

THE ACADIAN

AND KING'S CO. TIMES.

HONEST, INDEPENDENT, FEARLESS--DEVOTED TO LOCAL AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

WOLFVILLE, KING'S CO., N. S., FRIDAY, MAY 30, 1890.

No. 41.

Vol. IX.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Castoria is well adapted to children. It is a mild, pleasant, and effective cathartic. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all cases of constipation, indigestion, and colic. It is a valuable medicine for all infants and children. It is a safe and reliable remedy for all cases of constipation, indigestion, and colic. It is a valuable medicine for all infants and children.

The Acadian.

Published on FRIDAY at the office WOLFVILLE, KING'S CO., N. S.

TERMS: $1.00 Per Annum. (IN ADVANCE)

CLUBS of five in advance $4.00.

Local advertising at ten cents per line for every insertion, unless by special arrangement for standing notices. Advertisements for standing notices will be made known on application to the office, and payment on transient advertising must be guaranteed by some responsible party prior to its insertion.

The ACADIAN JOB DEPARTMENT is constantly receiving new type and material, and will continue to guarantee satisfaction on all work turned out.

Newspaper communications from all parts of the county, or articles upon the topics of the day are cordially solicited. The editor of the party writing for the ACADIAN must invariably accompany the communication, although the same may be written over a fictitious signature.

Address all communications to DAVIDSON BROS., Editors & Proprietors, Wolfville, N. S.

DIRECTORY

Business Firms of WOLFVILLE

The undermentioned firms will use you right, and we can safely recommend them as our most enterprising business men.

BISHOP, JOHNSON H.—Dealer in Flour, Feed of all kind, &c.

BORDEN, C. H.—Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, and Gents' Furnishings.

BORDEN, CHARLES H.—Carriages and Sleighs Built, Repaired, and Painted.

BLACKADDER, W. C.—Cabinet Maker and Repairer.

BROWN, J. I.—Practical Horse-Shoer and Farrier.

CALDWELL, CHAMBERS & CO.—Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes, Furniture, &c.

DAVISON, J. B.—Justice of the Peace, Conveyancer, Fire Insurance Agent.

DAVIDSON BROS.—Printers and Publishers.

DR PAYZANT & SON, Dentists.

GILMORE, G. H.—Insurance Agent, Agent of Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, of New York.

GODFREY, L. P.—Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes.

HAMILTON, MISS S. A.—Milliner and dealer in fashionable millinery goods.

HARRIS, O. D.—General Dry Goods, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings.

HERBIN, J. F.—Watch Maker and Jeweller.

HIGGINS, W. J.—General Coal Dealer. Coal always on hand.

KELLEY, THOMAS.—Boot and Shoe Maker. All orders in his line faithfully performed. Repairing neatly done.

MURPHY, J. L.—Cabinet Maker and Repairer.

DATRIQUIN, C. A.—Manufacturer of all kinds of Carriage, and Team Harness, Opposite People's Bank.

ROCKWELL & CO.—Book-sellers, Stationers, Picture Framers, and dealers in Pianos, Organs, and Sewing Machines.

RAND, G. V.—Drugs, and Fancy Goods.

SLEEP, S. R.—Importer and dealer in General Hardware, Stoves, and Tinware. Agents for Frost & Wood's Plows.

SHAW, J. M.—Barber and Tobaccoist.

WALLACE, G. H.—Wholesale and Retail Grocer.

WITTER, BURPEE—Importer and dealer in Dry Goods, Millinery, Ready-made Clothing, and Gents' Furnishings.

WILSON, JAS.—Harness Maker, is still in Wolfville where he is prepared to fill all orders in his line of business.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

When it comes ter votin', why, I'm allus on the fence. Reason? Well, be you a daddy? that's the circumstance. My Molly, she's Republican, an' Joe's a Democrat. An' the way I'm pulled an' hauled eraroun' would knock a feller flat. Joe, he comes arguvin', preachin' free-trade talk an' such; He ses petticoat doctrine's besoun' ter hand in a ditch. He ses the 'masses of progress' all git their soon or late— An' Joe's ez smart a feller ez there is in all the State. But Molly doesn't argu'ly; she o'ny hangs aroun'. An' I notice to'ds electin time that things is done up brow'n; The coffee's got an extra snap, the bun's is wonderful light, An' I find my slippers extra warm a-waitin' me at night. She never sez a word while Joe's a-layin' down the law. But ses an' sews a long white seam, so meek ye never saw. But when clectin' mornin' my coat's all brushed an' shoo'd, An' Molly helps me on with it an' gives me such a look— I vow! that child git's more as' more her mother's look agin— An' then she smiles ter see us agin-trampin' thro' the lane. I vow! I'm like a weather-cock, I shift an' alter so. But when it's Joe's ez Molly's way—which way d'ye think I go!

—Judge.

STORY.

A Thorn in the Flesh.

Hartley Baneroff was, in the general acceptance of the term, a kind-hearted man. His feelings were easily reached and these gave usually a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has in most cases a two fold range, warning now into kindly emotion, and now into sudden anger. Your so called kind hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words and even into cruel actions. But there is this merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides, they repent, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Baneroff. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine, but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect darkened.

One day Mr Baneroff was sitting at his desk, with a pile of checks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking preparatory to a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be figuring up his accounts; but he had unusually heavy payments to make, and the amount necessary to lift up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Mr Baneroff felt both hurried and worried, as his quick, nervous movements showed.

Just at this inauspicious moment a man entered the store, and walked quickly back to where Mr Baneroff was sitting.

"Good day, Mr Cartwright."

There was not a very cordial tone in the voice of Mr Baneroff, although the other was a customer who had bought of his goods freely.

"Good day!" There was an embarrassed air about Mr Cartwright.

"What can I do for you?" It was only a form of speech on the part of Baneroff, or rather a new mode of saying, "Don't ask me for anything."

Now, it happened that Mr Cartwright was in a "tight place" as it is called. It was two o'clock and all his efforts to get the full amount of money he needed had failed. Several notes had matured and among them one of seven hundred dollars, given to Mr Baneroff. All but this he had succeeded in lifting; and now, frightened at the aspect of things, he had come, very reluctantly, to his creditor, whom he only knew as a kind-hearted man, to state the extremity of his case, and ask a check for the amount of his note as a temporary loan.

"I am short seven hundred dollars. Can you help me?"

"No!" was the answer made in an emphatic tone, and with a knitting of the brows.

Mr Baneroff noticed that the answer seemed to stagger the applicant; he saw also that he grew pale and had a look of singular distress. But Mr Baneroff was too much excited and annoyed to notice these things.

"Then," said Mr Cartwright, "you will have to withdraw the note from the bank. I cannot lift it."

"I shall do no such thing," angrily replied Mr Baneroff. "Take up your notes as I take up mine."

"I have failed in all my efforts to get money; and if you do not withdraw this note, it will be protested," Mr Cartwright said this very deliberately, and in a firm tone of voice, with a face like ashen.

"Very well," was the unyielding answer, "let it be protested then. If you can bear the operation, I think I can."

Coldly, almost sneeringly, these cruel words were said. Mr Cartwright turned away and pleaded his case no longer but went out from the store of his unyielding creditor. Scarcely had he passed into the street before the better nature of Baneroff rose into the ascendancy, and he reflected on his unkindness.

"William!" he called to a clerk.

The young man came instantly.

"Make this deposit, William; and at the same time withdraw Mr Cartwright's note, due to-day. Money is hard to get just now, and he is burdened with heavy payments. We must give him a helping hand. The merchant spoke kindly, not freely. The clerk departed with the bank book, and a check of sufficient amount to lift the notes that were due. Mr Baneroff remained sitting at his desk, and from his attitude, and the aspect of his countenance it was plain that self approval was not the pleasant state of mind in which he was indulging. The veil of momentary excitement was removed, and now, plainly before the eyes of his mind, stood his humbled and distressed debtor, toward whom not a single impulse of kind feeling had stirred. He tried to find a refuge from self upbraiding in the fact that he had done all the debtor had asked—the note was withdrawn.

"Yes," said a voice within him, "you have cast a bone, with curse, into the face of the beggar!"

Mr Baneroff started up hurriedly from his desk, walked the length of the store, returned, and sat down again. A low, deep sigh parted his lips.

"What could have possessed me that I so far forgot duty and kindness? I would give twice seven hundred dollars to recall this act, were it possible to do so."

Drawing a sheet of paper before him Mr Baneroff took up a pen and wrote: MR EDWARD CARTWRIGHT.

My Dear Sir,—I have withdrawn your note. Forgive my rough unkindness. I was worried about my money matters, and had but just made up my own bank account. We are not always proof against petty annoyances. They sometimes disturb more than larger things. Come in to-morrow and we will arrange for a renewal of this note, if you desire it, making the time to suit yourself.

Mr Baneroff signed this apologetic letter, and dispatched it forthwith. He felt more comfortable after that. Still he suffered some pain from having given pain, and no humiliation for the unamiable weakness he had manifested.

"Did you see Mr Cartwright?" he inquired of the lad who had taken the note.

"No sir; he wasn't there."

"Did you leave it to him?"

"Yes sir." The boy looked agitated. He stood a moment, as if waiting for further question, and then said:—"They were just driving him away in a carriage."

"What!" Mr Baneroff turned pale.

"They said he had broken a blood vessel."

Mr Baneroff started to his feet with mingled surprise and pain.

"There was blood on the floor."

Mr Baneroff groaned aloud. After reflecting for a moment he took up his hat and went out hurriedly. A walk of five minutes brought him to Mr Cartwright's store.

"What was the cause of this?" he asked one of the clerks. Did he fall or was he lifting anything?"

"No," was answered. "He was sitting at his desk, resting his head upon his hands, when I heard him call in a quick voice, and turning round I saw the blood flowing from his mouth."

"Has anything disturbed him," asked Baneroff.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

When it comes ter votin', why, I'm allus on the fence. Reason? Well, be you a daddy? that's the circumstance. My Molly, she's Republican, an' Joe's a Democrat. An' the way I'm pulled an' hauled eraroun' would knock a feller flat. Joe, he comes arguvin', preachin' free-trade talk an' such; He ses petticoat doctrine's besoun' ter hand in a ditch. He ses the 'masses of progress' all git their soon or late— An' Joe's ez smart a feller ez there is in all the State. But Molly doesn't argu'ly; she o'ny hangs aroun'. An' I notice to'ds electin time that things is done up brow'n; The coffee's got an extra snap, the bun's is wonderful light, An' I find my slippers extra warm a-waitin' me at night. She never sez a word while Joe's a-layin' down the law. But ses an' sews a long white seam, so meek ye never saw. But when clectin' mornin' my coat's all brushed an' shoo'd, An' Molly helps me on with it an' gives me such a look— I vow! that child git's more as' more her mother's look agin— An' then she smiles ter see us agin-trampin' thro' the lane. I vow! I'm like a weather-cock, I shift an' alter so. But when it's Joe's ez Molly's way—which way d'ye think I go!

