

COUNTY COUNCIL STRONG AGAINST PURCHASE OF TOLL ROADS IN BRANT

Present Methods of Road Maintenance Would Have to be Changed Before Acquisition Would Accomplish the Desired Results--The Situation.

That to acquire the two toll roads in Brant County, under the present system of road maintenance, while theoretically attractive would be a step backwards at the present time from the standpoint of utility is the statement emanating from county authorities before whom the subject has cropped up many times in recent years.

The company was $3,000, and the dividend in 1913 was $480. During the year $2,274 was expended on maintenance and $2,385 was collected in tolls. The maintenance expense it might be said was larger than usual and usually in the past a profit of $80 has been declared. If the road was expropriated it would cost between $12,000 and $15,000.

What are the conditions in Brant. The county has a total road mileage of 150 miles. The toll roads are about 12 miles of this total. To buy these would involve an outlay of $40,000 or $50,000. All portions of the county would be asked to contribute while it is well known to a student of the map of Brant County that several districts would receive scarcely any benefit at all from the purchase of these roads.

The Hamilton road. The last toll road to be abolished in Brant County was the Hamilton toll road. Everybody knows what a rough journey it is now as far as the Brant county border to Hamilton. Once past the border it is beautiful sailing. The reason for this is plain. The Hamilton road gets a proportion of the county taxes for its upkeep and the amount is not sufficient to keep it in proper repair or upkeep. There are ratepayers in that district

There are two toll roads in Brant County, the Paris and Cockshutt thoroughfares and the last financial statement of the owners of these roads will be of interest. In return made of the Paris and Brantford road in January last showed that it originally cost $353. The paid up capital of

COUNTESS OF DUDLEY LOOPS THE LOOP FIVE TIMES

Mr. Gustav Hamel looped the loop five times with the Countess of Dudley as a passenger at the Worcester aerodrome, London. Once he performed the feat two hundred feet from the earth, which is a record. He also looped sideways with the Countess, who had a distinguished party watching her, including the Marchioness of Anglesey, the Duchess of Rutland, Lady Diana Manners, Prince Bona, Baron de Meyer and Baroness de Brienne. Mr. Hamel afterward entertained the company at tea.

SERGEANTS OF DUFFERIN RIFLES HOLD VERY MERRY CELEBRATION

Annual Banquet and Theatre Party Was Held Last Night--Soldiers More Popular in City of Brantford Than Ever--Inspiring Addresses Bring Forth Applause--The Toast List.

A success throughout was the unanimous opinion of all who had the pleasure of attending the annual dinner of the Sergeants Mess of the 38th Dufferin Rifles, last night, when the Brant Theatre was visited and the Men's Mess at the Armouries the scene of the dinner.

Congregating at the regimental headquarters, the company marched down in ranked order to the theatre, where a very pleasant time was spent and great appreciation expressed at the fare served up. After the performance the gathering proceeded to the Armouries where they were kept long in suspense.

The Sergeants Mess and their numerous guests then sat down to a spread which was vouchered one of the best of its kind ever set before a group and military men on the Province of Ontario, amid surroundings which were well calculated to bring cheer to the heart of any world-worn soul of depression. From one end of the Mens Mess room to the other, streams of red, white and blue hung and here and there, thrown into prominence were emblems of which the regiment has reason to be proud. A number of small tables took the place of the usual lengthy affair and without doubt this method was an improvement upon the other style.

HEAVY GRAIN MOVEMENT

PORT WILLIAM, Ont., March 14. According to the official figures given out Friday at the office of the board of grain commissioner of Canada the enormous total of 22,547,869 bushels of grain was shipped from the elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur during the year 1913 by lake route and the air rail route. Of this total 135,030,772 bushels were shipped from Fort William elevators and 67,517,097 from Port Arthur elevators. Wheat shipments amounted to 144,445,139 bushels.

NAME MR. A. K. BUNNELL TO SUPERVISE STREET RAILWAY PENDING NEW COMMISSION

Special Study of Financial Possibilities of Road From Municipal View Point to be Made After Passing of By-Law--Elect Commission Next January.

That in the event of the Brantford Street Railway purchase by-law being carried, a commission to operate the railway will not be chosen until next January, was the statement made last night by the chairman of two standing committees of the City Council. Moreover, until the operation of the road is placed definitely on a commission basis, it is proposed to place Mr. A. K. Bunnell in charge.

That the road will be operated by a municipal commission looks to be a foregone conclusion, and the ratepayers will have the opportunity of naming the commission. It is also thought that the appointment of officials will rest with the commission. Until the same is elected, however, it is thought that Mr. Bunnell's advice as to finances, and the report that he would be able to submit after six months' supervision, would be invaluable to the city in the consideration of plans for the future operation of the road.

Eighty Years Ago Friday -- HISTORICAL MEETING -- Brantford Made Village

The annual meeting of the Brantford Historical Society was held last night at the home of the president, Mr. S. F. Passmore, M.A., and was largely attended by members and friends from the county and city. After the routine business had been completed, the report of the nominating committee was read and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, S. F. Passmore, M.A.; Vice-President, J. A. Sanderson; Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Brown; Treasurer, E. R. Read, B.A.; Historian, Mrs. J. W. Brown; Curator, Major H. F. Leonard; Auditor, Major Gordon Smith and Major W. F. Leonard. The election of the remaining officers was left over until the next meeting, as notice of motion was given to the altering of the constitution.

May Be Driven To Canada

MONTREAL, March 14.—A London cable to The Gazette says: That the tardy progress of securing small holdings in Scotland would have the result of driving many Scottish settlers to Canada or elsewhere was declared by Mr. MacKinnon, Huxon's Hill next week and will lower the level of the bill materially. The gravel will be used for ballasting and for grading to the south of Paris.

MRS. PANKHURST RELEASED AGAIN

LONDON, March 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was again released from Holloway jail to-day. She had started a "hunger and thirst strike" immediately after her arrest on Sunday last at Glasgow, and is reported to be in a very weak and exhausted condition.

A GREAT SURPRISE

MONTREAL, March 14.—The Gazette's London correspondent cables: Announcement is made in The Times that among the supplementary list of divorce cases to be issued next week will be a suit for restitution of conjugal rights by Lady Girouard against her husband, Sir Percy Girouard. Lady Girouard, who is a daughter of the late Sir Richard Solomon, high commissioner for South Africa, was married to Sir Percy in 1903. The announcement came as a great surprise in Canadian circles here.

THE END OF MILITANCY IS NOT FAR DISTANT IN BRITISH ISLES

Crimes Are Now Confined to a Dozen Women, Nearly All of Whom Are Paid Servants--'Cat and Mouse' Act Effective Without Adoption of Further Legislation by the Government.

LONDON, March 14.—The Daily Mail prints what it calls "a carefully considered statement obtained from high official sources in reference to the Government's attitude toward the militant Suffragettes. It reiterates subsequent statements in the same paper to the effect that the 'Cat and Mouse Act' is steadily crushing the militant movement, and adds: "The Women's Social and Political Union is no longer able to command the activities of more than a very few militants. The days of organized conspiracy and big raids are lost. A year ago there was fifty or more women ready to commit militant crimes. Nearly all of them have now been forced to abandon their criminal activities by repeated punishment. Militant crimes are now confined to about a dozen women, of whom seven are well known. Several of them are paid servants of the Women's Social and Political Union. "We are rapidly approaching the residue of these fanatics. The few remaining militants continue to appear and reappear in connection with fresh crimes."

A Tie Game

Manchester and Sheffield Played Draw on Friday

Reference is made to the many suggestions sent to the Home Office. The most usual one of these is that the women should be allowed to die in jail. The Daily Mail says: "This responsibility the government will not at present assume. The Suffragette leaders are undoubtedly hoping for the death of one of their fanatics in order to regain public sympathy which the movement has lost. Similar objections apply to placing criminal lunatics in an asylum. In regard to deportation of the women, it is asked who is going to feed them, where

BOX CAR WOMEN ARE DEALT WITH

Immigration Inspector Was Here Yesterday—Women Not Interfered With Yet.

