Fearful Devastation in the Pennsylvania Oil Regions.

Titusville and Oil City Visited by Cloudbursts.

While Fierce Fires Add Terror to the Scene.

Scores of Persons Reported to Have Perished.

The Damage to Property Almost Incalculable - Scenes of Horrer and Dismay-Names of Some of the Victims.

Pritsburg, Pa., June 5.—The oil region was visited by an awful disaster of flood and fire this morning. There was a cloud-buret at Titusville and another at Oil City, and both cities were inundated. To add to the horror several refineries were struck by lightning and property not destroyed by water was consumed by fire. At Titusville four of the largest refineries took fire and a stretch of at least one-half mile in length is burning.

and a stretch of at least one-half mile in length is burning.

The flood appears to have been general throughout Northern Pennsylvania. A telegram from Meadville says the gorge which formed in a deep ravine north of the town, forming a lake of three acres and twenty feet deep, broke and swept half the city. The New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railway east of Meadville is damaged beyond estimate.

TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

beyond estimate.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon a telegram was received from Titusville placing the loss of life at 150 in that town. The water came up suddenly from Oil Creek and flooded the whole flat as far as Spring street, forming a lake nearly half a mile in width and about two-thirds of a mile, in length. The Acme oil refinery was struck by lightning, and fire added terror to the scene. The flames spread with rapidity, and soon lightning, and fire added terror to the seen. The flames spread with rapidity, and soon the ve blocks from Perry to Drake streets were laid waste. A half dozen of the largest oil refineries were burned. The only buildings said to be now standing in the district mentioned are the Titusville iron works and the depot of the W. N. Y. and P. Railroad. The water began to recede about noon and is now going down rapidly. Two HUNDERD VICTIMS.

AN UNPRECEDENTED DISASTER.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 5.—Nover before in the history of Oil City and the oil country there been such disaster, excitement and turmoil as this city is now witnessing. At 11:45 this morning the city and country for miles around was startled by two almost simultaneous explosions. Oil Creek was a raging torrent, and in Centerstreet a crowd of people stood watching the middly waters rolling by. When about 200 yards up the stream a mass of flame was seen to shoot heavenward. "Run," said a hundred voices, and the people started for the bills. Hardly had they started when a terrific explosion rent the air, and the entire creek and for hundreds of feet on each side seemed one mass of flame and smoke. In their efforts to escape women and children were trampled under foot and many were severely bruised. About half a mile northward from the postoffice on the Western New York and Pennsylvania Road a tank filled with gasoline exploded.

A hundred Feet into the Air,

A HUNDRED FEET INTO THE AIR, and the earth seemed to shake with an awful tremor. The engineer and fireman, it is supposed, were burned to death or killed by the force of the explosion. Flames swept over the entire upper part of the city, which is flooded by the oily waters of the creek. Men, women and children who were moving from their houses were caught by the deadly flames, and if not burded to death were drowned in the raging torreit. in the raging torrent.

LATER.

PITTSBURG, June 6.—The disaster in the oil regions of Pennsylvania yesterday is only eclipsed in the history of this country by the memorable flood at Johnstown just three years ago. It is safe to say that not less than 150 lives have been lost. Nearly 100 bodies have already been recovered and many people are still missing. The number far exceeds 150, but this is regarded as a conservative estimate. The property loss will reach far into millions. At Titus-ville the loss is estimated at $1,500,000; Oil city, $1,500,000; Corry, $60,000; Meadville, $150,000, and the surrounding country probably $1,000,000 more.

FORTY-SIX BODIES RECOVEED AT OIL CITY.

A tank owned by the Pennsylvania Refinery Company, of Seneca street, is in danger of exploding at this writing. It contains 25,000 barrels of oil, and if it catches fire the entire upper end of the town will be burned. The loss by washouts and destruction of bridges will be enormous. There is not a county or township bridge for many miles that is not washed out. The roads in every direction are nearly impassable. OIL CITY, June 6—2:15 p.m.—Few of the spectators who were watching the flood when the explosion occurred and escaped can give a good idea of what happened. All agree that there was a terrific explosion and that the whole air filled with flames. This was quickly followed by two other explosions. The gasoline tanks exploded almost at the same time. The oil in the creek blazed up, the gas in the air burst into a roaring flame, the water and air were instantly in a blaze, men, women and children were knocked prostrate by the shock, and many never arose. The multitude with screams of anguish hurried for the high ground. In the rush, many of the weakerones were trampled upon and badly injured. Some were hurt by horses, and others ran and leaped into the water and were drowned. The partly-submurged houses and shops along the creek bottoms were soon in flames. In many of these houses the people could not escape on account of fire. Within the sight of thousands who heard their pitcous screams, they burned to death or leaped into the river and perished. It is marvellous that from this valley of death any were saved alive or that houses escaped destruction.

An APPALLING SCENE.

AN APPALLING SCENE.

A correspondent, writing of the scene, says: "Oil Creek, now swollen to 500 to times its natural size and reaching from one hillside to the other, presented an appalling picture. Floating swiftly by on its bosom were all sorts, manners and kinds of animals, inanimate objects, tanks, stills with the steam in them and blowing off, house, barns, horses, cows, chickens—everything almost being borne onward with a rush. Clinging to various objects, such as driftwood, pieces of boards, timbers, and any other object they could lay hands on, were scores of human beings, their white, terror-stricken countenances, desperate struggles and plaintive, soul-piercing cries for aid all combining to create impressions in the mind of the beholder never to be effaced or forgotten.

HEARTRENDING EXPERIENCES.

One father to-day is a maniac over the loss of his whole family of wife and seven children, one a babe four days old. A brother was rescued from a burning building, where he was forced to leave a sister, her husband and two children to perish. Many such cases, sad in the extreme, are heard. Many are the fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers wandering aimlessly in search of missing ones who in all probability will never again be heard of.

WHAT EYE-WITNESSES SAY.
Sheets of flame and volumes of smoke shot upward to a height of 100 teet in the vicinity of a bridge crossing Oil Creek, 500 yards above the junction with the river. In two minutes the fire had spread up and down the stream for over two miles. In less than ten minutes between 200 and 300 buildings were in flames. The thousands of obliged to spend an enormous amount of money before trains can be run in any direction. The number of house burned in all parts of Oil City reaches nearly 200, and all parts of Oil City reaches nearly 200, and all parts of Oil City reaches nearly 200, and all parts of Oil City reaches nearly 200, and all parts of Oil City reaches nearly 200, and and on they until all danger is past. The fire department has been on duty since the beginning of the fire. The firenen have been working like herzes, and are nearly exhausted. How the benzine was ignited is a mystery, and will probably remain so.

