Pastel People.

BY MURK CANNON

There are a great many people in this funny old world who seem to take a peculiar pride and pleasure in the enjoyments and possibilities which they miss. For instance there are people who are proud of their disdain for bright colors.

Subdued greys and mauves, respectable dark blues and dull browns are the only class of colors for which they have any use. If a costume has a splendid dash of vivid color about it they call it unrefined. The cheerful living room which has not been kept strictly to the subdued tones, offends their artistic sense. They can look at the most magnificently gorgeous sunset that ever was splashed across Nature's canvas without a thrill; it takes some pastel effect in pale grey with a half hint of pink to reach their pastel hearts.

And there are people who take pride in not being in touch with the times. I know a most estimable lady who has a hundred perfectly good reasons for pride but passes them all by to be proud of the fact that she cannot endure a telephone and cannot even make herself heard over one. Although she is a wealthy woman, she will not have a telephone in her home, and she is proud of this fact and makes as much display of it as the crudest newly-rich would make of her grand, new phone.

I know another woman who dislikes the very sight of automobiles and will never get into one. She also is very proud of her prejudice and no one is long in her company before she has expressed upon them the fact that she considers automobiles vulgar and that although she could quite afford to keep a machine she prefers horses.

I cannot see the sense of all this. Why should it be considered an evidence of crudity to like bright colors? Is God, or whatever creative force you acknowledge, crude? He certainly doesn't dislike bright colors. Think of the vivid blaze of blue, the swimming seas of gold, the flame of burnt orange, the blood-red of dawn, with which He decks out the heavens, which are, according to theology and inherent feeling, His particular dwelling place! Somehow I cannot believe that these people who shudder at a bright color have better taste than God Himself.

And isn't it childish to disdain any useful thing, just to prove your superiority and exclusiveness? Why not accept the automobile for speed and convenience, the horse for its own distinctive charm, steam heat for comfort, the open fire for good cheer, the telephone for utility, the personal interview for pleasure, and be thankful to the Creative Spirit that made this such an interesting and varied world.

If a man were to stop up his ears and live only in his four other senses he would thereby elect himself to a limited and exclusive class, but he certainly wouldn't be any happier, nor have any particular reason for pride on account of his exclusiveness, and the same holds true of pastel people.

The Tec in Plain Cloths.

Scotland Yard's Private Detectives Who Nearly Always Manage to be on the Spot When Our Militant Subjugates are Particularly Rowdy, are Again in the Public Eye.

Members of the Criminal Investigation Department—the plain-clothes men, as they are better known—are, perhaps the most misunderstood of all our police.

It is the custom in all modern detective stories to represent the man from Scotland Yard as a very stupid and incompetent person, and thus the public have a very poor idea indeed of his capabilities. Whenever the novelist wants to get a mystery cleared up he immediately introduces one of the world-famous detectives whose chief characteristics are sitting about in their rooms in dressing-gowns and smoking huge curved-stem pipes.

In an hour or two these human sleuth-hounds are able to clear up a murder or burglary mystery which a Scotland Yard official has been "blundering" over for weeks. This sort of thing, of course, is very interesting to read about or watch at the cinema, but it is very unjust to the patient, hard-working members of the C.I.D. who are always severely criticized when the author of any crime goes undetected.

Six Hundred Men in the Force.
To begin with, the selection of the men for this important branch of the police service is very thorough. No man can become a member of the C.I.D. until he has served twelve months' duty "on beat" as an ordinary police constable. This provision is a good one, for it insures that men who have shown powers of observation and tact while performing their ordinary duty should have first choice of selection.

The force numbers about 600 men, and anyone who may be chosen for this special work has to undergo a very lengthy course of training. At the end of this training an examination is set, in which the aspirant to honors has to show that he understands police law, and all that his new job entails.

Now and again some big crime, which makes a good story for the newspapers, goes quite undetected, and no matter what Scotland Yard may do, the culprits are never brought to book. Immediately, a big clamor is raised against what is called the "slowness" of our police system, and all the good work which is done daily in the interests and safety of the public is never noticed.

It is these little daily occurrences however, and not the occasional "big crime," which mean so much to our happiness, and were they never cleared up by the ever-vigilant C.I.D.s, life would be a great deal more unpleasant than it is. All the most notorious house-breakers and pickpockets would be at large, free to commit crimes when and how they pleased.

It is in the discovery of the perpetrators of crimes such as these that the plain-clothes man shines. A very important thing which the plain-clothes man is particular about is never to create a scene if it can be avoided.

Some little time ago, during the visit of President Polkare to this country, a man who was wanted on many charges but had so far eluded the police, was observed by a plain-clothes constable talking to a group of equally notorious characters in Oxford Street. The detective walked towards his man with the idea of arresting him, but he became suspicious and darted off down one of the side streets which was crowded with sight-seers.

Instead of creating a scene and chasing the man, the detective made a strong mental note of his description, and when the first opportunity arose—not many days later—he was arrested.

Other duties of the plain-clothes man are many and varied. He protects Cabinet Ministers from the attentions of Suffragettes, and he is responsible for the safety of royal visitors to this country.

Altogether the plain-clothes man is not the least important member of the best police system in the world.

Indian Claims Hunting Privileges.

Cobourg, Ont., Nov. 13.—John P. Chase, an Indian from the Alderville Reserve at Rosemeath was brought before Magistrate J. L. Squire, at Norwood, charged with trapping muskrats out of season. He pleaded guilty to the charge and the minimum penalty of $5 was imposed. It transpired, however, that the Indians claim that according to an old treaty made in the reign of George III, they are entitled to hunt as long as the grass grows and the water flows, and it is said that they contemplate making application against the decision before the Privy Council.

