General Meeting of Boer Leaders To Be Held May 15,

When a Final Decision on Matter of Peace Negotiations Is Expected—Rumors of Delarey's Surrender Unconfirmed.

Pretoria, May 1.—The general meeting of the Boer leaders, at which a final decision on the subject of the peace negotiations is expected, will take place at Vereeniging, Transvaal, May 15.

Gen. Delarey's commandos, under Commandant Kemp, will meet early next week to discuss the question of peace.

State Secretary Reitz, of the Transvaal, has had a meeting with Commandant Beyers, in the Pietersburg district, but the result, if any, is not known.

TOO PREVIOUS.

There is no truth in the reports circulated in the United States that Gen. Delarey, with three Boer commandos, has surrendered to the British in South Africa. The war office received dispatches from Lord Kitchener yesterday, but he made no mention of surrenders.

MERE RUMORS.

Operators on the stock exchange were busy with peace rumors, but they were all very intangible. Two Boer commandos were said to have surrendered. This, later, was supplemented by the New York report that Gen. Delarey and three commandos had given themselves up. As a matter of fact, Delarey arrived at Klerksdorp, April 24, and his commandos, under Gen. Kemp, were arranging to hold a meeting west ward of that place during the present week.

Mail advices from Pretoria to the Times urge the abandonment of the Englishman's cry for "unconditional surrender." The correspondent, who remarks that the vast majority of the Boers are now either prisoners, on parole, or inmates of burgher camps, also urges a broad-minded and generous conduct of South African affairs after peace is declared. He suggests that Great Britain on her own initiative promise representative government within five years, and in the meantime making crown government easier and less restrictive every year.

BOURKE COCKRAN TALKS.

W. Bourke Cockran, who has just returned to New York from a trip to Rome, Egypt and London, said that in his opinion, if the Boers will make an oral concession of defeat, the English will pay them almost any sum to restore their destroyed homes and repair the ravages of the war. In other words, he said, England is ready and anxious to pay a large sum of money to bring about peace about in South Africa.

PRINCESS GOES TO JAIL.

Cape Town, May 1. — Princess Radziwill, who has been on trial here before the supreme court on the charge of forgery in connection with notes purporting to have been indorsed by the late Cecil Rhodes, was sentenced to two years' confinement in the house of correction.

At yesterday's hearing of the charges of forgery, the defendant, testifying on her own behalf, swore that the notes were not forgeries, and said they were handed to her by Mrs. Schultz, whose husband died since the case was opened.

416 PERSONS WERE KILLED BY A TORNADO IN INDIA

Which Devastated the City of Dacca.

Murderer of the Russian Minister Sipiaguine to Die May 3.

White Star Steamship Line Is Included in the Great Combine—Chinese Paying Their War Indemnity.

Calcutta, May 1.—A tornado has devastated the city of Dacca and adjoining towns. Four hundred and sixteen persons were killed.

Crops were ruined throughout the district.

Dacca, a city in Bengal, is 150 miles northeast of Calcutta.

HISTORIC CHATEAU BURNED.

Duke Alexander of Oldenbourg's celebrated chateau of Romine, in the Government of Voronej, Russia, has been burned by revolted peasants, who practically ruined the estate. The duke is the father-in-law of the czar's sister, Olga, who married his son, Duke Peter, last year.

A Berne, Switzerland, cable says: The Gurnigelbad, a famous health resort, was destroyed by fire last night. The church alone escaped. There were no fatalities. The season had not begun and the establishments were unoccupied.

TO BE HANGED MAY 3.

St. Petersburg, May 1. — Balschanef, the man who assassinated M. Sipaguine, the Russian minister of the interior, April 15, has been sentenced to death. He will be hanged May 3.

INTERESTING EPISODE.

London, May 1. — The most interesting episode of the last 24 hours has been the breath of fresh air at the imperial function, the annual banquet of the Colonial Institute in Whitehall rooms. The speaking began after 9 o'clock and was perfunctory for two hours. Lord Grey as chairman opened the proceedings quietly, and there was nothing of exceptional interest.

PRINCE OF CANADA.

The Hon. Henry Copeland, representing New South Wales, suggested that the three sons of the Prince of Wales should have the titles of Princes of Canada, of Australia and of South Africa, and the daughter, Princess of New Zealand. Lieut.-Gen. Sir Leslie Rundle asserted that a good feeling had been brought about between the colonial contingents and the British army. The lord chancellor talked about the utility of parliament, and Lord Grey paid a tribute to the unselfish idealism of the late Mr. Cecil Rhodes.

COL. DENISON.

Much interest was created by the response of Col. Denison to the toast of the United Empire. He said that the empire was not united, that it was neither united nor organized for defence, and that the approaching conference at the coronation would be the most important event in the history of the British race. Canadians thought that the empire should be combined for defence and trade. War might come at any moment. Col. Denison said that what Canada would propose at the conference would be to put a tariff of 10 per cent on all foreign goods at every British port, not for protection, but for imperial defence. This, he said, would help to protect the trade of the empire with every other British port, and would stop the merciless competition and commercial war from foreign nations. If this tariff were put on and free trade established within the empire, the United Kingdom ought to be willing to make sacrifices. Premier Seddon, of New Zealand, certainly would be with Canada, and probably Australia also in presenting this proposition. Col. Denison's policy excited murmurs of dissent at first, but was applauded with great vigor at the close as a practical sequel to the tax on grain and flour.

THE WHITE STAR LINE.

The Right Hon. W. J. Pirrie is such a large holder in the White Star Line it is understood that the assent of the owners to the Morgan agreement is assured.

The Morgans, who had until today the option of confirming or withdrawing from the provisional agreement by which the White Star Line was to enter the Atlantic shipping combine, have notified that line of their intention to carry through their part of the agreement.

A Montreal dispatch says: Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., was asked today regarding the truth of the report from London that the railway company would be compelled to blacklist the Elder-Dempster steamship company on account of its opposition to the Morgan steamship combine. He said that the C. P. R. had nothing whatever to do with the steamship matter.

TROUBLE FOR FRANCE.

The Paris Temps' correspondent at Saigon, Fench Cochin-China, cables that disquieting news has been received there from Laos. Troubles have broken out in Me Kong district, near Vien Tian, and the Siamese Government has sent important bodies of troops there. The French minister has entered a protest. Serious difficulties are also reported to have occurred at Battambanga (Indio-China).

CABLE NOTES.

The report that the Colombian revolutionists have captured Rio Hacha is confirmed.

The House of Commons, after numerous divisions on the application of closure, adjourned at 20 minutes to 6 o'clock this morning.

The fourth monthly installment of the Chinese war indemnity, amounting to 1,820,000 taels, was paid on Wednesday. The southern viceroys recommend Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister at Washington, for appointment as head of the new bureau of foreign law.

Lord Strathcona, the Canadian high commissioner, on Wednesday received a deputation from Cardiff in regard to a direct mail service between England and Canada.

A cable from Rome says: It has been arranged that the American naval officers now imprisoned at Venice, shall be released today or tomorrow, conditional on the payment of civil damages amounting to $2,000. It is understood that King Victor Emanuel will exercise his prerogative to remit the imprisonment, so that, after a caution, they may leave tomorrow aboard the cruiser Chicago.

BOUGHT A FARM AND HANGED HIMSELF.

Lowville, N. Y., May 1. — James M. Ormsby, of Naumburg, formerly foreman in Bassetin's mill at Castorland, came here yesterday and bought a farm. He paid part of the purchase price and made arrangements to take possession. Today he hanged himself in the farm barn. He was 47 years old and is survived by a wife and five children.

ARMY BEEF CONTRACTS DISCUSSED

Minister of Agriculture Defends His Position.

The Cadets of the R. M. C. Will Not Attend the Coronation.

Postoffice Estimates for Outside Service—Public Opinion in Favor of Parcel Post.

Ottawa, April 30.—Before the house went into supply today Mr. Gus Porter, of Hastings, advanced the claims of the cadets of the Royal Military College, Kingston, to be permitted to send a detachment with the coronation contingent. The minister of militia replied that the G. O. C. has advised that it was not advisable to comply with the request.

Mr. N. Boyd, Conservative M. P. for Macdonald, Man., submitted an amendment censuring the government for not having made timely representations to the British Government with a view to securing the withdrawal of the provision in contracts requiring the beef to the imperial army on duty in the British Isles to be home-bred. The amendment was as follows: "That it appears from the form of tender and contract called for by the British Government for the supply of beef to the British troops in Great Britain and Ireland contractors are not allowed to supply Canadian beef for that purpose; that, although this exclusion has prevailed since the month of June, 1901, this house regrets that no steps have been taken by the present government to redress this grievance by making timely representations to the British government with a view of securing the protection of the interests of the farmers and cattle dealers of Canada."

MR. FISHER'S REPLY.

