TITANIC AT HIGH SPEED WHEN SHE STRUCK, ON CLEAR NIGHT; LIVES MOST REACH TOTAL OF 1601

SINKS AS BAND PLAYS "NEARER MY GOD, TO THEE"

Iceberg Had Ripped Bottom Out of the Great White Star Liner

At First Advised There Was no Fear, Then Fearful Scene as Vessel Begins to go Under—Allison's Babe Slept Through it all in Arms of Nurse—Grief and Joy at New York Pier as The Survivors Arrive

(Canadian Press) New York, April 18.—The Titanic disaster as written into history today, by many of the 639 survivors, accounts for the loss of 1,505 persons at sea, off Newfoundland banks, early Monday morning, and the subsequent death of six persons, who had been rescued, bring the total of lives lost to 1,601.

These official figures magnify greatly estimates which had come by wireless, and the stories which survivors tell make certain, as had already been judged from the meagre wireless reports, that this disaster is the greatest that ocean travel has ever known.

WOMEN ALL HAD CHANCE FOR LIFE The big facts which came to the surface in the flood of narratives are, that 1,601 persons met their death, that there is hardly the shadow of a hope that a single grand total will be curtailed by a single additional survivor, that several men of wealth and world-wide prominence are among those who perished, that practically all the women who were aboard the Titanic were saved, that nearly all of the survivors saw the Titanic sink, that the band played, "Nearer My God to Thee," and heard the shrieks of those whom the sea claimed, as the vessel sank in 2,000 fathoms.

The Titanic struck an iceberg about twenty feet high, which ripped the liners aside, and made the watertight compartments useless, and while the vessel was gradually sinking, the engines stopped, her steam boilers, causing an explosion, which sent her to the bottom.

ICEBERG RIPPED THE BOTTOM OUT From the stories told by the survivors, it would appear that the liner rushed upon a submerged iceberg on a clear night, about seven thirty on Sunday last. The shock was so slight, that people playing cards in the smoking room, continued their game, without paying any heed to the jarrinking a large wave had been passed. A few moments later, the bow began to settle, her bottom having ripped out, and information was brought to the captain that water was rushing into the engine rooms.

LITTLE BABE ASLEEP THROUGH ALL Several sensational stories were told by survivors, one was that at the end of the building by her escort and taken to the Grand Central station, where the special train was in readiness to copy the party to Montreal.

New York, April 18.—When the Carpathia picked them up the Titanic survivors were lying in the bottom of the boats, all alive, but the majority of them unconscious. Many were suffering terribly from the exposure and many were almost frozen. Wm. Jones, a Titanic stoker, who manned one of the life boats, said he was 500 yards away when the vessel sank and that he saw four life boats, filled with women, drawn down.

SOCIETY WOMEN IN SAD HOME-COMING

Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the bride of a few months, whose husband now lies in a grave that knows no better moment than a wave, walked down the plank with an attempt at dignity. It faded away when her mother clasped her to her arms, and she collapsed into a hysterical fit of weeping, as she was led to a gorgeous automobile, waiting outside.

THE WIDOW'S CONSOLATION For a second she was uncertain. Then she knew. "He's gone, isn't he?" She whispered. "Yes, dear, I'm afraid so," was the forced comment, "I knew he was

Liquor Law Amendments and Settlers' Bill Dealt With—Still up in the Air Over Valley Railway—The Day of Extravagance

Fredrickton, N. B., April 18.—(Special) House sat until between two and three o'clock this morning, passing two important measures, the ready-made farm bill and the amendments to the liquor license act. The time for drunkenness in St. John was left to the discretion of the magistrate.

There was much criticism concerning the details of the farm bill. No opposition was felt toward encouraging immigration but the details of this measure are not apt to please the farmers who already have worked all their life time to make some for themselves.

The date of the election has not been decided upon as yet. Much depends upon what happens with respect to the Valley Railway. The contracts have not been signed, though the announcement was made some time ago that they would be as soon as Mr. Gould arrived. Mr. Gould has been here some time and Premier Fleming has been in Montreal and still all is not clear for construction. The finances are not in shape, say some who know, and the Andover Grand Falls section that Minister Cochrane will not subordinate is worrying the government.

on the liner when I left, because I saw him assisting a woman who held a baby." The spark of her kindred pride struggled through the widow's tears, the first touch of the soles that is to be hers through her life to come.

Mr. Chevre said he had got half way down stairs when he noticed that the vessel had a tilt, and he made his way to the deck.