6. A short time before the explosion occurred a special train containing W. and P. officials pulled away from the creek. They were in Oil City on an in-specting tour when the flood occurred, and were looking at the bridge they certainly would have her been burned to death. Besides what the citizens are doing ubscriptions have been received from many persons in other cities.

omments on the Unlooked-For Event-Mr. Blaine's Action Considered Fatal to Republican

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 5.—Washington was startled yesterday by the announcement that Mr. James G. Blaine had tendered his resignation as Secretary of State. It appears that Secretary Blaine's resignation was taken to the White House by his private secretary, Mr. Dent, a little before I o'clock and fifteen minutes after it was written. Soon after reading it the President descended to the east room and held his usual Saturday afternoon reception to the public. There were about 200 people present, not one of whom, as he shook the President's hands, could have told from his cool and collected manner that anything unusual had happened. The reception over, the President returned to his library and addressed a letter to Mr. Blaine accepting his resignation. Private his interry and addressed a letter to Mr. Blaine accepting his resignation. Private Halford took it over to Mr. Blaine's house and placed it in his hands. Thus the whole transaction did not consume more than an hour's time. The following is the corre-

The agent for the Associated Press called at Mr. Blaine's residence shortly after the correspondence had been made public and asked him if he would not supplement it with an explanation. Mr. Blaine replied: "The correspondence explains itself and I have not a word to add to it."

said, received with all candor by the President's expectations concerning the Secretary, he acted with great promptness in accepting the resignation. It is stated that he will remain a resolute and determined candidate to the end at Minneapolis. He is said to be confident that he will be the party's nominee for the coming campaign. The sensational method that Blaine took to enter the Presidential race has, however, changed the prevailing sentiment here. The defeat of the President is practically conceded, but many of the Republicans who speak most confidentially of Blaine's nomination privately give expression to grave fears that there is a division in the party that cannot be healed, and that Blaine will not be elected. It is now plain that the leaders who have been championing Blaine's candidacy were sure of their ground, that all seeming harmony in the Cabinet between the President and Secretary was really an armed truce, and the Cabinet between the President and Secretary was really an armed truce, and the eminence of Mr. Blaine's official station has been used by him to build up and maintain his political fortunes to the detriment of the President.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—The resignation of Secretary Blaine struck Minneapolis like a typical western cyclone. Nobody was prepared for it, and everybody was glad when it was over. No man now asserts—not even the Harrison leaders—that Blaine will decline the nomination. The Harrison men openly accuse Blaine of treachery. The Blaine leaders reply that Blaine owed nothing to the Administration; that the glory of his mame and deeds only added to the luster of the Cabinet, and that an Administration which he had honored could have no possible mortgage on his political

"FORCETFULNESS."

A Sublime Attribute on God's Part Which All Should Imitate.

Their Sins and Their Iniquities Will I

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 5 .- Dr. Talmage's sermon this morning taught that the art of forgetting is worth culcivating, and that there is the highest possible ex-ample for its exercise. His text was Heb. viii., 12: "Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more."

will I remember no more."

The national flower of the Egyptians is The national flower of the Egyptians is the heliotrope, of the Assyrians is the water lily, of the Hindoos is the marigold, of the Chinese is the chrysanthemum. We have no national flower, but there is hardly any flower more suggestive to many of us than the "forget-me-not." We all like to be remembered, and one of our misfortunes is that there are so many things we cannot remember. Mnemonics, or the art of assisting memory, is an important art. It was first suggested by Simonides, of Cos, 500 years before Christ. Persons who had but little power to recall events, or put facts or names or dates in proper processions have, through this art, had their memory reinforced to an almost incredible extent. A coord memory is an invaluable possession.

through this art, had their memory reinforced to an almost incredible extent. A good memory is an invaluable possession. By all means, cultivate it.

But right along with this sort of recollection, which I cannot too highly eulogize, is one quite as important, and yet I never heard it applauded. I mean the art of forgetting. There is a splendid faculty in that direction that we all need to cultivate. We might, through that process, be ten times happier and more useful than we now are. We have been told that forgetfulness is a weakness, and ought to be avoided by all possible means. So far from a weakness, my text ascribes it to from a weakness, my text ascribes it to God. It is the very top of Omnipotence that God is able to obliterate a part of His own memory. If we repent of sin and rightly seek the divine forgiveness, the record of the misbehavior is not only crossed off the books, but God actually lets it pass out of memory. "Their sins crossed off the books, but God actually lets it pass out of memory. "Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more." To remember no more is to forget, and you cannot make anything more out of it. God's power of forgetting is so great that if two men appeal to him, and the one man, after a life all right, gets the sins of his heart pardoned, and the other man, after a life of abomination, gets pardoned, God remembers no more against one than against the other. The entire past of both the moralist, with his imperfections, and the profligate, with his debaucheries, is as much obliterated in the one case as in the other. Forgotten, forever and forever. "Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more."

ember no more."

This sublime attribute of forgetfulness on the part of God you and I need, in our finite way, to imitate. You will do well to cast out of your recollection all wrongs done you. During the course of one's life he is sure to be misrepresented, to be lied about, to be injured. There are those who keen these things trash by translate to about, to be injured. There are those who keep these things fresh by frequent re-bearsal. If things have appeared in print, they keep them in their scrap-book, for they cut these precious paragraphs out of the newspapers or books and at leisure times look them over, or they have them tied up in a bundle, or thrust in pigeon holes, and they frequently regale themselves and their friends by an inspection of these flings, these sarcasms, these falseholes, and they frequently regale themselves and their friends by an inspection of these flings, these sarcasms, these false-hoods, these cruelties. I have known gentlemen who carried them in their pocket-books, so that they could easily get at these irritations, and they put their right hand in the inside of the coat pocket over their heart, and say: "Look here! Let me show you something." Keep nothing in your possession that is disagreeable. Tear up the falsehoods and the slanders and the hypercriticisms. Imitate the Lord in my text and forget, actually forget, sublimely forget. There is no happiness for you in any other plan or procedure. No one can be happy if he carries perpetually in mind the mean things that have been done him. You can find here and there a man or woman (for there are not many of them) whose disposition is genial and summery. Why? have they always been treated well? Oh, no, hard things have been said against them. They have been charged with officiousne and their generosities have been set dow be a desire for display, and they have no a time been the subject for tittle-tattly and they have had enough small assault; like ones show them; but if you have scars got in ignoble warfare, do not display them. I know you will quote the Bible reference to the horrible pit from which you were digged. Yes, be thankful for the rescue, but do not make displays of the mud of that horrible pit, or splash it over other people. If your sins have been forgiven and your life purified, forget the way-wardness of the past, and allow others to forget it.

people. If your sins have been forgiven and your life purified, forget the way-wardness of the past, and allow others to forget it.