Hon. Sydney Fisher regretted that Mr. Boyd had made the motion as a vote of censure, and in placing it before the house had gone farther than justified by the facts. At the outset Mr. Fisher explained that he was in England when the regulation complained of was imposed, and it did not come under his attention until the early part of this year. The regulation was of such a nature that it was not published, and the government had not received copies of the contracts issued in the past. Mr. Fisher quite appreciated the injury which had been done to the Canadian industry by the exclusion of Canadian meat from the contracts for Great Britain. Immediately the matter came to the knowledge of the department representations were made to the war office by Lord Strathcona that the regulation was unfair, but no reply has yet been received. The department was in a somewhat peculiar position, however, as since this regulation was made contracts have been made in South Africa in which the war office has accepted Canadian beef. Through representations made by his department contracts have been sent to Canada for supplying both the army and navy, and Canadian contractors have been put upon the list, and contracts have been filled by Canadian contractors with Canadian meat. The department of agriculture has been endeavoring for some time past to secure contracts for Canadian contractors to supply what is wanted for the imperial service, and he hoped, from the representations which have been made already, and which are now being made, the disability would soon disappear, as he was confident Canadian cattle were as good as any other. With regard to the removal of the embargo upon our cattle entering England, from the repeated refusals given by the imperial minister of agriculture to the requests of Canada, and even of the London Butchers' Association, he feared there was no hope of success at present.

Dr. Sproule charged the minister of Agriculture with neglect of duty in regard to this whole subject of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

Mr. Bourassa said that if anyone had been neglectful it had been the Canadian high commissioner in London. Lord Strathcona was so busy complying with all Mr. Chamberlain's requests that he had not had time to attend to the interests of Canada. He declared that Mr. Fisher had neglected nothing while in England to affect English opinion on this matter.

Dr. Roche made a general charge of neglect of duty.

Mr. Monk insisted that the reason there was so little correspondence was that the minister of agriculture had not done anything.

Col. Sam Hughes defended the high commissioner from the insinuation of Mr. Bourassa.

The amendment was lost on a division by 98 to 51.

POSTOFFICE ESTIMATES.

This evening the estimates for the outside service of the postoffice was taken up. Dr. Sproule asked whether the postmaster-general intended doing anything further for the letter-carriers this year, as promised. Hon. William Mulock replied that the bill before the house contained all that it was intended to do in the matter. Mr. E. F. Clarke contended that while the bill enabled the letter-carriers to reach the maximum of $600 in four and a half years, instead of nine years, there was no increase provided for those who had already attained a salary of $600 a year. Hon. Mr. Mulock replied that the subject would be much more appropriately discussed when the bill itself was under discussion.

THE PARCEL BUSINESS.

Mr. George Taylor, M. P. of Leeds, called attention to what he considered an abuse of the postal system, the postoffice practically doing an express office business. Large departmental stores got voters' lists of various municipalities, sent catalogues to the voters, and in response to a letter would send a full set of samples of drygoods or other articles, which they can do for a few cents. People made their selection, sent their money and got their goods back by mail. This was a great injury to the country storekeeper. A large amount of mail now was made up of drygoods and other merchandise coming through the mails, which, he contended, should be used exclusively for mail matter, and not as a means of carrying on a retail and wholesale drygoods business.

Mr. Mulock replied that it was a matter of public opinion, but Mr. Taylor would not find public opinion behind him if he proposed to restrict the mails to postal matter only. That was not the practice over in England or in the United States. He did not know when the system was inaugurated in Canada, but it was many years ago, and no change had been made in any respect since the present government took office. This abuse had existed for years, and he did not remember having heard Mr. Taylor take exception to it earlier. He doubted if public opinion would support such a sweeping change. A person can send through the postoffice a small parcel for a couple of cents, which it would cost 25 cents to send by an express company. Mr. Mulock explained that as the heavier mails came into Toronto from the east, officials are sent down to meet the eastern trains on their way up and sort the letters in the trains, so that the letters can go out on the first delivery.

Having passed estimates amounting to $3,646,000 for outside postal service, the committee rose, and the house adjourned at 11:55.

The Opposition Leader at Forest—More Nominations—List Nearly Completed.

Port Dover, April 30.—Hon. J. R. Stratton addressed a crowded meeting in the town hall here last night, in the interests of W. A. Charlton. The minister dealt with the policy of the Ross Government, and spoke with great effect to an audience, many of whom were standing for two hours. It was one of the most successful political meetings ever held in this place.

Mr. Stratton was received with loud cheers. After paying high tribute to Mr. Charlton as a member of the house and as chairman of the committee of the whole, he pointed out that Mr. Charlton was a progressive man, a man who was active in the interests of his constituency and everything that went to build up Ontario, and the Government of Ontario was pleased to have such men as Mr. Charlton as members of the house. He was progressive and Ontario was progressive. Ontario was the pioneer leader in legislation and departmental work of all the provinces. Her legislation had kept pace with the time. Our crown timber regulations have been largely copied by the other provinces. Our Ontario fire act had been copied by Quebec, New Brunswick and British Columbia. Ontario was the pioneer province in the fire-ranging system. This had been copied by Quebec and New Brunswick, and the Dominion, as regards western timber lands, controlled by the department of the interior, and many of the United States had practically copied this system. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Stratton enumerated many other matters in which Ontario had been followed by other provinces and states. Mr. Charlton was a lumberman. He supported the government on all these subjects, which were for the benefit of the province. (Hear, hear.)

POLICY OF THE OPPOSITION.

In dealing with the province, Mr. Stratton stated that if the policy of the opposition had been carried out relative to succession duties, the supplementary revenue bills, and the escheated estates, the province would have been eight millions worse off than it is today. The record of the opposition in the house did not invite the confidence of the people. They had shown no capacity for financial administration, and they would not be supported by the people. He had no

Barge Goes Down and All on Board Are Lost.

Details of the Philadelphia Catastrophe in a Cigar Factory—Eight Girls Perished—Other Casualties.

CHATHAM MAN'S FATAL FALL.

Chatham, Ont., May 1.—Yesterday, at noon, George Maynard, a tinsmith, fell 30 feet from the top of a building being erected for O'Keefe & Drew, opposite the market, and fractured his skull on the sidewalk. A skylight frame was being hoisted, and he stepped out on the plank to which was attached the pulley, and between his weight and that of the skylight the fastenings gave way, and he was thrown to the walk. He was picked up unconscious, and conveyed to the hospital, where he died in an hour. He leaves a wife and three small children.

Michael Grote was severely crushed while unloading heavy lumber from the hold of the schooner Metropole at Piggot's lumber dock this afternoon. A pile of heavy material rolled on him in the hold and broke several of his ribs.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Two men were killed and another probably fatally injured yesterday morning, while being lowered to the bottom of one of the shafts of the new filtration plant in the southwestern section of the city. The dead are Wm. Yencey, aged 30; John Banks, aged 35; George Terwillite was so badly crushed that little hope is entertained of his recovery. The basket in which the men were riding was overturned. They were pitched headlong down the shaft and terribly crushed.

ALL LOST.

New York, May 1.—The tugboat Volunteer has reached this port, after having lost the barges Henry Hughes and Baxter off Penfield Reef. All on board the Baxter were lost, and one boy from the Henry Hughes also perished. The captain of the Henry Hughes, his wife and two children were rescued and returned to New York on the Volunteer. It is not known how many men were on the Baxter.

THREE SUICIDES.

Jackson, Mich., May 1.—Israel V. Cookingham, aged about 80 years, jumped from the tower of No. 1 fire engine house shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and was instantly killed. The deed was the result of worry over the necessity of moving to another house. Mr. Cookingham was one of Jackson's early prosperous business men, but met with heavy financial losses.

Troy, N. Y., May 1.—Eugene Hunter, while being removed from the Troy Hospital to his home in Pittstown, committed suicide by cutting his throat. He had been in the hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis, but became demented, and his removal was ordered by the physicians.

Detroit, Mich., May 1.—A more horrible death than that which Mrs. Adelaide Sage, of No. 363 Louise street, chose yesterday is difficult to imagine. She poured the contents of a can of kerosene all over her head, and applied a match to her hair. She died in a few minutes. Mrs. Sage was unbalanced mentally.

THE GORDONS AS AVENGERS

Pen Picture of the Terrible Bayonet Charge Led by the Dauntless Capt. Towse.

[Dundee Advertiser.]

When a few months ago I stood upon the veldt almost within the shadow of the frowing brow of Magersfontein's surly heights, and looked upon the cold, stern faces of Scotland's dead, and listened to the weird wailing of the bagpipe, whilst Cronje gazed triumphantly down from his inaccessible mountain stronghold upon his handiwork, I knew in my soul that a day would dawn when Scotland would demand an eye for an eye, blood for blood. I read it written on the faces of the men who strode with martial tread round the last sad resting place of him they loved—their chief, the dauntless Gen. Wauchope. Vengeance spoke in the somber fire that blazed in every Scotchman's eye. Retribution was carved large and deep on every hard-set Scottish face; it spoke in silent eloquence in the grip of each hard browned hand on rifle barrels; it found a mute echo in each knitted brow ,and leapt to life in every deep-drawn breath; it sparkled in each tear that rolled unheeded and unchecked down war-scarred checks, and thundered in the echo of the men's tread across the veldt, right up to Cronje's lines, as they marched campwards. The Highland brigade had gazed upon its dead, and neither time nor change nor thought of home or wife or lisping babe would wipe the memory of that sight away until the bayonets' ruthless thrust gave Scotland quittance in the rich, red blood of those who did that deed.