ONLY ONE OF TEN CANADIAN MEN TO BE RESCUED

Major Peuchen of Queen's Own, Toronto, Tells Graphic Story of the Awful Disaster

A Tribute to Bravery, But an Arraignment for Lack of Safeguards—No Searchlight, and Steamer at High Speed—Farewell Words of C. M. Hays—Placed in Command of a Boat—Left $200,000 in Stateroom

(Special to Times) New York, April 18.—The mystery which has shrouded the last hours of the famous Canadian who went down to their doom with the ill-fated liner Titanic, was penetrated last night when Major Arthur Peuchen of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto, president of the Standard Chemical Company, told of his own miraculous escape from the sea. Major Peuchen alone of ten Canadian men on the Titanic has returned to tell of the last hours of his life.

Major Peuchen spoke briefly with the late C. M. Hays, general manager of the Grand Trunk Railroad. "Good-bye Peuchen, I feel that the ship will last another eight hours and by that time we shall have saved," were the last words of the great railway magnate.

One of the most cherished objects which Major Peuchen bore with him from the wreck is a small piece of coarse paper on which is scrawled the major's sea commander's instructions to the crew.

Major Peuchen gained his seafaring knowledge as skipper of the yacht Virena, which he sailed in Toronto for six years. With him also sailed the late Hugo Ross of Winnipeg, one of the Titanic's Canadian victims.

The major told his story last night on his arrival at the Waldorf Hotel surrounded by his two children, his wife and his brother-in-law, Thompson of Orillia, Ont.

"NEARER MY GOD, TO THEE," THEN THE END The story reads like a novel. It is given in Major Peuchen's own words, as he sat in one of the luxurious arm chairs of the Waldorf Hotel, still arrayed in the sea-faring garb in which he had escaped the terrors of the Atlantic.

Major Peuchen said: "It was Sunday evening, a starry night and calm. There was an exceptional bill of fare on for evening dinner. We were all in evening dress and the ladies wore many a jewel. Music went on as usual. I dined with Mrs. Markland Moison, Mr. and Mrs. Allison and their little girl. Everything was exceptional bright.

"I had just reached my berth when I heard a dull thud. It was not like a collision and I did not think it serious. That's extraordinary, I thought and went up to see. I ran upstairs and on my way met a friend who laughingly said that we had struck an iceberg and we went upon deck.

"I didn't run forward into the boat and ordered the steamer to put the plug into the boat. They neglected to do this. He came back and said 'This boat is going to founder,' referring to the Titanic. (Continued on page 7, fifth column) from the point and had scraped along the starboard side. The berg must either have shifted the keel or ripped open the side, for we began to take in water along the whole length of the boat. The bulwarks, were, therefore, no use. I was on deck and saw the light falling on us. The berg was about seventy feet high. Our steamer itself was seven decks high and the berg was even with the upper deck.

"As the berg passed the port hole it alarmed the women in the boats. They were in pyjamas, some in evening gowns. They were not yet much alarmed. I went to the side and spoke to my friend Moison. Hugo Ross was sick in bed. That I got in touch with Charles M. Hays and Thornton Davidson, a sign-lawyer of Mr. Hays. The three of us, Mr. Hays, Mr. Davidson and Mr. Davidson, went up to see the boat.

"I then for the first time saw the ship listing. This was about fifteen minutes after the strike. 'My, she is listing,' I said. 'Then I noticed that all the people were putting on life belts and for the first time it looked serious. I wouldn't believe it, however, knowing that the Titanic was such a safe boat. Finally I realized the seriousness of the thing. I went inside my dress suit, put on my warmest clothes, and my steward, a very nice fellow, helped me put on my life preserver. I never saw him again.

"I took three changes and a pearl pin. There was $200,000 worth of stocks and bonds, all my jewelry and presents for my daughter Jessie and family in the berth, but I did not touch them. When I got outside all the people lined up with life preservers in the companionway made matters look very serious.

FAREWELLS OF HUSBANDS AND WIVES "Prior to this I went to warn Mr. Ross, who was ill in bed. I met Mr. Beattie and he went in and warned Mr. Ross. On the top deck, as I mounted, all the boats were sprung out ready for action. Just at that moment a mob of stokers swarmed up to the decks. The chief officer, a big burly fellow, drove them back with a fury. Then I found they were short-handed and I assisted. I helped cut off all the cords on the first life boat and to take out the sail. Then I assisted in putting the ladies in the boat and the chief officer and I. The women kissed their husbands good bye, the husbands asked their wives to the boats and then stood back like any other men.

"I saw no evidence of cowardice, but an Italian was there discovered concealed in the boat with a broken arm.

