CAPT. SALMON'S GASE

Mr. Ames Moves For All Documents Relating to Dismissal.

Seen Tampered With and Bestrainer in the Execution of His Duties By

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—H. B. Ames, member for St. Antoine division, Montreal, made his maiden speech in the House yesterday, dealing logically and forcefully with the dismissal of Capt. R. Salmon, former Wreck Commissioner in the Department of Marine and Fisheries. He moved for conject of all correspondents. ment of Marine and Fisheries. He moved for copies of all correspondence, telegrams, etc., which passed between the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, or any other official of the department and Capt. Salmon, in the matter of the Canada-Cape Breton investigation, and the resignation of Capt. Salmon from his position as Wreck Commissioner.

Capt. Salmon's Stery.

Mr. Area told of Capt. Salmon

Mr. Ames told of Capt. Salmon being ordered to investigate the ac-cident, and of that officer's duly op-ening of a court of enquiry under or-der from the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Counsel for the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company declined the invitation to submit evidence to Capt. Salmon's court. Capt. Salmon went ahead with the examination of the crews of the two boats. On Sept. 26 he announc-ed that he would shortly render a

On Oct. 5 he gave judgment plac-ing the responsibility where he thought it belonged, and at the same time tendered his resignation and gave his re sons therefor resignation was the result of cer-tain things which took place be-tween Sept. 26, the day of the an-nouncement that a decision would be shortly rendered, and Oct. 5, the date of the decision and resignation.

Capt. Salmon made the direct charge that he had been tampered with, and restrained in the execution of his duty by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. On Sept. 26 the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company asked for the re-opening of the case. Capt. Salmon acceded to the request and granted a delay of seven days before rendering his decision.

On Sept. 29 he received a communication from Mr. Archer, one of the counsel for the Richelies & Ontario, and forming one of Mr. Prefontaine's law partners, requesting him to accept a typewritten statement of evidence taken before the Admiratty Court at Quebec. Capt. Salmon refused it. Then followed pressure from the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Capt. Salmon was ordered not to give his decision till he heard from the department. According to the statement that accompanied his resignation, he was asked by the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries what his probable verdict would be, and was further told that it might be advisable to consult counsel for the R. & O. before rendering his decision.

consult counsel for the R. & O. be-fore rendering his decision.

He criticized strongly the action of the Department in interfering with an officer who was acting in the capacity of a judge. The effect of the Departen confidence in the administration of Canada's water routes, and prevent any reduction in marine insurance rates, Canada's marine courts are degraded in the sight of the world, declared Ald, Ames.

Mr. Prefentaine's Defence.

Mr. Prefontaine took the ground that Capt. Salmon was not holding a court, and that he was merely conducting a preliminary investigation as an officer of the Department. He read from the Shipping and Casualties Act to prove that such was the status of Capt. Salmon in the enoughy.

ties Act to prove that such was the status of Capt. Salmon in the enquiry.

Asked for a copy of the instructions under which Capt. Salmon conducts the enquiry. Mr. Prefontaine replied that they would be brought down later. He contended that Capt. Salmon was prejudiced against the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., and quoted from the latter's decision in proof of this theory. When the Admiratity Court at Quebec rendered judgment in the case of the Canada and the Cape Breton, Mr. Prefontaine said he felt justified in ordering Capt. Salmon to suspend the investigation. Mr. Prefontaine declared that all the trouble was due to Capt. Salmon's ignorance of the statute under which he was acting Inspertasse of a Decument.

Mr. Monk echoed the feeling of the Opposition side of the House when he emphasized the importance of the document which authorized Capt. Salmon to proceed with the investigation. He reminded the House that two or three years ago, Mr. Prefontaine had praised Capt. Salmon to the skies.

"I didn't know him then," said Mr. Prefontaine.

"Then you shouldn't have gone so far in praising him," was Mr. Monk's response.

He regarded it as significant that response.

He regarded it as significant that Mr. Prefontaine, in defending himself some weeks ago against Capt. Salmon's charges, did not suggest that the investigation was a "preliminary" one. Why, he asked, did the Deputy Minister try to dissuade Capt. Salmon from rendering a decision, and why did he ask that official to see counsel for the R. & O.?

Mr. Monk claimed that Capt. Sal-men was acting under a much wider statute than that quoted by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Rodolphe Forget, Conservative member for Charlevoix, supported Mr. Prefontaine's contention. The four counsels employed by the R. & O. were recognized as the best marine lawyers in Canada. lawyers in Canada.

Whereis Misister Was Careful.

Mr. Haggart pointed out that the Minister had been careful not to pro duce the instructions to Capt. Sal-mon, which would show whether the investigation was preliminary or formal. The question before the House, he said, was not the merits House, he said, was not the merits of the case but the interference of the Minister of Marine with an officer authorized by law to conduct an enquiry into a casualty. Why, he asked, should the Minister suggest that other evidence be heard, or that the judgment be delayed? It was plainly a case of tampering with an official enquiry on the part of the Minister and his Deputy. Mr. Prefontaine also attacked his own judge on being unfitted for his position, but the evidence he offered on that point was letter's furnished after he had dismissed Capt. Salmon, and then, conmissed Capt. Salmon, and then, con-tinued Mr. Haggart, there was the mean insinuation of the Minister that this honest officer was to-day in a this honest officer was to-day in a state of vagrancy in New York. Such was the result of a man exercising his independent judgment. The warning was plain to all other officers. Don't dare to exercise your independent judgment because the Minister of Marine may think differently, and you may become a wanderer in the streets of New York.