THE HOUR AND THE MEN.

That hour has come. The men who sleep in soldiers' graves beside the willow-clad banks of the Modder River have been avenged. Or, if the debt has not been paid in full, the interest owing on that bond of blood has at least now been handed in. It was not paid by our colonial sons; not from Australian or Canadian hands did the stubborn Boers receive the debt we owed. They were not Irish hearts that cleared old Scotland's legacy of hate on that May day amidst the African hills. It was not England's yeoman sons who did that deed, but men whose feet were native to the heather, men on whose tongues the Scottish burr clung lovingly—the bare-legged kilted "boys" whom the lasses in the Highlands love, the gallant Gordons.

Let the tale be told in Edinburgh Town; let it ring along the border; let the lass as she braids the widow's hair whisper the story with love-kissed breath; let the lads as they come from their daily toil throw out their chests for the sake of their breeding; let the pessimist turn up the faded page of history, written when the world was young, and find, if he can, a grander deed done by the sons of men since the morning stars sang together.

So to my tale. It was the 1st of May. We had the Boers hard pressed in Thaba Nchu in a run of kopjes that reached in almost unbroken quence farther than a man's eye might reach. The flying French was with us, chafing like a leashed greyhound because he could not sweep all before him with one impetuous rush. Rundle, too, was here, with his haughty, handsome face. Six thousand of the foe, under Louis Botha, cool, crafty, long-headed, resourceful, have held the kopjes. Again and again we maneuvered to trap them, but no wolf in winter is more wary than Botha, no weasels more watchful than the men he commanded.

HAMILTON SWEPT AROUND THEIR FLANK.

When we advanced they fell back; when we fell back, they advanced, and the merest tyro in the art of war could see that a frontal attack, unless made in almost hopeless positions was impossible. So Hamilton swept round their right flank, ten miles north of Thaba Nchu, and gave them a taste of his skill and daring, whilst Rundle held their main body here at Thaba Nchu. Rundle made a feint on their center in strong force, and they closed in from both flanks to resist him. Then he drew off as if fearing the issue. This drew the Boers in, and they pounded our camp with shells until one wondered whether the German-made rubbish they used would last them much longer. Then we threatened their left flank quickly and sharply, giving Hamilton time to strike on their right, and he struck without erring, whipping the enemy at every point he touched, driving them out of their positions, and holding them firmly himself, so threatening their rear and the immense herds of sheep and oxen they have with them, and making a footing for the British to move on and cut Botha off from his base at Kroonstad.

Whether he will now stand his ground and fight or make a break for the main army of the Boers is hard to calculate, for the Boer general does just what no one expects he will attempt to do. It was during Hamilton's flanking effort that the Gordons vindicated their character for courage. Captain Towse, a brave courteous soldier and gentleman, whom I have had the pleasure of meeting at Graspan and whose guest I had been on several occasions, was the hero of the hour. He is a fine figure of a man, well set up, good-looking, strong, active. He was, I think, about the only soldier I have seen who could wear an eyeglass and not lose by it. In age he looked about 40. I remember snapping a "photo" of him as he was "tidying up" the grave of gallant young Huddart, an Australian "middy" who lay buried on the veldt; but the Boers collected that portrait from me later on, worse luck. On this fateful day Capt. Towse with about fifty of the Gordons, got isolated from the main body of the British troops, and the Boers with that marvelous dexterity for which they are fast becoming famous, sized up the position, and determined upon a capture.

A LION IN THE TOILS.

They little dreamt of the nature of the lion they had snared in their toils. With fully two hundred and fifty men they closed in on the little band of kilted men and in triumphant tones called upon them to throw down their arms and surrender. It was a picture to warm an artist's heart. On all sides rose the bleak, black kopjes, ridge on ridge, as inhospitable as a watch-dog's growl. On one hand the little band of Highlanders, the picturesque colors of their clan showing in kilt and stocking, perfect in all their appointments, but nowhere so absolutely faultless as in their leadership. Under such leaders as he who held them there so calm and steady their forebears had hurled back the chivalry of France and had tamed the Muscovite pride, and they were soon to prove themselves worthy of their captain.

On the other side rose the superior numbers of the Boers. A wild and motley crew they looked compared to the gem of the British army. Boys stood side by side with old men, lads braced themselves shoulder to shoulder with men in their manhood's prime, ragged beards fell on still more ragged shirt fronts. But there were manly hearts behind those ragged garments—hearts that beat high with love of home and country, hearts that seldom quailed in the hour of peril. Their rifles lay in hands steady and strong. The Boer was face to face with the Briton; the numbers lay on the side of the Boer, but the bayonet was with the Briton.

"Throw up your hands and surrender." The language was English, but the accent was Dutch; a moment, an awful second of time the rifle barrels gleamed coldly toward that little group of men, who stood their ground as pine trees stand on their mountain sides in bonny Scotland.

CHARGE, GORDONS, CHARGE.

Then out on the African air there rang a voice, proud, clear and high as clarion note—"Fix bayonets, Gordons!" Like lightning the strong band gripped the ready steel; the bayonets went home to the barrel as the lips of lover to lover. Rifles spoke from the Boer lines, and men reeled a pace from the British, and lay where they fell. Again that voice with the Scottish burr on every note—"Charge, Gordons, charge!" and the dauntless Scotchman rushed on at the head of his fiery few. The Boer heart is a brave heart, and he who calls them cowards lies; but never before had seen a torrent of steel advancing on their lines in front of a tornado of flesh and blood. On rushed the Scots, on over fallen comrades, on over rocks and clefts, on to the ranks of the foe, and onward through them, sweeping them down as I have seen wild horses sweep through a field of ripening corn. The bayonets hissed as they crashed through breastbone and backbone. Vainly the Boer clubbed his rifle and smote back. As well might the wild goat strike with puny hoofs when the tiger springs. Nothing could stay the fury of that desperate rush. Do you sneer at the Boers? Then sneer at half the armies of Europe for never have Scotland's sons been driven back when once they reached a foe to smite.

How do they charge these bare-legged sons of Scotia? Go ask the hills of Afghanistan, and if there be tongues within them they will tell you that they sweep like hosts from hell. Ask in sneering Paris, and the red records of Waterloo will give you answer. Ask in St. Petersburg, and from Sebastopol your answer will come. They thought of the dreary morning hours of Magersfontein, and they smote the steel downward through the neck into the liver.

"INTO THEM WITH THE BAYONET."

They thought of the rows of comrades in the graves beside the Modder, and they gave the Boers the "haymaker's lift" and tossed the dead body behind them. They thought of gallant Wauchope riddled with lead, and they sent the cold steel with a horrible crash through skull and brain, leaving the face a thing to make fiends shudder. They thought of Scotland, they sent the wild slogan of their clan re-echoing through the gullies of the African hills, until their comrades far away along the line, hearing it turned to one another, saying—God help the Boers this hour; our Jocks are into 'em with the bayonet!"

But when they turned to gather up those who had fallen, then they found that he whose lion soul had pointed them the crimson path to duty was to lead them no more, the noble heart that beat so true to honor's highest notes was not stilled, but a bullet, missing the brain, had closed his eyes forever to God's sunlight, leaving him to go through life in darkness, and they mourned for him as they had mourned for noble, white-souled Wauchope, whose prototype he was.

BLIND.

They knew that many a long, long year would roll away before their eyes would rest upon his like again in camp or bloody field. But it gladdened their stern warrior hearts to know that the last sight he ever gazed upon was Scotland sweeping on her foes.

And when our noble Queen shall place upon his breast the cross which is the soldier's diadem, their hearts will throb in unison with his, for their strong hand, on that May day helped him to win what he is so fit to wear; and when our sovereign honors him she honors them, and well they know it. And when the years have rolled away, and they are old and gray and spent with wounds and toil, fit for nothing but to dawdle little grandbabes on their knees, young men and maids will flock around, and, pointing out the veteran to the curious stranger, say with honest pride—"He was with Towse the day he won the Cross."

DISASTER TO RACING TRAIN

Derailed While Going 65 Miles an Hour.

Four Persons Killed and Twenty-Three Injured—Well-Known Musician Killed.

Keokuk, Ia., April 30. — The California limited, on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, east bound, was derailed on a curve at Cama, a switch, five miles west of Medill, Mo., yesterday, while going at tremendous speed. Four persons were killed and 23 injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates were en route from Australia, and were with their children, eating in the dining car when the wreck occurred. The train was over an hour late and passed Wyaconda, the last station west, at the rate of 65 miles an hour. When the heavy train struck the curve at Cama, the rails spread.

The train consisted of two mail cars, seven Pullmans and one dining car, the mail cars, the dining car and the two forward sleepers went into the ditch. The tender was ditched, but the engine remained on the track. The derailed coaches were smashed to kindling wood, even the axles being bent out of shape. The conductor went on to a farm house and telephoned a report of the wreck. The railroad officials then hurried a relief train from Fort Madison.

THE DEAD.

—. Wertheimer, San Diego, Cal.

Little son of Henry C. Gates, Australia.

Rufus Buster, Chicago, waiter in dining car.

