LEG BROKEN

Jas Cook run Over by Heavily Loaded Waggon

AMPUTATION NECESSARY

Was Hauling Bridge Iron From Charlo Station to Bridge

A serious accident occurred at Charlo on Saturday morning. Jas Cook with three others were hauling bridge iron from Charlo Station to the bridge in course of reconstruction near that place. While going down McLean's hill the load shifted forward on the truck and the ends of the iron struck the horses which immediately bolted. Three of the men jumped and escaped injury. Jas Cook who was driving the team endeavored to get the animals under control but striking a large rut on the road was thrown forward on the pole between the horse and fell under the wheels of the truck, which passed over him. The unfortunate man's leg was badly crushed, the other leg badly bruised, his shoulder injured and he was also cut and bruised about the head. Two doctors from Dalhousie were immediately summoned and Dr. Lunan of Campbellton went down by special train. A consultation was held and amputation was decided necessary. The services of a trained nurse have been procured and the patient resting easily. It hits people in a tender spot and makes it mighty hard to brace up. Nervine will take that kink out of your spinal column in short order; it soothes, that's why relief comes so soon. Nervine penetrates, that's why it cures. Five times stronger than ordinary remedies Nervine can't fail to cure lame back, lumbago, sciatica and muscular pain, has no equal and costs 25c. per bottle.

STEAMER ROCKCLIFF

Meets With a Whole host of Trouble

FIRE IN ENGINE ROOM

Left Port on Sunday Morning With a Bad List

Fire was discovered early Sunday morning in the engine room of the Steamer Rockcliff lying at the wharf here loaded with deals and ready for sea. An alarm was sounded which quickly brought out the fire brigade but in the meantime the private hose used by Mr. Baird for supplying vessels with water was attached to the service pipe on the wharf which proved sufficient to extinguish the flame not however before considerable damage had been done. All the wood-work of the engine room was burned and considerably damaged otherwise. The Rockcliff seems to have had the gods against her ever since leaving the wharf. She was eighteen days in coming across the pond, her engines breaking down twice and it appears that on Saturday morning when ready to leave port her engines played her false, some of the crew refused duty and had to be locked up. They were subsequently released with the hope of getting out to sea on Sunday morning, but they managed to make good their escape. Shortly after the fire was extinguished on Sunday she was taken in tow by the tug Victor and Christians, but unfortunately grounded at the traverse. A survey was held on Monday afternoon and part of her deck load had to be removed. She had a bad list to starboard, which the filling of her water tanks would overcome to some extent.

DOGFISH PEST

Discussed in the House on Tuesday.

MR. TURGEON'S VIEWS.

The Member for Gloucester Urges Immediate Campaign.

Ottawa, July 19.—In the Commons to-day there was a further discussion of the dogfish pest. R. L. Borden, Mr. Copp, of Digby; Mr. Sinclair, of Guysboro; Hon. Wm. Ross and Mr. Roche, all urged action to destroy this pest, and suggestions were made relative to the commercial use of the fish and a bounty for catching them. The minister of marine said the department was seeking to solve the problem. Mr. Turgeon, for the Acadia French fishermen of Gloucester, said that the pest had fallen heavily upon his constituents. They wanted the dogfish destroyed, but did not want to turn into dog fishermen themselves. They thought the government should undertake a campaign of destruction. Before the Halifax award, the American fishermen, with heavy and large seines, had depleted the Canadian mackerel fisheries. He thought if this could be done by Americans with mackerel, the Canadian government could do the same thing to the dogfish. The reduction works might be a good thing, but while they were being built the fisheries would be destroyed. The government should undertake a campaign at once. At least $25,000 should be devoted to the work immediately. The best is none too good—McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup is the original and genuine.

HON. R. LEMIEUX

Stirs up the Conservatives By Speech in London.

ENQUIRY IN HOUSE.

Solicitor General Inequant Over Article on Dundonald Matter.

The Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Solicitor General, now in England seems to have incurred the displeasure of his political opponents by a speech delivered at a Liberal demonstration in London. He is credited by the Conservative press with saying "Let well enough alone" in regard to tightening the bonds between the mother country and Canada. In parliament yesterday an enquiry regarding Mr. Lemieux's utterances was answered by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the effect that no man would care to be judged by an extract cabled as to what he said. It would be better to wait until they learned the facts about Mr. Lemieux. This seems a reasonable view to take of the matter. Another utterance of the Solicitor General that is causing considerable comment is as follows: "I read the Times article upon the Dundonald case with much indignation. The Times is always against the Laurier Government. It gives Dundonald's version of the case completely ignoring the Government side. There is no doubt, but that Dundonald is now playing into the hands of the Canadian Opposition in view of the coming elections. The meeting in Toronto was nothing else but a pretext to arouse the feelings of Ontario but rest assured there is enough common sense in Canada to understand the true position. Nothing is being left undone by Sir Frederick Borden to establish the efficiency of the Canadian militia. Canadian volunteers, both English and French, long ago learnt how to fight and to die for the Empire. Be sure, however, that unless the British Government recalls Dundonald immediately the bitterest feelings will be aroused in Canada against the Imperial military authorities."

MR. MARCIL'S SPEECH

His Address Calls Forth Many Encomiums

AT FIELDING BANQUET.

Some Appreciations to His Speech by Papers of all Political Parties.

Mr. Marcil, M. P. for Bonaventure answered for the Province of Quebec to the toast of "The Liberal Party" at the great banquet tendered to Hon. W. S. Fielding at the King Edward Hotel on July 11th. There were over 300 guests present and speeches were made by Messrs Fielding, Sir William Mullock, Paterson, Emmerson for the Dominion Cabinet, and Messrs Gibson, Harcourt, Davis and Stratton for the Ontario Cabinet. Here are some of the comments on Mr. Marcil's speech from papers of all political complexes: The Member from Quebec gained bursts of applause from his first words.—Toronto Globe (Liberal). Charles Marcil was the orator of the evening.—(Ind. Cons.) It is a great pity that the complete text of Mr. Marcil's fine speech has not appeared in any of the papers.—Catholic Record (Ind.) Charles Marcil was a good newspaper man. The Toronto papers say his speech at the Fielding Banquet was the best made during the evening. The member for Bonaventure is an Ex-Star man and we are proud of him.—Montreal Star (Conservative.) Mr. Charles Marcil, the eloquent young French Canadian orator, from Quebec, in a speech of rare fine diction and loftiness of sentiment, fully justified the high expectations of his hearers in regard to him. His remarks in regard to the loyalty and tolerance and Canadianism of Quebec were received with most enthusiastic cheers.—Toronto Mail and Empire (Conservative.) The flagging energies of the company were revived at one o'clock to welcome Mr. Marcil, M. P. for Bonaventure, who replied for "The Liberal Party." "The Electors of Bonaventure have a hundred times reason to feel proud of their representative. Called upon to answer to the toast of the Province of Quebec at the Fielding Banquet in Toronto, he made the most applauded speech of the evening. We are most happy for our friend and County labourer as well as for the electors of Bonaventure, to declare that he has been able to conquer the esteem and admiration of the business men of Toronto, as he long since conquered our own and those of all who have been fortunate to listen to his warm, hearty eloquence wherever he has spoken and in any of the two languages."

CORNER STONE LAID

For the New Cathedral at Chatham.

INTERESTING SERVICES

A Large Number of Priests and Others in Attendance.

