

ITALIAN PEOPLE TO VOTE ON FIUME QUESTION

ANDREW ROBSON CHOSEN AS LONDON'S LIBERAL CANDIDATE

LONDON LIBERALS CHOOSE ROBSON AS CANDIDATE

President of Reform Club Given Monster Ovation As Candidate—Is Out To Destroy One-Man Rule Here—Beck a Menace to Province, Says T. H. Purdom.

Andrew Robson, president of the Liberal Club for the past two years, was the unanimous choice of a Liberal convention last night to contest the seat of London in the coming provincial election.

The tremendous enthusiasm with which the decision was greeted by the crowded meeting in Hyman Hall gave promise of his receiving such support at the polls as would without doubt make him the next member for the city.

The candidate is a popular and capable man. Although he has never held any public office, his work during his two years' presidency of the Liberal Club is regarded as sufficient proof of his capability as a legislator. He is a contractor. His birthplace was in Lobo Township, but he has been a resident of the city many years.

Most Enthusiastic Meeting.

The unanimous endorsement of his candidature was the close of the most enthusiastic political meeting which London has seen since the pre-war days. There was no lack of candidates suggested, any one of whom would have received hearty support had he or she decided to stay in the field.

Mr. Robson's name was the first one placed on the meeting. He was nominated by F. G.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES AGAINST M. C. R. IS DISMISSED BY JUDGE

Mrs. Margaret Sullivan Loses Case in the St. Thomas Court.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

St. Thomas, Sept. 30.—One of the most peculiar cases in years was heard today before Mr. Justice Lennox and a jury at the fall sitting of the supreme court. It was an action for damages of no stated amount brought by Mrs. Margaret Sullivan of Detroit against the Michigan Central Railway for injuries sustained when she was thrown against a seat in a passenger coach of the Wolverine some months ago. Mrs. Sullivan declared that the train had stopped and started again in order to make a switch in the local yards when she was traveling from Detroit to St. Thomas. In view of this she thought that the company should be made liable for her injuries. She sustained a broken rib and two and a sprained back through being thrown about. Owing to the fact that she contradicted herself several times in giving her evidence, Justice Lennox refused to let the case go to a jury and dismissed the action. Barristers Sanders and McLean of the Toronto firm of Sanders, Torrance & Kingsmill, appeared for the defendant company, and A. A. Ingram of this city for Mrs. Sullivan.

NOW IS TIME TO START COUNTING

Then You Have Chance To Revise Your Figures.

CONTEST CLOSES NOV. 1
Many Solutions of Puzzle Contest Pour In.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, if you will step this way we will introduce to you several letters pertaining to The Advertiser's puzzle contest which speak for themselves. Here is one from Ingessoll, for instance, which says: "I went over the chart twice and got a different answer each time." Another from Chatham which says: "I have worked the puzzle a number of times and always got a different result. Thinking of the one included to be the nearest correct one, I am sending it along," and thus writes a contestant residing in London. "After sending in my solution I went over the puzzle again, and found three more circles. The method I used is the best, I think, that can be devised." All of which goes to prove that it is better to begin counting at once, if you have not already begun, because the difference in the result of the puzzle has already registered solutions. By counting now a contestant will have ample time to revise his figures and send in an additional count, according to the rules, thereby increasing his chances of winning.

One of the pleasant phases of this contest is the fact that nearly everyone seems to be just what has to be done. This enables contestants to settle down to work intelligently, and to the point. Thoroughly planned is every feature of the contest whether it be a puzzle, or a puzzle, or whether a subsequent one. If, however, there are any points about the contest which you do not understand don't hesitate to request information upon them.

If you have confidence and independence, then get into the running because it is going to be a great contest from start to finish, and the whole plan has been evolved upon the principle that no matter what your avocation or work you have just the same chance to win as any other.

SIR ROBERT MUST TAKE MONTH'S REST

Canadian Premier Will Act Under Advice of His Physician.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Acting under medical advice Sir Robert Borden is to leave Ottawa for a rest of probably a month or so. Alarmist stories that his condition is serious are discounted, but the strain of the last four years has been so great that Sir Robert has become thoroughly run down and a thorough rest will be needed to enable him to recuperate from the attack of grippe.

On Saturday last Sir Robert attended a special meeting of the cabinet council called to consider the platform of the Unionist party. At his house today Sir Robert has been meeting his colleagues and discussing with them questions of policy. Owing to the condition of his health, however, Sir Robert has been unable to attend to the more routine work of his office.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES HARD HIT DURING YEAR 1918

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Fire losses sustained in Canada during 1918 by fire insurance companies totalled $19,359,252, as compared with $16,379,102 in 1917, according to the annual report of the Dominion Department of Insurance, tabled in the Commons today.

Net premiums paid during the year reached a grand total of $38,954,465, as against $31,246,520 in 1917.

Notwithstanding the unusually large issue of property destroyed, the experience of the companies has not been unfavorable when compared with that of previous years. As a matter of fact, the loss rate for the year was below the average for the fifty years era which the departmental records extend.

The gross amount of policies new and renewed, taken during the year was $4,606,035,656, which was greater by $556,975,057 than the amount taken in 1917. The premiums charged amounted in 1918 to $48,770,112, being $5,254,289 greater than the amount charged in 1917.

D'ANNUNZIO'S TROOPS REMAIN IN CONTROL OF CITY OF FIUME

Veterans in Disputed City Are Confident of Winning Fight.

FOOD IS PLENTIFUL
Strictest Discipline Is Maintained by All Soldiers.

Fiume, Sunday, Sept. 29.—Fiume is a town with flags, her streets are filled with marching soldiers, and her air is vibrant with the confidence felt by the men who, under the command of Capt. Gabriele d'Annunzio, marched into the city and still firmly hold it. Italy's flag, with that of the city of Fiume, predominated, the only foreign banner being the French tricolor floating over the French naval headquarters. Pennants bearing the words: "Viva Italia!" and Capt. d'Annunzio's slogan: "Fiume or Death!" mingle with the red, white and green of Italy and the violet, blue and yellow of Fiume. The correspondent reached Fiume last night from Trieste, being hurried in the coal in the tender along the coast to avoid guards along the way, whose duty it was to prevent anyone from making their way into the city.

Soldiers are everywhere in the city. Motor trucks lurched through the streets carrying armed men from one point to another and hundreds of troops may be seen at any hour marching with the precision and with the strictest military discipline, the whole scene being similar to that to be encountered at a great Italian military post. Men from all regiments, arms and branches of the service seem to be here. Among them are thousands of veterans of the last war, a majority of the men wearing three or four service medals as well as those indicating the various campaigns in which they have taken part.

There is an air of confidence everywhere among the volunteers who have joined their grey uniforms, look as much at home as they would in Rome or Florence. The uniforms of the men are decked with the regulation Italian army insignia, and military regulations are enforced. Strictest discipline follows the military salute, while most rigorous rules govern those engaged in guard duty. The uniformed men are downed a street today on their way to mount guard about the city, and as they marched the men sang patriotic songs.

Plenty of Food.

Capt. d'Annunzio's headquarters are established in the governor's palace, which has been converted into a veritable general staff building filled with different departments. The private office of the poet-aviator overlooks the city. The building is the work of a famous architect, and is a masterpiece of modern architecture. The Italian dreadnought Dante Alighieri is anchored within fifty yards of the water front, while three destroyers occupy positions in docks.

Although no news is reaching the city from the outside world, the Italians here are confident of winning their fight. There seems to be plenty of food.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT REPORTS THAT B.G. RAILWAY STRIKE IS BREAKING; SERVICE IMPROVES

Official Communique States That More Trains Are Operating Than Schedules Prepared by Authorities Call For—Distribution of Food Carried Out With Little Difficulty.

MILITARY GUARDS PLACED ON TRAINS

London, Sept. 30.—Military guards were placed on all trains in the northern section today with instructions to take effective measures against interference with their operation. Further secessions from the ranks of the striking railroadmen were reported by officials this morning, but generally the union ranks are remaining firm, with the possibility of transport men joining them today.

The meeting of the executive body of the transport workers was a lengthy one. After their prolonged discussion, the members of the body this afternoon went to the ministry of labor.

BRITISH RAILWAY STRIKERS RESIST USE OF SOLDIERS

London, Sept. 29.—Employment of troops to protect railway property is being resisted by strikers at some places, apparently through the fear that the soldiers may be used as strike-breakers. Speakers at a meeting last night at Nuneham, Warwickshire, warned the Government that serious consequences would result from the employment of troops. Dock laborers at a lawport, Monmouthshire, have threatened to strike if soldiers interfere with the railwaymen.

The Herald, organ for labor, features what it describes as a "ghastly" feature of troops, and complains editorially that the situation is done to give men's part is a peaceful, lawful movement of troops, and that the distribution of chine guns and many rounds of rifle ammunition is reported, but there is nothing to indicate more than a precautionary measure to protect depots and other property.

SOUTHERNERS SHOOT NEGRO TO DEATH IN ALABAMA HOSPITAL

Still another negro, Bird Axtor, who was with Temple when Barlow was shot, was being sought by a posse, and it was believed his capture would result in more violence.

There was no connection between the lynching of Phifer and Crook and the killing of Temple.

GERMANY'S NEW EAGLE IS WITHOUT CROWN AND COLLAR

Berlin, Sept. 16.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—Germany has a new escutcheon, from which the Hohenzollern arms have been eliminated. It consists of a black one-headed eagle on a golden-yellow field. The "new" eagle, which has shed its erstwhile Imperial crown and collar, is not a rampant bird, and would look sedate enough in its sitting posture, but for the color of its beak, tongue and talons, which are red.

GIRLS' WORK COUNCIL FORMED LAST NIGHT AT LARGE MEETING

National Secretary Present To Assist in Organization.

A large co-operative council for the carrying on of girls' work in the city was formed last evening at a banquet held in the Y. M. C. A. dining-hall for the purpose of bringing girl workers together and forming some such plan of co-operative endeavor. This meeting was called by the local Y. W. C. A. There were as many as 75 representatives from the various churches in the city, and several clergymen present. On motion of Miss McCann, Y. W. C. A. convenor of the girls' work, who was a responsible for the calling of the meeting, the gathering formed into a council, two representatives from each of the Protestant churches in the city becoming members.

Executive Appointed.
On further motion of Mrs. C. Foreman, a non-profit committee was named, which withdrew and appointed a permanent executive, with power to carry on girls' work in the city and elect their own officers. Those elected to this executive are as follows: Miss McCann and Miss D'Avignon, representing the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Aiken, Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. McIntosh, representing the Presbyterian Church; Mrs. Foreman, Mrs. Bitts and Mrs. Armistead, representing the Anglican Church; Miss McCallum, Miss Burdett and Miss Dermid, representing the Baptist Church; and Mrs. W. Clark, Mrs. Linton and Miss Tait, representing the Congregational Church. The suggestion was made that Miss D'Avignon, Y. W. C. A. girls' worker, be appointed secretary to this executive.

Ministers, Too.
It was suggested by Miss Winifred Thomas, national girls' work secretary, who was present and spoke to the meeting, that every clergyman and Sunday school superintendent in the Protestant churches be considered a member ex-officio of the large co-operative council, and feel free to attend their conferences. It was further suggested by her that each denomination officially appoint one minister and one Sunday school superintendent to stand on this council, whose duty it would be to attend the meetings.

This then is the working body which was organized last evening for the carrying on of girls' work in this city—a large co-operative council, and within that and chosen from it, a small executive with power to act.

Girls' Work. Miss Winifred Thomas addressed the meeting, outlining girls' work as it is now being carried on successfully in many cities throughout the world. "Girls' work is carried on among girls from 12 to 17 years of age," she declared. "The aim of girls' work is to help them to get in touch with every girl of this age in the Protestant denominations, whether she be in school, in church, in the country, in the city, or at work, and provide for these girls at the Protestant denominations, such as the 'Canadian Girls in Training Program.' This program aims at developing girls physically, mentally, and socially, and links up the Sunday school with a mid-week activity."

Most Critical Period. Miss Thomas pointed out how the girl between 12 and 17 years of age, through the most critical period of her life, when she could be most easily influenced, and how necessary it was for the churches to seize this opportunity for making a definite impression on her. She felt that the best way to obtain the best results was through the co-operation of all the various churches, telling how the larger Protestant denominations had realized this five years ago, when they formed a national advisory committee for girls' work in Canada, and drew up the "Canadian Girls in Training Program."

New Secretary Introduced. She pointed out the advantage there would be in forming a large co-operative council for girls' work in London, which would work through a smaller executive, whenever anything was to be got into the various churches, the large council being called.

Miss Helen D'Avignon, the new Y. W. C. A. girls' work secretary in this city, was introduced to the meeting, and spoke briefly about her work, asking that the various churches in the city call on her for help at any time. Mrs. Hughes, president of the Y. W. C. A., was in the chair.

Through the kindness of the Y. M. C. A. Women's Auxiliary, the supper was served.

CLARENCE GILMOUR, who for the past year has been organist and choir-master at St. Paul's Cathedral, is retiring from the position on the return from overseas of the cathedral organist, J. G. Killmaster.

Mr. Gilmour's work at St. Paul's has been successful, and the regret at his withdrawal is widespread. His organ playing has been a source of great pleasure to the cathedral congregation, and during his tenure of office the congregational singing has made wonderful improvement. Mr. Gilmour leaves St. Paul's with heightened prestige and the best wishes of a very large circle of friends.