Mr. Ames closed the debate. He wanted to know how the Minister became aware that a judgment was going to be given which would pre-judice one of the parties of the case, unless he had interfered during the enquiry. He also quoted from eulogistic references to Capt. Salmon, made by the Minister of Marine him-self, in the House last year, when he referred to Capt. Salmon as a very efficient officer whose services had been secured after prolonged search and careful enough. and careful enquiry.

Make Explosives Here.

Militia estimates were under discussion in the House last night.

Col. Fowler asked if it was the intention of the Government to es-intention of the Government to establish another arsenal.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that such was the intention, and he hoped before the end of the session to supply further information and perhaps a contract. It was desirable that ammunition should be manufactured at more than one place, and that one place should be in the vicinity of Ottawa. All explosives, he said, should be manufactured in Canada.

Canada.

Col. Fowler suggested that the Government should manufacture all ammunition, which would ensure a first-class article.

The Minister thought this a good time to encourage orivate capital,

The Minister thought this a good time to encourage private capital, especially in the manufacture of explosives. The railway building that is going on in Canada would provide a good market.

In reply to a question from Col. Fowler, Sir Frederick stated that the Government had not been advised of say changes recarding the ed of any change regarding the gar-rison at Halifax.

Mr. Osler protested against the de-secration of the Plains of Abraham and their historic environment by a water tower of the Ross Rifle Company's works being erected on top of one of the old martelle towers. Sir Frederick Borden regretted the offence to Mr. Osler's aesthetic taste and promised to see if the matter could not be remedied.

OFFICERS ARE NOW LEGAL

Public Library Board at Last Re-organize According to the Statutes

Dr. Charteris thinks Obedience to the Law is " a Petty Thing to Kick up a Row About. "

The Public Library Board has at ast got its officers properly and legally elected and is fairly launched on the business of the year.

As was announced in The Planet couple of days after the last meeting the chairman and officers were improperly and illegally elected. According to the statute the officers should be elected at the meeting in February.

February.

J. W. Humphrey, the supposed chairman elect, keenly felt the awk-wardness of his position so he wrote about the matter to the Minister, of Education and received the reply that he was not legally the chairman of the Chatham Public Library Board Mr. Humphrey brought the matter up before the Board himself.

Mr. Sheldrick, Mr. Stone and Mr. Twohey were of the opinion that the officers had been illegally elected but Dr. Charteris thought that the Board had acted properly at its last meeting.

Mr. Humphrey (the supposed chair man-elect)—Couldn't some one make a motion to the effect that the officers elected at the last meeting be elected at this meeting?

Mr. Stone moved that the action taken at the last meeting be confirmed. This was seconded by S. M. Smith and carried.

Dr. Charteris—It is a petty thing to kick up a row about.

It was also discovered that the Separate School Board had re-appointed Mr. Twohey instead of Mr. Thibodeau. Mr. Twohey's term does not end until next year, while Mr. Thibodeau's term is up this year. This mistake, however, will be rectified at the next meeting of the Separate School Board.

The Quebec, Royal and Sovereign Banks, through which the forged cheques were cashed, are released of liability, Justice Anglin holding that the acceptance of the cheques when they came through the clearing house by the Bank of Montreal led others to believe that the cheques were good.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1905. CHARGES WERE PROVEN.

The independent Toronto News endeavors to correct a mis-statement which has been used by Liberal jourmals of all classes, in their endeavor to account for the wholesale hammering of the Ross government. The News says Those Liberals who say that the government "went down before a campaign of slander" are needlessly adding humiliation to defeat. The charges that were laid before the people were not trumped up stories, but were based upon judgments of the courts and admitted facts. They were not personal slanders. The responsibility that was placed upon the ministers was a political responsibility, and it was upon public grounds that they were condemned. It was quite legitimate for their friends to try to minimise their responsibility, but upon public grounds it was better that the largest and strictest views of responsibility should be held, so that a salutary precedent should be recorded. On reflection, Liberals may conclude that it was worth while suffering defeat for the purpose of asserting the principle of freedom of elections, which is surely a Liberal principle. The thousands of Liberals who voted against the government must have been habitual readers of Liberal papers, and have had before them every possible answer and defense to the charges. They were not new charges or roorbachs, but charges that had been thoroughly discussed for weeks and months before the election. Noth- tributing $10,000 a week to the striking is further from the truth to say that the people were carried off their feet by slander.

If Hon. G. W. Ross, ex-premier, has allowed the barnacles to so run his government and the once popular Reform principles that were handed ap to him, into disrepute, as shown by the vote of yesterday, he deserves all he got. It was his procrastination in bringing on the election in this county that was the cause for losing it and the dirty, contemptible way that the people who worked were deprived of their hard-earned pay in this riding is a sample that things in general were not conducted as they should have been. We know of many letters that have been written to Hon, G. W. Ross from this riding complaining of this kind of work, and he was not the man to an swor one of these letters. There is always an end to such work.

tried every preparation recommended for the cure of piles, comes to the conclusion that there is no cure except by an operation and rather than undergo this "last resort" he suffers on, resigned to the situation, so far as may be. The attention of those interested is invited to the following experience.