The ordination of Rev Frederick Ryan, of Kouchibouguac, was performed by Bishop Barry at the Pro Cathedral, Chatham, on Sunday in the presence of a large congregation. The following priests assisted at the ceremony: Very Rev L. N. Dugal, V. G., St. Basil; Very Rev Joseph Pelletier St. Louis; Very Rev. Stanislaus Doucet, Grand Anse; Rev William Varnly, Bathurst; Village, Rev H. T. Joyner, Chatham; Rev M. A. O'Keefe, Grand Falls; Rev E. P. Wallace, Campbellton; Rev J. J. McLaughlin, Chatham; Rev W. Conway, Chatham; Rev L. O'Leary D. D., Chatham; Rev M. Richard Chatham. Rev Father McLaughlin preached an eloquent sermon on the occasion exhorting the incumbent to pray that he might faithfully undertake and perform the duties and responsibilities of the priesthood, and the congregation to aid him by their prayers. After the celebration of mass, by His Lordship, the parents and immediate relatives of the newly ordained priest went to the altar rail and received his first blessing. In the afternoon the ceremony of blessing and laying of the corner stone of the new cathedral was performed by Bishop Barry. A large congregation assembled in the basement of the new building, where a platform was erected for the Bishop and priests officiating. Rev M. A. O'Keefe preached in a clear voice, so that all could hear him. He explained the origin and constitution of the church, and the promises made to it and pointed out the rock on which it was built and its indestructibility; how it had outlived all other institutions and had witnessed the rise and wane of empires and states, itself unchangeable. The corner stone was laid on the east side of the building. St. Michael's Band played appropriate music. The old corner stone which was laid about 26 years ago by the late Bishop Rogers was removed to the west side of the main building, above the last window to the south, and the box containing coins and other articles deposited at the time the old stone was laid at the site on the west side of St. John street, is with the old corner stone.—Chatham Commercial.

MURDER AND ARSON

A Terrible Tragedy in Carlton County

FIRE THE HOUSE

Thomas Cammack Shoots One Man Dead and Wounds Two Others

Bath, N. B., July 18.—A terrible shooting affair occurred last night at Rutherglen, a settlement below Johnville and Glassville, in the parish of Kent, when Thomas Cammack of Johnville shot his brother-in-law, Wm Doherty of Rutherglen, dead and wounded another man whose name is not known, and after the shooting burnt the house, together with his victim. Deputy Sheriff Foster has gone to the scene of the tragedy. Jealousy was the cause of the affair. Cammack is married to the wife of J. Boyd, now serving a term in Dorchester penitentiary for assaulting a young girl, and for setting fire to the Woodstock jail. After receiving his sentence by Judge Vanwart, Mrs. Cammack went to reside with her father, known as "Strawhat" Doherty. About one year ago, having had some trouble with her husband, Cammack at that time threatened to shoot all in the house, and was subsequently bound over to keep the peace. It now seems that she again went to reside at her father's and that there was a young man who now and again paid her attention and was at Doherty's on Sunday night. When Cammack arrived early this morning at the Doherty residence he was enraged, and first set fire to the house; the inmates not being aware of his presence there, and when they attempted to escape Cammack fired on them and shot Wm Doherty, the son of "Strawhat" Doherty and the brother of his wife, dead and wounded two others. Further investigation into the murder of Wm Doherty by Thos. Cammack, clearly shows that the whole thing was carefully planned before hand. Before making an entrance to the Doherty house he tied the doors. This and the fact that the house was fired so quickly after the murder, leave little room for doubt that the crime was premeditated. On being run down by the Deputy Sheriff and his posse, Cammack discharged his revolver into his own head, inflicting injuries from which it is feared he will not recover. The latest report from the doctor in attendance says that Cammack cannot live longer than 24 hours. Use Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) to wash woollens and flannels,—you'll like it.

A Tangled Web

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust," "By Another Name," "Her Heart's Idol," "Half a Truth," "His Rival."

"At a station midway to Paris he got out, a small valise in his hand. The detective followed. It was early afternoon, and a few passengers were waiting. The suspected thief went into a first-class carriage, with small dark mustaches, a low-crowned brown hat, such as Englishmen wear in the country, and a long loose overcoat. He came out at a station some ten miles off in a sort of frock coat, rather shabby, braided and fitted badly, a soft black felt hat pulled over his eyes and a large light mustache; his overcoat was hanging on his arm, and he still carried his valise. There he waited some time, reading a paper, which he held before his face, and finally, as it began to grow dark, he took a third-class ticket to Paris, my employe traveled in the same carriage," she turned a page. "It is too long to tell her he tracked him that night to an obscure street in the Marais, to the shop of a Polish Jew dealer in precious stones, where he had a long party, and saw a diamond stud, which he had grown perfectly colorless, but the hand which he took up the stud was steady."