—Judge.

STORY.

A Thorn in the Flesh.

Hartley Baneroff was, in the general acceptance of the term, a kind-hearted man. His feelings were easily reached and these gave usually a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has in most cases a two fold range, warning now into kindly emotion, and now into sudden anger. Your so called kind hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words and even into cruel actions. But there is this merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides, they repent, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Baneroff. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine, but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect darkened.

One day Mr Baneroff was sitting at his desk, with a pile of checks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking preparatory to a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be figuring up his accounts; but he had unusually heavy payments to make, and the amount necessary to lift up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Mr Baneroff felt both hurried and worried, as his quick, nervous movements showed.

Just at this inauspicious moment a man entered the store, and walked quickly back to where Mr Baneroff was sitting.

"Good day, Mr Cartwright."

There was not a very cordial tone in the voice of Mr Baneroff, although the other was a customer who had bought of his goods freely.

"Good day!" There was an embarrassed air about Mr Cartwright.

"What can I do for you?" It was only a form of speech on the part of Baneroff, or rather a new mode of saying, "Don't ask me for anything."

Now, it happened that Mr Cartwright was in a "tight place" as it is called. It was two o'clock and all his efforts to get the full amount of money he needed had failed. Several notes had matured and among them one of seven hundred dollars, given to Mr Baneroff. All but this he had succeeded in lifting; and now, frightened at the aspect of things, he had come, very reluctantly, to his creditor, whom he only knew as a kind-hearted man, to state the extremity of his case, and ask a check for the amount of his note as a temporary loan.

"I am short seven hundred dollars. Can you help me?"

"No!" was the answer made in an emphatic tone, and with a knitting of the brows.

Mr Baneroff noticed that the answer seemed to stagger the applicant; he saw also that he grew pale and had a look of singular distress. But Mr Baneroff was too much excited and annoyed to notice these things.

"Then," said Mr Cartwright, "you will have to withdraw the note from the bank. I cannot lift it."

"I shall do no such thing," angrily replied Mr Baneroff. "Take up your notes as I take up mine."

"I have failed in all my efforts to get money; and if you do not withdraw this note, it will be protested," Mr Cartwright said this very deliberately, and in a firm tone of voice, with a face like ashen.

"Very well," was the unyielding answer, "let it be protested then. If you can bear the operation, I think I can."

Coldly, almost sneeringly, these cruel words were said. Mr Cartwright turned away and pleaded his case no longer but went out from the store of his unyielding creditor. Scarcely had he passed into the street before the better nature of Baneroff rose into the ascendancy, and he reflected on his unkindness.

"William!" he called to a clerk.

The young man came instantly.

"Make this deposit, William; and at the same time withdraw Mr Cartwright's note, due to-day. Money is hard to get just now, and he is burdened with heavy payments. We must give him a helping hand. The merchant spoke kindly, not freely. The clerk departed with the bank book, and a check of sufficient amount to lift the notes that were due. Mr Baneroff remained sitting at his desk, and from his attitude, and the aspect of his countenance it was plain that self approval was not the pleasant state of mind in which he was indulging. The veil of momentary excitement was removed, and now, plainly before the eyes of his mind, stood his humbled and distressed debtor, toward whom not a single impulse of kind feeling had stirred. He tried to find a refuge from self upbraiding in the fact that he had done all the debtor had asked—the note was withdrawn.

"Yes," said a voice within him, "you have cast a bone, with curse, into the face of the beggar!"

Mr Baneroff started up hurriedly from his desk, walked the length of the store, returned, and sat down again. A low, deep sigh parted his lips.

"What could have possessed me that I so far forgot duty and kindness? I would give twice seven hundred dollars to recall this act, were it possible to do so."

Drawing a sheet of paper before him Mr Baneroff took up a pen and wrote: MR EDWARD CARTWRIGHT.

My Dear Sir,—I have withdrawn your note. Forgive my rough unkindness. I was worried about my money matters, and had but just made up my own bank account. We are not always proof against petty annoyances. They sometimes disturb more than larger things. Come in to-morrow and we will arrange for a renewal of this note, if you desire it, making the time to suit yourself.

Mr Baneroff signed this apologetic letter, and dispatched it forthwith. He felt more comfortable after that. Still he suffered some pain from having given pain, and no humiliation for the unamiable weakness he had manifested.

"Did you see Mr Cartwright?" he inquired of the lad who had taken the note.

"No sir; he wasn't there."

"Did you leave it to him?"

"Yes sir." The boy looked agitated. He stood a moment, as if waiting for further question, and then said:—"They were just driving him away in a carriage."

"What!" Mr Baneroff turned pale.

"They said he had broken a blood vessel."

Mr Baneroff started to his feet with mingled surprise and pain.

"There was blood on the floor."

Mr Baneroff groaned aloud. After reflecting for a moment he took up his hat and went out hurriedly. A walk of five minutes brought him to Mr Cartwright's store.

"What was the cause of this?" he asked one of the clerks. Did he fall or was he lifting anything?"

"No," was answered. "He was sitting at his desk, resting his head upon his hands, when I heard him call in a quick voice, and turning round I saw the blood flowing from his mouth."

"Has anything disturbed him," asked Baneroff.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

When it comes ter votin', why, I'm allus on the fence. Reason? Well, be you a daddy? that's the circumstance. My Molly, she's Republican, an' Joe's a Democrat. An' the way I'm pulled an' hauled eraroun' would knock a feller flat. Joe, he comes arguvin', preachin' free-trade talk an' such; He ses petticoat doctrine's besoun' ter hand in a ditch. He ses the 'masses of progress' all git their soon or late— An' Joe's ez smart a feller ez there is in all the State. But Molly doesn't argu'ly; she o'ny hangs aroun'. An' I notice to'ds electin time that things is done up brow'n; The coffee's got an extra snap, the bun's is wonderful light, An' I find my slippers extra warm a-waitin' me at night. She never sez a word while Joe's a-layin' down the law. But ses an' sews a long white seam, so meek ye never saw. But when clectin' mornin' my coat's all brushed an' shoo'd, An' Molly helps me on with it an' gives me such a look— I vow! that child git's more as' more her mother's look agin— An' then she smiles ter see us agin-trampin' thro' the lane. I vow! I'm like a weather-cock, I shift an' alter so. But when it's Joe's ez Molly's way—which way d'ye think I go!

—Judge.

STORY.

A Thorn in the Flesh.

Hartley Baneroff was, in the general acceptance of the term, a kind-hearted man. His feelings were easily reached and these gave usually a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has in most cases a two fold range, warning now into kindly emotion, and now into sudden anger. Your so called kind hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words and even into cruel actions. But there is this merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides, they repent, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Baneroff. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine, but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect darkened.

One day Mr Baneroff was sitting at his desk, with a pile of checks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking preparatory to a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be figuring up his accounts; but he had unusually heavy payments to make, and the amount necessary to lift up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Mr Baneroff felt both hurried and worried, as his quick, nervous movements showed.

Just at this inauspicious moment a man entered the store, and walked quickly back to where Mr Baneroff was sitting.

"Good day, Mr Cartwright."

There was not a very cordial tone in the voice of Mr Baneroff, although the other was a customer who had bought of his goods freely.

"Good day!" There was an embarrassed air about Mr Cartwright.

"What can I do for you?" It was only a form of speech on the part of Baneroff, or rather a new mode of saying, "Don't ask me for anything."

Now, it happened that Mr Cartwright was in a "tight place" as it is called. It was two o'clock and all his efforts to get the full amount of money he needed had failed. Several notes had matured and among them one of seven hundred dollars, given to Mr Baneroff. All but this he had succeeded in lifting; and now, frightened at the aspect of things, he had come, very reluctantly, to his creditor, whom he only knew as a kind-hearted man, to state the extremity of his case, and ask a check for the amount of his note as a temporary loan.

"I am short seven hundred dollars. Can you help me?"

"No!" was the answer made in an emphatic tone, and with a knitting of the brows.

Mr Baneroff noticed that the answer seemed to stagger the applicant; he saw also that he grew pale and had a look of singular distress. But Mr Baneroff was too much excited and annoyed to notice these things.

"Then," said Mr Cartwright, "you will have to withdraw the note from the bank. I cannot lift it."

"I shall do no such thing," angrily replied Mr Baneroff. "Take up your notes as I take up mine."

"I have failed in all my efforts to get money; and if you do not withdraw this note, it will be protested," Mr Cartwright said this very deliberately, and in a firm tone of voice, with a face like ashen.

"Very well," was the unyielding answer, "let it be protested then. If you can bear the operation, I think I can."

Coldly, almost sneeringly, these cruel words were said. Mr Cartwright turned away and pleaded his case no longer but went out from the store of his unyielding creditor. Scarcely had he passed into the street before the better nature of Baneroff rose into the ascendancy, and he reflected on his unkindness.

"William!" he called to a clerk.

The young man came instantly.

"Make this deposit, William; and at the same time withdraw Mr Cartwright's note, due to-day. Money is hard to get just now, and he is burdened with heavy payments. We must give him a helping hand. The merchant spoke kindly, not freely. The clerk departed with the bank book, and a check of sufficient amount to lift the notes that were due. Mr Baneroff remained sitting at his desk, and from his attitude, and the aspect of his countenance it was plain that self approval was not the pleasant state of mind in which he was indulging. The veil of momentary excitement was removed, and now, plainly before the eyes of his mind, stood his humbled and distressed debtor, toward whom not a single impulse of kind feeling had stirred. He tried to find a refuge from self upbraiding in the fact that he had done all the debtor had asked—the note was withdrawn.

"Yes," said a voice within him, "you have cast a bone, with curse, into the face of the beggar!"

Mr Baneroff started up hurriedly from his desk, walked the length of the store, returned, and sat down again. A low, deep sigh parted his lips.

