RESUMPTION OF RAILWAY DEBATE FOR SIX YEARS

Mr. Borden Attacks the Day and Night Could Move Financial Plan. Only Two Feet From Wall

G. T. P. MUST PAY FOR STOCK FREQUENTLY BEATEN WITH GAD Says Mr. Fitzpatrick—Opposition Proposes Two Amendments Which are Defeated.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. Barker continued the discussion of the national transcontinental railway project. He contended that the bill as it stood would enable the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company to give $25,000,000 of its common stock to the Government, who some time ago said the Grand Trunk Pacific practically without any equivalent. The equivalent set forth in the bill was the concession "Rights, Powers and Privileges," but the companies were left free to put any value they saw fit upon these.

Mr. Barker closed by offering an amendment to the effect that the Grand Trunk Pacific must pay for this common stock either the cash or its equivalent. The contract as it stood provided clearly enough that the Grand Trunk must pay for this stock in the ordinary way. He had no doubt at all that the Grand Trunk Pacific would receive for this common stock either the cash or its equivalent.

Mr. R. L. Borden said that he had the greatest respect for the opinions of the Government, who some time ago said the Grand Trunk Pacific practically without any equivalent. The contract as it stood provided clearly enough that the Grand Trunk must pay for this stock in the ordinary way. He had no doubt at all that the Grand Trunk Pacific would receive for this common stock either the cash or its equivalent.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that there was no occasion at all for such a provision. The contract as it stood provided clearly enough that the Grand Trunk must pay for this stock in the ordinary way. He had no doubt at all that the Grand Trunk Pacific would receive for this common stock either the cash or its equivalent.

Mr. Fitzpatrick contended that the Grand Trunk Pacific could make an agreement as to what the latter company would pay for the common stock. Both companies would then testify that the bargain was a fair one, and a commission in the amount of 10 per cent would be paid to the Government.

Both of these proposed amendments were held over for consideration. Some non-contentious clauses of the bill were passed, and the House adjourned at 11:50 p.m.

TOOK A SUPPLY TO THE SEASIDE.—A Toronto mother who has brought up babies on life-giving Lactated Food writes thus: "This summer we decided to go to one of the St. Lawrence seaside resorts for a month or six weeks. Before leaving I made up my mind to take with me a good supply of Lactated Food for my baby boy, two months old. At the seaside, baby's diet day and night was Lactated Food, on which he made wonderful progress, and we brought him back to Toronto strong and healthy. I can say with confidence, recommending Lactated Food as the best nourishment for babies. This is my experience after having used it for three children."

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND Gives New Life, Health and Vigor to Tired, Weak and Discouraged Women. Cures Functional Irregularities. Makes Sick People Well.

New York, Sept. 15.—Chained to the floor of a room in her home, within 20 miles of this city, a young woman has lived a captive of her own mother for six long, weary years. During all that time she has but once been beyond the confines of that one little room that serves as her prison, and that was one day four years ago when she made her escape for a few hours.

The girls' liberty is limited to the length of a clanking chain, and that measures just 2 1/2 feet from the point where it is padlocked around her body to the end that is fastened to the floor with heavy iron staples. In all the years of her captivity she has seen nothing of the world beyond the little glimpses that may be had from two small windows of her prison room.

The captive woman is Margaret Ryan, and her mother is Ann Ryan. Their home is a little frame house on a steep hillside, just north of Croton Lake. There the family have lived almost from the time they came to this country from Ireland, more than 20 years ago.

Margaret is now 20 years old, but captivity has dealt unkindly with her, and she might easily be mistaken for twice that age. About seven years ago she displayed symptoms of mild insanity. Her father, John Ryan, a contractor in Westchester County, had died several years before, leaving the little farm and some money to the widow and daughter. After his death the two lived in the little cottage at the mouth of "Dismal Hollow."