Have Become Millionaires.

Men Who Made Fortunes in the Action Pictures—The Story of Lubin.

Even more fascinating than the picture palace boom which began eight or nine years ago, are to-day of men who, taking advantage of the controlling spirits in a business which is providing entertainment for millions of people every week and lining the pockets of the promoters of the syndicates which own the many picture palaces in this country and America.

The total number of employees in cinematograph theatres six years ago in Great Britain was about 500; they now exceed 125,000, whose weekly wage bill probably runs into 250,000 pounds sterling or more. In America there are about 16,000 picture palaces; patronized by more than 6,000,000 people every day, nearly 20,000,000 pounds sterling a year being spent in admission money. And it is the pioneers of cinematographs who are reaping the benefit of this amazing development; for they were astute enough to form syndicates and combine which to-day control hundreds of picture palaces.

Millionaires of Movies.

About fifty years ago a German boy landed in New York and after a time started in business as an optician. Then he became interested in photography invented lenses and other improvements and built a moving picture machine. To-day that German lad, Siegmund Lubin, is known as King of the Picture Palaces, and some idea of his resources may be gathered from the fact that he spent 200,000 pounds sterling on a studio in Philadelphia and a further 400,000 pounds sterling in the purchase of an estate comprising more than 500 acres to facilitate the taking of moving pictures. Altogether he employs about 400 people in making films. Mr. Lubin had the foresight to see the possibilities of the cinema, hence his remarkable success.

Another romance of the cinema is revealed by the career of Marcus Lowe who has picture palaces all over the world. In fact, his amusement enterprises have a capital of nearly 2,000,000 pounds sterling. Lowe was a newboy when he was eight years old and a fruit pedler before he was 14. Between then and his 21st birthday he dabbled in all sorts of enterprises, with more or less success. Then he succeeded in establishing penny arcades, like the penny bazaars which are so popular in this country. When the moving pictures were first invented he hit upon the idea of using them as an additional attraction to his penny arcades. They proved so successful that he promptly rented stores all over New York, fitted them as little theatres, and within a few months had forty moving picture shows running. He repeated the experiment in other towns and to-day he can boast of being one of the Millionaires of the Movies.

Pioneers of the Moving Pictures.

Another man who seized the opportunity when it came along was J. Austin Fynes, who in the early days invested $500 in a picture show. He opened on Saturday and the receipts for Saturday, Sunday and Monday were about 400 pounds sterling. Within the year, to quote a characteristic American description, he was round shouldered from the burden of carrying his money to the bank.

Charles Urban and Gilbert S. Anderson are two other pioneers of the cinema, who seizing opportunity in the early days of the boom have become heads of vast businesses in the moving picture world.

Life is Greivous. Here and There.

There are many things which vex human souls, year after year; thus, the letters with the checks never do on time appear. There are always railway wrecks, or collision with a freight, and the letters with the checks are a month or six weeks late. Vainly do we strain our necks harkening for the postman's call; late the letters with the checks, or they never come at all. But as promptly as the sun rises to dispel the shade, comes the letter with the dun—it is never lost or strayed. Railway trains may jump the track, bridges break and rivers rise, trestles over chasms crack, mails be knocked cantrawise; but the letter with the dun from the grocer come to hand: "call upon me with the mon," is the merchant's stern demand. "Call and pay us and repeat," writes the gasworks man, alas! "You have hired ten million feet of our double action gas!" All such letters, giving pain, promptly come, by quarts and pecks, but we wait and wait in vain for the letters with the checks!

WEDNESDAY, November 19, 1913.

Our Minority Government.

Not only has Sir Edward Morris lost the confidence of the majority of the electorate, but two of his Ministers have lost their seats. We have thus the spectacle of a Government in this country kept in office, although supported only by a definite and clear minority of voters, and two Ministers kept in office who have sustained one of the most decisive defeats ever known in the political history of Newfoundland.

In 1909 the Hon. S. D. Blandford as Minister of Agriculture and Mines was sustained in the District of Bonnavista by a vote of 3,158, and Minister D. Morison by a vote of 3,076, their leading opponent receiving only 652 votes. Mr. Blandford's majority was 2,506, and Mr. Morison's 2,424 over the vote of that opponent. Four and a half years passed, the Fishermen's Protective Union increased in the numbers of its members in strength. The policy and acts of the Government in reference to the Department of Agriculture and Mines, in regard to timber grants, agricultural policy and the creation of placemen attached to that department, formed the subject of severe comment and censure during the greater part of the time which elapsed between Sir Edward Morris taking over the Government in 1909 and going to the country in 1913. The connection of the Hon. D. Morison with timber grants and speculations in them formed the subject of Memorials to ex-Governor Williams, asking for his dismissal. These Memorials proceeded from the Fishermen's Protective Union and were addressed to the Governor by Mr. W. F. Cosker, as President of the Fishermen's Protective Union. The prayer of the petition was not acceded to. But when the appeal was made to the constituency of Bonnavista, which had elected both these Ministers in 1909 with extraordinary large majorities, the majority of the electors of that important constituency, the most populous of all constituencies except St. John's East, withdrew their confidence from both these Ministers, placed Mr. Morison at the bottom of the poll and the President of the P. P. U. at the top. The latter who had memorialized the Governor received 3,478 votes, and the Minister only 1,457. The Memorialist beat the Minister whose dismissal he asked for by 2,021 votes, and beat the Minister of the Crown Lands Department by 1,849. Although their constituents have withdrawn their support in this decisive manner and under these circumstances, both Ministers still hold office, and the Prime Minister has taken upon himself to keep them there, as appears from their present holding of portfolios. How long is this to go on? It is about time the public were informed as to the intention of the Premier in the premises. What is his PRESIDENT GARFIELD born 1821. Among the famous men who have worked their way to the post of President of the United States, Garfield holds very high rank. Left fatherless when but a child, from his earliest days he had to work hard to help to support his family. He became President in 1880.