"What could have possessed me that I so far forgot duty and kindness? I would give twice seven hundred dollars to recall this act, were it possible to do so."

Drawing a sheet of paper before him Mr Baneroff took up a pen and wrote: MR EDWARD CARTWRIGHT.

My Dear Sir,—I have withdrawn your note. Forgive my rough unkindness. I was worried about my money matters, and had but just made up my own bank account. We are not always proof against petty annoyances. They sometimes disturb more than larger things. Come in to-morrow and we will arrange for a renewal of this note, if you desire it, making the time to suit yourself.

Mr Baneroff signed this apologetic letter, and dispatched it forthwith. He felt more comfortable after that. Still he suffered some pain from having given pain, and no humiliation for the unamiable weakness he had manifested.

"Did you see Mr Cartwright?" he inquired of the lad who had taken the note.

"No sir; he wasn't there."

"Did you leave it to him?"

"Yes sir." The boy looked agitated. He stood a moment, as if waiting for further question, and then said:—"They were just driving him away in a carriage."

"What!" Mr Baneroff turned pale.

"They said he had broken a blood vessel."

Mr Baneroff started to his feet with mingled surprise and pain.

"There was blood on the floor."

Mr Baneroff groaned aloud. After reflecting for a moment he took up his hat and went out hurriedly. A walk of five minutes brought him to Mr Cartwright's store.

"What was the cause of this?" he asked one of the clerks. Did he fall or was he lifting anything?"

"No," was answered. "He was sitting at his desk, resting his head upon his hands, when I heard him call in a quick voice, and turning round I saw the blood flowing from his mouth."

"Has anything disturbed him," asked Baneroff.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

When it comes ter votin', why, I'm allus on the fence. Reason? Well, be you a daddy? that's the circumstance. My Molly, she's Republican, an' Joe's a Democrat. An' the way I'm pulled an' hauled eraroun' would knock a feller flat. Joe, he comes arguvin', preachin' free-trade talk an' such; He ses petticoat doctrine's besoun' ter hand in a ditch. He ses the 'masses of progress' all git their soon or late— An' Joe's ez smart a feller ez there is in all the State. But Molly doesn't argu'ly; she o'ny hangs aroun'. An' I notice to'ds electin time that things is done up brow'n; The coffee's got an extra snap, the bun's is wonderful light, An' I find my slippers extra warm a-waitin' me at night. She never sez a word while Joe's a-layin' down the law. But ses an' sews a long white seam, so meek ye never saw. But when clectin' mornin' my coat's all brushed an' shoo'd, An' Molly helps me on with it an' gives me such a look— I vow! that child git's more as' more her mother's look agin— An' then she smiles ter see us agin-trampin' thro' the lane. I vow! I'm like a weather-cock, I shift an' alter so. But when it's Joe's ez Molly's way—which way d'ye think I go!

—Judge.

STORY.

A Thorn in the Flesh.

Hartley Baneroff was, in the general acceptance of the term, a kind-hearted man. His feelings were easily reached and these gave usually a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has in most cases a two fold range, warning now into kindly emotion, and now into sudden anger. Your so called kind hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words and even into cruel actions. But there is this merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides, they repent, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Baneroff. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine, but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect darkened.

One day Mr Baneroff was sitting at his desk, with a pile of checks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking preparatory to a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be figuring up his accounts; but he had unusually heavy payments to make, and the amount necessary to lift up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Mr Baneroff felt both hurried and worried, as his quick, nervous movements showed.

Just at this inauspicious moment a man entered the store, and walked quickly back to where Mr Baneroff was sitting.

"Good day, Mr Cartwright."

There was not a very cordial tone in the voice of Mr Baneroff, although the other was a customer who had bought of his goods freely.

"Good day!" There was an embarrassed air about Mr Cartwright.

"What can I do for you?" It was only a form of speech on the part of Baneroff, or rather a new mode of saying, "Don't ask me for anything."

Now, it happened that Mr Cartwright was in a "tight place" as it is called. It was two o'clock and all his efforts to get the full amount of money he needed had failed. Several notes had matured and among them one of seven hundred dollars, given to Mr Baneroff. All but this he had succeeded in lifting; and now, frightened at the aspect of things, he had come, very reluctantly, to his creditor, whom he only knew as a kind-hearted man, to state the extremity of his case, and ask a check for the amount of his note as a temporary loan.

"I am short seven hundred dollars. Can you help me?"

"No!" was the answer made in an emphatic tone, and with a knitting of the brows.

Mr Baneroff noticed that the answer seemed to stagger the applicant; he saw also that he grew pale and had a look of singular distress. But Mr Baneroff was too much excited and annoyed to notice these things.

"Then," said Mr Cartwright, "you will have to withdraw the note from the bank. I cannot lift it."

"I shall do no such thing," angrily replied Mr Baneroff. "Take up your notes as I take up mine."

"I have failed in all my efforts to get money; and if you do not withdraw this note, it will be protested," Mr Cartwright said this very deliberately, and in a firm tone of voice, with a face like ashen.

"Very well," was the unyielding answer, "let it be protested then. If you can bear the operation, I think I can."

Coldly, almost sneeringly, these cruel words were said. Mr Cartwright turned away and pleaded his case no longer but went out from the store of his unyielding creditor. Scarcely had he passed into the street before the better nature of Baneroff rose into the ascendancy, and he reflected on his unkindness.

"William!" he called to a clerk.

The young man came instantly.

"Make this deposit, William; and at the same time withdraw Mr Cartwright's note, due to-day. Money is hard to get just now, and he is burdened with heavy payments. We must give him a helping hand. The merchant spoke kindly, not freely. The clerk departed with the bank book, and a check of sufficient amount to lift the notes that were due. Mr Baneroff remained sitting at his desk, and from his attitude, and the aspect of his countenance it was plain that self approval was not the pleasant state of mind in which he was indulging. The veil of momentary excitement was removed, and now, plainly before the eyes of his mind, stood his humbled and distressed debtor, toward whom not a single impulse of kind feeling had stirred. He tried to find a refuge from self upbraiding in the fact that he had done all the debtor had asked—the note was withdrawn.

"Yes," said a voice within him, "you have cast a bone, with curse, into the face of the beggar!"

Mr Baneroff started up hurriedly from his desk, walked the length of the store, returned, and sat down again. A low, deep sigh parted his lips.

"What could have possessed me that I so far forgot duty and kindness? I would give twice seven hundred dollars to recall this act, were it possible to do so."

Drawing a sheet of paper before him Mr Baneroff took up a pen and wrote: MR EDWARD CARTWRIGHT.

My Dear Sir,—I have withdrawn your note. Forgive my rough unkindness. I was worried about my money matters, and had but just made up my own bank account. We are not always proof against petty annoyances. They sometimes disturb more than larger things. Come in to-morrow and we will arrange for a renewal of this note, if you desire it, making the time to suit yourself.

Mr Baneroff signed this apologetic letter, and dispatched it forthwith. He felt more comfortable after that. Still he suffered some pain from having given pain, and no humiliation for the unamiable weakness he had manifested.

"Did you see Mr Cartwright?" he inquired of the lad who had taken the note.

"No sir; he wasn't there."

"Did you leave it to him?"

"Yes sir." The boy looked agitated. He stood a moment, as if waiting for further question, and then said:—"They were just driving him away in a carriage."

"What!" Mr Baneroff turned pale.

"They said he had broken a blood vessel."

Mr Baneroff started to his feet with mingled surprise and pain.

"There was blood on the floor."

Mr Baneroff groaned aloud. After reflecting for a moment he took up his hat and went out hurriedly. A walk of five minutes brought him to Mr Cartwright's store.

"What was the cause of this?" he asked one of the clerks. Did he fall or was he lifting anything?"

"No," was answered. "He was sitting at his desk, resting his head upon his hands, when I heard him call in a quick voice, and turning round I saw the blood flowing from his mouth."

"Has anything disturbed him," asked Baneroff.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

When it comes ter votin', why, I'm allus on the fence. Reason? Well, be you a daddy? that's the circumstance. My Molly, she's Republican, an' Joe's a Democrat. An' the way I'm pulled an' hauled eraroun' would knock a feller flat. Joe, he comes arguvin', preachin' free-trade talk an' such; He ses petticoat doctrine's besoun' ter hand in a ditch. He ses the 'masses of progress' all git their soon or late— An' Joe's ez smart a feller ez there is in all the State. But Molly doesn't argu'ly; she o'ny hangs aroun'. An' I notice to'ds electin time that things is done up brow'n; The coffee's got an extra snap, the bun's is wonderful light, An' I find my slippers extra warm a-waitin' me at night. She never sez a word while Joe's a-layin' down the law. But ses an' sews a long white seam, so meek ye never saw. But when clectin' mornin' my coat's all brushed an' shoo'd, An' Molly helps me on with it an' gives me such a look— I vow! that child git's more as' more her mother's look agin— An' then she smiles ter see us agin-trampin' thro' the lane. I vow! I'm like a weather-cock, I shift an' alter so. But when it's Joe's ez Molly's way—which way d'ye think I go!

—Judge.

STORY.

A Thorn in the Flesh.

Hartley Baneroff was, in the general acceptance of the term, a kind-hearted man. His feelings were easily reached and these gave usually a ready impulse to his actions. But quick feeling has in most cases a two fold range, warning now into kindly emotion, and now into sudden anger. Your so called kind hearted men are often betrayed into cruel words and even into cruel actions. But there is this merit about them; when the heat of passion subsides, they repent, and sometimes seek to heal where they have wounded.

Such a man was Hartley Baneroff. While the current of events ran smoothly along, the surface of his life reflected the unvarying sunshine, but a very little obstruction sufficed to ripple the waters, and then their aspect darkened.

One day Mr Baneroff was sitting at his desk, with a pile of checks and bills before him, the sum of which he was taking preparatory to a deposit in the bank. It was late in the day for him to be figuring up his accounts; but he had unusually heavy payments to make, and the amount necessary to lift up his notes had been obtained with difficulty. Mr Baneroff felt both hurried and worried, as his quick, nervous movements showed.

Just at this inauspicious moment a man entered the store, and walked quickly back to where Mr Baneroff was sitting.

"Good day, Mr Cartwright."

There was not a very cordial tone in the voice of Mr Baneroff, although the other was a customer who had bought of his goods freely.

"Good day!" There was an embarrassed air about Mr Cartwright.

"What can I do for you?" It was only a form of speech on the part of Baneroff, or rather a new mode of saying, "Don't ask me for anything."