For the first year after the girl's mind became affected she gave her mother no trouble, but finally she got into the habit of running away from home. It was then that the chain was brought into use. Mrs. Ryan had it forged at a smithy near by, and bought a big padlock with which to fasten it to the girl's body. Chain and lock together weigh nearly 20 pounds. One end of the chain was securely fastened to the oak floor, just where it meets the wall. Around the girl's waist the mother put a heavy piece of leather with an iron ring in the middle, and to this the other end of the chain was locked.

When a reporter entered the prison room yesterday the captive made an effort to conceal the evidences of her captivity, but the clanking iron links betrayed her. When her simple mind discovered that her captivity was no longer a secret she asked, pleadingly: "Have you come to set me free?"

And then the mother explained that for six years the girl's one constant plea has been for her liberty. "But I cannot let her free, for she will not stay at home," said Mrs. Ryan. "As long as I keep her chained here I know that she is not running away the minute I leave the house. When she gets into one of her tantrums I have to punish her. There would be no living in the same house with her if I did not use this gad on her pretty regularly." And Mrs. Ryan displayed a stout switch of hickory that had been frayed at the small end by the frequency of its use.

"Yes, and you know you are cruel to me," pathetically came from the lips of the captive at the end of the chain. "You know often beat me when I have done nothing for a faultier."

DOG CHASE IN CHURCH

Panic Among Worshipers as He Flew Through the Aisles.

Syracuse, Sept. 15.—A supposed mad dog caused a panic in St. Mary's Church on Sunday while mass was being celebrated. The congregation was startled by a series of yelps and men shouted and women screamed as a big dog dashed up the aisle and tried to hide himself in the sounding board of the pulpit. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. John Grimes, started after the cur, followed by Dr. P. J. Gibbons and a dozen others, and there was great commotion as they flew up and down the aisles. Finally Dr. Gibbons threw a rug over the dog's head and grasped him by the throat. The animal was taken to the police station, where his tag number was looked up and his owner sent for.

POISON THAT KILLS POISON.

June is a big white mare of Boulogne stock, and for four years now her unique business in life has been to give from 20 to 25 quarts of her blood every month—some 250 gallons in all—enough to save the lives of 50,000 children stricken with diphtheria. M. Guerin says she hasn't her equal in the stables for a steady yield of high-class serum in this respect. It appears, there is a great difference in horses; some will give good serum for only a few months, and some none at all.

I asked M. Guerin how much time elapses between the first inoculation and the first yield of serum. "It varies with the kind of serum," he said. "If I should take a fresh horse today and begin inoculating him with diphtheria poison I ought to get serum from him in about five months. But he would not yield lockjaw serum before seven months, nor pleuro-pneumonia serum before seven months."

"How often," I asked, "are the horses inoculated during these months of preparation?" "Twice a week, with increasing doses, until they can finally take without harm in each dose enough of the poison to kill scores of horses not inoculated. A fully immunized diphtheria horse, for instance, will take enough diphtheria poison every month to kill 1,400 ordinary horses, and will fully-immunized lockjaw horses will take enough lockjaw poison every month—the thing seems incredible—to kill 10,000 ordinary horses, and he finds it merely a matter of routine to take enough of the immunity even further than that if there were need of it."

"And when this high immunity is once established?" "Then the horse is ready to yield anti-toxine serum, but to keep him so rounds of applause by the first ride made on Yellowjacket in the first heat of the three-quarter mile run. There were six entries, and considerable time was lost in getting them away. Yellowjacket came to the front like a flash, with Glenmore a length further back and Longbrooke a close third. The first horse led all the way around the track and was given a warm run in the stretch. Glenmore walks home on the second heat, with Frisco second and Representative third. It was too late to run the third heat and today Glenmore and Frisco will contest for first place. The summary:

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF THE GREAT SHOW; THE WESTERN FAIR NOW IN FULL SWING

3 mile dash, 2 in 3, catch weights—Glenmore, S. Arnold, Blenheim, 2 1/2; Frisco, E. C. Anderson, Edgeway, 2; DeLynn, M. C. Clay, Fingal, 3 1/2; Representative, T. Coventry, Woodstock, 4; Frisco, E. C. Anderson, Edgeway, 4 1/2; Longbrooke, E. Kilbourn, Thornedale, 5 1/2; Yellowjacket, Clay & Donnelly, 6 1/2.

