Bulletin News Service.

The crops in this district are look-of the farmers from all surrounding districts the field bare sown by Tom Barry cannot be beaten anywhere.

The fair on Friday proved very successful. The afternoon service, which was held at the school, was conducted at Mr. Berry's house by Pastor C. W. Wainwright. A good number were present at the afternoon service.

Visitors at the "Travelers' Home" during the week were Misses M.
Miller and Dial, and from the Clearwater, Messrs. Book and S. T. Mil-farm; also Mr. and Mrs. Penkell.

At first he refused to give an answer question after question put to him by W. S. Kenyon, assistant attorney general, and Special Attorney General Amos Wilson.

Bitterly complaining of the treatment he was receiving he at last consented to give the information asked of him. It is said he then revealed in detail the part of he and his friends in securing control of the association and of the Chicago Packing company. The testimony given by Joseph caused a sensation in the grand jury room. The investigators heard the story of how a $15,000,000 corporation, representing the largest packing industries of the country are said to have planned and schemed un-association, organized with limited capital was acquired and competition ef-

PELL INTO CREVASSE.

Three Ladies at Banff Had a Terrible Experience.

Calgary, July 21.—Three people of Banff were thrown into a state of great excitement yesterday morning when it was learned that three young ladies who had started out on Friday morning to climb one of the peaks of Rundle mountain had not returned.

The names of the young ladies were Miss Urwin, of Banff, and her two guests, Miss Herman, of London, England, and Miss Doenen, of Nova Scotia. The party had taken with them only a light lunch, expecting to reach home early in the evening.

Search parties were at once organized and better equipped search men patrolled the mountain all day.
It was after six o'clock when they were discovered by Mr. Sibbald in a helpless plight and rescued from the haunted condition. The place where they were found was about eight miles up the Spray river, near the top of Rundle mountain.

The story as told by Miss Urwin was that she and her guests had started out to climb Rundle mountain and they reached the top of the cliff, belonging to H. Becken and I.
Kinlake, was bought by the department, or if said land was only leased, and further, that the attention of the department be drawn to the fact that according to the statement of Mr.
Kinlake the department agreed to buy the land on the alternative when it was possible to do it, also that at the present time it would be possible to build the road in the proper place.

They were so completely exhausted that they had to be carried
down to Banff on stretchers.

It is not known how long they
rest and care no bad effects will result from their fearful experience.

ENGLISH MILLERS TO PROFIT.

Shortage of Grain Crops in America to Give Them More Work.

London, July 21.—Colonel Mark Mayhew, member of a well-known milling firm, regards the wheat possibility in this country as a serious matter. When on the return journey he and his companion slipped into a crevasse and trying to help them he also slipped.

They had almost given up hope when Mr. Sibbald appeared at the top of the crevasse and assisted them to get out. The search party had ropes with them and a man was let down the crevasse and the three young ladies were rescued.

They were so completely exhausted that they had to be carried
down to Banff on stretchers.

It is not known how long they
rest and care no bad effects will result from their fearful experience.

MILK GOES UP IN WINNIPEG.

Winipeg, July 21.—A number of Winipeg milk dealers are about to raise milk prices to the winter rate.
Twelve tickets for one dollar—
twelve tickets for one dollar—for a dollar. This is because of the scarcity of fodder, owing to the prolonged drought. There is also no hay available for the winter. The outlook is not bright. There is no slough grass and the sloughs themselves are dried up.
The Saskatchewan Indians, who make their livelihood mainly by putting up hay and tanning it into the city during the winter, will be in bad shape.
Market gardeners are in deplorable shape. It is probable that the famine prices this winter. Probably no district in the West has experienced less rain than this one.

YOUNG BANK TELLER MAKES A CONFESSION

Tells How He Recklessly Played Stock Markets—Sometimes Won, and Sometimes Lost—Dropped $12,000 in a Lump—Intended to Commit Suicide

Utica, N.Y., July 20.—Howard Lowery, the young bank teller who is accused of embezzling $115,000 from the Utica City National Bank, and was brought here yesterday from Philadelphia, where he was arrested Monday after a pursuit begun last April, is said to have confessed to the bank his story, as he visited him in his cell at the Onondaga County Jail yesterday afternoon. Lowery said he played the stock market alone and unaided and secured times won. At one time he owed the bank $2,000, having earned all but that amount. But soon after he lost $12,000 in one lump, and twice lost heavily by the failure of New York concerns.

DETERMINED TO END LIFE.

When his alleged thief was discovered on April 27, he left the bank and started for Onondaga Lake, he says, determined to end his life, but was his train and went to Syracuse.

From Syracuse he went to Philadelphia and took the first outward-bound train for New York, he was going to Point Antonio, Jamaica, and he went there, travelling second class.
He crossed the island by train to Kingston, where he was arrested.
He started for Panama, but was detained by a Cuban ship discouraging accounts of opportunities for work led him to return to the States.

About a week in Jamaica, he took passage on a fruit steamer and went to Philadelphia, landing there with $10 in money. He secured a room and hunted for work. For the first week the nearest he got to securing a place was when a man who stood just in front of his door offered him a job "week." He finally had a chance to solicit accident insurance, and after much trouble he disposed of one policy.

SOLICITED ORDERS.

The best job was with a small publishing house solicited orders for advertising and job work generally. He did work in the printing department, such as running a press, cutting, folding, etc., but he never received any and there were times when 10 cents a day was his total expenditure for food.

He secured a good clerical position in a manufacturing establishment, but gave it up the first day because a man he had known in Utica was with him in the city early, and he then the time of his arrest he had no work of any account.

He was arraigned before United States Commissioner Senior, and held to await the action of the Federal judge. Bail was fixed at $10,000 and is not furnished.

against $55,257,207 in June, of 1909.
For the first quarter of the fiscal year the aggregate trade was $171, 258,890, compared with $115,507,793

SANDON, B.C., IS IN DANGER.

The Town May Be Wiped Out at Any Moment.

Nelson, B.C., July 21.—The forest fire between Sandon and that point the past week are still burning but the fire-fighters are gaining the upper hand and it is believed that the worst is over, unless the St. Charles bridge the town of Sandon is in the gravest danger and may be wiped out any moment.

The Crown's Nest Pass bush fires are still running and much valuable timber has been consumed in the neighborhood of New Michel. Citizens of Sandon are preparing to leave and the women and children have already left.

Nelson is in dense smoke from the blaze in the hills. The St. Charles and Kaslo are not yet out, but if clear weather continues further serious damage is not anticipated. A large force was sent to Kaslo from here today.

NOW LOOKS LIKE SUICIDE

President of Menon Railroad Was Not Shot by Burglar

Chicago, Ill., July 21.—The balance in the death of Ira G. Rawn, the millionaire president of the Menon railroad, swung slowly to suicide today, in spite of the well meant efforts of friends and relatives to show that he died from a burglar's bullet.