"And what does this prove?" he asked. "That Clifford Marsden, of Evesleigh Manor, is a felon!" she answered, force exclamation lighting up her face and gleaming in her eyes. "Do you think I did not recognize the peculiar setting of the diamond which caught my hair in that walk—that walk?"

"She stopped, her breast heaving. 'I know I lost this stud,' said the unlucky evening, and never could find it; but why should not the robber have picked it up, if he found it, as we have probably did, in the tent?" "You are a brave man to face me as you do!" she exclaimed. "But I told you in my hand," and she clinched it. "I will tell you who found it, and where! Your sweet, beloved daughter, when paying me a private visit in my room, snatching my ball-dress, espied the glitter of that diamond among the lace on the body, where it had dropped when you struggled to stupefy me with your horrible chloroform. Me, the woman you had been making love to ten minutes before—who was ready to give you all she had—you base midnight thief!"

"Do not be so positive. Might it not have fallen among your lace as we danced together, or when I was assisting to lift you?" "No, no, no!" she cried, as if carried out of herself, and speaking with immense rapidity. "I saw it on your breast when you left me, and Nora, your Nora, told me you never touched me! It is useless denying your guilt. Waiter, the detective, know you, before he started to pursue you. He was with you at Amsterdam, in Paris, at Chantilly, when you went to your sick friend De Maudouin. He tracked you, he can swear to you, I have said."

"I have no love to give!" said Marsden in a low tone. "I have done with love, and I have done with anger and love. 'Oh! I can save you! I will save you! if you promise to give me the love I long for! Can I not win you by such service as man never had offered him before? I can save more than your life!'"

"I have no love to give!" said Marsden in a low tone. "I have done with love, and I have done with anger and love. 'Oh! I can save you! I will save you! if you promise to give me the love I long for! Can I not win you by such service as man never had offered him before? I can save more than your life!'"

"What are you going to do, Marsden?" she asked. "You would not murder me?" He laughed a strange, discordant laugh. "I am blackguard enough," he said; "but I would not hurt a hair of your head. No! It is useless to contradict your assertions. You have me, indeed, in your grasp, and there is but one way of escape."

"He moved to the door, but she was too quick for him. Setting her back against it she stretched out her arms to keep him off. 'You shall not kill yourself! You are bad, and base, but you belong to me—you belong to me, Marsden—you shall not leave me!'"

"What is life to me?" asked Marsden, with a calm despair. "A dishonoring shackle! The sooner I am rid of it the better. I can not struggle with you. If you have any pity, let me go!"

"I will not! I can not! Oh! Marsden, how I have hated you! You have been an unspeakable fiend! To rob me, that you might shake me off and marry my rival. Yet, and her eyes softened as they rested on his fine face, so rigid in its despair, on his attitude, grand even in its oppressive abandonment, 'with all, I can not let you destroy yourself! If I could hope that gratitude would awaken anything like affection, tenderness!'"

"I am not worth saving," interrupted Marsden, speaking more coldly. "He began to calculate chances. 'I have done a dastardly deed. I never saw its full baseness till I was found out. You have been a faithful slave. You do not show much of a moral nature to work upon; but I have so much decency left that it is torture to be under your eye, to hear your just reproaches. I do not ask you for mercy. If you choose to call a policeman, do so. You would be in my right. I will not resist.'"

"He held his arms and stood quiet still. 'And do you not know I should tear my own heart to pieces, if I let you go? You have been a faithful slave. You do not show much of a moral nature to work upon; but I have so much decency left that it is torture to be under your eye, to hear your just reproaches. I do not ask you for mercy. If you choose to call a policeman, do so. You would be in my right. I will not resist.'"

"You are a woman any man might love," he said, "and as you wisely admit that men can love two or more (we are generally broader than women, some women), you shall have all the love left in me, of my life-long gratitude you may be sure. You are making a sorry bargain, I warn you. I shall never be the same again, but if you care to be Mrs. Marsden of Evesleigh, so be it!"