Now, it happened that Mr Cartwright was in a "tight place" as it is called. It was two o'clock and all his efforts to get the full amount of money he needed had failed. Several notes had matured and among them one of seven hundred dollars, given to Mr Baneroff. All but this he had succeeded in lifting; and now, frightened at the aspect of things, he had come, very reluctantly, to his creditor, whom he only knew as a kind-hearted man, to state the extremity of his case, and ask a check for the amount of his note as a temporary loan.

"I am short seven hundred dollars. Can you help me?"

"No!" was the answer made in an emphatic tone, and with a knitting of the brows.

Mr Baneroff noticed that the answer seemed to stagger the applicant; he saw also that he grew pale and had a look of singular distress. But Mr Baneroff was too much excited and annoyed to notice these things.

"Then," said Mr Cartwright, "you will have to withdraw the note from the bank. I cannot lift it."

"I shall do no such thing," angrily replied Mr Baneroff. "Take up your notes as I take up mine."

"I have failed in all my efforts to get money; and if you do not withdraw this note, it will be protested," Mr Cartwright said this very deliberately, and in a firm tone of voice, with a face like ashen.

"Very well," was the unyielding answer, "let it be protested then. If you can bear the operation, I think I can."

Coldly, almost sneeringly, these cruel words were said. Mr Cartwright turned away and pleaded his case no longer but went out from the store of his unyielding creditor. Scarcely had he passed into the street before the better nature of Baneroff rose into the ascendancy, and he reflected on his unkindness.

"William!" he called to a clerk.

The young man came instantly.

"Make this deposit, William; and at the same time withdraw Mr Cartwright's note, due to-day. Money is hard to get just now, and he is burdened with heavy payments. We must give him a helping hand. The merchant spoke kindly, not freely. The clerk departed with the bank book, and a check of sufficient amount to lift the notes that were due. Mr Baneroff remained sitting at his desk, and from his attitude, and the aspect of his countenance it was plain that self approval was not the pleasant state of mind in which he was indulging. The veil of momentary excitement was removed, and now, plainly before the eyes of his mind, stood his humbled and distressed debtor, toward whom not a single impulse of kind feeling had stirred. He tried to find a refuge from self upbraiding in the fact that he had done all the debtor had asked—the note was withdrawn.

"Yes," said a voice within him, "you have cast a bone, with curse, into the face of the beggar!"

Mr Baneroff started up hurriedly from his desk, walked the length of the store, returned, and sat down again. A low, deep sigh parted his lips.

"What could have possessed me that I so far forgot duty and kindness? I would give twice seven hundred dollars to recall this act, were it possible to do so."

Drawing a sheet of paper before him Mr Baneroff took up a pen and wrote: MR EDWARD CARTWRIGHT.

My Dear Sir,—I have withdrawn your note. Forgive my rough unkindness. I was worried about my money matters, and had but just made up my own bank account. We are not always proof against petty annoyances. They sometimes disturb more than larger things. Come in to-morrow and we will arrange for a renewal of this note, if you desire it, making the time to suit yourself.

Mr Baneroff signed this apologetic letter, and dispatched it forthwith. He felt more comfortable after that. Still he suffered some pain from having given pain, and no humiliation for the unamiable weakness he had manifested.

"Did you see Mr Cartwright?" he inquired of the lad who had taken the note.

"No sir; he wasn't there."

"Did you leave it to him?"

"Yes sir." The boy looked agitated. He stood a moment, as if waiting for further question, and then said:—"They were just driving him away in a carriage."

"What!" Mr Baneroff turned pale.

"They said he had broken a blood vessel."

Mr Baneroff started to his feet with mingled surprise and pain.

"There was blood on the floor."

Mr Baneroff groaned aloud. After reflecting for a moment he took up his hat and went out hurriedly. A walk of five minutes brought him to Mr Cartwright's store.

"What was the cause of this?" he asked one of the clerks. Did he fall or was he lifting anything?"

"No," was answered. "He was sitting at his desk, resting his head upon his hands, when I heard him call in a quick voice, and turning round I saw the blood flowing from his mouth."

"Has anything disturbed him," asked Baneroff.

POETRY.

On the Fence.

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 30, 1890.

Anniversary Exercises.

On Sunday, June 1st, at 11 a. m., the baccalaureate sermon will be preached in the Baptist church. The preacher this year is Rev. J. W. Manning, B. A., of Halifax. At 7 p. m., Rev. M. B. Shaw, B. A., missionary to the Telugus, will deliver an address in the Baptist church. On Monday the examinations will be completed. The Senate will meet in the Library at 10 o'clock, a. m., of Tuesday, and continue in session during the day. The Board of Governors will meet in the Library at 9 a. m., on Wednesday. In the afternoon of Wednesday the closing exercises of Horton Academy will be held in College Hall. Wednesday evening in the same place the graduating exercises of Acadia Seminary will take place when members of the class of '90 will deliver essays. Thursday at 10.30 the anniversary of the College will be held. Members of the graduating class will deliver orations, music of a high order be rendered, and addresses given by prominent gentlemen. Thursday evening the class of '90 give a grand reception to alumni and friends. This meeting will be of unusual interest. Posters give full information of its character.

A Hint to our Business Men.

We have frequently referred to the need of some organization among our business men. In other towns boards of trade, trade associations, and other organizations are proving of value and enable merchants and other business men to meet and confer with each other to the mutual advantage of all. Last summer a move was made in this line in Wolfville and for a time we had strong hope of the success of the undertaking; but no definite line of action was adopted and the matter was allowed to drop. We would like to see the matter again revived and fully discussed by our business men in a meeting held for the purpose. We believe a strong and well-organized association of this kind would be of immense benefit to those who do business in our town and to the public in general. Since we have no municipal government of ourselves we think such an organization might aid to a great extent in building up and fostering industries to the profit of all as well as look after the interest of the town in other matters. If our business men would look carefully at the situation we feel sure they would agree that something of this kind is needed and would at once bestir themselves in the matter.

Our Queen.

On Saturday last the seventy-first year of Queen Victoria's life was completed, and in less than another month fifty-three years will have passed since her accession to the throne of Great Britain and Ireland. Her reign has already exceeded in length by eight years that of England's famous Queen Elizabeth, and is longer than that of any other English monarch except King Henry III., who was fifty-six years on the throne, and her grandfather, George III., who occupied it for sixty years. In every quarter of the globe new acquisitions of territory have been of almost annual occurrence, new extensions of influence and dominion have been made. But the territorial expansion of the empire, great as it has been during the present reign, has been surpassed by the immense increase of Britain's commerce and trade and of the wealth that trade and commerce bring in their train. And it may, perhaps, be justly said that in an almost equal degree has been developed in the British island a higher tone of political life and of public and private morals than existed even at the beginning of the current half-century.

Farm Bookkeeping.

There is no doubt that a hard-working farmer, endowed with good common sense, can, however great his intelligence and ability, make his farm more profitable by following out a good and rigid system of farm bookkeeping, in which not only general items of receipts, expenditure and labor are set down, but an accurate record kept of the result of each field under varying conditions as to treatment, etc. Thorough farm bookkeeping is necessarily more complicated than some other kinds, but, nevertheless, can be reduced to a general and excellent system which may be varied according to the necessities of different farms. Intelligence is required to adapt the system to individual conditions, but not more than is required to make farming pay well. The importance of the subject is engaging attention in Germany, and the other day this dry subject actually gathered a large attendance of farmers from far and near to organize an association having for its chief object the promotion of farm bookkeeping.

The Dairy Bulletins.

The Dairy Commissioners of the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa have issued Dairy Bulletin Nos. 1, 2 and 3. Nos. 1 and 2 are devoted to cheese making and No. 3 to butter making. Special instructions as to feed, water, salt, shelter, milking, aeration, cooling and protection are given in bulletin No. 1; factories and their surroundings, milk and making are treated in No. 2; while No. 3 is exclusively devoted to butter making under the following heads: Fat Globules in Milk, Cream Separation, Effect of Temperature, Cream, Churning, Granular Butter, Preparation of Milk for Creameries, Qualities of Cream, The Oil Test Churn, Butter Making in Dairies and Creameries, Store Butter, Roll-Butter and Butter Packing. Under the heading "Feed" it is stated that too much care cannot be exercised in providing feed that is cheap, succulent, easily digestible, wholesome and nutritious. The grass of early summer is too watery and weak in substance to be fed alone to the greatest advantage. A judicious allowance of bran, peas and oats, oil cake or cotton seed meal will increase the milk supply and fortify the cow's system for the production of a large quantity of milk during mid-summer, fall and winter.

WATER.—An abundant supply of pure water is absolutely necessary. It should be furnished at a comfortable temperature during the cold weather of winter. Cows which are denied access to abundance of water will not give as much milk or milk of as good quality as when plenty of water is provided with wholesome, satisfying feed.

SALT.—Dairy cattle should have access to salt every day and salt should be added to all their stable feed daily. Experiments carried on in 1886 go to show that when cows are denied salt for a period of even one week they will yield from 14% to 17% per cent. less milk, and that of an inferior quality. Each milk will, on an average, turn out 24 hours less time than milk drawn from the same or similar cows which obtain a due allowance of salt, all other conditions of treatment being equal.

STABLES.—Stables during the winter should have a temperature constantly within the range of from 40 degrees to 50 degrees Fahr. In summer time a shed should be provided in the pasture fields or adjacent thereto.

MILKING.—When practicable the milking of each cow should be done by the same person, and with regularity as to time. He only that has clean hands should be allowed to milk a cow.

BUTTER MAKING.—A cow is a peculiarly delicate organization and must be handled with kindness and any man who abuses a cow beats out the profit; for she will pay him back by giving less milk and that of a poorer quality. The globules of fat are so numerous that there are at least one thousand millions of them in every cubic inch of milk. From these specks of fat the butter is made.

CREAM SEPARATION.—If milk be left to rest these specks of fat will rise to the top because they are lighter than the liquid in which they float.

Notes from Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 27th.—The coming visit of the Duke of Connaught to Ottawa is looked forward to with great interest. Their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, will arrive here on June 5th (election day) on their way from the Pacific coast via the C. P. R. They will be met by their Excellencies Lord and Lady Stanley, the mayor and aldermen, Sir John Macdonald and cabinet ministers, and escorted to the Parliament buildings, where the civic address will be read. The day will be proclaimed a holiday and profuse decorations will be the order. After the reception in the Senate Chamber the party will proceed to the residence of Sir John A. Macdonald for dinner, afterwards making a tour of the city.