But, what I most want in the light of this text is to impress upon my hearers and readers is that we have a sin-forgetting God. Suppose that on the last day—called the last day because the sun will never again rise upon our earth, the earth itself being flung into fiery demolition—supposing that on that last day a group of infernal spirits should somehow get near enough the gate of heaven and challenge our entrance, and say: "How canst thou, the just Lord, let those souls into the realm of supernal gladness? Why, they said a great many things they never ought to have said, and they did a great many things they ought never to have done. Sinners are they; sinners all." And suppose God should deign to answer, he might say: "Yes, but did not my only Son die for their ranson? Did he not pay the price? Not one drop of blood was retained in his arteries; not one nerve of his that was not wrung in the torture. He took in his own body and soul all the suffering that those sinners deserve. They pleaded that sacrifice. They took the full pardon that I promised to all who, through my Son, carnestly applied for it, and it passed out of my mind that they were oftenders. I forget all about it. Yes, I forget all about it. Their sins and their iniquities do I remember no more." A sin-forgetting God! That is clear beyond, and far above a sin-pardoning God. How often we hear it said: "I can forgive, but I cannot forget." That is equal to saying: "I verbally admit it is all right, but I will keep the old grudge good," Human forgiveness is often a flimsy affair. It does not go deep down. It does not reach far up. It does not f the same coolness romains. But God lets our pardoned offenses go into oblivion. He never throws them up to us again. He feels as kindly towards us as though we had been spotless and positively angelic all along.

—Sheep should be washed in the early forenoon to give them all the time possible to dry before nightfall; otherwise a severe cold may be the result.

—To avoid ruining a market, do business on an honest, liberal principle. Never sell an inferior article without a full understanding of its quality and a liberal reduction of price. Avoid all dickering pecuniousness in your trade.

—Cold drinks do selves work.

—Cold drinks do calves much harm.

They chill the digestive organs and frequently produce diseases that result from indigestion. Hot drinks burn their mouths. All they drink should be warmed up to the natural temperature of the mother's milk. —As farmers have frequently to drag whiffletrees about the farm, they will find it convenient to hook the tugs of one horse to the outside hooks of each whifflieree. The inside ends of the whifflierees will then turn back under the doubletree, will then turn back under the doubletree, which will ride on top.

—Flies are awfully troublesome anyway, and especially if there are not screens to keep them out. If after every meal the table is cleared off quickly, the food put away, the carpet sweep and the room darkened through the hot part of the day, there will be less trouble.

—Many a dollar is lost for the want of a few drops of oil. The wearing parts of a machine are liable to serious injury from heat and friction when they are dry, and when the machine runs hard more power when the machine runs hard more power is required to drive it, and the work done is likely to be less perfect.

—The faithful worker tries to give more than equivalent for what he receives. A sense of justice, of obligation, prompts him to this conscientiousness, but enthusiasm has a deeper root. Every earnest worker gets a sense of ownership in his work. You are writing your name, building your monument, by the things you do.

—The Prairie Farmer reports the practice -The Prairie Farmer reports the practice of a successful orchardist in enriching his land by the well-known method of allowing a crop of clover to rot on the ground.
When the trees are 6 or 7 years old, not before, he sows alover the large kind being before, he sows clover, the large kind being preferred, cutting the first crop and allowing it to lie and remain on the ground. In very dry weather it is partly raked nearer the trees. The owner estimates that the standing clover is not worth more than $3 an acre, but that any other fertilizer cannot be applied for four times that sum.

The Apiary.

The Apiary.

One of the secrets of securing plenty of comb honey is to have the sections just as near the brood as possible; and any plan which allows of one or more inches of sealed honey between the brood and the sections, at the beginning of the honey harvest, its certainly defective.

—It is simply an aggravated case of base ingratitude on the part of the fruitgrower if he finds fault with his beekeping neighbor on account of the injury done to fruit by bees. The fruitgrower, in fact, has no warmer friend, no more useful agent, than the pollen-cartying, honey-seeking little insect. The interests of the fruitgrower and beekeeper, far from being antagonistic, lie indeed nearly in the same direction.

—In his annual report of the Colorado experiment station, Prof. C. Max Bross writes as follows: "The successful wintering of bees is of the greatest importance to the beekeeper. On it depends his success or failure for the following summer and in order that every colony may be strong in the spring, eager to start the summer campaign of gathering stores for themselves and their owner, the following points are of greatest importance to the apiarist: The colonies should go into winter quarters with plenty of young bees—at least four frames should be covered with them—and 35 pounds of sealed honey. They should be kept at an even temperature—45 to 50°—and never be unnecessarily disturbed. The hive should be in such a condition as to absorb all the moisture generated by the bees during the wints."

The numerous friends of M. McGugan, clerk, of Caradoc, will regret to hear of the death of his mother, which occurred at his residence in Mount Brydges a few days ago. The lady was in her 84th year, and apparently in her usual health up to a day or so before the end came, which was quite sudden, apparently resulting from heart failure. The deceased lady was the daughter of John McNeil, being born at North Knupdale, Argyleshire, Scotland, in 1809, and came with her parents to the township of Caradoc in 1843. In 1843 she was married to the late Mr. Donald McGugan, who died in 1878, and during her long residence in the township she has been known and esteemed by a very large circle of friends as a kind-hearted, genial and estimable woman.

neck pressing his race londly in the lones of drapery on her boson, whilst he with one arm around her delicate waist reached out the other hand and felt the medium sitting entranced in his chair, and all at once the spirit dematerialized and vanished from his grasp. At another time, while sitting alone in his back parlor, separated from the rest of the circle, the spirit of General George Washington appeared to him, accompanied by Miss Fleetwood, a very ancient spirit, both fully materialized, and Washington clothed in regalia and other Masonic emblems. They both talked to him some fifteen minutes, at the same time surrounding themselves with a beautiful halo of light, filling the entire room, and while thus illuminated took him to the medium, whom he found to be in a perfectly comatose condition and dead to all appearance, leaving an impression on his mind that he can never forget to his dying day. Mr. McRobert was asked by one person to whom he related the circumstance if he was really in his normal condition at the time, and he made the reply that he never was more so in his life. Now, I firmly believe that Mr. McRobert spoke the truth and nothing but the truth when relating those and other equally wonderful experiences he has had. But I have charity enough to believe that he is not now wholly responsible for all that he has said in order to injure my reputation as a man, ruin my prospects as a medium, and even blight and destroy my dearest and tenderest family relations. A man who can do a thing of this kind must be under the control of a fiend of the blackest and most malignant type that it is possible for the infernal regions to produce. Thanking you again for the space thus allowed me in your columns, I remain, most truty, etc., W. T. Church.

London, Monday, June 6.

God's in His heaven,

TO-MORROW'S CONVENTION. The Republican party of the Unite States, through delegates regularly chosen, meets in the city of Minneapolis to morrow for the purpose of selecting a candidate to contest the Presidency in the election to be held in November next. Though everyone in the United States may not take an interest in politics, and though some Canadians may believe that we have little in common with our neighbors, it is nevertheless true that the prospective decision of this convention and the choice to be made by the Democratic Convention in Chicago two weeks from now are the two public events most talked about to-day on both sides of the border.