"Ah! you are simply selling yourself! And what a price I pay!" "Not by Heaven! I am grateful, and I always admired you! Even that night, when I clasped your neck, I felt inclined to kiss the pretty white throat that was so velvet soft to my acridulous touch!"

"And why did you not? Had you brought back consciousness by your kiss and confided your difficulties to me, all would have been well!" cried the infuriated woman, throwing herself into his arms. "For the moment Marsden was moved and really grateful, though a bitter sense of being sold into slavery tinged his feelings of relief."

"How could you be so fascinated by Nora L'Estrange?" asked Mrs. Ruthven, still leaning against him and looking up in his face. "She never could understand you as I do, she never could share your feelings as I can."

"She is what she is," said he shortly, "and has been an infinite misfortune to me." "I am glad you see it," Mrs. Ruthven sat down on the sofa and signed to him to sit beside her. "I trust you, Marsden," looking intently into his face. "I think so. Dictate your own terms, settle everything on yourself—everything of mine that is available. I shall never feel more than a dependent on your charity."

"Do you remember an engineer, a Mr. Colville, calling here and speaking to me of his little girl, who was my god-daughter?" "Yes, Shirley was here." "That man was Walter. I wanted him to see you. I wanted to test the completeness of his disguise by defying Shirley's recognition. Shirley found him for me."

"Good God, has Shirley any suspicion?" "Not the faintest. Do not doubt, I took every precaution to shield the name I might possibly bear. I wait, oh, how impatiently hoping you will find me, then I should have hidden my knowledge even from you; but when I found you were going to marry Nora L'Estrange, to expose me to the contemptuous pity of all your world and mine, I was on the verge of getting a warrant of commitment against you. My release saved you. Ay, and saved me. Does not that make you intensely, with keen curiosity."

"A look of delight in the suffering she hoped to inflict gleamed in Mrs. Ruthven's large dark eyes. 'I must let you go, dearest,' she said, laying her hand caressingly on his shoulder, yet he fancied with a touch of reproach. 'But you will be sure to return to dinner, and be sure you do not go to the L'Estranges.' A lot of things he said better than an interview." "An interview? God forbid!" he exclaimed, with unmistakable sincerity. "How pleased Lady Dorrington will be," said Mrs. Ruthven, meditatively.

This stock is entirely too heavy, representing by actual inventory a cash value of over $500. During this month we shall have to place our orders for next season and it is absolutely necessary to reduce the stock at least one half. It is a big undertaking at this season of the year, but such a liberal offer should be of vast importance to people who have even one room that requires beautifying.

Our offer of 20 p. c. off all white and colored Lawn, Muslin and Cotton Shirt Waists had the effect of moving many of them out of the store, but we have too many yet. To clean up the stock before the end of the month, we now offer you any waist in the store at ½ off.

Walking Skirts 69c.

People will naturally wonder how we can afford to sell a fairly good quality Melton Walking Skirt at 69c., not badly made and of generous width. BATHURST NEWS.

Death of James Gammon on Saturday

EARLY CLOSING URGED

Events Weekly Budget from the Gloucester County Seat

Mr. James Gammon died in Bathurst on Saturday afternoon last after a few weeks illness from blood poisoning which it is reported was caused from the eating of canned goods.

Mr. Gammon was aged about 54 years and was always a good abiding citizen, well esteemed and popular in the community. He was a member of the Pilot Commissioner's board for a good many years prior to his death.

His funeral which took place Sunday afternoon was largely attended. Interment was in the Methodist cemetery, Rev Mr. Opie officiated at the funeral obsequies. The deceased gentleman was unmarried and survived by a number of sisters and brothers who have the sympathy of our town people in their affliction.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Melanson of Jacquet River spent a couple of days in Bathurst Village last week.

The side walk to the station bridge which for a long time remained in an impassible condition was repaired last week.

The schooner which is being offered for sale by Mr. John Legere was sailed from Shippegan to Bathurst last week and is now moored at the public wharf subject to inspection by intending purchasers.

