process does not interfere with the ring, and as the portion removed is generally slight the coin is left with a very slight appearance, weight only being defective. The principal methods of sweating are the acid bath, filing the edges or reeding, the operator filing a profit in the small quantities of gold removed from numerous places. The average reduction in value of coins subjected to these processes is from one-twentieth to one-tenth.

Plugging is done by boring holes in the coin, extracting the gold and filling the cavity with a cheaper material. The larger coins—double eagles and eagles—generally have two dollar pieces—used for this purpose. The small surface of the plugging material, when it shows on the edge of the coin is covered with gold and the reeding retouched with a file or machine. The average loss in value to coins treated in this way is from one-eighth to one-fifth. Coins of this kind are very dangerous, as they are perfect imitations, only the edges having been tampered with.

Filing is most commonly done by sending the coin through from the edge on reeding, removing the interior portion and replacing it with a cheap metal. Coins of all denominations from quarter eagle to double eagle are subjected to this process. When platinum is used to replace gold extracted the coin has same weight as genuine. By this process coins lose four-fifths of their value as the original surfaces are left only of paper thickness.

When edges have been covered with gold and reeding restored the coin has the appearance of being genuine, having correct size and weight and a fair ring. Sometimes the covering of gold on edges is so thin that filing can be distinctly seen. When other and less costly filling than platinum is used coins are of light weight and have a bad ring. If of correct weight they are too thick.

Another method of filling is sawing the coin partly in two, from edge of reeding on one side, leaving a thin and thick portion. The thin side of the coin is turned back and the gold extracted from center of thicker portion. The cavity is filled with base metal and sides pressed back into original position and soldered or brazed together. It is difficult to give average loss to coins treated in this manner, as hardly any two seen have the same amount of gold taken from them.

The detecting counterfeit coin compares heavily, fine weight, ring and general appearance with genuine coins of same period and coinage. The three tests of weight, diameter and thickness should be applied, for it is almost impossible for the counterfeiters to comply with these three tests without using genuine metal.

A MAN AND A MOB.

The Way Lyon Playfair Handled the Lancashire Strikers.

During the great labor riots in Lancashire about the middle of the last century the ready resources of Lyon Playfair saved one of the only two mills which remained open at the time. The government was anxious that these two should continue in action, and supplied the workmen engaged with muskets. But a great force of strikers advanced upon one of the two, and it was obvious that the day was lost. The mob meant to wreck the place. Playfair, who was a friend of the owner, appeared in haste among them, keeping the proprietor out of sight. He put the case frankly to the strikers. The gates of the mill were closed, but the numbers of the strikers made them irresistible, hence it was of no use their all going in and wrecking the place. Let a few of them enter the premises, remove the plugs from the boilers, and thus, without damage to the works, secure their stoppage. Give a disorderly mob, heavily met by a man of courage and tact, will listen to no such terms. Playfair's proposition seemed fair, but might not trespasser be bidden?

He immediately put their doubts to rest by offering himself as hostage. He would accompany the proprietor while the others kept guard over the works. The men agreed, and Playfair stood off with the men chosen. Together they went to the boilers and withdrew the plugs. This stopped the works, but did no other damage. While thus engaged Playfair was able to return to the story of the ladies, and found many of their demands most reasonable and such that afterwards it was possible readily to concede them. The little party returned from the incessant wrecking and found the mob honorably proceeding under the direction of their own leaders. The owner gave them a couple of sovereigns with which to buy food, and they returned him three times three in cheer. There remained only one other mill to close, that at Clitheroe, and upon this the strikers now marched. Again they were thwarted, but this time not by pacific means, but by the might of the military.

SUPERSTITIOUS.

General Grant believed in dreams. Nelson, the English naval hero, as ways carried a horseshoe with him into battle.

Von Moltke, the hardy old German general, would never begin a battle on a Friday.

Prince Bismarck of Germany would never sit down to a dinner with his teen at the table.

President Davis of the Confederacy believed in the presence of children brought him luck.

James G. Blaine would never turn back to re-enter his home even if he had forgotten something.

The father of Nicholas II. of Russia guided his actions by the advice of an American spirit medium.

Admiral Farragut says he used to be guided by a small, small voice which told him what to do in battles.