Minneapolis, the bustling Minnesota sits, has made ample preparation for its visitors. That so young a city is able com-fortably to feed and house so large a crowd, and supply them with all reasonable comforts, is itself one of the wonders of the day. A few years ago the site of this fine commercial city was a mere Indian trading post, and its surroundings an unbroken prairie. Now it is in the heart of a fine farming country, and with St. Paul, a rival so closely situ ated that the two cities look upon each other as mere suburbs, divides the trade of a vast territory. The citizens of Minne-apolis provided the place of meeting—the great exhibition hall. It contains seats for 11,550 persons, and standing room for a large number more. The question most difficult to solve, next to that of who the candidate will be, has been how to divide the seats so that the dissatisfaction shall be reduced to a minimum. Each of the 48 national committemen were given 40 tickets, each of the 900 delegates have been supplied with four tickets. The press have been awarded 550 tickets. This is a total of 7,000. The local committee will make ends meet by selling the majority of the remaining tickets at a figure not lower than $30 each. So great is the demand for seats that as high as $50 has been paid for a ticket. To save room the band will occupy a platform swung from the ceiling and reached by a stairway from the roof.

The chairman of the convention will communicate with the leader of the band by means of a speaking tube. The two telegraph companies have their best opera-tors in attendance, and will use between them 65 wires. During the 24 hours of Tuesday and Wednesday, beginning at 2 p.m. Tuesday, the telegraphers expect to handle, at a moderate estimate, 1,050,000 words, enough to fill about 600 columns of such a declaration, that the people do not wish to hear all about the convention? The public demand, in the matter of news, is

As to the probable result of the convention, it is apparent that the two names which will receive the most attention from the delegates will be those of President Harrison and Mr. Blaine, ex-Secretary of State. President Harrison desires a second term. His friends have been booming him for it for months. They managed to get from Mr. Blaine, several months since, a declaration that he was not a Presidential candidate, and that his name would not go before the convention. Up till Saturday afternoon, so far as the public know, Blaine had informed no that his sentiments on the subject had sanged, and President Harrison's boomers good use of the declaration and of ther fact that Mr. Blaine had been -health, to promote the interests of candidate. There has, however, been wing demand for Blaine. Many hat though President Harrison is a ble man, he has only the ability of pary politician, and that whatever liant in his Administration is Secretary Blaine. the defense for him that he cannot be held The Advertiser responsible for public opinion, and that he now only consents to stand because it has een shown to him, through unquestionable evidence, that he and not the President is the man that the Republican hosts desire to lead them. That he resigns before the convention, it may be argued, but proves Daily, by mail, per year (8 to 12 pages).....$4 00 convention, it may be argued, but proves that he desires to get rid of all entanglements which might cause bad feeling between the respective friends of the two men in the convention.

> On the part of the President, it is made apparent by his curt letter accepting Blaine's resignation that he is wroth with his former associate in the Government, for he does not even say "Thank you" to him. Even a discarded lover could not pen a more frigid farewell. But despite the fact that the Blaine boomers have made marked gains since he resigned his secretaryship, Harrison's forces express confidence in the ultimate triumph of the President's cause. They remember that Blaine's forces tried to storm the convention in 1876, but were repulsed by the stalwarts that favored Grant. The same opposition successfully combatted the Maine man in 1880, while even in 1884 it was only after a well-pitched battle that Blaine got the nomination. There will be considerable after-bitterness, no matter who is nominated.

WHENEVER a charge or a proposition is distasteful to Sir John Thompson, the author of "That will do" takes refuge in the subteringe, "It is too vague."

DIVIDE THE WORK.

Decentralization of governing bodies is he question of the day. The latest propesition is brought forward by the Canada Presbyterian, which comments on the big expense and trouble incident to the meeting of the General Assembly of the Church every year, and suggests as a cure that at least half of the business now transacted by the Church Supreme Court should be taken out of the Assembly and assigned to Synods. Then the Assembly could meet once in two years, and do all that was needed with despatch. Our contemporary illustrates its point thus:

its point thus:

"The climax of absurdity is reached when you see gray-haired men travel thousands of miles to refer something "to a committee to report at next Assembly," or worse still, to lay something on the table. We do not wonder that men who travel from British Columbia or Prince Edward Island to Toronto or Montreal to attend to matters of vital interest sometimes become impatient. They could scarcely be called Christians if they didn't. Just fancy a man traveling 3,000 miles at great exponse to somebody to spend his time on matters that could easily be disposed of by any local court."

The reform suggested should commend itself to the Church. Few people who have attended the Assembly, and have seen how nuch of the time is taken up with routine ousiness, and how the proper consideration of great social questions has been rendered mpossible in consequence, will seek to combat the conclusion of the representative Presbyterian authority from which we have quoted. It would be better for the Church if the Synods did more of the work of managing its affairs and the Assembly met once every two years as a leglislative and judicial body.

THE correspondence between Secretary Blaine and President Harrison, when the former resigned his position in the Govern-ment, was probably the shortest of the kind that has ever been penned. It might have been reduced to the following with the greatest of propriety: From Mr. Blaine:

"Dear Ben,—I resign. JAS. G. BLAINE."
Reply from the President: "Dear Jem,-All right; get out. B.

A DEAD MAN AS A SCAPEGOAT.

The Globe, in its "reptile fund" disclosures, makes it out that in the election of 1887 the Conservative candidates in the four constituencies of Quebee East, West, Center and county, spent $33,000, In the same year, in the same election, Patrick Purcell, Liberal candidate in Glengarry, spent in that one constituency, as shown by evidence under oath as shown by evidence under oath in the courts, a sum of $36,000! The s is a queer house to throw stones Globe's is a queer house from. —[Montreal Gazette.

This kind of retort will not satisfy the independent electorate who desire to get at the bottom of electoral corruption, and in the case of Sir Adolphe Caron are prevented from doing so by the emasculation of the charges made.

it be admitted that Mr. Purcell spent $36,000, and spent it for illegal purposes. No one can deny that it was his own money. He was rich, and he choose o spend his cash in this way. Why should the Globe or any other independent Canadian journal be held responsible for Mr. Purcell's misdeeds?

Why should Mr. Purcell's expenditures, no matter how corrupt, be held to be a setoff to the rascalities perpetrated by Sir Adolph Caron and his associates?

Why should the sins of a dead man atone for the sins of the living?

Will the Gazette answer us that? There cannot be, as the Gazette well knows, an analogy between Mr. Purcell's expenditures and those made under the supervision of Sir Adolph Caron and Sir Hector Langevin. While Purcell was a private citizen and spent his own money to Langevin, as Ministers of the Crown, knowingly received and aided in the expenditure of vast sums of money in corrupting the retain their jobs. It has been further charged that this money was obtained with the connivance of Caron from men who residies from railways. These charges have methods would be exposed have refused to let the search light of Parliamentary investigation in upon them. And the only defense brought forward is the misconduct of a dead man!

THEY say we are having a "dry" moon. That is no consolation to flooded out deniTOPICS OF TO-DAY.

