REPUBLICAN RANKS SPLIT

May Pave Way Back for Roosevelt

BY PINCHOT'S DISMISSAL

Incident Marks Parting of Ways for President Taft, Who Must Now Declare for the People or Capitalistic Interests.

INVOLVES THE PUBLIC DOMAIN

The United States is at the commencement of a great political struggle, next to the civil war the greatest in its history. It turns on the People against the Interests, and it involves the reputation and policy of President Taft and of the Republican party. It brings Roosevelt again into the limelight. The particular issues on which the struggle for the moment turns are two; (1) President Taft's message of Friday to congress, dealing with proposed legislation for the regulation of corporations doing interstate service (railways, telegraphs, etc., eventually all the big trusts and interests); (2) the removal also on Friday of Mr. Pinchot from the office by President Taft, Pinchot having been at the head of the new federal organization for the preservation of the natural resources of

For weeks now there has been a growing suspicion that latt was falling into the hands of the corporations; that any measure he might For weeks now there has been a growing suspicion that Taft was propose would be not very drastic when it got thru congress and came to him for signature. The news below will throw more or less light on this phase of the situation.

INCIDENT LOOKS LIKE BIG SPLIT.

The Taft-Pinchot incident looks like a big split in the Republican party. Mr. Pinchot was picked out by Theodore Roosevelt as the permanent official to organize the movement for the preservation of the natural resources of the United States, and he has been fitting himself for this office for years. Mr. Pinchot is a wealthy man, and only takes office from a sense of public duty, and has shown himself ready for any sacrifice in the service to which he has devoted his life.

There is no doubt that he is guilty of a breach of discipline in practically setting not only his cabinet chief, but the whole administration, at lefiance, but probably his sense of duty dictates that the more pronounced he makes the issue the more will the effect be upon the public mind.

Mr. Pinchot and his associates and backers, and he has a great many, including some of the monthly magazines, is simply endeavoring to expose the enormous frauds in the way of acquirement by individuals and interests of coal lands, ordinary lands and wood lands in Alaska; also that the ordinary machinery of government, and especially certain officials in the legal department and the department of the interior, have been more or less in touch with these frauds, and that the perpetrators of these frauds have been protected by government officials, and even by the administration. In fact, Pinchot and his friends say that Mr. Ballinger, Taft's secretary of the interior, is more or less in touch with those who have made the graft.

ROOSEVELT IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Behind all this there seems to be still another movement, and this is for recall of Roosevelt at the next general election as president. There is an insurgent movement in congress of certain Republicans against what is called Cannonism and czar rule in the house of representatives by the organized interests and the leaders of the Republican party. /

The Hour of Temptation For President Taft

N. Y. American, Jan. 7: The president should understand that the news that he has broken with the progressive element in his own party-if it shall be confirmed-will come to the country with a shock of staggering disappointment.

Multitudes of men, not only in the west, but in the east also, who have believed in him hitherto, in spite of his too amiable understanding with Aldrich and Cannon, will quite definitely cease to believe in him if this news turns out to be true.

Mr. Taft is to-day brought face to face with his crucial temptation. The situation presented to him is one to tax the iron and energy of a great man, loungers' promenade leading from the place where he now stands to the place where he would wish to be. He must gird himself, must take him fortune and future in his hand and make a way where no way is.

Never before since the world began has a national government, with all its freightage of humanity at stake, con-frented so formidable an organization of private interests as that which now besets the president in his dealing with the trusts and railroads.

His problem is to bring this vast corporate domain onder the sovereight of law; to subject it to the uses of justice and humanity, as well as of right apperior to private privilege and perceiped between one to trusted decimals the terms of the own matemoney for the company of party broad finite.

Harmony Thrown to Winds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8 .- (Special.)—Party harmony has been thrown to the winds and open warfare between the seconds of Taft and Roosevelt is indicated to-day by the former's dismissal of Pinchot. Some Republicans predict joyfully the return of Roosevelt in 1912, as the champion of conservation of the pub-lic domain, such as the saving for the people of the Alaskan coal areas, the attempt to alienate which, by private interests, largely gave rise to this inci-

Asked concerning the complaints which have been received regarding the turning of College cars at Lansdowne avenue, Mr. Fleming replied that cars were plainly billed to certain points, tho it sometimes happened that a car might be interfered with en route by some mishap or blockade, and for that reason be compelled to turn at the most convenient point. The Toronte public have been slow this year in warming up to hockey, which may be attributed to the many games, but those who failed to see the senior game on Thursday night, between Parkdale and T.A.A.C. and the two junior games friday night, especially the one between Argos and Simcoes, missed the best games played here in a long time. These two teams meet again friday night at Mutual, and those who miss the match are no lovers of hockey.

YOUNG PITCHERS

Jack Chesbro, in a recent article on pitching, writes:

Managers who tax the arm of a young pitcher too much must be crazy. Yet so anxious are they to win games for their club that they do it. They take fearful chances. They really do not care whether the young star goes to the wall or not, so long as he can win games for them. So ambitious are they to make a showing that if they number a fine young pitcher in their roster they will make use of him at every available opportunity. If the young man is robust and strong he is not so liable to go to pieces as a light of the game for was to receive and like the state of another. Some liable to go to pieces as a light of the game for was to receive and like the state of the care is that the catchers do not study their men enough. They should give more attention to the pitchers they handle than to the batsman, while it is highly on the batsman, while it is highly to work on the pitcher, too. It will not do to handle all pitchers alike. It is necessary to find out if the fast of another, or if the curve ball of one is as baffling as that of another. The result of this research, so far Donovan, Brooklyn as it applies to the major leagues, shows that the president of the Cubs is perfectly safe in making this offer to his giant pitcher, for nowadays it s a rarity for a slabman, no matter tow good he is, to land thirty contests buring any championship campaign. No National League boxman was able to win thirty games in 1907, or even twenty-five, which would be a good basis to figure on when sending out bonus contracts to classy curvers. In that year the Cubs won 107 games, which constitutes a National League team record, and Overall, figuring in twenty-three victories, was the Windy City combination's most successful boxman. In number of victories, Big Jeff was surpassed by Christy Mathewson, who won one more game than the Visalla, Cal., fruit merchant.

Last year, with a 154-game Schedule in operation, the biggest winner among the National League pitchers was Mordecal Brown, and he copped only twenty-seven games for the Cubs. Possibly Murphy figures that the 168-game schedule will give his flingers a better chance to land thirty or more contests, but the odds are still with the magnate and against the curver. With the additional games to be played, a club will require a larger pitching staff, and, the chances, are slight that the extra games scheduled will make any difference in a man's record. Mathewson, New York., 33 third.

During the last ten years of the American and National leagues only two nen—Jack Chesbro and Ed Walsh have been able to win forty or more combats in any championship season. Happy Jack, in 1904, when he practically was the only hurier who had the "spit" ball delivery, won forty-one games for the Highlanders. In 1908, Ed Walsh, another exponent of the moist delivery, landed forty contests for the weak hitting White Sox.

In the last ten seasons in the National League, the top notch figure for victories of any slabman has been thirty - seven. Christy Mathewson reached this number of triumphs two seasons ago, and he would have made it one more and assured another National League pennant for New York formality of touching second-base.

From 1906 to 1909, inclusive, there were mighty few pitchers who were able to win twenty-five games a season in the Major leagues, let alone thirty. In the National League, for example, in the last ten seasons, there have been only seven instances where alone to win twenty-five games a season in the Major leagues, let alone thirty or more combats in any year. Joe McGinnity turned the trick in 1900, 1903, and 1904, and Christy Mathewson accomplished the stunt in 1903, 1904, 1905 and 1908. Mordecai Brown, in 1908, was one game shy of figuring in thirty victories.

No National League boxman was able to win forthy games (in 1907, or even multiple per leagues) and 1908. The American Association last year played 168 games, yet not one of its pitchers won thirty tussles, the leader being Stony McGlynn, who had a reputation as an iron man before entering it mand who succeeded in vanquishing his opponents only twenty-seven times. If Murphy had offered the $500 bonus to Overall for winning twenty-five games the fans of the country would consider that the Chicago president was not bluffing; for there is some chance of a major league twirler figurating in this number of victories.