Lord Stanley and party left for Quebec on Monday where they will reside for the summer. They will however be here to receive the Prince.

The programme of the Duke's trip is not definitely known but he will be in Winnipeg on the 29th of June, Niagara Falls, June 1; Toronto, June 2; Kingston, June 3; Montreal 4th and Ottawa 5th.

The last batch of M. P.'s left for home on Saturday last.

Hon. Mr. Tupper is back from Washington, the negotiations having been stopped.

Now that Parliament is over the capital has turned its attention to local politics and the fight is waxing hot. There are no less than four candidates already in the field for one vacancy, and all the bitterness of religious feeling as well as party strife is in the contest. So far the Equal Rights candidate appears to have the best of it, judging from the enthusiastic mass meetings in his favor. The cry everywhere is "Mowat must go!" The fight in Ontario is not over. Repeal, or Annexation, or independence, or the fisheries, but over the question of whether the church or the state shall control our schools. As near as your correspondent can guess at present the man with the most votes will win.

Considerable interest was manifested in the capital over the result of the Nova Scotia elections. The telegraph offices were besieged, and as the returns came in the crowds manifested great enthusiasm as well as sympathy.

Just Received!

Wolfville Drug Store.

A fine assortment of Confectionery suitable for the Anniversary Season.

ON HAND, the usual assortment of Drugs, Fancy Goods, Essences, Perfumery, &c., &c.

SODA WATER!

With usual list of flavors, and the celebrated BIRCH BEER and GINGER ALE. Give us a call.

Geo. V. Rand, Wolfville, May 30th, 1890.

ST. JOHN AND MINAS BASIN ROUTE.

Steamers of this route will sail as follows during the MONTH OF MAY:

Leave: Hantsport for Parrsboro Village, Monday—5th, 10 20 a m; 12th, 4 50 a m; 19th, 10 00 a m; 26th, 3 30 p m. Parrsboro Village for Hantsport, Tuesday—6th, 10 00 a m; 13th, 6 00 a m; 20th, 11 15 a m; 27th, 4 45 p m. Wolfville for Parrsboro Pier, calling at Kingsport, Monday—5th, 12 10 p m; 12th, 7 00 a m; 19th, 11 30 a m; 26th, 6 00 a m. Parrsboro Pier for Wolfville, calling at Kingsport, Tuesday—6th, 10 00 a m; 13th, 4 30 a m; 20th, 9 30 a m; 27th, 4 30 a m. Windsor for Parrsboro Pier, calling at Hantsport and Kingsport, Wednesday—7th, 1 40 p m; 14th, 12 40 p m. Windsor for Parrsboro Pier, calling at Hantsport, Thursday—8th, 9 30 a m; 15th, 7 30 a m; 22nd, 1 15 p m; 29th, 9 30 a m; Thursday 22d, 3 00 p m; Wednesday 28th, 6 30 a m; Thursday 29th, 8 00 a m.

Parrsboro Pier for Wolfville, calling at Kingsport and Hantsport, Friday—9th, 1 00 p m; 16th, 12 10 p m. Parrsboro Pier for Wolfville, calling at Hantsport, Thursday—14th, 6 00 a m; Friday 2d, 6 40 a m; Thursday 8th, 12 10 p m; Thursday 15th, 6 10 a m; Friday 16th, 6 00 p m; Thursday 22d, 11 30 a m; Thursday 29th, 5 00 a m; Friday 30th, 5 30 a m.

STEAMER "HIAWATHA"

Will leave Hantsport for St John, calling at Kingsport and Parrsboro, Wednesday 14th, 7 00 a m; Wednesday 28th, 6 00 a m. Will leave Mattland for St John, calling at Parrsboro, Wednesday 7th, 1 45 p m; Wednesday 21st, 1 10 p m. Returning will leave St John every Thursday evening.

STEAMER "ACADIA"

Will leave Wolfville every Wednesday to connect with "HIAWATHA" at Parrsboro for St John, also connect at Parrsboro for Windsor on her return. FARE—Windsor, Hantsport, Kingsport, Mattland and Parrsboro to St John, $2 75; return, $4 50. Children under 12 years half fare. Three hours added to time of leaving Hantsport or Mattland will give time of leaving Parrsboro for St John. Boats run on Halifax time.

E. CHURCHILL & SONS, Hantsport, May 1st, 1890.

STRAY LEAVES

"Book of Wonders."

(LESLIE LORING DAVISON.)

With a Preface by Harl Harloe.

Edited by Ben Zeens.

It gives me great pleasure to say a few words in recommendation of the "Book of Wonders." The name is an appropriate one, although given it by the author in his humorous way. It is a book of wonders, in reading the pleasing articles we regret that the author has gone, and that we will read no more. In his death Nova Scotia lost a promising writer. He was both a poet and a novelist. The editor has conferred a favor by publishing the book, and I feel certain that Nova Scotia readers will give it a welcome. Nova Scotians are always ready to acknowledge native talent wherever it appears.—HARL HARLOE.

"When Leslie L. Davison went down into the grave, the first bright rays of a great intellect went out. Although he had not yet reached that age when the mind of man takes its predestined stand and shines forth in all its brightness, yet the morning beam had already begun to tell of the approaching noontide which, alas! never came. His mind was eminently of the poetic class—the class which receives a sermon from the 'prying' leaf, learns a song from the robin, exults with nature, and feels itself to be 'part of the mighty universe around'; for the poet's soul rages with the storm, glows with the sunshine, and darkens with the shadow. His prose overflows with poetic diction and sparkles with genius—poetic genius."

"E. B." in ACADIAN of December 6th, 1888.

"In the death of Leslie L. Davison, the author of the 'Book of Wonders,' Nova Scotia certainly lost a brilliant writer. It was with real regret on any part that I read the concluding article in that very interesting series of articles which has been running in the ACADIAN during the summer months, entitled 'Book of Wonders,' contributed by Ben Zeens. Such articles as 'Hawthorne,' 'The Bannockburn Grounds,' 'A Graveyard Vision,' 'His Last Hour,' and the poem in the concluding article, 'The Long Ago,' are really extraordinary. In reading them it is difficult to imagine that their author was but a boy of sixteen. The author of the series of articles tells us that he was 'a Catholic,' but does not give it to the public. Willard Ben Zeens favors us with the following: 'Butter still, why not collect his complete works and publish them in book form? I am sure every one who has read it is serious and would be impatient for its publication.'—READER, in ACADIAN of Sept. 21st, 1888.

For Sale at this Office.

For Drains.

Walton's 2 inch Draining Tiles at $10.00 per 1000.

Also, American Draining Tools For Sale Low. Walter Brown.

Wolfville, May 23d, 1890.

Baird's French Ointment.

THIS Ointment has been used with the greatest success in the speedy cure of all eruptions arising from an impure state of the blood or from infection. It relieves and cures ECZEMA, SALT RHEUM, ITCH, SCRIVY, BOILS, PILES, ULCERS, CHAPPED HANDS and LIPS, INSECT STINGS, &c. In use 50 years. At all dealers. 25 Cents.

The Chute, Hall & Co. Organ!

Yarmouth, - - N. S. BEST IN THE MARKET! Superior Quality. Popular Prices. Terms to Suit the Purchaser. H. O. DAVINSON, - - AGENT. WOLFVILLE, N. S. Call or write for particulars.

"Shades of my Grandfather."

No I not exactly that, but Shades of all kinds for hanging on people's windows to keep the sun, moon, dust, flies, frost, inquisitive gazers, in fact a shade that is useful for many purposes.

A well dressed window is a sign of refinement to passers, and a source of satisfaction to those within the house. You say, "It is all very well to talk about pretty furnishings, but it takes lots of money to buy them." Well if you buy these things in some places we will agree with you, but if you buy from us we can fit you out so cheap, for instance:

- 1 Sett Curtains, $1.00
1 Dado Shade, .80
1 Curtain Pole, .65
$2.45.

Who would be without these improvements when they can be had at such a trifling cost, besides the convenience, no rolling up shades on a stick and punching the cloth full of holes, till it looks like a milk strainer.

We are the headquarters for Curtains, Shades, Curtain Poles, the largest and best assorted stock in Wolfville. Ten patterns in Dado Shades, besides numerous patterns in "Lancaster" Linens and Cambrics. We have also samples of over forty more shades which can be ordered at short notice. All shades are mounted on first-class rollers, no tacks used in putting them on, all fastened with "Wyant's" patent clasp. "Haswell's Patent Guide" will prevent the shades from running crooked, only 15c extra.

Curtain Poles!

All lengths, for Bay Windows, Screens, &c. A novel feature in these is the Link Joints, so that a pole can be fitted around the curve of a Bay Window, thereby having the recess of the window in the room.

Don't forget, we will put these shades on your windows free of charge, and will guarantee our Rollers to stand. We sell no trashy goods.

Splendid assortment of Curtains in white and colors. We are the pioneers in the shade business in this town and intend to sell cheaper than anyone, notwithstanding the solicitations of other dealers to put our prices up.

GALDWELL, CHAMBERS, & Co.

Wolfville, May 16th, 1890.

DRESSMAKING!

MISS F. E. DAVISON respectfully announces to her friends and the public that she has resumed dress-making in Wolfville and for the present taken rooms at Mr. Fred. Woodworth's, next door south of the Methodist church. Having practised the system of cutting known as the Magic Scale for several years with perfect success, she feels assured that she will be able to please the most fastidious. Lessons given in cutting and fitting by the Magic Scale system and charts furnished at reasonable terms.

Wolfville, May 14th, 1890.

International S. S. Co.

For Boston Direct. From Annapolis and Digby.

Commencing Tuesday, May 6th, the Favorite Side Wheel

S. S. New Brunswick, having been thoroughly overhauled, will leave Annapolis (calling at Digby) every TUESDAY and FRIDAY, directly after the arrival of the express train from Halifax.

For Boston Direct!

Returning leaving Commercial Wharf, Boston, every MONDAY and THURSDAY morning, for Digby and Annapolis direct. Fare from W. & A. Ry. points is than by any other route. For further information and tickets apply to all ticket agents.

One Dollar Less

D. MUNFORD, Agent, Wolfville.

NOTICE!

This is to certify that Mr. John Lomeray, of Stationville, N. S., is the only duly authorized representative of the

MUTUAL RESERVE FUND LIFE ASSOCIATION (OF NEW YORK.)