The ameer of Afghanistan, the sultans of Morocco and Zanzibar and the khedive of Egypt all maintain official astrologers.

A Timely Present.

A certain colored gentleman recently saluted a large colored lady of the Appalachian type in the following manner:

"You'll be satisfied when I tell you," said a man who knows, "that it's a fact that dressmakers sometimes send to a fashionable undertaker for a gown when they have a hurry order. There was a time when undertakers carried only shrouds in stock, but in this age of luxury the big concerns have a line of what are known in the trade as 'dressed' fine burial dresses. Such materials as henrietta, pongee, faille and chiffon truffles are used for these dresses, and they are made in the prettiest style. The dressmakers know this, and if they can't find what they want in one of the regular shops, they don't hesitate to call on the undertaker."

As He Viewed It.

"Surrender," he said, "I saw by the papers that a big fire here who was hurt with no legs and no arms. I saw a fine specimen manager, and I should like to find him."

Chosen—No one having him up. His powers wasn't exhibit him.

"That was?" Well, it was all what he'd done, but he can't appreciate 'em."

Never Touched Him.

Nodd—Would you mind returning the book you borrowed of me last year? Tall—Some one borrowed it of me and never returned it yet. Did you ever see anything like the way some people act about a thing like that? They have no sense of honor—Laff.

THE VICTORY IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The result of the election has again demonstrated the fact that the electors of Canada cannot be stampeded by eloquent but cowardly appeals to religious bigotry and canvasses that dare not be enunciated in the open.

The election in New Brunswick will furnish the thoughtful elector with many topics worthy his consideration. The reputations of many political gods suffered. The Premier of the Province has shown himself too small for his position, his standing in the Dominion today must be a matter of regret to his loyal supporters here. The attempt to blicken the character and ruin the reputation of a political opponent and a man whose great ambition in life has been the welfare of New Brunswick, the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, leader of a great party, leaves Mr. Hazen in a position no one will envy. The slanderous statement read from a public platform in the City of St. John has been justly rebuked. New Brunswick has elected eleven Liberals and two Conservatives. Charlotte is in line with the Government and we believe it is well for Charlotte she is in line.

As great as Dr. Pugsley's personal triumph is Mr. Hazen's defeat. He made this campaign his own; threw the whole weight of his personal and official influence, and the power of his government's machinery, into the scales; descended, in his indelicate spite against the Minister, to methods of cowardly slander. And here is his answer. In a province which gave him an overwhelming majority half a year ago he has been barely able to hold two seats—could not hold even his own constituency, though he spent the last two weeks working frantically there.

WILLIAM F. TODD

William F. Todd is member-elect for Charlotte Co. Greetings, since the nomination of Mr. Todd, felt sure of his election, and told his readers that Charlotte was to be redeemed. Mr. Todd will make a good representative, of this we feel certain. He is a man modest in his demeanor, affable, and possesses a personality that wins him friends. His popularity in the County of Charlotte has been proven more than once. He will be popular at Ottawa and this will mean much for the County.

The Liberals of St. George fought a desperate battle against most unfair methods, and are to be congratulated on the result. It is hard to understand why some interests in town, which are benefited by the Liberal Administration, showed so much hostility. We might also say that the Conservative party is opposed to Unionism, or any legislation that goes to help the laboring classes. With these facts prominently before the people the Liberal candidate deserved a larger vote in this town, but the party has no apology to make and had the satisfaction of putting Charlotte Co. in the Liberal column.

The Pulp Co. vote seems to have gone almost solidly against the government.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER HONORED WITH LEADERSHIP FOR THE FOURTH TIME

BY THE WAY

"I say."

Victory!

All sing.

Pennfield did nobly.

Back Bay and L'Etete! Oh!

Hats off to Beaver Harbor.

Mr. Todd will make good.

When a man's grandfather and web his son's wife, that's step-father.

If all the devils were cast out of some people, they would look like walking skeletons.

Whoso combeth his hair with a view to hiding his bald spot, is a liar at heart.

When a man nearly breaks his neck getting out of the way of a lightning bug supposing it to be a locomotive, it's time for him to swear off.

The finishing touches put on the Slanderband.