Not only did Mr. Keene own these two great racers, now dead, but not forgotten, but he also owned Colin, the second largest money-winning two-year-old of the last 40 years, he having to his credit at that age a total of $155,851. Of these three biggest money-winning horses known to the American turf owned and raced by one man only one of these, Colin, was bred by Mr. Keene. He purchased imp. Optime, the dam of Sysonby, after the great mare the dam of Sysonby, after the great mare had been bred to Melton in England, and the colt was foaled after the mare had arrived in this country. Domino, the other horse that won a fortune for the Wall-street magnate, was bred in this country by the late Major B. G. Thomas and purchased by Mr. Keene as a yearling for $300. The following year Domino estab-lished the American record for moneywinners and it has never been touched by either a two-year-old or a three-year-old Sysonby's winning record as a three-year-old established in 1906, is by far the year-old established in 1905, is by far the greatest amount ever won by a horse of that age on the American turf, the hearest approach to 4t being made by tianover in 1887, when the crack son of Hindoo wor $25,827. This record stood for 18 long years, or until topped by Sysonby, altho it was in danger of being shattered by Tournament in 1890, when he won a total og $89,755, or just $72 less than Han-over. Controller Foster is Out to Amalgamate Departments-New Members' Ideas.

Members of the city council are in active competition with one another as to who will have the largest number of scintillating ideas to be embodied in motions which will be laid on the table at to-morrow's civic inaugural. Here are a few of the suggestions in crystalized form of the new men;
Ald. Weston-For more public lavatories in different parts of the city, including Quarter Parts of the city, inluding Queen's Park; construction private drains at cost; that the land in the rear of the new College-street library be used as a playground.

Ald. David Spence—The appointing a special committee to confer with the street railway about extending the car line on Roncesvalles-avenue and Dovercourt-road; more public lavatories in the sixth ward.

Ald. McCausland-A thru car line on Roncesvalles-avenue; for a western emergency hospital; an order from the railway commission for a subway at Brock-avenue; adequate express devery service north of Bloor-street.

Ald. McCarthy-Enlargement of the isolation hospital.
Controller Ward's Ideas.

Of course, the old members are not of course, the old members are not inactive. Controller Ward is the most prolific of ideas, some of them being:
To provide the parks department with funds to continue the sample section of seawall in front of the exhibition grounds 1000 feet further west; inspection of elevators in factories; to widen King-street from Simcoe-street to Spadina-avenue by taking in at least ten feet of boulevard space; to consider adding to the seventh ward the newly annexed territory in the northwest section, so as to give the ward a population entitling it to three aldermen; for an estimate of the value Yonge-street westward, with a view to mprovements.

Ald. O'Neill wants a conference with the street railway about better car ser-vice, including extensions into the new territory; the establishment of garbage destructors and a public lavatory at Bloor and Sherbourne-streets.

Would Merge Departments. Controller Foster will move for a merger of the city architect's and city engineer's departments, and of the deed privilege, in the bulk, is always and partment of industries and publicity everywhere dangerous unless conwith the assessment department. He fought along the latter line last year. He favors appointing a commissioner of works to control the two former departments when amalgamated. He also wants the island and parks committees merged and the same thing done with the property and fire and

Ald. Hilton would like to see the city broken up into ten wards with ten aldermen from each.

Tour of Dominion by Britishers in Interest of Trade -Predict Canadian Fiscal Re-

LONDON, Jan. 8.-(Special Cable to The Sunday World.)-"I found signs of enormous improvement and progress everywhere in Canada. Things are well on the move there," said Sir John Dickson-Poyndor, who, with Lord Balfour of Burleigh and Sir Daniel Morris, has just returned from an official visit to the Dominion, where they have been trying to arrange better trade relations between that country and the West Indies.

Sir John could not say anything about the evidence they received or the make to the government. "But I can say," he remarked, "that we found a great desire on the part of the Canadians to do an increased trade with the West Indies. Already the preference which Canada gives to the West Indies has led to a large trade being done, to the great benefit of the sugar

Staunch Imperialists.

On the subject of colonial preference, Sir John said he could find no one who had any definite idea how this was to be brought about.

"But," he said, "I found a great humber of very staunch imperialists who were all for closer relations with the mother oountry, but who neither asked for nor desired preference. And when for nor desired preference. And when it came to a question of admitting the British manufacturer on such terms as would allow him to compete on something approaching equal terms with the Canadian manufacturer in the Canadian market, why then the question of preference took another form altogether.'

eutralization of Manchurian Railvay Would Not Give Japan Benefit Proportionate to Her Sacrifice.

TOKIO, Jan. 8.-The leading newsapers, in their issues of to-morrow, ill disapprove of the acceptance by apan of U. S. Secretary of State inox's proposition for the neutralizaion of the Manchurian railways. The onsensus of opinion here is that the lanf is impracticable because Japan yould not receive a benefit proportionthe with the sacrifice entailed.

It is held that the interests of the apanese settlers in Southern Manchuia could not be protected under such an arrangement: Official circles remain non-committal on the subject. It 18 generally believed here that Russia will decline to accept the American

The newspapers will point out that the commercial neutrality of Southern Manchuria was guaranteed by the treaty of Portsmouth.

Altho the members of the cabinet and other government officials declined to-day to give the slightest intimation of their official views, it may be stated with assurance that the Japanese Government is now conferring with Russia, and the tenor of Japan's reply will depend largely upon the position taken at St. Petersburg.

The Japanese experts do not regard the construction of a railroad from Aigun, in Northern Manchuria, to Chin Chow Fu as a practical business pro position. In the memorandum of Sec retary Knox he refers to the conces sion for such a line, which was secured some time ago by a syndicate of Englishmen and Americans, and adds that the enterprise will be supported diplomatically by the British and American

Announces Another Big. "Dutch Auction

Just Like the Famous One Held Here Four Years Ago --- ONLY BIGGER

So many, many folks have asked us when we intend to hold another "Dutch Auction," that we are "as pleased as punch" to make this announcement. Those who remember the previous "Dutch Auction" will recollect the wonderful values that were offered. Many will recall the intense, but good-natured excitement that prevailed. Some, too, will remember the disappointment that came through waiting yust a leedle too long, letting the other fellow get the coveted prize.

And now we are ready for another "Dutch Auction"-ready with the finest collection you ever saw gathered together in one place for a sale. In this collection there are of beautiful high-grade furniture—Odd Pieces and Suites for Parlor, Dining Room, Bedroom, Etc.—in Mahogany, Quartered Oak, Circassian, Walnut, Etc.— Modern Arts and Crafts and Period furniture included.

All of it new and the opportunity presented is one that admits of buying furniture of the highest grade at prices you would pay for the ordinary kind. Surely a chance to be grasped eagerly.

"Vot it iss?"

In a large section of our store there are assembled about three hundred pieces of furniture-odd designs-no two alike.

Every piece has been marked to start the sale at a very low Cash Price. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 10th, 11th and 12th, these pieces will be displayed for public inspection, and if desired, may be purchased at the "starting" price.

On Thursday, January 13th, and on each succeeding day until Wednesday, January 19th, a discount of 10 per cent. will be deducted from the previous day's price on every article remaining unsold.

Electrification Schemes, Tramways and Power Plants to Cost Millions-First Gyroscope Rail-

VICTORIA, Jan. 8 .- (Special.) - raecrification schemes of magnitude for the development of widely separated sections of British Columbia are announced with the new year, not the least important being that of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co., in taking over and converting into an electric road, with much more frequent service and lowered fares, the Victoria and Sidney Railroad, completing a loop around the Saanich Peninsula by returning to Victoria by what is known as the East Saanich

In connection with this initiation of a network of suburban lines for the districts contiguous to Victoria, the company on the last day of the year acquired terminal properties on Doug-jas-street. for which upwards of $200,000 is reported to have been paid. The new power station at Jordan River is to be completed about September, and the inauguration of electric service thru Saanich district will take place about that time. Various important extensions in connection with the systems radiating from Van-couver are arranged for, and have already been given publicity.