WESTERN MEDICAL SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGE ENROLLMENT

Over Thirty War Veterans Are Taking Course.

With a Freshman enrollment unprecedented, Western University Medical School opened its doors this morning, and lectures to all classes were begun today. About 31 former members of the Canadian expeditionary force have enrolled for the five-year course, which is for veterans only, and 15 candidates signed up for the six-year course in medicine which was inaugurated at the Western this year. In addition to the above recruits, the regular classes are in session, and several embryo doctors from other Canadian universities have entered the medical school here to complete the course.

Space Is Scarce.
The Faculty of Medicine at Western is laboring under a handicap with the heavy enrollment, space being at a premium. The five-year group of Freshmen will be divided into two classes, alternating the time table, while a great deal of the study for the six-year men will be in the Western University arts building, as several subjects have been added to the curriculum, making the first year course a preliminary to medicine.

More Room in 1920.
The officials at Western are in hopes that when the new medical school, for which plans have been issued, will be ready for occupation, or falling in line with the new building, the school will be able to accommodate a few students in the new building which is located on the site purchased at Waterloo street and Ottawa avenue, and in this meantime the chemical laboratory at the Institute of Public Health has been enlarged to accommodate 24 Freshmen.

Temporary Laboratory.
A temporary physics laboratory has also been fitted for first year medical classes at the art building of Western. The attendance at this year for the medical classes has exceeded all expectations, making a record in the school, and several additions have been made to the faculty in order to insure a high standard of efficiency for Western University Medical School.

INDECENT ASSAULT CHARGE POSTPONED TO JANUARY COURT

Assizes Jury Paid, Having Nothing To Do.

JUDGE TO TRY ONE CASE

Suit for Recovery of Lands in London Township Next.

Justice Kelly, who is presiding at the fall assizes in the county court house, has adjourned the trial of Benjamin West, of London Township, who is charged with indecent assault, and against whom the grand jury proclaimed a true bill, after considering the crown's evidence yesterday, until the January assizes of the county. The accused man's total bail was $4,000.

Of the six non-jury cases which were listed only one remains to be tried by the judge, and it is that of Arthur T. Rowell vs. Esther Izenburg of Hamilton. The other cases have been either postponed or settled out of court, and of the three jury cases, only one remains to be tried.

The cases of Overy vs. Summers, that of Collins vs. Summers, will be tried by the judge tomorrow, a jury this afternoon, and when they are completed the assizes will be concluded until the January sessions. From the list of nine cases when the court was opened yesterday, only three will receive a hearing.

Juryman Paid.
This morning the court started at 9:30 o'clock, and an appeal for an adjournment certificate was heard by Justice Kelly. At 10 o'clock the juryman were dismissed and paid off by the sheriff for their services. Then the court was adjourned until this afternoon.

The only non-jury action to be tried, that of Rowell vs. Izenburg, is for the recovery of certain lands in the cession 12, of London Township, and the amount of $1,800, the principal due under the alleged agreement. Meredith & Fisher will act for the plaintiff, when the case is tried, and Lafer & Leazer of Hamilton will appear for the defendant, who has made a counter-claim for damages for alleged misrepresentation.

Monday Afternoon.
With Justice Kelly presiding, the fall assizes of the county court for Middlesex County opened in the county courthouse yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The grand jury was empanelled and addressed by the judge. He explained the duties of the jury, especially in regard to the one criminal case of the session, the crown's evidence of which they were to consider. The criminal charges made against Benjamin West of London Township, who was charged with indecent assault upon a young girl, the juryman then left the courtroom, and after over an hour's absence, returned to the court for the decision of a true bill. So West will be tried during the January assizes.

Mr. Justice Kelly, before adjourning the court, advised the members of the grand jury to make the usual tour of inspection of the jail, the Ontario Hospital and other public buildings. He also heard appeals for naturalization papers from several foreigners.

Judge on O. T. A.
Speaking to the grand jury members Justice Kelly stated that there were 18 prisoners in the local jail at present, and of that number 14 are serving time, and the other four are on remand. "It is a significant thing," he said, "that 8 prisoners of the 14 have been imprisoned for being drunk or for breach of the Ontario Temperance Act. I wish to draw the juryman's attention to the fact that the O. T. A. is either not being enforced or cannot be enforced."

In reference to the criminal evidence to be considered, he stated that men in this province have always prided themselves on their manhood. There have been too many offences against women in the past, and the fact that they have not been entirely stopped is a reflection against the manhood of Ontario.

Henry Kaltenbach May Go To Reformatory.
Henry Kaltenbach, who pleaded guilty a week ago to stealing $800 worth of furs, rugs and jewelry from the residence of Dr. F. Fisher, 90 Albert street, on August 25, was sentenced by Magistrate A. H. M. Gray this morning to serve eighteen months in the common jail.

"I wasn't in my right senses when it was done," said the prisoner when asked if he had anything to say. Mr. Fisher, the magistrate remarked, made representation on behalf of the prisoner, and for that reason he was going to mete out a comparatively short term. If there had been actual house-breaking, Kaltenbach would have been liable to a life term. As it was, the maximum penalty for his offence was fourteen years in penitentiary. A man who would enter a house and steal after nightfall was dangerous, he said.

However, Kaltenbach had assisted the police to recover most of the goods, which were peddled in Toronto and Hamilton.

If it is seen fit, he may be removed to the Ontario Reformatory at any time.

Winding up the business of the committee appointed last Monday night to take charge of details and the fixing of the duties of the new office of plumbing inspector was finished last night. James Young, 376, of Hamilton street, received the appointment of inspector at the meeting of the council one week ago, who was decided that London was sadly in need of such an officer.

Questions discussed last night, in regard to the appointment were his salary, and to what branch of the city government the inspector will be responsible. Mr. Young is to receive $1,500 per annum; this expenditure in all probability will be met by fees levied for inspections and for licenses. He will be responsible directly to the board of health, who will detail his duties.

The enforcing of all the existing by-laws relating to plumbing will be his lot. Hereafter a permit must be taken out by anyone before fixtures relating to plumbing may be installed, and on completion the work must undergo an inspection, for which a charge will be made of $1 for up to five fixtures, and an additional charge of 25 cents for each one above that number. All the by-laws in regard to building must be referred to the plumbing inspector and report will be made by him to the board of health, relating to the plan for plumbing arrangements. A journeyman plumber must be in possession of a license from now on until the January sessions.

SEPTEMBER ALLOTMENT OF BABIES FOR LONDON 101

Same Last Year and This—Deaths Decrease.

Boy babies were the favorites in London this month, but they did not have as great a lead over the girls as in September, 1932. Apparently London's September allotment of new citizens has been fairly authoritatively settled by the rulers of babyland, as the total number of new arrivals this month was 101, and only the same number arrived in September last. The total number there were only 52 baby boys, compared to 56 last year, and there were 49 baby girls compared to 45 last year.

There were 68 marriages in September, three more than in the same month last year.

There were only 29 deaths this month, compared to 37 last year.

"THE DUMBELLS" ENTERTAIN SOLDIERS AT SANATORIUM

"The Dumbells," Canadian soldier company of entertainers, visited the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Byron this morning, where they entertained the soldiers with several numbers from their repertoire. "Biff, Bing, Bang," as presented to the soldiers in Flanders. Many members of the company, who have been in London, direct from England, have met several comrades in arms. Among local returned comrades in arms the reunion in each case was a cordial one. This company of khaki entertainers presented their revue to soldiers from parts of France, Belgium, Germany and England after the manner of a play. Recruited from the ranks of the Canadian Division, they were dubbed the "Dumbells" because of the fact that they are the insignia of the Third Division. In addition, two clever artists from the Princess Pats have been taken on the strength of the company for the Canadian tour.

address the meeting many were confident that he would accept and he was greeted with deafening applause so that it was some minutes before he could make himself heard. Circumstances over which he had no control made it necessary for him to withdraw his name he said.

The doctor's withdrawal left but three names in the field: F. G. Mitchell, who was willing to accept the nomination; James Gray, who was absent from the meeting; and Andrew Robson.

Mr. Robson left no doubt as to his intentions when he said: "I will throw my hat into the ring and go to it. He deplored the fact that the temperance issue had been mixed up in party politics, but James Gray was carried over which he had no control made it necessary for him to withdraw his name he said."

Another Effort Made.
Another effort was made to bring Dr. W. J. Stevenson into the field. He declared that it would be utterly impossible for him to be in the running some day, he assured them, but at present he must obey his advisers and stay out of it.

Ald. Little informed the meeting that James Gray had definitely told him this morning that he did not want his name to be considered. Dr. Stevenson made a motion to the effect that the meeting adjourn and that the three men named confer on the nomination. The motion was defeated. F. G. Mitchell then withdrew his name in favor of Mr. Robson as the Liberal candidate.

The applause which greeted this was spontaneous and it seemed impossible that it could have been more hearty. But when Mr. Purdon called for three cheers for the new Liberal candidate, Mr. Robson, the Liberal candidate, the applause which greeted this was spontaneous and it seemed impossible that it could have been more hearty. But when Mr. Purdon called for three cheers for the new Liberal candidate, Mr. Robson, the Liberal candidate, the applause which greeted this was spontaneous and it seemed impossible that it could have been more hearty.

Need for Liberalism.
T. H. Purdon was the first to call upon the speaker. He said that he was pleased to look into the faces of these good old Liberals in Hyde Park and that there had never been a time when there was greater need for down-right, sterling Liberalism in this country. He declared that it was a Liberal government under Sir Oliver Mowat which put this province on its feet 20 years ago.

He recalled some of the outstanding men of that time, but pointed out that during the past 20 years the country had had neither a good government nor a good opposition. He charged that the constitution defied the people, and that the Liberal party was the only party that could be trusted to defend the people. He declared that the Liberal party was the only party that could be trusted to defend the people.

Must Be a Change.
Under the present system the people might as well be Bochevians or Hunns as far as responsible government was concerned. The time had come when there must be change. It was reported that 21 members of the government would not support Sir William Hearst and that Sir Adam Beck, Conservative member for London, would run as an independent.

This season the blouse has won a new place for itself in the fashionable woman's attire. No longer is it a subsidiary element in relation to the suit. It occupies a position all its own. Infinite is the variety in style and material of the slipovers which are the making of a pretty costume for informal wear. The smartest models we have seen are here this week. COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER

There Is Danger That Government Grant Might Be Reduced.

Plans for relieving the congestion at the high school will be discussed at a committee meeting this week in preparation for a meeting of the board of education next Tuesday. There has been some talk of transferring a number of the pupils to the new technical school, but it is doubtful whether the board has power to do this, and it is more likely that the new technical building will be opened in the present collegiate building and the former commercial school.

The technical school is proving a perplexing problem to the trustees. Many citizens are inquiring why a well-equipped building cannot be used to relieve the collegiate congestion, and some members of the board are confident that it could be used to this end. Others are not.

The government gives larger grants to technical schools than to colleges. If the technical school is used to relieve the collegiate congestion, the government grant to the college will be reduced.

Great care upon the part of members of the bar and all officials of the court concerning the naturalization of all Orientals was advised this morning by Justice Kelly at the sessions in the county buildings. Hence certificates, which have been fraudulently procured, were presented for the purpose of enabling the holders to obtain passages to British Columbia.

TEACHERS WILL MEET TO DISCUSS
NECESSITY OF HIGHER SALARIESSome Principals and Assistants Getting Less Than Garbage Men—Pupil Leaves School To Get More Pay Than Master.

A conference to discuss higher salaries to be held between the board of education and a joint committee of public school principals, vice-principals and teachers, this week, likely Thursday, in one of the schools.

Chairman J. S. Barnard of the board of education confirms this stating that the meeting will be purely an informal one.

It is claimed that members of the board wanted an official notice sent out to the teachers to attend such a meeting, and that Secretary R. M. McEwan refused to do this. It was not stated on what grounds the alleged refusal was based, but it is claimed that it was decided to hold such a conference and to send the notices out in the teachers' names.

Called "High-handed." The alleged action of the secretary is termed as "high-handed" by the teachers, who claim that if a teacher were to refuse to carry out orders he would be asked for his resignation. Mr. Barnard maintains that the proposed meeting will be entirely informal and that therefore the question of formal notice will not arise.

Definite requests have been advanced by the teachers, so that known. Teachers themselves state that the purpose of the conference is to discuss other details of increased desired and conference, and a definite request for regular meeting of the board following that week from today, and the matter will be official. Then, the World-Wide Demand.

Teachers' salaries are under discussion.

No New Developments.

New York, Sept. 30.—The ninth day of the great steel strike opened with the situation on all the battlefronts virtually unchanged, null officials issuing their customary statement that most men were returning to work, and union leaders countering with the equally customary assertion that the strike was spreading and victory certain.

No definite developments were reported from the Pittsburgh district, while the only positive item from the Chicago field was the official statement from the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company that its plant, employing four thousand men, would be closed down within the week, "for repairs." Several minor disturbances in the Chicago sector during the night led to a fear that a serious situation was possible, and that Cleveland state or federal troops might be summoned.

IRISH PROBLEM WILL BE DISCUSSED AGAIN BY BRITISH CABINET

Sir Edward Carson Sends Telegram To His Supporters.

London, Sept. 30.—Notwithstanding the strike, the government intends to keep the Irish question to the forefront, and it is expected the cabinet will again discuss a settlement of the Irish problem during the present week.