FRANZ SCHUBERT died 1828, aged 31. Austrian musical composer. He was entirely self-taught and began to compose at an early age. Even when his reputation had become established he was sometimes constrained to sell the copyright of his songs for penance money, and never being able to secure a paid appointment, he seldom managed to procure more than the bare necessities of life. He is best known by his instrumental music and art songs, of which he was the first great exponent, and wrote some six hundred and fifty.

FERDINAND DE LESSEPS born 1805. French diplomat who inaugurated the Suez Canal in 1854 and in 1881 commenced the Panama Canal on insufficient funds. In 1892 the management was charged with fraud, and De Lesseps was condemned to five years' imprisonment, but was too ill to undergo the sentence. He died in 1894.

WOLFE TONE died 1798, aged 35. Irish politician and lawyer who several times planned a French invasion of Ireland. He died in prison awaiting execution for treason.

The Wireless Wonder.

The report in the public cable despatch of the success of Marconi in experimenting with the wireless telephone between Clifton and Glace Bay marks another wonderful step in the progress of wireless communication. For a long time, the success of Marconi in sending wireless signals from Signal Hill across the Atlantic was derided. It was a fact, however, and led to development which has revolutionized communication at sea, led to the saving of many lives at sea, and given rise to new commercial enterprise in the matter of the sending of messages. Wireless telephony is no new thing. Indeed wonders had already been accomplished in long distance telephony without a wire connection, but this experiment of Marconi, marks the initial success in oceanic wireless telephony.

Wedding Bells.

On Monday night, at St. Patrick's Church, by Rev. Fr. McDermott, Mr. James Walsh, of Fermeuse led to the altar Miss Theresa Brushett, of Marystown. The bride looked charming in a suit of sax blue with hat to match and was attended by her sister Miss Minnie Brushett, while the groom was supported by Mr. Michael Tobin. After the nuptial knot had been tied the happy couple drove to their future residence 42 Pleasant Street, where a number of friends were waiting to welcome the happy couple. After partaking of light refreshments the balance of the evening was spent in songs and dancing. The affair closed shortly after midnight. All present wished Mr. and Mrs. Walsh many years of wedded life.

Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not viliate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:—

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this, amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of the meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginauld Dudley, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience could, with comfort, sit through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter been employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—Tivian B. Lewes, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—nov8,tf

Always Tell the Truth

Record of Drunkards Investigated by Commission.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Those troubled with a moral weakness causing prevarication, exaggeration or evasion of the question at issue, would have found a cure for this deficiency in the State House, when Edwin P. Mulready, chief probation officer and President Wilson's appointee to the International Congress in Italy for abating the drink evil, said that all drunkards, or the greater part of them, tell the truth.

Not that Mr. Mulready suggested indulgence in alcoholic refreshment to shake off the pernicious habit of lying, but he told the commission that his department had investigated 86,000 cases of drunkenness entered on the police blotters and 77,000 were found to have told the exact truth in every instance. Judge Murray, of the court here, said the average was far better than that of sober men arrested.

Movies do Some Good.

Ithaca, N.Y., Nov. 4.—According to Edward C. Mercer, the well-known social worker among college men, the moving picture shows have been great factors in reducing the amount of drinking and reckless living on the part of students in the universities, especially at Cornell. Mr. Mercer told several fraternity men here that athletic and the moving picture had done a great deal to solve the drink problem among college men.

Fashions and Fads.

Moire is very much sought after. The old-fashioned smoking has returned.

The most sensational tunic is wired on the edge. The straight footline is favored for dancing frocks.

To be really chic, one must wear the beaded stockings.

All fabrics used in this season's tailored suits are soft.

Camoes are used on hats and to hold the draperies of skirts.

Thus far, the new suits show no sign of returning long coats.

Suit coat sleeves are long and usually exaggerated in shape.

Satin is dying; the only fabric of this kind used is charmeuse.

The newest pattern in fine velvets is the Oriental palm leaf.

Plaids come in all manner of weaves, velvet, wool, silk or cotton.

Gathered or pleated flounces confine their fullness above the knees.

More and more voluminous grow the waists and more and more bulky the silhouettes.

Some of the new trimming materials are embroidered with silks, beads and braid.

The crownless wedding veil is entirely new; it is held in place by a halo of orange blossoms.

Sometimes a touch of plaid is introduced in the coat by means of a belt, or vest or waistcoat.

Furs adorn not only the morning tailor-made, but the dressy afternoon and diaphanous evening frock.

Dance frocks for the debutante are fashioned of white tulle or lace with two or three tiered skirts.

Suit coats hang loosely from the shoulders, are rounded below the waist at the back and tilt up in front.

It is a season of luxuries in dress garnitures, and gold and silver silken cords and jet will be much used.

The tunic may be treated in so many ways that every woman may adopt this most fashionable detail.

All clothes of the present are comfortable, shoulders broad, sleeves immense and unrestrained waists.

The skirt may be slashed at the side, front or back, according to where the designer places the drapery.