Miss Nellie Power of North Tetagouche has accepted a position with Messrs W. J. Kent & Co. as saleslady.

Mr. Henry Arseneau who has been home for a visit to his parents here will return to Berlin N. H. next week.

While taking a bath on Monday afternoon, Mr. Hector Melanson had a sun stroke the effects of which confined him to his bed for a couple of days.

Store clerks are suffering much from the stifling heat and confinement during this hot period and a good many are on the sick list while some who are sticking to their post look as if they required more than a nerve tonic. A few early closing nights would not be amiss now particularly during the hot weather.

The crops seem to be thriving well under the passing conditions and there is a general opinion that the farmers will reap a good harvest. Fruit of all kinds promise to yield in abundance.

It would take up too much space to mention the comments on the weather that is common with the people during the past couple of days.

Mr. W. J. O'Brien is at his home in Bathurst after a long absence in the west where he holds an important position with the C. P. R. Company.

NEW CARLSLE

The people of Hopetown and Shigawake had an entertainment of an unusual kind Monday evening. Dr. de Wolfe of Paspébiac gave a lecture in the Presbyterian church Hopetown on "Tuberculosis" of the lungs or consumption, a curable and preventable disease. The church was well filled and the audience appreciative. It was felt that the doctor's serious discussion of the nature, cause and cure and prevention of consumption, in the light of the many historical, scientific and experimental illustrations given, made a really valuable contribution to the knowledge of the people. It meant nothing less than this, that if the facts had been understood and practiced years ago many who are now numbered with the dead should be among the living.

Such important and necessary information as was contained in this lecture deserves the widest circulation, and I have no doubt that the doctor's effort so well begun, if encouraged may be repeated in other places.

RIVER CHARLO

On Saturday las. Mr. James Cook was hauling a load of steel for the steel bridge, which is being erected on the north branch of Charlo River with a team and truck. When coming down the hill commonly known as McLean's Hill, some of the load slid forward on the horses which caused them to run away. They dashed furiously on until they struck the temporary bridge when Mr. Cook was thrown violently out one of his legs was so badly fractured that it had to be amputated a little below the knee. Great sympathy was felt for Mr. Cook.

Mr. James Calderwood after an absence of thirty years in the States gave his friends a very agreeable surprise by his unexpected arrival last week. He intends to breathe his native air again for the summer months.

Mr. Jackson has erected a sawmill on Charlo Point to cut lumber for Mercot & Co. River Benjamin.

Mr. R. J. Miller has disposed of his mill site on the opposite side of the Bay, and is building a large and very substantial saw mill on the shore at Black Lands.

JAS P. DOYLE

On Tuesday July 5th, at Jacquet River N. B., there passed away, in the person of Mr. James P. Doyle one of the oldest resident of that section of the country, as well as one of the most prominent and highly respected among the business men of Restigouche. Well known by all the old New Brunswick lumber manufacturers. Mr. Doyle leaves among them a high record of business integrity, social affability and gentlemanly dealing.

His friends and acquaintances throughout the Province regret his too-early removal although he had reached the good age of seventy-five years, and to his children and other near relatives his loss is a keen one. The funeral took place at 8 a. m. on Thursday morning July 7th from late residence of deceased to St Gabriels R. C. church High mass was sung by the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Purcell, who delivered a touching "in memoriam" sermon. Eulogistic words were also spoken by the Rev. T. Van de Mortel of Belledune.

The pallbearers were, Mr. Patrick L'Heureux, Mr. Alexander J. Melanson, Mr. Fidele Elstiger, church wardens of St. Gabriel's (of which body deceased was also a member.) Mr. James Brown, Mr. Peter Lawlor and Mr. John Morrissey.

A Russian Guardship Has Passed Through the Bosphorus.

London, July 18.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard in a despatch dated July 17, says:

"The Russian guardship Chernomorz passed through the Bosphorus from the Black Sea this morning."

The Chernomorz is a gun vessel belonging to the Black Sea fleet and carries two 8 in. guns, one 6 in gun and seven quick firing machine guns. She is equipped with two torpedo tubes and carries a crew of 160.