The case of the two women who were smuggled across the line in a freight car some time ago was yesterday investigated by Immigration Inspector Scarle of Toronto. He found both women were employed and their husbands working industriously. They had both been installed in comfortable homes. As there was likely to be a great deal of trouble returning the runaways to the States, the authorities are so very strict with regard to foreign women, they will be allowed to remain where they are at present, but the matter will come up for consideration in Toronto at some future date, when the report of the inspector will be submitted and the case ultimately decided.

Hydro Electric for Farmers. The Farmers Club held a meeting at Moyles tollhouse last night when a fair attendance was present to listen to a talk by Mr. Ballache on the merits and advantages of Hydro-Electric Power as it could be used upon farms. The speaker knew whereof he spoke and his points were clearly put. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Ballache for the information he had given. Nearly a year ago a commission was appointed to inquire into Hydro Electric for farmers, but as yet nothing had been heard from the matter until they did their hands are somewhat tied. It is hoped to get the commission together soon when some definite action with regard to the installation of Hydro-Electric might be taken.

Co-operation Asked. City Clerk Leonard has received a communication from J. W. AN ADMISSION.

"The Conservative party is making little progress in its professed determination to have 'no truck or trade' with the Americans. A return brought down in the Commons this week, shows that the total value of all goods imported into Canada from the United States during the last fiscal year was $455,322,533, the amount of duty paid on same being $68,929,805. Since the Conservatives came into power trade with Great Britain has increased 45 per cent. with the United States 100 per cent. and with all other countries 88 per cent. This is a jug-handled condition of things, which in the past our own Mr. W. F. Cockshutt was wont to declaim against. Why should he be so silent now?—Expositor.

In other words since the advent of the Conservatives to office there has been an all round improvement in trade conditions eh?

CAST YOUR VOTE.

There need be no doubt at all that the by-law for the acquisition of the Brantford Street Railway by this municipality will carry, but that feeling should not lead to any apathy with reference to polling the vote. The more emphatic the verdict can be made the better.

The debt which it is proposed to create is $750,000. This includes the first mortgage bonds of $125,000 and the balance is to be paid in the matter of improvements and needed extensions. The debentures to be issued are for thirty years and during that period the sum of $4,814 will have to be raised per annum for sinking fund in all. The franchise, and present equipment, although the latter is in many respects quite faulty, may be safely regarded as cheap at the price. Municipal ownership is the proper thing with regard to all public utilities. We have made a big success of the Waterworks, Hydro-Electric is going to have a similarly pleasing record, and there is no reason on earth why the street railway cannot be administered with equally good results. It is safe to say that if any private corporation could get hold of the project under like terms there would be a big rush to close the deal. If so with them why not with the Corporation?

This City has everything to gain and nothing whatever to lose in connection with the acquisition. Berlin, Guelph and other places have recorded satisfactory achievements with their lines and what they have accomplished, Brantford can also, only more so. The aim should not be so much for profits as such, as for extensions and reduction of fares out of them, as in the long run there is bound to be a surplus story over all outlays.

Only property holders and the few holding leases over the period named are entitled to vote. There are some four thousand of these in all and those who can do so should deposit their ballots, notwithstanding the fact that the outcome is a foregone conclusion. Make the thing emphatic.

PRESIDENT WILSON

A few days ago Mr. Wilson began his second year as President of the United States. The occasion was the subject of articles in practically all the papers across the border, and the consensus of opinion of papers of all shades of politics was that he had made a notable record in the redemption of pre-election pledges, whether in the public interest or otherwise. The Hearst journals—and they are many—with enormous circulation—sounded practically the only discordant notes. These "yellow" sheets have long been clamoring for war with Mexico, and charge that Wilson vetoed discrimination with reference to the Panama Canal tolls, because he was afraid that otherwise John Bull would go to war with Uncle Sam over the Benton incident. The gross absurdity of the statement is, of course, apparent to all save those who batten on such buncombe, and, unfortunately, there are a great many such.

The following from the Philadelphia Telegraph may be taken as a fair sample of Republican comment of the fair-minded sort.

On the whole, the country is evidently satisfied and pleased with its President. He has substantial accomplishments to his credit, and few mistakes or defeats. He has displayed honesty of purpose in attempting to redeem his party's election promises. He has exhibited courage and persistency in the course of the fight to do so, and he has earned the right to be considered a real leader.

A NOTED INVENTOR

The death of George Westinghouse removes one of the most noted of modern inventors. He was one of the brilliant group which included Bell, Edison and Marconi. All these men, by their genius, have made life safer and better worth while. The deceased was only 22 when he invented the airbrake. It is largely true of such men that their exceptional powers become demonstrated at an early period. Bell was not yet 30 when he perfected the phone. Edison was still a youth when he patented his first discovery, a stock indicator. Marconi was scarcely of age when he demonstrated wireless telegraphy, and so on.

The principle of the airbrake is that the engine of a train carries a tank in which air is stored at high pressure, steam driving the compressor. A tube runs the entire length of the train, and when the engineer applies the brake the compressed air rushes through the tube and enables the heaviest train, running at high speed, to be successfully stopped within a very short distance. What this has meant, not alone in the matter of saving much human life, but also with regard to rapid travel with comparative safety, it would be impossible to compute.

Uncle Walt

The backbone of winter is tricky and mean, it puts us too off in sympathy's trough; for just when the symptoms of spring-time are seen, it puts on the clamps and the stuff is all off. For weeks it will languish and lead us to think that winter is over and done with and man is kept busy shedding the weeps. When man dons his flannel and covers his frame with light underclothing, and buys a straw hat, the backbone of winter takes chips in the game, and sends him pneumonia or something like that. The robins get fooled just as much as the men, and while they are warbling away in the land, the backbone of winter gets playful again, and freezes the doleful birds where they stand. The hens start to lay in a generous mood, so people can purchase some eggs at the store, and then the old backbone, unladylike, rude, just gives them cold feet, and they cackle no more. If winter in season has hooted and screeched, it's highly improper a protest to bring, but hanging the old backbone it should be unpeached for raising a fuss when we're ready for Spring!

MINOR ROBBERIES REPORTED IN CITY

House of Lazarus, 139 William Street. Visited by Marauders—Police Will Investigate.

Several minor robberies have taken place in the city during the last week. Only last night the house of Mr. Lazarus of 139 William street, was broken into and some fruit and vegetables stolen. A search had been made for money, but none had been discovered. A man entered a house on George Street and stole from a bedroom a ten dollar note in spite of the fact that the occupant had never been out of the house for several days. Cash boxes have been rifled of small sums and in many cases the victims have not thought it worth while troubling the police. It is said that the thieves are the work of an amateur, and some of the many unemployed are supposed to be responsible. It therefore, behoves all citizens to carefully guard their houses and treasures against intruders.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

It is a sure sign of approaching spring when you see the small boy dwelling in marble haunts.

Figures show that the "Tubes" in old London, last year, carried one billion passengers. This puts the old quotation, "tube or not to tube," out of commission.

The engagement is announced of the youngest daughter of President Wilson to Hon. William McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury. She is 24 and he 50. If this sort of thing keeps up much longer, instead of the White House they will be calling it the Bride House.

The latest Laurierite foolishness with regard to the abolition of the duties on farm implements should make a Liberal candidate in this riding next election, altogether superfluous. The reciprocity wallow in this neck-of-the-woods was pronounced enough, but won't be in it with what would happen to the other fad.

SATURDAY, MARCH FOURTEENTH

Thomas Cooper Boville, Deputy Minister of Finance and the man who actually figures out the Dominion's surpluses or deficits, enters upon his fifty-fifth year today. He has risen to his present position from humble beginnings, starting in as a junior clerk when quite a young man. His appointment as Deputy Minister was made eight years ago. Mr. Boville's chief distinction outside the achievement just recorded is his skill as a rifle shot. He was quite a famous marksman in his younger days and on several occasions had a place on the Canadian teams for Wimbledon and Bisley. Once he came very nearly winning the Queen's prize and he still cherishes the special badge which was given him then.