Black and white alone is destined to the back seat. We see black and white, but there is always somewhere a dash of color.

The high faced boot which the slashed skirt demands is fashioned of grey suede or finest kid, matching the tone of the gown.

A delicious pineapple dish is made from the fresh fruit, served with mayonnaise mixed generously with whipped cream.

Every $100 should earn $6 a year for its owner

If your hundreds are not each earning you $6 a year, then they are not working efficiently, and a new sphere of employment should be found for them.

A $100 bond is better than a $100 bill, because it works for you night and day and brings home the highest wages.

$6 wages yearly on $100—or six per cent.—is synonymous with safety in this present period of high yield from even the best class of securities.

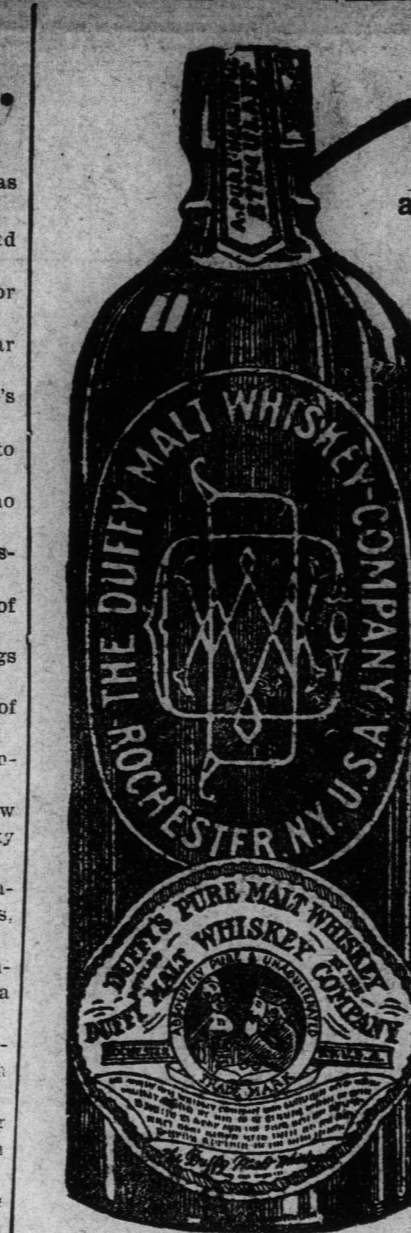

In fact, a higher rate of wages than this may be safely obtained if you are guided in your selection by some good investment banker.

We welcome an opportunity of showing you where your funds may earn the highest wages. But don't wait until you have time to write a letter. Just write your name and address on the back of this advertisement and mail it in an envelope to our St. John's office. That will bring you our best help and advice.

Wedding Bells. Reproduction of Pinafore. Victim belonged to Placentia.

St. Thomas's Church was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding this morning at 7.30, when Miss Lily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stirling, was united in the bonds of Holy matrimony to Rev. Gordon Elliott, incumbent of Rose Blanche. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. B. S. Stirling, brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. G. R. Godden, M.A., Rector. As the bride entered the Church, leaning on the arm of her father, the organ pealed forth Lohengrin's Bridal March, and was attended by her sister, Miss Elsie Stirling. The groom was ably supported by the bride's brother. The bride was gowned in a travelling costume of grey whipcord, with beaver hat, and carried a bouquet of white carnations, while the bridesmaid wore a dress of silk voile with black hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of furs and to the bridesmaid a wristlet watch. Notwithstanding the early hour, a goodly number of friends were present. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, and refreshments partaken of, after which the happy couple motored to Manuels to take the train for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride was the recipient of a large number of costly and useful presents, including several cheques. Congratulations.

The comic opera, H.M.S. Pinafore, was again staged last night by the pupils of St. Bonaventure's College in the Aula Maxima, and was attended by a large and appreciative audience, including His Grace the Archbishop, Rt. Rev. Mons. Reardon, and Very Rev. J. J. St. John, Chancellor of the Diocese. The opera was preceded by a horn solo by Mr. A. Bulley, and vocal selections by Miss Strang and Mr. R. Summers, all of which were warmly applauded. The performers in the opera were Masters C. Fox, N. Duchemin, J. Power, M. Kennedy, W. McGrath, J. Donnelly, G. Blewett, W. Brown, J. Curran, A. McCoubrey and L. Jackman, all of whom acquitted themselves very creditably. Masters Fox, Duchemin, Kennedy, McGrath and J. Power were exceptionally good in their respective roles. Master Jim Power gave a very faithful delineation of "Ralph Rackstraw," and the "First Lord of the Admiralty," was ably represented by Master C. Fox, while the conductor, Prof. Hutton is to be congratulated on the success of the affair. The proceeds will go towards the building fund.

Rossley Theatre.

There was a packed house at Rossley's last night, and a fine show rewarded those who turned out. Miss Louise Arkandy, the gifted vocalist, sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." She was in splendid voice and was rapturously applauded. She possesses a beautiful voice. The pictures are the very finest seen in a great while. Everyone is now looking forward to the Christmas pantomimes. Mrs. Rossley with wonderful skill and patience is teaching the youngsters every day. There are some very clever children among her pupils, and patrons will have a chance to see how Mrs. Rossley has brought out talent that might never have a chance to come to the surface.

Obituary.