The suicide motive stands forth unmistakably in the trend which the Illinois Central Railway Company's investigation into the $450,000 car repair frauds has lately taken. As vice president in charge of the operation, Mr. Rawn should have known of those frauds, and every effort of the Illinois Central probers was being made to hold him responsible. In next Tuesday he was to resume his stand for a merciless grilling.

The action it is true was a civil one before a Master in Chancery, and not a criminal prosecution. The possibility of a fortune, if the railroad company could force restitution. There would have been present at the hearing, however, a representative of the State attorney's office, taking careful notes for presentation to the Grand jury with a view to criminal prosecution.

Mr. Rawn faced the possibility of loss of his fortune, though enforcement of the law would be personal liberty through criminal prosecution by the state. His post as president of the Menon would have gone with it.
If the fraud contentions were proven it meant disgrace for a number of his intimate friends and former associates, and a near relative would be involved as well as Mr. Rawn himself.

The sale of lots in the townsite of Champion was held yesterday, and according to the reports received, sold readily at good prices.

ONTARIO EXPECTS TO WIN.

In Appeared Case Arising Out of Indian Treaty

Toronto, July 21.—That the judgment in the appeal against Ontario, made to the Privy Council by the Dominion government in respect to the Indian treaty, and others by the province of Quebec in the common school fund case, will be in favor of this province is evident from the fact that counsel representing Ontario were not called upon to present their arguments.

Two cables were received to this effect by Attorney General Day.
The Dominion claimed that it was entitled to recover from Ontario three-fifths of all expenditures made by the Dominion to the Indians in payment of annuities, at $5 per annum, and other expenses.

In the Quebec case arbitrators were appointed to settle the accounts between the Dominion and the provinces of Ontario and Quebec and between the two provinces. A majority of the arbitrators found that Ontario was liable to Quebec for various sums amounting to over $200,000. The Supreme Court held that the awards in so far as they determined "that liability, were absolutely null and void and not binding on Ontario.

BRITISH MINISTER TO ACT.

As Arbitrator of Long Standing Dispute Between Peru and Colombia.

Rio Janeiro, July 21.—Sir William H. D. Fitzgerald, British minister to Brazil, has been asked to act as arbitrator in the long standing boundary dispute between Peru and Colombia. The decision of Baron de Rio Branco, the Brazilian foreign minister, who was first invited to be the arbitrator, was based upon a realization of the difficulty of rendering a decision without offending one of the parties, with both of whom Brazil is on friendly terms.

Peru and Colombia laid claim to a large part of the country embraced within the republic of Ecuador. The claim was satisfied by Ecuador.
Peru, however, protested that the treaty concluded by Ecuador belonged by rights to Peru. Hence the Peruvian-Colombian complications.

Premier Ward of New Zealand Has Introduced Radical Legislation.

Wellington, July 22.—Premier Ward's budget speech in the legislature yesterday foreshadowed providing for national annuities of the state in certain cases, contributing proportionately to the number of children in the family. The scheme for the extension of the national debt will be proposed by creating a sinking fund, providing for the repayment of the entire existing debt in twenty-five years, all future loans being treated on the same basis.

RESULTS, THE STANDARD OF JUDGMENT.

New machinery never runs smoothly at the start. It is inevitable that there should be some friction therefore between the city council and the city commissioners before the new system had been long in operation, and also that some public criticism should be aroused by certain administrative acts of the executive. Simply because there was a change of system there was certain to be the usual amount of initial disagreement which always accompanies a change of the kind.

The nature of the system abandoned and that of the system adopted, made this friction all the more certain. Whatever its shortcomings, it must be admitted that the "town council" system of government is an absolutely responsible one, while the commissioner system is an autocratic rather than a democratic system, one that resembles tyranny rather than popular government. It is government by a few men chosen by people who do not directly choose and whom they cannot directly discharge. Any system of that kind in a country used to British institutions is bound to provoke a measure of dissatisfaction, alike from the representative body whose powers are curtailed, and the public whose ideas of government are altogether contrary to that of autocracy.

It is curious, but true, that the individual and the collection of individuals take altogether different views of this matter. The individual citizen usually declares that his elected officers have the civic affairs well administered by men whom he did not hire and whom he cannot discharge, than indirectly conducted by men who were put into place by his vote and whom he can remove by the same instrument. He believes that the public are hostile towards autocracy, regardless of the kind of administration they may get from an autocratic system. Whether their affairs are well or ill managed the public has an aversion to having them conducted by men who are elected by the people and with whom the people cannot directly express their dissatisfaction.

It is well to remember, however, that the change in our system of civic government was not made for nothing. It was not simply to test the relative merits of opposing theories of government that the council, with the hearty approval of the public, decided to turn over the administration of things to a board of commissioners. There were reasons for their doing so, sound and substantial reasons. The results of the former system had not been publicly satisfactory. It was believed by both the aldermen and the public that things had not been run as economically and efficiently by the council as they would be run by a board of men specially qualified to study and expound on superintending such affairs and freed altogether from the necessity or temptation of managing them to make votes rather than to produce satisfactory results, financial and other.

It is to be assumed that the council chose for this work men in whose ability and experience the aldermen had confidence. If not, the fault lies with the aldermen. Aside from the mayor, who is a commissioner, ex-officio, the aldermen are free to discharge any commissioner or to retain him, and to select whom they please to fill a vacancy on the board, paying whatever salary may be necessary to secure the man wanted. For the personnel of the commission the council stands responsible and it must be taken that the men in the offices were men that the council considered capable and willing to bring about the desired condition of things.

With that object in mind—better results—the aldermen turned over the executive affairs of the city to the commissioners. As a necessary part of this arrangement they had at the same time to turn over the authority necessary to produce results. No commissioner worth his salt would undertake to produce results if he were left in the hands of aldermen or any body else than himself. If men were hired and fired without his consent or suggestion, and the general course of the departmental business liable to interference from aldermen or their appointees.

Having decided that what we wanted was better results than we were getting, and having asked the commissioners to produce those results and clothed them with the necessary authority to do so, the course surely is for aldermen and citizens to give the executive a chance to do what they have been told to do and are being paid to do. They were put on the job to produce better results, not to conduct affairs in such manner that no alderman or citizen could find ground on which to differ with them. If they produce the results they will have done what we hired them for. If they cannot do that, it will be time to change either the commissioners or the commissioner system. But until it is shown whether they do so or not they are entitled to exercise the powers vested in them without interference and without undue criticism in matters of detail.

Laurier, the Working Optimist.

Toronto Star.—The triumphal progress which Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now making through the West calls special attention to the marvellous success he has achieved as a leader of government, and naturally arouses questions as to the causes of that success. Party love and party hate tend to becloud the discussion of such a subject, and yet, now that the question is either consciously or unconsciously before the minds of so many people, both in Canada and elsewhere, it can be profitably considered.

The causes of Laurier's success are many, but history, we believe, will say that the principal one is that the man works hard. There are many so-called optimists whose position is that of a man preparing to spend the night on a railway track and cheerfully declaring that he does not believe a train will run over him. Optimism that does not rest itself in acts of precaution is so cheap a virtue that even a mere oaf may become its greatest exemplar. But the hopeful outlook that has won Laurier's brains behind it means not merely the joy of hope for today, but the satisfaction of accomplishment for tomorrow.