Another Large Project.

In the Okanagan district there is another large project to the fore, for which $2,000.000 in British capital has been secured, involving construction of an electric tram line from Enderby to Penticton and Summerland, handling the rapidly developing fruit trade of the valley being the chief end of the company promoters. The scheme is that of the Conteau Power Company, which will generate its power at Shuswan Falls. The municipalities to directly benefit by this main line, which will traverse White Valley, from Lumby to Vernon and thence to Kel-owna and contiguous points, will be asked to generate the company's bonds for construction work. The com-pany desires also to take over all pany desires also minor electric plants, guaranteeing much lower rates to the consumers. much lower rates to the consumers.
Work has also been begun in the Okanagan on the construction of what is believed to be the first gyroscope rallway in America, to be devoted to general commercial traffic puruoses. This line will encircle Okanagan Lake, touching all points on the shores of that large body of water. Spurs will run to all near points where prospects of business justify. Construction has heen begun at Okanagan Landing, at the head of the lake, and it is expect-ed that the line will be ready for business during the coming sur Gyroscope's Advantages.

London Miser Who Spent Immense Income For Works of Art-Was Little Known.

LONDON, Jan. 8.-Every now and again London is startled by the anlionaire who had been living in it quietly and unknown for years. Such a one was "Chicago" Smith, who, althe the extent of his wealth was known in America, was unknown by sight even to all but a few Londonsight even to all but a few Londoners. Such a one was Charles Morrison, who spent his life in a dingy city office and died leaving one of the greatest fortunes in England, and such a one was George Salting; who died a few days ago, and who, it has just been announced, has left the most wonderful art collection of modern times to the nation.

The value of Mr. Salting's bequest

The value of Mr. Salting's bequest is estimated at from $5,000,000 to $20,-1000,000. Probably mo one will ever know exactly how much it is worth, for it will not be a support to the home. know exactly how much it is worth, for it will never come under the hammer. It is certain that for more than 30 years Mr. Salting spent from $150,000 to $200,000 every year on the purchase of works of art, and a great many of his purchases are enormously more valuable than when he acquired them

Perhaps it is not quite fair to say Perhaps it is not quite fair to say that Mr. Salting was unknown to Londoners, for he was known to the people who frequent the art auction rooms and visitors to the British Museum and the South Kensington Galleries must have noticed case after case bearing the inscription. "Lent by George Salting." It is true, however, that apart from those who follow closely the course of art sales no one supposed that Mr. Salting was many times a millionaire. times a millionaire.

Lived in Three Rooms.

All his life he lived quietly in three rooms over the Thatched House Club in St. James-street. He never married, and it is doubtful if he spent more on himself than is spent by thousands of stockbrokers' clerks. He was always dressed in the plainest and even the cheapest manner, and his only extravagance in the way of dress was that he wore white or light-colonly extravagance in the way of dress was that he wore white or light-colored gloves, which were always scrupulously fresh. His long white beard and white gloves were familiar in every auction room in London.

He never hesitated when money was needed to secure a picture or a bit of china or carved work that he really wanted. He would outbid the other

He would outbid the other man every time, after he had made up his mind that the object was desirable, and he never bid unless he had made up his mind that he really wanted to buy. For this reason, he sometimes secured things that he was after for less than their real value, for the men who were bidding against him realized the hopelessness of it and left the field free for him. the field free for him.

PRINCE RUPERT, Jan. 8 .- (Special.) -The work of the telephone committee is progressing as favorably as possible. Definite word was received from the government on Tuesday, giving the required permission to erect poles on the streets and use them as far as is necessary. The committee have been steadily acquiring data and feel satisfied that they can get an up-to-date plant established in Prince Rupert in the very near future. C. C. Westenhaver, who is now in Vancouver, and who is also one of the committee, will close with one of the firms either in Vancouver or Seattle, for the equipment, which may be expected to arrive as speedily as it is possible to get it

The status of the present company is this: several offers have been made by outside firms, desirous of getting established in this town. It was feit, however, that this franchise as well as all others should be safeguarded for the future city. To facilitate matters a local company is being organized by a committee appointed by the board of trade. The capital stock was fixed at $25,000, $10,000 of which was to be paid up. A call has been made on this this week for 50 per cent. as a working capital. The committee did not have the slightest difficulty in writing up what they were advised to get. Lectures on "The Fourth Dimension" at Harvard and Leaves No Defects.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 8 .- "And a little child shall lead them" was never better exemplified than this evening, when William J. Sidis, the ten-year-old mathematical wonder, the youngest student ever matriculated at Harvard University, stepped on the platform in Conant Hall to address the Harvard Mathematical Society.

The boy watched his father, Dr. Boris Sidis, who was in the front row. The subject was "The Fourth Dimension," and young Sidis went over the matter that has puzzled philosophers and mathematicians for centuries covering every bit of his ground in a most thoromanner and leaving only small defects in his armor.

Gray-haired professors vied with the younger members of the audience applauding the telling points of the boy's thesis. Many of the professors laughingly professed ignorance of what the lad talked on so readily, and at the conclusion of the lecture an avalanche of questions was thrown at him, which he answered unhesitatingly.

"This is the proudest moment of my life," said Dr. Sidis, at the conclusion

Louis and Melville are at Irvin, Alta.; Charles is in St. Louis; Mrs. Frank McBride is in Calgary, and Mrs. (Dr.) Horace Ferguson resides in London. Mr. Wilberforce Dawson of 226 King-street, London, is a brother, and the late postmaster at London, R. J. C. Dawson, was also a brother.

The late Col. Dawson was one of the idest and best known Masons in London. He was admitted as a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 20, London, on March 11, 1862, and within a few months was elected to the office of secretary for 1863. He was again secre-tary in 1864-5-6-7, junior warden in 1868, senior warden in 1869, and master in 1870. Beginning with 1872 he has since been secretary of the lodge continuously, being elected for the last time less than a month ago. He was also past first principal of St. George's Chapter, R.A.; a member of Richard Coeur de Lion Preceptory, No. 4, London; an active member of the general finance committee in the city, secretary of the banque hall committee, and has held office in the Grand Lodge of Can ada. He was also one of the origina-tors of the Masonic Mutual Benevolent Society, and some years ago wrote a history of St. John's Lodge, No. 20. When the Grand Encampment Oddfellows of Ontario was formed in 1869, Col. Dawson was appointed grand scribe, which office me held to his death. He had been an Cddfellow since 1861. Lady Byelyn was in tur-quein blue satin, with bugle sleeves and trimmings and had a large corsage bouquet of pink roses. Lady Lanestorough was in black satin, the corsage outlined with rhinestones, which also composed the sleeves, and she wore diamond ornaments. Lady Eileen Butler, who is a particularly hand-some brunet, was much admired in a white satin gown, with an overdress of ir descent effect. Miss Grace Smith wore a primrose gown of satin, with touches of deep gold. At midnight, following an old established custom of the club's annual dance, as the bells tolled out the hour of twelve, all the guests joined hands, forming three circles, one within another, and everyone joined heartily in the odd-time chorus of "Auld Lang Syne," after which everyone wished everyone else a very Happy New Year. many a good reason to be advanced for the cult of billiards by our women-folk. Apart from being the most sci-entific and the most socially inclined of all games, it holds the key to the great front door of a better under-standing to a really great and edify-ing game. We see the sexes mingle on the tennis courts and on the golf courses. Hitherto, however, this has not been done openly as regards the billiard table. The mythical novelets have supplied such fantasies in endless profusion, but their counterpart has had no reality in the flesh. Billiards, in point of fact, has been the exclusive monopoly of selfish men.