"After ten years of suffering from blind, bleeding and protruding piles and after using every remedy I could hear of without any benefit, I finally bought a fifty cent bex of Pyramid Pile Cure and used it with such good results I bought next adollar box, which finished up the job. That was nearly six years ago and as far as piles is concerned I am cured, and have never felt a symptom of them since.

THE MEISTER SINGERS.

(At the Grand To-night-In Perfect Tane.)

Speaking of the Meister Glee Sing-ers, who made their first appearance in Toronto on Thanksgiving Night, the Toronto Globe says:-

"They discourse very eloquent and beautiful music. The four voices are exquisitely balanced in the ensemble, and the harmonies are rendered in what is known as just intonation, that is to say, they are in perfect tune with regard to the particular key in which the music is written, something impossible from a pianoforte or any instrument tuned on the equal temperament system. In regard to smoothness of tone, quality and intonation, the quartette may be compared to the Kneisel String Quarette, of Boston. The assisting artist was Mr. Roland Henry, an entertainer in the style of Grossmith, who, with the aid of a piano, which he played himself, highly amused the audience with his humorous sketches, the first of which was devoted to an illustration of the orchestral accompaniment to an up-to-date lurid melodrama."

Mr. Martin, the enterprising manager, has taken great pains in staging and producing the original version of Mrs. Stowe's beautiful story, every year trying to cutdo the previous. The company this season numbers over fifty people, twenty of which are colored, engaged to fill out the many pictures of the play and introduce their many old and new songs, dances and plantation shines. Two 70-foot Pullman palace cars are required to transport the people, scenery, thirty, head of horses, ponies, donkeys, six bloodhounds, log cabin floats, chariots, etc. A grand street parade given at 12 o'clock, sharp, starting from the theatre.

Born in Eastwell, in the County of Leicestershire, Eng., in 1841, he came to Hamilton, Ont., in 1861, where he met and married Ametia, eldest daughter of the late Thomas Davison. where he resided until his demise.

THEBES GLASS WORKERS. The High Art That Flourished Over

The glassblowers of ancient Thebes are known to have been equally as pro-ficient in that particular art as is the most scientific craftsman of the same trade of the present day, after a lapse of over forty centuries of so called "progress." They were well acquainted with the art of staining glass and are known to have produced that commodity in great profusion and perfection. Rossellini gives an illustration of a piece of stained glass known to be 4,000 years old which displayed artistic taste of high order, both in tint and design.

In this case the color is struck through the vitrified structure, and he mentions designs struck entirely in pieces from a half to three-quarters of an inch thick, the color being perfectly incorporated with the structure of the piece and exactly the same on both the byerse and reverse sides.

The priests of P'tah at Memphis were adepts in the glassmaker's art and not only did they have factories for manufacturing the common crystal variety, but they had learned the vitri-fying of the different colors and of imitating precious stones to perfection. Their imitations of the amethyst and of the various other colored gems were so true to nature that even how, after they have lain in the desert sands from 2,000 to 4,000 years, it takes an expert to distinguish the genuine articles from the spurious. It has been shown that, besides being experts in glassmaking and coloring, they also used the dia-mond in cutting and engraving. In the British museum there is a beautiful piece of stained glass with an engraved emblazonment of the monarch Thothmes III., who lived 3,400 years

GIRL'S SECRET.

"Aunt Cassie came to visit us and she saw I was nervous, had the fidgets all the time, and she asked me many questions, and finally said, 'Why, you dear, sweet girl, it's not your temper that's bad, it's your constitution that's out of kilter. You sit right down now and write a letter to Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., tell him all your symptoms —and so I did. It wasn't long before I had a long reply, carefully going over my case and telling me just what to Go. I date my present happiness and little Capid's return to the very day I sat down to write that letter to Dr. Pierce, for his advice was so good and his 'Favorite Prescription' worked such a complete change in me that now my former cheerfulness and good health—act to say snything of good looks—are restored to me. I have ammoned Tom back to my side and we are to be married in June."

The proprieters and makers of Doctor Pierce's Pavorite Prescription tow feel fully warranted in ghering to say too for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, which they cannot cure. All they sak is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure. It is natural that a woman who has been cured of womanly disease by "Favorite Prescription" should believe that it will cure others. It is natural too that she should recommend to other women the medicine which has cured her. It is nuck commendation which has made the name of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a household word for the past thirty-cight years.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL. the End of This Year 130 Miles of the Canal Will Be in Operation—How the Work Progresses.

while the citizens of Peterboro and district pride themselves upon the fact that the Trent Valley waterway is navigable the entire distance from Healey's Falls on the Trent River to the head of Balsam Lake, very few are aware that at the end of the present year about 130 miles of the canal will be ready, and that vessels from Barrie and other Lake Simcoe ports will be able to visit Peterboro. Yet such is the case.

ports will be able to visit Peterboro.

Mr. J. A. Aylmer of Peterboro, a member of the firm of Aylmer and Brown, who so successfully completed the section from Nassau to Lakefield, and who are in charge of the work on one section of the Balsam Lake and Lake Simcoe division, when seen recently, gave some interesting information about that part of the great waterway that should prove instructive, not only to the citizens of the district, but to the people of the Province remeably.

the Province generally.