"We then lowered the second boat. When the wife refused to go without the husband, the wife had to stand by. The same rule prevailed with a mother and daughter. An officer on the starboard side was lenient and there it was that many men got in. The officer on the port side was very severe, and would allow none but women and children to enter the boats.

BOATS NOT ALL FILLED "The boats were not filled to capacity. One boat had only twenty-three in it, but its capacity was sixty. The officer replied to my query over this condition that the boat chains would not hold the heavy load of a full boat. The capacity of sixty could be had when the life boats were in the water.

THE TITANIC DISASTER When the Cunard liner Carpathia was warped in to her dock at New York last night, the worst fears of the people waiting for definite news of the extent of the disaster to the Titanic were more than confirmed. The toll of the sea was greater than had been reported, for almost sixteen hundred persons went down, and several died after being taken on board the Carpathia.

Of twenty-five years previous to 1906 it was 11 per cent. In 1909 it had been reduced to 10 per cent, and in 1910 it had been reduced to 9.5 per cent. Mr. Armstrong pointed out that Ontario has an act similar to that proposed in Nova Scotia, and one of the western provinces had enacted a bill with somewhat similar provisions. The speaker gave a series of figures showing results of a number of years' operations in Germany and made the following comment: "The fact that eight years after discharge from sanitarium 73 per cent. of those treated were still able to work and 61 per cent. retained a full working capacity must effectually confute the assertion that the clinical results of sanitarium treatment did not justify their existence."

LEMING THE PARTISAN Premier Fleming boldly announces that he will not award a contract for public printing to a political opponent. The substance of the statement he made in the legislature. It reveals Mr. Fleming in his true light. He is not premier of New Brunswick for the purpose of one-sidedly attacking the province with the aid of the press, but he is premier to get into power. The people of the province do not need to be told that a man who will make such a statement as that attributed to Mr. Fleming is not the right man to have at the head of the government. It would be impossible for such a man to act independently in any matter that might come up. His first thought would be of party, and his second, if he had any second thought, of the country. The record of the government since it came into power shows that it places partisanship first.

When he won the elections in 1908, Hon. Mr. Hazen tendered his thanks to the Liberals who had voted for him, and assured them that he would not forget the support that had been given him. Almost immediately afterwards, however, he threw the whole resources of the provincial government into a federal campaign in a determined effort to defeat the Liberal party. The attempt was a miserable failure, but it opened the eyes of the Liberals, and they have been opened wider and wider ever since. Mr. Fleming has assured the Liberals that he would be very glad to have their support in the coming elections, but they have taken his measure and will not be deceived a second time. In marked contrast to the attitude of Premier Fleming, Mr. Copp declares, in the most positive way, that if he should become the head of the government and award printing contracts, they would be awarded to the lowest tenderer. In that case the province would reap the benefit. Under the Fleming regime the benefits go to partisan newspapers, which depend largely upon government favors for their very existence.

TUBERCULOSIS The Times yesterday quoted some statements made by Hon. Mr. Armstrong in the Nova Scotia legislature on the bill providing for municipal sanitaria. This bill provides that any municipal or incorporated town may acquire lands and interests and erect or purchase and equip buildings, or several municipalities may jointly agree to establish a sanitarium. The province undertakes to pay 1/3 of the cost of building and equipment, not to exceed, however, the sum of $4,000. It is further provided that the governor-in-council may pay toward the maintenance and support of any sanitarium $1.50 for each week's actual treatment and stay of every patient, the total not to exceed $1,000 a year to any sanitarium. In the course of his address Hon. Mr. Armstrong quoted statistics to show what disease and the establishment of sanitarium have done in several countries. We quote: "In England in 1851 the death rate was 547 to the 100,000. By means of educative methods, the establishment of sanitarium, and dispensaries the death rate had been reduced to 136 to the 100,000. In Germany from 1877 to 1881 the rate was 357.7 per 100,000, from 1887 to 1911 it was 190 per 100,000. In New York in 1890 it was 295 to the 100,000. For a period

RECOMPENSE (By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.) Straight through my heart this fact today, By Truth's own hand is driven; God never takes one thing away, But something else is given. I did not know in earlier years, The law of love and kindness; I only mourned through bitter tears, My loss, in sorrow's blindness. But, ever following each regret, Or some departed treasure, My sad and popping heart was met With unexpected pleasure. I thought it only happened so; But Time this truth has taught me— No least thing from my life can go, But something else is brought me. It is the Law, complete, sublime, In patience I but bide my time, When any joy is taken. No matter if the crushing blow May for the moment down me, Still lack of it waits Love, I know, With some new gift to crown me.