Sir Edward Carson, who was prevented from attending the Ulster Day demonstration at Belfast, has been telegraphing to his supporters: "The conspiracy against our civil and religious liberties, backed by cruel assassinations in Ireland and lies and misrepresentations in America, to separate us from the British Empire, must be countered by the organization of all our forces. We stand by our covenant in the letter and spirit, and we need help, will defeat our enemies as we did before."

Mr. Sutherland also wants to know if the ruling given by Mr. O'Connor in respect to milk prices on September 15, has been obeyed.

"If repeated," he asks, "what is the condition or situation at present in so far as the ruling, order or injunction of the board applies to the milk producers of any portion or province of the Dominion of Canada?"

BITRO-PHOSPHATE

IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick S. Koffe, M.D., Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says that weak, nervous people who want increased weight, strength and nerve force should take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate just before or during each meal. This particular phosphate is the discovery of a famous French scientist, and reports of remarkable results from its use have recently appeared in many medical journals. If you do not feel well; if you are easily tired; if you are too thin; go to any good druggist and get enough Bitro-Phosphate for a two-week supply—it costs only 50 cents a week. But less; chew your food thoroughly, and if at the end of a few weeks you do not feel stronger and better than you were for months, if your nerves are not steadier, if you do not sleep better and have more vim, endurance and vitality, your money will be returned and the Bitro-Phosphate will cost you nothing.

More and better shaves

Did you ever see a barber start to shave a customer without stropping his razor first? Never! Isn't this fact significant?

Stropping, you see, is needed to reform the saw-like edge that results from shaving; to keep the blade free from rust; and to give you for each morning's shave a keen-edged blade. The self-stropping feature of the AutoStrop Razor preserves the keen edge that makes shaving comfort possible.

Stropping—shaving—cleaning are all done without removing the blade from the razor. Everywhere—razor, strop and 12 blades, complete, in an attractive case, $5.00.

PORK PACKERS SAY THE BOARD'S ORDER IS IMPRACTICABLE

Declare Present Prices Represent Actual Loss.

SUPERFICIAL INQUIRY

Statement Declares Packers Were Not Allowed to Give Their Side.

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—The packers tonight issued the following statement regarding the order of the board of commerce:

"The order of the board of commerce promulgated today is, on the face of it, impracticable.

"(a) That packers are at present selling products at prices which would permit of reduction of two cents to fifteen cents a pound without loss; or

"(b) That the board, without regard to the actual cost of the product, arbitrarily imposes the reduction. Meats now being sold are the product of hogs bought in the last two months, during which live hog prices advanced throughout the world to the highest level in history. At present prices these meats are showing heavy losses. In regard to this loss packers desire no sympathy. It is a phase of the business which they meet in every year's operations.

"Small Profits. The actual facts are that in its most prosperous year the profits of the packing industry in Canada were less than one-half cent per pound of product sold.

"The order assumes to fix selling prices of products on the basis of market prices in March, regardless of and ignorant as to whether these prices will return cost or not. The action of the board has been taken after a superficial inquiry without conference with the trade and without any opportunity being afforded of presenting the packers' case.

"Not only does the order assume to fix present prices on an unfair basis, but it enacts a basis of continued fixing of prices, which is unscientific and unsound, and would necessitate the operation of all plants at a continual loss. If left to take a normal course prices of products will decline in keeping with the lower tendency of live hogs, but without the demoralization of the trade and of the live hog industry, to the detriment of the entire country, which must inevitably result from the enforcement of such ill-advised regulation.

Toronto Man Finds Pearl As Large As Cherry in Oyster

TORONTO, Sept. 29.—E. E. Meade, who will give no more definite address than Dovercourt district, was probably the most surprised man in Toronto when he found a pearl as large as a small cherry on the inside of an oyster shell in a King street cafe. An offer of $500 has already been made to have been made to Mr. Mann by a Toronto jeweler, but it will be sent to New York to be "skinned" before any offer will be considered. Jewelers who have seen the pearl say that if it has no flaws it will be worth $5,000.

Incensed Mob Lynches Two More Negroes

Men Charged With Offences Against White Woman Shot to Death.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 29.—Two negroes, Miles Phifer and Robert Crook, the latter a discharged soldier, were taken from county officials about five miles from Montgomery late today and shot to death by a mob of twenty-five masked men. Both negroes were charged with assaulting white women. The two negroes were being taken to the prison at Wetumpka for safekeeping, when the mob held up the automobile carrying them. The mob forced the county officers to surrender their arms, led the negroes to a wood and opened fire on them with shotguns and pistols.

ATTEMPTS MADE TO WRECK TRAINS ON SOUTH COAST LINE

Trains Now Running On Nearly Every Railway—River Boats Used.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—(Reuter Agency.)—Two attempts to wreck the London to Brighton trains by bombers on the line have been reported. The bombers are now on guard on the line.

Strikers in Scotland have held up two trains, and one fireman was injured. The London and Brighton Company deny that 75 per cent of the drivers and firemen have resumed work. Except on certain of the trunk lines to the north, trains are now running on nearly every railway.

An official report states that the Great Western service is almost normal. Many of the railway residents, however, are still in the city by river boats. The London electricians' union has decided to take no action at present. At a meeting the livemen pledged their support of the Government and the immediate reassembly of parliament. An extraordinary large number of volunteers are coming forward. The position of the underground railways is much more hopeful. The power stations are fully manned by volunteers. The renewal of the railway will enable the restarting of the Great Western service. Troops are being transported to important centres by river boats, which are also conveying some mails. The sympathetic strike of the fish porters at Bristol has been ended. Despite the promising signs, Secretary Bromley of the drivers and firemen's union asserts the struggle will be long and most severe.

WOMAN CONFESSES TO INCENDIARISM, GIVEN THREE YEARS

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 29.—Miss Hannah Matilda Rink was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary by Judge Livingstone at Welland this afternoon after she had pleaded guilty to a charge of arson. In a brief statement it was argued that she was eccentric. Two men who were connected with Miss Rink in the incendiary were recently sentenced to two and three years respectively. William and Arthur Phillips, is out on $10,000 bail, awaiting trial on a charge of counselling Miss Rink to leave the crime committed. The building in question had been recently purchased by her.

COAL OPERATORS IN CONFERENCE WITH MINERS' DELEGATES

BUFFALO, Sept. 29.—The reply of the operators of the central competitive field to the demands of the miners for increased wages and a shorter working day was submitted at today's conference of operators and miners. Although the text of the communication was not made public, it is said to have contained no counter proposals, dwelling chiefly on the operators' contention that the war-time agreement was still in force and effect and that the miners' delegates lacked definite authority from the United Mine Workers to conclude a new agreement.

To this, acting President John L. Lewis replied in conference without asking for an adjournment to consider the operators' reply. The resolutions advanced by the operators, he said, were not sufficient to sweep the miners' demands from the table. The discussion was heated, but the communication from the operators did not close the door to further negotiations, and when both sides adjourned to hold a caucus it was the understanding that a further communication would be submitted by the operators at tomorrow's meeting.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Cunard Line steamer Saxonia sailed from Tilbury for New York today, notwithstanding the inconveniences created by the railroad strike. The vessel has on board 2,000 passengers, most of whom motored to London bridge, from where they were taken by river steamers down stream to Tilbury, where they boarded the Saxonia.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN MAY NOT APPEAR IN HOUSE AGAIN

Friends of the Premier Admit That His Condition Is Serious.

RETIREMENT IS URGED

Doctors Advise Head of Union Government To Cease Work.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—The condition of Sir Robert Borden's health is tonight occasioning keen anxiety to his colleagues and physicians. His followers in the Commons are no longer blinking at facts; the possibility of his not again appearing in Parliament is freely admitted. Sir Robert was to have appeared before a general caucus of his followers tomorrow morning to submit his plans for the establishment of the Unionist party, with platform and organization; his physicians have advised that he will not be responsible for the results if he goes, and the caucus has been postponed indefinitely. For the past week or so he has been suffering from indigestion, and his doctors to-day are doubtful whether he will be able to keep in touch with his work at home; even from that task he has been advised to lay off. He has been suffering from insomnia, and last night he did not sleep at all. In addition to the relaxation following his duties overseas, has resulted in something approaching both physical and nervous breakdown.

is Apprehensive. In fact, for the first time since the commencement of his illness, his followers in the corridors admit the possibility of his early retirement from the premiership. And for the first time since he was confined to his home, he himself is said to be apprehensive of his ability to continue to perform the duties connected with that position. It is just eight years ago next Monday since Sir Robert Borden's Government was sworn in and he became premier. It is admitted today that the anniversary may be the last of that kind he will conduct in semi-retirement.

In the course of the speculation which has ensued, one name only appears to be mentioned with regard to possible succession. The name is that of Sir Thomas White, who is at present himself in semi-retirement. In the meantime the Liberal-Unionist party are holding a caucus for the holding of a separate caucus of their own. The caucus is to be held in the east block, and is said to be held in the morning of such a gathering. It is stated tonight that it will be held in the offices of the president of the privy council, Hon. N. W. Rowell. At this caucus, it is said, the whole question of the part of Liberal-Unionists in a reconstructed Unionist party will be canvassed.

In the House at the present time there are 41 Union-Conservative, twelve are from Saskatchewan, eleven from Ontario, six from Manitoba, five from British Columbia, four from Nova Scotia, one from New Brunswick, and one from Quebec. As against the 41, there are 100 Liberal-Unionists. At the present time nobody can say when the government will be reconstituted, and therefore when plans for the reconstruction of the party will be submitted. Most of the Liberals would prefer a postponement of any definite pronouncement of policy, because such pronouncement might involve their leaving the Government. The present situation is, to use a time-worn expression, pregnant with possibilities.

King's Certificate For Officers and Men of the C. E. F.

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—The King's certificate on discharge will be issued through the militia department to all soldiers who after serving in a theatre of war are in consequence of disability unfit for military service, and are medically unfit. It is also being issued to those who, while not serving in a theatre of war, were discharged as a result of disabilities caused by air-raids, naval bombardments, etc. The certificate is a handily engraved document about 17 inches by 22, and will be distributed without being folded. Applications for them may be made on cards, which are now available at the principal postoffices. His Majesty has also approved of the issue of a King's certificate to officers invalided from the army, conditions identical with those attached to the King's certificate on discharge for other ranks.

COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhazone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes that its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhazone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderfully-soothing vapor of Catarrhazone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat or lungs.

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. TOWN HALL IS TOO SMALL FOR LIBERAL MEET

Overflow Into Ridgeway Opera House—Capt. Jas. Mowbray Candidate.

IS RETURNED SOLDIER

[Special to The Advertiser.]

RIDGECROW, Sept. 29.—So large was the attendance at the Liberal convention advertised to meet in the town hall here this afternoon that the meeting had to adjourn to the opera house. Many had to stand in the crowd, building throughout the afternoon, when Captain James Mowbray, recently returned from overseas, was elected by standing vote to contest the riding of East Kent at the provincial elections.

Prior to the nominations the meeting passed a resolution, declaring that whoever was nominated should be entirely free to vote for or against any measure, whether it were brought out by Liberals or Conservatives, in the belief that the Liberal platform was the best and broad enough to deal with any question satisfactorily.

Broad Liberal Platform. Mr. Mowbray also pointed out the broad policy of the Liberal convention in Toronto. The present unrest, he said, is largely due to unsatisfactory legislation, and as a result the farmers have taken a strong stand against present conditions.

Women formed a large part of the audience, and took an enthusiastic part in the proceedings of the convention. "There is no doubt that with the aid of the women, politics in this country will be raised to a higher plane," the candidate said, and expressed the hope that the women in the riding would give every possible assistance to better conditions.

Major J. C. Tolmie of Windsor, addressing the meeting in the place of H. Hartley Dewar, M.P., who was unable to attend, scored the Government for extravagance and explained why a Liberal return to power would greatly benefit the province.

Less Than a Dozen. He referred to the spending of $24,000 to hold two by-elections, and nearly half a million in setting apart land in Northern Ontario for returned soldiers. Less than a dozen soldiers are on this land at present, he said.

On the platform were four aged Liberals, telling why they had fought for Liberalism for more than 50 years, and why they were prepared to continue to support Liberalism.

Their ages totaled 376 years. They were: John P. McKinley, 96; George Maddison, 95; William Nichol, 94, and William Ferson, 90.

Captain Mowbray returned recently from overseas. He was born in Hong Kong, and had lived there almost all his life. He is a graduate of Ridgeway Collegiate Institute. His brother, Dr. Fred Mowbray, Hamilton, is one of the most noted surgeons in Canada.

Transport Workers Postpone Decision On Strike Question

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The Transport Workers' Federation has tonight postponed decision on the question whether a general strike of the tramway omnibus, dock and riverside workers should be called. The postponement was due to the absence of a number of delegates who could not reach the meeting owing to the railway strike.

Speaking in support of his resolution, Sir Sam Hughes referred at length to his troubles when minister of militia and the unfair treatment he received from other members of the Government. He was finally called to order by the speaker, who asked him to keep to the subject matter of the resolution.

He referred to the old rumors in regard to Col. J. A. Curry, he said that there had been a mistake in the names and Colonel Curry had been mistaken for Arthur Curry (then a brigadier), who was absent from his command for several hours, leaving a young and inexperienced officer in charge.