SUNDAY, MARCH FIFTEENTH

Colonel Marie Joseph Egan, who has been Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence for the past eight years, is celebrating his fortieth birthday today. He belongs to a distinguished French-Canadian family and is a native of Rimouski. Studying medicine, he obtained his doctor's degree at an early age and began to practice in his home town. But he had a love for soldiering and the South African War gave him his opportunity. He went to the seat of conflict with the Army Medical Corps, and did splendid work, being mentioned three times in despatches. On his return to Canada, he remained with the Militia Department and gradually rose to his present position as Deputy Minister and vice-president of the Militia Council.

With the City Police

About 12 o'clock last night the police received a phone call from Mr. Louis Stander that Harry Saroki was badly injured at 32 Chatworth street.

They went along and found the woman crying in a chair and the man in bed. Asked as to what was the matter, Saroki, who nothing had happened, but his wife was afraid of the police. Subsequently he admitted having a few words with his wife's sister. When he was taken to the bench, the sister had been the cause of the trouble, and he claimed that now that he had sent her away, the cause would not exist. She desired that he should send her away to the old country and she would forgive him everything. It he would take oath not to assault her she would live with him. She, however, would not give evidence against him and the magistrate dismissed the case, warning the defendant that he might have been given five lashes for his offence. The magistrate was of opinion that she would not prosecute for fear he would receive some lashes. This was the only business conducted at the court this morning.

Basketball Schedule at Y. M. C. A.

A basketball schedule is being worked out by the junior members of the Y. M. C. A., who attend class on Saturday mornings. The boys were practising hard this morning in view of coming encounters.

Reorganizing Fire Department

The city of Berlin is proposing to reorganize their fire department, and A. A. Miller, City Clerk of that city has written to this city for information regarding the local system. He asks if the local department places an age limit on their men, if they require their men to take physical culture and also the rate of salaries paid and their method of insuring them.

Tarzan of The Apes

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company.

The moment was delayed only because Tarzan was anxious to ascertain the black warrior's destination, and presently he was rewarded, for they came suddenly in view of a great clearing, at one end of which lay many strange lairs.

Tarzan was directly over Kulonga as he made the discovery. The forest ended abruptly, and beyond lay 200 yards of planted fields between the jungle and the village.

As Kulonga emerged from the shadow of the jungle the quick noose tightened about his neck. So rapidly did Tarzan of the apes drag back his prey that Kulonga's cry of alarm was throttled in his windpipe. Hand over hand Tarzan drew the struggling black until he had him hanging by his neck in midair. Then Tarzan, climbing to a larger branch, pulled the still thrashing victim well up into the sheltering verdure of the tree.

He fastened the rope securely to a stout branch and then, descending, plunged his hunting knife into Kulonga's heart. Kala was avenged. Tarzan examined the black minutely. Never had he seen any other human being. The knife, with its sheath and belt, caught his fancy. He appropriated them. A copper anklet also took his fancy, and this he put on his own kind and he lowered Kulonga's body to the ground, removed the noose and took to the trees again.

From a lofty perch Tarzan viewed the village of thatched huts across the intervening plantation. He saw that at one point the forest touched the village, and to that spot he made his way, lured by a fever of curiosity to behold animals of his own kind and to learn more of their ways and view the strange lairs in which they lived.

His life among the brutes of the jungle left no opening for any thought that these could be other than enemies. Similarity of form led him to no erroneous conception of the welcome that would be accorded him should he be discovered.

His strange life had left him neither morose nor bloodthirsty. That he joyed in killing and that he killed with a laugh upon his handsome lips betokened no innate cruelty. It was that now, as he cautiously approached the village of Mbouga he was quite prepared either to kill or be killed should he be discovered. He proceeded with unwonted stealth, for Kulonga had taught him great respect for the little sharp splinters of wood which dealt death so swiftly and unerringly.

At length he came to a great tree, heavy with thick foliage and loaded with pendant loops of giant creepers. From this almost impenetrable looking above the village he crouched, looking down upon the scene below him.

There were naked children running and playing in the street. There were women grinding dried plantain in crude stone mortars, while others were fashioning cakes from the powdered flour. Out in the fields he could see still other women hoeing, weeding or gathering. Peeking in the shade he saw several men, while at the extreme outskirts of the clearing he occasionally caught glimpses of armed warriors apparently on guard.

He noticed that the women alone worked. Finally his eyes rested upon a woman directly beneath him. Best of all was a small child standing over a low fire, and in it bubbled a thick, reddish, tarry mass. On one side of her lay a quantity of wooden arrows, which she dipped into the seething substance and then laid them on a narrow rack of bows which stood at her other side.

Tarzan of the apes was fascinated. Here was the secret of the destructiveness of "the archer's" tiny missiles. He noted the extreme care which the woman took that none of the matter should touch her hands.

How he should like to have more of those little death-dealing slivers! If the woman would only leave her work for an instant he could drop down, gather up a handful and be back in the tree again before she drew three breaths.

As he was trying to think out some plan to distract her attention he heard a wild cry from across the clearing. He looked and saw a black warrior standing beneath the very tree in which he had killed the murderer of Kala an hour before.

The fellow was shouting and waving his spear above his head. Now and again he would point to something on the ground before him.

The village was in an uproar instantly. Armed men rushed from the interior of many a hut and raced madly across the clearing toward the excited sentry. After them trooped the old men and the women and children, until, in a moment, the village was deserted.

Tarzan of the apes knew that they

CASTORIA For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years Always bears the Signature of J. C. Watson had found the body of his victim, but that interested him far less than the fact that no one remained in the village to prevent his taking a supply of the arrows which lay below him.

CHAPTER VI. King of the Apes.

TARZAN dropped to the ground beside the cauldron of poison and stood motionless, his quick eyes scanning the interior of the palisade.

No one was in sight. His eyes rested upon the open doorway of a nearby hut. He would take a look within, thought Tarzan, and so cautiously he approached the low thatched building.

For a moment he hesitated without listening intently. There was no sound, and he glided into the semidarkness of the interior. Weapons hung against the walls—long spears, strangely shaped knives, a couple of narrow shields. In the center of the room was a cooking pot and at the far end a litter of dry grasses at the far end of the room, which evidently served the owners as beds and bedding. Several human skulls lay upon the floor.

Tarzan of the apes felt of each article, hefted the spears, smelled of them, for he "saw" largely through his sensitive and highly trained nostrils. He determined to own one of these long pointed sticks, but he could not take one on this trip because of the arrows he meant to carry.

One by one as he took each article from the walls he placed upon a pile in the center of the room, and on top of all he placed the cooking pot, inverted, and on top of this he laid one of the grinning skulls, upon which he fastened the headress of the dead Kulonga.

Then he stood back and surveyed his work and grinned. Tarzan of the apes was a joker.

But now he heard without the sounds of many voices and long, mournful howls and mighty wailing. He was startled. Had he remained too long?

Quickly he reached the doorway and peered down the village street toward the village gate.

The natives were not yet in sight, though he could plainly hear them approaching across the plantation. They must be very near.

Like a flash he sprang across the opening to the pile of arrows, gathering up all he could carry under one arm, with a kick he overturned the seething cauldron and disappeared into the foliage, just as the first of the returning natives entered the gate at the far end of the village. He turned to watch the proceedings below, poised like some wild bird ready to take swift wing at the first sign of danger.

The natives filed up the street, four of them bearing the body of Kulonga. Behind trailed the women, uttering strange cries and weird lamentation. On they came to the portals of the very hut in which Tarzan had wrought his depredations.

NAVIGATORS GO TO SCHOOL

Something new in schools is that now being conducted at Owen Sound by the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited. It is for the benefit of their own men—a course in higher navigation. Last month the school opened in Toronto, and after a few weeks session at Owen Sound, it will be moved to Midland.

Captain Geo. D. Frewer, official Compass Adjuster of the Company's fleet of 400 boats, is the instructor. To him come the captains, first mates second mates and wheelmen in the employ of the Canada Steamship Lines. The course of instruction is, in effect, a post-graduate one; the examinations set by the Canada Steamship Lines for their navigators being fifty per cent. higher than the Government standard. This results in a high degree of efficiency on the part of the Company's officers. As an instance of the thoroughness of the instruction, it is interesting to learn that it includes a course in the handling of package freight.