THERE have been greater miracles than the nomination of a Republican dark horse for the United States Presidency at Minneapolis to-morrow.

JUSTIFFING a gerrymander by allegations that it might have been worse, remarks the Toronto Telegram (Independent Conserva-tive), is a good deal like excusing a murderer by asserting that he did not dis-figure the remains of his victim.

THE Ottawa correspondent of the Toa very high opinion of the member for Bothwell. He writes:

"Probably there is no man in the House who is really better worth listening to than Mr. Mills. He is often complimented on his crudition, and the compliments are not undeserved. On constitutional questions he is remarkably well informed, and on precedents he is great."

A RETURN has been presented to the House of Commons showing the amount expended on each of the Government's experimental farms since their establishment. The Central Experimental has so far cost $416,393, the Nappan farm in Nova Scotia $79,794, Brandon farm in Manitoba $83,288, Indian Head farm in the Northwest Territories $90,907, and Agassiz farm in British Columbia $57,390. The total cost of all five has been $727,772, of which $356,535 is set down to capital account and $371,237 to maintenance. There used to be an outcry by the opponents of the Mowat Govern-ment against the Ontarlo Agricultural College at Guelph. It was contended that the experimental farm should pay expenses or be voted "no good." What have these sticklers to say about the expenditures on the Dominion farms? No chance of mak ing these pay running expenses, is there Agrippina, a fortunate and aristocratic cat, is the subject of a charming and very bright essay by Agnes Repplier. Janet Rose contributes a very interesting paper of reminiscences of her grandfather, John Austin, one of the greatest of English writers on jurisprudence, and an associate of Mill, Broughan, etc. Equest Francisco Fenollosa, from long personal acquaintance, writes comparing "Chinece and Japanese Traits." Olive Thorne Miller furnishes another bright bird story, this time about "The Witching Wren." Miss Preston and Miss Doge continue their admirable account of "Private Life in Ancient Rome." There are poems by Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr and Mrs Moulton. An essay on Walt Whitman speaks of him very justly and discriminatingly both as a man and a poet. Reviews and short descriptions of new books and the Contributors' Club conclude a very good number of the Atlantic. Houghton, Miffin & Co., Boston.

Rev. Mt Roger and the Free Library
To the Editor of the Advertiser:

It is with pleasure that I noticed the presence of Rev. W. M. Roger at the Workingmen's Free Library room on Saturday evening last. I beg to thank him, and I am sure the board does also, for his acceptable donation of a handsome leatherbound copy of Webster's unabridged dictionary, showing the gentleman's kindly spirit. If all who talk would work and put their shoulders to the wheel and do less wrangling we could roll into existence such an elephant as would surprise and be a credit to our city, and it would not be a "white elephant" either. Hoping this will close all further discussion and that we now understand each other sufficiently to go to work wishout any friction whatever, and thenking the editor of the Approximent go to work without any friction whatever, and thanking the editor of the Advertises for the kindly way in which he opened his columns so that the people concerned might understand each other, I remain respectfully yours,

Farmers should take the lead in the movement for good roads. Demand good road legislation, and every business man, merchant and manufacturer will second merchant and manufacturer will second your effort. Bad roads drive the boys away from the farm by laolating them from the world. Make good roads and the pleasures as well as profits of the farm are at once increased, the value of our land is enhanced, and farm life is made more attractive. The hierarchy mention the contraction of the second property of the profits of the second property of the profits of the tractive. The bicycle promises to be an important factor in the development of good roads. The spirit of good roads is developing a vast amount of literature on the subject.

The project for establishing and maintaining inviolate forever an extensive forcat preserve in the Adirondack region, says the New York Tribune, is slowly gaining popular and official support. The history of this undertaking is full of warnings against hesitation and delay in dealing with great public interests. The movement has been retarded chiefly by want of appreciation of the purposes which it aimed to accomplish. It seemed impossible for many years to arouse the people to a consciousness of the injustice and injury to themselves and their descendants which they were tolerating. They saw in the continued spoliation of the north woods only a small and insignificant diminution of natural resources which seemed to only a small and insignificant diminution of natural resourses which seemed to them boundless. Not a few were so blind as to see in the progress of are and saw and free nothing worse than the redemption of a savage wilderness. Perhaps this general misunderstanding was inevitable. Americans have inherited a passion for cutting down trees from those whom the first requirement of life was a "clearing." But the persistency of this indifference and these false views is deplorable, not only because it has resulted in much positive and permanent injury to the north woods, but also because in consequence of it the cost of an adequate preserve has been it the cost of an adequate preserve has been greatly increased.

When the system is all run down and there seems to be no hope of obtaining nourishment for the body by the ordinary process of food supply and digestion, when the body is sinking tast, then is the time to use Miller's Emulsion of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil. It always works wonders, because it is a flesh and blood maker, and contains all the constituents for neurishment found in wheat; in fact Miller's Emulsion is a perfect "staff of life" and has saved and cured thousands. This went nome and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since."

adopted and the president addressed a few words to those received, giving them encouragement.

Mode of the business of the conference began by a report from the examining board, which occasioned a lengthy discussion. Objection was taken to the expense occasioned by all the examiners meeting at the place of examination, and also to the method of nominating their successors, creating the impression that the board perpetuated its personnel rather too freely. Some of the members added to the force of this idea by regarding the criticisms as personal attacks upon themselves. No one intended this; but they were determined to express disapproval at the method of conducting the examinations. The motion for adoption was carried on a division.

When the question, "Who have died?" was asked, after singing a hymn and prayer offered by Dr. Pasce, the name of William James Little was reported. Rev. S. Bond read the obituary prepared at the London district meeting. After several very loving testimenies, expressing high appreciation of his superior abilities, the motion for acceptance of the obituary notice was adopted. At the close of the remarks by the members of the conference the Rev. J. A. McDonald, Presbyterian minister, gave very strong testimony to his excellent character and superior abilities. The names of Rev. J. C. Tufford, Rev. B. Lawrence, Rev. J. K. Williston and Rev. Andrew Milliken were also reported, and testimony was borne by those acquainted with them as to their character and work. These latter had been superannuated—some of them for many years—and their comrades in holy toil were gone before or were in other conference. The time of the session was prolonged because of no session in the afternoon.

There was no session of the conference this afternoon. Committees were at work.

before or were in other conferences of no session in the afternoon.

SATUEDAY AFTERNOON.

There was no session of the conference this afternoon. Committees were at work, and the meeting of the Theological Union was held in the Central Methodist Church, where the annual lecture was given by Rev. W. Quance on the "Book of Jonah." The lecture was an able and elequent production. It maintained the historical reality of the records of the book and gave a learned discussion of many points involved in the position taken in the lecture. A vote of thanks was tendered the lecture.