Sir Sam told the House that he had scores of letters from officers justifying criticisms he had made of the manner in which the Canadian forces were led on September 26, 1918, in the battle of Cambrai. The burden of the ex-minister's complaint was that on the day in question when there was fighting in the suburbs of Cambrai, the Canadian infantry had been sent forward against wire entanglements, behind which in a church was located a nest of German machine guns. The Canadian battalions had been cut to pieces. On the day following two tanks were sent through the entanglements and they cleared up 59 machine guns with practically no loss. Sir Sam asserted that on the morning of the day in question the Canadian artillery had been ordered to advance by the higher command against machine gun position and had suffered severely.

General Griesbach interrupted to ask what warrant the ex-minister had for stating that Canadian artillery had been shot down by enemy machine-guns.

Not Far Away. "It was not far away at the time," he said, "and I did not hear anything of it."

Sir Sam replied that he was prepared to assume full responsibility for his statements.

Colonel Peck of Skeena wanted to know if Sir Sam could produce any map showing the location of the enemy machine-guns, wire entanglements, etc. He said he had been following the speaker as closely as he could and, apparently, the artillery must have been a long way ahead of the infantry.

Sir Sam agreed that they were a long way further up than they should have been. As the Government did not offer any reply to Sir Sam's observations and the motion for papers was not objected to it was adopted.

The House then took into consideration a resolution, by A. E. Fripp, setting forth among other things that all persons who had served overseas, including British Canadian forces, were entitled to be placed in as good circumstances financially as before enlistment. The resolution suggested that returned soldiers should be appointed to all positions in the outside and inside branches of the civil service if possessed of the necessary qualifications without passing any academic examination, and that they should be given an annuity for a limited period sufficient to augment their present earnings capacity by the redundancy arising from service, to equal the amount earned at the time of enlistment.

It had been estimated, said Mr. Fripp, that there would be 50,000 returned men out of work in the larger cities of Canada during the coming winter. He stated that the committee which was dealing with the soldiers' civil re-establishment bill was lacking in any representation from these larger cities.

A Government was strong enough to take a man out of his job and put him in the army ought to be strong enough to take him out of the army and put him back in his job.

SIR SAM VOICES CRITICISM OF HIGH COMMAND

Blames Faulty Conduct of Operations For Needless Loss of Life.

VETERANS' TREATMENT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 29.—Private members in the Commons were productive of debate on several topics, including the conduct of the operations of the Canadian forces in France, the treatment of returned soldiers and the length of speeches in Parliament.

In the evening Government business was taken up and the resolution on which the bill relating to civil service elections was passed.

Criticism of the military operations in France was voiced by Sir Sam Hughes in making a motion for a military return. The ex-minister, who spoke for over two hours, covered much old ground, but touched on some new matters in referring to the operations before Cambrai on Sept. 26, 1918.

The ex-minister, who spoke for over two hours, covered much old ground, but touched on some new matters in referring to the operations before Cambrai on Sept. 26, 1918.

Major-General Griesbach, West Edmont, and Colonel Peck, both of whom were at Cambrai, asked the ex-minister some questions which appeared to indicate disagreement with his assertions, but no one replied to the speech.

To Special Committee. A. E. Fripp, Ottawa, spoke in support of a motion favoring better treatment for returned soldiers, including the granting of gratuity sufficiently large to rehabilitate them in a financial way. The resolution was referred to the special committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment.

The House evinced considerable interest in a proposal by Lord Thompson of Qu'Appelle, to limit the length of speeches. Mr. Thompson supported his proposal in a brief speech in which he suggested the appointment of a committee of "unbiased" speakers.

Sir George Foster advocated the practice of self-restraint by members. Mr. Thompson's proposal was not received with general enthusiasm by the House.

An exception was J. H. Burnham, who declared that the members of the House should be "committed" moral and political heart and stigmatized themselves as a "council of war."

The motion was declared lost without the House dividing.

A. K. MacLean introduced the resolution upon which the bill providing for the civil service reclassification is based, he stated that he did not propose to discuss the bill at any length. He hoped the bill would pass without discussion, because he hoped to distribute the volume containing the new classification to the members of the House.

Mr. MacLean replied that in the view of the Government there was at present no good ground for increasing the personnel of the commission. However, if it was the desire of the House that the matter should be considered, he thought the Government would not oppose discussion of it.

The discussion carried and a bill based on it was given first reading.

In the afternoon consideration was given to the motion of Sir Sam Hughes for a return showing the Canadian casualties by battalions and other subordinate units in each of the battles, St. Julien, Festubert, Givenchy, Zillebeke, Vimy Ridge, Passchendaele, Arras, Brocourt, Quenast, Cambrai, Mons; also the plans and conduct of each action including incidents and events leading up to and bearing on the result.

Troubles as Minister. Speaking in support of his resolution, Sir Sam referred at length to his troubles when minister of militia and the unfair treatment he received from other members of the Government. He was finally called to order by the speaker, who asked him to keep to the subject matter of the resolution.

He referred to the old rumors in regard to Col. J. A. Curry, he said that there had been a mistake in the names and Colonel Curry had been mistaken for Arthur Curry (then a brigadier), who was absent from his command for several hours, leaving a young and inexperienced officer in charge.

Sir Sam told the House that he had scores of letters from officers justifying criticisms he had made of the manner in which the Canadian forces were led on September 26, 1918, in the battle of Cambrai. The burden of the ex-minister's complaint was that on the day in question when there was fighting in the suburbs of Cambrai, the Canadian infantry had been sent forward against wire entanglements, behind which in a church was located a nest of German machine guns. The Canadian battalions had been cut to pieces. On the day following two tanks were sent through the entanglements and they cleared up 59 machine guns with practically no loss. Sir Sam asserted that on the morning of the day in question the Canadian artillery had been ordered to advance by the higher command against machine gun position and had suffered severely.

General Griesbach interrupted to ask what warrant the ex-minister had for stating that Canadian artillery had been shot down by enemy machine-guns.

A Government was strong enough to take a man out of his job and put him in the army ought to be strong enough to take him out of the army and put him back in his job.

The earning power of soldiers, he said, should be augmented until it equals their pre-war status. This must apply to the physically unfit as well as to those in perfect condition.

New Engine Waits Year for a Fire; It Happens; Fails

PRINCETON, Sept. 29.—After waiting since last year for a fire call, the new chemical fire engine here made its first run yesterday, but failed to work properly, and as a result the Grand Trunk crossing-keeper's shanty here is a heap of ashes.

Along with the shanty, the crossing-keeper's coat and other personal belongings were destroyed before they could be rescued by volunteers, who tried to aid the falling fire engine.

Falls of cotton waste in the shanty fired by spontaneous combustion started the blaze.

INGERSOLL FAIR IS OFF TO GOOD START

INGERSOLL, Sept. 29.—Despite the downpour of rain for the greater part of the morning, the Ingersoll Fair got away to a good start today, the exhibits in the palace being fully up to former years both in numbers and quality. There has been a large entry of horses, cattle and sheep, and the poultry show, placed on a new basis, will be the largest in the history of the association. Interest in tomorrow's race events is very keen and it is favored with fine weather the society should have a record crowd.

BLENHEIM, Sept. 29.—The weather of late has been ideal for harvesting tomatoes and tobacco and other crops. This section has had a splendid crop and those who raised tomatoes are well satisfied this year with the results. Tobacco with the great improvement

BECK AND HEARST.

Sir Adam Beck refuses to deny or confirm the report that he intends to run as an independent in the provincial elections. His silence is, of course, another confirmation of what has been evident to the most super-observant of affairs at Queen's Park for some time, that is, that there is a serious rift among the members of the Hearst ministry. It is certain that if this split divides the Government at this critical hour of its career, Hearst faces a general election
 greatly weakened through failure to carry out promises, as well as through demoralization
 that has set in in several of the Government departments. That the minister should desert at this time indicates that the rift
 between the two elements of the Government has become unbridgeable. In no other way can the manner of Sir Adam towards the Government of late be explained. Refusing to state whether he will run as a Government candidate or not amounts to an arraignment
 of the Government.

What do the people of this province think of a ministry that is split into factions that are even to bitter hostilities, asking for a return to power? Can Ontario expect to be led and governed efficiently by a group of men who are engaged in a perpetual quarrel? At the present time it is not of so much moment
 that the public should know the nature of the quarrel, as that it should realize that there cannot be a united and beneficial administration where antagonisms continually hamper.
 Sir Adam shows that this is the case at Queen's Park. He is himself responsible for much of this exasperating and ruinous condition by turning out the whole lot, bag and baggage, and that is the logical and quickest way out.

THE POET AS SOLDIER.

Orthodox diplomacy seems strangely impotent to deal with the "artistic temperament"
 in affairs. The pianist-president of Poland and the poet-soldier of Italy furnish two recent cases where the set rules of international relations do not seem exactly to apply, and where the league of nations does not seem quite capable of giving due force to its decisions. D'Annunzio holds Flume with a handful of followers, warships are in a ring about him, but he is not shot. No one appears to know exactly what to do with this exploit. There would be no hesitation in shooting a poet—somehow it's altogether a different matter dealing with a poet.

Who is D'Annunzio? Some of the biographers will tell you that his real name is Gaetano Capannetto. He was born in 1864, was famous at the age of 16, and has captured the affections of the public as to be regarded as Italy's national poet. When he published his first book, Il Revere, in 1880,
 the critic wrote of him in the Revue: "If I were
 one of his masters I should give him a medal and the stick." He has been receiving medals all his life, and there have always been those who would give him the stick as well. Realist and psychologist, symbolist and mystic by turns, he is first and always a poet. His art has been described as a gallery of echoes, for he has drawn from authors of all times and lands. A profound student of the classics, he is rich in scholarly allusions. From the modern writers of France and Russia he has borrowed much, while he evidently knows the English classics. Mr. James Huneker says of him that his chief defect is a lack of humor,
 which, coupled with the tropical quality of his art, causes a certain monotony, a languorous atmosphere. Human interest is often absent, but he loves nature and describes her lovingly. His drama has been made known in America chiefly through Eleonora Duse.

"Gabriele D'Annunzio," writes M. Huret,
 "is of medium height, slender, not to say
 frail, with short reddish hair which is growing thin on the top of his finely-shaped head, and his brushes straight back at the temples; his back already somewhat bent, he has the air of one of those aristocratic beings who have begun life too soon. His ruddy mustache is trimmed close to the lip,
 and the points are turned up sharply at the corners, while the chin ends in a little pointed beard. His eyes, of pale blue, are half-veiled by the heavy lids. Beneath those eyes, the network of fine lines tells the story of precocious weariness. The appearance of his physiognomy as a whole is rather self-contained and cold. He is a thinker, assuredly quite master of himself, much more given to enthusiasm over a beautiful verse than capable of a real emotion over another's grief."

"He is a poet in action" was the way his son described him not long since, and his record during the war bears it out. D'Annunzio was seized by the view that only a big aerial war would bring the struggle to an end, and he showed his faith in this belief by entering the flying corps himself, and all Italy rang with his exploits. Wherever there was a big planned, there the poet would be found, and
 on one occasion he was up in the air nine hours and a quarter without landing.

The recent Flume incident would take on the character of comic opera were it not that it threatens to become an international incident of importance to embroil Italy

with Balkan nations. It is needless to say that the poet is not without backing in Italy,
 his action, indeed, is quite in accord with the imperialistic aims of a certain element of the ruling class of the country.

THE BRITISH STRIKE.

A crisis of dramatic character has suddenly flashed out of the long-gathering economic unrest in Great Britain. If the railroad strike really aims at merely a more satisfactory wage scale, then the workers have not yet come to see clearly that forcing up the wage level only forces up the price level, doing more harm than good in the resultant continual depreciation of capital and savings. But Lloyd George and others suspect that the strike is not only economic but revolutionary. It is freely stated that a pitched battle has begun between the Government and the organized working classes, in other words, between parliament and soviet as a machinery of government.

At the great Albert Hall meeting the other night the leading speakers branded the government statements about the strike being an
 "anarchistic conspiracy" and an attack upon the British public, as "deliberate lies." And yet it is reported that the crowd sang the Red Flag for an hour. But perhaps the Red Flag is not necessarily a symbol of anarchy, and it might be argued by the strikers that a revolutionary uprising against Parliament, especially in view of the by-elections, is a blow for as well as against "the public."

The truth is that industrial movements are led not by savants or intellectuals who have their principles and motives all consciously sorted out, but by men of passion as well as reason. In all great human movements the motives are mixed, passions and needs com-
 mingling, instincts or half-conscious impulses suffuse the deliberate purposes. It cannot be denied that the experience of the war has accentuated the masses' impatience of old differences in wealth, advantages and privilege.
 Class envy and even hatred are rampant, especially in densely-populated and industrial lands.
 A sudden feeling that the old social and economic system is all unfair lurks darkly behind the more open and conscious utterances of labor leaders, and even when they think their movement purely economic, the lightning of this passionate discontent pierces through in dangerous gleams, in spite of them. It is a poor platitude to say that this sort of thing should not be. Of course, hatred and uncharitableness should not be. But some sort of plan has to be found to remove or assuage it or there will indeed be mad revolution.

Over here it is hard to see the ins and outs
 of such a matter as the ownership of the coal mines. But it does look as though the British people have been enraged at the unwillingness of the Government to carry out the recommendation of the commission's report to nationalize those mines. Even the legal titles of some of the coal-owners seem to be none too sound.
 The recent failure of the Yorkshire miners' strike must have embittered the feeling of Labor on this point.