Laurier entered public life few except himself could see hope for Liberalism. There were grim, determined fighters in the ranks, men who went on fighting partly because they did not know when they were beaten. But, from his first schoolboy utterance, the word from Laurier was a word of cheer. He believed that the adians were at heart united in love of their country and in love of orderly liberty, and he looked forward to the time when race and creed would be left utterly out of consideration when the great affairs of Canada were to be discussed. And what he preached he practised. It was not for days in those days that he would talk, for he was a little-known member of a small minority. But he kept his temper, he treated opponents courteously even when they were little inclined to be fair to him, and he avoided questions of rancor and insisted upon telling of the greatness of Canada and the right of every man to hold and voice his own opinions.

And when his days of triumph came and with them the great opportunities for work in the public interest, Laurier neither changed the tone of his talk nor let talk take the place of duty. He has been in office for fourteen years. Let any person consider fairly the list of things actually accomplished in that time, and then say whether Sir Wilfrid has worked earnestly or not. Every man has a right to his own view as to whether any given thing has been done, or the labor involved in doing it. The British preference has been established, made to allow for it. Already progress has been made in arranging favorable trade relations with other countries on a line that can be followed indefinitely, and the progress has been made in arranging favorable relations with the great corporations of the country set upon a footing of fair dealing and protection of the public rights. A labor department has been added to the machinery of government and a world-approved effort made to settle the vexed question of labor and capital. By such means as a forestry service, a commission of conservation and a department of mines, the duty of the people's leaders to protect the public interest in natural resources has been declared. There are but a few of the outstanding labors of this modern political Hercules.

Today Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a man who, by reason of years and by reason of things he has actually accomplished, might be expected to look to the past rather than to the future, might be expected to call upon us all to "rest and be thankful" instead of to "be up and doing." But the very opposite is the case. He goes to the west, the land of the new growth, the land of the boundless prairie and the heaven-reaching mountain, the land of the young, the ardor, the energy, the manding; and the optimism of the people there is seen to be mere exuberant fancy compared with his. Where each man among them sees his own locality with its special attractions and its special needs, Sir Wilfrid Laurier sees not only all that they see but also the part each locality is to play in the development of the whole and the place of honor it is to occupy in the glorious Canada of tomorrow. He has wrought out a few of them himself—and he knows that in foretelling almost unimaginable greatness for the west he speaks the words of truth and soberness. The people know what he has done; and, even though there may be tough problems which cannot be solved in a moment, even though there may be great works which cannot be ordered and delivered like a package of goods, even though there may be differences of opinion as to the order in which tasks should be taken up, the hard-working, ever-hoping people of the west and of all Canada love and trust Laurier for his leader-like labors and for his national and boundless optimism.

THE MAN FOR THE JOB.

President Charles, of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway company, would have a chair of silence established in each university. Not that the President feels the necessity of a post-graduate course in this branch of knowledge himself. The President is a graduate because he has mastered the art and can bear experimental testimony as to its value in certain situations. Some such chair must have been long established in the academy which put him through his paces in the higher walks of the profession. It touches he put on during the past few months under the private tuition of his solicitors. Should any such chair be established it would be difficult to find anyone better able to hold it down with comfort and the dignity of a professional man than the President himself. Provided, of course, the students were restrained from appointing a Royal Commission to ask him questions. In that even the chair would have to be on wheels or it would be speedily vacated. The President indeed has become so eminent in this branch of learning that he will not talk even when he is wanted to. Not that he is averse to talking so much. Under conditions he is a veritable fountain of language. Last summer the President established a reputation for himself in this direction which is only eclipsed by his more recent performance in the opposite direction. If he had been able to build a railway on the ground as fast as he did it during the fall and early winter in the newspapers his line would be hailed by tourists to the North Pole by this time. It is not that the President dislikes to talk or is too bashful to talk. His inclinations are altogether sociable. This only brings out again the strength of the man. By sheer force of will he shakes down the rattle of words and leaks not a syllable to any other man would spout like a geyser. Silence is not an instinct with him. It is an accomplishment. The more credit to him that he has become a past master and some to spare in a word of cheer. He believes that the world for which he works did not specially adapt him. He has derived from the accomplishment he would have others enjoy. This is generous. Perhaps as he is now relieved from other engagements he would be willing to personally superintend a class of students in the equipment of the talent which is so useful. If the governing body of the Provincial university should seriously consider the establishment of a chair for teaching young men to hold their tongues in awkward situations they could not do better than tender the occupancy of it to the Sphinx of Kansas City.

WE MUST TELL OUR OWN STORY.

Ottawa, July 18.—George H. Bradbury, M.P., for Selkirk, Manitoba, who is in the city en route to Europe, says that the condition of the crops in the three prairie provinces generally is serious. He believes that the total yield will only be about one hundred million bushels, or an average of about eight or nine bushels to the acre. This despatch fairly summarizes the misconception from which the Edmonton district has most to fear this season, and to correct which no effort should be spared. From his knowledge of the conditions which exist in his own little corner of the West the member for Selkirk undertakes to say what conditions prevail generally, and that these are similar to the conditions which exist in Selkirk. The "generally" of Mr. Bradbury does not apply to the Edmonton district. That is the fact which must be kept to the front unless the statements of misinformed and uninformed parties are to be taken as correct by those who have no means of knowing different, and this part of the country made to suffer for a condition of things which does not exist here, which, in fact, is the exact reverse of what does exist. So far from being serious, crops in the Edmonton district are splendid. In fact if they—and the crops in some other sections of the country—were not splendid, the member for Selkirk would not be able to propose a total yield of 100 million bushels for the West and an average even of 8 or 9 bushels per acre the country over. It is the Edmonton district, and those similarly situated, which are saving the situation for the western country this year. For that service they are getting anything but the credit due them from some parties who owe them most. If Edmonton gets the justice of a correct representation of its conditions before the outside world it will be through the efforts of Edmonton people and those whom they may be able to enlist in their cause. The districts whose low yields will be the less noticeable in the total records of the year because the Edmonton crops are excellent do not seem to be at all anxious for the west to put speaks the words of truth and soberness. The people

ENGLAND'S LOSS IS OUR GAIN.