IN LIGHTER VEIN WORKING WITH TEASPOONS A steam "navy" at work had attracted a large number of spectators, including two Irishmen, who, judging their appearance, were tolerably temporarily out of employment. As the big shovel at a single lick scooped up half a ton of earth and dumped it upon a cart, one of the Irishmen remarked: "What a shame to think of them digging up earth in that way!" "What do you mean?" asked his companion. "Well," said the other, "that machine is taking the bread out of the mouths of hundreds of laborers who could do their work with their picks and shovels." "Right you are, Barney," said the other fellow. "Just then a man who had been looking on remarked: "Looks here, you fellows, if that digging would give work to a hundred men with shovels and picks, why don't you thousand men and give them teaspoons to do the job?" "The Irishmen, to their credit, saw the force of the remark, and joined heartily in the laugh that followed.

POOR SISTER, SUE Six years was his age, and he had gone to school with her. He had enjoyed himself immensely, and the only disappointment was that he hadn't been able to get a kiss from her. "Among the advantages of a boys' sanitarium are the following:— "The patient not being deterred by a long journey goes to the sanitarium earlier and has consequently a better chance of cure. The expense of travel being eliminated he is thus enabled to make a longer stay. He has the comfort of being able to see his family and friends often. They, too, benefit by seeing the conditions under which the patient lives. They see him in pleasant surroundings and their natural prejudices are removed. Their intelligent co-operations is secured. The patient because of the fact that he can see his friends frequently does not suffer from homesickness. His increased length of stay prevents his going to work too soon. He does not have to readjust his life to a change of climate. Above all the local institution is a practical example to his friends and to the whole community and will often prove of value to other victims of the disease." Several counties in Nova Scotia have already taken action looking toward the establishment of local sanitarium, and it is expected the action of the government will not only encourage them to hasten the work, but will stimulate other counties to take similar steps. It is especially important that institutions be provided for the care of both incipient and advanced cases. Nova Scotia is setting a splendid example, which ought to be followed by the province of New Brunswick.

FREEDOM OF THE AIR QUESTION FOR COURTS French Farmers Sue M. Farman Aviator, for Heavy Damages

Paris, April 19.—The question of to whom does the air belong above your garden is to be tried in the Paris law courts. Action has been taken by several farmers and gardeners in the neighborhood of Issy, near Versailles, against M. Maurice Farman, an aviator. His aeroplanes, and those of his pupils, say the plaintiffs, damage their fields and interfere with their enjoyment, and they are asking very heavy damages for a definite decision forbidding M. Farman to allow his aeroplanes to fly over their property at a less height than 700 feet. The lawyers on both sides have been up in aeroplanes and flown over the fields and gardens of the plaintiffs to see just how and why the aeroplanes interfere with the comfort of people below. The lawyers of the Aero Club are intervening in the case with the contention that the air is free to all. The case will be heard on the 15, and it will be interesting to see what the lawyers decide.

"I used to work in the plant that makes those valves," drawled the hobo, "and I'll fix your valve if you want me to." "He did. Again the wheels whirred and the operatives were busily employed and the men in charge relieved. All the 'bo had done was to cut a little leather washer from his shoe and fit it in the right place. Asked for his charge he answered 'twenty-five dollars.' Shouted the superintendent, 'why, you haven't made twenty-five dollars in twenty-five months.' "But the tramp drawled, 'Twenty-five dollars.' "Finally it reached the treasurer of the company, who humbly asked the tramp to make out a bill. He did and after much labored scribbling and scratching presented it, it read: "The Solon Mfg. Co. FLEMMING GOVERNMENT GIVEN A SORRY DAY

Fredericton, April 18.—The most important item in the estimates—$70,000 for roads and bridges—caused a sharp debate in the legislature this afternoon and resulted in an utter repudiation of the "public-works-by-public-fund" policy of the government which was emphasized so loudly by them when in opposition.

It was surely a triumphant session for the opposition. Never was criticism so weakly replied to; never did the government show up in a worse light than this afternoon when their broken pledges and their altered policy upon which they obtained power was ruthlessly laid bare by the opposition leader and members.

Messrs. Tweeddale, Upham, LaBillica, Dyne, Burchill, Bentley, all took part in the debate and strongly urged that there should be reform.

The passing of supply was completed at 3:30. There will probably be some supplementary estimates.

GEO. GRAHAM OF TORONTO IS SOUGHT IN VAIN

New York Wire to His Wife Ends Her Hope

DOWN WITH HONORED DEAD

Nephew Describes Scene at Carpathia Pier as Heartrending—Mother Scans Every Face as Survivors Land, But Daughter's is Not Seen

(Canadian Press)

New York, April 18.—George Graham is not on the boat. Such was the dismal intelligence conveyed to his wife in Toronto by a telegram from here. Despite all the hopes of those who waited to welcome him it is evident that he must be numbered among the missing, among the honorable and honored dead who went down that women and little ones might live.