The Balsam Lake and Lake Simon division is 18½ miles in length, and forms the connecting link between the two lakes. It is divided into three sections—section No. 1, from Balsam Lake to Kirkfield, a distance of about six miles, is already completed. The contract was let by the Conservative Government

The second section begins at Kirkfield, and extends to the boundary between Eldon and Thora Townships, a distance of seven miles. At Kirkfield a hydraulic lift lock, similar to the one at Peterboro, although the lift is 10 feet lower, is being constructed. The concrete substructure lift is 10 feet lower, is being constructed. The concrete substructure is already completed, and the contract for the placing of the iron works was let a short time ago to the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal, who installed the iron work on the lift lock. The cost of the lift lock will be about the same. The concrete work was not so costly, but the iron work will be more expended. but the iron work will be more expensive, making the total cost about

Mr. Aylmer states that the work on this section has been more difficult than on the division between Nassau and Lakefield, owing to the fact that the ground is composed of clay, which is very heavy to handle. Solar Eclipse.

The Government has approved of the despatch of a Canadian expedition to watch the total eclipse of the sun on August 30th next. Mr. W. F. King, chief astronomer, will have charge, and the Royal Astronomical Society will be invited to send six members to accompany the expedition. It is proposed to take photographic observations of the corona, also spectroscopic observations of the eclipse. The eclipse will last only two and a half minutes, so that everything must be in readiness for prompt action. The point selected is on the coast of Labrador, about 100 miles north of the Straits of Belle Isle, or on land if a suitable accessible place can be found. The Lick Observatory, California, will send three expeditions to observe the eclipse, one to Labrador, a second to Spain and a third to Egypt. The Caracgie Institute will also, take some magnetic observations. This is the first expedition of the kind which Canada has sent out. It will be provided with some special cameras, having long focus lenses and spectroscopes.

Paul Kruger, like Cecil Rhodes, was pre-eminently a product of South Africa, says The African Review. His life is a history of South Africa, equally with that of his great opponent. Just as in the spirit of Kruger, we see a concentration of that pastoral and narrow ideal of the Boer patriarch patriot, who would continue and perpetuate the crude farmer rule of his race, presenting an uncompromising barrier to modern industrial development, so Cecil Rhodes embodied in his person the advancement of science and son the advancement of science and industry and finance, which, together without question, form the ground work of modern political progress. The amenities of South African life and conditions made both these high and conditions made both these high personages the strenuous schemers they were. Paul Kruger's onstinacy and craft were opposed by Cecil Rhodes' masterfulness and genius. Neither has survived to behold the establishment of his ideal. If failure has attended the career of Kruger, has attended the career of Kruger, disappointment was in large measure the portion of Rhodes. Man proposes, and God disposes, and more particularly in the case of Paul Kruger has the disposal been very different to his design. Yet in the rugged and phlegmatic Boer President, the people of South Africa may find many of the makings of a national hero, for he fought a very good fight, and exhibited many of the qualities of which heroes are made. He was loyal to his race, and scorned to turn to his race, and scorned to turn back from the scheme which had as my, attest he never surged from per-sonal privation in his sacrifice. With the passing of Kruger the kestory of the Dutch in South Africa takes a rew phase; for in view of British rule and British sectlement and influence, it is not rash to predict that any unadulterated Dutch dominancy in South Africa is a vision of the past. It is well, as the last and the greatest of the old Boer rulers, that his remains be received with proper respect and reverence in the land of his memorable career.

In the Court of Session, Edinburgh, recently, Lord Low heard evidence in an action of declaration of marriage by Matilda Carruthers, or Armstrong, 86, Caledonia road, Glasgow, widow of Walter Armstrong, railway brakesman, who resided at the same address, against John Armstrong, joiner, Hillfoot, Eskdale Mains, Langholm, father of the deceased. The plaintiff said that Mr. Armstrong came to stay with her as ceased. The plaintiff said that Mr. Armstrong came to stay with her as a lodger at Christmas, 1898. About four months later he began courting her, and on May 4, 1899, they took one another as husband and wife before witnesses, each swearing on the Bible that they did so. Armstrong was killed in February of this year. It is not generally known that few words can boast of so remote and widely extended prevalence as "hur-rah." In India and Ceylon "ur-rej widely extended prevalence as "hurrah." In India and Ceylon "ur-rej re," which seems to be a form of "hurrah," is used by the mahouta and attendants on the baggage elephants. The Arabs and camel drivers of Egypt, Palestine and Turkey encourage their animals to renewed effort by cries of "Ar-re, ar-re!" The Spanish Moors use something of the same expression. In France the sportaman excites the hounds by the shouts of "Hare, hare!" and wag-oners turn their horses by crying "Harbauhi!" Irish and Scottish herdsmen shout "Hurrish, hurrish!" to their cattle. The exclamation is thought to be a corruption of the old Norsemen battle cry. "Tur-ale!" (Thor aid).

Thrice happy is the man who can take three square meals a day and enjoy every one of them. But in these days of bad teeth and quick lunches, how many people can do this? Can you? If you can't it's your own fault.

Modern science has overcome the handicaps of bad teeth, quick eating and scanty saliva. It has provided Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, the greatest help to the Stomach ever discovered. They centain the necessary ingredients for digestion; to put it in brief they digest the food while the Stomach rests and recuperates. That they are an easy and natural cure for all Stomach ailments anybody who thas used them will tell you. Louis M. Bourdeau, of St. Louise, N. B., says:

"I recommend anyone who suffers from Dyspepsia to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. I had it badly, and the doctors I consulted did me no good. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

While the constable was making the raid he left his over-coat in his cutter. When he came out the coat was gone. He raised a hue and cry and when he had creat-ed quite a fuss the taker of the coat got frightened and left it on the gate post of the Merlin minister's residence.