C. C. Fairbanks, Chicago, waiter in dining car.

The push-button telephone consists of a complete telephone, including transmitter and receiver, which, in appearance and actuality, is not much larger than the ordinary electic push-button. Where electric bells are already installed the push-button can be removed and the new instrument substituted in a few minutes without disturbing the existing wires, annunciators, bells or batteries. With it conversations have been carried on easily over 500 miles.

Your Blood in May Must Produce True Vitality or Disease.

Paine's Celery Compound

Expels All Winter Impurities and Poisons From the Blood and Builds Up the Entire System.

True health can only be maintained by keeping the body free from acid and sluggish blood and morbid waste matters. The blood that is pumped through the heart to all parts of the body, carries nourishment and health, or poison and the seeds of death.

Close confinement in badly ventilated offices, stores and workshops during the winter months, has lowered the vitality of tens of thousands. Poisons and impurities have been implanted in the blood; these agents of death must be expelled, if health would be maintained during the coming summer.

The month of May should be renovating and building-up time with the vast army of weak, debilitated and brokendown men, women and young people.

If the work of purifying and vitalizing the blood be longer deferred, eruptions, blotches, sores, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas and other dangers are sure to be your portion.

Paine's Celery Compound meets successfully at this season all unhealthy conditions of the blood. It is the only medicine that can guarantee perfect purification of the vital fluid; that can give true nutriment to the nerves and tissues; that can bestow new life, vigor and strength for the enjoyment of summer and the prosecution of life's duties. Mr. D. McMahon, Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I have great pleasure in testifying to the fact that Paine's Celery Compound has caused a remarkable change in my condition. I was troubled with a very bad type of eczema on my face, and in patches over my body for four years; and was under treatment of three doctors at different periods. I had also tried other remedies, but all proved useless. At last I bought a gottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and put in iodide of potassium, as recommended on the label. The one bottle did me so much good that I bought five bottles more, and now am happy to say I am perfectly cured, and completely free from the troublesome disease."

Connecticut has three sobriquets. It has been called the "Land of Steady Habits," from the sobriety and gravity of its people; the "Freestone State," from its enormous quarries of that description of stone, and the "Nutmeg State," from the tradition prevalent in surrounding communities over a hundred years ago that the chief industry of its inhabitants was the manufacture of nutmegs of wood, to be passed off on unsuspecting pur-

SEIZED AN ISLAND IN THE ST. LAWRENCE

Canadian Contractors Put Armed Pickets in Charge of Float Island.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 1.—Canadian contractors who are in dispute as to who has the contract for building the summer school on Float Island, in the St. Lawrence River, have seized the island and placed an armed picket guard in possession.

Last fall Rev. Dr. Ullman, rector of Trinity School, New York city, purchased the island, and granted certain contracts to Gananoque builders, who began work at once. Subsequently contracts were given to Brockville builders, who commenced work where the Gananoque men stopped.

The latter learning of the fact, appeared with a force of workmen. They tore down the work being done, drove off the Brockville men, and placed a guard on the island to prevent them from again landing on it. The courts have granted an ad interim injunction, the writ being returnable on May 6, and all work is stopped until it is decided who has the right to erect the buildings.

NEW VIEW OF CECIL RHODES

How He Appeared to a Young Woman Neighbor in Africa.

His Interest in Everything Pertaining to His Home Was Always Profound.

Notwithstanding the many public tributes recently borne to Mr. Rhodes' transcendent genius, it has occurred to me that some impressions of the quieter and sunnier side of his life may be interesting to those to whom this aspect of his character is little known.

Having lived for nearly six years in the home of one who was not only his near neighbor, but also his close personal friend, I have had many opportunities of seeing him in his home surroundings and everyday social life, and perhaps caught glimpses of that which the world that idolized or denounced him did not always perceive.

How well I remember the first time I saw him. It was one bright Sunday afternoon in March, towards the end of a Cape summer. My uncle, in whose house I was then living, had gone out, leaving me on the stoop, reading, and as he passed me he called out from the garden to tell me that if Mr. Rhodes came, as he often did on Sunday afternoons, he hoped he would wait, as he would be back almost directly.

I remember I had that day for the first time come across Walter Pater's "Marius the Epicurean," and was so fascinated with the book that I very soon forgot even the possibility of a visit from the great statesman, and half an hour later did not even hear his horse's footsteps on the gravel, and when I looked up it was to find myself face to face with the great man.

I ran down the steps and gave him my uncle's message, and then, feeling, as was natural enough, a little shy and nervous, stood stroking his horse's head while he chatted pleasantly about his ride along the mountains, apparently a little undecided as to whether he would go or stay. But presently he caught sight of the book under my arm, and this, I think, decided him. At all events, he swung his great figure leisurely off his horse, slipped the bridle over his arm, and began at once: "Ah, you've been reading that book—'Marius.' Well, you like, it, don't you? I like it. I had a copy of it once, but it was burned when my house caught fire the other day—I must get another." And then he began to talk in his happiest vein, simply and directly giving his thoughts about the book, and when my uncle returned some ten minutes later, I felt as completely at ease as if we had been old friends.

The incident is small in itself, but it seems to be very characteristic. The charm of the book had gone home to him, and happening to chance on someone to whom it had also appealed, he at once showed that almost impulsive responsiveness to a bit of idealism which was perhaps his greatest charm. After that I saw him often and in many varied surroundings. Sometimes on early summer mornings he would ride over before breakfast, and capture my uncle for a chat in the garden, and in the winter he would often come in on Sunday mornings and sit in the great arm-chair by the fire. Very often also my sister and I would spend long afternoons in the speaker's gallery in the House of Assembly; and although in late years Mr. Rhodes seldom spoke at any length, yet one never forgot that, politics apart, he was the and merely to watch him come and go, and to note the effect of his strong personality on the various members of the house, had an intense fascination for us. Sometimes also he would invite us to spend evenings at his beautiful home a mile away from our own, and these were red-letter days, for wherever he was, interests and human beings, not mere society devotees, gathered round him.

Although in one sense Mr. Rhodes could not be said to entertain much during the three winter months when the Cape Parliament was sitting, and which he always spent at Groote Schuur, yet in another sense he never ceased to do so. Every meal found him at the head of a table at which there was rarely a vacant seat, and every day brought its stream of innumerable callers who came to seek him for business or pleasure. All sorts and conditions of men—Dutchmen and Englishmen, working men, soldiers from all countries, hunters bronzed from the interior—flocked to the grand mountain home, and lounged on the marble stoop, and when night came the Nicodemuses would creep out from the shadows for a private talk with the man whose mesmeric power over other men never failed.

That it was at home at his own table that Mr. Rhodes was at his best, anyone who has been at one of the little impromptu lunch and dinner parties which he was in the habit of giving almost daily, knows well to be the truth. Even in ordinary conversation he because he was a perfectly independent thinker, and whatever the subject, one was always sure of hearing something fresh and original regarding it. Though brimful of information on almost every subject, yet he never talked above the heads of his guests, and was full of the little every-day events of life which go to make up the sum of most people's experience.

Every now and again, however, a half-finished sentence or sudden word would reveal the man as he was, and one realized how completely he was ruled by the great dominating idea of his life, and how, day by day and hour by hour, he dreamed his dream:

By heath, and cliff, and pine,
Of empire to the northward, aye one land
From Lion's Head to Line.

On Sundays in the winter Mr. Rhodes usually dined in the middle of the day, and generally invited a good many friends to supper in the evening. It was always a particular delight to us to be invited to this meal, as on these occasions the ladies did not leave the table for the drawing-room, but remained in the dining-room while the gentlemen smoked and listened to or joined in conversation.

It is very commonly believed that Mr. Rhodes was a "woman hater," and there are many little stories, amusing enough in their way, which give color to the report. One of these, the truth of which I am able to vouch for, is quite delightful.

"Oh, Mr. Rhodes," cried an impulsive lady to whom he had shown some kindness, "your garden is beautiful. How I should love to come and walk in it by moonlight!"

"By all means come," replied her host cordially; "come to-morrow evening," adding a little slyly, "I leave for the north to-night."

But I do not think he resented anything that was straightforward and simple. A certain young lady—it is only fair to say she was a very young lady—asked him one day if he would tell her "quite truly"

WHY HE HAD NEVER MARRIED.

"Certainly I will tell you," he replied without a moment's hesitation. "It is this way: When I was a young man, and ought to have been married—when I was in the mood, so to speak, to get married—I was so poor that I could not afford it, and now, since I have been richer—well, upon my honor, I have not had time to think about it!"

It is quite true that, and especially in late years, probably due to the same trouble which eventually caused his death, he was sometimes irritable and somewhat exacting, particularly when anyone annoyed him with some shallow remark or unkind gossip, and I have no doubt that this often occurred in his relations with women as well as with men, but I can only say that during the five years in which I saw him constantly, I can never remember a single instance in which he was otherwise than perfectly courteous and kindly to those who accosted him with reason and simplicity.

And perhaps I may add that, when one remembers how many English ladies there are to whom Mr. Rhodes has shown the greatest kindness—who have stayed at his house for months at a time, and been treated in every way with the greatest consideration and generosity—it seems a little puzzling to understand why such a report has ever been allowed to be commonly accepted as true.