Gates Are Completed.

The gates at the Grand Trunk crossing at the station, have been completed and as soon as the frost is out of the ground the company will plank the roadway the entire width of the street.

Building Permit Issued.

A building permit was issued this morning to Smith Wait, 2 South Alfred street for a frame verandah to cost $75.

Rumored Reduction of Import Duties Will Affect Brantford.

The rumored reduction of duty on farm implements is of vital importance to Brantford manufacturers and has created a great deal of uneasiness in local manufacturing circles.

A leading manufacturer in conversation with a Courier representative yesterday stated that any reduction just now would be a serious blow indeed. Last year business and collections in the West were very bad and this year the prospects are none too bright and very few of the factories are working anything near like capacity.

The present duty is 17 1/2 per cent, and the Ottawa rumor is that this will be cut to 10 per cent. Said the manufacturer: "The great trouble is that the big United States factories are so much nearer the source in demand in the West and they have an immense advantage in freight rates to begin with. A reduction of 7 1/2 per cent, would be a great blow to Ontario industries. Take our own case for instance. Just now we are negotiating for the manufacture of a new steel wheel for our machines. If the duty is cut down to ten per cent it will pay us to import these wheels and U. S. labor will get the advantage instead of Brantford workmen. All manufacturers have just come through a strenuous time and a reduction just now in the duty would hit Brantford and other manufacturing centres very hard indeed. It would be very ill advised action on the part of the government this year at any rate, to accede to the western demand for a reduction. It would be almost ruinous from the Ontario industrial standpoint."

ASQUITH'S FOES IN BAD PLIGHT

Bernard Shaw Pictures Law and Carson Forlorn in Mud After Tug-of-War.

LONDON, March 14.—George Bernard Shaw has a sparkling article in the New Statesman to-day under the heading "Wake Up, Ulster." After last Monday, says Shaw, all that can be said of or to Sir Edward Carson and Bonar Law is that they have been and gone and done it. They have engaged in a tug-of-war without remembering that the tug is an effective move in the game is not the strongest pull, but the adroitest let-go. The oversight wasardonable, because everybody kne wbeforehand that Asquith had made up his mind to let go. Now Sir Edward and his leader are sitting forlorn in the mud with the rope in their hands and little else to do except hang themselves with it, for they are now cut off from Ulster as completely as they are cut off from Waterford.

As to the proffered county option of excision for six years, the article points out that nothing worse could happen to Ulster than to let the Nationalists have six years' start of them in the Irish Parliament.

Messrs. H. Walker and Sons, the well known distillers have sent to their local agents, Messrs. J. S. Hamilton and Co., cheques for twenty-five dollars as a subscription to the Brantford Tuberculosis Hospital. Messrs. H. ### Smoke Nuisance Serious complaint has been made against the issuing of smoke from the Y. M. C. A. building, and a meeting of the board of directors with the view of having matters remedied. It is thought that serious damage will be caused to the appearance of the new post office, if the present state of affairs continues. It is understood a change is being made in the heating system of the Y. M. C. A.

Pocket Book's Travel.

There is one pocket book in this world that has had a long travel by itself. A gentleman who purchased a ticket from Mr. T. J. Nelson for the Old Country, lost his pocket book, while in New York. Someone there found it and discovered one of Mr. Nelson's cards in it and sent it back to him. He wrote the owner of the book in the Old Country, who in return sent Mr. Nelson his address and requested him to forward it to him. The pocket book contained some papers, but nothing of value and luckily the gentleman had removed his tickets from it.

Successful Hebrew Dance.

The ladies' auxiliary of the Brantford Hebrew Association held their first annual ball last night in Hurley Hall. The drawing for the 20-piece Roger silver set was won by Mrs. McLean, 185 Albion street, with ticket No. 541 as a winner. An enjoyable time was spent and refreshments were served. The proceeds of the ball will go towards the fund for the erection of a new synagogue. From every standpoint the ball was a huge success. Much credit is due to the following officers for the splendid evening's entertainment: Mrs. Shalit, president; Miss S. Nadel, secretary; and Mrs. Nusbaum, treasurer.

Medical Evening

A delightful musical evening was spent on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Vallis, Colborne street, a fine programme of instrumental and vocal music being arranged. Mr. R. G. Cocks, a singer of great ability, was the star vocalist of the evening, whilst Messrs. G. Vallis and J. Taylor, violinists, and Mr. R. Cross, mandolinist, provided some very enjoyable music. Mrs. Geo. Cross provided at the piano. During the evening a dainty luncheon was served to the guests, after which dancing was indulged in until shortly after midnight when the party broke up, it being agreed by all that a very happy evening had been spent.

Brotherhood Night

Last evening the Sydenham Street Brotherhood were at home to the men of the church and their lady friends and a very enjoyable time was the result. The president of the Brotherhood, Ald. ## PLANT TO STRENGTHEN THE HOME FORCES

Lord De Broke Introduces Bill in Home of Lords This Week.

MONTREAL, March 13.—A special London cable to The Daily Mail says:

Lord Willoughby De Broke last evening asked the House of Lords to give second reading to, and there- by assent to the principle of an army bill by which he seeks so to amend the territorial force act upon which the home defense of Britain is now founded as to secure that those who possess shall fulfill the duty of defending their own possessions. The proposals of the bill curiously combine the compulsory and the voluntary principles, compulsion being applied to the well-to-do and the poorer classes being permitted to exercise a choice between service and illness. The bill further provides that admission to a university or to a degree or to the professions specified above should be conditional upon passing certain military tests in the cases of all under thirty years of age; an evasion of service disqualifies candidates for service under the crown, for membership of parliament or for registration as electors.

As one attraction for men earning less than £400 a year to volunteer for service it is proposed that the state should pay the national insurance contributions of members of the force.

It is estimated that under the bill a force of a quarter of a million men, whose maintenance would cost a little over three million sterling annually would be raised.

An enthusiastic Hydro radial meeting was held in Stratford attended by 150 delegates from five counties.

COUNTY COUNCIL

who like good roads who declare that it was a mistake to have abolished tolls. It might be reasonably suggested, however that the county road system could be changed so that more money could be expended. The conclusion is obvious that until other methods of building and maintaining roads are put in operation, the purchase of the present toll roads, while theoretically sound would be from the view point of utility a backward step and would not have the intended results viz., good roads or better roads.

How They are Kept.

The present toll roads are known to be in a fair state of repair. They are objectionable because the man in auto or carriage has to stop and contribute. He traffic bears the expense of upkeep. If the roads are not kept in decent condition an appeal can be made to the government to have them remedied. The people along these toll roads do no statute labor but they pay tolls instead.

The Government Scheme.

It might be asked if government assistance is not available, but in the purchase of the toll roads it would not be. A scheme covering the entire 150 miles of county roads derive financial assistance from the government. The scheme as far as Brant is concerned would be pretty steep. Concrete roads fourteen feet wide are estimated to cost $10,000 per mile. To concrete the county and inaugurate good roads as they have them some places would cost a round $1,500,000. Roads can be built for $4,000 per mile, but it is argued they do not last. Even this scheme would cost $600,000. There is a difference between paved streets in a city and concreting them in the country. In the city 40 per cent, of the cost is charged against the owners on a frontage basis. In the county the outlay comes out of the general funds. Were the local improvement plan tried in the county with the frontage some farms have, there would no doubt be so strong objection raised that the good road's scheme would require an educational campaign which would touch the farmer's pocket as well as his head.

Collegiate Board.

Only routine business was transacted at the meeting of the Collegiate Board last evening. Mr. Muller of the Industrial classes is arranging with the board for the closing at the end of the month. The work this year has been very successfully conducted.

Dueling was defended by the German minister of war as a necessary evil.

And Her Kidney Disease and Female Weakness Disappeared—She is Now a Strong, Healthy Woman.

MIZONETTE, Gloucester Co., N. B., March 13 (Special).—I have been suffering from the Kidneys ever since I was a child, says Miss J. M. Godin of this place. "When I grew to womanhood I was told I was suffering from female weakness, so I tried several kinds of medicine, spending a good many dollars for nothing.