When it was supposed that discussion was past the Rev. Dr. Bagley, of Cobourg, rose and began a lengthened and semi-critical disquisition on the subject, in which he expressed his doubt in regard to the historical nature of the record, and his behistorical nature of the record, and his behistorical nature of the theological soundness of certain unnamed professors, and of himself also, by calling out the names of three or four young men who had been his students to affirm whether his teaching had undermined their faith or not.

As Dr. Bagley was proceeding in this vindication of professors who were not referred to or attacked by anyono, the Rev. S. Bond rose to a point of ofder that the meeting was not called for the purpose of discussing the theological soundness of anybody, but to hear and discuss the lecture just given. That meeting, Mr. Bond said, was not the place to consider or debate the faith of any of the professors of Victoria College.

Upon this challenge the professor aat down and Rev. Mr. McDonagh at once attacked the deliverances as to his views on the character of the Book of Jonah.

The professor appealed to the lecturer whether he did not hold the rame views as to the book being an historical parable. The lecture replied that he did not. Several chere expressed disent from the sentiments of the professor and a lively time prevailed till the close of the public meeting.

FATAL FLASHES.

Three Fishermen Killed by Lightning—An old Man Struck Dead in His Chair.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., June 6.—Three men were instantly killed and two others hurt by lightning Saturday afternoon. Jim Sweatman, with his three sons, Reeves, Tillman and Walter, and Zach Sweatman went to the river to fish. A heavy rain came up and the men stepped under a beech tree for shelter. Suddenly a fissh of lightning came and knocked the entire party down, killing Walter and the two old men dead and stunning Reeves and Tillman.

PALMER, Mass., June 6.—J. A. Foskett, 77 years old, of Barre Plains, Mass., while sitting in an arm chair in his house was struck by lightning and killed on Thursday.

THE TERRIBLE DEATH TRATE AMONGST INFANTS.

How to Lower the Great Mortality.

The terrible death rate which prevails in all large centers of population in Canada amongst babies is to be deplored. In the large majority of cases it is due to sheer ignorance on the part of mothers. Babies who do not receive pure and healthy breast milk, and who are being fed with cow's milk of a suspicious character, or with poorly prepared artificial foods, are generally the victims of death. It is no wonder that nine out of every ten that die are lost owing to imperfect and dangerous dieting.

are lost owing to imperfect and dangerous dieting.

When the mother is unable to nurse her babe her great aim should be to find a substitute for nature's food—a diet that possesses the same nourishing qualities as mother's milk.

Canadian, English and American physicians of the highest standing have agreed that Lactated Food is the surest and nearest approach to mother's milk, and the only safe food that can be regularly fed to the child at all seasons.

only safe food that can be regularly fed to the child at all soasons.

It is important to note that Lactated Food is a sure preventive of cholera infantum and dysentery, which yearly send so many babies to the grave. To use Lactated Food, especially in the heat of summer, is wisdom on the mother's part. The baby is always in good health, grows it and sleeps well. This is what all true ad loving mothers desire and look for.

The Poultry Yard

The Poultry Yard.
The first hot weather is as trying to so so to people, and immunity from tase can only be purchased by suitable at and proper sanitary precautions. give the poultry all the milk possible.

Do not carry through the summer a number of superannuated old hens and eocks. The cocks take but little exercise, eat their heads off every month, and are likely to get diseased before the hot weather is over and to lontaminate the rest of the flock, while old hens are sluggish and indolent, begin to note early and keep at it late, so that egg from them for the next few months are of the question. Don't Fool With a Ristlessake.

GUTHRIE, O. T., June 5.—A. B. Mo-Farland, an amateur naturalist of Chandler, attempted to catch a rittlessake, and the reptile bit him on the arm. Medical aid was procured, but after suffering terrible agony for ten hours McParland died.

Suicide at Woodsteck.

WOODSTOCK, June 5.—Saturday afternoon at about 5:30 o'clock Mr. Fred Horning, who lived on the corner of Victoria and Dundas streets, died suddenly under rather suspicious circumstances. Dr. Mearns, coroner, was immediately notified, and after due inquiry came to the conclusion it was a case of sueide by strychnine, and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons sufferex-eruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a bell of lead upon the stormach, and instead of leing a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the sytem. Dr. Parmelee's Vege-table Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and conver the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with ladiges-tion of Dyseppsias.

A Church Blown Down Upon Its Inmates. Narrow Escape of 250 Children from

Death-Many Little Ones Injured,

OMAHA, Neb., June 6 .- McCook, Neb.,

OMAHA, Neb., June 6.—McCook, Neb., was visited yesterday by a terrible cyclone. As the huge funnel-shaped cloud passed over the Burlington and Missouri shops and round house it seemed to suddenly drop to the ground, first striking the business building owned by H. W. Cole, and raising the metal roof clear off, whirling it around, brought it down with terrible force in almost its former position over the heads of the cigarmakers who were at work there. All escaped except one, who was severely injured.

The storm center seemed to raise up in the air and again drop to the ground about three blocks away. In a moment the air was filled with flying debris, and the cry was raised that the Congregational Church was a wreck and hundreds of children buried in the ruins. The children's day at the Congregational Church, and that edifice was packed to its utmost capacity with the little folks. But two minutes before the eyclone struck the building about 200 of the smaller children had fluished the exercises and gone home. The church was raised from its foundation and dashed down in one mass of ruins, burying about 60 children who were leaving were hurt by flying timbers, but so far as is known none seriously. With willing hands the fallen timbers were raired from the ruins and soon all were released from their imprisonment. Timbers in falling had formed an arch over the heads of those who were in the church. Several of the children are so seriously injured that it is feared they cannot live but a few hours. Many of the children have legs and arms broken, and still others seem to be hurt internally. The list of the injured is about 50 but as many were carried beauty in any of the children are so seriously injured. hours. Many of the children have legs and arms broken, and still others seem to be hurt internally. The list of the injured is about 50, but as many were carried home at once it is impossible at this hour to get the exact number. Had the cyclone struck the church five minutes earlier at least 250 would have been buried in the ruins.

A cyclone passed over Moorfield, Harmony and Springfield townships, Ohio, Friday afternoon, and the damage to crops, forests, farm buildings and orchards will run up into the tens of thousands of dollars.

Still, those men at Clonbree can't be all titled," puts in Kitty with a sigh. "And I confess I should like to see some of them."

"In that quarter hope lies dead," says I. "Molly," says Geraldine sternly, "whilst there's life there's hope. Something may yet crop up to——Oh!"—staring out of the window—"here comes Dad!"

and then, in a very low tone, "Your mother micht have been alive I" Kitty tightens her clasp round his neck, and we all go up to him and pat him softly. Poor darling Dad.
"Now you see how much worse it might have been," says he, pulling himself to gether as it were, and laughing nervously as though shamed of his emotion. "Why,"—ecizing Kitty by the shoulders and shaking her softly to and fro, with a sad attempt at the old lightness of spirit—"I might have had to sell you."
"You couldn't," says Kitty, showing all her pretty test. "I should cling and cling to you, till the buyer got tired. So there! And besides"—sighing dolorously—"I don't believe there would be any buyer!"
At this we laugh, which does us good; but presently Dad gets serious again.
"What weighs upon me is," says he, "that there is something worse to come."
This from Dad I the lightest-hearted man in the world, gives us a thrill.
"Oh! no," say I. The selling of Blueskin cannot mean universal destruction, bad though tis. Surely some of the tennants," exclaims Dad bitterly.