The stink-pot campaigners are down and out.

"After the election Gilbert W. Ganong will represent Charlotte County at Hon. R. L. Borden's Council board—Courier—NHL.

The man who could do more in the back yards of Pennfield than all the big meetings, evidently made a mistake.

That majority of twenty at Second Falls failed to connect.

There is abundant reason for the statement that the vote in St. George, Monday, was a surprise. It shows light on the way manufacturers view the efforts that are being put forth by the government to advance their interests.

Some Tory office holders in Charlotte will have something to explain in the near future.

The local government patronage failed in its purpose.

All local government work in the parish of St. George will please cease.

One Conservative in town was rash enough to wager twenty five dollars on the result in Charlotte. He is a sadder but wiser man today.

Lay away the little map.

"My dear Lefurgey"

Did you hear anything drop.

Geo. W. Fowler.

Fowler, Lefurgey, Pope, Bennett—all beaten. Only Foster remains of the men the Foresters were after and he was running in a place where they would elect the devil himself on the Tory ticket.—Sun.

Laurier will finish his work.

Pugsley won't do a thing to Maves.

The campaign of slander has met with ignominious failure.

Routed everywhere.

Up to date there has been more deer shot than men.

The Foresters remembered a few things and acted accordingly. What do you say Mr. Fowler?

The electors of Back Bay, Letete and surrounding districts will on Oct. 26th give a second majority for W. F. Todd.—From Greeting Oct. 21st.

Who will greatly benefit by the dredging and rebuilding the public wharf? You know.

One good term deserves another, but did it happen in St. George Monday?

Fowler, Bennett, Pope, Lefurgey and Ganong all in the slaughter.

The new species of fish in the waters of Passamaquoddy and St. Andrews bays is about seven inches in length, and as it is fatter than the present "sandling" may prove a dangerous claimant for the title.

A bunch of raspberries some ripe some green were brought into Greetings office on Saturday. Mrs. George Matthews picked them near her home on the Magallowick. Mrs. Matthews said they were a second growth, they tell in an eloquent manner the beautiful weather we have enjoyed this fall.

There are three things which no man can do to the satisfaction of other men—make love, poke the fire and run a paper. No matter if a man has no more sense than an oyster, and does not know how many toes he has, he always knows how to run the paper better than the editor. And what is more, he tells all about it on the street. But despite all this valuable advice that's wasted the editor's still goes on making blunders and money. The old-fashioned editor who had to be all things to all men is passing away. The time has come when a man who runs a paper is his own master.

The person who stands on the street corner looking around for something to gossip about or to find fault with, can always find what he is looking for. But what a life he lives. His soul shrivels and withers until it is shown in his manner and looks. For such a person life has lost its savor. It becomes sour, misanthropic, whining. He passes from the bad to worse and sees no good in anybody. His taxes are always too high, no matter how low they may be and he curses his neighbor because his neighbor is prosperous and enjoys life. In fact, he hates himself, is a menace to a town's prosperity, a foe to God and no good to the devil. These persons seem to be a necessary evil in every town. They ought to be put out.

This Co. comes well recommended, their plays are all new every night with a fine line of specialties between the acts making a continuous performance from rise to fall of curtain, their initial performance will be A Woman's Struggle. Reserved seats can be secured in advance at the usual place.

E. G. Murphy, of the Pulp Co., has returned to Norwalk, Ct. after spending a few days here on business.

Our esteemed friend and widely known theatrical manager, H. Price Webber, is in the city shaking hands on every side. He remarked to the editor that he hoped that the people of Charlottetown would not give him the dead shake when he asks their patronage on Tuesday evening, November 3rd, when his company will perform "The Little Detective." The editor replied: "There is no danger of that."---Charlottetown Patriot.

Miss Anslow of Windsor, is the guest of Mrs. J. A. McCallum.

In a recent foot-ball game in Montreal, a Montreal paper has this to say of D. Gillmor: "For the winners Dan Gillmor, of Interprovincial fame, played a wonderful game, and he was directly responsible for three of the five hard earned points. There was a scrimmage on the forty-five yard line, and the ball was passed to Gillmor, who was in position for a kick and well protected by his wings and with apparently not the slightest effort, he dropped the goal. This was one of the neatest long distance drops ever witnessed on the college campus. He was without a doubt the best man in the game, and his kicking should null the Varsity out of many tight holes when the big games commence."