I have just touched on

MR. RHODES' GREAT LOVE OF NATURE.

It was, indeed, one of the strongest influences in his life.

I remember meeting him one morning in his beautiful grounds at Groote Schur, and saying impulsively, perhaps a little thoughtlessly, that I felt sure that no one loved his garden as I loved it.

I can recall his curious, half-wistful smile, and his quiet words: "Ah, well, perhaps so, but you must let me run you pretty close."

Mulzenberg, the little village on the sea-coast where he died, he had always loved.

And it is good to remember that, although the little cottage in which he breathed his last was bare and comfortless—hardly more, in fact, than a slight wooden shanty, close to the road, and near to all the noise of the railway line, yet from his bed he must have been able to lie and look out on a scene of unrivaled beauty, to watch the sun rise over the pale gray tops of the distant Blaawberg mountains, and to note "the crimson shell burn gray" over the ocean at sunset.

Very beautiful is a little story which I once heard told of Mr. Rhodes by Mr. G. Wyndham. Beautiful, because it contains the simple expressions of a great thought, said quite simply, and without any desire to produce effect, in private to a friend.

Mr. Wyndham told how, during his last visit to Africa, they rode together on to the summit of a hill in the Matoppos, which commanded a view of 50 miles in every direction.

Circling his hands about the horizon, Mr. Rhodes said:

"Homes; more homes; this is what I work for."

And the work will not be in vain. Already homesteads are springing up on every side of the great country which bears his name, and in them will arise a new generation who shall call his name blessed.—Westminster Gazette.

"PE-RU-NA IS OF ESPECIAL BENEFIT TO WOMEN,"

SAYS DR. M. C. GEE, OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Mrs. E. T. Gaddis, Marion, N. C., is one of Dr. Hartman's grateful patients. She consulted him by letter, followed his directions, and is now able to say the following:

"Before I commenced to take Peruna I could not do any hard work without suffering great pain. I took Peruna, and can say with pleasure that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken. Now I am as well as ever; I do all my own work and it never hurts me at all. I think Peruna is a great medicine for womankind."

MRS. E. T. GADDIS.

Dr. M. C. Gee's Experience

Dr. M. C. Gee is one of the physicians who indorse Peruna. In a letter written from 513 Jones street, San Francisco, Cal., he says:

"There is a general objection on the part of the practicing physician to advocate patent medicine. But when any one medicine cures hundreds of people, it demonstrates its own value and does not need the indorsement of the profession.

"Peruna has performed so many wonderful cures in San Francisco that I am convinced that it is a valuable remedy. I have frequently advised its use for women, as I find it insures regular and painless menstruation, cures leucorrhoea and ovarian troubles and builds up the entire system. I also consider it one of the finest catarrh remedies I know of. I heartily indorse your medicine."

M. C. GEE, M. D.

Miss Rose De la Sen, 16 Windsor avenue, Windsor, Ont., Secretary of the French Women's Clubs of Ontario, Canada, writes:

"I have been a sufferer from ovarian troubles for over four years, which caused me excruciating pains at times and life looked very dreary to me. My family physician and other doctors prescribed for me, but failed dismally in relieving me, but I am pleased to state that after years of suffering I have been entirely cured by your woman's friend, Peruna."

Mary F. Bartholomew, St. Francisville, Ill., says: "About twelve years ago I was afflicted with female trouble, (pelvic catarrh.) I doctored with several skillful physicians, but kept getting worse until I became bedfast. I was in this condition about two years, under the attendance of four physicians, I got no better during this time. Finally, looking over Dr. Hartman's female book I concluded I would write for advice. I am not sorry I did so. I owe my life to Dr. Hartman and Peruna. My friends and neighbors never expected to see me well again."—Mary F. Bartholomew.

Diseases Peculiar to Women.

This title includes a number of the most distressing affections to which humanity is liable. The symptoms set up by the various phases of female weakness are very numerous, and in no two cases exactly alike.

The most prominent and universal symptoms are bearing down pains, dragging sensations in abdomen, backache, leucorrhœa, nervousness, periodical headaches, sleeplessness, dizziness, loss of appetite and painful or suppressed or profuse menstruation.

For all of these symptoms, as well as for the condition that causes them, Peruna is a reliable specific, and at once relieves every case. It will not fail in a short time to permanently benefit these derangements. It will, finally, entirely cure a great majority of them after all else has failed.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

American ribbon looms are being imported by Swiss manufacturers. These looms are much more expensive than those made in Switzerland, even leaving freight and duties out of the account; but the manufacturers find it profitable to use them because of their great solidity of construction and the much larger amount of work they do.

Railway Strikes and Lockouts.

Mr. Mulock has given another token of his deep interest in industrial problems and his progressive tendencies as a legislator. The abolition of the sweating system in Government contracts was one of his first official acts. Following this came the creation of a Bureau of Labor, Mr. Mulock himself becoming head of the department. It aims at the adjustment of labor disputes by conciliatory methods, and has already performed an important service, several lock-outs and strikes on a large scale having been averted through the mediation of the deputy minister of labor, Mr. King. Mr. Mulock now purposes going a step further in the same direction by making compulsory the arbitration of differences between railway companies and their employes. It will readily be seen that in their relations to the public the railway interests are on a footing different from other business enterprises. A strike in a manufacturing establishment, for instance, concerns directly only the two parties to the dispute, though the community suffers indirectly. A strike or lock-out on a railway system, however, is not merely a matter between the company and its employes. It directly affects the public convenience. Business of every description is deranged, and the lives of passengers may be endangered through the employment of inexperienced men to replace the strikers. The conditions are the same whether it is a trunk line or a street railway. The public is exposed to injury and has a right to protect itself. The fact that each party to the quarrel considers itself in the right does not alter the situation for the community, but in order that justice as far as possible may be done between a company and its employes it is proposed that a tribunal be appointed with power to summon witnesses, call for the production of documents, and take other steps necessary to a full investigation.

The bill is not to be passed until next session, so as to allow ample time for discussion and reflection. There is little doubt it will find almost unanimous favor among the employes, but the companies may not be so favorably disposed. The measure may be attacked on theoretical grounds as an infringement of the principle of freedom of contract, but with the public fine theories count for little against such conditions as a railway strike creates.

Good Men in Politics.

At the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of London and Hamilton, one of the speakers called for "good men and true in politics." He said: "Men who would exalt righteousness were needed, men who would secure the right."

Where would the Synod look for better men than those who have composed the Ontario Government during the past thirty years? Start with Ontario's Grand Old Man, Sir Oliver Mowat, whose opponents sneered at him as a Christian politician. Through all his long term of office he was surrounded by "good men and true"—the brilliant orator, Hon. C. F. Fraser, a man of sterling integrity, whose department erected the Parliament buildings within the estimates, and not one dollar of expenditure was objected to; Hon. A. S. Hardy, efficient and trustworthy in whatever position he occupied; Hon. A. M. Ross, of Goderich, Hon. T. B. Pardee, of Sarnia, Hon. George W. Ross, Hon. John Dryden, Hon. Richard Harcourt and Hon. J. M. Gibson, all colleagues of Sir Oliver Mowat. Among the present Ministers, Mr. Ross is a prominent Presbyterian; Mr. Dryden, one of the foremost Baptists in Canada; Mr. Davis, a pillar in the Methodist Church; Mr. Harcourt, an active Anglican, and Mr. Latchford, a representative Roman Catholic, and a fine type of the Irish-Canadian as well Whenever a moral question such as prohibition comes forward, a few always claim that both the great political parties are humbugs. As a matter of fact, the division of opinion in the Synod of London and Hamilton, over the prohibition issue, reflects the feeling among the mass of sincere temperance men everywhere. It is not a question upon which a thinking, earnest man will take an arbitrary attitude. Only a narrow egotism will lead one to say, "I am right; those who do not see eye to eye with me are working for evil." The late Rev. D. J. Macdonnel advised a union of temperance men and total abstainers. This was done, and the policy of the last thirty years has brought its blessings, not due to those who demanded all or none, but to those who progressed steadily year by year with reasonable practical demands. Is the good man and true today to go back to the policy that failed thirty years ago, and would have left us worse, as the years went on? It seems to us that the rational moral reformer will rather say: "The record of the Government in temperance legislation meets with my approval. I will hold fast to the good obtained, not go back to the days of thirty years ago. I will not create a cleavage between the out-and-out prohibitionist and the temperance man. I can accomplish much more by their union."

Let those who ask for good men in politics lay their hands on any wrong acts on the part of Sir Oliver Mowat and his associates and successors. General statements are easily made; it will be harder to give particulars. More, it will be difficult for a minister of any denomination to amend the laws of Ontario so as to cause them to make to a greater extent "for righteousness" than they now do. We do not confine this claim to temperance legislation. It applies with equal force to every question within the Government's jurisdiction. They realized the magnitude of their responsibility and were true to their trust.

The triumph of the Waldeck-Rousseau Ministry shows that there is a lot of hard sense in France yet.

Public money has largely helped to build Canadian railways, and if money talks, the public should have some say as to how the railways should be run.