"I do hate the Queen!" cries Kitty so wehemently that we begin towonderwhether her head will or will not be out off presently at a second's notice.
"But why, my dear?" asks Dad, who is a staunch Conservative in spite of all private wrongs; and surely this should be laid to his credit, considering how he has been cheated and swindled and ruined by the present Government.

Government,

As for me, I am a red-hot Republican, and I rather appland Kitty is speech, though I have not so much the courage of my opinions as to do so, even in the belsom of my family. I cannot bear to vox Dad. And Dad loves his Queen.

"Obey! fanoy a Queen obeying!" says

Kitty contemptuously.

"Well, aspivay," cry I. "I want to hate of the contemptuously."

"Well want of the age. But he has to obey also, in a sanse."

"Yery good then," says Kitty, who is plainly in afractious mood. "I hate everyhelped to many for impartially—who has been you to so low an obb."

"And who has compelled you to sell Blueskin." supplement I strongly.

"I hope you got a good price for him, at all events," says Geraldine, who is, as I have hinted, eminently practical.

"Very good." says Dad sadly. The old favorite was hard to part with. "I sold him to Sir Willoughby Heriot, one of the men now sationed at Clonbree. He seems a decent fellow, and—and looks as if he would be good to a dumb thing. And." says Dad somewhat shamefacedly, "And besides, I confess I was glad to sell the poor beast to a man who iived so near. It's only five miles from here to Clonbree, and I hear the regiment will be stationed there until March beyond doubt. I can therefore get a look at Blueskin now and then."

"You liked Sir Willoughby," says Kitty.

"You liked Sir Willoughby," says Lad sugly a divil as ever you saw!"

"Bugish of course?" question I.

"Why so?" asks Geraldine. That's the last query you should make. Englishmen are proverbially handsome."

"I meant nothing," say I, lifting my shoulder at her. "Go on, Dad; is he Englishmen are proverbially handsome."

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will

THE OUTLOOK.

Planting will be late on account of the ng continued rains in many localities. Fruit prospects are good in most sections but in many localities there is great dissatisfaction on account of the prohibition of tree spraying by the Ontario Legislature. By very many farmers and others the act is openly disregarded, trees being covered with insects.

Wheat in most localities is looking well.

In low lying lands it has been flooded and killed, but generally the crop is good. Spring erops are not so forward as usual in rainy sections, and cannot fully recover from the delay in growth occasioned by the cold and wet. Hay prospects are excellent. Indeed the season's crop bids fair to exceed that of any previous cutting. To this extent the farmers will be large gainers, for nothing enriches a farm so much as a heavy hay crop and its fruits.

In the live stock trade the lesses in England continue to be very heavy, and shippers from Canada are getting thoroughly frightened. Cable dispatches are of the most discouraging character. One lot of American cattle, owned by Montrealers, which went across in a 25s freight, and cost only $4 25 per cwt. in Chicago, sold at a loss of 10s per head. It is hardly reasonable, then, to expect that Canadian cattle, costing $5 25 per cwt. and going over on a 60s freight, can come out any-thing like even. The Brazilian's cargo of Canadians is due in London, and is bound canadians is due in London, and is bound to lose money. Canadians sold in Liverpool to-day at 6d, and in London at 6d/d to 52d. Another cable from Liverpool says: "Canadians, 52d; see no prospect of an advance until supplies diminish." All the drafts on the Oxenholme cattle have been refused. She carried 434 head shipped by drafts on the Oxenholme cattle have been refused. She carried 454 head, shipped by half a dozen exporters. One salesman is said to have refused to receive a consignment at all owing to the state of the markets. To make matters worse, the steamship lines have advanced freights 5s all round, and as space is bound to be scare during the month of June, the exporters will simply have to stand it. Some shippers are complaining of the poor class of cattle that are coming forward, but are unable to say whether this is owing to the fact that the good cattle are all out, or that the farmers are holding off. It is said that the owners of distillery cattle intend holding them till the middle of July. holding them till the middle of July.

rather than quantity, they may be had by picking off about half of the blossoms on each plant as fast as they appear.

—Cultivate around all the berry plants occasionally during the season and the result will show itself in better fruit; do not allow the bushes to become overloaded; better sacrifice some of the fruit in order to have better quality.

-Among raspberries, blackberries cur-rants and gooseberries some work is needed to prepare for the fruiting season. It is not too late to clean out the old, decayed and broken canes, especially among rasp-berries and blackberries, and to loosen the soil between the rows and around each

-The entire failure of fruit for several —The entire failure of fruit for several seasons past in various localities has destroyed insects by preventing their propogation. As a result fruit does not get thinned, and is not likely to except by frost, as it has been used to. For this reason thinning fruit will be necessary in many places where it has not been heretofore, if a crop of any value is to be secured.

secured.

—After the radish plants from the fruit sowing are large enough to pull for use, spread a little soil over the space and plant more seed. If your soil is just right you will have a constant supply of this delicious vegetable fresh and crisp. Another point: Radishes to be grown successfully require a light rather sandy soil which must be warm and dry. If your soil is not described naturally, a wheelbarrow full of sand worked into the radish bed will accomblish the desired result. complish the desired result.

complish the desired result.

—Grapevines may be made to forego their natural tendencies of growth entirely —almost as much so as the famous dwarf oaks and other forest trees of the Chinese, which are scarcely over a foot or two high when 100 years old. In similar line for result is the timely thinning of any crowding plants, as corn or root-crops, or the early thinning of fruit—grapes, peaches, or other—or the stopping of wild shoots running away with the wasting plant material which ought to be used in forming fruitbuds, as in the training of tomato and meion uds, as in the training of tomato and melon plants.

—The small-fruit grower who excels in the bulk and beauty of his produce is continually nipping the ends of wanton shoots, rubbing out redundant ones, scissoring off strawberry runners and the ends of ambitious raspberry canes. It is the easiest of all his work, but nothing that he does pays better for the time occupied. Wonders of form and fertility are thus secured by French gardeners from dwarf fruit trees; they even apply the art to high standards with the aid of self-supporting ladders which enables them to shear and pinch and tie all over the exterior of the tree.

—Denmark now produces 100,000,000 pounds of butter yearly for export, almost the whole of which go to England. The Danish laws require Government inspectors of all butter factories, who can, at any time, enter dairies, factories or warehouses and rake away samples for analysis. Should oleomargarine or any other adulterant be found, the maker is fined $27$. The result is really first-class butter of uniform character, due to this Government supervision and the careful treatment of the milk till it can be made into butter. A retail dealer in anypart of England who orders 50 tubs of Danish butter knows exactly what he will get. It must be the same with Canadian butter if we are to have the trade.