Hugh McGregor, Bocabee, was a business visitor in town Friday.

We all make them occasionally and they sell other than to convert them into when we discover our mistakes the best money. As a matter of fact these things we can do to correct them with machines are sold at a higher percentage as little delay as possible. Many honest people have been induced to buy inferior cream separators because of false statements made by the manufacturers and have been unfortunate enough to buy their agents. Others have bought cheaply constructed machines for which great claims are made and which are advertised as being sold at a great reduction in price by mail order houses and others who have no reputation to sustain, and who have no interest in the separators proposition.

THIN BLOOD MADE STRONG

Tiredness and Weakness Overcome

A Joyous Letter

"I admit because I neglected early treatment I am entirely to blame for the condition of weakness that for nearly two years made my life a real misery," writes Mrs. Hazen, of Beausport. At first I felt sort of flat in the morning and could do no more than pick at my breakfast. Later I remembered my sleep was disturbed, that dreamy, restless sleep, from which you finally awaken, feeling as if you could never get up. Then I became thin, lost my color, got nervous and fearful about nothing, and kept thinking about myself all the time, and was irritable, cross and easily made cry. What would have become of me if I had not taken Ferrozone I can't imagine. Ferrozone put new life into me from the start. It strengthened my nerves and brought back my color, and in a little while, less than three months, no healthier and brighter woman could be found anywhere. I highly praise Ferrozone and advise sick people to take advantage of its health-conferring properties.

Ferrozone quickens the powers of both body and mind, simply because it forms lots of blood that's full of life and vitality. Ferrozone creates appetite, gives strength, vim and endurance, it's good for old people, good for everybody that needs better health. Thousands of men, women and children use Ferrozone every day and all say it's the best nourishing, strengthening tonic made; try Ferrozone yourself, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all dealers.

How Moving Pictures are Made

Four thousand people packed the space in front of Borough Hall, Brooklyn, the while they gazed at a baseball bulletin board. The police moved here and there clearing the tracks. Up came a boy. He didn't look much like a boy—because he was an actor. Behind him toddled an old woman, and behind her came a stage manager, a camera man, and a helper. Scarcely had the old woman established herself on the curbstone before a trolley car came clanging down the avenue. The boy spat professionally on his hands. The old lady gathered herself together. The car was thirty feet away and bowling along in lively fashion, writes Harris Merton Lyon in the New Broadway Magazine for September.

"Now go!" yelled the stage manager.

Out onto the tracks she went. It was a business of seconds and split seconds. Subtly somewhere a camera began clicking off its little stamp pictures, the photographer turning away at a crank like a housewife grinding coffee.

"Now, you!" was the second command.

This time the boy leaped out. The car came jarring to a standstill. The motorman jumped down to the rescue. "Keep back!" the stage manager again. "Let the boy save her."

Then the crowd took its eyes off the baseball results long enough to stare at the picture of a young man carrying an old woman in his arms to safety out from under the very wheels of the trolley car. "Who got hit? Was the old lady hurt? What is it? An accident?" No; it was the American Vitagraph Company's crew of five-dollar-a-day actors, bound on their day's work of telling in pictures the heroic "Life of a New York Lad"—six hundred feet of it and twenty pictures to the foot.

But sometimes it isn't a noble lad, but a clever thief escaping from Sing Sing—"Sing Sing" being a set of canvas scenery down in a peaceful Long Island studio; or it is a band of actor-desperadoes holding up a chartered train—this at least, is real—and robbing actor-passengers of much actor-money and actor-jewels. Sometimes it is a company of clowns, all rolling themselves into one and then disintegrating again—a mere trick of film patching; or a man sliding up a rope—by simply reversing the film of the film; and sometimes it is the Russo-Japanese War, actually taken upon the spot by a Russian war photographer, or a whaling expedition ending with the capture of a big whale—and that, you may count upon it, is the real thing, with a camera operator making pictures against time from the uncertain perch of a deck rail.