It was a long wait. The minutes dragged like hours. At last a few survivors from the Titanic began to arrive. A few male relatives of ladies on the ill-fated boat were interviewed in the corridors and had to tell their second hand story over and over.

But the Canadians came not. Hours dragged on and hope gradually sank in the breasts of those who were awaiting news of Mr. Graham.

W. C. Graham, nephew of the unfortunate man, was heartbroken over the result. "I can't realize it," he said, "I can't realize it. The whole thing just numbs me. I have seen all the faces which I will remember as long as I live. I have seen people clasping their loved ones in their arms. I have heard cries of joy which they uttered. But I have also heard the shrieks of a poor woman who waited and waited in vain. In two hours she was at the pier waiting for her mother, she scanned every soul who left the boat. At last all were gone. She stood waiting. Then some one told her gently that it was no use. She shrieked pitifully and when they carried her away she was in a dead faint."

One very circumstantial and old report story says that John Jacob Astor and E. Henry Widener had been shot dead by Archibald Butt while trying to board a life boat against the epidemic.

Seven babies were thrown into life boats by frantic mothers who were down with the ship. They were tenderly cared for by survivors, but their names will never be known.

At seven o'clock on the night of the accident the captain went to a dinner in full dress and stayed until nine or ten-thirty, and I am a little to understand why a captain with 5,000 souls in his care and a ship approaching iceberg, should dine in a restaurant in that way.

WAS TROUBLED WITH Headache AND Constipation.

After Suffering For Two Years Was Cured By BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Headache of whatever nature is nearly always symptomatic of other diseased conditions, rather than a disease itself, but in most cases a disordered stomach, constipation, or bad circulation is the chief source of the difficulty. Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the trouble through its cleansing, strengthening and tonic action on the stomach, liver, bowels and blood. Mr. Wm. Redmond, Charlton Bridge, P. E. I., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for about two years. After trying every doctor I knew, a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I found myself, after using one bottle, getting much better, and after using three bottles I was completely cured."

After then I was on a visit, and found my cousin very sick, and the doctor told her there was something wrong with her head. I told her to use Burdock Blood Bitters and she was cured in a short time. I can safely recommend it to all."

WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

The whist tournament and social given by the St. Vincent's Alumnae in Keith's Assembly room last night was attended by more than three hundred. Miss Florence O'Regan, Leonard and Harry Medicine solo, Dr. T. H. Lanney, reading, Miss Agnes Scully. Eight tables set for whist were filled. The first ladies' prize, a handsome cut-glass water pitcher, was won by Mrs. John Sproul of Fredericton; the second ladies' prize, a half dozen silver spoons, was won by Miss Emma Hall. The first gentlemen's prize, a silk umbrella, by John E. McIntyre. The committee in charge was composed of Misses Florence O'Regan, Nellie Reid, Clara O'Connor, Ellen Keefe, Agatha Gorman and Sadie McLaughlin.

ARRIVAL OF SURVIVORS AT NEW YORK

Talks With Passengers on The Ill-Fated Titanic

C. M. HAYS' WARNING

How Captain Smith Went to His Death—Ship Official Says She Was Being Speeded Under Orders

New York, April 18—The survivors of the steamer Titanic which sank in mid-ocean on Sunday night arrived at New York tonight on the Cunard steamer Carpathia. Of those who were saved one perished in the lifeboats and four others died after reaching the Carpathia.

The passengers confirm the story of the disaster as received by wireless, telling of the sinking of the vessel after collision with the iceberg, of the launching of the lifeboats and of the survivors huddled in the boats watching the steamer with friends and relatives to the number of some 1,000 sink before their eyes. Colonel Archibald Gracie, U. S. A., was the last man alive on the steamer. As the final wave swept over her he was carried away and drawn down. After what seemed an interminable time he came to the surface and discovered a floating life raft. He got on board and with assistance of others who also came up the surface managed to rescue thirty people. Col. Gracie denied with emphasis that any men were fired upon and declared that only once was a revolver discharged. "This was for the purpose of intimidating steamer passengers," he said, "who had tumbled into a boat before it was prepared for launching. This shot was fired in the air and when the foreigners were told that the next would be directed at them they promptly returned to the deck. There was no confusion and no panic."

"Before I retired," said Colonel Gracie, "I had a long chat with Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, one of the last things Mr. Hays said was this: "The White Star, the Cunard and the Hamburg American lines are directing their attention and ingenuity in vying with one another to attain the supremacy in luxurious ships and in making speed records. The time will come, when this will be checked by some appalling disaster."