Attempts have been made in the past to establish better billiard relations between the sexes. They have not wanted for force of advocacy. We have even known lady billiardist champions. But the novelty of their by all who, having some sort of a na-tural aptitude, are trained to make the

the most commonplace manner; fell far short of the requirements. It will be otherwise when the lady with an occasional "hundred break"—that Mecca of the billiard pilgrim—at her com-mand makes a bid for popularity. There is no dreaming, but just a stolid outlook to the future in expressing the be-lief that a lady billiardist of fully qualified ability will materialize and give the grand old game that fillip it deserves for having steered out of the danger shoals of bad associations. Clear enough of them now, and hold-

Supremacy in athletics is not the cult of physical strength and endurance was first begun in England, and Drummond, Peter White, K. C.; Jas. inalienable right of any nation. The we English were easily first as long as other nations didn ot seriously challenge our supremacy. America, howver, has for some years now been a very serious rival to our athletes; and, in some departments, our records are quite outclassed. Now, according to recent investigations, the modern American nation is very largely composed of Irishmen. Their leading boxers, of Irishmen. Their leading boxers, It may seem curious that the Irishman in America has shown such excellent aptitude for these contests of speed and endurance, while the Irish men at home so seldom come to the ront-at any rate, during the last thictics were not cultivated in Ire ind to anything like the extent that f a man had a natural aptitude for ome form of sport other than the hance of coming to the front, for lack of practice with those who were good enough to draw the best out of him. Of late years large numbers of Ital-ans have flocked to the States, and names hitherto unknown in the annals sport are becoming known to the public. Even in boxing-practically unknown on the continent as a sport-Italian names are figuring in American contests, and two Italians are very much in the running for the middle-weight and heavyweight championhips of the near future. Enthusiasts in the North of England are trying to revive ancient glories of Cumberland and Westmoreland wrestling, a sport that was very popular at one time, but has at late fallen, somewhat into decay. I fromly chance we have had of locking at first-class wrestling in London for some time past has been on the occasions when Turks and reckless Russlans s ruggled for supremacy. There was the usual tall talk of the beroes, the big purse of the promoters and the disappointment of the colookers at these very uninteresting shows. The Hackenschmidt-Madrali bout was, I think, the last of these, and I have never watched a duller performance: The British estimates for 1919 are not in my life. Polo in Europe

The managers of Hurlingham, Ranelagh and Roehampton, the three pleasant homes of London polo, have just completed their preliminary fixture lists for 1910, and a busy and interesting season is in prospect. Hurlingham, of course, is prominent with its Champion Cup, still the most important tournament of civilian polo. This will be played in the week ending June 20, and it is quite possible that the winning team will be that which. two months later, will meet the pick of American polo in New York, for the international championship. These, of course, are early days for prophecy. but the England teams are almost certain to play in the Championship Cup, and they will need to win that trophy handsomely if they are to accomplish their subsequent task across the At-

England vs Ireland. An event of interest will be the international match between England and Ireland, at Hurlingham, on Ascot, Saturday, June 18. Ireland, as a rule. has been second best in these annual ontests, but her teams have put up some glorious fights, and the memory of the magnificent struggle at Hurlingham, in 1908, when England got ness always on hand for private home by a very narrow margin, should inspire the visitors to even areater efforts. The inter-regimental tourna-ment, which never fails to produce attractive and exciting polo, is to be fought out on the usual lines, under the auspices of the influential Army Polo Committee, who have vetoed much of the heavy expenditure which for-merly attached to the competition. Now, the tournament is practically financed by the Hurlingham Club, at whose grounds the final will be played on July 9. Big Matches in June.

At Ranelagh, the Open Cup, which went last season to America for the The Coming Week of the Territorial Force Day, an annual the Territorial Force Day, and Territorial F event successfully inaugurated last season. Aldershot Day, another high-ly popular fixture at this club, is fixed for June 18, and the usual tourna-ments will be played, the Army Cup starting on May 16, the Novice Cup on June 20, the Hunt Tournament and Subalterns' Cup on July 4, and the newly instituted County Polo Week on July 11. Five Thousand Millions Thru Clearing House

-Lleyds Balance Books on February 20 Big Task for Bankers.

LONDON, Jan. 8.-This is the time when the city begins clearing up for the year. All financial institutions and business houses are affected in greater or less degree by the annual balancing of books and stock-taking. The large mercantile warehouses feel it keenly, for they have much stock to take. Every yard of lace, every button, has to be counted and booked in the drapery warehouse, for instance. In the big drapery shops, however, the annual clearing up is not made until the middle of January, well after the Christmas clearance sales. Railway Accounts. -All the great English railways make up their accounts to Dec. 31, as do most of the big liability companies, but in the case of all the former and some of the latter the work is lightened by the fact that it is done halfyearly. The Scottish railways, by the way, make up their half-yearly accounts on July 31 and Jan. 31.

The stock exchange does not feel the annual clearing up much, because all accounts are settled between buyers and sellers twice a month, but, of course, the private accounts of every stock exchange firm, the account of the profit or loss it has made in carrying out the transactions of elients and its own private transactions, are made up at the end of the year. Good rofits often mean a bonus to the staff. In the case of Lloyds, ever conserva-tive, books are balanced in accord-ance with old usage on Feb. 20. In the Banking World.

centred, that the clearing up at the end of the year presents the greatest task. The business of dealing with all the monetary payments, which are the port of Prince Bupert. then greater than at any time in the year, is colossal. One has only to remember that during the first few days of January dividend and interest payments along be made to gain some idea of how huge is the volume of accounts to be arranged. Perhaps an even better notion of the great labor involved in the checking and balancing of accounts at the end of the year may be gathered. from the fact that during December something like $5,000,000,000 in cheques is passed thru the bankers' clearing house.

The steamboat service given to this town the past few months has reached a state of exasperation. A month ago a rate war was started, and immediately half the boats were taken off the run. The last four trips of the Camosun have averaged well over 100 passengers out of this port. The average on the last three trips of the Cottage City has been almost 100, while the C. P. Christmas goods which have been ordered from the east have been delayed without cause, till now they will be received sale. The lack of boats forced a score of local citizens to travel steerage on the Cottage City or stay at home, which is a pretty state of affairs. Speculative attention in the Cobmits at the present time is almost wholly engrossed in Kerr Lake stock, which has undergone such a phenomenal appreciation during the past week. The continued bullish demonstration and price performance of these shares have been the one dominant feature of the markets of late and it is not at ail surprising that the other securities welloped a more two-sided appearance, floor operations attacking several issues, on the principle that if prices would not go up they should go down.

The spectacular rise in "Kerr Lake" to the record price of $11.00 was too to the p surprising that the other securities the rate of 40 to 50 per cent, and pro-listed on the mining exchanges have been under some neglect in conse-quence. higher very soon again. Recent New York reports from apparently semi-official sources indicate that the next dividend disbursement on Kerr Lake, instead of being at the rate of 40 cents per share, an increase of 5 cents over the previous declaration, will be raised to 50 cents a share for the current quarter. While interrests officially connected with the company have not up to the time of writing confirmed this idea, it is generally thought that some such advence in thought that some such advance in the distribution is contemplated by the management, in view of the excellent showing made by the property lent showing made by the property ed that the market will assume a buoyed that the market will be the market will be a buoyed that the market will be a buoyed the market will be a buoyed that the market will be a buoyed of late. Should developments prove in line with the above assumpthe shareholders be at the rate of 50 cents for the current cents for the guarter or $2 per annum, this would place the stock on a 40 per cent. basis, and while the annual sggregate distribution would still be exceeded by that of Nipissing, which pays 30 per cent. on a capitalization of $6,000,000, the percentage of return to the shareholders of Kerr Lake would make it the banner stock of the Cobalt district in this regard.

The best that can be said of the Colaits in general at the moment is that, holders show some refluctance in parting with their shares at present quotations, and that the market is in the main in good shape to effect an advance. Only a revival of speculation in the whole list can bring about any material movement however, and until this is forthcoming price changes are apt to prove irregular and uncertain.

The growing interest which is being taken in the Porcupine gold fields is doubtless an influence more or less deregatory to the Cobalt mining securities. With speculative attention not only in the province, but from every quarter of the world, being drawn to the new gold district, it is only interest which would have gone Cobaltward will be diverted into the new channel. To date the public have not been asked to participate to any extent in flotations incident to the newest mining region, but it is not likely that any length of time will elapse before this section of the speculative field will be represented to some degree at least in the securities placed for sale in the open market.

IS GERMANY RIGHT OR WRONG?