MRS. MICHAEL ENGLISH.
We deeply regret to record a death which occurred at Branch on October 29th, in the person of Mrs. Michael English, at the age of 33. Her death was not unexpected as she suffered from paralysis for some time previous. She bore her illness with exemplary patience until the last. Deceased was of a kind and loving disposition and was beloved by all who knew her, and many will mourn her demise as that of a valued friend. Of all who crowded around her bier none will miss her more than the husband and orphaned children whom she loved, also a mother, three brothers and two sisters and a large circle of friends, who closed her eyes in this world while her dying lips murmured, Father into Thy Hands I commend my spirit. So we leave her in the ranks of the unforgotten dead from whom we are parted but a little time, and to whom we hope to be reunited on that great Easter Day when we will all rise again glorious and immortal from the dead.

Old Curfew Passes.

How old traditions pass is shown by a happening at Wokingham, where a curfew, which had tolled for 200 years, is no longer rung. Ten dollars was spent yearly in tolling the bell, the amount being derived from a piece of land on a certain estate which was recently sold. The new owner denies that there is a charge on the land, and the charity commissioners, whose opinion was sought, replied that it appeared that the land could not be sufficiently identified. Therefore, it would be impossible on the evidence obtainable for the claim on the land to be successfully maintained.

He is survived by a father and one brother who are deeply grieved over the sad tragedy.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Disappear

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone.
If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy that you can depend upon.

It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such diseases. It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.
More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases. You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

Uganda's Christian King.

The Kabaka of Uganda, King Daudi Chwa, accompanied by his three Christian chiefs, Ham Mukasa, Musalosa, and Blaiso, recently laid a memorial-stone in the new wing of the Church Missionary House in Salisbury Square, London. He laid the stone with the words, "In the faith of Jesus Christ we fix this stone. In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen." He added: "I know how much Uganda owes to the Church Missionary Society. I have very many Christian friends in my own country, and I am very glad to have made more friends here, whose kindness to me has been very great."—"Public Opinion."

FOUND DEAD.

Aged Brother and Sister Found Dead Amid a Scene of Poverty and Distress at Harbor Grace.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
H.R. GRACE, To-day.
James O'Brien aged seventy five and his sister Anastasia aged seventy two were found dead in their home yesterday forenoon. Station agent Ford notified Constable Dooley that there was no sign of the old people and on investigation Dooley found the old man nude of clothing on the floor in a room at the rear of the house and found the sister on the floor under a bed in a front room. She just had passed away but her brother had been dead for some hours. Poverty and dirt was the scene that met the officer's view. The Relieving Officer had been made acquainted with their condition. He will be able to explain. God help the poor and afflicted.

Destructive Fire at King's Cove Last Night.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
KING'S COVE, To-day.
Last night at 12 o'clock after all the inhabitants had retired a fire broke out in the eastern end of the R. C. Hall which portion of the building is occupied as the infant school. It was first seen by the crew of a schooner at anchor in the Harbor who immediately came on shore and aroused the people with cries of "Fire" and by ringing the bell of the Catholic church. When the people gathered it was too late to save the building, but the school furniture and other property contained therein was nearly all rescued. The fire soon spread and caught the dwelling house of Miss Brown close by and also that of Mrs. Carroll. The former was very soon destroyed with the hall but the people assembled forming a bucket brigade with superhuman effort brought the fire under control, and though Mrs. Carroll's house took fire several times and is considerably damaged, it is not beyond repair. Egan's, Martin's and McGrath's residence now stood in great danger. In fact the whole eastern section of the place was threatened, but by saturating these houses with water the fire did not gain any further heading and at 3 a.m. it was under control. The hall which had undergone considerable alterations and repairs the past summer was valued for six thousand dollars and was partially insured, Miss Brown's house being uninsured. Had there been a strong westerly wind blowing nothing could have saved the whole eastern section of the Harbor.

Mr. King Does Well.

CATALINA, Nov. 4, 1913.
Messrs. Franklin & Company, St. John's, Nfld.
Dear Sirs,—Having used a 6 H. P. FRASER engine with kerosene adapter the past season, I feel compelled to write and let you know something of my feelings towards this engine, it has given me perfect satisfaction, never having one minute's trouble from the time I installed it in my boat, I have only used two gallons of gasoline for the season and could have done without any as the engine will start as well on kerosene as on gasoline. I heartily recommend the FRASER engine to all fishermen who are thinking of investing in a motor as the best engine on the market. It is simple to manipulate and strong enough to tow a boat load of fish and keep up with other engines without anything in tow, as I have proved this the past season. I secured 200 quintals of fish this summer, my cost for running was under $20 for kerosene, without the engine 50 to 100 quintals would probably have been my voyage.
You have my permission to use this letter should you care to do so.
Yours truly,
THOMAS KING.

Got Six Months.

The young man Wakeham, who was caught trying to pass off a bogus cheque for $150 at the Bank of Nova Scotia, and who was detained at the Penitentiary for eight days, was arraigned before Judge Knight to-day. The accused pleaded guilty for what he had done. As the case went on Inspector General Sullivan, on behalf of the Crown, and in clemency to the prisoner, intimated to the court that the Crown had stricken out the charge of forgery against the prisoner, who had an excellent record, and that "attempting to obtain money under false pretences" was substituted. The accused was represented by Mr. Higgins, who advanced some extenuating circumstances for mitigation of punishment. After summing up the evidence, His Honor sentenced Wakeham to six months imprisonment without the option of a fine.

Serious Fire at King's Cove.

Deputy Minister of Justice Hutchings received a message to-day from King's Cove, stating that the Roman Catholic Hall there, with dwelling house of Miss Brown, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The hall was partially insured but there was no insurance on the dwelling house. The fire is supposed to have originated in the infant school by which the eastern end of the building was occupied. In connection with the fire Inspector General Sullivan had the following message from Constable Whelan, of King's Cove:—
"Roman Catholic Hall, also dwelling house of Miss Brown destroyed by fire, last night; origin of fire unknown."