The police were actified two hours after the stabbing took place, and the friends of the injured man tried to get him into the hospital without a permit. Upon enquiry it was found that Christie had been in the asylum twice before, and that he might develop further tendencies at any time and that it was dangerous to allow him to remain on the premises so long as he imagined that he owned them. Out of consideration for the anfortunate wife and family Mr. Drader generously arranged to get him another house, paid a month's rent in advance for it and relinquished his claim for overdue rent and say nothing about the wood taken if Christie would move out.

Ohristie, however, who was not responsible, possity it declined to do anything of the kind, and in his own interests and the interests of the community Mr. Drader was forced to, take action. The case came up this morning before Judge Howlin, and, after hearing the evidence. Christie was committed to jail for three weeks to see if he will not get in a better state of health, mentally. In the meantime the family are being well looked after by charitable people in the city. A feature of this morning's case was the generous action of Mr. Drader and his witnesses in turning over their witnesses to the unfortunate wife.

A short interview with him on the much discussed question of the officialdom appears in the Toronto News as follows:

"Will any charge be made necessary in the officials?" Major Clark was asked.

"There will probably be no changes in the officials except those of the License Department, who can hardly be acceptable to a new Government, responsible for the enforcement of the law. The smaller officials were, as usual, active in the elections, but important officials, like the sheriff and registrar, took no part. There ought also to be a revision of the Commission of the Peace, as many J. P.'s now are either not qualified to hold that office or they avoid performing its duties."

to be at large, with a tendency to commit indictable offenses; and theft.

The prisoner was a tenant of W. M. Drader and for a time was in Mr. Drader's employ. While working he got rather peculiar and although he changed from one foreman to another, he could not get along with them, and quit. He was then out of work and couldn't pay his rent, and was also taking wood on the premises which he had leased from Mr. Drader.

Drader. Drader.

He eventually began to show symptoms of insanity. He claimed King Edward gave him the property and he had owned it for 16 years. He forbade other tenanis paying their rent except to him and claimed he owned the wood, heading and other lumber on the premises, ordering Mr. Drader's employes off.

YOUR VOICE.

Learn to Pitch, Moderate and Man-age It Properly. Harper's Bazar, referring to the voices of Americans, makes these per-tinent remarks: "In spite of the vast amount of perhaps kindly meant criticism which has been made in all quarters of late years regarding the American voice it certainly does not improve. It is the exception to find, especially in the middle west, an agreea-ble voice, and women are more faulty than men in this respect. It is urged that the rattle of the cars and the noises of all descriptions make it impracticable to use a smooth, pleasant intonation. One has to force a nasal tone, we are told, in order to be heard in the tumult which 'civilization' has raised around us. When one considers the charm which a sweet voice gives to its possessor one wonders at the gen-eral neglect of measures to obtain it. Complexions fade, dentists ruin beauti ful mouths, the eyes lose their glow, the chin and the neck crease and bulge -but the speaking voice shares with the nose the distinction of earthly immortality. It may weaken or crack somewhat with advanced age, but a thrilling speaking voice never wholly loses its power. Every one should de-termine that she will learn to pitch and modulate and manage her voice properly. Nearly every one has it in her power if she only chooses to attend to it."

COOKING OLD FOWLS.

Dishes For Which They Are Better Adapted Than Young Birds. Almost every housekeeper has been mortified and annoyed by a fine, plump fowl turning out so tough that the carver has found it next to impossible to serve it in the usual way, but not so many of them have discovered that if properly cooked an old bird is much better in some dishes than a young one. For soup, croquettes, tim-bales, rissoles, fricassee, pie or pates an old fowl, having more flavor and substance, is much better than a chick-en. For curried fowl, too, the bird no longer in its tender days is to be pre-ferred, but the meat should be very slowly stewed until tender before us ing it in any of these dishes. Occa-sionally one prefers to serve the fowl whole, and even in this way it is quite possible to make a toothsome dish of it if it is cooked with judg-ment. Have it trussed as for roasting, put it into a saucepan and cover with cold water, let it come slowly to the boiling point, skim well and let it cook very slowly for an hour and a quarter or an hour and a half. Take it out of the water, and let it cool a little, and then stuff it in the crop with any pre-ferred forcement.—Boston Cooking

Do not drop dirty, greasy dish towels in hot soapsuds. It only sets the grease. Wash them first in lukewarm

An old bookcase set on the kitchen table, back to the wall, makes a very respectable imitation of a kitchen cabinet and saves many steps. The range should be so located as to escape a draft sweeping over it. A gas range should always have a firm connection. A hood placed over the range is a great ventilator.

When tins are hard to wash, where food has burned on, like baked fish or oatmeal, put the dish on the stove, filled with cold water and half a teaspoonful of baking soda, and let it boil, and your dish will wash, and the odor fish will be gone.

The Uses of Responsibility. Every mother should remember that the making of her daughter is of far greater importance than the administration of things in her house, and every 'daughter should realize that she can learn to avoid mistakes only when she sees them. She enjoys most seeing her mother's mistakes and resolving that when she has a house she will "never do so." A beginning may be made with a small and comparatively unimportant responsibility, suggests Woman's Life, and it is to be remembered that responsibility and not mere work is the great thing. The very lit-tle girl may have the care of one plant, a hardy one, to begin with, but system and neatness may be practiced in its care to great advantage. If the plant should be a blooming one a small vase for the breakfast table would give an additional bit of care and pleasure to both child and parents.