THE FIREWORKS.

In the evening the platform performance of the afternoon was repeated before a large crowd, being supplemented by a display of fireworks under the direction of Prof. Hand, whose name is synonymous with the best goods in pyrotechnics. All descriptions of fireworks were shown, and many new ideas have been introduced since last year. The feature of the display is a magnificent representation of the battle of Alexandria. The scene is a truly grand and amid to miss the fireworks would be missing a great deal. Many various emblems such as "Good Night," "Kings" and "Good Night," were given.

THE MAIN BUILDING

Much to be Found There to Interest the Visitors.

"MADE IN CANADA."

These are the words printed on tasty cards and attached to beautiful and worthy exhibits, which everywhere attract the eye in the main building on the fair grounds. No better proof is obtainable of the hold the "Made in Canada" idea has upon Canadians than those signs. And an examination of the various exhibits can lead to but one conclusion: that Canadian manufacturers and workmen have reached such a degree of excellence in their various lines that they have no more to learn from their neighbors to the south, or people elsewhere.

Entering the main building by the west door the entire left section of the building, with the exception of one exhibit devoted to pianos, organs, music and musical instruments, and all the latest popular pieces are rendered by first-class players on first-class instruments. "Made in Canada." It is no exaggeration to say the piano exhibit this year exceeds anything heretofore seen at the Western, and indeed it is a credit both to the big show itself and to the exhibitors.

Coming around to the south section, there are splendid exhibits of office furniture and necessities, all tastefully displayed, and for the most part bearing the legend, "Made in Canada." On this side there are also electrical apparatus and appliances, and when lit up at night the effect is charming. There are also pianos, stoves, fans, and miscellaneous exhibits, which are very creditable to the men who brought them.

In the center section there are beautiful displays of soap, tea, rubber goods, metallic goods for ceilings, and the like, foods, and so on. An interesting exhibit in the center section, too, is that of a local cigar manufacturer, where fragrant weeds are made in full view of admiring audiences of men and boys.

The upstairs portion is not quite filled, but there are many exhibits worth a visit. One of these is that of the C. P. R., showing various kinds of grain grown in the Golden West, together with handsomely framed views of points of interest along the line of the road through Western Canada.

Upstairs there are also first-class exhibits of furniture, kitchen utensils, sewing machines, antiquities, works of art, etc. There is a very fine display, too, of articles made by students in the manual training classes of the Normal School, feats of carpentering and so on being shown, which would do credit to expert mechanics.

In the arts annex downstairs all available space is taken up, and interested visitors fill the building all the while. There are some very nice crayon reproductions, as well as many excellent and clever original ones. And what is true of the crayon works is also true of the oil and water colors, many of which bear witness to the art and refinement of the people of the district.

plied the greatest share of the room and the exhibits were quite up to the standards of former years, here were no "made in Canada" labels on the exhibits of preserved fruits. These were in the glass refrigerator—a well-adapted building within a building. The butter-making took place in a less-than-clean room, all was ready for the tests to be made during the week.

THE SAME OLD STORY

Every Rooster in the Poultry Hall Tries to Make the Most Noise.

The same old story has to be told of the poultry hall. There are hundreds of roosters in the cages, and each seems to be vying with his neighbor in an effort to make the greatest noise. It is music to the ears of the chicken fanciers. To the ears of others it could hardly be called such.

There are big birds and little birds; black birds and white birds; black-headed birds and birds with heavily-feathered legs—in short every variety of poultry that is worthy of space in the fancier's run.

It is estimated that there are between twelve and sixteen hundred birds in the cages this year. It cannot be said that the display is better than in 1902. As far as the entries are concerned, the number is not so advanced. They may not be quite as advanced, in fact; but all of the best known fanciers are again represented. The White Rocks, Wyandottes, Leghorns and Hamburgs are the leafiest classes in the larger breeds, while the fancy breeds are the most numerous.