The Manchester Guardian, according to despatches, testifies to the excellent character of the immigrants Canada is drawing from the British Isles. There are, it says, many people in Britain who could well be spared, but that these are not the people who are taking ship for Canada. "The parasite is a clinging animal and prefers to live on others at home than fend for himself in other places." Those of our fellow-countrymen whom we are losing just now are, if not the best, at least of the best that we have among us; those at any rate who can be least happily spared." continues the Guardian. This is satisfactory reading for Canadians; both that those who are not coming to Canada and that those whom Britain does not like to lose are coming either in thousands. There are in every country those whose presence is more desirable than their absence in England or Canada, and according to the same authority Canada is getting them. It may be set down as a safe rule that the man who is not wanted in England is not wanted in Canada, but that the man whom England does not want to see depart is the man Canada most heartily welcomes. In this respect our interests and those of the Old Lands are diametrically opposed, cannot be other, and no attempt should be made to observe the welfare of Canada in order to relieve the older countries of those whom they would gladly pack off to some far corner of the earth. Canada is neither a dumping place for "misfits," nor a "colony" where the products of industrial over-crowding and improper living may be sent in hope that they will recover the racial qualities they have lost and develop in themselves and their descendants the characteristics of body and mind and disposition which their ancestors had but allowed to decay. In a word, it is a mistaken charity which would send such people to Canada for the opportunities for the "parasite" are fewer here than in the country which produced him. The conditions of Canada, as of every new country, demand men, in character, mentality, and physical powers. There is no place on the frontier for those who cannot or will not do a man's work. He who is either unable or unwilling to bear a man's burdens is better off in the old country than in almost any new country; and of all new countries Canada is the poorest place for him. Strong muscles, sound mind, and a disposition to useful labor are the absolute essentials for success here. A social evil can best be corrected by sending it to exist. If the trend of industry in England has been to gather people into dense cities, to weaken their frames through generations living under improper conditions, to warp their minds by the habits of idleness, to enervate their life, to induce and encourage, and to imbue them with a spirit of dependence rather than of independence, then the remedy for it must be found by eliminating the cause which has produced these unfortunate results. If the remedy is to send the people "back to the land," then it is the land of England they should be sent back to, by whatever means may be found necessary and practicable. To ship the products of the system to other and newer countries would be neither a remedy nor a cure for the trouble, and would introduce into Canada a servile, and would do anything to remove the cause which made them what they are. If the whole present generation of these people whom Britain would like to rid of were sent to Canada, it is not clear that they are that they would do a man's work. It is not clear that they would do a man's work. It is not clear that they would do a man's work.

CHRONICLES OF THE CAMPUS.

(CONTRIBUTED.) CHAPTER I.

1. And it came to pass in the first year of the new King who was called Georgius and the second month thereof. 2. That word was sent forth to all those in authority, to the captain of tents and to the captains of hundreds saying: 3. Call ye together all those young men who have set themselves as a defence round about this people who are clothed in scarlet raiment, who ride fearless unto the battle. 4. And the captains and the centurians and all those in command became exceedingly diligent and gathered about them a goodly number, and as for a conflict so prepared they: 5. And they numbered themselves according to companies and departed out of the cities and out of the towns some being mounted upon steeds, some in chariots, yea, even some being afoot. 6. And they encamped in great multitude near the City Yragiac, which lieth in the great desert of the south which is called the Desert of Go-By. 7. Also they pitched their tents near unto the great ditch which is a source of pride unto the people of that land. 8. And all who dwelt in that land rejoiced exceedingly for they reasoned together one with another after this manner: 9. Behold the desire of these men is great and their bread-baskets which lieth in the great desert of the south which is called the Desert of Go-By. 10. Have we not in the fields round about flocks and herds without number, and is not the strong drink of Yragiac esteemed a fine flavor? 11. Then many of those who were buyers and sellers came into the camp, and desired audience with the leaders thereof, 12. And there issued forth one Strong Arm, being an officer of repute, whose charge was to fill the multitude at the expense of the King. 13. Then said the merchants unto him, "Behold we have flesh for sale and much merchandise, yea bread and much milk, and the beer of our city thou knowest. 14. Therefore have we come unto thee and desire of thee that thou wilt buy of us such of our cattle as are of great age and the beasts which toll no longer in the fields neither of use in treading out the corn." 15. For we know that you art a shrewd man, even after the manner of Patt, who controlleth the sale of that which entereth into the Land of B-Skootenays." 16. Then spake Strong Arm with a low voice saying, "See that thou deal cheaply with me and he purchased from them as they desired, even according to their measurement purchased he. CHAPTER II. 1. Now in the words of the King which were given under the great seal it was commanded as follows: 2. That all such meat as should be presented for the consumption of the men of war should be of a goodly quality and trimmed in the manner befitting Government contracts. 3. Yea, of a verity that the shank bones should be cut off with a Scimitar of exceeding sharpness at a distance of four inches above the joints of the knees and elbows. 4. And the necks of all such beasts as were slaughtered were in said manner to be trimmed off to the fourth vertebrae joint. 5. And also was it expressly stated that such flesh as beareth in the country the name of beef should be that of ox or of heifer, and the mutton of the wethers and of ewes. 6. That portion thereof should be five days beef and two days mutton. 7. And Low and Behold, when the men had feasted on beef for a great while it came to pass that their stomachs rebelled and they spake one with another, saying: 8. "Are not these which are sent unto us the bones of the bulls of Dashaan and of the seven lean Kine which Pharaoh beheld in his vision?" 9. But the mutton which it was commanded should be given unto us we have not yet beheld." CHAPTER III. 1. And of all the regiments of GEORGIUS CAESAR which encamped on those plains, there were none like unto the nineteenth Legion for exceeding great fierceness and deeds of warlike valor. 2. Also was it rumored in the Camps of the Philistines and in the tents of the people of the deserts surrounding that the men which journeyed from the far North were of a spirit most independent. 3. That they were stubborn of heart above all men and fed spontaneously upon the flesh of heifers and the flesh of sheep which grazed in the valley of the Saskatchewan afar off. 4. And is not theirs a land flowing with milk and honey, a land of exceeding great richness, for is it not written in the books of the prophets of Frankland dwelt at Ottawa, saying: 5. "Come all ye that are hungry and without meat, yea, come, buy land without money and without price." CHAPTER IV. 1. Now there was in the Camp a certain Centurion, a man of exceeding great stature, well versed in war. 2. And the name of this man was Haran, which being interpreted is called Koopah. 3. And Haran heard that the soldiers reasoned one with another and he became exceeding wrath and spake unto them in a loud voice, saying: 4. "Why art thou dissatisfied, O ye people? Is not the flesh which is provided for thee by order of the King a feast even for the Gods?" 5. And at that time they clamored more than ever and answered and said unto him: 6. "How is it, most noble centurion, that this, the udder of a cow grown upon the body of an ox or heifer?" 7. Verily, this of a surety is a land of miracles." 8. And Haran received the cow's udder which they offered unto him and he placed it upon a silver salver, like unto the head of John the Baptist. 9. And he journeyed forth and he brought it unto the tents of the leaders of the people and showed it unto the commander thereof. 10. Then all they who beheld it marvelled greatly and exclaimed: "Verily this is a land of wonders." 11. But Strong-Arm wist not that it was so. CHAPTER V. 1. Then Haran, the centurion, girded up his loins and departed up to the high mountain which commanded a view of the City Yragiac, and of the high mountains which surrounded that place, and the traffic thereof was great and great engines of speed rushed hither and thither so that he marvelled exceedingly. 2. But he lifted up his voice in lamentation and cried, "Woe, unto thee, land of Bo, for are not the hearts of this people steeled against us?" 3. Thrice have we come into this place and pitched our camp against the walls of the city. 4. And behold each time have our men complained grievously that the substance provided for them was such as created a stench in the nostrils. 5. Verily, verily, I say unto thee, land of Bo, and Land of El Bo whose feethed the festive gopher; except thou do unto us in the manner of our country and according to the Ordinance of the King: 6. Behold we will take up our tents and depart from amongst thee and will return unto thee no more." 7. And much more of a like nature said he only it is not written. CHAPTER VI. 1. Now as Haran, the centurion, looked forth, there came up a hot flame and it breathed forth upon the land and whatsoever it passed there remained nothing of consequence. 2. And after that came exceeding great wind and blew upon the city with vehemence and so great was the dust thereof that a hand's breadth could not be seen, verily before the face of man. 3. And out of the heavens came forth lightning and thunder of much volume and behold the earth trembled. 4. Then Haran, the Centurion, gathered himself together and felt his way hence and came unto the tents of his people. 5. And he marvelled well at the miracles which he had seen. 6. For many a time said he unto himself, "Is not this a land of wonders?" 7. And straightway came word from those having authority, saying, "Get thee hence and depart every man to his own home." 8. Then the hearts of all such as heard the command were gladdened and they hastened to depart out of that land. 9. For they said: "Rather than return thither we will beat our swords into pruning hooks and tarry beyond the Reed Der where lieth the Land of Promise." 10. And they issued forth from the Camp according to their commands, and came unto their own cities, and from thence they departed every man to his own way. 11. And they told all they met whithersoever they went of the great wonders they had seen.