For the counties of King's, Annapolis, Digby, Yarmouth, Shelburne, Queens, Lunenburg, &c., and any one soliciting business therein without his authority will not be recognized by this Association.

J. D. WELLS, General Manager for Canada, Toronto.

Seed Barley!

FOR SALE BY X. Z. Chipman. Greenwich, 14 May, 1890. If

BEST ROUTE TO BOSTON!

CANADA ATLANTIC LINE! Only One Night at Sea—Quickest and Most Direct Route—Low Fares.

The Magnificent Clyde Built Steel S. S. "HALIFAX."

Is the largest, safest, fastest and best furnished and most comfortable passenger steamship ever placed on the route between Canada and the United States.

Sails from Noble's Wharf, Halifax every Wednesday, at 8 o'clock, and Lewis Wharf, Boston, every Saturday, at 12 o'clock.

Passengers by Tuesday evening train go on board on arrival without extra charge. Tickets for sale by T. L. Dodge & Co., Kentville; George V. Rand, Wolfville; J. W. Lawrence, Hantsport; J. E. Curran, Windsor.

CHIPMAN BROS., General Agents, Halifax.

NOW IS YOUR TIME!

To get full sets of Standard Works at an amazingly low price. These sets are without doubt the Finest Cheap Editions made, either American or Foreign, and are largely illustrated with superior woodcuts.

Cady's complete works (10 vols) $7 00; Theaker's do (10 vols) 5 00; George Eliot's do (6 vols) 4 00; Charles Dickens' works (15 vols) 6 00; Macaulay's Hist of Eng. (5 vols) 2 00; Macaulay's Essays, Speeches and Poems (3 vols) 2 00; Gibbon's History of Rome (6 vols) 2 50; Hudson's complete Shakespeare (6 vols) 5 50; Scott's Waverley Novels (12 vols) 5 75; Hume's History of Eng. (6 vols) 2 50.

The cash must accompany the order. Books will be delivered at any point in the city free of charge. Address

Knowles' Bookstore, A. M. Hoare, Manager, COR. GEORGE & GRANVILLE STS., 29-41 HALIFAX, N. S.

WINDSOR STEAM LAUNDRY.

Having recently made changes and improvements in our business we are now better prepared than ever to execute all kinds of laundry work. We make a special discount to family washings and solicit orders for same. Price lists and discounts furnished on application.

WINDSOR STEAM LAUNDRY CO. J. H. BISHOP, Agent in Wolfville.

Frank leaves Wolfville on Tuesday's freight; returns on Saturday's express, May 30, 1890.

"Electric" AND "Bessemer!"

ARE TWO NEW LINES OF Men's American Calf Shoes.

Great Style, Fine Stock, Well Finished, Will Wear Like Iron.

Look at our "Ooze Calf Shoes" for $3.00.

This is a new tannage of calf and is very stylish and durable. C. H. Borden's, Wolfville.

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., MAY 30, 1890.

Local and Provincial.

Have you tried the new drink—Birch at Band's?

CHURCH.—Frank A. Robins' combined is to perform in Kentville on June 1st.

SUPREME COURT.—Supreme Court will open at Kentville on Tuesday next, Judge Weatherbe presiding.

BRIDGES.—We understand that Mr. Robert Harvey, of Grand Pre, intends erecting a fine new house this summer. The work is to be superintended by E. E. W. Woodworth, of this place, who expects plenty of work just now.

Show Case, 6x2 1/2 ft., for sale. A. R. PRAT.

CHICK BUTTER.—We have always on hand Choice Butter, made by the best cream in Kings Co. We can supply our customers with any quantity either fresh, Bells or Tubs for 20 cents per pound. CALDWELL, CAMERON & Co. tf.

CORNER.—Messrs D. R. Munro, F. P. Beckwith and O. D. Harris had a successful day's fishing on the Basin on Monday and succeeded in taking a large number of good fish. This is the first we have heard of being taken from here.

Widow Blinds of all kinds, styles and prices at the Wolfville Book Store.

Too MANY BILLS.—Mr Henry Biridge, of Canard, informs us that one of his boys this spring hatched a gosling that had three perfectly formed bills. The youngster could not stand the shock of having so many bills and died in a few days.

GREEN'S BIRTHDAY.—The people of Wolfville celebrated the Queen's Birthday on Monday. The stores were closed and the town presented a quiet appearance. A great many spent the day in fishing and others enjoyed themselves in other ways.

Splendid Stock Mixed Paints at S. R. Sleep's, Handy Colours, All Shades.

GOOD IDEA.—Cornwallis Valley Railway Co., are setting out rows of apple trees throughout the whole length of the road. Travellers on this road will, in the not very distant future, probably admire this special feature of the beautifying of railroads.

JEFFERSON.—The Juniors did not get away on their annual expedition as announced in consequence of their not being able to procure a suitable vessel for the purpose. As they had laid all their plans for the trip, it was no doubt quite a disappointment to the class.

Wire Fencing, for sale low, by WALTER BROWN.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, WOLFVILLE.—Next Sunday, June 1, Trinity Sunday, there will be full morning services in St. John's church at eleven o'clock. Subject of sermon: "The Prayer for the World of Christ's Church Militant on Earth; and the Thanksgiving for the Faithful Departed."

OFF FOR A VACATION.—Rev. Mr. Ross is now enjoying his regular summer vacation. He and Mrs. Ross left on Monday for Pictou and will visit different parts of the Province during their trip. During Mr. Ross' absence his pulpit will be supplied by neighboring clergymen. Rev. Mr. Dawson, of Canard, is expected to preach next Sunday.

Choice Family Flour, Wheat Bran, Germ Meal, Corn Meal, R. PRAT.

WANTED.—A regular correspondent for this paper in each of the various villages of this county, who will send us all news of interest in connection with their immediate neighborhood. Give the facts, if you have not the leisure to put them in proper form, and we will arrange them. The ACADIAN will be sent free of charge to persons disposed to try their hand.

MEMORIAL WINDOW.—Measurements for a memorial window to be placed in St. John's church, Wolfville, have been sent to England. It is to be given by the children of the late Rev. John Storres, for many years Rector of Cornwallis and Horton. One of his sons, the Rev. John Storres, is the present rector of St. Peter's church, Eaton Square, London, - Ohio.

Another lot of those Handsome Dadoed Blinds just received at the Wolfville Book Store.

Anniversary!

NEW GOODS ARRIVING DAILY. In store and due to-morrow from Boston: Fine Blood Oranges, Valencia Oranges, Messina Lemons, Red and Yellow Bananas, Fine Apples, Fard and Tunis Dates (very choice), Cocoanuts (large and fresh), Peanuts (15c per lb.), Evaporated Apples, Prunes, &c.

Confectionery and Syrups!

Mixtures, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, and 40c. Ganong's and M., Son & Co's. Fine Chocolate Creams, 30c per lb. Tutti Frutti, Sappota, Licorice, and Spruce Gum, Brown & Webb's Pure Fruit Syrups and Lime Juice, New Pipes, Cigars, Cigarettes, Cut Tobaccos and Smokers' Sundries.

Canned Goods!

Corn, Peas, Tomatoes, Baked Beans, Salmon, Lobster, Beef, Tongue, Potted Ham, Sardines, Peaches, Cherries, etc. English Mixed Pickles, 20c per bottle. Sauces, Cocoa, Pure Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

China, Glass & E. Ware!

In store and to arrive: Fine Assortment American and Canadian Glass-ware. New Tea Sets, Dinner Sets, Chamber Sets (from $1.00 per set up).

SPECIALTIES!

Sugar Cured Hams, Choice Table Butter, Graham Bread, Plain and Fancy Biscuits.

12 Cents for Eggs.

R. PRAT.

Wolfville, May 30, 1890.

The Returns.

For the benefit of those who wish to know the exact number of votes polled in the different wards of this county, we publish the correct returns, as made known at Declaration:—

Table with columns for Ward, Harris, S. R. Sleep, Webster, and Walton. Lists various wards like Sheffield Mills, Canning, Kingsport, etc.

500 Hackmatack Posts, for sale; low price. WALTER BROWN.

To Our Subscribers.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., of Kennebec Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."

A Handy Reckoner.

Mr. Editor,—I send you this for the benefit of the public copied from Monetary Times, to find the day of the week of any given date.

"Take the last two figures of the year and a quarter of that, disregarding the fraction; add the date of the month, and to this add the figure in the following list—one figure standing for each month, 3, 6, 6, 2, 4, 0, 2, 5, 1, 3, 6, 1. Divide the sum by 7 and the remainder will give the number of the day in the week, and when there is no remainder the day will be Saturday."

Supreme Council.

The spring term of the Supreme Court will open at Kentville on Tuesday next, June 3d. Judge Weatherbe will preside.

The following causes are entered for trial:—

Fred C. Kilcup, vs. S. Belcher. Action for replevin.—Geo. H. King for plaintiff. Roscoe for defendant.

Died.

HALBURTON.—Suddenly, at Wolfville, May 24th, W. H. O. Haliburton, in his 82d year.

TRAVIS.—At Windsor, May 23d, after a long and painful illness, Stephen Travis, aged 63 years. He was a well known and worthy citizen, and was for many years in the employ of the W. & A. Railway.

MAJORITY - OF THE LADIES GO TO - HARRIS'S!

FOR THEIR Dress Goods, Dress Trimmings, Satteens, Cambrics, Flannelettes, Seersuckers, PLAIN AND FANCY!

Hosiery, Gloves, Hamburgs and Founcings!

A NEW DEPARTMENT.

Ladies' White Embroidered Underwear in Sets and Single Pieces. Aprons and Pinajores.

CURTAINS: IN WHITE & CREAM. ART MUSLINS. CRETONS.

Carpets, Mats, Floor Oil-cloths.

A PLEASURE TO SHOW GOODS.

WANTED:--Wool, etc., at highest prices.

Glasgow House,

O. D. Harris.

Store will be closed on Monday, May 26th.

Wolfville, May 23d, 1890.

SEE! SPRING STOCK!

OF Dress Goods, Satteens, Cambrics and Flannelettes.

AT RYAN'S, KENTVILLE.

N. B.—Store closes at 6 o'clock, p. m., Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Dadoed Blinds!

NEW LOT JUST RECEIVED AT The Wolfville Bookstore.