Germany's remarkable industrial and commercial development and the leading place it has taken internationally by reason of its exceptionally high standard of general and technical educational efficiency has prompted enquiry into the cause or accessory causes of its commanding position. Certain it is that the principles now embodied in its social system are entirely contrary to the individualism which has been the distinctive feature of the English-speaking peoples. The statesmen responsible for the shaping of German internal policy have not fought Socialism, in its common acceptation, by direct opposition—they have counted it by means of state or monarchical collectivism. This is the radical distinction between Germany and the two main branches of the English-speaking stock, tho it is worth while remembering that both Australia and New Zealand have adopted a course closely kin to that followed by the continental Teutons.

Public attention is being increasingly attracted towards German methods, and to the fact that, if these are right, Germany has gained a start of a century over other nations. This forms the theme of an article by Elmer Roberts in Scribner's Magazine for the current month, reprinted in the editorial section of The Sunday World. It is well worth careful perusal by everyone interested in what is intrinsically the most momentous of international issues. By adopting and expanding the principle of collective ownership of mines, railways, lands, forests and other natural resources and monopolistic services, Germany has reached the stage where a material portion of her revenue is yielded by profits which, in Englishspeaking countries, pass into private hands-primarily, "high financiers," and, secondarily, "innocent investors."

Of these two diametrically contrary policies, both cannot conceivably be right. One or other is doomed to defeat, not the defeated policy itself, but the nation with which it is identified, will pay the penalty of failure to judge correctly. Whether individualism or state collectivism is economically right is without doubt the crucial issue for the English-speaking peoples of the twentieth century. Like free trade in Britain, individualism in the wider sphere must come down from its high perch and submit itself to impartial judgment and review. After a generation of trial, Germany has not lost faith in state socialism-she has found it profitable and made it subservient to her industrial and commercial growth. Is Germany right or wrong, and what, then, is to be Canada's decision while there is yet time to control her future? In the first place, let everyone read the article on "Monarchical Socialism in the German Empire," and consider whether or not state collectivism has played, and is playing, a large part in the formidable bid Germany is making for the industrial and commercial hegemony of the world.

Speyer & Co. Will Form a Combination to Oppose That Organized by J. P. Morgan.

The purchase by Speyer & Co of the Vanderbilt holdings of 1000 shares of the stock of the Union Trust Co. of New York for Erickson Perkins & Co. (Beaty & Glassco), 14 West King-street, report the following fluctuations in the New York market:

Open. High. Low. Cl. Sales.

Allis. Chal. ... 14% 15 14% 15 1,000 scheme of entrenching himself in an co), 14 West King-street, report the fol-lowing fluctuations in the New York developing among the great financial market:

corporations, each a veritable glant in its respective field, and always having millions of ready cash at their command, it is estimated that Morgan, in connection with Wall-street banks and trust companies which he and his part-ners control, can command over $2,- 500,000,000 in cash.

Therefore, is it to be wondered at that the Speyers and other great international banking houses, who like-wise derive their profits from their underwritings, are gathering about themselves the large banks and trust companies which as yet have not been captured by Morgan, so as to have behind them an equally powerful force in case of a pinch in the money ,700 market, or when two great bodies clash. This is how the situation looks to the financial world. The great inter-national banking houses do not look with apprehension upon the aggressive extensions of Morgan as a mensiye extensions of Morgan as a men-ace, while he lives and can personal-ly direct his enormous operation; they see beyond his tenure of life. This, by natural process, must sometime draw to a close. Then there confronts by natural process, must sometime draw to a close. Then there confronts them the probability, which cannot always be avoided even by the most careful forethought, of a successor mentally not capable of filling the important niche Morgan occupies. Herein lies the danger. It cannot oncealed that the mere thought of this arouses the gravest concern.

LARGE INCREASE

500 In Capitalization of New Companies in Canada During Past Year.

The great headway made in Canada, illustrated by the fact that during the pork-past year the number of companies to whom charters were issued by the Do Lard minion Government was 355, their total authorized capitalization being $121;-624,875, an increase in ten years of $112,665,975, or 1172 per cent. over the 2,000 previous year.
Such an increase in the formation of new business houses and industrial concerns is significant of the scope for trade in all its b anches, and of the renewed effort to secure a good busiflourishing and bright with promise. will witness a phenomenal volume of trade thruout the Dominion. The Greatest Strength of a Nation Lies in Its Womanhood

Once, when Canada's destiny trembled in the balance, a slender woman braved great dangers that her country might not fall into the hands of the enemy. That woman was Laura Secord and she was as brave of spirit as she was fragile of form. She was a type of Canadian Womanhood. Thru the wild night of storm and darkness this woman passed down the lone trail. The rain beat her face and the briers and twigs whipped her tender flesh—but the soul of the woman carried her on. She had a purpose to fulfil and she fulfilled it. She was a woman, a Canadian woman.

Away down somewhere in that black tangle of marsh and wood a little band of this woman's countrymen lay huddled, all unsuspicious of

They were the defenders of their countryher country. She must find them and warr. them of the enemies' movements. They must learn what she had learned.

The clinging growth of the forest enwrapped her, but she broke away from it-praying, hoping,

Laura Secord was looking after her country. God was looking after Laura Secord. She kept the trail.

Once, in the blackness of the night and the swirling storm she strayed from the trail.

The oozy muck-lands sucked at her feet and strove to drag her into the mire. But she clutched at the branch of a maple tree and drew herself back to safety.

Laura Secord fulfilled her mission and as long as history remains her name will be spoken with reverence by all Canadian people.

There are thousands of women in Canada today who are just as strong, just as noble, just as courageous to do and dare as was the Keroine of old who kept the lone trail and saved her country from the hands of the enemy. Their names may never look from the pages of history, but the influence they are exerting toward our young nation's reform and perfection is bound to find an echo in the hearts of that nation's builders.

The Canadian woman of olden days helped to shape the skeleton of a nation.

The Canadian woman of to-day is building a colossal perfection on those foundations laid in far back, pioneer days.

Her method of achievement lies in the directing of the forces.

She is the general of the great army and she the fate of an army. yields the power of influence.

- What Canadian men are doing toward the making of a great nation is being done because the Canadian woman has willed that it be done and Woman is the general of the world's army. Her place is not as a fighter on the field but as a wielder of influence on the heights. Her position is where she may keep her clear eyes on the fighters of battles. There has never been a worthy deed yet recorded that cannot be traced back to some sacred influence.

The world is full of fighters. It does not need woman as a soldier—it needs her as a general.

It is time woman realized the power she sways for the world's betterment.

because she has her eyes on the workers in the

For two thousand years men have fought and made history and always the goal for which they strove has been somewhere above them.

No matter to what heights men may achieve there must be still a goal worth the winning, somewhere above them. There must be some incentive, some heights worth the reaching, else there is going to be stagnation.

Ard this is why the Canadian Woman should keep her present sphere and yield her influence for the world's betterment.

What she might do in the battle of making the world's laws and in the uplifting of the world's weaklings, cannot be questioned.

But if Woman but fully realized the power for good she is at present exerting she would go on influencing the soldiers of progress by keeping her clear eyes on the fighters in the

The opportunity to do what Laura Secord has done may never come to her; she may never save an army or perform an act of daring that entitles her to the name of heroine. But she may do infinitely more. She may command and the builders of her nation will obey. If the strivers of the world found their level, there would be no action. There has to be, somewhere, an incentive for worthy motive.

The world's climbers have become accustomed to working toward some fixed goal above

His hand is on the controlling lever of his forces. The desire to leave his office and fight side by side with the grimy strivers on the field, comes to him.

He knows that those brave fellows in the trenches are fighting, panting, achieving and succeeding according to the line of action which he has mapped out.

His heart is with those fighters on the field and in his sympathy and love for them who are obeying his orders so valiantly, he succumbs to the overwhelming desire to share the burdens and dangers of his men.

That general loses sight of his own power; forgets that he is needed where he can keep his eyes on the fighters in the field.

He goes to the trenches. He fights with his men. But the day is lost.