"For fellow, a few hours later he was dead."

A committee of the survivors gave out a statement for publication. The statement said that the steamer struck a berg on Sunday about 11:40 p. m. in a month's sea and sank about four a. m. including the officers and crew there was a total of 2,000 people on board, while on the Carpathia the rescued numbered 745 which was about 80 per cent. of the maximum capacity of the lifeboats.

The New York papers attack J. Bruce

Jenney, managing director of the White Star line, blaming him for holding back messages which might have eased the minds of relatives and friends and an anxious public.

George A. Braden (on the passenger list as George Bryant) told of the Captain Smith met his death. "I saw Captain Smith while I was in the water. He was standing on the deck alone. Once he was swept down by a wave, but managed to get to his feet. Then as the boat sank he again was knocked down by a wave and this time disappeared from view."

Not only was the Titanic tearing through the April night to her doom with every ounce of steam crowded on, but she was under orders from the general officers of the line to make all speed of which she was capable. This was the statement made by J. H. Moody, a quartermaster of the vessel and helmsman on the night of the disaster. He said the ship was making 21 knots an hour and the officers were striving to live up to the orders to make a record.

Of the passengers given by the passengers most of them agreed that the shock when the Titanic struck the iceberg, although slipping her great sides like a giant oak opener did not greatly jar the entire vessel, for the blow was a glancing one along her side.

LOST CONTROL OF HIS TEMPER

Once there was a man whose liver was not working right. When dressing in the morning he had trouble with his collar. Then he lost the collar button. Then he had a headache and when he had some important business to transact he bungled it.

By the time he got to breakfast he was so irritated that he had no appetite and quarrelled with his wife. He went to the office with a headache and when he had some important business to transact he bungled it.

When you find yourself easily irritated and lose control of yourself and your temper, look to the condition of the liver, and take one of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at bed-time.

The doctor's taste will not bother you in the morning, the tongue will clear up, digestion will improve and you will not have the tired, worn-out feelings which accompany a sluggish condition of the liver.

IN DREAD OF CROUP

The inexperienced mother is always in dread of croup. There is seldom any warning until the child awakens at midnight with the hard, metallic cough and gasps frantically for breath.

There is no need for a doctor, no time to go to the drug store, even relief must be obtained at once. If you are not so fortunate as to have Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine in the house, cause the child to vomit with a spoonful of warm lard or by holding the finger to the throat.

Then get Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine so as to prevent the more serious attack which usually comes the second night. This treatment is wonderfully effective for croup, bronchitis and colds in the throat or chest. Mothers who make a practice of always keeping it in the house find that they can depend on it in case of emergency.

Many persons have asked me how I throw the fadeaway, writes "Christy" Mathewson, in St. Nicholas. The explanation is simple—When the outcurve is thrown the ball is allowed to slip off the end of the thumb with a spinning motion that causes it to bend away from a right-handed batter. The hand is held up. Now if the wrist were turned over and the hand held down, so that the ball would slip off the thumb with a twisting motion, but because the wrist was reversed, would leave the hand with the thumb toward the body instead of away from it. I figured that an incurve to right handed batters would result. That is how the fadeaway is pitched. The hand is turned over until the palm is toward the ground instead of toward the sky, as when the outcurve is thrown, and the ball is permitted to leave the thumb with a peculiar snap of the wrist. The ball is gripped in the same way as for an outcurve.