Grandma on Matrimony

Matrimony is not wholly a failure or success. It is not a failure for the masculine member of the contracting party. In nine cases out of ten he has married a woman a great deal too good for him; he has (I speak of the lot of the majority of women) gained a housekeeper, cook, seamstress, laundress and later in married life a nurse and governess; he has gained a deferential listener, and firm believer in all he does and says, for of course a wife has implicit faith in her husband; he has gained a valuable waiter, something which he needs, for early in married life he develops helplessness in a remarkable degree; he can never find anything, even after his wife has described the exact location of the desired article, neither can he put on a collar or necktie without her assistance. "Goodness only knows how he did it before marriage." For all this he expects to give and she to receive board and clothes.

She has lost her freedom and her name, she has to work twice as hard as in her girlhood even if she then earned her own living. Then she always had money of her own to spend as she pleased; now in addition to her home duties, she many times works for others—"it is so nice to have a little money of my own," she says. Of course she does not do anything at home to entitle her to a part of her husband's earnings as her "very own."

By the time she has been married ten years she looks ten years older than the sister who is only two years her junior, and her husband is usually the first to remark it, but of course he is not to blame.

Be Considerate

The greater the value of the article the choicer we are supposed to be of it, and in the same line of argument, the choicer we are supposed to be of blinks us the more considerate we should be in the handling of it. I may hurt the feelings of the society acquaintance, and there is no special harm done, beyond the estrangement of two people who care little for each other, but when I stab the fond old mother's heart, that loves me with a love next in tenderness to Heaven's or wound my child with a hasty word, an injustice or a cruelty, or ridicule the sensitive feelings of a brother or a sister, eternally itself shall not be long enough to extract the sting from memory.

A Home Day

God intended that there should be one day each week as an especial day when the father would be home from work, and the children home from school and the mother have less of household cares, when all could put on their best clothes, sing their sweetest song and enjoy a day of love. The Sabbath should never be made a day of labor in the house. The work of each home should be so arranged that it can be done almost entirely in six days and as evenly as possible in each day. "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work."

The baking and cooking can be done on Saturday, and Sunday can be made almost entirely a day for warming over the food prepared before. We fear many good housewives make a serious mistake in giving too much time on Sunday cooking. Others perhaps are equally in error by overworking on Saturday, so that they cannot properly rest or enjoy the Sabbath day. Parents and children ought to be more to each other on that day than on any other. A day of uplift and enlight it ought to be made in every home.

A little girl the other day referred to the mousetraps of a young man as a "bang" on his lip. If she doesn't look out one of these days she will get a bang under the nose.—Exchange.

The French say it requires the presence of three generations to make a perfect home, and we are glad to see that the grandmother is becoming more highly appreciated in this country, as she no longer confines herself to the chimney corner and her knitting, but takes a kindly interest in all that goes on; keeps mind and body disciplined by study and active useful participation in what is going on around her, and is as careful of her appearance as when she was a young girl.

Stop That Cold

To check early colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure relief for Flu, Cough, Sore Throat, and all other ailments. To stop a cold with Preventics is easier than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterwards. To be sure, Preventics will cure even a deeply seated cold, but take early—at the onset stage—they break, or head off those early colds. That's surely better. That's why they are called Preventics. Preventics are little Candy Cold Cures. No Quinine, no Abric, nothing sickening. Nice for the children—and thoroughly safe too. If you feel chilly, if you sneeze, if you ache all over, think of Preventics. Preventics may also save half your usual sickness. And don't forget your child. If there is feverishness, sneezing, or a sore throat, probably has Preventics' greatest efficiency. Sold in 5¢ boxes for the sick, also in 50¢ boxes of 48 Preventics. Insist on your druggists giving you

To Hang Clothes In

"We have equipped each of the cloth presses in our house with long, nine-inch screw hooks, such as are used to suspend bird cages from," says a writer in Woman's Home Companion for September. "One hook easily holds six skirts or waists hangers. Not only is the available space greatly increased, but 'finishing things' is much easier than in a press where small hooks are used and things hang one over another."

This as a Rail, Are You?