The day is lost because that general, who was brave enough to die with his men in action, was not brave enough to keep his hand on the controlling lever of his army. No one will censure the general. His action was heroic, human tho ill-advised. He sought the field of action that he might fill a gap left in the firing line of his army. He became a mere unit just at a crisis when that panting, struggling mass of soldiers most needed their general.

On the field he found that he could do no more than a common soldier. He found it impossible to direct amid the din and confusion.

He was brave, God knows, and fought his best. But the day would have been won had he remained away from the trenches.

If woman, the general of the world, would become a fighter in the trenches, a place must be, made for her in the firing line.

She has earned the right to demand and what she decrees will be, must be.

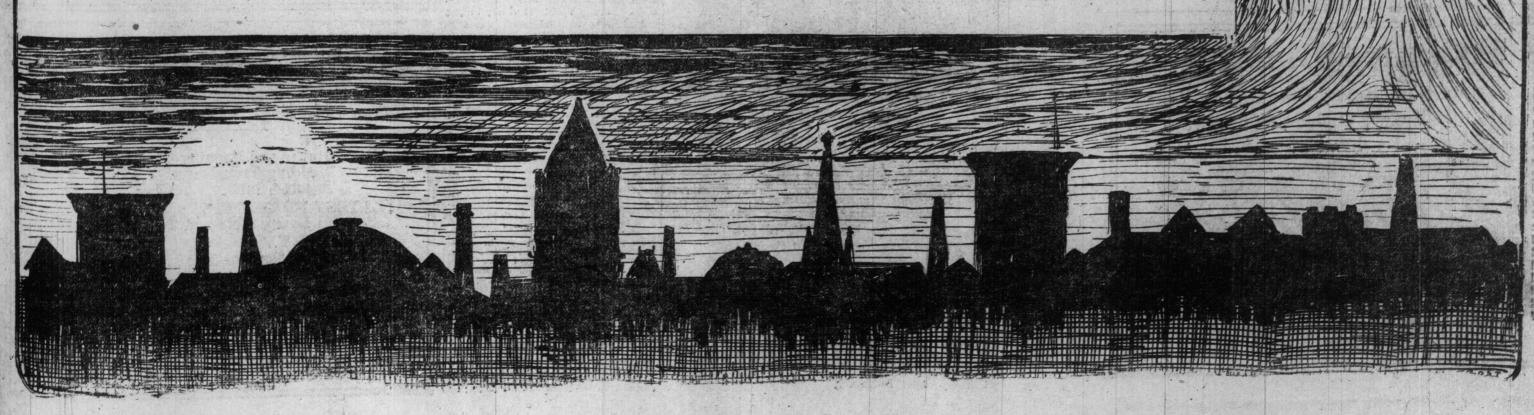

For ages she has been the magnetic star to beckon the world's fighters on to worthy vic-employers, clerks and delivery boys there are thruout this city who work from a. m. until 9 and 10 every night, and Saturday until midnight? Could we and Saturday until midnight? Could we expect a person working such hours to have any home life, any time for recreation or study? What does this mean to the individual as well as to the family? When subbath comes it must be a rest day in order to fit him for the long hours the coining week. Doesn't this solve the problem why so few men of business are able to attend any weekly meetings, or take advantage of any of the many ways of improving the mind? Aren't we as citizens responsible for this state of affairs? Let us answer individually. Have or do we ever, after having an enjoyable outing, expect to do our buying, and wonder why clerks should not be willing to show what they have? It was reported the W. C. T. U. had discussed this matter. It is a noble work to benefit humanity.

this matter.—It is a noble work to benefit humanity.

Getting the opinions of business men in a certain neighborhood, they tell us it is very largely the church-going people, especially women, living within a few blocks of the store, who practise late shopping, and often must have goods delivered, thus encouraging some merchants to keep open and somebody's boy to be out late. If the few thoughtiess (?) or selfish (?) people could and would shop early, what a great blessing it would be to those in business. Many of the smaller towns have adopted early closing and they say they have succeeded just as well. Are the citizens of Toronto behind in this respect? Let us have the opinions of larger firms who have adopted the early closing system. In Buffalo last year the subject was discussed thru the press and the pulpit; and

"At that time they sent out shrewdworded circulars stating that such society would be formed for the purledge of civic questions, etc., with not one word to indicate that its object was to oppose woman suffrage.

'In response to this lure, a number of suffragists sent in their names and membership fee, only to learn at the first meeting that they had been badly deceived. Sa much protest was made that the officers issued a second cir-cular stating that one of the objects f the League was to oppose the en

Each citizen must help if we wish to bring about early closing thruout this city; and wouldn't it be a noble home missionary work? Think of the benefit to children and others in homes where so little can be seen of those engaged in business. It has been suggested that this be discussed by the ministers and Y. P. Societies in certain districts, as well as thru the press. Many people are practising early shopping now, and if the few realized what it means to be unable to get out one night in order to accommodate them, surely they would be willing to cansider the matter and act accordingly, and be with the majority

Its admirers and promoters claim that it has a definite industrial object, namely, the improvement and development of the thorobred. Is a horse show a game? Its object is the same, out for all species of horse instead of one. Its detractors say horse-racing is not "a game of chance" but a matter of game of chance but a matter of sire the same horse on his dam's side. You May Be Soldier in Ranks, But You Have Chance to Make Man of Yourself.

"Some mute, inglorious Milton here may rest—
Some Cromwell, guiltless of his country's blood."

That thing which the young man must learn sooner or later is that not every man is going to reach the heights of success. If every man possibly could reach this goal of worldly success the word Down and Out.

"Success" would die out of inanition. It no longer would mean anything. The dead level of mediocrity would be established in present day success and some higher, more distant substitute must be established as Success of that coming future.

Granting all this as true, what more can the young man ask of himself than that he prove worthy in whatever rank in the world he finds himself?

Down and Out.

What can be done for him? Nothing. If his best friends are helpless to assist what can the material world, working toward materialism, do for him? Loyalty to his employer is impossible to him. Discipline which them becomes necessary rankles with him, embittering his work everywhere. Organization that is effective cannot tolerate the man and preserve organization. So from one place to another he drifts, perhaps for years, until finally he joins that great, cosmopolitan army of the "Down and Outs."

man and his desired goal of a Milton or a Cromwell. When a universal peace is established—if ever it can be—all military talent will be dead and useless talent. In the material age of the present Milton himself probably never could have become the Milton that has lived after him. He would have found no publisher in this twentieth century of prosy conventionality and materialism who, printing Milton's poetry, could have paid him royalities enough to support bim. To-day, in London, is not Stephen Phillips ill and half starving? Yet Phillips has written poetry that must live after him.

Each ransomed soul awaits. CHORUS

Safe at home, at home with Jesus. Never more to roam, Oh, how the cares of earth grow lighter, Thinking of sweet rest at home.

Wait for us there;
To loving arms will God restore us,
And in their bliss we'll share.
Then full of faith we'll lay our sorrow
At Jesus' feet;
And in the bright and heavenly morrow
Loved ones—the saved ones meet. O hear your Saviour gently pleading

An III Wind

The paramount cause of worry for the ulfrareconomic Britisher at present political crisis is the uninterrupted stream of waste consequent upon the coming elections—waste of money, waste of energy, waste of time, of oratory, and authorship, of everything and anything that might be turned into a power for the upbuilding of institutions that would redound to the nation's glory instead of being stumbling blocks in the way of reform—but there is where the question comes, in, whether it is reform or not reform, or whether it is nobler to suffer the stings and arrows of suffragettes and innovations, or to take arms, and by opposing—end them? Justice often works in wondrous ways—had the lords given to the suffragists the support they deserved. Mr. Lleyd-George might have had enough to do without contriving a scheme to divert the minds of the people. It is an ill wind that does not blow some a good.

Canada's Coterie of Modern Composers By AMELIA DENTON

The opening year sees musical Canada pulsating with life and the enviable reputation that has already been won for the Dominion both at home and abroad is being more ephanced by an intellectaal vigor and a persevering concentration that are crystallising artistic ability into compositions of much originality and charm. As art is the oficome of high spiritual development which follows usually in the train of a nation's financial prosperity, the song which is being sung by the tide of music inundating the land proclaims, perhaps unconsclously, material as well as ethereal progress.