Gave it in Full.

An old Scottish minister took it into his head to marry his housekeeper. His precursor being ill on the day when the banns were to be proclaimed, the minister, not caring to make the intimation himself, arranged with his head boy to do it. "Now," he said, "you just call out in a loud voice, 'Proclamation of marriage between the Rev. Mr. Murray of this parish and Jean Lowe of the same!' Ha, ha!" laughed the minister, as he concluded. "What'd he do that?" The Sabbath came round and the congregation assembled. When the moment arrived the head boy who had duly prepared himself, rose and called out: "Proclamation of marriage between the Rev. Mr. Murray of this parish and Jean Lowe of the same!" Ha, ha!" he laughed thinking this to be a part of his proclamation. "What'd he do that?" The effect on the minister and his congregation can be imagined.

When Rescuers Looked On

The Volturno Disaster Was by no Means the Biggest Fire When the Rescuers Could do Nothing.

Ten great Atlantic liners raced to the rescue of the Volturno, which caught fire in mid-ocean with a loss of nearly 150 lives.

Yet for a long time those liners could do nothing to assist the doomed vessel. Here is what a wireless message said:—

"The spectacle of the Volturno burning, with 500 souls on board, surrounded by the huge lighted hulls of an international Trans-Atlantic fleet, crowded with thousands of spectators, all eagerly anxious but unable to help owing to the mountainous seas, beggars description."

Nothing is more dreadful than for brave men to stand by and see others perish, without being able to rescue them.

Fire has beaten back would-be rescuers, and baffled them in their attempts to aid, more than any other thing. Twice within the last ten years big fires at sea have taken their toll of human lives while others have watched, powerless to render assistance.

On November 25th, 1910, the steamship Sardinia was observed to be on fire just after leaving Malta Harbour. The captain immediately turned his vessel and raced back for safety. The danger of exploding powder magazines in the harbour forced him to run his ship on the rocks outside.

Thousands of spectators gathered on the shore and watched the burning steamer, while boats set off to the rescue from all the ships within reach. But, as in the case of the Volturno, not a boat could approach the sides of the steamer owing to the high seas which were running. The steamer's own boats were soon burnt out by the devouring flames. Over 120 passengers were burnt to death while thousands of willing but helpless rescuers looked on.

1,000 Excursionists Perished.

The worst fire at sea was that of the General Slocum, off New York, on June 15th, 1904. The General Slocum was one of those great, towering American pleasure steamers. She left New York with 1,500 excursionists on board. Suddenly the cry of "Fire!" rang through the ship. She carried little in the way of life-saving apparatus, and all the fire-prevention appliances, were out of date.

The wooden vessel was ablaze from end to end before the horror-stricken onlookers could come to the doomed excursionists' aid. Screaming women and terrified, cowering children added to the fearfulness of the scene. Most of the spectators of this dreadful holocaust went mad from the heart-rending scene they had witnessed.

It was only recently that would-be rescuers stood helpless against a fire in England. The crowning horror of the disaster at Aisgill in September was when the wrecked carriages caught fire. Desperate efforts were made to save passengers from the flames, but they were so fierce that rescue work was out of the question.

Cut Off by Fire Under the Sea.

Time and time again have miners been cut off from the world by some disaster, and time and time again rescuers have been driven back by deadly gases and fire, forced to leave their comrades to die in darkness.

In May, 1910, over 130 men were entombed by an explosion in the Wellington Pit, at Whitehaven. The pit extended five miles under the sea, and the spot where the explosion took place was about three miles from the foreshore. After the explosion fire broke out and cut off the doomed miners in the last two miles of the workings. For hours rescue parties toiled unceasingly in the hope of finding their entombed comrades, but their gallant efforts were unavailing. Fire fought between the cut-off men and their rescuers, and the fire won. Out of a total of 140 men working in the mine only four were brought to the surface alive.

Just a year later New York was the scene of a ghastly fire tragedy, when 150 young people, chiefly girls, were burnt to death.

The fire broke out on the eighth floor of a ten-story skyscraper. The blaze was all over in half an hour, but in that short time thousands of spectators and hundreds of firemen were helpless to cope with the raging inferno.—Pearson's Weekly.

Calls Judge Names in Court Can't Stop Him.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Eleven of the twelve jurors who are to try the man known as Henry Spencer for the murder of Mildred Allison Rexroat, tango teacher, have been selected. Spencer's shouts, interruptions and apparently insane actions continued throughout the day. His attacks upon judge, jury and prosecuting attorney often convulsed the spectators.

"If I knew any legal way to stop him I would do it," said Judge Slusser. "He cannot be gagged or treated with violence and has legal right to be resent at his trial."

"Bonehead" is his favorite term of contempt. To a prospective juror he would yell: "Answer the question, you bonehead, what are you hesitating about?" The "bonehead" expression was sometimes accompanied by profane adjectives.

"That man is just as sane as I am," Sheriff A. A. Kuhn said. "He is putting on all this in the hope of escaping hanging."

Before court adjourned he turned to Judge Slusser and yelled: "When I get to hell I'll find a nice hot job for you, Judge, you old bonehead."

A Wonderful Cure.

Three Months in Hospital and Came Out Uncured.

Zam-Buk Cured Him in Few Weeks.