We are showing the best value ever offered in these goods and guarantee satisfaction, as we use nothing but the celebrated "Commonsense" and "Hartshorn's" Blind Rollers (the two best rollers in the market), and put our Blinds on with "Hartshorn's" Patent Steel Clamps (which are superior to all others).

SPRING ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are better prepared this spring than ever before to supply our patrons with everything they may need in our line. Our stock of Sheaf and Heavy Hardware! Builders' Materials!

Johnson's Decorators' Leads! Henderson & Potts' Mixed Paints!

is very complete. We are also prepared to furnish all the best makes of Farming Implements!

at lowest prices, and shall be pleased to quote prices to any who may favor us with a call.

Our Tinware Department!

Is complete in every particular and as usual we keep in stock and make to order anything in that line. We make a specialty of TIN ROOFING, GUTTERING AND CONDUCERS. Remember we are agent for Frost & Wood's celebrated plows and keep pieces for same in stock; also for the Yarmouth and "Charter Oak" Stoves.

Call and see us! We will not be beaten either in prices or goods.

S. R. SLEEP, L. W. SLEEP, Manager.

Wolfville, April 24th, 1890.

SPRING & SUMMER!

Burpee Witter!

Would call attention to his Spring and Summer stock. Black Dress Goods in Cashmere, Henrietta Cloth and Grenadine. Robe dresses in newest designs. Cambrics and Satteens.

Colored dress goods in new shades, with trimmings to match flannelettes.

Black Lace Flouncing, Hamburgs, Mandalay Meshins, Hoitory, Gloves.

WOOL Wanted.

Latest Styles in Hats, Bonnets, Flowers, Laces and Ribbons. Orders promptly executed.

MILLINERY!

READY MADE CLOTHING!

Children's, Boys's and Men's,—all sizes. A large stock of Nova Scotia from best mills exchanged for wool.

Wolfville, May 16th, 1890.

WHITE BRONZE MONUMENT CO., ST. THOMAS, ONTARIO.

Manufacturers of Monuments, Head Markers, Statuary, Church Tablets, Vases, Grave Trimmings, &c., &c.

The above are guaranteed not to become moss-grown, discolored with age and not to crack with frost. All inscriptions being in raised letters, will remain legible. There is but one grade of metal used, and not containing iron in any form can not rust. Are endorsed by scientists.

Sales in Canada last season were over 50 per cent of previous years. In the United States there are six large establishments for the manufacture of the above, in which over 20 large soldiers' monuments were made in 1889, ranging in price from $1,000 to $6,000, besides a large number of family monuments and other cemetery work. Prices depend on size and style.

For prices and terms apply to the Agent for King's and Annapolis Cos., N. S., by James V. Cook, Represented in Charlotte Co., N. B.; also in King's and Annapolis Cos., N. S., by Care ROCKWELL & CO., Stationers, Wolfville, N. S.

Wolfville, May 23d, 1890.

BUY AMBER SOAP FULL POUND.

Sold Everywhere!

For Sale!

A very valuable Farm, situated near Port Williams, containing large orchards, tillage and pasture lands, with an inexhaustible supply of black mud. There are also in connection 20 acres of prime dyke, 5 acres of meadow and 30 acres of wood-land. It is very pleasantly situated near churches, schools and markets. Must be sold on account of the subscriber's ill health. Further particulars gladly supplied on application.

Jas. W. Masters, Church St., Cornwallis, J. L. MASTERS, Wolfville.

DAVID THOMPSON, Painter & Paper Hanger.

ORDERS MAY BE LEFT AT ROCKWELL & CO'S BOOKSTORE. Resided co at Mr John Stewart's Wolfville.

There is nothing like Dr. Norton's DOCK BLOOD PURIFIER.

to cleanse the BLOOD and tone up the system at this season of the year.

ONE BOTTLE! will make you feel like A New Man!

All Druggists & Dealers.

W. P.

Are the initials of an article that should be in every household.

G. B.

For Sale or To Let!

A commodious Dwelling House of 7 Rooms and suitable Out-buildings, and 2 1/2 Acres of Land, in high state of cultivation on which there is 65 Apple Trees, set out 2 years ago. Possession given at once. Apply to J. M. SHAW.

There is nothing like Dr. Norton's DOCK BLOOD PURIFIER.

to cleanse the BLOOD and tone up the system at this season of the year.

ONE BOTTLE! will make you feel like A New Man!

All Druggists & Dealers.

W. P.

Are the initials of an article that should be in every household.

G. B.

For Sale or To Let!

A commodious Dwelling House of 7 Rooms and suitable Out-buildings, and 2 1/2 Acres of Land, in high state of cultivation on which there is 65 Apple Trees, set out 2 years ago. Possession given at once. Apply to J. M. SHAW.

There is nothing like Dr. Norton's DOCK BLOOD PURIFIER.

to cleanse the BLOOD and tone up the system at this season of the year.

ONE BOTTLE! will make you feel like A New Man!

All Druggists & Dealers.

Parsons' Pills

Make New Rich Blood!

For Cramps, Chills, Colic, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cholera-Morbus and all Bowel Complaints, NO REMEDY EQUALS

PAIN-KILLER

49 Years' Experience proves that PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER is the best Family Remedy for Burns, Bruises, Sprains, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Toothache.

Sold Everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a Bottle. Beware of Counterfeits and worthless Imitations.

Photo. Studio.

--Lewis Rice, of Windsor,--

Branch Gallery at Wolfville

April 1st, and remain one week of each month commencing first Monday in the month.

APRIL 7th till 12th; MAY 5th till 10th; JUNE 2nd till 7th.

NEW ROOMS PATRIQUIN BUILDING, WOLFVILLE, N. S.

K. D. C.

IS A POSITIVE CURE FOR INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA IN ANY FORM.

TRY IT TRY IT!

DENTISTRY! DENTISTRY!

Wm. A. Payzant, DENTIST. In new prepared to extract teeth absolutely without pain.

L. J. DONALDSON, Breeder of Thoroughbred Wyandottes and Light Brahms.

1890. THE 1890. Yarmouth Steamship Co. (LIMITED)

The Shortest and Most Direct Route between Nova Scotia and the United States.

"YARMOUTH," Will leave Yarmouth for Boston every Wednesday and Saturday evening.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered for the cure of Spavin.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. I have always purchased your Kendall's Spavin Cure.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. BROOKLYN, N. Y., November 8, 1886.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. WYANDOTTES, ONTO, DEC. 19, 1886.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. As the former, who was young as well as pretty, passed forward to accept a seat.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD.

There is no Record of Them, Save in the Book of the Recording Angel.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN.

And Its Owner Used to Having It Stopped On in Street.

A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

THE FOOT WAS WOODEN. A Michigan avenue car stopped at Second Street recently to permit a young lady and a gentleman to get on.

SHOPPING IN LONDON.

A Singer's Experience with British Shop-Keepers.

They Keep Every Thing Under Lock and Key and Look Upon Customers with Suspicious Eyes--A Hunt for a Jaquemint Rose.

In an interview with a New York Herald reporter a singer who has undergone much of her training abroad describes her search after a desired article in a London store.

"What would the lady like?" "A pair of rubbers."

"Oh, yes, Mr. Brown, please stop this way." "Mr. Brown appears and inquires: 'What would you like, miss?'"

"Rubbers." "Oh, yes, Fiedick! Fiedick, please call Charles to unlock the drawer the sandals are in."

"Charles comes forward, unlocks drawer after drawer till he finds the pair, and begins to look upon rubbers as very valuable articles and wonder if I must keep mine in a jewel case hereafter."

"You go into picture gallery, and every time you turn your head you see a guard behind you watching that you do not take any thing, and there are innumerable injunctions to 'Move your hands off the pictures.' No canes or umbrellas allowed inside, etc."

"You have only to cross the channel--a short hour and a half it takes--and you are in a totally different nation, different costumes, different languages, and oh! how different the customs. Every thing is open to inspection. No one suspects you of being a thief; nothing is under lock and key."

"Why, I have been to the Palace of Versailles on a fountain day, when probably ten thousand were there, and all you saw of espionage was a man to let you in and one to let you out. And inside you can walk all through, look at the beautiful vases, pictures, rarest objects of art without a protest from any one. For all I could see, one could carry off two or three vases, poke his umbrella through a picture, punch a hole in the wall, drop dynamite in a corner and no one would know who did it."

"And the English tradespeople are so slow comprehending you, while the French understand the slightest nod, and even anticipate your wishes."

"I went into a florist's in London and asked for some Jaquemint roses."

"Ah," said the proprietor, "Jack--Jack--" "Jaquemint roses."

"Oh, yes, Miss Clara, please come forward." "Miss Clara appears. 'What would the lady like?'"

"Jaquemint roses--red, red roses; something like June roses, you know."

"I don't want June roses. Jaquemint roses; something like June roses, I said."

"Mr. Brown! Miss Clara calls. 'Mr. Brown appears on the scene to play his little part in the farce.'"

"What did you say you wanted?" inquired Miss Clara. "I was wanting quite desperate."

"Red roses. Jaquemint. Red--sort of magenta color myself with frenzy."

"Mr. Brown, here is a lovely pair of Jaquemint roses," I said, feebly. "What did the lady say she wanted?" inquired Mr. Brown, suavely.

"Jaquemint roses. Red--nearly like June roses."

"We can give you some very handsome yellow roses."

"No, I want Jaquemint. Have you none?" "We have several other varieties. Allow me to show you some."

"No, thank you." "Miss Clara here inquired politely if the lady would not take some June roses?"

"No, no, no! I thank you." "As I feared the dear old proprietor, who had first passed me over to Miss Clara, advanced again with: 'What did the lady want?'"

"Jaquemint roses." "Miss Clara, haven't you any thing to please the lady? Show her some yellow roses."

"No, I thank you, no, and I escaped. 'Well, I went from one end of Regent Street to the other, from one end of Oxford Street to the other, and passed through that identical experience at every florist's shop, but did not find a single Jaquemint rose.'"

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Robbins' Circus is billing the province for July.

THE REV. GEO. H. THAYER, of Bourbon, Ind., says: "Both myself and Wife owe our lives to SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE." Sold by George V. Rand.

ARE YOU MADE miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shiloh's Vitalizer is a positive cure. Sold by George V. Rand.

James Nashmith, the celebrated mechanical engineer and inventor of the steam hammer, is dead.

Baird's Balsam of Horehound promptly relieves and cures obstinate coughs, croup, hoarseness, and all affections of the throat and lungs. It gives immediate relief.