As yet the field of musical composition has been lightly trodden by Canadians, but each year marks an advance that inspires one to wave aloft with greater confidence the banner of "excelsion," and the signs of the times are pointing propritously to future accomplishments, that will eclipse those of the past.

Of Canadian composers several are women's but their achievements are a delight to ponder over, and the fact that some have won distinction on both sides of the Atjantic awakens pardonable pride and an enthusastic hope that the present year will produce many a wreath of fresh laurels for these.

Whish Laura performed in its entirety about ten times in different part of Canadia, and portions of it have been given many times.

In 1902 Mrs. Harvey composed an opera, "La Terre Bonne," which achieved considerable success, and among her other works are notably a minuet, "Old Time," and "Silver Clouds," The Mouse of Harvey Clouds, "The Noble Life" and "Silver Clouds," The due to Parting," and several anthems, choruses, and very pretty songs, "Our Own," "Wayfarers," "Good-Bye My Summer," "Song, of the Leaves," "Wild North Sea," The Daisy's Answer," "A Song of Happe." "Sweet Jessie McRae" and "Baby's Evensoing."

Mrs. Harvey was born in Hamilton, began to study music when very young, and later continued her work under to study music when very young, and later continued her work under to study music when very young, and later continued her greater success in the near future.

Mrs. Heath.

Another name which awakens just pride is that of Mrs. Laura Lemon Heath, who spent the early years of her life in Guelph, her birthplace. Mrs. Heath began to study music at five years of age and played remarkably well when a mere child. After her parents took up their residence in Winnipeg. Miss Lemon was sent to the Royal Academy of Music in London, where she won a silver and two bronze medals.

Since her marriage to William Heath, barrister of London, she has lived in England and attained considerable distinction as a composer, especially of songs. Her "Slumber Song" was composed expressly for Mme. Albani, and "My Ain Folk," when sting. by Mme. Clara Butt in Albert Hall, London, produced "storms of rapturous applause, ten bunches of flowers, and had to be repeated." Clara Butt carried this song around the world, and also sang very effectively "I Envy the Birds That Sing" and "Comfort One Another."

An evidence of Mrs. Heath's abiding loyalty for her native land is the band march, "Canada," scored for full military band and composed especially for the Quebec Tercentenary, and the patriotic sone "Canada Forever," which was sung by Miss Edith J. Miller, the celebrated Canadian contraito, at all the Colonial Conference festivities in London. Miss Miller's other favorites were "Auld Scotland" and "A Wee Bit o' Heather," composed in collaboration with Alexander Grant, M. A., M.D., a well-known writer malified critics.

Miss Taylor has undertaken the larger forms of composition almost exclusivel and among other things has written an oratorio, "The Deliverance of Israel," in eight parts, with accompaniment for full orchestra; a cantata, "O. Give Thanks," and an unaccompanied five part chorus, "The Slave's Dream," set to Longfellow's

Miss Taylor acted for several years as Miss Taylor acted for several years as organist of St. James' Church before accepting the position as conductor of St. George's Church choir, Guelph, which, together with a large number of pupils, occupies a great deal of her attention.

Miss Kate Drummond also is a gifted musician of Winnipeg and has set to charming music some nursery lyrics written by Mrs. B. E. Chaffey. Mrs. Alice Roger-Collins of Mount Forest, has written a few songs of noteworthy excellence, including an Indian

Dr. Ziegfield and Felix Borowski in Chicago, and twice she wen a gold medal for composition, at the same time studying plane under such eminent masters as Arthur Fredheim, Hans Von Schiller and Rudolph Ganz. Miss Branscombe possesses the old Italian art of writing for the voice, and the versatility of her work is shown by the subject matter of her text.

Cradle Song and a setting to Heine's "Du bist wie Eine Blume."

Mrs. Hatton-Moore, the talented daughter of the eminent English composer Hatton, altho an English woman by birth, has composed several very artistic pieces after taking up her residence in London, Cradle Song and a setting to Heine's ontario. Her principal works are a piano solo, "Molto Felice," some songs, notably, "The Sleeping Child," with English and German text, and two sacred songs, "Morning" and "Evening." Mrs. (Col.) MONARCHIAL SOCIALISM IN THE GERMAN EMPIRE

Germany's Public Enterprises Pay One Third the Cost of Government-Principle Of Public Ownership Grows.

Elmer Roberts in Scribners For January. The motive of this writing is to convey some notion of the extent in which the associated monarchies, forming the German imperial state, are engaged in profit-yielding undertakings that in other states are usually left entirely to persons and companies. Americans are acquainted with the aims of the Social-Democratic party, the revolutionary socialism of Germany, with three and a quarter millions of voters, organized, irreconcilable, aflame with soal. That might be called the paper sceialism in Germany. Perhaps "paper socialism" is too light a phrase to use toward a force so formidable and so implacable. It is, however, the doctripaire socialism of Germany that has not yet passed a law, nor administered a parish. The socialism in being the only collective ownership of mines, railways, lands, forests, and other instruments of production, is monarchical socialism, existent by acts of the crown in co-operation with conservative parliamentary majorities.

The imperial government and the governments of the German states took profits in 1908, from the various tusinesses conducted by them, of $277,-$35,093. Estimating the capital value at a 4 per cent, ratio, the value of the productive state-owned properties is $6,523,627,375. Roundly, the governments coperate dividend-yielding works, lands and means of communication worth $1,000,000,000, and the governments conungs to follow a policy of fresh acquisitions. Taking the federated states together, 38 per cent, of all the financial requirements for governmental by into street railways, gas, electricity, in the direction of the potash share in the direction of the potash share in the direction of the protash share ogether. 38 per cent, of all the financial requirements for governmental purposes were met last year out of profits on government-owned enterprises. Including the imperial government, a new-comer with relatively few possessions, one-quarter of all the expenses of the state and the imperial governments on army navy, and all other purposes, were paid out of the states of the empire are far more interpretation. Thus the republic of Lubeck pays possessions, one-quarter of all the expenses from such sources, Hanburg, 4.25 per cent, and Bremen, 6.07 per cent. It is a fact of some interest that the republica among the states of the empire are far more backward in communal ownership than net profits on government businesses. backward in communal ownership than Among the undertakings are no to-

from the character of the bureaucracy. This permanent civil service is one of the greatest glories of Germany, and one of the most powerful of reasons upholding the monarchical principle in a semi-autocratic form in Germany. The Prussian bureaucracy, the model of the other German states, is the creation of the Hohenzollern family during three centuries. It had been developed and improved under all the efficient sovereigns of the Hohenzollern line, such as the Great Elector and Frederick the Great, and it has been a principle of the private policy of the Hohenzollern family to rule thru a body of civil servants, whose place a body of civil servants, whose place in the state is as honorable as that of just to say as ranking next to the army. The non-partisan administrative body, with its own disciplinary courts for cutting out of the public service any member who uses his calcial position to favor a private interest, either his own or that of another, has kept the civil service up to a code of noner that can be compared a code of nonor that can be compared in the United States only to the codes legulating the army and navy. Thus in Germany a public servant, because of the power that his class possesses, the personal distinction, and the social position that go with the public service, is willing to work for the state for less than he could receive in the service of a private company. The chiefs of technical bureaus in the minchiefs of technical bureaus in the mining, agriculture or forestry, telegraph, telephone, or railway services, are paid from $1750 to $3000 a year. The director-general of the Alsace-Lorraine railways is paid $2375, and an allowance for house rent. District superintendents on the Prussian lines, each of whom has supervision over from 1500 to 2000 miles of line, are paid $2750 a year, with free dwellings. paid $2750 a year, with free dwellings. It frequently happens that men in the government service of unusual capacity reject offers from private concerns of two or three times the salaries they are receiving. The officials who decline such proposals have the same feeling about them that a United sent, and so files subjects, and check excessive extravagance.