Canadian steel shipbuilders ask that foreign-built ships shall not be allowed to register in Canada. Uncle Sam has a law of that kind and it has nearly driven the American flag from the ocean.

The order of the British War Office that all beef for the army must be home-bred is, of course, a measure of protection for the British cattle-raisers. It is an injury to Canada, but we don't see that the Canadian protectionists have any right to complain. It is the application of their own theory by another country.

Will the Free Press please tell when and where the Provincial Government gave away "hundreds of thousands of square miles of the richest part of Ontario" without consulting the people's representatives? It must refer to the action of Sir John Macdonald's Government in parceling out the timber limits of New Ontario among its friends before Sir Oliver Mowat prevented the steal.

Mr. J. W. St. John, of piggery fame, is running again in West York, and is hurling great chunks of language at the Government. Says he: "I regard the Ross referendum as a delusion and a snare; a new creation, vicious in principle, perfidious in design, deceitful in aim, a repudiation of the principle of responsible government, and a monument to the memory of a broken pledge." There's chaste eloquence for you! Mr. St. John's friends always did maintain that he was the greatest orator in Vaughan township.

Some Real Magazine Poetry

[Nixon Waterman.]

Oh, the weird, wank wail of the billy-goboing,
And the shriek of the whimperin' loon;
And the shimmering sigh of a dragonfly
On the thitherward side of the moon.
And the shuddering shud of a river of mud,
And a drug and a hardware store;
And the next day it snowed and the next day it blowed,
Not any, none, never no more.

Oh, the drip, drip, drip, drip, of a leaky ship,
And the boy, oh, where is he?
I don't care a cent which way he went,
For I got my salaree.
And there ain't no ship and there ain't no shore,
And there ain't no earth nor air;
And there ain't no nothing any more,
Nor ever was anywhere.

Oh, the wheels go round and round and round,
But the curfew shall not ring,
For the purple cow is dreaming now
In a bright red grape-vine swing.
I am not mad, nay, never a whit,
But I'm onto my job serene,
For I'm trying to think of some lines to fit
A high-class magazine.

A City Child.

[Harper's Magazine.]

Some days the faces on the street
Are clouded all, and dull;
And near or far not one I see
To call it beautiful.

Oh, heavy, heavy is my heart,
And is the spirit blind?—
That I am stricken with a doubt,
Because of humankind.

Until I rest my looks upon
Some cart-horse standing by,
With patient forehead, weary mane,
And uncomplaining eye.

And pat him on the brow I do,
Because I have a mind
To thank him, just that he will be
So beautiful and kind.

Literary Crisis.

There is nothing so hollow as pens,
There is nothing so gloomy as ink,
When a man is obliged to think of something,
And doesn't know what to think.

There is nothing so blank as paper,
There is nothing so void as a brain,
When a man has an hour to think up a thought,
And has thought for an hour in vain.

I know how a ghost must feel
As he tries with his fingers of air
To convey a mouthful of good beefsteak
To the mouth that isn't there.

SOL. SMITH RUSSELL LOVED HIS WORK

Began at the Bottom of the Ladder and Missed Very Few Rounds.

Sol Smith Russell once told the story of his sucessful career—he accumulated $2,000,000—to a Chicago newspaper man thus:

"I began at the bottom of the ladder and I certainly haven't missed many rounds," said Sol, as he drew on the blue jeans overalls in which he appeared in the second act in "Peaceful Valley." "I made my first appearance something more than twenty-five years ago down in Cairo, Ill. That was during the war. I was then fourteen years old. I thought I was fortune's favorite when I got $6 a week, and I don't know but I'd be willing to take that now if I could have as good a time as I did then."

After adding a little color to his complexion to give it the touch of brown suitable to the farm laborer, Hosea Howe, Russell continued:

"My career has been a clear case of evolution. I reached the drama in 1880. I began by combining with a play my songs and variety business. My first play was 'Edgewood Folks.' After that I went to Boston and followed William Warren in some of his characterizations at the museum. I next appeared in 'Felix McKusick.' After that I played 'Pa,' Bewitched' and 'A Poor Relation.' I mention these different plays as steps I have taken, for if I am anything I am a progressive actor and have made my gains one step at a time.

"I've always been reaching for the thing just beyond me; the ideal that ever allures and eludes, and so have realized my own deficiencies more than the public have seemed to.

"I am no playwright. Of course I invent business and that sort of thing, but that is all. I am always most interested in the thing that I am going to do next. I have no especial favorites among the things I have done. It is the thing I am doing and am going to do which commands me.

"You ask if I don't at times get tired of my work. No; as long as I am able to please the public I never find my work irksome. In fact it is my pleasure; there is nothing I enjoy as much."

To see Russell off the stage was simply to see him in another and most attractive character. The quality that made him a favorite with the public for so many years was not assumed, but innate. He was simple, direct and modest.

His break-down occurred one night in Chicago. He had just finished an engagement in Detroit, and started another in Chicago, playing "Hon. John Griggsby." In the second act he stammered, hesitated, made several attempts to recover his lines, failed, and was led from the stage. It was his last appearance.

TURNED THE TIDE

In half an hour after Mr. Lavers took the first dose of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart he was on the road to permanent recovery.

"I was under treatment with some of the best physicians in London (England) for what they diagnosed as incurable heart trouble. I suffered agonies through pains about my heart, fainting spells, palpitation and exhaustion. As a drowning man grasps at a straw, I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first bottle relieved me greatly, and when I had used two bottles all the symptoms of my heart trouble had left me."—A. Lavers, Collingwood. 91

AN AUSTRALIAN BUSH TRAGEDY

Strange Disappearance of One-Time Resident of London.

Robert McKenzie and His Companion Believed to Have Perished in the Mad Race for Gold.

The following letter and newspaper clipping have been received by Postmaster Baird, of Kincardine. The victim of the "Bush" tragedy thus brought to light was apparently at one time a resident of this city, and it is possible that he may be remembered by some old resident. The letter is as follows:

Cock O' the North G. M.,
Laverton, Western Australia,
1st March, 1902.

Dear Sir,—I am in search of information regarding the relatives of one Robert McKenzie, who emigrated to Canada when quite an infant with the rest of the family about the year 1857 and it is believed he hailed from the Island of Skye and the family settled in the Province of Ontario. Robert was apprenticed to the Coach Building trade in the town of London, Ont. Mr. McKenzie, sen., started in business, but after a time gave same up to go in for agriculture and also acted as interpreter in a settlement composed chiefly of Gaelic origin. The mother's maiden name was Kerr, whose brother David Kerr and a John McKenzie were wheat merchants, and a brother of Robert was at one time managing a saw mill somewhere in Vancouver, B. C., or Fraser River, B. C.

Robert, on the termination of his apprenticeship, obtained work at his trade in San Francisco and after remaining some time removed to British Columbia and other places to take up mining in partnership with a cousin and ultimately took up a large area of land in Vancouver, B. C. He left Vancouver early in the eighties for New Zealand in a vessel called the Astrakan, remaining only a short time and was in Sidney with a cousin in about 1882. He left Sidney and was employed by the Queensland Government at Ipswich near Brisbane making railway carriages, also was engaged at Roma, Queensland. He then went and commenced a croach building business in Pirie St. Adelaide, S. Australia, and carried on a branch shop at Glenelg, S. Australia. After this he went to Port Darwen about 1884 or 1885, and was engaged prospecting a gold reef. He left this place and went to the Kimberley diggings, W. A., arriving there about 1886 and followed the various gold rushes until 1882, when he arrived at Nannine, W. A. Coolgardie then broke out and Robert in company with James Ross, Andy Clemens, Mick Morisey and C. Grant, started for and arrived at Kalgoorlie, and when Hannans Kalgoorlie was discovered in 1894. Robert went through and returned to W. Margaret district and was engaged prospecting and managing mines until he left on this the last and fatal trip on July 21, 1901.

This epistle may seem rather long, but being an old friend of the poor man's I am axious to find his relatives and write you in the hope that you may be able to give me some information and a letter to the above mine will find me. I may say that I am leaving a party of bushmen to try and discover his remains. Inclosed you will find an extract from the paper describing the trip which I thought would be well to insert in your local paper. Thanking you in anticipation, I am yours truly

WILLIAM KERR.

P. S.—I may mention that the cousin left Sydney about 1883 and returned home to Canada. W. K.

PAPER EXTRACT.

A telegram was received last Tuesday from Lake Way reporting that the search party who went to look for Bob McKenzie and his mate had returned. The remains of Coltman have been found, and also the camels and clothing and boots which were owned by McKenzie. There can be no doubt that McKenzie has perished, but his remains have not been found. When he left Laverton he had Alick Dempster for a mate, but it appears they separated. McKenzie was afterwards joined by Coltman.

CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

There was a large attendance at the market this forenoon. The farmers, in a large number of instances have completed their spring seeding; consequently we may expect larger markets than has been the case during the past few weeks.