Mr. Fred Mason, the well-known upholsterer and mattress manufacturer of St. Andrews, N.B., says:—

"I had eczema on my knee, which caused me terrible pain and inconvenience. The sore parts would itch and burn and tingle, and then when rubbed or scratched, would become very painful. When the knee got warm, it burned worse, and the itching and burning and smarting were almost unbearable. I tried various remedies, but got no better, so I decided to go to Montreal and take special treatment. I received treatment at the Montreal General Hospital for thirteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was not cured, and almost gave in. A friend advised me to give Zam-Buk a trial.

"Almost as soon as applied Zam-Buk stopped the itching and the burning. I persevered with the balm and it was soon evident that it would do me good. Each day the pain was reduced, the sore spots began to heal, and by the time I had used a few boxes of Zam-Buk I was quite cured. "Since then Zam-Buk has cured blood-poison in my finger, and at a time when my finger was in such a terrible condition that I feared it would have to be amputated."

For eczema, blood-poisoning, piles, ulcers, sores, abscesses, varicose ulcers, bad leg, cold sores, chapped hands, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal.

Honors for 1000 Noted Surgeons.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13.—More than 1,000 prominent surgeons of the United States and Canada to-day received degrees at the first convocation of the newly constituted American College of Surgeons. The degrees were presented by Sir Rickman Godlee, President of the British Royal College of Surgeons, who also delivered the oration of the day.

Among the recipients of the honors were Charles F. Stokes, surgeon general of the United States Navy; George H. Torney, surgeon general of the United States Army; and Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the Public Health Service of the United States.

The American College of Surgeons was organized at a national medical congress held last May in Washington, D.S., along the lines of the British Royal College of Surgeons, "to elevate the standard of surgery on the American continent." It is not a school of surgery, but an association embracing the leading surgeons of the United States and Canada. Dr. J. M. T. Finny, of Baltimore, is President of the organization.

Mother The Child is Costive, Bilious

Don't hesitate! A laxative is necessary if tongue is coated, breath bad or stomach sour.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful to-day often saves a sick child to-morrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

A Record Freight

The S. S. Prospero, Capt. A. Kean, takes a full cargo of freight for the northward this trip. In Bowring's Cove yesterday space was at a premium, the whole place being occupied with vans, drays, and all conceivable vehicles from Anderson's corner to the end of the cove and along the coastal wharf. On several occasions the police had to make room among the teamsters for the pedestrians who were doing business with the neighbouring offices.

A few peas added to the dish of creamed chicken lobster or shrimps are as pleasing to the eye as they are satisfying to the palate.

Insurgents Making Good in Mexico.

Special Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, To-day.

The absence of any evidence that fresh instructions have gone forward from Washington to John Lind or Charge O'Shaughnessy was understood in official circles here yesterday to mark the advent of another period of patient waiting for some decisive development in Mexico. In spite of all rumors of blockades and intervention coming from Havana and Vera Cruz, there has been no sign of any such action in the Navy or War Departments as might be expected to precede the adoption of any such radical steps by the Administration. Moreover it has been indicated in official quarters that only by direction of Congress would such steps be taken. Officials still decline to give any information as to what has been accomplished by William Bayard Hale, in his conferences at Nogales with General Carranza and his Constitutional Cabinet. State Department advices indicate that the insurrectionary movements are proceeding rapidly, not only in North Mexico but in the South East. This last development is regarded here as very important, because the success of the Constitutionalists in obtaining possession of rich oil fields East, and some deep water port on its Gulf coast would enormously strengthen them from the military point of view, the former insuring them a full treasury and the latter easy means of supplying themselves with munitions of war from Europeans in the West Indies. The State Department is looking for news of capture by insurgents of Victoria, Capital of the State of Tamaulipas, which would complete the rebel control of the Northern part of the Mexican States. Consular reports from Vera Cruz state that all the bridges in Tampico and Victoria have been destroyed, the train traffic totally suspended and the tracks north of South Victoria torn up about 100 miles north west of Tampico. It is understood that a considerable number of foreigners is threatened by military operations there. The German cruiser Bremen arrived yesterday at Tampico, the nearest port to Victoria to afford refuge to Germans in the neighborhood who can succeed in reaching the coast. On the West Coast the German cruiser Nuernberg has been dispatched to San Blas to gather up German refugees in that neighborhood who fled from Uplac, the capital of the State before it was captured by the insurgents a few days ago. At the War Department strategists are puzzling over the lack of activity by Federal forces in Mexico who appear to have offered no substantial resistance to triumphant Southward sweep of the insurgents.

Made $60 a Day Watering Butter.

(Montreal Gazette, Nov. 8.)

As a result of an investigation which has been carried on in the city during the past few weeks officials of the department of agriculture have discovered that a number of butter dealers of Montreal have been attempting to deal with the high cost of living problem, and in the process have been making a special profit for themselves. On instructions received from Ottawa, complaints have been lodged against eight of these dealers and they will be brought up before the courts charged with contravening the pure food laws. These are but preliminaries to other prosecutions which will be entered, as Inspector J. G. Bouchard, under whose directions the investigations have been going on, is in possession of evidence that numerous dealers have been guilty of similar offences.

The charge laid, is that the accused have indulged in the practice of "watering" butter. As is known, according to law butter sold for human consumption, may not contain more than 16 per cent. of water. Inspector Bouchard has proof to show that certain of the accused have succeeded in incorporating water to the extent of over 30 per cent into the butter sold by them.