"Last winter I became so weak I was on the point of giving up my work. I could not sleep at night and could hardly get up the stairs without having palpitation of the heart and feeling quite exhausted.

"Reading of symptoms of Kidney Disease in Dodd's Almanac, I soon found out my case was similar, so I sent at once for four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I began to feel a change at the very first, for I slept well the very first night. These four boxes did me more good than all the medicine I had taken before, and I have remained strong ever since. I am now as well as can be."

All women who suffer should look to the Kidneys. They are the main-spring of health. Keep the Kidneys strong by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and they will take care of the rest of the body.

FURTHER EXTENSION FOR FENIAN RAID GRANT

It is Expected That This Amount Will be cry Heavily Increased by Further Applications That Will be Received.

OTTAWA, March 14.—The Minister of Militia has given notice of a resolution which will be introduced in the House at an early date, further extending the time for the payment of Fenian raid volunteer bounty grants.

The resolution will propose the payment at any time prior to December 31, 1915, of $100 to every volunteer who is living at the date of the passing of the act based upon this resolution, who was regularly enlisted in and served with the militia called out for active service in the year 1866 by the Government of Canada, with the exception of certain battalions of riflemen formed for services in the northwest, and also to provide that such grants may be paid to the widow or legal representative of every volunteer who was living on the 1st of April, 1912, and to whom no grant had previously been made under the authority of any act.

Already over a million dollars has been paid out under the act of last session. It is expected that the amount so far paid will be very heavily increased by the further applications which will be received.

WANTS ANNULMENT NEW YORK, March 14.—Papers have been placed on file in the county court house here in a suit for the annulment of the marriage of Mrs. Harriet Sharp Jackson to Francis Dutton Jackson, which was performed in Niagara Falls, N.Y., on Nov. 15th last. The document reveals a remarkable story of the duping of a rich old woman by a daring and unscrupulous man.

KEPHALDOL CURES PAIN, BUT DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEART.

First of all it may be well to mention that "Kephaldol" is the prescription of one of the world's greatest nerve specialists—the famous Herr Doctor Stohr of Vienna, Austria.

He has used "Kephaldol" in his private practice and hospital clinics, in thousands of cases of Headaches, neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuritis, La Grippe and other forms of Nerve Exhaustion.

The mere fact that Dr. Stohr originated "Kephaldol" is the only recommendation needed by most physicians and surgeons to commend the remedy to their attention.

"Kephaldol" is the only pain-relieving remedy used by Dr. Stohr, because it is the only one that does not affect the heart or other organs. It may be taken with perfect safety all a complete cure results.

"Kephaldol" Tablets may be obtained at most drug stores in 50c. tubes, or they will be sent on receipt of price by Kephaldol, Limited, 31 Latour St., Montreal.

SMASHED HOME OF MR. M'KENNA

Suffragettes Use Hatchets and Hammers With Telling Effect.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

LONDON, March 14.—A detachment of militant suffragettes, armed with hatchets and hammers smashed every pane of glass on the ground floor of the residence of Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in Smith Square, Westminster, to-day. The six women arrived in the square in an automobile and took by surprise the policemen who kept continued guard over the homes of the state ministers. All of those who took part in the attack were arrested, however, as they were leaving. Mr. McKenna left town for the week-end yesterday.

The six women who mostly gave false names, were later in the day charged at Westminster police court and each sentenced to two months imprisonment with hard labor.

The policemen who had been on guard at Mr. McKenna's residence, testified that the women had crept stealthily in Indian file by the side of the wall, and then had made a rush for the windows.

One of the prisoners, who gave the name of Boadicea, said in court: "I wouldn't have given much for him—Mr. McKenna—if we had got inside."

Another of the women said: "It is a lucky thing for you we do not shoot."

All the women pleaded guilty, and said they had been driven to break Mr. McKenna's windows by "the great brutality shown to our beloved leader."

The magistrate, in passing sentence said he had never heard a sadder or more deplorable story than that which had been told to the court.

"Rot," ejaculated one of the women, who were then led away to the cells.

Another One. BIRMINGHAM, Eng., March 14.—A militant suffragette arson squad set the torch to the tennis pavilion of the Olton Club, five miles from this city in the course of last night. The building was burned to the ground.

WILL OPEN NEW STORE TO-DAY

Alf. Paterson's New Grocery Store and Meat Market in Holmedale.

Mr. Alf. Patterson, the well-known William street grocer and confectioner, has opened a fine new grocery business in the Holmedale district.

The handsome new store is situated on the corner of Chestnut Avenue and Spring street, opposite the new Dufferin school. Mr. Patterson opened his new grocery store this morning, and the people of Holmedale were alive to the occasion and took advantage of the cash bargains offered at the store.

The new store is one of the most modern in its equipments in the city. Dust proof bins for spices, sugar, cereals, teas, and in fact every thing subject to dust is under cover. The entire store has been fitted with new fixtures, including counters, silent salesmen. A fine large refrigerator has been installed, and he will be able at all times to supply his customers with fresh meats.

This store will be conducted on a strictly cash prices to save his customers from five to fifteen per cent. By getting cash for his goods he is able to give discounts.

Mr. Patterson will carry a most complete line of groceries, cured and fresh meats, tobacco, and cigars. Home made candy and ice cream in season, and will specialize on phone orders. A special wagon will be placed on the road to deliver C.O.D. orders, thus ensuring prompt delivery.

Mr. Patterson is giving a limited number of 30c. brooms for 15c. to-day to celebrate the opening. He is doing this so that the people of the Holmedale and surrounding district to get acquainted with his clerks and store.

All next week the boy or girl bringing an order, will be given a mammoth all day sucker, with his 25c. purchase. Another feature of the opening day is that of H. J. Heinz Co. A special representative will be here to demonstrate some of the 5 varieties turned out by that firm. You and your friends are cordially invited to attend and enjoy the delicious samples that will be served. Mr. Patterson will be pleased to meet all his old customers and many new ones.

Citizens of Brantford and Vicinity:

SOME two weeks ago we took over the shoe business conducted under the name of the "Temple Shoe Store" on Dalhousie Street, Brantford. We immediately placed the Toronto Salvage Co. in charge to clear out all the stock possible, so as to be able to offer to the people of Brantford a clean, new line of Shoes, Rubbers, Trunks, Suit Cases and Travelling Bags. To-day ends their supervision and sale methods. This store in future will be known under the name of BORBRIDGE "FOOT FITTERS", with our Mr. Bartyn B. Borbridge in charge.

Our aim will be to make you a patron of the store. May we have the pleasure of your personal inspection? As we have spent twenty years in the shoe business. We believe that any business that you may trust us with will be intelligently looked after. A first class shoemaker and shoe repairing machinery operator hat has worked in large American centres, and comes to us from Chicago highly recommended, is in charge of our repairing plant, and any and all repairing and shoe making will be promptly and fairly treated. We solicit inspection and a trial of this service. All the stock still on hand taken over from the old firm will be sold at the same reduced prices as prevailed during this sale as it is our wish to place an entire new stock in this store.

Our buying will be done with due care to the needs of the people of Brantford. Such well known Shoes as the "Just Wright" Shoes of Rockland, Mass., "Burt" and "Packard," guaranteed patent leathers, "Burropap" Shoes for men, "Gibson Girl" and "Cindenlea" Shoes for ladies in the fine grades made in Brockton, Boston and Lynn, Mass. and all the best grades of Canadian shoemaking will be carried in stock and the shoe needs entrusted to the Borbridge "Foot Fitters" will be cared for in a manner that will leave no doubt of sincerity and appreciation of your trade.

We Would Like to Meet You at 82 Dalhousie Street, Temple Building, Brantford

Commissioner Of Immigration Talks

Bruce Walker, commissioner of migration, formerly of this city, addressed the members of the Winnipeg Advertising Club not long ago. He had a good deal to say about the methods adopted to induce immigrants to come to this country to settle on the land, and he also described the methods adopted by the department to assist the settlers through their initial difficulties and assist them to become good citizens.