HOMESTEADER KILLED FOR FIVE DOLLARS.

Walsh Jury Brings in a Verdict of Wilful Murder by Party or Parties Unknown.

Medicine Hat, Alta., July 19.—The coroner's jury investigating the finding of a body in a culvert two miles southeast between Saskatchewan and Alberta, after being on the case all day, brot in a verdict of wilful murder by some person or persons unknown. It was at first thought that the man had become exhausted by the heat and had crawled into the culvert out of the sun. This theory, however, was exploded by the evidence brought before the jury. The body was identified as that of Jacob Jerke, a homesteader living about two miles north of Walsh. He was last seen in this village on Sunday, July 3rd. Evidently he met his death very shortly after that, for the body was decomposed almost beyond recognition. Jerke had about five dollars on his person when he left Walsh. The money was not in his pockets when his body was found. The remains showed evidence of his being beaten with a heavy instrument, which would have fractured at the base and side. It is thought that whoever committed the deed first intended to bury the body. About two hundred yards from the culvert an old shovel was found. Four or five shovels of earth had been turned over and then the body was laid out on the surface. Besides the shovel, a cuf link was found at this point matching the one in the dead man's shirt. The Mounted Police have the case in charge and inspectors Barker and Reed are working on the case. The shovel which he attempted to bury the body with affords a possible clue. It seems to have been lying around for some time, as several persons identified it.

FLYING AT WINNIPEG.

American Aviator Makes Successful Flight, Though Not a Long One.

Winnipeg, July 19.—Eugene Ely, the American aviator, made his second flight since his debut at the exhibition, when he flew about a quarter of a mile last night. A large crowd followed him as he took the machine from the ground about eight o'clock, and, with perfect wind conditions, made a pretty flight, though he only went about 45 feet from the ground. After travelling about a quarter of a mile he came back to earth. On making another attempt the machine came back to the ground, hitting a hole in the ground, which broke up the machine pretty badly, but the aviator escaped injuries. It was then too late to make any repairs, and further flying was called off for the night.

THREE KILLED.

Lugine Struck Hand Car on Quebec Central.

Quebec, July 19.—News comes from Beauveville of a terrible accident three miles from there, three people losing their lives. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gregoire and the former's brother, Adolphus Gregoire. Under the impression that the Quebec Central railway line was clear they were returning to their homes in Beauveville on a hand car. A locomotive running in the direction of St. George came along and before those on the hand car could jump they were struck by the engine. Joseph Gregoire was killed instantly, his skull being fractured, while his wife and Adolphe Gregoire were so badly injured that they died an hour later.

Boy Attempted to Assassinate Duke.

Naples, July 19.—A boy of thirteen, a son of a rabid anarchist, hurled a bomb at Duke D'Aosta while he was driving in his automobile but the machine failed to explode.

SHOOTING AT CALGARY WAS UNUSUALLY GOOD

101st Team Secures Fourth Place in Match for Walker Trophy—Calgary Marksmen Got First Places in All Matches.

Bulletin Special. Calgary, July 21.—The Alberta match, seven shots at each 50 and 300 yards, was shot on Wednesday morning and was won by L. Rex Young, of Elbow River, with 84 out of a possible 70 points. Staff Sergeant Brankley, of the R. N. W. M. P., Calgary, is second with the same score. Sergeant Chamberlain, of the 102nd regiment, Calgary, is third with 64 points; L. Bowen, of A.M.R., Strathcona, fourth; and Corp. Regan, of the 101st regiment, Edmonton, both with 54 points; Col. Sgt. Balfour, of the 101st, with 63 points and Sgt. Spence, A. M. R., Strathcona, is thirteenth with 60 points.

Conditions were fairly good and the shooting unusually high, this match having been won before with 62 points. The City of Calgary match, the first stage of which was seven shots at each of 200, 500 and 600 yards, was shot in the afternoon, and the D. R. A. silver medal for first place in this stage was won by W. Pearce, of Calgary, with 100 out of a possible 105 points. Sgt. Chamberlain, Calgary, second with 98 points, and Staff Sergeant Brankley third with 96 points. Corp. Regan, of the 101st, is tenth with 95 points. Sgt. MacDonald, of the 101st, is seventeenth with 81 points; Corp. Reid, 101st, is twentieth with 80 points; J. Carmichael, A. M. R., Strathcona, 27th, with 83, and L. Bowen, A.M.R., Strathcona, 20th, with 83 points.

These are all of the Twin Cities riflemen who will shoot in the second stage of this match, and all will be in the prize list in which the combined scores of both stages are to count.

The Walker trophy for a team of four men in the first stage of this match was won by the Calgary Rifle Club's first team, with a total of 332 out of a possible 430 points, the members of this team being Pearce, Chamberlain, Martin and Fox, with 100, 98, 95 and 83 points, respectively. The 101st team took fourth place with 360 points, the A.M.R. team, of Strathcona, ninth, with 342 points. This is the first time in the history of the territorial or provincial association that a century has been made in this match, the only century credit is due Mr. Pearce from the fact that he made a possible at 600 yards.