NOTED ENGLISH ACTRESS WRITES PSYCHIC NOVEL

Lady Bancroft Had Climbed To Top of Theatrical Tree In England

Copy of Omar Kayyam With 1050 Jewels in Binding—Daughter of Tennyson's Chum Tells How Poet Came to Write "Maud" (Times Special Correspondence.) London, April 9—Lady Bancroft, who, as Marie Wilton, was one of the most popular actresses in this country, and retired at the height of her popularity, has turned novelist. Soon after she published her vividly written and widely read "Reminiscences," she tells me, a renowned English publishing firm urged her to try her hand at fiction, enterprisingly undertaking to publish anything she might write, but at that time—in 1888 to be exact—Lady Bancroft lacked confidence. But being even comparatively idle after having worked like a Trojan generally becomes a bore in time, and a few months ago, the ex-actress of the Haymarket Theatre began to yearn for intellectual employment, and what appeared like a first-rate plot for a novel having one day popped into her head, she proceeded to try her creative hand at making a novel out of it. The result is "The Shadow of Neeme," which John Murray, whose grandfather was Lord Byron's publisher, will put forth. Oddly enough, Lady Bancroft's maiden effort in romance making, which she declares will not be her last if "The Shadow of Neeme" is a success, and perhaps not. It is, in fact, a story of the occult that the ex-actress has written, and written uncommonly well according to the opinion of able judges than the present scribe. The hero, a young British nobleman, while serving in the South African war, dreams time after time of a beautiful girl, who becomes his feminine ideal. On his return after the campaign, he greatly distresses all his kindfolk by declining to marry various eligible fair ones, the dream lady having firm hold of his affections. Then he goes to live at the old hall at Neeme, and there on the night of the house-warming dance, he sees, or fancies he sees his dream lady. But afterward, inquired as he will be cannot discover that any guest answering to her description was present at the ball. So a hunt for the mysterious damsel begins. How she is found it would not be fair to reveal. Found she is, however, and she and his lordship marry and, presumably, "live happily ever after." "That Lady Bancroft can write pretty good fiction, her first attempt proves satisfactorily. It would be odd if, after climbing up to the top of the theatrical profession in this country she also became a serious rival to Miss Braddon, Queen Mary, by the way, at Her Majesty's own request, is to be one of the first to receive a copy of Lady Bancroft's novel. Paid £2 025 for Rubaiyat

but it is safe betting that his address is U. S. A., with "J. P. M." as possible initials. The book which brought this tiny man a copy of the original edition of "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the outside covers of which were studded with about 1,000 jewels, including rubies, turquoises, amethysts, and topazes, each stone being in a gold setting. Mrs. Correll is represented by a remarkable collection of "Green Green" marriage certificates sold. There were nearly 1,000 of them, relating to marriages performed between 1825 and 1844 by John Linton, of Great Hall, A. E. of romance, was represented by which, certificates, the authenticity of which is unquestionable, many of them having been accepted as evidence in courts of law. The purchase price for the collection was $2,100. Correll Book Evident Failure Evidently Mrs. Correll's last novel, "The Life of Richard," was something of a "flop." While in the "city" offices of Muller's, the biggest circulation library in this country, the other day, I was shown a stack of more than 200 copies of that work, for which there was no call, and which were being offered at half price. "We have more than 1,000 apparently unwanted copies at our head office," said the clerk to whom I talked. "The demand for it practically ceased three weeks after publication, and it is all but unsaleable here at half price. The trouble seems to be that the novel is not a novel, but a collection of novels have dealt with religious themes and it looks as if even her most devoted readers are getting tired of it. Leonard Merrick, whose mistakes now has gone back to one of his earlier and most successful novels for the plot of the new play which he has written in collaboration with Michael Morton. At least one judge so from title, "The Imposter," which also was that of the play, supposedly written by the hero, which figure so prominently and was outlined with so much detail, in "The Actor-Manager." It sounded at the time too good a plot to be thrown in as it were with another full sized one, and I am not surprised that Merrick eventually decided to try to account. Or perhaps it was Morton who suggested that the imaginary play would make a good real one. At all events, "The Imposter" has been written and will be tried on the provincial do at Edinburgh. How Tennyson came to write "Come Into the Garden Maud" is told in the "Nineteenth Century" by the Hon. Mrs. Algernon Grosvenor, who is a daughter of Tennyson's great chum, the late Sir John Stimson. Incidentally she describes how the poet made his friend a present of the manuscript of "In Memoriam." "It was on his birthday, in the library," she writes, "that Tennyson asked him to reach him a book from a shelf. As he did so, there fell out the manuscript of "In Memoriam," which the poet had put there as a surprise. Some time after this, while at Farringford, my father came upon the beautiful lyric "O That's Were Possible," which had appeared years back in an ephemeral publication of the time. He implored Tennyson to introduce it into a dramatic poem, and gave him no peace till he set about writing "Maud."

MOUNT TEMPLE HEARD THE CALL AND HURRIED TO AID OF THE TITANIC

Within fifty miles of the giant Titanic when she sent out calls for rescue before being engulfed in mid ocean, and one of the first to go to the doomed liner, the C. P. R. liner Mount Temple, Captain Moore, arrived here at noon today from London and Antwerp with a graphic account of the race to aid the ill fated White Star monster.

Captain Moore said that it was about 12:20 when his Marconi operator picked up the "C. Q. D." call for help. The first call was "We have struck iceberg, come to our assistance at once." The Mount Temple was put about at once and with all possible speed headed for the Titanic, her position having been indicated in the first message.