The death is announced of Donald Montgomery, superintendent of education in Prince Edward Island.

Any child will take McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup; it is not only exceedingly pleasant but it is a sure remedy for all kinds of these pests. Look out for imitations. Get McLean's, the original and only genuine.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage is to receive $10,000 for his twenty lectures with Chatauqua a month this summer.

A specific remedy for indigestion or dyspepsia in any form is found in King's Dyspepsia Cure, the only preparation of the kind in the market. It is guaranteed or money refunded. One dollar a package. Sample package to any address on receipt of three cent stamp. Sole proprietors, King's Dyspepsia Cure, No. 14, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia.

Premier Crispi declares that Italy's policy is peace. The Triple Alliance still continues. Italy is in perfect accord with England.

MOTHERS, READ THIS--If you are suffering from weakness caused from overwork, nursing, etc., Putnam's Emulsion is what is required to build you up and give tone to your system. If your child is delicate or your husband complains of being tired, give them Putnam's Emulsion, depend upon it, that is what they need.

Kelly & Spear, Bath, Me., are laying the keel of what will be the largest schooner of any kind afloat, exceeding considerably the Governor Ames.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Max O'Rell received $10,000 for his fifty lectures in America last season. He has also been guaranteed $10,000 on his next tour about the United States.

For Delicate, Sickly Children Scott's Emulsion is unequalled. See what Dr. C. A. Black, of Amherst, N. S., says: "I have been acquainted with Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, for years, and consider it one of the finest preparations now before the public. Its pleasant flavor makes it the great favorite for children and I do highly recommend it for all wasting diseases of children and adults. Sold by Druggists, 50 cents and $1."

A French officer and twelve men, having defended themselves 'till their ammunition was exhausted, were overpowered, killed and eaten by the natives at Bangui, on a branch of the Congo.

Mr William Love was killed at New Glasgow on the 14th. He was ploughing, and one of the horses, being unbroken, turned, threw him down and trampled on his breast. He died in half an hour.

C. C. RICHARDS & CO. Agents--Having used MINARD'S LINIMENT for several years in my stable, I attest to its being the best thing I know for horse flesh. In the family, we have used it for every purpose that a liniment is adapted for, it being recommended to by the late Dr. J. L. B. Webster. Personally I find it the best ally of neuralgic pain I have ever used.

B. Titus, Proprietor Yarmouth Livery Stable.

London has honored Stanley with a grand reception at Guild Hall. The Lord Mayor presented him with a gold casket containing an address from the Corporation. Stanley urged a British advance in Africa.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.--Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the Gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething, is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price, twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other.

It is reported that Mr Ketchum has arranged for building six one-hundred-ton steamers to carry produce from the Gulf into the Bay of Fundy, over the Marine Railway. Contracts are to be made at once with the Kingston locomotive works for an engine to draw the ships.

Walter Brown's. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

Excelsior Package Dyes!

Are unequalled for Simplicity of use, Beauty of Color, and the large amount of Goods each Dye will color.

The colors, namely are supplied: Yellow, Orange, Eosine (Pink), Bismarck, Scarlet, Green, Dark Green, Light Blue, Navy Blue, Slate Brown, Brown, Black, Garnet, Magenta, Blue, Plum, Drab, Purple, Violet, Maroon, Old Gold, Cardinal, Red, Crimson.

The above Dyes are prepared for Dyeing Silk, Wool, Cotton, Feathers, Hair, Paper, Basket Woods, Liquids, and all kinds of Fancy Work. Only 8 cents a package. Sold by all first class Druggists and Grocers and wholesale by the EXCELSIOR DYE CO., C. HARRISON & C., Cambridge, King's County, N. S.

ANY MAN. He is Weak, Nervous, Debilitated, he is Folly and Ignorance has tried away his Vigor of Body, Mind and Wealth, causing exhausting drains upon his Fountains of Life, Headache, Backache, Dizziness, Weakness, Memory, Insatiable Appetite, and all the Effects of Early Decay, Consumption, Imbricancy, with loss of his appetite, No. 24, Positive Cure. It imparts Youthful vigor restores the Vital Power in old and young, strengthens and invigorates the Brain and Nerves, builds up the muscular system, and restores the whole system to the vigor of the human frame. With our specific No. 24, the most obstinate cases can be cured in two months, and recent cases in less than thirty days. Each package contains two weeks treatment. Price $1.00. Guaranteed. Our stock is No. 24 is an infallible Cure for all Private Diseases, no matter how long standing. Sold under our written guarantee. See a Cure, Price $5. Toronto Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont.

LADIES ONLY. FRENCH REGULATION PILLS. An superior to Egot, Tansy, Pennyroyal, or any other. Endorsed by the thousands of ladies who use them MONTHLY. Never fail. Relieves the INSURE REGULARITY, Pleasant and Painless. Price, $2. Toronto Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont.

Losses Paid Over $5,800,000. Life Insurance. That Insures.

Apply for membership in the Permanent, Progressive, Equitable, Reliable Northwestern Masonic Aid Association of Chicago, Ill.

DANIEL J. AVERY, J. A. STODDARD, President. Secretary, J. B. DAVISON, Agent at Wolfville.

R. W. EATON. Has in stock a very large assortment Stationery, School Books, Bibles, Poems, etc., also a choice lot of Fancy Goods, PICTURE & ROOM Moulding.

His stock of ROOM PAPER, comprising the choicest patterns ever shown here, will be complete next week. His prices are the lowest in the County.

Kenilville, March 5th, 1889. N. B.--Frames made at short notice and cheap for cash.

Having sold a good many trees outside of the county, I still have the CREAM OF THE NURSERY!

NOVA SCOTIA NURSERY, CORNWALLIS. F. E. SMITH, Proprietor.

For Delicate, Sickly Children Scott's Emulsion is unequalled. See what Dr. C. A. Black, of Amherst, N. S., says: "I have been acquainted with Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, for years, and consider it one of the finest preparations now before the public. Its pleasant flavor makes it the great favorite for children and I do highly recommend it for all wasting diseases of children and adults. Sold by Druggists, 50 cents and $1."

A French officer and twelve men, having defended themselves 'till their ammunition was exhausted, were overpowered, killed and eaten by the natives at Bangui, on a branch of the Congo.

Mr William Love was killed at New Glasgow on the 14th. He was ploughing, and one of the horses, being unbroken, turned, threw him down and trampled on his breast. He died in half an hour.

C. C. RICHARDS & CO. Agents--Having used MINARD'S LINIMENT for several years in my stable, I attest to its being the best thing I know for horse flesh. In the family, we have used it for every purpose that a liniment is adapted for, it being recommended to by the late Dr. J. L. B. Webster. Personally I find it the best ally of neuralgic pain I have ever used.

B. Titus, Proprietor Yarmouth Livery Stable.

London has honored Stanley with a grand reception at Guild Hall. The Lord Mayor presented him with a gold casket containing an address from the Corporation. Stanley urged a British advance in Africa.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.--Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the Gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for Children Teething, is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price, twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other.

It is reported that Mr Ketchum has arranged for building six one-hundred-ton steamers to carry produce from the Gulf into the Bay of Fundy, over the Marine Railway. Contracts are to be made at once with the Kingston locomotive works for an engine to draw the ships.

Walter Brown's. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

WALTER BROWN'S. WOLFVILLE, OCT. 17th 1889.

W. & A. RAILWAY.

Time Table 1889--Winter Arrangement--1889.

Table with columns: GOING EAST, GOING WEST, Station, Time, etc.

N. B. Trains are run on Eastern Standard Time. One hour added will give Halifax time.

Steamer "City of Montreal" leaves St. John every Monday, Wednesday and Saturday a. m. for Digby and Annapolis, returning from Annapolis same day.

Trains of the Western Counties Railway leave Digby daily at 6:00 a. m. and 3:15 p. m., and leave Yarmouth daily at 4:5 a. m. and 3:00 p. m.

International steamers leave St. John every Monday and Thursday a. m. for Eastport, Portland and Boston.

Trains of the Provincial and New England A. H. Rail Lines leave St. John for Bangor, Portland and Boston at 6:40 a. m. and 7:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. daily, except Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

Through Tickets by the various routes on sale at all Stations.

J. W. KING, General Manager Kenilville, 15th Nov., 1889.

EXCELSIOR Package Dyes. ARE UNEQUALLED.

SIMPLICITY OF USE, BEAUTY OF COLOR, AND THE LARGE AMOUNT OF GOODS EACH DYE WILL COLOR.

The colors, namely are supplied: Yellow, Orange, Eosine (Pink), Bismarck, Scarlet, Green, Dark Green, Light Blue, Navy Blue, Slate Brown, Brown, Black, Garnet, Magenta, Blue, Plum, Drab, Purple, Violet, Maroon, Old Gold, Cardinal, Red, Crimson.

TO LADIES AND DYERS. THE BEST KNOWN for all such purposes as Coloring Yarn, Mat, Rag, Wool, Stockings, Carpets, Carpet Rugs, Shawls, Hoods, and in fact every thing you can think of, are the Excelsior Package Dyes. They are the best Dyes on the market, and give universal satisfaction. All who use them prefer them to any other Dye, because they are cheaper and produce better results. PRICE EIGHT CENTS PER PACKAGE. Sold by all Dealers and Druggists throughout the Province and Wholesale by the firm.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS: C. HARRISON & CO., Cambridge, King's Co., N. S.

Please Take Notice. MERCHANTS AND DRUGGISTS who have not yet a supply of EXCELSIOR DYES, ETC., may have the Goods sent direct by applying to the Firm for prices and terms. We guarantee every Package sold to be good and true to name; or any person can have them sent direct if their druggist or merchant has not yet got them by sending eight cents for each package required.

G. HARRISON & CO.

Auctioneer. The subscriber having been urgently solicited to offer his services as a general auctioneer, takes this method of informing those in need of such service that will be at their command.

E. D. BISHOP. Wolfville, April 18th, 1889.

Extension of Time! Is often asked for by persons becoming unable to pay when the debt is due. The debt of nature has to be paid sooner or later, but we all would prefer an Extension of Time. Putnam's Emulsion OF COD LIVER OIL.

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA. May give this to all suffering from Coughs, Colds, Consumption, General Debility, and all wasting diseases.

Extension of Time! TRY PUTNAM'S EMULSION. Brown Bros & Co., Chemists and Druggists, HALIFAX, N. S.

OLD PAPERS for sale at this Office.