Coffee, Chinese Style.

The Chinese method of infusing coffee in cold water is said to eliminate the tannic element. This method may be tried as a culinary experiment. The coffee will be found very strong and of a rich flavor. Put the usual amount of coffee, ground very fine, into cold water in a glass fruit jar. Cover tightly and let stand overnight. In the morning loosen the cover and set the jar in a vessel of hot water. Let the water boll until the coffee is piping hot, when strain into a hot coffeepot and send to the table. If wanted for after dinner coffee make the infusion early in the morning.

The Kitchen Table.

A sinc covered table is a convenience in the kitchen, as hot things can be set directly on to it, and it is easy to keep clean. Pine top tables look spick and span when they are scrubbed carefully, but that means a constant expenditure of strength and time. Tables with hardwood tops covered with kitchen odlcloth save a great deal of time and labor.

Prince Eddle's Peinter to the King.

Among the numerous birthday presents received by King Edward none interested or amused him more than a little book from Prince Eddie of Wales, his future successor. It appears that the King on a recent occasion was unable to inform Eddie how the leopard gets its spots, and in this book was a puzzle which explained all about it.

Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, gave suelo, Duchess of Mariborough, gave him a beautiful cigar casket formed of alternative lines of pink and green enamel, separated by rows of bril-liants, with the royal crown and cipher in the centre in high relief, and full of the King's favorite cigars. Mrs. George Cornwallis West, who was one of the Sandringham house was one of the Sandringham house party, gave him a diamond and ruby bell-push for his writing table, but Mrs. George Keppel's present was probably the most novel of all. It was a beautiful little gold box studded with jewels, and containing a clock of marvelous workmanship, out of which every hour springs a dainty humming bird which for one minute pours forth a flood of melody. The fifth or inner satellite was discovered by Professor Barnard with the Lick telescope in September, 1892. "The distance of the sixth satellite is not yet definitely known, inasmuch as the form and the positions of its orbit cannot be determined until oborbit camot be determined until observations covering two or three months are at hand. However, its diameter is probably of the order of 100 miles, and the period of one revolution may be as long as six or eight months.

"The direction of the motion of the new satellite appears to be opposite to that of the others, but it is not impossible that a difference of a few degrees in the position of its orbit may explain the anomaly."

honor to Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth.

For many centuries the race from which sprang this splandid exponent of its abilities and capacities was proscribed in England. Secretly admitted in the time of Cornwell, the Jews were, almost until times within the memory of living men, despised and alien outcasts even in the only land that offered them toleration. From this "peculiar people" came Disraeli, who with no other aid than that of education and native ability against the well nigh overwhelming prejudices of family, caste and wealth fought his way step by step from the position of a pamphleteer and hustings orator to that of the highest statesman of the realm. When, after manifold struggles, Disraeli won a seat in the House of Commons, that body feered at him, at his clothes, at his mannerisms. "They shall yet hear me!" said the young politician. His claim was modest, for before the close of his long and active political career Parliament and the British public were not only glad to hear him, but to hearken to him with eager, respectful attention.

It is said that Disraeli—the title of Earl of Beaconsfield was accepted only to please his wife—was the favorite Prime Minister of Queen Victoria, It is certain that none of the many other Premiers of her long reigs is more highly honored to-day by Britons, and Primrose day, April 19, the anniversary of Beaconsfield death, is a holiday devoted to the eulogy of his memory.

Although Disraeli was a member of the Church of England and was married to a Christian, he prided himself on his Jewish ancestry and origin. That he—a descendant of a race but newly domiciled in Great Britain, the victims of unthinking popular prejudice—rose to the very summit of fame and popularity was ever to him a source of the most intense gratification.

The Archbishop's Engrection.

The late Archbishop Corrigan was one of the gentlest of men, but when it was necessary to reprove any one under his charge, whether priest or layman, he never hesitated to do so. At one time there was a vacancy in the rectorship of one of the large churches in New York city, and several clergymen were talked about for the position. Two prominent women who were members of the church called upon the archbishop and urged the selection of archbishop and urged the selection of one of their clerical friends. As they were leaving one woman turned to the other and said impressively: "When you get home pray that the Holy Guest may give the archbishop the grace to appoint the right man." Like a flash the archbishop turned

HOW TO GET CONSUMPTION.

Ninety per cent. of the "lungers" contrast consumption by allowing power of resistance to fall so low that a favorable condition for the development of the baccilli is provided. In a healthy system consumption can't take root. But where there is weakness and debility, there you find tuberculosis. For developing strength and building up the weak, nothing equals Ferrozone. It makes the blood nutritious and the nerves enduring. The way it converts food into nutriment, the appetite it gives is surprising. Just what the man verging on consumption needs,—that's Ferrozone. If tired and weak don't put off. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty tablets—at all dealars.

Remedies for catarrh are almost as numerous as catarrh are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but very few have any actual merit as a cure, the only good derived being simply a temporary relief.

There is, however, a very effective remedy recently discovered which is rapidly becoming famous for its great value in releving and permanently curing all forms of catarrhal diseases, whether located in the head, throat, lungs or stomach.