Hay and Straw—Thirty-two loads were on the stand, selling mostly at $8 50 to $9 per ton; the demand is fair. Straw is plentiful, at $3 to $3 50 by the load, or $6 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was in large supply, at 17c to 18c per lb for best crocks, and 18c to 19c for pound rolls in basket lots. Eggs are in good demand, with prices about steady, at 11½c to 12c per dozen for crate and basket lots, and 13c by the single dozen.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes were not so numerous as on Tuesday; today's offerings were quickly purchased at 70c to 75c per bag by the load, and 80c was paid by the single bag. Rhubarb sold at 35c to 40c by the dozen bunches. Onions, lettuce and radishes, 20c, 25c and 30c per dozen respectively.

Apples—Scarce at prices quoted.

Poultry—Not a great deal on sale, with prices steady at 65c to 80c for dressed chickens, and 45c to 60c per pair for live ones. Turkeys sell at 12c to 13c per lb.

Dressed Hogs—There was a larger number offered today than at any time since winter; sales were good at $8 50 to $8 75, nearly all at the last named figures.

Live Hogs—Prices for Monday next have not been settled; they will, however, be about $6 40 to $6 50 per cwt. for singers.

A number of export cattle were weighed on city scales yesterday. They were purchased by Mr. J. Gillson; from 5c to 5½c per lb. was paid for the same; several bulls sold at 4½c to 4¾c per lb.

Meats—There was quite a lot on sale, principally veal, with prices as quoted.

No change in hides or skins has been made this month.

ROUSING RALLY AT PORT ROWAN.

Port Rowan, Ont., April 30.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the South Norfolk Liberal Association was held in the Masonic Hall here yesterday afternoon to listen to addresses by their popular member, Mr. W. A. Charlton, and Hon. J. R. Stratton, provincial secretary. After the election of officers Chairman Killmaster delivered a short address, and was followed by Mr. Jonathan Ellis, of Port Dover, and Mr. John Alton, who were well received. Speeches were also made by Messrs. Wm. Sutton; T. R. Atkinson, who spoke highly of the provincial secretary as an able financier; Olive Austin and John Murphy, all referring to the valuable services of Mr. Charlton to his constituents.

MR. CHARLTON.

Mr. Charlton received an ovation from his constituents as he arose to address them. After referring to the timely remarks of the previous speakers, he went on to deal with the cry of the Conservatives, "It's time for a change." He, for one, would say that a government that acted contrary to the interests of the people ought not to be kept in power for three months, but he could not see why a government that has such a record as the Liberal Government of Ontario should not be in power for 50 years if they had done right in the public interest. But the opposition has not been able to point out a single reason why the government should be turned out. During the past 30 years the Liberals had placed on the statute books of Ontario the best laws in the world. Such had been the lifework of Sir Oliver Mowat and his fellow-Liberals. Mr. Charlton then gave figures to show the growth of agriculture and the agricultural population of Ontario. He had himself been in a town of New Ontario with the late Mr. Hardy, and he had seen there millions of acres of arable lands, which were now being developed by the Ross Government. Mr. Charlton said he believed Premier Ross was the biggest statesman in Canada today, and one whom all people must honor if they were true to themselves. He was a temperance man, and he was glad to see that the Liberal Government had done so much to reduce the liquor licenses in Ontario. In 1875 there were 6,185 liquor licenses issued in Ontario, while during the last year the number had been reduced by gradual legislation to 2,945 licenses.

Mr. Charlton then paid a tribute, amid applause, to the provincial secretary, describing how he had run his great department since he had accepted the portfolio. Mr. Stratton was a business man. He then explained some of Mr. Whitney's peculiar attacks on the educational system of Ontario. He concluded by showing how the Ross Government were carrying out their policy as business men should, and resumed his seat amid applause.

Political Notes.

The convention of the Halton Liberals was held at Milton, when the nomination of John R. Barber was adopted unanimously.

The socialists of South Toronto nominated S. A. Corner to oppose J. J. Foy (Conservative) and W. B. Rogers (Liberal) in that constituency for the legislature.

James Reid, ex-M.P., is again the Conservative candidate for Addington.

Ottawa Conservatives nominated Messrs. C. Berkeley Powell and Dennis Murphy.

Hamilton East Conservatives chose Henry Carscallen as their candidate, while Mayor J. S. Hendrie is the nominee of West Hamilton Conservatives.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell will speak at New Dublin in favor of the candidature of the Conservative, Mr. D. O'Brien, nominee for Brockville.

Associate Justice Morrison, of the Newfoundland Supreme Court, will resign his seat on the bench to re-enter politics.

Mr. J. P. Whitney addressed a large meeting in Forest, on Wednesday night in the interests of Mr. P. D. McCallum, Conservative candidate for East Lambton.

Dainty little Laura Marshall presented Mr. Crawford, ex-M.P.P. for West Toronto, with a gorgeous bunch of roses, and was rewarded with a kiss.

Mr. Whitney received also a beautiful bouquet at the hands of little Jean Dillon. Mr. Whitney went over the same ground as in his previous speeches, and made the statement that every bye-election but one of the nine held since the last general election had been carried by the opposition, but had been stolen.

A Delicious Diet for the Banishment of Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

The value and importance of Malt Breakfast Food as a diet for Dyspeptics is becoming more apparent each day. The happy record of dyspeptics being cured by Malt Breakfast Food instead of nauseous drugs, will cheer the heart of many a poor sufferer. Indigestion and dyspepsia are results of overtaxing the stomach and digestive organism with indigestible and faulty nourishment.

Malt Breakfast Food sooths and strengthens the inflamed and irritated stomach. It has a most beneficial influence on the torpid liver by quickly giving new power and life to this organ; it enriches the starved blood, and brings the whole digestive machinery into one harmonious combination. The happy results may be summed up as follows: Healthy appetite, increased energy, greater vitality and good health. If dyspepsia is making life a misery for any member of your family, have the sufferer use Malt Breakfast food for a couple of weeks. Your Grocer will recommend it.

THE LABBY LIBEL SUIT

Action Brought by Lord Suffield Settled.

Combine Will Have to Pay a Big Price for White Star Line.

Methuen Lamed for Life, But the Wounded General is Steadily Convalescing.

LIBEL SUIT SETTLED.

London, May 1.—The Libel suit brought by Lord Suffield against Henry Labouchere, growing out of a statement made in Truth reflecting upon the former, was settled this morning. Mr. Labouchere withdrew all the imputations on the honor of Lord Suffield, who expressed himself as being more satisfied with this statement than he would have been with a verdict in his favor.

PRICE OF WHITE STAR LINE.

According to the Liverpool Post, one-third of the £34,000,000 of the capital of the shipping combine will be required to liquidate the White Star Line interests. The paper also says that a substantial proportion of the preference shares will be handed over to the owners of the White Star Line, who will also get £3,000,000 in cash for the sale of debentures.

METHUEN A CRIPPLE.

London, May 1.—Official advices from South Africa state that Lord Methuen is steadily convalescing, but it is believed that he will be lame always as a result of the wounds he received in the fight with Gen. Delarey's force prior to his capture by the Boers.

THE BOER CONFERENCE.

It is officially asserted that subsequent to the deliberations of the Boer leaders at Vereeniging they will proceed to Pretoria and deliver to Lord Kitchener their decisios in regard to the peace terms they are prepared to accept.

THE BEST TEACHER

The Lessons of Experience Are the Only Lasting Ones.

An Ounce of Practical Demonstration Is Worth a Pound of Theory—True in Everything It Is Peculiarly So in the Treatment and Cure of Disease.

To whom should we listen in the babel of voices all around us, crying "this way for help." "Here is a Cure," "I have a remedy."

It is little wonder indeed that the poor, sick, suffering one becomes confused, and often because of the obvious inability to believe in all, refuse to believe in any.

But there is one unfailing guide to a wise choice.

No matter what theories are advanced, or what claims are made, the test of actual experience and results is the one that demonstrates beyond doubt the truth or otherwise of the theory or the claims made.

The proprietors of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do not ask anyone to accept their statement that this remedy will perfectly and permanently cure dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have been made and sold for years. They have been applied to many of the most serious and long-standing cases of Dyspepsia, and they have never failed. Upon their record only is judgment asked.

What has cured thousands of others should be worth your consideration.

Thousands have declared, and do declare, that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have cured them, and that after everything else had failed.

Listen to the voice of experience, that never-failing guide, and it will point you to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets as the sure cure for your stomach trouble.

The greatest and best lessons you have ever learned have been taught you by either your own experience or that of others.

Be guided by the happy experiences of so very many who positively declare that they were as ill as you have ever been, and that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have made them well.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"ALPHONSE AND GASTON."

In the forthcoming engagement of "Alphonse and Gaston," the new musical farce, which comes to the New Grand next Monday evening, the public is promised handsome scenic embellishments, elaborate costumes, novel electric effects, and a large company. The book, by Frank Dumont, is written in his happiest vein. The plot is interspersed by pleasing musical numbers and clever specialties. The company contains some 30 odd farceurs, among whom are John Tierney, John Price, Swift, the Mozart Comedy Four, George Scotty, Miss Ada Deaves, May Courtney, Louise Latour, Marty Moore and a chorus of captivating young ladies.

"ALL ON ACCOUNT OF ELIZA."