Water-fowl, such as ducks and geese, are a little scarce, but the usual something which cannot be explained by those in charge of the hall.

Is there anything in the quality of the exhibits? Little, if any, say those who should know. The fact of the matter is, that the poultry shown by fanciers on this section, and particularly by some Londoners, has reached such a high standard that there is not much room for improvement. This is acknowledged in all parts of America, where London birds have been shown, and it is corroborated by the sweeps which Londoners make wherever they exhibit.

A HALL BEAUTIFUL

The Cream of the Garden and Greenhouse in the Horticultural Building.

Under the skillful management of Chairman Gammage and Superintendent Mitchell the horticultural building has been transformed into a veritable "Hall beautiful." All day Monday a steady stream of flower lovers passed through the big hall. The season's exhibit in point of the number of plants displayed surpasses that of any former fair. In fact there is hardly sufficient space to do justice to all many plants being necessarily hidden away, overshadowed by those of larger type. Of palms and ferns there are an especially fine lot while begonias, calceolarias and geraniums are noticeable both for quantity and quality.

Perhaps the feature of this exhibit is that of the London Horticultural Society. The members have come forward willingly and liberally with the best that their gardens and conservatories could supply, and have been given the place of honor in the center of the hall. On a large stand, surrounded by a magnificent price list, is a display of the society's plants. These are not for competition, the object of the display being rather to acquaint Londoners with the local products of the horticultural society.

Every flower is represented, from the democratic and sober sunflower to the aristocratic and gorgeous gladiolus and the most delicate of the orchids. The exhibit is entirely presents a striking and fascinating picture and will undoubtedly become one of the greatest attractions of the fair. But a small section of the fruit display was in readiness Monday owing to some delay in the arrival of the Niagara district entries, but it is expected that today will see everything prepared for the judging.

IN THE AGRICULTURAL HALL

Products of the Farm Are Shown—The Dairy Exhibit.

Agricultural products are well represented this year. In the large section of the building in which agriculture, horticulture and dairy products have space devoted to them, are to be found these products of the farm. From end to end are large tables heavily laden with vegetables, roots and grain.

The honey exhibit is one of the features of the exhibition. Hundreds of pounds of this table delicacy are shown, and the manner in which the honey is put up is indeed attractive. Much of it is in bottles, placed pyramid-like and in numerous other styles. The clarity of it is appetizing and with the cleanliness which marks each exhibit, the honey is certainly worth seeing. The comb honey is also in evidence. The bees shown at work were a center of attraction to the numerous visitors to the agricultural building.

In the center at the entrance is an exhibit which would lead one to think that the potato crop could not be so very good and this year after all these are especially good ones. The tomatoes follow and a fine collection there is. Other small vegetables take up a great deal of table room. Then on the north side of the building are the turnips and mangels. Among some of these monsters are to be found the sugar beets, which so much has been heard in recent years. The children who had been told by their up-to-date teachers of the manufacture of beet sugar, were more attracted than anybody else. Speaking of the children, the agricultural building was again demonstrated to be of educational value during Children's Day, brought visits from many of the youngsters. One exhibit that drew attention was a collection of vegetables, including everything from the smallest variety of pickling onion to the largest pumpkin.

In the south wing of the building were the dairy products. Cheese occupied the greatest share of the room and the exhibits were quite up to the standards of former years, here were no "made in Canada" labels on the exhibits of preserved fruits.

When they left for home they were a good many who were tired and most were satisfied.

Exhibits of Merit. A SPECIAL MAGNET. One of the towering attractions that catches your eye as soon as you enter the main building is the striking pyramids that surround the Cornstarch Soap booth. Yesterday the children swarmed and buzzed around it, blocking their way on all sides, and raising their voices in their enthusiasm for the music, cards, books, and other pleasant souvenirs so freely distributed. Children are proverbially honest critics, and their frank comments were as entertaining to the bystanders in many cases as the performance of the grand stand.