The process is by no means a new one. The dealers indulging in it, buy up all the old stale butter they can lay their hands on in the various butter warehouses in the city. This they take and put into a mixing machine, where it is subjected to certain chemical treatment to "kill" the bad taste and to put it into such a condition that it will absorb liquids. Then, water, milk and a little cream are added and the machine is set going again. The whole is well mixed up and when kept at low temperature, it remains a consistent mass. It is then placed on the market, being sold for the most part by itinerant dealers who keep it on ice in their rigs. It has been found out that in cases, the adulterated product has been sold at a price per pound close to the best of creamery butter. The "market" for the watered butter has been for the most part amongst the poorer classes, all of the dealers summoned to appear conducting establishments in the slum districts, or in the far east end of the city.

Made $60 a Day.

According to information placed in the hands of Arthur Vallee, advocate, who is acting for the department of agriculture, a couple of men summoned to appear in answer to the charge, have been making a profit of $60 per day over and above all expenses. They buy the old butter up at almost any price they care to give for it, as the reputable dealers and wholesalers are glad to get the stuff off their hands. And, as out of every sixty or seventy pounds thus secured, they could make 100 pounds of adulterated butter, it may be seen that the operators had quite an easy thing.

DOROTHY BAIRD ARRIVES.—The schr. Dorothy Baird, Capt. Keeping, arrived to-day from Pernambuco, after a passage of 33 days. The voyage was stormy at intervals, notably when coming on this coast. The Cruel Cross of Life

What silence we keep year after year
With those who are most near to us and dear.
We live beside each other day by day
And speak of myriad things, but seldom say
The full sweet word that lies just in our reach
Beneath the commonplace of common speech.
Then out of sight and out of reach they go—
These close, familiar friends who loved us so!
And sitting in the shadow they have left,
Alone with loneliness and sore bereft.
We think, with vain regret, of some fond word
That once we might have said and they have heard.
For weak and poor the love that we expressed
Now seems, beside the past, sweet unloved;
And slight the deeds we did to those undone,
And small the service sent to treasure won
And undeserved the praise for word and deed
That should have overflowed the simple need.

This is the cruel cross of life, to be Full-visited only when the ministry
Of death has been fulfilled, and in the place
Of some dear presence is but empty space.
What recollections can then Give consolation for the might have been?

Steer Bros. vs. Bonavista Bay M. M. Insurance Co.—On motion this case is set for Dec. 12th, before a special jury. Mr. McNeilly, for Plaintiff; Mr. Poole, for Defendant.

Won 100,000 Pounds.

An American now in London, who was present on the occasion, has given an Evening News representative the story of how "Bet-you-a-million" Gates won his nickname. Gates, along with some others, including a man now holding a high diplomatic position in the United States service, was playing baccarat in the Waldorf Hotel in New York on an agreement that not more than £1,000 should be put on each side of the table.
Gates lost some money, and the banker asked if they could not play for something higher. Gates at once put down £50,000 on each side of the table.
Another player followed with £34,000 on each side, and the rest of the party amongst them at down £16,000 on each side. The total wager amounted to £200,000—a million dollars.
When the cards were dealt out it was found that the bank had lost to both sides by a single point. Gates had won £100,000.

The Frailty of Man.

We are all liable to error and will be so to the end of time—the most careful will make mistakes, sometimes, for we are not merely human! With the fact of our own frailty staring us in the face, would it be reasonable on our part to neglect the means placed within our reach for the elimination of error? Errors in the counting house are costly but they can be avoided by the use of present day inventions, constructed as well as human ingenuity can suggest. It is to busy men that we speak—the others have no time to listen. To busy office-men the "Globe-Wernicke" devices come as a boon and a blessing, guarding as they do the essential records, which are the main vitality of business. These appliances are on view at Mr. Percie Johnson's office, and need only be seen to be appreciated.

LONDON, Nov. 18.

"I am voicing the opinion of large shipping interests in saying that we rely upon our costly navy to prepare measures to keep the Panama Canal always open to British shipping," declared Charles Stuart Cairne, representative of extensive Scottish shipping interests, when addressing the Royal United Services Institution here to-day. "It is upon such action alone that it will be possible in the immediate future for taxpayers to maintain the British Navy in its high position as a fighting force," he said, "for, despite the Hay-Pannocote Treaty, we would now be faced by a fortified Panama Canal, instead of one entirely for the benefit of the commerce of all nations. I regard the States of America as a nation and hope that they may accept the term 'all nations,' as including themselves. I see nothing to prevent the States Senate from closing the Panama Canal at will against those having equal rights in its use, if such a course appeared to them to be in their exclusive interest. I regard this as a serious situation, if not an entire breach of faith by the States Government."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.

President Wilson and Cabinet met to discuss the latest phase of the Mexican situation. Overnight developments apparently brought no change, but keen interest was shown in the organization of the new Mexican Congress. Some officials are inclined to believe that this body would heed the warning of the United States and take no action on concessions. Talk of the blockade of Mexican ports is revived, but high officials say that no such step has been determined on. Leading statesmen counsel patience, while the Constitutionalists pursue their campaign. Confidence prevails that the States might wait for a few days for the full effects of the recent Constitutional victories, and for the attitude of foreign governments to become more explicit.

HOW EYESTRAIN CAUSES EYE DISEASES.

Eyestrain is the first cause of most eye diseases. It produces irritation and congestion and a consequent general weakness of all the nerves and muscles of the eye. In this way any eye disease, such as Cataract, Optic Nerve Paralysis, Ulcers, Glaucoma, Granulated Lids, etc., may be produced. Any of these diseases, if neglected, may result in blindness. The best time to treat the eye disease is in the "eyestrain stage." If you are having any trouble whatever with your eyes, no matter how slight, consult us.