This new catarrh cure is principally composed of a gum derived from the Eucolyptus tree, and this gum possesses extraordinary healing and antiseptic properties. It is taken internally in the form of a lozenge or tablet, pleasant to the taste and so harmless that little children take them with safety and benefit.

Eucolyptus oil and the bark are sometimes used but are not so convenient nor so palatable as the gum. Undoubtedly the bast quality is found in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets which may be found in any drug store and any catarrh sufferer who has tried douches, inhalers and liquid medicines, will be surprised at the rapid improvement after a few days' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets which are composed of the gum of the Eucolyptus tree, combined with other antiseptics which destroy the germs of catarrh in the biood and expel the catarrhal poison from the system.

Thus gathered up, the gown puffs out at the breast, forming a huge pocket. At sight the wear-er lets it fall and is thus wrapped up from his ears to his feet, as in a bed. FOOTPRINTS IN THEISNOW.

The first covering of snow makes a clear page for the varied imprints of diminutive activity, says The Globe. The little row of twin footprints left by the field mouse looks hopelessly feeble in the open and extensive area of white. The easy leaps of the black squirrel are imprinted so regularly that one sees in fancy the easy undulations of his supple, graceful form, making a moving pattern of black on a ground of pure white. The smaller footprints of the red squirrel show a more nervous white. The smaller footprints of the red squirrel show a more nervous the red squirrel show a more nervous temperament, and a tendency to change abruptly and without apparent reason from one direction to another. The little excursions of the muskrats are almost pathetic, for these trails tell of brief glances at the stars before the long imprisonment in winter's dungeons. Where their feet have rested quietly in the snow they have left impressions sufficiently clear to tempt a palmist into speculating on their personal characteristics. Not only the toes and nails, but the markings and lines are distinctly imprinted. Where the and nails, but the markings and lines are distinctly imprinted. Where the sudden haste of the stream leaves a little open piece of shallow, noisy water coursing over rounded pebbles, a muskrat has found a means of exit. Whatever marks he may have left on the bottom in crowding under the low edges of the ice have been effaced by the busy water. The ice crowds down so low that he must have burrowed deeply to pass under. His trail in the open is quite distinct. The clear marks of his feet in the snow show how leisurely he moved, and the straight groove made by his snakelike tail gives his tracks a characteristic finish.

He moved a few feet to another little gurgling aperture, where he sat long enough to melt the snow and smooth off the edges of the ice. Then he returned to the larger opening, where the water, dripping from his wet fur, had formed many globules of ice in the snow. His next jour es of ice in the snow. His next journey was to the bank, where he scratched some roots from a ledge of earth which the snow had failed to cover up. But this did not quite satisfy his curiosity to know the outside world. He trailed up over the white, rounded bank, and sat in the small open space close to the cedars. It is easy to picture him there, in the monalight glossy wet and It is easy to picture him there, in the moonlight, glossy, wet, and black, hunched and rounded, keenly alert, to catch the faintest sound that would betray the approach of an enemy. His innocent nocturnal excursion was not disturbed. The trail ends where he sat and took a farewell look at the outside world, and in returning he leisurely obliterated the marks he made when ascent ated the marks he made when ascending the bank. He came back on his trail to the little strip of open water, and there the record of his little excursion ended. In the banks little excursion ended. In the banks of the shallow stream his aquatic habits are almost entirely abandoned. He does not build houses of aquatic vegetation to serve as resting and breathing places. He does not make long excursions under the ice, with succulent green herbage trailing from his mouth. The banks become his habitation, and there he tunnels and excurates above the tunnels and excavates above water level, making a labyrinth mmunal dwelling-places. These mmunicate with the water wherever it can be found, but the enterprising little swimmer descends to the level of a burrowing animal, subsisting on roots during his long and dreary winter incarceration.

AN AWFUL JOURNEY. How Corporal Field Escerted a Mac From Yukon to Edmonton.

Corporal Field of the Royal Mount-ed Police, recently arrived at Ed-monton, the most northern railroad station in the Northwest Territory, bringing with him a maniac mission-ary. Corporal Field was stationed at Fort Chipewyan. He was directed to proceed to another station in the Arctic circle and escort a mad man to Edmonton. He traveled by dog sled, using seven dogs, and traveled light. He was fourteen days reaching the station, where he was to meet his charge.

Here he found a missionary named Buckman, who had become raving mad in the lonely solitude. Then becam his lone fourney with his de-mad in the lonely solitude. Then began his long journey with his demented charge. He had not proceeded far when the missionary become violent, and it was necessary to strap him to the sledge.

Then the man refused to eat, scratching and biting Field whenever the latter sought to force food down his throat.

For fifty-three days this journey continued, through blinding snow-storms and wind swept prairies. Field finally arrived at Edmonton with the madman, whose attendants tool: him 2,400 miles to the asylum at Brandon. Field was exhausted and is now slowly recovering from his lost strength under medical care.

He says it was the most discouraging, lonely and difficult trip he ever made, and the authorities say it has never been equalled.

The True Masterpiece,

Bilss Carmen said in a recent article: "There is a sort of greatness about a true masterpiece that makes itself felt we hardly know how, that moves us we do not know why; just as there is a sort of greatness about some men, which compels an unreserved enthusiasm and loyalty toward thum; It is the quality which endears people to us. This man may be brave and irreproachable; that one may be clever to bewilderment, yet, if they are not lovable, we neet them and part without regret. They convince us, and charm, and even win; yet a moment later we are left as cold as before."