On the other hand, while we can somewhat understand the feelings and reasons of the strikers, no sympathy can be felt by sensible people with the direct action method of securing political change. Instead of striking at the prosperity and security of the nation, organized labor should carry its ends by the ballot and the secret ballot. Intimidation and coercion are or should be obsolete weapons, and two sides can play at them. An unpopular government can more easily as well as more satisfactorily be displaced by the ballot than by physical compulsion.

INDUSTRIAL ARMISTICE NEEDED.

Attorney-General Palmer of the United States
 suggests an industrial truce or armistice for a period of six months in order that the after-war economic tangle may be straightened out
 and production forwarded, so that the lot of nation and individual would be socially happier
 and healthier. Strikes he strongly condemns, because while he admits the justice of most of the claims of labor for a share in the joint product of money and labor, he believes that the chance of getting it are not advanced by the refusal to produce.

The attorney-general's proposal is stated
 in these terms:
 "The crying need of the world just now
 is for peace, and not political peace between governments alone, but industrial peace amongst men also. The things for which men fight are never settled while the war is on. An armistice must come; heads must be cool, and anger must spend itself before men can sit together and know what is best for themselves and give due consideration to the rights of others."

"Idleness is no panacea for the ills from which the country suffers. Work may be the cost of life is only enhanced by the idleness of men; it can be reduced by the intelligent industry of all. Other remedies may bring us part way on the road, but they will never bring us the whole distance.
 These remedies should and will be applied,
 but the most effective cure that can be desired will be the general acceptance by all our people of the golden opportunities
 of this great land of plenty for all who give the best that is in them."

This is excellent advice, as it is certain that the partial cessation of production will tend to keep up the high cost of living. If the nations are to get back to pre-war conditions as regards prices, and the present oppressive burden removed or at least lightened, then the world must in some way secure increased production. Mr. Palmer's industrial armistice would enable us to catch up and allow for amicable conferences between disputants. The chances are that an industrial armistice would bring about prolonged industrial peace. It's worth trying.

THE WIND IN THE CORN.

(J. C. M. Duncan.)

What a rustling, what a tussling,
 With the wind as it goes hustling
 On its way through the ranks of ripening corn:
 How they toss and reel and curl,
 Every yellow plume a-whirl!
 In the mad wind of this grey September morn.

Like the dirging when the surging
 Of great waves at the wind's urging,
 Roll the burden of their moanings on the shore,
 So the wind of this grey morn,
 As it rushes through the corn,
 Breaks in scallike waves of walling at my door.

Soon the sighing moaning, crying
 Corn beneath the sickle lying,
 To the autumn wind will leave the field forlorn:
 Yet the wind as it wings by
 That same empty field will sigh
 With the memories of its madness in the corn.

SAILOR WHO SAVED THE CZAR'S MOTHER.

(Newspaper Feature Service.)
 A cat may look at a king, and a simple, uneducated sailor may receive the homage of royalty
 at the banquet of a queen. This is the story of one who did.

Members of the erstwhile royal house of Russia,
 except the immediate family of the czar, who owe their lives to an untutored sailor guard, include Marie, queen-mother and widow of Alexander III,
 the Grand Duke Nicholas, former commander-in-chief of the Russian army, and Peter Nicholas, uncle of the czar, the Princess Xenia and Olga,
 sisters of the czar, and the Princess Irene, wife
 of Prince Yussouff, who killed Rasputin, the so-called evil genius of the czar's household. The Princess Irene, daughter of the Grand Duke Alexander, is a niece of the former czar.

The story of this loyalty to the Russians and to members of the imperial family by a widely-recognized Bolshevik, who was given great power
 over the "enemy," has been brought to this country
 by Glib Derjinsky, a well-known artist and sculptor of Russia.

When the Bolsheviks invaded South Russia this year, young Derjinsky escaped to Constantinople
 and there took passage on a Russian commercial ship to New York. For more than a year the young sculptor lived on the Crimean estates of Prince Yussouff, a Russian nobleman, and was well received by the Russian army. He said that he held an order from Prince Yussouff for the execution of some fountains and other pieces of art
 to grace the princely handsome country estate.

A short time after he had been brought to Russia
 by murdering Rasputin, whom he believed to be a traitor to his country, the young Prince Yussouff with his wife went to live on their estate in the Crimea. It joined the handsome country homes of the imperial family. In all, more than twenty big estates with their splendid palaces occupied this district, which Philip the sailor guard, although a revolutionist, had been brought to this country
 time and again during his few months of guardship
 there.

In November, 1917, after the mutiny of Russian sailors at Sebastopol and the establishment of a soviet government there, the young sailor, who is known only as Philip to his royal prisoners, was appointed by the soviet government as commissioner of the district in which the royal estates were located, about sixty miles from Sebastopol, and was given an armed guard of 40 sailors. Fourteen miles away, on the road to Sebastopol, lay the town of Yalta, and this town, after December, 1918, was the headquarters of a soviet commissioner who not only was a friend of the sailor guard of royalty,
 but who also shared his views regarding the taking of human life.

"Such a man was the sailor who kept us prisoners
 several months," said Derjinsky. "It is because of his loyalty to the Russians and his convictions that no one has a right to take human life that the royal family are alive today in Europe."
 "The first order Commissioner Philip received in the form of a courier with instructions to seize the jewels of the different families living in this section. Of course this included the jewels of the imperial family. These jewels were priceless, not only for the brilliancy of their beauty and value
 as rare stones, but for their historic association."

"When the commissioner took over this jewelry
 he carefully packed it in wooden boxes which he placed in a big vault in one of the royal palaces.
 He did all this in a most businesslike manner. He even gave the owners receipts for their jewels,
 which he also returned when they were returned.
 Then he notified his superior officers that their orders had been carried out."

"Nevertheless, word of the jewel seizure had passed among the Bolsheviks in this district. And after some days had passed a courier came to seize the jewels. But the sailor Philip proved a match for them."

"I have charge of this district," he told the Bolsheviks. "I am interested in my work, and here I have enough soldiers at my command to level
 this place."
 "Of course, the force of his argument lay in the fact that the Bolsheviks had no soldiers of real strength of the sailor's command. Had they known the truth that only 40 armed men backed up Philip's threats, they might have acted otherwise. The revolutionists saw that the commissioner was a sturdy swordsman, and would much rather conversation they rode away."

"A short while after the jewel seizure another band of Bolsheviks rode to the great bronze gate
 of the estate of Prince Yussouff, and demanding
 the delivery of the prince and the royal prisoners, challenged again all the quick wit and loyalty of the sailor. Philip, accompanied by his armed guard, hurried out to meet them, and they did not possess any such authority."

"Have you an order from the commissioner of Yalta commanding me to turn over these prisoners
 to you?" inquired the sailor guard with fine diplomatic grace. They had to confess that they did not possess any such authority."

"Well, these are my prisoners," he warned them, and I will turn them over to no one who does not possess such an order."
 "The sailor Philip told the men to go back to Yalta and ask the commissioner there for such a written order. Disgruntled, the intruders decided to go without further ceremony. At once Philip telephoned to his friend, the commissioner at Yalta,
 telling him of the circumstances and asking him to make out the order, but to hold it himself. The commissioner cheerfully complied with this request."

"The Bolsheviks returned some days later. The sailor commissioner ordered out his armed guard,
 and told the intruders to leave at once or they would be shot down, as he had no authority to relinquish his royal prisoners. The Bolsheviks decided not to chance an encounter."

"There was one other occasion when the lives of the Russian royal family were in immediate danger from the Bolsheviks. This time the effort to get possession of the jewels failed, and the Russian was made by a group of counter-revolutionists from the north. This occurred in March, 1918."

"As this new group of revolutionists arrived the sailor commissioner introduced his men as protectors
 of the property and rights of the people now living
 under the soviet government."

"Well, we have a mandate that gives us the right to the royal prisoners here," said the leader.
 "Well," retorted the sailor Philip, refusing to be bluff, "my mandate is my revolver, and I am not afraid to use it."

"The revolutionists were in an ugly mood, and for several minutes it looked as though all the work
 the sailor commissioner had done in the protection of life and property was about to end. But, as on former occasions of similar dangerous nature, he rose to the emergency."

"Lucky for the royal family that they had so brave a guardsman."

"Shortly after this, many rumors were about
 that aroused our hopes again for speedy deliverance.
 We waited patiently day after day for almost a month. I continued my work in a big studio put at my disposal by the Prince Yussouff on his estate. The Princess Yussouff asked me to make a bust of Philip, the sailor commissioner, so that she would have something always to remind her of the great loyalty and the great service of this brave sailor. She also told me that the dowager empress,
 the czar's mother, wanted a bust of the sailor."

"A few nights later the empress gave a dinner
 for the sailor in the great banquet hall of the palace, and this simple soldier who had stood steadfastly against the reign of crime that had swept over his beloved country, was toasted by members of the imperial family."

THE ULTIMATE VICTIM.

When capital wants extra gains,
 On profits tightens all the reins,
 Who has to suffer all the pains?
 The public.

When labor gets dissatisfied,
 And would conditions override,
 Who gets submerged beneath the tide?
 The public.

When strikes put up the price of food,
 And each side holds firm attitude,
 Who always has to make loss good?
 The public.

When street cars cease to run, and balk
 At all conciliation talk,
 Who has to pay the freight and walk?
 The public.

When managers and actors fight,
 And theatres are closed at night,
 Who sees amusement out of sight?
 The public.

Who in disputes which rise each day,
 Is not permitted any say,
 But always loses either way?
 The public.

JERRY DECIDES
 By Leola Drew.

"I suppose they sent me here because I'm named after you, Uncle Gerald," Jerry dug into his grapefruit aggressively. "I hate Gerald. Didn't they ever send Marbury anywhere?"

"Men do," you Jerry?"
 "All of his answers to Jerry had been absent-minded ones for the past two weeks. He had run out of details the second day after Jerry's sudden arrival."

"Miss Millard calls you Jerry, doesn't she?"

Marbury frowned and wiped off a globule of juice from his waistcoat.
 "You should eat that in a bathtub," old Marbury said. "Jerry pushed back his plate comfortably."

"In through," he announced. "What we going to do today?"

Marbury read his newspaper pretending when he was an unimpaired committee of one for Margaret's one and only he had officiated for two weeks, and things were settling down
 on why his sister should have sent Jerry on for a month. She knew she lived in an exclusive bachelor apartment with one Jap man servant. Kato had been the first cook after Jerry
 had brought in a dozen fresh crab
 and put them in the ice box.

"I don't like to see you in my
 he had said smilingly. "Me so reluctantly but soon."

Since Marbury had been at the mercy of Jerry. He had constituted himself private secretary and houseboy
 and told when he was in the basement churning with the engineer, or on the roof sending off aeroplanes to the headquarters of the Madon army until returned from the club before dinner he would give a report on the day's work.

"That tailor wants you to pay the spring bill anyhow. Says you can let him have one till the end of the year
 you had the measles badly and had left for the country. And Mrs. Jocelyn had a party at Newport next week, and I told her yes, if there was good fishing. That night a fellow named a Boole Newell wants you to call him up at the club and tell him how about that supper."

"Cut it," said Marbury briefly. "I'll call him. Did Miss Millard call up?"

"No, but I called her four times," grinned Jerry. "Gee, that's some girl, Uncle Gerald. She said I could call her any old time I asked when I got lost here for me, and she thinks it's awful for you to leave me up here alone, and she's invited me down to Lakewood as long as I like, and she'll come in herself and set me."

"Fine thing to do, cut me out over
 my own phone with the prettiest girl
 I know," Marbury said solemnly.
 "Anybody else?"

"Yep. Mrs. Hamilton's back and wants you to come over as soon as you get in. I told her you couldn't because we were going to the theatre
 tonight. What's up?"

Marbury reached the telephone in one stride and called a hotel number, while Jerry stared at him. "Hello, Mrs. Hamilton, please, what? Then hang up."

That had happened two nights ago,
 and Jerry had dined alone twice in the little private dining room downstairs. He felt like a caged lion. Someone resented Mrs. Hamilton. His uncle had been moody and cheerful by fits and starts. He had not out a large mounted photograph and stared at it
 very lovely, in evening dress.
 But she stood in a crowd of ecclesiastical sort of chair, very slender and dreamy-eyed and gracious, but Jerry summed her up in one word, she looked "sort of stumpy," he thought.
 Mrs. Hamilton's admirers called it was a sturdy swordman, and Jerry chivalry. Over on the mantel stood another photograph he liked better—
 a girl standing in an old boat landing in a sweater, short sport skirt and white turtleneck, smiling back at some one,
 her hands deep in her pockets. This was hard thinking on her account. Before the coming of Mrs. Hamilton she had been Marbury's principal concern
 in life.

"Did Miss Millard," Jerry began,
 and stopped short, fingering the pearl studs on the bed. He had almost thought out loud. "I mean, Uncle Gerald, which are you going to marry?"

Marbury's fingers fumbled over his ties in the drawer. He missed Kato's ministrations.

"You like the best," Jerry offered in what he tried to make an offhand manner.

"So do I, old man, come to think of it," Marbury answered between his teeth. "Trouble is, the ladies have the preference. You can't dub them and race for the nearest poney moon cave, you know. Miss Millard is not my type."

 one To Suffer These Days.

Rheumatism can't be cured so long as
 your system is weak and rundown.
 You must first build up and get strength to fight off the disease.
 Ferronzone cures because it builds up, because it renews the blood and dissolves the uric acid and the poisons
 that cause rheumatism.

It is proved right here that Ferron-
 zone does cure.