THE SONG OF THE RAIN.

It's rain, rain, rain
From the sun's rise till its sets,
And its rain, rain, rain
In all shapes end styles of wets.
It's oh, to be a swan
Or a fish of the humid flood,
For then there wasn teuch reason to kick
At this compound moist and mud

"Will it never let up," we sigh.
It comes down flercer still
And every drop of a heft and size
To move or drive a mill.
The guiters a foaming sea,
The streets a raging main,
And the splashing torrents in Hould notes
Bing: "Hain, rain, rain."

If Darwin's doctrine's true
That Nature kindly gives
To man the means to adapt himself
To the needs of where he lives.
If the rain keeps up as of late,
Eome nigh-by day—who knows?
Just like a duck's, we may start to look
For webs between our toes.

Successful Anniversary.

King Street Methodist Sunday School had their anniversary services yesterday and they were of unusual interest. Rev. J. W. Annis, of Chatham, preached in the morning a beautiful and eloquent sermon to a large congregation. In the afternoon an lopen school for addresses was held and Rev. Mr. Annis and Rev R. Redmond gave interesting addresses, followed by the pastor, Rev. S. Bond, in a short address referring to his approaching removal to another field of labor, much to the regret of the Sunday school and congregation. The heavy downpour of rain at the time of assembling somewhat diminished the audience. At the evening service the Rev. R. Redmond, of Crediton, preached an excellent sermon to a very large congregation. At all the services the children of the school sang beautifully. Mr. Goodge, who had trained them, deserves great credit for his success in this work. This evening the anniversary meeting is to be held and a good entertainment is promised. The Typos and the Free Library.

The following resolution was unanimously passed at a meeting of London Typographical Union, No. 133, held Saturday evening: "Resolved, that London Typographical Union, No. 133, wishes to place upon record its hearty appreciation of the services rendered to the citizens of London by the Workingmen's Free Library Board; that we have the utmost confidence in our representatives to that body, and believe them to be fully capable of selecting books to be placed in the library; that we regret exceedingly that the members of the board who have labored so earnestly on behalf of their fellow-citizens should be compelled to lie under the uncalled-for charges of the Ministerial Association, and we trust the said association (after having been shown that they acted under a mistaken idea of the facts) will acknowledge their error and remove any false impression that may be held by the public; and we hope the City Council will see their way clear to assist the Workingmen's Free Library."

A Canadian Painter Abroad.

John Owen, the artist, is a Canadian, belonging to St. Marys, but for years located in Detroit, whose citizens appreciate his works. Three or four of Mr. Owen's water colors are in the possession of citizens of Strathroy, and are very much admired. A number of his pictures will be exhibited at the Western Fair this year. A collection was recently on exhibition in Saginaw, and the Courier Herald says of it: "Coming as it does with the advent of a joyous, beautiful, budding spring, a view of the collection places admirers of all that is lofty, noble and natural in art in a sublimely harmonious condition to view cach piece of work in all its natural splendor with a feeling of admiration that can harding panoramic landscape scenes cannot but make the visitor feel that it was the most pleasing and profitable of his The Types and the Free Library.

ONTARIO AT THE WORLD'S FAIR Granted Largely-Increased Space for Live Stock, Horses, Dogs, Poultry, Etc.

As a result of the visit of Mr. Nicholas Awrey, M. P.P., commissioner for Ontario for the World's Fair, to Chicago, largely increased space has been secured for this Province. Mr. Buchanan, chief of the agricultural department, agreed that Ontario should have space for 125 horses, 150 head of cattle, 300 sheep, 100 hogs and 200 coups of poultry, thus enabling the premier Province of Canada to make a representative exhibit. Stockmen will be pleased to learn that live stock will not be required to remain on the ground for three months as at first announced, but only for the following terms: Cattle from Aug. 21 to Sept. 21; sheep and swine, Sept. 25 to Oct. 14; poultry, Oct. 16 to 28; fat stock, Oct. 16 to 28. Ages of stock will be computed on the following dates: Cattle, Sept. 11; sheep, Oct. 21; swine, Oct. 2; fat stock, Oct. 16. It has been decided that entries will be taken in cattle as late as June 13; sheep as late as July 1; and poultry July 13. Room will be allowed for 200 dogs, and entries in this class will be received up to May 20. The entries in live stock, etc., now pouring in on Commissioner Awrey at Toronto, indicate that the applications will exceed the space allotted many times over. Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, says As a result of the visit of Mr. Nicholas John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, says he is satisfied Ontario will hold her own.

A LOG JAM.

men on the Sydenham.

Wallaceburg, June 4.—The heavy rains of the last two days in this section have caused a tremendous rise in the Sydenham. Both branches have risen above high water mark and are still rising. Large juns of logs have been brought down, and one jam is now blocked against the main bridge here, and there is great danger of its being carried away. About 10,000,000 feet of logs are in the jam. Mill owners and lumbermen are heavy losers, as thousands of logs have gone out towards Lake St. Clair, and their recovery will incur heavy expense. Navigation is blocked at present. Should the log jams hold until the water recedes it will take several weeks to clear the rivers.

SMALLPOX STOPS TRADE.

The Dread Disease Raging in Part of the Ohio Valley.

The Dread Disease Raging in Pare of the Ohio Valley.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 5.—Smallpox is raging in the Ohio Valley, between the Big and Little Kanawaha rivers. Pomeroy, Ohio, Mason City, Letart and other West Virginia towns are quarantined, and nearly every town in the valley has taken stringent measures to prevent the spread of the scourge. The Ohio River Railroad, the boats, and all business in that part of the country are suffering greatly, as no shipments can be made to or from the infected district. At Parkersburg, W. Va., goods are accumulating, and all business is practically at a standstill. The sixth smallpox case of the season was yesterday taken to the hospital in Pittsburg. Some alarm is felt, especially as it is the third case from the thickly populated neighborhood of Denny's court, near Thirtieth street and Pennsylvania avenue. Pennsylvania avenue.

The people of this Province are to be congratulated on the decision of Judge Dugas, to the effect that the legislation of the Federal Parliament, making lotteries illegal, is constitutional. This judgement will, in all probability, close all the private lotteries, against many of which actions have been brought, and which will now be tried. Whether the decision will hold against the Provincial Lottery, which has been consti-

Whether the decision will hold against the Provincial Lottery, which has been constituted by special Provincial legislation, is a question legal authorities seem to doubt, because the Quebec Act has been allowed by the Dominion Government.

Judge Dugas expressly declares in his judgement that he does not take in consideration any other point which might incidentally be raised in favor of a lottery established in virtue of a Provincial act, so that the Provincial Lottery is not directly affected by the decision.—[The Montreal Daily Witness, Wednesday, June 1, 1892.