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—Emperor Nicholas yesterday afternoon received at Tsarskoe-Selo a deputation of 84 workmen, representing the employes of the factories and workshops of St. Petersburg. The deputation was accompanied by Minister of Finance Kolsovsoff and Governor-General Tropoff, and proceeded by the Imperial toad to Tsarskoe-Selo, where carriages were awaiting them at a point near the Imperial Pavilion. On arriving there, the workmen were admitted to one of the halls of the palace. The Emperor entered the hall, accompanied by Grand Duke George Michailovitch, General Hosse, the Minister of the Imperial Court, and the commandant of the palace. The workmen bowed to His Majesty, who, said:

The recent lamentable events with such sad, but inevitable results, have occurred because you allowed yourself to be led astray by traitors and enemies to our country. When they induced you to address a petition to me on your needs they desired to see you revolt against me and my Government at a period when all Russian workmen should be laboring unceasingly in order that we might vanquish our obstinate enemy. Strikes and disgraceful demonstrations led the crowds to disorders which obliged, and always will oblige, the authorities to call out troops. As a result innocent people were victims. I know that the lot of the workingman is not easy. Many things require improvement, but have patience.

Judges Hear Argument At Mamilton and Reserve Judgment.

Hamilton, Feb. 2.—Should the ballots that were numbered on the back by Deputy Returning Officer Vallens be counted or not is the problem on which Chief Justice Mercdith and Justice Teetzel will sleep for an indefinite period. They came to Hamilton yesterday and heard argument in the Sealey-Smith election protest, and after they had heard it they reserved judgment.

W. O. Sealey was elected for the House of Commons for Wentworth at the recent Federal elections by majority of 15. E. D. Smith, his Conservative opponent, applied for a recount which was conducted by Judge Snider. The judge found that in one of the Beverley divisions, where Sealey had a majority of 25, the deputy returning officer had numbered the ballots on the back, and his honor threw all the ballots for that division out, and Sealey's majority of 15 melted into a minority of ten.

Judge Snider then declared Smith elected. Mr Scaley entered a protest, and by agreement it was arranged that only the question of the numbered ballots was to be submitted to the court.

Kingston, Feb. 2.—The Conserva-ative executive unanimously decided o protest the election of E. J. B. to protest the election of E. J. B. Pense on the ground of bribery. They claim to have ample evidence aiready to warrant this action and state that some of the leading local Liberals will be involved in the charges. The recount will begin on Saturday morning, but it is generally expected that while this will decrease it will not wipe out the majority of 17 for Mr. Pense.

Mr. Evanturel's Recount,

The majority of Labrosse (Lib.) over Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel was only 4. The first return gave Evanturel four, but a deputy returning officer made an affidavit that he had book, and the sheriff accepted the explanation and declared Labrosse elected. Evantural objected to this proceeding and has applied for a recount, which will take place on Monday next.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE ‡

The Meister Singers are worth hearing if you like good music.

Wade into 'em, Herb, old boy, and give 'em fits. We're watching you. I reckon H. S. Clements jarred the House of Commons with that maiden effort of his.

Keeping his promises! Well, I guess Farmer Clements is making good at Ottawa.

I knew we'd hear from H. S. Clements. The Grits in Parliament heard something drop.

The B. Mistake is in a great hurry to get the new market building ap. What have they got to sell?

I expect to be real busy till I get that cabinet formed for J. P. Whit-ney, so don't bother me.

The whole credit for the Public Library Board having a legal chairman lies with this G. H. J. Salaams

It would be just as well for Conservatives to avoid the appearance of anxiety when asking a Grit office-holder about his health.

After this G. H. J. had quietly smoothed over everything, the B. Mistake comes out and tries to create trouble for the office-holders. I am glad to see that the Public Library Board saw the error of their ways, as pointed out by The Planet, and have elected a chairman for 1905.

I see that after H. S. Clements attacked the Honorable Sydney Fisher's bill so strenuously, the government was afraid to Sabmit it and laid it.

Our purpose is only to serve the city, and when any civic board gets off the track we will firmly but kindly return them to the straight and narrow path.

Twe got a bigger job now than running Library Boards, the affairs of this city and such. I've got the government of the finest province in the world to look after.

I guess they were nt expecting to get roasted so badly when H. S. Clements rose to make his maiden speech. That member for West Kent is a ripper when he gets started.

The popularity of Uncle Tom is something wonderful. It is as attractive to day as it was when we were children, and the only change is that the presentation is more elaborate. The story is the same.

I guess I've discovered the reason for the popularity of the play, Uncle Tom's Cabin. Wives take their husbands to show them Eva going to heaven, and thus prove that some girls really de go to the land of occeptable of the interests of his constituents away down at that big government building at Ottawa. I saw yeaterday where he made his maiden effort and ripped those Grits who wanted to establish a menopoly against the farmers.

TRAIN SERVICE A very marked improvement has been brought about in the Pers Marquette, Buftalo Division, train service during the past few weeks, the local service being particularly benefited thereby. Passenger trains are kept sharp on time and an excellent local freight service is being provided. In addition to this we understand that more through freight is being moved than has ever been handled over the division before. This condition of affairs certainly speaks volumes for the present management and we believe that in a very short time there will be no better operated piece of road in the Province.