The weather has been warm and pleasant, with the wind blowing tricks with the calculations, and the riflemen for a few minutes and then settling down again, causing some erratic scoring, and the old complaint of nickleing in the wind fore and not so prominently as last year. Calgary, July 20.—Seventy-five of Alberta's crack marksmen are on the ground for the first time in the rifle shoot. In the medals match, at 200 yards, the premier honors went to Capt. G. C. Page with 27. The next shot was Sgt. Tucker, with 21 points. The Alberta match, 500 and 600 yards, was won by Lieut. B. Young, 15th Light Horse, who tied with 84 points. Staff Sergeant Brankley, R.N.W.M.P., is second with 84 and 32. Sgt. Brankley made a possible, 32 in the 600 yards. The tyre class was won by W. McDonald, of Calgary, and P. H. Wright, of Medicine Hat, each with 58.

RAILWAY INTO OKANAGAN.

Latest Project for Canadian Northern in British Columbia.

Vancouver, B.C., July 19.—The construction by the Canadian Northern of a branch into the Okanagan Valley from a point on the main line of the company, at or in the vicinity of Kamloops, is indicated by reports received from the company today. It is declared that work in building this line will, in all probability, be begun next year, and that it is one of the railway lines which Premier McBride had in mind when, at last session of the provincial legislature, he proposed the Grand Pacific Columbia, a great railway development on the heels of the C.N.R. It is stated that an arrangement has been suggested between the City of Kamloops and the Canadian Northern by which the construction of the branch will be commenced next year and pushed to completion. A reconnaissance survey route for the branch is reported to have been made by railway surveyors last year. Generally, the route will, it is said, follow the old stage route between Kamloops and Okanagan, traversing the Grand Prairie district, Campbell Creek and the Upper Salmon river valley. The construction of a railway through this territory would open up an immense tract of very valuable agricultural land.

New Enterprise in Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N.S., July 20.—George H. Blythe, of London, is organizing an English financial syndicate has purchased on behalf of the company a large number of orchards at Wolfville and Starr's Point. They are operating these properties as one concern, shipping the product to the London market. Mr. Blythe arrived from London on Saturday and consummated the deal which was brought about largely through the efforts of the provincial department of Industries and Immigration and which means the introduction of a considerable amount of capital in the Annapolis Valley.

FIRE DESTROY'S BIG SAWMILL

Intense Heat Burns Ties on C.P.R. and Holds Up Traffic.

Vancouver, B.C., July 20.—Word has been received here of the total destruction of the big sawmill near Revelstoke, B.C. Several buildings adjoining the mill and a number of C.P.R. cars were also destroyed. The efforts of the Revelstoke fire department failed to save them. Traffic on the main line of the C.P.R. was impeded for several hours by the burning of the ties, and twisting of the rails by the heat for a considerable distance.

TO LAY TRACK ON G.T.P. BRANCH LINES OCT. 1ST

Track Laying on G.T.P. Branch Lines Will Commence in August—Gen. Manager Goes to Wolf Creek—Newly Appointed Divisional Freight Agent Reaches City.

F. R. Porter who until recently was stationed at Toronto, where he supervised the foreign freight of the Grand Trunk, has been appointed divisional freight agent, with headquarters at Edmonton, and will assume his duties here today.

Mr. Porter reached the city last evening in company with E. J. Chamberlain, general manager of the G.T.P., and J. G. Dalrymple, assistant freight traffic manager. Mr. Chamberlain proceeded westward to Wolf Creek on a tour of inspection. Mr. Dalrymple will remain in the city over today to install Mr. Porter in his new position.

Mr. Dalrymple stated last evening that the company was more than satisfied with the result of their experiments in starting the daily passenger service between Edmonton and Winnipeg. The new fast freight service between these two points is also being well patronized.

"We hope to lay track for one hundred miles beyond Wolf Creek this year," said Mr. Dalrymple, when asked as to the condition of labor market admits. "We expect to start track-laying south of Camrose on the 1st of October, and on the other branch lines about the same time of year."

POMP AND CEREMONY AGAIN HOLD SWAY

Proclamation of Fortifying Coronation of King George V is Made at Guild Hall by Heralds—Two Million People Witness The Display.

London, July 21.—Medieval pomp and ceremony again held sway in the city today when a notice regarding the forthcoming coronation of King George V was proclaimed at Guild Hall by Heralds. The brilliant ceremony was similar in detail to that of the proclamation of his accession, but was marred by damp threatening rain. The city police taking efficient charge of the crowds.

CAMROSE PASSES BYLAWS.

Ratepayers Authorize Expenditure of $33,500.

Bulletin Special. Camrose, July 20.—Three bylaws authorizing an issue of debentures for $33,500 were carried with 70 votes for and 2 against. $20,000 of this amount is for an electric lighting plant, the estimated cost of which is some $25,000, leaving a margin of $7,000 to provide for extensions and improvements. $2,500 will be spent for additional fire protection. M. Maxwell, J.P., has charge of the installation, which will be begun at once.

TRAFFIC PARALYZED.

Thirty Thousand Threaten to Go Out on Strike.

London, July 19.—Traffic is completely paralyzed as the result of a strike on the Great Northwestern and business is practically suspended along the line. About nine thousand men are already out and notice was served on the corporation by the labor leader that thirty thousand men will go out tomorrow unless the officials promise to end the present tyrannical methods of employment. All work on the two immense docks at Newcastle was stopped today and the strike is rapidly spreading.

ENGLISH STRIKE GROWING.

10,000 Men Have Quit Work on the North Sea.

Newcastle, Eng., July 20.—The strike among the grain and coal loaders on the railway was strengthened today. Ten thousand men had quit work up to last night and every hour since has seen a further increase in the number of men who have quit work. The company was forced to enlist the service of station masters and clerks in order to man the few local trains that it was able to run. The situation along the River Tyne is serious.

SASKATCHEWAN'S FINE WELCOME TO LAURIER

Yorkton Greets Prime Minister With Tremendous Enthusiasm—In Reply to Olic Address He Refers to the Uniting of the Various 'Acts' in Canada.

Yorkton, Sask., July 20.—Saskatchewan is competing hard with Manitoba to give a finer and more impressive welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier who arrived here this evening. So far no place has had a grander display of outside celebrations than Yorkton, which has entered into the spirit of a welcome to the Premier with remarkable thoroughness. A triumphal procession of the town's citizens, first object which met Sir Wilfrid's eye when he arrived at the crowded railway station. He had seen nothing finer during his western tour. There is not a business house and scarcely a dwelling home that is not displaying the emblems of some patriotic Canadian. The foreigners, who have been impressed with Sir Wilfrid's welcome to them, to become true Canadians and help to make a greater Canada are crowding into the town from the outlying districts to welcome Canada's grand old man.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier visited the wheat fields of Yorkton this morning. He had to confess he had seen nothing better during his tour of the West. The incidents of his trip are impressing themselves upon the Premier's mind. To a mixed crowd this afternoon of English, Gaijians, Germans and Jews, he declared: "I came from the eastern provinces, where the British element is strongest, and suppose, but here you have a more cosmopolitan people and I am glad to see the British are willing to share whatever they have with their fellows. We recognize that we are all Canadians and that we may join together to build up our Nation. I can assure you that when I go back to Quebec my bosom and my heart will be larger than it was when I left it."