Col. M. Russ of Edwards, St.
 Lawrence County, one of the fine old heroes of the Civil War, was completely restored by Ferronzone. Read his statement:

"I couldn't get around without a cane, and then only with difficulty.
 "Rheumatism took complete control
 of my limbs."

"Suffering was more intense than hardships on the battlefield."
 "When my doctor had done his best I got Ferronzone."

"Then came a quick change.
 "Ferronzone gave me comfort at once, eased the pain, and took the stiffness out of my muscles."

"I am well today. Ferronzone cured me completely. I can jump and run like I did forty years ago."

Be sensible about your case. Give your present medicine a useless give

Color Harmonies for Grey Hair

Pictureque Combinations in Fashion's Newest Materials

By Mme. Frances, Famous Creator of Fashions, New York City.

The woman with white or prematurely grey hair possesses wonderful possibilities for pictureque dressing. Grey hair is always distinguished looking, and with the right color setting the grey-haired woman may outclass the more youthful competitors in the conquest for the golden apple of beauty.

The woman with prematurely grey hair may dress extremely and still appear distinguished. The beauties of the French court, like Mme. de Pompadour, realized the charm of powdered locks, when contrasted with fresh complexion. Even the grey-haired woman without color may make of herself a picture if she understands how to dress.

Both white and grey-haired women should feature blue in all its tones and combinations. With grey hair it is wise to dress to match the eyes, and to wear blue with blue eyes or greyed browns and taupe with brown eyes.

Black is nervously lovely on the woman whose hair is grey or silver. Black, relieved by white at the throat and wrists, is extremely aristocratic and most becoming to grey hair.

The woman who is fortunate enough to possess lovely hair of silver or white should feature blue in all its tones and combinations. With grey hair it is wise to dress to match the eyes, and to wear blue with blue eyes or greyed browns and taupe with brown eyes.

Silver Hair With White. Hair that possesses the silver white lustre is wonderful when "played up" with all white. The Baroness de Meyer, has glorious grey hair, and she is never more striking than when clad in a white satin dress worn with wonderful pearls and garnishes with her wax-like petals. With this costume snowy white the Baroness wears a coat of unspotted ermine. No more decorative bit of femininity could step out of a canvas than the Baroness de Meyer in white.

Pinkish mauve is exquisite with grey or silver grey hair. Developed from velvet, grace, taffeta, georgette, or charmeuse, mauve in its various shades are extremely decorative with grey hair. Trimmed with chinchilla, whose greyish tones are wonderfully sympathetic with grey hair, or with silver, whose high lights contrast perfectly with the impression of youth that pinkish mauve is an ideal color for the grey-haired woman.

Bright greens, such as jade, charmeuse, and the so-called "poison" green, furnish a decorative background for grey hair. If a grey-haired woman has lost her color, she will look particularly well in wine color and the dark tones of petunia and Burgundy. Dark blue is also ideally adapted to this complexion and grey hair. The grey-haired woman without color should not wear light shades. These are apt to make her look darker and accent her age by the impression of youth that the lighter colors usually convey.

Touchees of Silver. Silver grey trimmed with hair makes charming evening gown for grey hair. Both silver and touches of silver are good with grey hair. A gown of gold and silver trimmings that so many older women affect, let again repeats the black which is good with grey hair, and let combined with charmeuse, velvet or net is invariably good on the grey-haired woman. Chinchilla, silver, pointed and black and lynx are the best furs for the grey-haired woman. Seal skin, mink, ermine, and lamb, if worn, should be combined with blue, which is good for the grey-haired woman with grey hair. Unspotted ermine is good for night wear and the spotted ermine may be combined with velvet for daylight wear.

An evening gown specially designed for the woman with prematurely grey hair, is jade chiffon combined with silver and green brocade. The bodice of brocade is a loose kimono waist with a Greek suggestion in the round neck and long, flat shoulders. The wide sleeves are faced with thinnest fold of silver. The skirt is beautifully draped in long, slender lines that cross in front and are accented by silver bands. The girdle is charmeuse green, showing a stripe of jade green. The scarf ends of this gown are very decorative as they are carried in line with the point d'empire and appear as a continuation of this drapery that passes upward beneath the girdle and hangs over it in these cascades, heavily tasseled in silver fringe. Above the tassels appear bands of silver cloth. With this gown is worn a necklace of emeralds and pearls, which adds another distinctive note of color to a charming ensemble.

on the waist and similar embroidery on the tunic and sleeves. The blouse is made kimono and shows a long, loose sleeve whose dark blue surface gives the opportunity for several lines of color. First, there is a fold of green at the hand, then purple in laid close to this green line. Above appears blue sequins. The drop-skirt also shows sequins and the green line with ribbons, repeating the colors, green, blue and purple.

Nothing could be more colorful than a gown of mauve chiffon velvet which shows an interesting waistline in the long, full blouse. The blouse is cut to show a decorative blouse of flesh-colored georgette crepe made with old-fashioned puffings joined with sheer blue, dyed turquoise blue. The velvet belt passes through a tarnished silver buckle. Velvet buttons and bound button holes run on the velvet blouse.

The skirt of this gown shows a yoke let in at the sides, so as to feature an unbroken front, curving into pockets edged with lace and accented by velvet buttons.

French Blue Suit. This gown is stunning, worn with a perfect color harmony on the grey color of the wearer, who might carry a huge muff of chinchilla with soft markings and a line of Dordogne mauve background of the gown.

French blue is an ideal suit color for grey hair. The coat is quite long and flares toward the lower edge. Broadtail gives an effective color combination with French blue, and is employed for the shaped collar and deep cuffs. The self-covered buttons run in straight decorative line. The front of the coat is cutaway and the sleeves are cut in a Raglan line, snugly fitted.

The skirt of this model is slightly gathered at the belt line and hangs straight. With this suit may be worn a blouse of straight decorative line. The blouse inserts of tiny tucks. The blouse fastens with grey pearl buttons, and the skirt is decorated with a row of tiny tucks.

The hat carries a touch of piquancy in the blue and purple birds that completely envelop the crown of blue velvet.

Have Chicago Last Night
For Redville.

CAGO, Sept. 29.—Manager "Kid" Gleason and twenty-three members of the Chicago White Sox, American pennant winners, left here today for Cincinnati, where they will play the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night in the first two games of the world series.

Every man on the team was declared fit for the championship games which expressed himself as confident the Sox would come back to Chicago with a two-game lead on the National League rivals. Manager Gleason has given his team a complete rest since they clinched the pennant last night.

Sox Hissed.
The final three games of the season, which resulted in a defeat for the Chicagoans, the line-up was mostly of substitutes, and the Sox played such indifferent ball they were booed and hissed by "fans" at yesterday's game.

If practice had been planned for but the heavy rain of last night, the Sox would have been able to get the grounds crew work on park getting it ready for the first game Friday.

Never before in the history of the world's championship baseball series of 1919 Wednesday.

Never before in the history of the world's championship baseball series of 1919 Wednesday. The Sox were given a short morning practice, while in the afternoon the team, in a body, visited the Lottoria racetrack.

Tomorrow the White Sox will have Redland Field to themselves during the forenoon, while the Reds will practice during the afternoon at Redland Field, nothing remains to be done. The new bleachers in left field have been completed, as had the press stand on top of the grandstand. The forty-five wires that will be necessary to flash the news of the series to all parts of the country have been installed in the press boxes as insofar as arrangements go they are all now ready for the word "play ball."

It was announced today that Robert Newhall, of the Commercial Tribune, had been named as the third official scorer with J. Taylor Spinks, of St. Louis, and William McCready, of Philadelphia the National Commission appointees.

The match will be made from here by a number of substitutes who will be along to fill out the line-up, which will be later announced. Woodstock are a good team this year, giving all reports, and should be able to give the Londoners a line of their own condition and team work.

London's looking better every day. Old Fitzgerald was out last night and got in good fast work. The team is looking better every day. Old Fitzgerald was out last night and got in good fast work. The team is looking better every day.

Thousands of Fans Turned Away From Redland Park

Stand in Line All Day, To Be Disappointed—City Filled Up and Accommodation At Premium—Federal Officers On Watch For Speculators.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 29.—With every available seat and every available space for standing room in the inclosure of Redland Field, supposed to accommodate 33,000 baseball enthusiasts, assigned or sold, everything appears to be in readiness tonight for the opening game of the world's championship baseball series of 1919 Wednesday.

Never before in the history of the city have such scenes been enacted as were visible today in the hotels. The decks of the hostilities were packed three deep with visitors trying to obtain sleeping accommodations, and these were being added to at every incoming train arriving. Never before has Cincinnati been called upon to handle such an enormous crowd, and it is safe to say that never before has she been the host to so many men prominent nationally in their various walks of life.

Correspondents Arrive.
One of the first special trains to arrive came from New York and brought 75 of the newspaper correspondents. Among the actor folk on the scene are George M. Cohan, the playwright; Roscoe Arbuckle and Charles Ray of moving picture fame.

Another special train brought 150 Pittsburgh business men. President Herrmann of the Cincinnati team announced early this afternoon that every available reserved seat had either been sold or assigned for sale, while later in the day the long line of cars had been maintained all day at the ball park, purchasing pavilion, bleacher seats and standing room was told that the 11,500 seats available there had been taken. This ended the last hope.

Signs Point to Reds As Victors in World's Series

Sox on Paper Are Class, But Factors of Luck, Courage and Sheer Fighting Spirit Give Reds More Than Chance to the Championship.

BY FRANK G. MENKE

wouldn't be at all surprising if the Cincinnati Reds passed along to the Chicago White Sox a diamond hallooing almost as brutal as that which was presented by Mr. Dempsey to Mr. Willard.

The Reds got under way in mid-afternoon and nothing had stopped them since. The tougher the opposition that was offered, the more wonderful fight did they make. They have become the irresistible force in baseball, and, unless all signs fail, they will ride triumphant over the splendid ball club that will fight under the Chicago standard.

Oh, yes, the White Sox size up as the class team in baseball. They have a far greater collection of stars than the Cincinnati Reds. They have a world's series performer. They have an undefeated record as regards the world's series triumphs. They've got class—heap of it.

Class is great stuff on paper. It's a splendid thing to use as an argument to attempt to illustrate the rather bruised and battered statement that "class will tell." Almost the entire Cincinnati team is from Brooklyn—rising up at the present time and insisting there isn't the slightest doubt in the world that the White Sox will pug the Reds into the final end of the world's series money. Just why they hold the Reds so cheaply is one of life's mysteries.

A study of the records of the rival players doesn't show that the Sox have any tremendous bulge in any department of play. The Chicago outfit is hitting several notches beyond the Reds—but not enough to make any material difference.

Thousands of Fans Turned Away From Redland Park

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 29.—With every available seat and every available space for standing room in the inclosure of Redland Field, supposed to accommodate 33,000 baseball enthusiasts, assigned or sold, everything appears to be in readiness tonight for the opening game of the world's championship baseball series of 1919 Wednesday.

Never before in the history of the city have such scenes been enacted as were visible today in the hotels. The decks of the hostilities were packed three deep with visitors trying to obtain sleeping accommodations, and these were being added to at every incoming train arriving. Never before has Cincinnati been called upon to handle such an enormous crowd, and it is safe to say that never before has she been the host to so many men prominent nationally in their various walks of life.

Correspondents Arrive.
One of the first special trains to arrive came from New York and brought 75 of the newspaper correspondents. Among the actor folk on the scene are George M. Cohan, the playwright; Roscoe Arbuckle and Charles Ray of moving picture fame.

Another special train brought 150 Pittsburgh business men. President Herrmann of the Cincinnati team announced early this afternoon that every available reserved seat had either been sold or assigned for sale, while later in the day the long line of cars had been maintained all day at the ball park, purchasing pavilion, bleacher seats and standing room was told that the 11,500 seats available there had been taken. This ended the last hope.

TWO-YEAR-OLDS AT KENTUCKY OPENING UPSET HEAT RECORDS

Do Four Heats in World's Record Time—M. Dudley Drops Dead in Third.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 29.—The opening day of the meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association furnished as the feature the two-year-old division of the future, in which Natalie the Great was first choice. In the first heat the favorite went away in the lead, and won with M. Dudley forcing her to the limit. In the second heat the black gelding went to a break he came on to win by a length. In the third mile the field was well bunched with Natalie the Great leading on the far turn, where Mr. Dudley choked down and, falling into the fence, was killed by a sharp point of a plank, the best going to Day Star, which had gained on the leaders in the stretch. Day Star won the fourth heat somewhat easily, and the original favorite second. The time of the four heats constitutes a world's record for trotters of that age.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your drugist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will bring quick relief from the distressing hearing noises and the mucus stop dropping down the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is afflicted with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

REDUCE YOUR FAT WITHOUT DIETING

Simple, effective, harmless Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists—a large case for $1. Or, if you prefer, you may write direct to the Marmola Company, 364 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

GOOD ADVICE FOR NERVOUS PEOPLE

WHAT WORN, FRAZZLED, UNSTRUNG, "JUMPY" NERVES REALLY NEED.

When you are rundown, out of sorts, tire easily, have lost confidence in your ability to do things, and ambition seems to have deserted you, it's a sure sign your nerve force has run down and that your nerves need a stimulant to restore your system its old-time strength and energy, and bring back the good old pep that used to make you famous.

Standard Drug Company and many other of the leading drug stores in London and vicinity are selling wonderful nerve remedy called Ferro-Peptide on a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. It's amazing how quickly Ferro-Peptide tones up the entire system, calms and steadies the nerves, and puts vim, vigor and vitality into men and women who are fagged out, nervous, despondent and ambitious.