The best efforts of the department the interior, Mr. Walker said, were expended to keep the settler in Canada, and to provide him and his family with as many comforts as possible. The speaker told of instances which the officers of the department have given assistance to homesteaders when they required it, as in the case when there is difficulty in getting supplies on account of road traffic being held up.

The next convention of the General Union of Masons and Stone Cutters will convene in Kansas City, Mo., on Monday, January 15, 1915. Under the new constitution, as amended at the Indianapolis convention, the delegates will be elected by districts, and delegates will have the responsibility of representing all members of their respective districts. Each district will elect one delegate, and every member of the General Union is, through the convention, entitled to fifty cents per year, paying pro rata of the expense of the delegates. The delegates in your district will be your direct representatives, and although the convention is still some time away, it is essential that this matter be taken up in the different branches.

CITY ENGINEER WANTS AN AUTO

Would Expedite Civic Business and Would Save Money. He Says.

City Engineer Jones last year asked the City Council to be provided with an auto, and the Council could not see its way clear to meet the request. The Engineer this year is again making the request, on the ground that an auto for his department would be a time-saver and would expedite civic work to such a degree that it would more than pay for itself. Quotes Beef Dollar Pound

WINNIPEG, March 14.—Addressing the Winnipeg Advertising Club, W. R. Ingram, of the Swift Canadian Packing Company, said that the price of beef in Western Canada would be up to a dollar pound in a few years if conditions were not changed. Ingram defended the packers against the charge of responsibility for the high cost of living. Western Canada stood at the top of the list as a meat eating country, and against this stood the fact that Western Canada daily faced an increasing population without an increasing supply of live stock.

SERGEANTS HOLD A BANQUET

whilst he waited. He offered the gathering an apology for not appearing in uniform as it was at the present doing duty at Kingston (laughter). He felt at home amongst so many well-known faces.

At the present time he was practically a nurse, but he could assure them that the baby was doing fine, he said, referring to the artillery, Canada was, he thought an object lesson to all nations and colonies, they had so many regiments. The youth had shown the patriotic spirit and the work entailed had demanded money, time and, in some cases health. They were impressed with the idea of making themselves capable of defending their country, and at the same time they fulfilled the old maxim of "What we have we hold." He congratulated the sergeants mess upon the turn out, and he hoped to hear from other corps who were standing behind the old standard of the Union Jack (cheers).

Speaking briefly Sergeant Major Oxtoby said the regiment had lost a good man when Colonel Ashton took up the Artillery work, and the progress of this band had been watched and their leader was to be complimented upon the great and rapid progress made. He sat down to propose cheers.

Mr. Fox, who took part in the performance of a musical quartette at the Brant, then gave an exceptionally well executed solo on his cornet. The appreciation was manifest.

Quartermaster Mellor found great pleasure in proposing the toast to "The Regiment," but he would like to compile the names of Colonel Howard and Major Gene to it.

After a cordial toast Colonel Howard responded. Coming after such men as Col. Ashton and Sergt. Major Oxtoby he had not much to say. It was like a rifle shot after heavy artillery. Everything had been done thoroughly and well and as he had not come to lecture it would be long drinks and short addresses. He could, perhaps, at some other time tell them how $15,000 had been spent upon motor-cars on the continent. He was pleased to welcome the new artillery to the Armories, for a good start had been made. He had enjoyed himself greatly at the show.

Major Gene did not propose to begin speech making at the bitter end, he had nothing on his chest and would not mar the pleasure of the evening. Both the Major and the Solonel came in for the heavy end of extraordinary cheers.

Sergeant Major Oxtoby then said it was their night to do as they liked. He, of course, admitted that the officers were the backbone of the regiment and in this respect the 38th were indeed well served. He murmured that indeed well served he murmured was the first time they had invited captains as guests of the Sergeants' Mess annual theatre party and he now proposed the toast of "Our Visitors" after which some of those worthy members would be asked to give a few words in response. The toast was drunk from well filled glasses and cheers resounded for the visitors.

Ex-Quartermaster Sharp replied to the toast for them and was pleased to meet many old friends. He was pleased to see Colonel Howard; he never could remember when he was so big. As an old standard bearer of 38 years he was proud to be present among so many old friends.

A word from Capt. Colquhoun followed a tiger for his honor. He admitted having a name as a hot-air shooter but his voice was always good. He had been in the regiment for 15 or 16 years and this was the first time he had been invited to a sergeants' banquet for 11 years and he intended to have a good time.

Capt. McLean sang a song in accord with the spirit of the evening "Has Anybody Seen My Dog?"

Color-sergeant Thomas Mack had great pleasure in making what he thought the toast of the evening "Brother Non-Coms." Blood was thicker than water and wherever the officers of the 38th went they were sure of a hearty welcome as were vic-itors to the Brantford Armories. He could not improve on the verse quoted:

"There's something I would like to say
But what I cannot think
So stand up comrades, anyway—
So stand up comrades, anyway—"

Replying to the toast Quartermaster Knight of 12th York Rangers of Toronto, expressed his great pleasure of being a guest of the evening. He invited all to visit the 12th at Niagara when at camp, and he was sure they would all be welcome.

Sergeant Major Moon of the Governor Generals' Bodyguards, said that he found in Peterboro and Brantford the armories were always open, which could not be said of that go-ahead city of Toronto. He was pleased with honors conferred upon him by the 38th.

Q. M. S. Ferguson of the 13th, said he was no speech maker, and would be glad when his part was over. He was very pleased to be present, and took his seat when he had thanked the sergeants mess for their kindness.

Quartermaster Sergeant Danby of the 25th Dragoons, wished the Regiment every success, and would be very glad to reciprocate the good time he had enjoyed.

Color Sergeant Grove of the 22nd of Woodstock, thanked the 38th for their invitation and appreciated their goodness.

Sergeant Pitts conveyed the good wishes of the 48th Highlanders of Hamilton. He had never spent a better evening.

The 01st Hamilton Highlanders were represented by Sergeant Henderson, who thanked the regiment for their invitation.

Percy Unsworth then gave a fine song. Sergeant Oxtoby then announced that the second or last stage of the program would proceed in the social room of the building, and this closed the formal part of the proceedings. The merry throng adjourned to the adjoining room when the rest of the evening, or rather morning, was spent, and one by one the assemblage broke up and only a few stragglers were left of the splendid gathering which had constituted one of the most successful evenings ever promoted in the history of the 38th Dufferin Rifles.

Selfishness Real Cause of Divorce

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service.

YOU can no more drive a rat away from a good table than you can a cat, and if you do he will come back. The way to keep husbands at home is to feed them well.

Who ever heard of a divorce in rural France? says Dr. Wiley. "The French peasants know how to cook."

Egotists Instead of Animals

If I had a husband who lived with me just because I was a good cook I would hand him his hat and tell him to go and find some affinity who had a better recipe for rabbit pie or chicken a la marenngo than I had.

What a lot of nonsense people do talk about divorce and the cause of it. There is just one cause for divorce, and cooking hasn't a thing in the world to do with it.

Any man who would run away from his wife because she put too much salt in the soup would run away from her because he woke up one morning and noticed that her nose was too long or her eyelashes were not quite as curly as the eyelashes of his perfectly good stenographer.

What is the one cause for divorce—the real cause? Selfishness, and selfishness alone.

It takes different forms, but you look into the records of any divorce court in the world, and right at the bottom of the whole miserable business you will find the wretched trait of selfishness squinting out at you like an evil spirit.

"My husband did not understand me." "My wife was not sympathetic."

"He fell in love with some one else." "She met some one she liked better."

And little children are left homeless and some poor woman is turned adrift in the world—alone; or some wretched man nurses for the rest of his natural life a cruel bitterness of the heart.

All because of the old, old reason—selfishness.

"I couldn't stand it another day; I wouldn't put up with it; I was so lonely; I was so unappreciated; my wife never gave me a decent meal; my husband never took me out with him."

I, my, mine, me, myself—always the same old story. So you fell in love with another woman old you, Mr. Man, and after that you really couldn't endure your home at all and be happy.