The Standard's Tokio correspondent, July 17th, says the Jiji Shinbun in an editorial expresses the hope that Great Britain will see that Turkey lends Russia no assistance by allowing steamers of the volunteer fleet to pass the Dardanelles.

The Jiji Shinbun declares Great Britain is bound under the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance to prevent such assistance being given.

London, July 18.—Almost without exception the newspapers this morning in editorials or otherwise comment upon the "Russian volunteer fleet steamers passing the Dardanelles and the government is urged to take action especially for the protection of British commerce in the Red Sea and neighboring waters."

Special despatches from Berlin echo the feeling of irritation that exists in London.

London, July 18.—A despatch from Aden to the Daily Mail says that the Captain of the British steamer Wapara reports that the Russian volunteer fleet steamer St. Petersburg signalled him to stop by firing across the bows of his vessel on July 15, while twenty miles off Jeddah, in the Red Sea. The Russians examined the papers of the Wapara and declared they would hold the ship as a prize.

The captain protested and was taken on board the St. Petersburg, where he gave the Russian officers a guarantee that there was neither arms nor ammunition on board the Wapara. The Russian captain then allowed the vessel to proceed.

The captain confirms the report that the Peninsula & Oriental Company's steamer Malacca was seized in the Red Sea July 16th by the St. Petersburg on the ground that she carried arms and ammunition of war for the Japanese government.

St. Petersburg, July 17.—The news that the Russian volunteer steamship Suolensk and St. Petersburg, now cruising in the Red Sea, are stopping ships of neutral nations and searching them for contraband of war is causing the liveliest interest in all circles. Russia has evidently weighed the question, believes herself to be within her rights and neither fears nor anticipates international complications. Indeed, some of the powers may have been sounded by Russia on the subject.

THE ADVENT OF THE BALTIC FLEET.

New York, July 18.—A despatch from Tokyo says a leading Japanese journal declares the advent of the Baltic fleet will be welcomed by the Japanese as Port Arthur will certainly fall before its arrival and the fleet therefore will have no base except the ice bound port of Vladivostok. The same journal says, however, that it is difficult to see how the fleet can accomplish the voyage without French assistance. The Japanese, it is added while trusting France fears that the struggle between her duties as neutral and her loyalty to her alliance may produce complications involving the extension of the area of war which would be most regrettable.

Has Located the Islander.

New York, July 16.—A despatch from Tacoma says that Capt Finch, manager of the Neptune Salvage Company, has located the wreck of the Canadian Steamship Islander, which was sunk in Alaska waters in August, three years ago, carrying down nearly a hundred passengers and the crew, besides half a million of Klondike treasure. Finch succeeded in using a steel diving cage invented by Capt. Smith of Milwaukee. The cage was successfully used here in locating the

HELD UP BY UNDERTAKER

Relatives of Capt Peck Have an Experience

The bodies of Capt Peck his wife and daughter, who were drowned at Dry Tortugas (Fla.), arrived in Brooklyn (N. Y.) last Friday evening and was interred the following afternoon.

The Key West undertaker who prepared the bodies for burial insisted on cash payment before he would forward the remains. For his services he demanded $750. He did not feel prepared to accept a certified cheque or draft, and though the owners of the steamer

Mal, which Capt. Peck commanded once offered to let him hold the steamship as security, he refused. After he had received the money he communicated with Dr. Peck, the captain's son, respecting caskets and quoted prices ranging from $200 to $800. Dr. Peck consulted a Brooklyn undertaker and was advised to order the cheapest which was done and $600 was sent as payment for the three coffins, which brought the total expenses up to $1,350.

Mr. Weed, a Brooklyn lawyer, advised Peck to take up legal proceedings against the Key West undertaker, for his charges were considered exorbitant, but Dr. Peck and other members of the captain's family though agreeing with Mr. Weed that the sum charged was much too high, decided to take no action. The main object was to secure the bodies and give them burial.—Ex.

However he was brought to the Hotel Dieu Hospital where a successful operation was performed on Sunday and the young fellow is now improving as well as can be expected.