A civic address presented to Sir Wilfrid today proclaimed: "No man has ever worked harder to unite the hearts of the various representatives of nations who live here. . . . only have you not only improved his inability to do so, but you have strengthened the ties which bind us to the Mother Country."

In his reply Sir Wilfrid referred to the friendly relations in Canada. "In uniting the different races to which your address refers," he said, "I have realized the ambition of my life. I cannot say that I have succeeded yet in my task, but I can say it has been the aim and object of my ambition ever since I entered public life."

KICKING OUT MONK.

Ottawa Journal Assists Quebec Leader Down the Back Stairs.

Ottawa, July 19.—The Ottawa Journal, Independent Conservative, in a strong editorial today, attacked the three party of Canada meets a stroke of good fortune in the departure of Mr. D. Monk, hitherto recognized as the leader of the party from the province of Quebec, who has been forced to leave the party by the action of the party in the province. There a man like Carter, of Langlois or Chapleau, a strong man like Carter or like Chapleau could have carried Quebec Conservatives the same way, as each of them did in somewhat parallel crises. But Mr. Monk preferred to open a fire upon his party, to cut himself from his life-long political convictions and associations in order to discontinue to his countrymen the privilege of their sharing in effective participation for the defense of the flag under which they live. This while foolishly promising loyalty to it. The great nobles of England are very judicious on the observance of the ancient privileges of their families on these great state occasions. The court will also collect evidence to decide what day next June is most suitable.

REPORT DECLARES OBJECT TO DIVERSE STATES IN RETURN FOR SHIPMENT OF LARGE QUANTITIES OF AMERICAN GOODS.

Chicago, July 19.—Chicago is to have a railroad connection with Winnipeg which will divert to a large part of the wheat traffic of the Canadian Northwest. This important information is brought to Winnipeg by a man prominent in the Manitoba grain trade. He says that the plans for the Grand Trunk are causing great consternation in government and commercial circles in Canada. It is the idea of the Grand Trunk, he says, under the plan it is now developing, to connect the new transcontinental railway from Canadian Atlantic ports to American ports. When the transcontinental was first proposed, the duty of the Grand Trunk was to connect the West, it was expected to start from Winnipeg, traverse the prairies to Edmonton and then to the coast. The aid of the Dominion government was given the project with the distinct agreement that no extensions of the line should be made to the Lake Superior or Chicago. The Canadian government desired an all-Canadian route from Winnipeg to Quebec in summer and to the Canadian seaboard at St. John, N.B., and Halifax in winter. There is good authority for the statement that the Grand Trunk is likely in the future to build or acquire a line connecting Winnipeg with Chicago. It is explained that the plans of the Grand Trunk are in anticipation of the removal of the duty upon wheat. The negotiation of a liberal reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada under which the Grand Trunk hopes to carry into effect its plan of exchanging Canadian factory goods in exchange for an American market for the Canadian wheat. It expects to bring across the border a strong sentiment against the diversion of Canadian traffic into the United States is anticipated in the older provinces. It is asserted that the proprietors in England of the Grand Trunk approve of what Mr. Hays, the president of the road, is doing, especially in the linking of Winnipeg with Chicago.

Minister Arrested.

Toronto, July 19.—Rev. James A. Davis, a colored preacher recently appointed minister of the British Methodist Episcopal church on Chestnut street, was arrested tonight on a charge of having carnal knowledge of a girl under 16 years of age. He came here two weeks ago from Woodstock where he has a wife and child. He is 52 years of age and has been preaching for 18 years.

Campbellton Rebuilding.

Campbellton, N.B., July 19.—Several new stores have been opened and are selling merchandise. Several telephones are installed. Temporary structures are going up with a rush. Workmen arriving from other places finding ready employment. It is confidently expected the government will arrange to relieve the town of its burden of bonded debenture debt during the reconstruction period.

Big Salmon Run.

Vancouver, July 19.—Fish Commissioner Babcock says that the salmon run on the Skeena river is phenomenal. It is greater than any of the big runs in the province. It is believed that the story was a trumped up one and that there were no grounds for the exaggerated reports. The pack in all canneries is now more than double what it was at this time last year. The fish in the north are also larger and in better condition than in any previous year.

THE C.N.R. EMPLOYEES PICNIC HUGE SUCCESS

Thousands Present at Annual Outing Held in St. Albert—Spectacular Events Are Particularly Interesting—The Prize Winners.

Perfect picnicking weather marked the annual outing of the employees of the Canadian Northern Railway yesterday at St. Albert. The regular morning train was not sufficient to carry the large crowd of pleasure-seekers which embraced at Edmonton, and a special train of four coaches filled with picnicers left the C.N.R. depot at 1:30 in the afternoon. Between 700 and 800 people went out in the two trains. Many other parties motored or drove out from the city and these, along with the regular train, brought the total attendance to over a thousand.

Ideal Picnic Grounds.

The picnic was held at the St. Albert park and was a most ideal spot could not have been selected. The shade afforded by the grove of large poplars was greatly appreciated by the holiday makers, and seated in small social groups sheltered from the sun and cooled by a refreshing breeze the spectators thoroughly enjoyed the excellent program of sports. Not a hitch of any nature occurred to mar the pleasure of the day.

Results of Events.

The officials and results of the day were as follows: Officials—Judge, J. Kyle; Starter, Wm. Armstrong; Chairman of committee, J. D. Lacombe; Secretary, R. F. Steick; Committee, J. Dunlop, J. The shade afforded by the grove of large poplars was greatly appreciated by the holiday makers, and seated in small social groups sheltered from the sun and cooled by a refreshing breeze the spectators thoroughly enjoyed the excellent program of sports. Not a hitch of any nature occurred to mar the pleasure of the day.

GRAND TRUNK FROM WINNIPEG TO CHICAGO

Report Declares Object to Diverse States in Return for Shipment of Large Quantities of American Goods.

Chicago, July 19.—Chicago is to have a railroad connection with Winnipeg which will divert to a large part of the wheat traffic of the Canadian Northwest. This important information is brought to Winnipeg by a man prominent in the Manitoba grain trade. He says that the plans for the Grand Trunk are causing great consternation in government and commercial circles in Canada. It is the idea of the Grand Trunk, he says, under the plan it is now developing, to connect the new transcontinental railway from Canadian Atlantic ports to American ports. When the transcontinental was first proposed, the duty of the Grand Trunk was to connect the West, it was expected to start from Winnipeg, traverse the prairies to Edmonton and then to the coast. The aid of the Dominion government was given the project with the distinct agreement that no extensions of the line should be made to the Lake Superior or Chicago. The Canadian government desired an all-Canadian route from Winnipeg to Quebec in summer and to the Canadian seaboard at St. John, N.B., and Halifax in winter. There is good authority for the statement that the Grand Trunk is likely in the future to build or acquire a line connecting Winnipeg with Chicago. It is explained that the plans of the Grand Trunk are in anticipation of the removal of the duty upon wheat. The negotiation of a liberal reciprocity treaty between the United States and Canada under which the Grand Trunk hopes to carry into effect its plan of exchanging Canadian factory goods in exchange for an American market for the Canadian wheat. It expects to bring across the border a strong sentiment against the diversion of Canadian traffic into the United States is anticipated in the older provinces. It is asserted that the proprietors in England of the Grand Trunk approve of what Mr. Hays, the president of the road, is doing, especially in the linking of Winnipeg with Chicago.