The guessing contest as to the weight of the mammoth "Cake of Comfort" in a feature of prominent interest in this exhibit, and the small fry were duly impressed by its vast dimensions. "Timmy" Gee, it's corker. "Bet it weighs most half a ton." "Golly, they must have 'smoked' up when they made that, eh?" and so on all afternoon. When they left for home they were a good many who were tired and most were satisfied.

When the Lamp of Life Burns low the strain on all the delicate organs of the body is very great. The stomach and bowels are weakened, the liver more sluggish, Constipation paves the way for dreaded kidney and liver diseases.

Quebec, Sept. 14.—Among the abundant proofs forthcoming that Lumbago is caused by Uric Acid in the blood, is the case of John Ball, bricklayer of 57 Little Champlain street, this city. Mr. Ball makes the following statement:

"I had been troubled with Lumbago for two years and could not do my work. I was also suffering from Urinary Troubles, and had to rise so often that my rest was spoiled. One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me, and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

One of the best attractions on the Midway is the Electric Theater. The mammoth Texas steer in a tent at the south end. From here it goes to the St. Louis World's Fair.

the greatest satisfaction last year when it was viewed by thousands of visitors. It has been considerably enlarged since then, the proprietors having added the National Dance of Japan, the Oriental Dance, and several other dances, which must be seen to be appreciated. The Jolly Four are with them again, entertaining the people on the outside. Visitors who fail to see it will miss one of the best attractions on the grounds.

THE NORDHEIMER PIANO.

Quality of tone is what tells in the selling capacities of the Nordheimer piano. There's a great difference in quality—a difference in price—a difference in tone. True tells the story. It tells you the real value of the cheap piano. A thoroughly good piano will last a lifetime with proper care. A good piano costs more than a poor one—it's worth more. Nordheimer pianos have stood the test of time and proven their real value. The exhibit of this firm is a masterpiece of art and science, designed by the music-lovers already. It is located on the ground floor of the main building in the northeast corner where, and is perfectly arranged in keeping with the quality of the exhibit, which includes one Steinway Grand, one Haines piano and eight handsome Nordheimer instruments, besides a Chase & Baker, piano player, Mr. James J. Callaghan, general manager of the London branch, is efficiently assisted. The Steinway Grand, being the first ever exhibited at the Western Fair, is naturally a great attraction, but the Nordheimers are also superb in finish as well as rich and beautiful in tone. One entirely new design is called the Art Nouveau, and is perfect in every way. Mr. T. C. Wright, the city manager, invites all interested in music to visit the exhibit, which is located in the street, where they have an equally large display of pianos on view.

GENUINE HEINTZMAN PIANOS.

Among the many excellent piano exhibits in the main building there is one which stands out above all others, and that is the magnificent display of genuine Heintzman pianos, the London manager for which is the popular Mr. John A. Croden. Even in the din of the building the magnificent tones of the genuine Heintzman pianos attract the visitors above all other quality above all has been the motto of the Heintzman people, and their magnificent instruments are famed from one end of the Dominion to the other for depth and purity of tone, and exquisite workmanship. Indeed, to own a genuine Heintzman piano is to own a home a distinguished mark of culture and refinement which is patent to all. Among the pianos shown in the main building are the Heintzman, which is a face-simile of a piano made expressly for the Prince and Princess of Wales. The latter is finished in Spanish mahogany and is perhaps the most elaborate in all details of any piano ever turned out in Canada. There are also a number of ionics, dories, and a very beautiful Baby Grand, the latter being purchased by Miss Minnie Raymond, the well-known local musician. Indeed as a whole the exhibit of Heintzmans is a credit to the fair as well as to the exhibitors.

CAMPBELL'S CARRIAGES.