Every day spending as much energy as you make—if the balance goes a little further, well, you get thinner. On the danger line to-day, tomorrow may be too late! Better use Ferrozone, it builds up—a little gain the first week, but the gain keeps growing. Next week not quite so thin. Keep right on, lots of fat won't hurt at all. Your blood is enriched, cheeks grow rosy, your heart and nerves grow strong and you don't tire so quickly. Joyous rugged health, a sturdy frame and a cheerful mind—all these come with Ferrozone. You'll try it, only 50¢, at all dealers.

Don'ts for Farmers

Don't try to please your wife.
Don't appreciate one thing she does.
Don't help care for the children.
That is what you get her for.
Don't ever plan your work so as to be able to take her to any entertainment.
Don't be ashamed to read that the majority of insane women are farmer's wives.

Don't get a bucket of water from the cistern when asked. Anyone can pump who half tries.

Don't fail to invite company for Sunday dinner without letting her know so she can have a day for rest.

Don't fail to ask your wife if she wants you to do all the house work if she asks you to put some wood in the stove.

Don't wonder that your food has a peculiar flavor, for it is seasoned with blasted hopes and sighs of disappointment.

Don't neglect asking what she has done with all the butter and egg money, for it will more than supply the table, help pay the hired man, and get the children books and clothes.

A pain prescription is printed upon each 25¢ box of Dr. Shoop's Pink Pain Tablets. Ask your Doctor or Druggist if the formula is not complete. Head pains, womanly pains, pains anywhere get get instant relief from a Pink Pain Tablet. Sold by All Dealers.

Husband of the Future

Much has been written of late, about women,—the model wife, so we have a word for the model husband of the future for the reason that if he exists today we have never had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

The model husband of the future will walk out with his wife on a week day, and will not be afraid of a military shop. He will even have "change" when asked for it and will never allege "to it afterwards."

He will not be above carrying a large bundle or a cotton umbrella, or even holding the baby in his lap in the omnibus. He will go to bed first in cold weather. He will get up in the night to rock the cradle of answer the door bell. He will believe in hysterics and will be easily melted by a tear. He will patch up a quarrel with his wife with a velvet gown and will drive away the sulks in a ride in the motor-car. He will never get out of humor because a few buttons are missing, when he goes to dress, neither will he bring home friends for supper. His clothes will never smell of tobacco. He will respect the curtains and never smoke in the house. He will be innocent of any latch-key. He will let the family go out of town once every year while he remains at home with one knife and fork, sleeps in a curtained bed and washes his own dishes and socks. Watch for this model husband for he is surely coming.

Going Into Consumption?

When your throat rattles, your lungs ache and chest is sore, your throat is stuffed with cold—don't fear consumption—use Catarrhone and get well. It clears the throat, cures hacking, relieves tight chest and soreness in the bronchial tubes. To clear away Catarrh of the lungs and soothe—cures every form of throat, lung or bronchial trouble. Prescribed by many specialists and used by thousands every day. 25¢ and $1.00 at all dealers.

The Honeymoon

Few will admit that they need any advice in the honeymoon; fewer still will take it. Most young people think, "Well, it is hard if we may not be left to ourselves at such a season!" And yet, perhaps, if we took the experience of the many on this subject, they would admit that the honeymoon has been the time of all others when they have been the least able to help themselves.

It is too much to say that during those two months the happiness of the newly settled. Well, perhaps that is too much to say, for errors and misconceptions may be lived down, and habits may be formed or broken after the honeymoon, in the course of years. But still more is often decided we will not say in the first few months, but even in the first few days. Little things are decided in little ways, and neither understand that "it is the little rift within the love's lute" that has begun to show even on the first day.

Patience on both sides is needed—especially on the man's side, for he is the stronger vessel, and knows life. At the bottom of her heart, his young wife wants to please him; but she cannot bear him out of her sight—she must account for every moment.

His ways are incomprehensible. Why does he want to go out for an hour after dinner for a stroll? Why does he prefer spending an hour of two downstairs with an old friend at night to going up into the drawing-room? Why does he want to see the papers at the club, instead of going out, after a hard day in the city, for a while shopping? Man is a mystery to many a young girl for the first few months after marriage. She has not learned that a man's interests are and must be various.