Big Salmon Run.

Vancouver, July 19.—Fish Commissioner Babcock says that the salmon run on the Skeena river is phenomenal. It is greater than any of the big runs in the province. It is believed that the story was a trumped up one and that there were no grounds for the exaggerated reports. The pack in all canneries is now more than double what it was at this time last year. The fish in the north are also larger and in better condition than in any previous year.

THE "EIGHT" KEEP THE CONFERENCE SECRET

Result of British Party Conference Unknown—Liberals Are Still Hostile to Tories—Budget They Denounce as 'Foolish'—Whitrig Brings Strangest Revelence.

London, July 20.—We are in the doldrums just now, so far as political concerns are concerned. The result of the result of the conference. The secret of the deliberations of the eight has been well kept, and from the first Liberal opinion has been strongly divided on the question whether or not any result would follow these meetings of the four Liberal members of the conference. Before this appears in print the result of their consultations and discussions may be known, and can only be surmised from the original opinion. If there is any compromise on the legislative veto of the Lords the Liberal party will be split in two.

THE C.N.R. EMPLOYEES PICNIC HUGE SUCCESS

Perfect picnicking weather marked the annual outing of the employees of the Canadian Northern Railway yesterday at St. Albert. The regular morning train was not sufficient to carry the large crowd of pleasure-seekers which embraced at Edmonton, and a special train of four coaches filled with picnicers left the C.N.R. depot at 1:30 in the afternoon. Between 700 and 800 people went out in the two trains. Many other parties motored or drove out from the city and these, along with the regular train, brought the total attendance to over a thousand.

It is also reported to have wiped Jauffay and Baines' Lake off the map. It is impossible at present to obtain particulars. At Kialo there is travelling rapidly and back firing has been resorted to. At Moyle the fire is still causing anxiety but at present the town is safe. The bodies of four victims at the Lucky Mine have been removed to Kaslo for burial.

OLIVER SCHOOL

Party of Magazine and Newspaper Men Will Go to the Oliver School, B.C., July 22.—Nothing like the present long spell of hot, dry weather has been experienced in the Rossland district for many years. During the past week the smoke of neighboring forest fires hung insistently over the camp causing great anxiety. Some distance to the west a fire is raging on the Sophie mountain, and the sparks have been carried over the summit to the eastern side, setting the forest on fire at three different places, seriously endangering the West Kootenay Power and Light Company's power line. Men were sent out to fight the fire in both localities and then finally a thunder-storm brought rain on Thursday afternoon. This helped to stay the onrush of the fire. War Eagle and Leola No. 2, the mines which would have been caught first, made all possible preparations, but happily there was no need to be put to the test. The danger is now ended, at least temporarily.

MORAVIAN BISHOP VISITING EDMONTON

Rev. Morris W. Liebert, Head of The Moravian Church in America Now Making An Inspection of The West. The Moravian churches in Alberta and Saskatchewan are now being visited after an absence of fifteen years by the President of the Executive Board of America, the Right Rev. Morris W. Liebert, D.D., of New York City. He is the guest of Rev. Mr. Schultz, of Strathcona, having come up from Calgary where he was attending the district synod a few days ago.

WILL VISIT ST. ALBERT

Arrangements are being made to have Sir Wilfrid Laurier visit St. Albert on the occasion of his visit here on August 5th. It is expected that the Prime Minister will be accompanied by Premier Sifton. They will go out by motor car after the luncheon in the King Edward. Sir Wilfrid will address the electors in French and English in the large hall which was formerly the Cathedral. A special train will be run from Corville and another may be run from Edmonton. Lucien Boudreau, M.P.P., was in the city yesterday making arrangements for the visit.

FINE EXHIBIT FOR FAIR

J. L. Porte, Strathcona, representative of the Edmonton board of trade, returned to the city Thursday from Agriculture and Clover Bar. Mr. Porte saw some of the finest grain in that district that he has seen this year. A field of oats five feet, six inches in height, was visited near Agriculture. All grain that is sown on summer fall and breaking is looking fine, but the grain on some of the older land is not in quite so good condition.

FALSE REPORTS FROM STATES

That the papers of the United States in an endeavor to demoralize immigration in Western Canada are using means so misrepresent this country is evident from newspaper articles that come from hand from time to time. Following bearing a Washington date appears in the Lexington, Ky., Leader, which was forwarded to the Bulletin by C. W. Butler, late immigration agent in this city. "The title of emigration of homeseekers to Canada, which has been the subject of great concern to the administrations of the public domain for the past few years, has turned, in the opinion of officials of the reclamation service, thousands have returned and a great many more are expected back soon."

LAURIER ARCH FELL ON TORY CANDIDATE

Saskatoon, Sask., July 22.—During a heavy wind and rain storm about six o'clock tonight the framework of the end of one of the grain arches being selected for the Laurier visit here on Friday next was caught in a whirlwind and toppled over. Just at the moment Dr. H. E. Munroe came along the street in an automobile and reached the arch just as it fell, the timbers striking the auto and demolishing the machine. The doctor was hit by falling boards and received nasty cuts about the face and head. Only Providence saved him from instant death, as the fall of timbers which did most of the damage was relieved by the cover supports right above the doctor's head. A peculiar coincidence about the affair is that Dr. Munroe was the Conservative candidate in the Federal election here four years ago.

ELERY WRITTEN IN A COUNTRY ROAD

The curfew tolls the knell of parting day, The lowing herd wind slowly o'er the lea, The plowman homeward rides, and on the way He gaily trots his auto horn at me.—Chicago Record-Herald. Here lies his head upon the lap of earth, A youth to fortune and to fame unknown; His silent form has fallen to the earth. The auto hit him for all it was worth, And then sped on and left him here alone. TREMENDOUS FOREST FIRE ON HOWE SOUND

Seattle, Wash., July 22.—Officers of the steamer Dolphin, which arrived from Skagway, Alaska, told of tremendous forest fires, a hundred square miles in extent, which they judged to be 20 miles in shore from the Strait of Georgia north of Howe Sound in British Columbia. According to First Officer Deem's bearings, the nearest town is Squamish at the head of Howe Sound. This section of the country is heavily wooded with fine timber. "This was the biggest forest fire I have ever seen," said First Officer Deem. "We were nearest to it Wednesday afternoon. The air was perfectly still and tremendous clouds of smoke rose in the form of a cauliflower, narrow at the base and gradually spreading all over the heavens. Along the horizon was a broad streak of flame. Then above that there seemed to be a little space clear of smoke and flames. I judged the flames to be several hundred feet high."