Who asked you to be happy? All that any one on earth asks of you in this world is to be good, to be decent, to be just, to be honest, to be kind.

What if you are in love with another woman—or think you are? Does that release you from the promise you made to love, cherish and protect the girl that you took away from her father and mother and sisters and brothers and people who really did love her, when you only pretended to?

Love—sometimes when I look at the divorce records I wish there was never any such word.

Secrets of Health and Happiness Ills Cannot Flourish Where Laughter Reigns

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

Copyright, 1914, by L. K. Hirschberg.

PICTURE to yourself Jennings or Baker holding both his sides! That is laughter. Laughter is mainly vital and muscular perfection clasping his pelvis.

DR. HIRSHBERG

To be grave exceeds all power of face in a buoyantly healthy individual. The saving grace of humor means that men, no matter how successful socially, financially, pedagogically and politically they may be, are not in the full bloom of human vigor without laughter.

Laughter is the cipher-key which Hygeia, goddess of health, clasps to her bosom. Men may be wise in various ways, but they are not full of health unless they can laugh.

He who laughs last laughs best only because he has learned that health means success, and laughter spells health. Laugh first, last and always with others, at others and most of all at yourself.

The proof that militant emotionalists, vice-crusaders, anti-ants at that are below par mentally and physically rests upon the universal observation that such romanticists are woefully lacking in a delectable sense of humor.

Do they ever smile? Are the walls vibrant with their laughter? You may bet the bottom of your boots the answer is nay.

It is inconceivable that such physiologically unnatural sentimentalism could be associated with the joys of life and the human nature which goes with the sunshine of laughter.

Health is Infectious. Life without laughter is a dreary, sickly blank. People who do not encourage themselves to laugh, whether they are clergymen, philosophers, reformers, moralists, prudes or presidents, are always pompous, self-centred and sneeringly dolmbering about the very habits, health and happiness of others.

The word "heartily" is correctly associated with laughter, because laughter is a muscular act which includes the heart muscle and the rest of these valuable and vital organs.

Health, like disease, is infectious; therefore the inextinguishable guttae which rock the very skies are contagious, and stimulate the lazy, flagging, diseased muscles of those within hearing.

The man that laughs is the man that is beloved. Laughter is the flow of the soul, the embodiment of certain liquid emotions called "hormones," juices which pour into the tinkling brooks of your blood current as well as into your lava stream called "lymph."

The reason that you, perforce, make yourself laugh often when you might rather cry is because you are well and hearty. It is not mere philosophy carried by many men to its highest pitch to conquer melancholy tumults of the soul by shaking laughter.

The Antidote for Gloom. It is more than that. It is the sound, physiological antidote for depression, the "dumps," Old Whiskered Gloom and the "hormones" of grievous emotions and ill-health.

That want of the capacity to laugh was recognized before these new experimental discoveries proved it, as evidence of degeneracy, physiological and hence moral, is plain from Herodotus.

Yet it is easier to replace the lack than the bloom of the cheek. This is the time of the year when I am ever so careful of my skin. I use no more water on my face than I am obliged to. The water is hard, the air in the house dry, the outside air raw and cold, and the skin cries and chaps and needs cleansing. I wipe it gently with some good cleansing cream with out dragging the skin.

Before going in the air I apply plenty of good, pure powder. Powder over cream forms a splendid protection for the face. Also, if properly used, it is the best, and is not necessary to make a powder and cold cream plaster.

With the Bark on. The use of grease makes politicians slippery. The friend in need is the friend that is "done."

You will have many applications for the use of your knife if it is known that you keep it sharp. Some dogs have their day and do not know it until after the sun has gone down.

Instead of feeding his children, the poet makes the children of his brain pay for his food. The man who wishes to cut a figure in society needs what is represented by figures preceded by a $.

Daddy's Good Night Story

By GEORGE HENRY SMITH

WHO is that coming?" asked Jack Rabbit of Billy Bunny one evening when they were both peeping out of the window.

"It looks like Mr. Squirrel," said Billy, as that interesting little fellow hopped along the fence near the Rabbits' home.

Sure enough, there was a knock at the door and in walked Mr. Squirrel, bowing very low to Erer Rabbit, who was reading his paper.

"Tell your good wife that Mrs. Squirrel wants her to come over to tea tomorrow," said Mr. Squirrel.

"Very well," answered Erer Rabbit. With that Mr. Squirrel went out. Billy Bunny was fast asleep in the next room. He woke up and asked for his doll.

"Jack," said Erer Rabbit, "take Mirandy Lou in to your baby brother." Billy Bunny took Mirandy Lou and went to sleep. Erer Rabbit began reading again.

"I wish you would tell us a story," said Jack Rabbit. "You boys bother me too much," said Erer Rabbit. He took Jack and Billy on his lap and began:

"Once upon a time there lived an Indian boy by the name of Silver Star and he had a sister named Ka-wash-a. Every day they used to go into a large cave near their home and play house.

"One day they were playing as hard as they could when a great big bear came right in front of the cave and looked at Silver Star and Ka-wash-a. He growled 'Br-r-r,' just like that."

"Oh! Oh!" came a voice from the next room. Erer Rabbit rushed in to Billy Bunny and asked Erer Rabbit Lou tight in his arms. "What is the matter?" said Billy Bunny.

"I dreamed Mirandy Lou fell out of bed," said Billy Bunny. When Erer Rabbit came back Jack asked: "What became of the Indian boy and girl?"

"Well," said Erer Rabbit, "right in front of the cave where they were some horns and a bear's nest, so they poked the nest and the horns came out and drove the bear away, while Silver Star and Ka-wash-a hid in the back of the cave. They ran home when the bear was gone."

A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

MESSIAH TO ASK FOR THE HEATHEN

The Redeemer Has Not Yet Asked For His Inheritance. ACCORDING TO THE DIVINE PLAN

World-wide Dominion Promised Messiah—The Conversion of the Heathen Shortly to Be Accomplished—Messiah's Conquest of the Nations—The Arrows of Truth Will Reach Men's Hearts—From the Quiver of Divine Wisdom, Justice and Love—Force to Be Employed in Putting Down All Opposition—Death the Enemy to Be Destroyed Forever.

March 8.—Pastor Russell's discourse, which was related to that feature of his free Photo-Drama of Creation which are not yet His inheritance, we are at first inclined to be amazed that He has not yet asked the Father for His inheritance of the heathen.

When we remember our Redeemer's love for the race, the love which led Him to lay down His life to seek and to recover that which we are at first inclined to be amazed that He has not yet asked the Father for His inheritance of the heathen.

Our Lord did not ask for His great power to reign at an earlier date because He knew the Father's Plan, and was well contented with the Divine times and seasons. He had no wish for a change in this.

When will the world be converted? When will Christ ask for the heathen? When will the Father give glory to Him? How long, O Lord? The Scriptural answer, as we have seen, is that the Father will be pleased to develop during this Gospel Age as New Creatures in Christ Jesus, to be sharers of His sufferings and of His glory to follow.

Meantime the heathen have been suffering no injustice. Born in sin, shapen in iniquity, condemned to death, they have been having a long and weary life in the great prison-house of the Redeemer, at His Second Advent, shall call them any more, but will be brought into the light of the Millennium, and shall come forth.—John 5:28, 29 R. V.

Not only will this include the Church of the First-born, who have been approved of God, and who, passing trial now, will be included also the remainder of mankind, those who have not had God's approval, all of whom, because redeemed, shall come forth unto judgment, to determine their worthiness or unworthiness of life everlasting by the manner in which they shall receive, or by their rejection of, the Kingdom of God when, during the Millennium, He shall be made fully known to them.

It was also part of the Divine purpose that the whole earth should be filled with people; and hence the bringing forth of a progeny is a part of the Divine will for mankind. The few short years of the present life, with an experience of sin and death, conditions, will in due time be supplemented by the glorious period of the Millennium, with its grand opportunities for lessons of righteousness, and its rewards for obedience. Punishments, will be to the intent that so many as possible may ultimately be entirely recovered from death, and brought into the Kingdom of God in Christ. But those who demonstrate their unwillingness to come into heart sympathy with righteousness will be utterly destroyed from amongst the people.