So fact of the police authority of every place must provide for all poor and central powers and the certainty of being promoted regularly, and of having a pension upon this service, and the certainty of being promoted regularly, and of having a pension upon the second decade of the last century, was the foundation upon which bismarks stood, when, on May 9, 1884, in 18,9916,190

Falls on Kellogg.
In fact, on Mr. Kellogg's shoulders will fall the brunt of the government's forth coming fight, for it is but the grand climax of all the government's recent battles against the Standard— Mother First battles in which victory has been given to the government and which have been waged more or less single-handed been waged more or less single-handed by Mr. Kellogg as the government's special attorney for the prosecution of Mr. Rockefeller's lusty and most be-loved business child. He it is who is plarning the campaign of offense, for the Standard, as usual with it in the most important legal battles in which it has figured, is decidedly on the de-fensive Me it is who will lead the fensive. He it is who will lead the government forces into the thick of the decisive fray; he it is who, in fact, will not only direct but fire much of the government's hot shot along the entire line of battle, and he it is who has been doing this sort of owrk for over three years past and will continue to do it to the last, because, forsooth, before he became engaged in this great fight he was the northwest's most famous corporation lawyer.

Frank B. Kellogg, sworn enemy of the world's most famous corporation, a corporation lawyer? Exactly. And I repeat that this is the primary reason of his present national game, garnered as a result of his brilliant and persistent series of battles against the ed" him on the trail of that company Here is the how and why of it.

Why Roosevelt Chose Kellogg. Roosevelt's career as president when he decided that it was high time to get after the Standard with his big stick. This decision was no sooner made than he set about to look for made than he set about to look for special counsel for the government to handle the case. This and that famous lawyer of the east was found to be retained by the Standard or in or less formal alliance with its legal department or some of the men prominent in that company. Then there occured to the president the name of Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul the man who had directed the government's case against the western paper trust, winning a victory that resulted in that corporation's dissolution. It had been a brilliant victory, and Mr. Roosevelt, with characteristic quick ness of mind, decided upon Mr. Kellogg as the government's legal general the forthcoming onslaugh against

Social New York Amazed at Revelations of Astor

Social New York has experienced a great surprise at the appraisal for taxes of the estate of Mrs. William Astor, who died last year, and who for so many years was the arbiter of society in this city and in Newport. While her estate is valued at about $1,750,000, some of the details concerning her fur-niture and jewelry have caused a shock to those who formerly were impressed by their magnificence.

LOVING TRICK KEEPS PRINCE FROM AIRSHIP

Crown Princess Has Article Put In Paper Pointing Out the Dangers of Aviation.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.-A nice little story is told of the German crown princess.
As everyone knows, the crown prince takes a very great interest in aeronautics, and even once made a flight with Orville Wright. From that day his one wish was to become the own-er of an aeroplane.

When, however, he discussed his pet idea with his wife, the latter showed him a newspaper article in which it was pointed out that a German crown prince ought not to expose himself to such dangers. Thereupon, the prince, staggered, dropped the subject.

It now appears that it was the crown princess herself who had caused that warning to be inserted in the paper.

For this season "The Ladies' Suffragist Club" has been selected as the opening burletta and is presented by a carefully selected cast. The musical ensembles are new and up-to-date, and have been especially written for the production. The girls are a charming lot to look upon, and can sing as well as dance. Their costumes are a rival of any big production, having been made from the latest Parisian designs, and are a work of art. Among the principals are Tom Barrett, Chas. Saunders, Jack McCape, John Early, Abe Goldman, May Belle, Pearl Late, Della Curley and others.

Each one has been engaged for the express purpose to interpret the dif-ferent parts assigned them.

The closing burlesque is entitled "Beans," and is a good clean cut comedy, full of action and musical numbers. Both comedies are from the pen of that favorite comedian and writer Sam Rice, which is guarantee enough that the patrons will see a first-class entertainment, and one designed to drive dull care away. The vaudeville program presented serves to introduce such well-known acts as Early and Late, Bearett and Belle, Archer and Crocker, Abe Goldman and James Purvis:

With this array of talent, there can be no doubt as to the cleverness and novelty of the enterta ment presented, and should be the means of drawing large crowds all week.

The theft was carried out by Adam Worth, a daring criminal. He found that a world-famous picture was dif-ficult to dispose of, and for nearly twenty-five years it remained in the custody of the thief. Then he fell upon bad times, and suffered his first and only imprisonment, and on leaving jail met his friend Sheedy, to whom he confined the secret of the missing "Duchess."

"Why not let Pinkerton's know where it is, and restore it through them?" suggested Sheedy, assuring Worth that the famous American de tective agency would "see him safe." Later, when the gambler was dining with Mr. Pinkerton, he said that he believed he knew who had the picture, and could secure its return for a consideration and a guarantee that the possessor of the canvas would not be

What the consideration amounted to has never been told; some say that Sheedy made $25,000 over the deal. At any rate, he assisted in the negotiaritions, and finally in 1899 Mr. Moreland Agnew, who travelled specially to America, brought the picture back with him.

Sheedy was born 59 years ago at Clonmel, Tipperary, and was taken to America by Mb parents, who apprenticed him to a harness maker. But cards and dice were his one passion. He won and lost many fortunes, came to Europe and dropped $40,000 at one sitting at Monte Carlo, and returned home to make another fortune within a few weeks. With this he started a tour of the world, which ed him to Cairo, where he leased a gamning casino, made faro all the rage, and became known as "Sheedy Pasha."

Everyone who has seen David Higgins in "His Last Dollar" will await the opportunity with pleasure of seeing him again in his great racing play written by himself and Dr. Baldwin G. Cook, which comes to the Grand next week. Mr. Higgins has the G. Cook, which comes to the Grand next week. Mr. Higgins has the character of "Joe Braxton" to impersonate. A character loveable, strong, personality like the bark of a tree.

The main theme of the story concerns one Joe Braxton, born in Kentucky, who has made a fortune in the stock exchange, and thereby is brought near the rocky of financial disaster through the trickery of an unfaithful broker and trusted friend.

Of course, the principal theme of the play is love, as it should be, for love is the all important thisg in life, but with the development of the love stories, there goes side by side decelt.

The story of "Deborah of Tod's" concerns a beautiful English girl, born and brought up in Devonshire, where she farms her own broad acres in utter contentment. Slie marries an elderly London roue and is suddenly introduced into smartest London society, where the antics of the city folk astound and astonish her, Miss Elliott has surrounded herself with a carefully selected company, entirely recruited in London and has given the play a production which is said to be nothing less than sumptuous.

On Thursday night of her Toronto week. Miss Elllott will make the premier production of a new three act comedy entitled, "The Inferior Sex," which will be her offering during the last half of her engagement at the Royal Alexandra Theatre "The In-ferior Sex," is from the pen of Frank Stayton, who has had a great vogue in London. Politically, the destinies of Canada and Newfoundland bid fair to remain separate and distinct for many generations to come.

In point of population Newfoundland is far behind the City of Toronto. The most recent estimate places it at 230,000. The City of St. John's, the seat of the colonial government and chief centre of trade for the island, accounts for 30,000 of this, the remainder being scattered in numerous hamlets along a coastline of upwards of 20,000 miles, the largest of these settlements having a population of 6000 and the smallest numbering not more than a couple of families.

Fishing is, par excellence, the main industry of the people and provides annual employment for some 60,000 men, women and children. Some of these fisher-folk—probably 25,000—migrate each spring to the Labrador coast to catch and cure codfish; others engage in this fishery off the Newfoundland coast, while a relatively small number are employed in the Bank fishery to the south of the island.

Wake of steamer on Lake Louise.

The name "Walkyries" is derived from the old Norse "val," which signifies a head of slaughtered men, and "kjora," to choose. In the Scandinavian mythology the Walkyries, also called battle maidens, shield-maidens and wish-maidens, are beautiful young women, who, adorated with golden ornaments, ride thruthe air in brilliant armor, order battles and distribute the death-lots according to Odin's command. Fertilizing dew drops on the ground from the manes of their horses, light streams from the points of their lances and a flickering brightness announces their arrival in the battle. They rejoice the glazing eye of the hero with their charming glances, and lead him to Walhalla, where they act