In reply to a message sent by the Carpathia, the Mount Temple heard the Titanic reply: "We want all the help we can get." To get to the position of the Titanic the Mount Temple had to go through an immense field of ice with more than fifty bergs. As Captain Moore had about 100 people aboard, including crew, the undertaking was a hazardous one, in fact they were compelled to stop for a time. About 4:30 in the morning the Mount Temple arrived at the position of the Titanic and found her gone.

The Carpathia was sighted on the other side of a row of bergs and she advised the Mount Temple that she had picked up twenty boats. As she came up with the Titanic's position Captain Moore had his lifeboats swung out from their davits ready to lower away and the gangway lowered over the side ready to take on any passengers that might be found.

At the ocean grave of the Titanic at one time were the Mount Temple, Carpathia, California and German steamer Burnah. The Mount Temple picked up the following message from the Titanic to the Olympic: "We are putting the women off in boats." The addition to the first asked the Titanic: "What is the matter," and the reply came back: "We have struck an iceberg and are sinking; all captain to come."

After cruising about the vicinity for some time the Mount Temple proceeded on her way. Captain Moore said that in all his experience he had never seen so much ice so far south. Before he received the call for help from the Titanic he was in a course clear of ice, but in the locality where the big liners are founded there were gigantic bergs and the heaviest kind of field ice. While going to the Titanic men were kept in the "crow's nest" and every point of vantage scanning the ocean for signs of the ill-fated liner or her boats. The commander and his officers used their glasses continuously. "In fact our eyes were sore from looking," said Captain Moore.

THE SARDINE FISHING.
The sardine season which opened on April 15 did not start as auspiciously as last year. The run of sardine herring has been light so far, and although some of the American canneries have started operations they have not had very much material to work on so far. This is not regarded as serious, however, as the run commences at different times in different years, and what the fishermen lose now they hope to make up later on.

IMPORTANT DEALS IN REAL ESTATE

Several Announcements Are Expected—One Large Transfer Closed By Wire

Several important announcements of real estate transfers may be expected soon. Real estate men throughout the city have a large number of deals in the process of negotiation and in a few days expect to have several of them completed. One large transfer of city property has been closed by wire, and the details will be announced soon. In addition to those nearing completion it is expected that other transactions will take place soon as a result of the many inquiries which are being received from investors from practically all over Canada.

J. F. Gleason, real estate broker, has engaged the first floor of the premises in Prince William street, formerly occupied by E. J. Armstrong's printing establishment, and will remove to his new quarters as soon as they can be fitted up for him.

GOOD FOR THE COASTERS

Freights Fairly Satisfactory With The Outlook Encouraging

Consistently taken generally, are considered fairly satisfactory with the outlook good. There always a difference between the St. John and up the bay rates but the latter at the present time are decidedly more attractive. As high as $4.00 has been paid for vessels to go up the bay, while $3 has been reached up the North Shore. The St. John rate has been $3, $3.25 and in some instances $3.50. The fact that there are so many vessels available, a large fleet wintering here, tends of course to influence the rates here.

The rates offered to Cuba and South America are better than for some time. The rate to Cuba is 88 and to South America $11.50. Coal freights all along have been exceptional, in fact unprecedented. The latest quotation was $2. One vessel recently received $2 to St. Andrews with free loading and discharging.

ELIJAH ROSS IN COURT

Discharging Gun Within Prohibited Area is Complaint

That he had discharged a rifle within 100 feet of a public street was admitted this morning in the police court by Elijah Ross, who was reported by Sergeant Finley for having discharged a gun within the prohibited distance in Carleton. The defendant said that he had been doing the same at different times for the last forty years and he had come to the city, and he could not understand why the report had been made this time, particularly as he had been merely to empty a shell that he had discharged the weapon, and it was fired at the water.

Sergeant Finley said that he had received complaints from people about that vicinity concerning the actions of Mr. Ross with a gun. Mr. Ross said that one of his purposes was to keep boys away from his boats, as they had damaged them. The case was adjourned until tomorrow.

The Kindergartens

There are now 125 pupils enrolled in the three kindergartens in St. John, and about 120 pass through them each year. The cost of maintaining them is about $15 per pupil. A statement issued to show the cost of kindergartens in Massachusetts puts it down at $18.67 per pupil, while the cost of education in the public schools of the state is $30.25. St. Louis spends $16.12 per kindergarten child. Forty Massachusetts cities and towns maintain 300 public kindergartens, containing 18,000 children, at a total cost of $330,000, which is $1,120 per kindergarten of sixty children. Of the work of the kindergarten a Boston public school teacher says:—"Kindergarten children show a higher moral development than those who come directly from the home. They are more polite, more orderly, show a greater sense of the rights and property of others, show more self-control, are more independent, feel the need of working in harmony, and show more often the desire to know and choose the right."