Prices, Wholesale and Retail, Can., Jan., '14

Index Number. January, 1914, 136.5; December 1913, 137.1; January, 1913, 137.1.

The numbers, it will be understood, are percentages in each case of the average price prevailing during the decade 1890-1899, the period selected by the Department as the standard of comparison throughout its investigation into wholesale prices. Some 272 articles, carefully selected to represent Canadian production and consumption, are included in the calculation.

The slight decline in the Department's index number for January was due to lower prices in dairy products, fruits and vegetables, textiles and fuel, although animals and meats were higher.

The chief increases as compared with January, 1913, were in cattle and beef dairy products, woolens, silks, jutes, hides, boots and shoes, lumber and house furnishings, but important decreases appeared in fish, canned vegetables, miscellaneous foods, metals, fuel, paints and oils and furs.

Among the German silver is a silver gilt ewer and cover, with vase shaped body and stoppers and chased with sporting dolphins in two parts, enclosed with scrollwork, which in turn issues into two grotesque masks and recalls the work of Van Vianen, of Utrecht. A silver gilt cup and cover of Nuremberg seventeenth century workmanship is formed as a nautilus shell, the lip engraved with Nessus, Demetrius and Neptune, the lower part chased with dolphins and waves in foliage and scroll borders, while the stem is chased as a figure of a negro kneeling.

SCIENTISTS ASTOUNDED AT DOG WITH HUMAN MIND

Berlin Boasts of Canine Which Speaks German, Dictates Letters and in Many Other Ways Shows Signs of Intelligence Almost Beyond Belief.

(Special Dispatch.)

ROLF, a shaggy Shyke terrier, who "talks" by means of "paw language," is mystifying the scientists of Germany. The little animal reads, counts, adds, subtracts, multiplies, divides, dictates, replies to letters received by him, and even discusses religion.

Rolf is owned by Frau Dr. F. Moeckel, the invalid wife of a prominent lawyer of Mannheim, whose house has become the rendezvous of learned professors, who have submitted Rolf to extraordinary experiments, with astounding results. What adds to the peculiarity of Frau Moeckel's dog is that, unlike the famous Elberfeld horses trained by Herr Krall, he is largely self-educated.

Some of the things that are related and written about the "Mannheim dog," as he is known, are so fantastic that they would be unbelievable were it not for the fact that they are attested by men whose word is beyond doubt. A professor from Basle has reported on his experience with Rolf as follows:

"I have certainly withdrawn for a time into a retired literary corner, overpowered by the crowd of stupendous geniuses according to publishers' advertisements, occupying themselves with a picture of a bath tub, and asked what it represented, the dog replied, 'Bath with Caria.' Caria is a little child in the house whom he often had seen being bathed."

"The professor then asked Rolf why he (the professor) had come to see him. Rolf answered, 'To see Rolf work.' The letter was written on a piece of paper and addressed to Rolf from a gentleman who had come to see the dog and of whom Rolf had grown very fond. The letter read: 'Dear Rolf—I shall think very often of you and how kind and nice you worked for me. I have told our Pick (the gentleman's own dog) about it. He cannot read, speak or calculate yet. We also have a duck, but I am sorry to say he is sick. Many greetings.'"

"Before my eyes Rolf dictated with his paw the following reply:—'Ist big bell muder komm Tern dakt sag doghr hoch regus Rolf.' (Free translation:—Dear! Pick by mother come learn. Also Dackel (short for dachshund). Get doctor. Greeting—Rolf.'"

FIRST RULE OF NAVY, "KEEP YOUR HAIR ON," SAYS KING GEORGE V.

LONDON DREAMS AFTERNOON COURT

Evening Dress by Daylight and Other Embarrassments Would Follow Revival of Custom.

(Special Dispatch.)

DEBUTANTES and dowagers alike are dismayed at the possibility of afternoon courts, the revival of which is contemplated after this season. The institution of the evening court to take the place of the afternoon drawing room, favored by his mother, was one of the most popular social changes introduced by King Edward. To attend one of the early functions called for the display of no small amount of courage, hardihood and endurance. The preliminaries had a most crushing effect on personal vanity.

Dressing began soon after breakfast and the consciousness that evening dress is the most unbecoming form of attire for daytime did not tend to give the flurried debutante that feeling of pride in her personal appearance which is essential to every woman's enjoyment of any social function and even experienced hands never succeeded in appearing quite unself-conscious in their shoulders, waists and hips in the evening, but they look incongruous by day, and greens and yellows have an unfortunate knack of imparting to the skin of the wearer something of their own vivid hue in daylight.

and Asiatic potatoes and mail clad knights jostled one another. Many enchanted by the latest craze wore gayly tinted hair locks of scarlet, green or blue. All had votaries and some had painted devices on their cheeks.

"Terribly Efficient Industrial Machine."

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, March 14.

UNDER the heading "Talks and the Man," the Saturday Review publishes an article concerning the selection of the American, Mr. Henry Worth Thornton, as general manager of the Great Eastern Railway of England. The article, which purports to be mildly sarcastic, ends both ways, and concludes as follows:—"The American * * * attacks work with a single mind. He is thoroughly convinced that work is its mere pig killing, is the only fit occupation for a man. He is called a dollar hunter. But no mere lover of money would continue, as Americans do, to work at making long after health, digestion and the power of enjoyment have gone. The American works because he likes work, because he has taste for little else, and because, generally speaking, money making is his only cause of work. The English sausage maker sells his business and retires to a Surrey villa when he has amassed

DEALING WITH ENGLAND'S INEBRIATES

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, March 14.

THE whole truth about inebriates is told with rare sympathy and insight in a remarkable official report to the Home Office by Dr. H. W. Brantwaite, the inspector under the Inebriates Act, published recently. Dr. Brantwaite defines an inebriate as "a man who may or may not desire to live soberly, but in any case cannot, unless and until some change takes place in his physical and mental state."

thirty thousand pounds. An American continues to turn out sausages when he is worth millions. The fortune is incidental; the real epic of his life is expressed in festoons of sausages girdling the globe. One of the "Big Five" of Chicago used, when he was seventy, to get up at five in the morning, leave behind him a household of Titans and Rembrandts, and go down to his doghouse—to kill a pig. Without this daily offering to his gods life to him was a hollow and empty thing. The English are not lazy, but they are not industrious in that way. They are content to use up their energies in by-ways such as golf, or archery, or social enjoyment. The Post Office supplies us with novelists and dramatic critics, and probably many of Lord Claud Hamilton's "clever and capable men," not quite fit for the first place, fritter away their time in humanizing themselves. It is the American's strange power of getting rid of all inconvenient human characteristics during early youth that makes him the terribly efficient industrial machine he often is. Whether the result is worth the sacrifice is another question."

repeated imprisonment of habitual inebriates afford reasonable protection to the community? There can only be one answer to that question—a direct negative; the intervals of dangerous liberty are too frequent for any public advantage to accrue. Unless we are prepared to admit that the process is solely one of relative necessity, and justify it on that ground, it is difficult to describe the proceedings as other than inhuman, useless and an absolute waste of public money."

CRYSTAL GAZER BURNS TO DEATH

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, March 14.

THE death of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Bolt Sherrin, a widow, sixty-nine years of age, of St. Gothard, York place, Newport, is a warning to crystal gazers. She was in prison as a necessary incident in her work as a hypnotist, when she was set by the fire, gazing into crystal so long that she hypnotized herself, fell into the fire and was burned to death.

MARIE CORELLI IS VERY MUCH ALIVE

(Special Dispatch.) LONDON, March 14.

MISS MARIE CORELLI is still alive. She says so herself, and she ought to know. She adds that she is in possession of all her faculties. The Birmingham Mail incautiously asked recently, "Where is Miss Marie Corelli?" and in reply has received a long letter from the novelist, in which she says:—"I have certainly withdrawn for a time into a retired literary corner, overpowered by the crowd of stupendous geniuses according to publishers' advertisements, occupying themselves with a picture of a bath tub, and asked what it represented, the dog replied, 'Bath with Caria.' Caria is a little child in the house whom he often had seen being bathed."