Thousands testify to their remarkable value in cases of severe mental depression, nervous prostration, nervous dyspepsia, trembling, "dipsy," "dipsy," and the generally unstrung nerves that come from excessive work, worry, lack of sleep or overindulgence in drinking, eating, or smoking. If your nerves are right on edge, get a package of Ferro-Peptide right away. It comes 42 tablets to a box. Eat one with every meal for a few days, and see what a wonderful improvement they make in your whole nervous system.—Adv.

EXPECTS GREAT DEAL OF UNEMPLOYMENT DURING THE WINTER

Labor Department Official Expresses This Opinion.

FORECAST DIFFICULT

But More Serious Situation Than Since War Began Is Expected.

STATES AMERICANS FAVOR RACE TRACK

Sergt. J. Cresswell Wires, Telling of Success.

According to Sergt. J. Cresswell, who is in Cincinnati in connection with the promotion of a new race track in East London, the plan is being well received among horsemen across the border. He wires The Advertiser:

"Everything satisfactory to horsemen re our track in London. John McLoughlin specially recommended A. Wallis to come to London and look over prospects. Grounds, according to plan, entirely satisfactory. Cresswell goes on to say that stock is selling readily, and more could be sold than he has at his disposal."

STEEL MEN ARE DETERMINED TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Secretary of Union Says Men Will Not Return Unless Starved.

STRIKE DISTRICT QUIET

Some Arrests Made in Pittsburgh, However, of Strikers and Others.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29.—A break in the ranks of the steel strikers, predicted by some of the corporations, was not in evidence today, according to reports received from different sources. No claims were made by steel companies of large defections among the strikers, but a number of them, including the Carnegie Steel Company and the American Steel and Wire Company, did insist that men continued to return to work. No figures were given.

Leaders at strike headquarters expressed satisfaction at what they claimed to be the failure of the United States Steel Corporation to stampede the organized men. It was given out by the unionists that more men were today as a result of the strike than at any other time since the walkouts started a week ago. It was insisted that the men had real grievances, and that they could not be readily driven back to work.

National headquarters met company claims from the east that Bethlehem Steel was not seriously affected by the strike with a telegram from the chief organizer on the ground at Bethlehem, Pa., stating that Charles M. Schwab's big plant was "completely crippled." Union leaders claim that Bethlehem Steel is 75 per cent organized. The fight of the union to close down the big independent plant of the Jones & Laughlin Company in this city is being waged vigorously.

The entire strike district was quiet today. Arrests of strikers and others for violating the regulations of the sheriff's proclamation.

Expressing confidence in the ultimate outcome of the strike, and declaring he was highly pleased with the situation in the Pittsburgh district, Secretary Foster, in a talk with newspapermen this afternoon, said that the strikers would not return to work unless "they are starved back."

The time to plan your heating is now

THERE is nothing to be gained by putting it off. Furnaces will not be any cheaper, at least for a long while to come, and the chances are that, owing to the strong world-wide demand for raw material of all kinds, prices will go up before they will come down.

So our advice to any one thinking of buying a furnace, or replacing an old one is to do so now and save much inconvenience and some money.

Another thing: For those who are planning to put in a Banner Furnace we can possibly do more for you than we may be able to later on when the rush comes.

If, therefore, you have a heating system to figure out; if you would like expert advice on the subject, or if you would like to know just about what it is going to cost, fill in the coupon below and mail it to us. We maintain a staff of men to give such service free, and asking them to help you will place you under no obligation whatever.

London Faces Strict Food Ration Order

LONDON, Sept. 29.—London today faced stricter food rationing than for years. Regulations, breaches of which were whisked at even before the armistice, when supplies started coming in large quantities, today were clamped down hard on all kinds of meat and butter and sugar. Cured meats, which were only slightly rationed during the war, today were placed in the same category as other meats. Fish was not placed under the rationing edict, but the lack of transportation is affecting the supply.

It is roughly estimated that there is a fourteen weeks' food supply in the country, if it is conserved. Restaurants have eliminated butter from their menus, and restricted bread to one roll per meal.

The familiar miniature war steaks against are in evidence.

Forest Fires Melt Railway Tracks on the Pacific Coast

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 29.—Forest fires along the line of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway above Squamish were so intense during the week-end that steel rails were twisted and melted, a wooden railway bridge was destroyed and giant rocks crumbled and crashed down upon the right-of-way. Great trees fell everywhere and a train with 45 passengers was held up for two days by the fire, which swept through the Cheakamus Valley, driven by a heavy wind.

NOTIFY FIRM WITH $20,000 FACTORY TO VACATE PROPERTY

WINDSOR, Sept. 29.—Notice to vacate city property will be served on the Lamb Railway Service Corporation which was recently refused a bonus, including the purchase of land in the municipal factory district, by a vote of ratepayers.

Anthracite Miners' Contract in Effect Until March Next

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—The existing contract between the anthracite mine workers and operators, including the supplemental agreement providing for the payment of bonuses entered into last November, will continue in effect until March 31, 1920. It was so decided at a conference here today between the presidents of the three anthracite districts of the United Mine Workers of America and the committee of anthracite operators.

MET DEATH BECAUSE HE DISREGARDED RULES, CORONER'S JURY FINDS

SARNIA, Sept. 29.—Percy J. Bowyer, Grand Trunk railway employee, who was killed at Mandaum on September 24 while coupling cars, met his death accidentally, the coroner's jury decided here tonight. The jury reported that the accident was the result of the victim disregarding to some extent the rules of the railway company.

WHISKEY SPOTTERS MUST NOT GO TOO FAR, STATES COURT

Brantford Magistrate Says Should Not Have Prosecuted Mrs. A. Walker.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Alex Walker, Henrietta street, was discharged from custody this morning after evidence against her on the charge of a breach of the O. T. A. had been heard. The magistrate declared that her evidence might be just as reliable as that of two whiskey spotters, Cutts and Simons, who claimed to have made the purchase of a bottle of alcohol from the defendant.

He further declared that the job of whiskey spotter was a mean one, but it had its limitations. A spotter might tell all kinds of lies to secure the liquor, but when it came to promising immunity if the law were broken he was going too far.

Had Been Convicted. He reminded the counsel for the prosecution that Cutts himself had been convicted of a breach of the act in the local police court, and Simons in another case had told a false story which on investigation was proven to have little corroboration. He thought that where immunity had been promised the department should not have prosecuted, and dismissed the case.

The London Advertiser's Own Puzzle Contest

The Problem

Count the circles in the Puzzle Chart. Every circle is complete and the chart is entirely free from tricks and illusions. However, to pick out every circle and count it requires patience and care. Those who do this the best will win the valuable cash prizes offered for solving the puzzle.

Any method which contestants hit upon that seems to be best adapted to making the count may be adopted. The Advertiser will be glad to receive short notes explaining how the results were obtained. As many different solutions may be submitted as contestants wish. Before sending in a solution, however, read the general rules carefully.

This contest will not only prove profitable to the winners of the prizes, but solving the puzzle will also prove to be a pleasant and fascinating pastime. Taking advantage of this opportunity may net you as much as $864. The plan of this contest permits everyone to work out his own results. He will not only know what he has done himself, but will also have an opportunity to check up the work of his competitors.

Read carefully all the rules, then make up your mind to enter this very interesting contest. It is open to all present subscribers, as well as to those who wish to become subscribers.

As the main prizes have an increased value, according to the amount paid on subscription when solutions are filed, contestants should familiarize themselves with the prize list before sending in their solutions.

Additional puzzle charts may be obtained at The Advertiser office, or they will be mailed to all who send a three-cent stamp.

How To Enter

This contest is open to present bona fide residents of Ontario.

Anyone in this territory may enter the contest upon payment of not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. This amount will be applied to subscription to The London Advertiser at regular subscription rates. It may be applied on either the morning or evening edition, or both.

You may submit just one solution or many different ones as you wish. With solution you must pay not less than $2.00 or more than $12.48. The total amount, whether you send one or more than one solution, will be applied to one continuous subscription, unless you otherwise direct. If you are already a subscriber the amount, or amounts, you pay will be applied to extending the time you are paid to. If you are a new subscriber the amount paid will be credited to you and your subscription started at once.

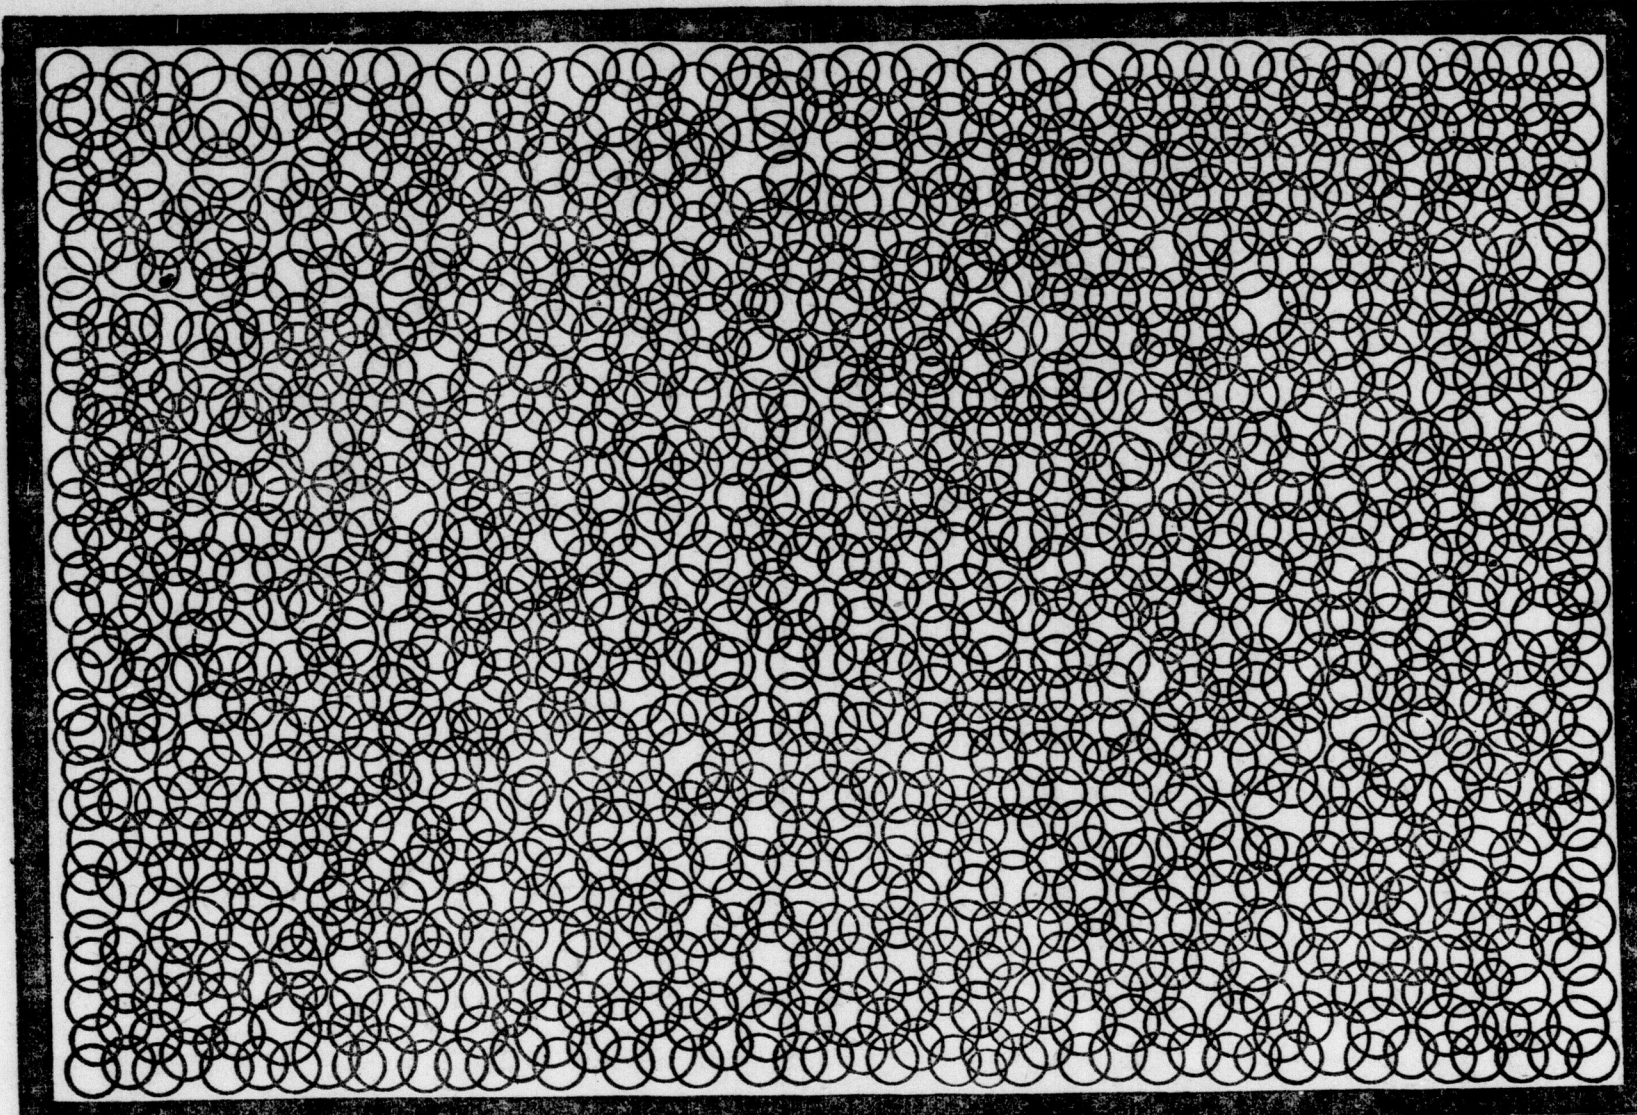

Present subscribers, wherever located, will continue to receive the paper through the same channels as now. No change whatsoever will be made in carriers where subscribers receive the paper through carrier service. All carriers will receive notice that the subscription has been paid and be instructed to collect the amount from The Advertiser office. The same will be done where the paper is being received through an authorized newsdealer.