"Made in London" is the card which attracts the eye on the beautiful exhibit of carriages and buggies of the John Campbell & Sons' Company, of London, the best of the main entrance in the transportation building. An exquisite piece of workmanship in the carriage line shown by the Campbell's is a really superb phaeton, decidedly stylish, and a most useful high-grade trap. There is also a beautiful Leitor, as well as the Stangeo, and the latest improvements of the carriage makers' art. Then there are the ever-popular Kenniths, and Delaware perogues, as well as the Stanhope and other excellent buggies. Campbell's cutters are known and appreciated all over Canada, and the Stangeo and other sleighs shown this year are of the usual high order. Visitors to the exhibit are warmly welcomed.

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." A Canadian Nurse Takes Poison In New York. New York, Sept. 15.—Miss May Allen Langford a trained nurse 21 years old, who boarded with Mrs. Geo. Gerst, at 19 Oakland street, Greenpoint, committed suicide by swallowing strychnine in coffee. She was a native of Wellington, Ont., where it is said she had influential relatives. Her father died fourteen years ago, and two years later, when the widow remarried, Miss Langford became estranged from her mother and left home to become a trained nurse. Lately she had difficulty in obtaining engagements, and worried because she owed Mrs. Gerst for board.

"Oh," she continued, with a fond look, while she massaged Miss McAlister's shoulder, "I believed I never loved you half as well in the old days as I do now—at least, I did not realize it then as now. And how kind was you and Ina to keep my rooms for me! It gives me such a restful, peaceful feeling to be here once more. "Dear child," and she was glad to have you here!" murmured Miss McAlister, with fast-falling tears.

CHAPTER XXXVI

True to her promise, Miss McAlister sent a messenger early the next morning to inform Lady Elaine of Arley's return; but to the great disappointment of the whole family, he brought back word that Lady Elaine had gone to Hazelmere for a couple of days, to give directions regarding the returning of the furniture.

But Sir Anthony was delighted to hear of her arrival, and sent a messenger to inform her that he had finished his breakfast, and he was as good as his word, for in less than an hour he was in Miss McAlister's room, and his face betrayed genuine pleasure as he greeted Arley, for she had been quite in a favorite with him at the time of the "Well, well, Miss Arley—excuse me—Mrs. Paxton," he said, shaking her warmly by the hand, "it really does me good to see you again. But how you have changed! For the better, if you will allow me to say it."

Arley was amazed and admiring from her flushed, smiling face over her lips, graceful figure. "And so you have concluded to let your husband come home, and extend your travels—these husbands have to attend to business in order to make money for their wives to spend, eh?" he continued, "Oh, you needn't blush about it child; it was all right enough for you to see more of the world, and you could stand it to be separated from that handsome chap. Philip told me all about it—said you had met some friends who were going to take you about more. He—Philip was quite neighborly for a while after his return; he used to come down to spend an evening here and play chess with mother, but I haven't seen him at all lately; some one told me, though, that he was over-run with business, so I suppose he hasn't had time to visit. However, I suppose you know all about it, and he must be glad to have you at home once more."

THE TURF

Reedville, Mass., Sept. 14.—Although weather and track conditions were distasteful to the spectators, the Calgary Polo team failed to beat Lou Dillon's two-minute record today, principally through poor pace-making. The going, with the assistance of an auto for the first half and running horse in the second, covered the mile in 2:00.3-4, which is a record for the distance.

Numerous are the remedies, but the one most commonly used is Catarrhine. It cures these diseases because it is sure to reach them. Catarrhine is inhaled into the lungs, throat and nasal passages, and bathes every part of the diseased membrane with its germ-killing, healing vapor. You simply breathe Catarrhine and it cures. This is only part of a concerted move which is being made all over the circuits of the two big leagues, and can have but one object—the certainty of a post-season series of comprehensive character between the leagues at the close of the playing season of 1904.

Polo. Calgary loses the first. Toronto, Sept. 14.—Rochester defeated Calgary by 8 to 6 in the polo match here this afternoon. The Rochester ponies, which arrived by post Sunday, were much fresher than those of their opponents, who had an eleven-day journey by rail. TORONTO PAIR ECHOES.