We hear a good deal about incompatibility of temper—we believe very little in it. The sexes are almost indefinitely plastic. People quarrel more from errors of judgment than from any other cause. You can live with anybody if you understand him, and you can manage anybody if you know him, providing you mean well, have a decent heart, and are willing to be patient and to make some sacrifices for love.

Newly-married women are, no doubt, very trying sometimes to their husbands; but it is the fault more of their social training and the want of education than anything else. Men should remember how much a girl has to learn, and how much, alas, most men have to unlearn, when they first begin the married life. We venture to say that if all newly-married couples were to make a contract not to quarrel for six months, they would seldom have any serious quarrels in after life.

You can get into the habit of living peacefully and happily, and that habit is quite as difficult to break as any habit we know of. Let there be no long quarrels; let there be no long careless, indifferent fits. If little snarls arise—and they will arise—let them be brief. Don't let us sleep over it, and wake up the next morning and cudgel our brains to remember who nagged last. This kind of thing is mean, it is ungenerous, and it is silly.

To quickly check a cold, druggists are dispensing everywhere, a clever Candy Cold Cure Tablet called Preventics. Preventics are also fine for feverish children. Take Preventics at the earliest stage, to head off all colds. Box of 48—25¢. Sold by All Dealers.

From Field to Flour

Erom standing grain in the field to well baked biscuits in twenty-two minutes was the record made in converting the raw material into the manufactured product at Waitsburg, Wash., a few days ago. This is said to beat the previous record held by a Minneapolis mill, by twenty-nine minutes. The Minneapolis record was made several years ago, and might be improved on at this time, but until the Minnesota farmers begin using combined harvesters and other up-to-date machinery such as has made the Pacific northwest famous the record will remain on this side of the Rocky mountains.—Portland Oregonian.

POINTS TO CONSIDER

Acadia Seminary believes in Christian Education. She believes that true Culture results in the formation of Noble Character. All departments of study are organized to the accomplishment of this end.

Acadia Seminary and Efficiency in matters educational are becoming synonymous phrases in the Homes of the Maritime Provinces.

Acadia Seminary is the only school in the Maritime Provinces which has Certificate Rights at Wellesley College.

The Teaching Staff of Acadia Seminary, in all departments, is recognized as being exceptionally strong.

Acadia Seminary has more than doubled its attendance during the last Seven Years. WHY?

Through Five Consecutive Years Acadia Seminary as organized and maintained successfully a Music Festival. No other school in Canada has done this and so helped to develop the musical life of the pupils in the study of the great masterpieces of Opera and Oratorio.

The location of Acadia Seminary is ideal. Nothing to be compared with it can be found in the Dominion of Canada.

The Expense of a Year at Acadia Seminary is very moderate. Our motto is the Best Value for the Least Money.

Simplicity in dress and limited amounts of spending money are insisted upon at Acadia Seminary.

Acadia Seminary is proud of her Pupils and points with pride to the list of Graduates.

Acadia Seminary is patronized by the people who know Values in Education.

Marvels of Wireless Telegraphy

Wireless telephony is now a fact. Count Arco, of Berlin, and our own DeForest, have proved that a mere trifle of 400 miles is no serious obstacle to a tete-a-tete conversation.

There is no practical reason, they say, why we should not have our wireless "Tannhauser."

And as for driving an aeromobile with this new brain-stunning force called wireless power, why not? During this year wireless power has been used to push a heavy trolley car with complete success; and those two bird-like old bachelors, the Wright brothers, have developed the flying machine up to the point of a 26-mile flight, says Robert Sloss in an interesting article in the September Broadway Magazine.

Whatever is sent by wire can eventually be sent without wire—this is the great truth which is now revolutionizing opinions and methods in the scientific and engineering worlds. It is bad news for the copper trust, no doubt, but it makes life much more interesting for the rest of us.

The basic principle of wireless transmission is one of the simplest known to science and will never change until the universe changes. We understand how sight is made possible by light traveling in waves which reach the sensitive optic nerve and likewise how sound sets up delicate wavelike vibrations which, passing through our atmosphere, beat upon our eardrums, causing us to hear. It is an exactly similar way an electrical impulse set up anywhere travels in waves through ether, which surrounds every particle of matter, conducting the electrical vibration through air, water, earth, and walls of solid masonry. And it is possible to pick up these vibrations anywhere provided one has the right kind of receiver "tuned," to the wave length on which they are sent out.