If you send more than one solution at one time send a separate blank with each one and state in each blank the amount you are paying with that solution.

This contest is open to both men and women. You may order the paper sent to someone else if you wish, names and addresses being subject to any changes that later may be desired.

Contest Closes at 9 p.m.
Saturday, November 1

The sooner you send in your first solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution if you find you can do better.

Important Features

The attention of contestants is called to two important features in connection with the prizes.

1. While the amount you pay for subscription to The Advertiser has no effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the value of the first five prizes should you win one of them. For instance, each of the first five prizes has a fixed value, to which is added from five to fifty times what the winners pay when they register their solutions. This is explained further in the prize list.

2. The first five prizes may also be increased ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS each by your interesting five persons who are not now regular subscribers to become subscribers. You will receive twenty dollars for each one, whether you secure one or five. Each one of these new subscribers must pay not less than the minimum amount ($2.00) required of contestants. They may pay up to the maximum ($12.48) if they desire, and they may also become competitors for the prizes if they wish to submit one or more solutions of the puzzle. That is, they may enter the contest under the same conditions exactly as any other contestant, the payment they make entitling them to entry.

The name of each one of these new subscribers must be sent in on one of the accompanying blanks, whether he becomes a contestant or not. The fact that he was secured by you must also be indicated in the proper place provided in the blank, so you will receive credit. You may send in any or all of these five names whenever you wish, either when you send in your own solution or later. Just use one of the blanks for each one, and then there will be no mistake made in regard to your getting due credit.

Deciding Ties

In the event of ties those tying will be required to solve a second puzzle in order to determine who shall receive the prizes. This second puzzle, if one should be required, will be equally as attractive and practical as the first. Under this plan those who win will be assured of receiving the full value of their prizes without having to divide them with other contestants. Should still further ties ensue a third problem of the same order as the second will be submitted to those again tied to solve. This plan will be continued until all have been eliminated except the actual prize winners. Should there be no ties on the first puzzle, only the one, of course, will be presented. In the event that a second puzzle is required, one week will be allowed in which to solve it. This will prevent the contest being prolonged for any unusual length of time.

General Rules and Information

There is no objection to several members of one family or several friends working together to obtain a solution, provided only one of them turns the solution in. The prizes are awarded for individual effort, and it would not be proper for one person to turn in a solution, then give it to someone else, and for the latter to submit it as his own.

If the paper is already being sent to your residence, either by carrier or through the mails, send in the renewal in the name of the person who is already subscribing. If some other member of the family wants the solution credited to him, or to her, merely attach a note to the blank giving the name of the one who wants to have credit for the solution. The purpose of this is to avoid sending two papers when only one is needed.

When, in the judgment of the Contest Manager, more than one member of the same family, or any others, send in two or more solutions which have the appearance of having been worked in collusion, The Advertiser will reserve the right to use its best judgment in refunding any of the subscriptions paid in connection therewith and rejecting the solutions.

Information will be furnished and rulings made on any points contestants may want information about. The Advertiser reserves the right to decide any and all questions which arise, and those entering the contest as a part of the contract must and do agree to abide by such rulings.

The date a solution is filed has nothing to do with its winning a prize. It is always safe, however, to send in a solution as early as convenient. Then you will have ample time to go over your figures and, if you find you can get a better solution, you will still have an opportunity to profit by your later effort.

As many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions. That is, if three people should tie on the best solution the first three prizes would be reserved for them, and they would be awarded these prizes in the order of the standing of their solutions of the next puzzle. That is, the best solution would be awarded the first prize, the next best the second and the third best the third prize.

All solutions must be sent in on the blank herewith. No solution unaccompanied by a cash subscription will be accepted. No solution may be changed after it is once registered.

No one directly or indirectly associated with The Advertiser will be allowed to participate in this contest.

ALQUONQUIN PARK—GRAND TRUNK
HOTEL OPEN THIS WINTER.
The Grand Trunk Hotel is open to keep open the "Highland Inn" in Alquonquin Park during the autumn of 1919 and the winter of 1919-20. This attractive and popular hotel has had a splendid summer season, and the requests from guests for a place where Canadian winter sports can be enjoyed was a factor in the Grand Trunk's decision to open the "Highland Inn" this coming winter. During the winter of 1913-1914 the "Highland Inn" was the objective of many happy parties from the United States and Canada, and was operating to capacity. Owing to war conditions it was considered wise to close it during the winter seasons, and patrons will be glad to know that there will be a place this year where they can go and secure the wonderful benefits offered in this charming resort
and enjoy true Canadian winter sports.
In this region the autumn months, October and November, are delightful, and those who are run down in health, or those who are suffering from nervous ailments, will find rest, health and recreation in the confines of the park.
Two hundred miles north of Toronto,
and 170 miles west of Ottawa, the "Highland Inn" is situated on the shore of Cache Lake, 2,000 feet above the level of the sea. The altitude assures visitors of the purest of air. During the winter there will be tobogganing, skiing, snowshoeing and skating, while snowshoe hikes to the log cabin camps,
across the lakes and through forests of pine and balsam, will be made a specialty. Fishing through the ice for the famous Algonquin Park salmon trout (which run up to 20 pounds in weight)
will appeal to the ardent angler. For all information as to routes, rates, etc.,

EXCITING SCENES IN

William Farnum Eclipses
Previous Effort in Thrilling Photoplay.
The popularity of William Farnum,
the celebrated screen star, was evidenced at the Patricia Theatre yesterday by the crowds that packed
this popular theatre to capacity at all performances. "The Lone Star Ranger," the photoplay in which Farnum
is appearing again today and Wednesday is a picture of Zane Grey's
noted story of Texas frontier life.
The William Fox star fairly outdid
the expectations of his most ardent admirers as a range rider of former Texas days who feared no man and boldly brought to justice a vicious band of cattle outlaws. Mr. Farnum carried his audience with him through thrilling episodes that dealt with bad men, good women, pathos and love,
to a happy climax.

CONSERVATIVES HAVE SLIM CHANCES IN SOUTH OXFORD NOW
TILSONBURG, Sept. 29.—It is doubtful if South Oxford ever found itself in such a peculiar political situation as at the present time. The U. F.
O. nominated J. Walker, a former well-known Liberal worker, to be their candidate, while last Thursday Alex. Rose, a popular farmer, living near Tugay, was the unanimous choice of the South Oxford Liberals.
and so far the Conservatives have held
no convention to select a candidate.
Rumors say that the present Conservative member, A. Sinclair, wishes to withdraw from the contest,
and in fact has been persuaded to take such a course by many of his former supporters. It will be no surprise to see a farmer under the Conservative banner, because a professional man's chance in South Oxford is considered slim.

Capt. M. W. Plunkett, "Marjorie" and "Marie" of the Dumbells, in "Biff, Bing, Bang," at the Grand again tonight and twice tomorrow.

"BIF, BING, BANG," OVERSEAS
REVUE DELIGHTS GRAND AUDIENCE
A capacity audience, which included
the staff and patients of the Western Ontario Military Hospital, was deliged
with the performance of the "Dumbells"
in the original overseas revue, "Biff, Bing Bang," at the Grand Theatre
last night. These talented artists, who repeat their bill tonight and twice tomorrow, present an offering which is of high order, the entire cast being male,
although D. Hamilton, as Marjorie,
could easily become the ace of female impersonators should he care to try for the honor. His work was of the best, possessing a good singing voice which aided greatly in the impersonation.
Possibly the greatest receptionist last night, next to "Marjorie's," was that accommodated Capt. M. W. Plunkett who rendered a song entitled "The Wild Woman," with a trenchant parody to match. He was again given premier honors when he appeared with A. G.
Murray in an Italian song and dance.
There was not a dull moment on the entire program, which introduced two comedy sketches that kept the house in an uproar, with Mac MacLaren sharing the greatest responsibility for the fun.
An amusing number was "Kit Inspection" by B. Allen, who provided real blackface comedy to the delight of everyone. The "Dumbells Quartet" also put their songs over with a punch, their excellent singing being in keeping with that of the company. Costumes are well selected, no expense being spared
in this line. In addition to Marjorie,
other principal female parts were taken by A. G. Murray, and Sis Hopkins, a French vamp, and Sis Hopkins, a dual female role, were well played, and the imitation of a famous pianist was refreshing.

The artists in this company have been on an average of sixteen years in the fringe line before being selected by Capt. Plunkett for the revue, and last night was military night, the "boys"

being welcomed in London by local soldiers, this being the opening engagement in Canada.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL" AT THE GRAND THURSDAY,
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
The final keynote to success has been struck in the new musical comedy,
"My Soldier Girl," which is coming to the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings with a popular Saturday matinee. This musical play holds the audience with its swinging melodies and cleverly handled story which lends just enough color to its effective stage settings to please the most blasé theatregoer. The capable cast includes the chic and charming Dorothy Garrigue as "Dixie Harris,"
the leading soprano role. Miss Garrigue is a charming little girl, who sings and dances about with an abundant personality, magnetism and ability. The leading comedy falls to the lot of Billy Moore, a clever blackface comedian of wide reputation, in the comedy role of "Jasper Pebble." Maude Baxter, a prima donna with a voice of remarkable quality, is playing the role of Mabel Parker and the most excellent views of the prime in Toronto. During the showing of the
"Sahara" the Majestic orchestra plays
suitable music.

FACE PEELING EASY—
Blonde or Brunette
"The blonde's complexion fades early,
because her skin is extraordinarily thin
and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri.
"The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."
For either the faded blonde's skin or
the brunette's oily or sallow complexion,
the best remedy is ordinary mercurized
wax. Used every night, this will give one entirely new complexion within about
a week's time. The wax gradually
peels off the worn-out surface skin, with
all its defects, a little each day, without
affecting the delicate under-skin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen
years from her face, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple
treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream—

FACE PEELING EASY—
Blonde or Brunette

because her skin is extraordinarily thin
and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri.
"The brunette's, as a rule, is the re-

For either the faded blonde's skin or
the brunette's oily or sallow complexion,
the best remedy is ordinary mercurized
wax. Used every night, this will give one
entirely new complexion within about
a week's time. The wax gradually
peels off the worn-out surface skin, with
all its defects, a little each day, without
affecting the delicate under-skin in the
quisitely beautiful glow of youth in-
deed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen
years from her face, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple
treatment. The wax, procurable at any
drug store, is applied like cold cream—

"SAHARA" A FILM PRODUCTION OF ORIENTAL MAGNIFICENCE DELIGHTS MAJESTIC PATRONS
Louise Glaum Stars in Wonderful Film of Gay Paree and Mystic Orient—Special Musical Program Rendered
by Majestic Concert Orchestra.

Louise Glaum, the famous French actress, showing in "Sahara," a gorgeous spectacle showing the Majestic Theatre again today and Wednesday.
Probably the best thing that can be said about it is that in story interest, scenic investiture and lavishness of settings it brings back to mind the old pictures that Louise Glaum did for Thomas H. Ince. It brings all these back and goes them just one better. Ince's "Sahara," by the way, is a masterpiece of technical excellence and versatile C. Gardner Sullivan, presents a series of living characters in a series of situations fraught with strength and commanding power, each one acted, directed and set with the utmost in artistry and effect. Louise Glaum has never played with a more sincere show of feeling.

Louise Glaum, one of the most alluring stars in the movies, appears in the thrilling drama "Sahara,"
a wonderful picture of scenic beauty
and lavishness of settings, from the society scenes in fashionable Parisian cafes to the stark beauty of the Sahara Desert, picturing its praying Arab, its palm trees and camels, and the majestic Nile on his way to Cairo. In the absence of her husband he persuades her to leave the desert, her husband and her child for the gayety of Cairo. She goes with him.
Four years later Mignon is in Cairo
with everything that her heart desires except happiness. Her Hindu servant tells her that sacrifice to others may bring her happiness, and thus she finds her way to the street of the beggars
in Cairo casting her money among the poor. Here, too, she finds a little lad and his parents begging for help. In these two she recognizes her husband and child, her husband a wreck from use of an oriental drug. In all these roles Louise Glaum portrays great dramatic ability.

After weeks and months of terror
and anxiety her husband is nursed back to part of his former self, and the day comes when, after all these months of stupor, he recognizes his butterfly wife, who turns out in the end to be a faithful wife and a loving mother. The oriental scenes in "Sahara" are wonderful, and the gowns
worn by Miss Glaum are superb.
To complete an excellent program a very funny Lloyd comedy picture is shown, as well as General Curry's visit to the Western Fair; also some excellent views of the prime in Toronto. During the showing of the
"Sahara" the Majestic orchestra plays
suitable music.