Toronto Telegram: Can nothing be done to kill off exhibition tramps? One girl in the women's building took at least $100 in prizes. She is showing both at Ottawa and London. Her livelihood is made by exhibiting at fairs.

She and others are making a specialty of deterring many who might be exhibitors from entering for competitions. Would it not be wisest to prohibit the same individual from entering for more than three competitions?

A lady visitor, while making the round of the women's building, met with a surprise. She found a piece of lace she had made ticketed first prize and exhibited as being the property of a child who shall be nameless. The lady had presented the lace to the child's mother, who had then made use of it for the sake of the party she was to which prize amounted. Note should be taken of this, lest a similar proceeding happen again.

DANCE IN NEW FACTORY

Mr. D. S. Perrin Entertainers Employes and Friends—500 There.

The new factory of the D. S. Perrin Company was a scene of gaiety last night when the third floor was given over for dancing, about five hundred people being present. With all this great number there was no crowding, for the room was the length of the building, or from Dundas to Carling street. It was a magnificent place to dance and the floor was well waxed.

The comedy work which formerly fell to the male members of the cast has been transferred to the female members, notably Miss Stella Mayhew, who is being featured in the production. For this alone the changes were well worth while. Miss Mayhew is good.

In fact, Miss Mayhew is very good. She is a natural comedienne, possesses spontaneity, vivacity and excellent stage presence. She possesses the knack of getting into an intimate relationship with her audience. Miss Mayhew made an instantaneous hit last night, and her performance in Act II, carried the house by storm. Dainty Josephine Floyd, well-known to Londoners, and with whom Miss Mayhew in the attendance, got all there was to be extracted out of a small part, and danced and sang her way into the affections of the audience. Messrs. Mylie, Forrester and Haigh were funny, but when there can be no greater compliment than to say that a performance is sweet, toned, rounded and mellow, if lacking in strength, and of course caught the gallery in a "Psyche." Miss Perrin, who gave the dance to his employees and their friends was present to participate in the evening. Those who had charge of the arrangements were: Wm. Evans, J. T. May, Chas. McNeill, W. J. Knott and T. W. McFarland.

AT THE THEATRES

Miss Mayhew in Show Girl Makes Hit at the Grand

Vaudeville at Opening Performance of the London.

Whitney's "Show Girl," that tumultuous and fascinating bit of femininity, came to town yesterday for a three nights' engagement at the Grand. She is the same old "Girl," loaded to the gills with fun and frolic, quite as charming and graceful as of yore, and if the reception accorded her by a crowded house last night is any criterion, has lost nothing in popularity.

Since its last appearance here the play has been mentioned to some extent. Fortunately it is of the elastic type of drama with which liberties can be taken more or less freely. Some of the comedy work which formerly fell to the male members of the cast has been transferred to the female members, notably Miss Stella Mayhew, who is being featured in the production. For this alone the changes were well worth while. Miss Mayhew is good.

NOTHING IN IT

Report of Strathcona's Retiring is Untrue.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The report that Lord Strathcona is to resign the High Commissionership and will be succeeded by Mr. Sifton may be dismissed as unworthy of serious attention. There is only one thing that but apparently the Minister of the Interior has been reported to have resigned, but apparently the Minister of Interior does not suffer so much from this cause as he formerly did.

DICKENS' BIRTHPLACE

An Effort is Being Made to Have It Preserved.

London, Sept. 14.—The very latest agitation respecting "Dickens' relics" relates to the novelist's birthplace. An effort is being made to purchase the house at No. 387 Commercial road, Portsmouth, where Charles Dickens was born. The house is to be sold by auction next month, and there is a strong feeling in the town that the building should be bought by private treaty for the purposes of a museum.

Two schemes toward this end have been suggested. One is that the Dickens Fellowship should provide the necessary money out of its funds, and the other that the municipality should find the money.

Forster, in his "Life of Dickens," makes the following interesting reference to the novelist's birthplace: "He has often told me that he re-