When the expectations of wireless experts are realized everyone will have his own pocket telephone and may be called wherever he happens to be—across land or water, whether sitting quietly indoors or in swiftly moving railroad trains, sailing the sea or the air, penetrating the bowels of the earth, or exploring the bottom of the sea.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even-numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for entry must be made in person by the applicant at a Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made in any Agency on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) A homesteader may, if he so desires, perform the required residence duties by living on farming land owned solely by him, not less than eighty (80) acres in extent, in the vicinity of his homestead. He may also do so by living with father or mother, on certain conditions. Joint ownership in land will not meet this requirement.

(3) A homesteader intending to perform his residence duties in accordance with the above while living with parents or on farming land owned by himself must notify the Agent for the district of such intention.

Stomach troubles would more quickly disappear if the idea of treating the cause, rather than the effect, would come into practice. A tiny, inside, hidden nerve, says Dr. Shoop, governs and gives strength to the stomach. A branch also goes to the heart, and one to the kidneys. When these "inside nerves" fall, then the organs must follow. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed specifically to these failing nerves. Within 48 hours after starting the Restorative treatment patients say they realize a gain. Sold by All Dealers.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Announcement

For Fall and Winter 1908-09

We don't want to talk politics and promise golden mountains, we can promise you that, but no one can give it to you. We will talk business, something you can realize and understand. We have made great preparations this fall; we did our buying carefully and in different places to give you variety in every line--particularly in Ladies, Misses and Children's Coats--the best and cheapest. The same in Fall dress skirts and all ready-to-wear garments.

Great selection in dress goods, French flannels and flannellets and all kinds of woolen goods and cottons. A splendid assortment of furs--up-to-date and very cheap.

In our Millinery Department we engaged Miss I. M. Phinney of Middleton, N. S., a milliner of long experience, very tasteful and anxious to please everybody.

Come to our store and inspect our stock even if you don't buy. When you see our stock you will be convinced that you cannot do better elsewhere.

Remember that our shoe line is more suitable for you than any other because we know what you want for your money.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of the persons tendering.

Specifications and forms of tender can be obtained at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, and at the office of E. T. P. Shewen, Resident Engineer, Public Works Department, St. John, N. B.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the amount of tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order, NAP, TESSIER, Secretary.

PERUNA A WONDERFUL BOON IN MY OLD AGE.

MRS. MAHALA REID.

Heartily Approves of Peruna and Man-o-wine for Kidney and Bowel Trouble.

MRS. MAHALA REID, Cobbyville, Ont., Canada, writes:

"Your celebrated remedies have been a wonderful boon to me in my old age."

"I have not been in so good health for several years as now. I was troubled with constipation, rheumatism and kidney trouble."

"A little over two years ago, I completely lost my health, becoming almost helpless, when a dear friend sent me your remedies, Peruna and Man-o-wine. I began to take them, following the directions on the bottle. I very soon began to feel benefited by their use and continued to take them."

"I am now completely recovered from the above ailments, in fact, better than I have been for years past. I cannot praise the remedies too highly and will say recommend them to others."

"Constipation is almost sure to set up derangements."

"I had accumulations within the are partly reabsorbed into the producing sometimes rheumatism kidney trouble."

The blood being surcharged with acids, which ordinarily find their escape through the bowels when they are regular, rheumatism is the result. Acid blood forms crystals, which accumulate about the ligaments, cartilages and sometimes the bones in the joints.

Such morbid accumulations of blood throw extra work upon the kidneys. The kidneys being unable to perform the unusual labor of eliminating these poisons, often give way and kidney trouble is the result.

Permanent relief cannot be reasonably expected except by correcting the constipation.

Regular bowels are a great safeguard to health. Peruna and Man-o-wine are unequalled the world over for chronic diseases affecting the bowels and kidneys.

Mrs. W. W. Lamaster, 812 Meade, Ave., Louisville, Ky., writes:

"I suffered for twenty-six years with bladder and kidney trouble, and being advised to give Peruna a trial, I did so. Eight bottles of Peruna and three bottles of Man-o-wine entirely cured me."