Louis Mann and Clara Lipman, two of America's popular stars in the field of comedy, make their first appearance in this city at the New Grand on Tuesday evening next, in "All On Account of Eliza," the farcical comedy written especially for them by Leo Ditrichstein. The stars are well fitted in their present success. Mr. Ditrichstein has, of course, taken his title from the catchy song of the same name in "Billie Taylor." The pretty song of the charming opera is, however, no more cleanly and free from offensiveness than is Mr. Mann's and Miss Lipman's new play.

A PERMANENT CURE

After Four Years Mr. Brown Swear That He Has Not Since Had a Sign of His Old Trouble.

Oshawa, April 28.—The famous case of Joseph Brown, of the Oshawa Malleable Iron Works, has proven two things:

First—That Dodd's Kidney Pills are the most wonderful remedy ever offered to the sick and suffering, and Second—That the cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills are not simply temporary relief but permanent, complete, and satisfactory cures.

Mr. Brown's sworn statement that he has not been off work a day since Dodd's Kidney Pills cured his helpless paralysis four years ago is the strongest kind of evidence.

THE PHILADELPHIA DISASTER.

Philadelphia, May 1.—An accident to a deaf and dumb man named Baccus was responsible for yesterday's disaster at the cigar factory of Harburger, Homan & Co., a branch of the American Tobacco Company, at 10th street and Washington avenue. Some 1,200 persons were at work there at the time of the accident, almost all young girls. Baccus, who was janitor, went after a ball of twine on an upper floor and pulled the rope to bring the elevator down. The elevator descended and he was caught between the hoist and the floor. A stock boy released him and cried for help. Immediately there was a panic among the employes. Some of the younger girls fainted, while other cried "fire."

Instantly there was a mad rush for the exits, and the windows, and many of the girls were trampled on and crushed, while others jumped from the window, to the street 50 feet below.

The dead are: Mary Geneva, aged 15 years; Helen Tolini, aged 12; Annie Rossleheider, aged 18; Louisa Despei, aged 16; Ida Green, aged 18; Annie Ford, aged 13; unidentified woman, about 25 years old, whose body is at the morgue.

Fatally injured: Mary Mesino, injured internally, skull fractured; Josephine O'Reornco, injured internally; unidentified woman, fractured limbs.

DR. ROBT. HARBOTTLE HAS BEEN PARDONED

Shot a Man Who Teased Him—Prisoner Served Three Months of a Sentence of One Year.

Toronto, May 1.—Dr. Robert Harbottle, of Burford, who was sentenced in January last to twelve months in the Central Prison for shooting a man named Stewart, has been pardoned. A telegram was received in Brantford yesterday from Ottawa, that the governor-general had ordered his immediate release.

Warden Gilmour, of the prison, when spoken to by a reporter last night, said he had not yet received the order, but there was often some delay in these matters. The doctor was in good health, he said, and had been acting as orderly at the prison.

The particulars of the shooting are familiar. Dr. Harbottle is of an eccentric disposition, and had been subjected for some months to a number of petty annoyances at the hands of his fellow-villagers on account of his pro-Boer views. When one morning Stewart started to tease him on the street he drew a revolver and shot him. Fortunately Stewart received onl ya scalp wound. A good deal of feeling was worked up over the case at the time, especially in the Brantford district.

It will cure the pains and aches of the entire family, and relieve a vast amount of suffering every year.

PILES — ITCHING, BLIND OR BLEEDING.

Symptoms: Moisture; intense itching and stinging, most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. Swayne's Ointment stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists' or by mail, for 50 cents. THERE IS danger in neglecting a cold. Many who have died of consumption dated their troubles from exposure, followed by a cold which settled on their lungs, and in a short time they were beyond the skill of the best physician. Had they used Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, before it was too late, their lives would have been spared. This medicine has no equal for curing coughs, colds and all affections of the throat and lungs.

Ordinary Corn Cures are Dangerous

because they contain acids, but Putnam's Corn Extractor is entirely vegetable in composition. It is perfectly painless, safe and sure to cure.

MOTHER GRAVES' Worm Exterminator does not require the help of any purgative medicine to complete the cure. Give it a trial and be convinced.

BICKLE'S ANTI - CONSUMPTIVE SYRUP stands at the head of the list for all diseases of the throat and lungs. It acts like magic in breaking up a cold. A cough is soon subdued, tightness of the chest is relieved, even the worst case of consumption is relieved, while in recent cases it may be said never to fail. It is a medicine prepared from the active principles or virtues of several medicinal herbs, and can be depended upon for all pulmonary complaints.

MAY DAY STRIKES ARE ON AT NUMEROUS POINTS

Thousands of Workmen Lay Down Their Tools.

A Number of Toronto Builders and Carpenters Go Out.

Artisans of Many Classes on Strike in the United States and in the Old World.

Toronto, May 1.—May Day opens with over 1,000 artisans in Toronto on strike for higher wages. These embrace seven trades. In two, representing some 115 men, the strike has already been in progress for several days, but in the remainder, including the bricklayers, carpenters, carriage workers, wood-working machinists, and lathers, the decision to quit work was arrived at only last night upon the failure of negotiations with the employers. The most important in its effect upon the public will be the strike of the bricklayers, necessitating a cessation in the building trade at the most active time in the year, at a period, too, when an unusually large number of buildings are in course of erection. Following is a list of the strikers:

Bricklayers	350
Carpenters	350
Carriage workers	175
Wood-working machinists	80
Lathers	50
Jewelers (already out)	75
Street railway mechanics (already out)	40

The bricklayers asked 45 cents an hour, and the employers would grant only 42 cents.

MACHINISTS AT KINGSTON KICK.

Kingston, Ont., April 30. — Seventy machinists employed at the locomotive works went on strike today. The company concede all that the men demand except to reduce a man named Graham who was promoted, and to refuse to promote others. The machinists object to the promotion of laborers who have not served an apprenticeship being placed on machines.

WINDSOR PLUMBERS.

Windsor, Ont., May 1.—At a meeting of the Plumbers' and Tinners' Union of Windsor last night it was decided to declare a strike in all union shops in the city. The strike went into effect this morning. The men made a demand only a few days ago for an increase in wages, which was reduced. About 35 men are affected by the strike.

BUILDERS' LABORERS.

Halifax, N. S., May 1.—The builders' laborers, numbering about 60, went on strike this morning for 20 cents an hour. They were getting 15 cents.

STRIKES IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, May 1. — Two May Day strikes were inaugurated here today, but the number of men involved is not large, owing to a good proportion of the employers having agreed to the demands for increased wages. The plumbers and steamfitters to the number of 200 and tinsmiths and roofers to the number of 125, are out, and 200 stonemasons will go on strike tomorrow if their demands are not acceded to, and within a week 700 ironmolders will go out if in the meantime their wants are not granted.

1,300 NOW ON STRIKE IN TORONTO

Toronto, May 1.—The men ordered out by the various labor bodies responded promptly to the call this morning, and with those who were previously out there are now over 1,300 idle workmen in Toronto.

QUIET AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa, Ont., May 1.—May Day opened in Ottawa without a ripple in labor circles. The various building trades are all at work. The painters who were locked out a few weeks ago have nearly all returned to work, the difficulty with the bosses having been adjusted.

Over the Border.

LARGE ARMY OF IDLE MEN.

New York, May 1.—Machinists and benchmen in a dozen large saw mills in Jersey City went on strike today for a uniform rate of pay of $2 50 for an eight-hour day. The strikers number 1,260.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 1.—Two thousand men employed in the building trades went on strike this morning for an eight-hour day and increase of wages.

Buffalo, May 1.—It is estimated that more than 2,000 skilled laborers are on strike in Buffalo today. Most of these are carpenters, a few structural iron workers and the rest are plumbers. The carpenters, who are receiving 30 cents an hour, demand 37½ cents; the plumbers demand $3 50 per day, an increase of 50 cents, and the iron workers ask for 50 cents an hour. Most of the contractors have conceded the demands of the structural iron workers, but a few of the smaller ones are holding out.

12,000 TO 15,000 OUT AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 1.—May Day was ushered in with strikes in most of the building trades for reduction in hours, more wages and adjustment of trade conditions. It is estimated that between 12,000 and 15,000 men are out. Numbers of the leading architects of the city have stopped the receipt of estimates on new work and on some important contracts, already placed, they have notified the contractors of indefinite delay. Work aggregating $10,000,000 is being held by the labor trouble. On account of the carpenters' strike the largest planing mill operators have agreed to close their shops pending a settlement of the trouble.

CONCILIATION COMMITTEE AT WORK.

New, York, April 30.—After spending two entire days in an endeavor to arrive at a settlement of their differences, the anthracite coal operators and the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, who were brought together by the good offices of the National Civic Federation, have again referred their troubles to the committee on conciliation of that body. When the committee will meet for the purpose of taking the matter up has not been definitely settled. The probability is that the meeting will take place either Friday or Sunday of the present week.

Plainfield, N. J., May 1.—The men of all the building trades went out on strike today. All the carpenters, painters, paperhangers, tinners and plumbers have joined the movement. The men presented terms for increased wages last night, and as the bosses could not agree to their terms the strike was decided on.

In the Old Land.

ROME TRANQUIL.

Rome, May 1.—The usual May Day demonstrations have thus far been perfectly orderly throughout Italy. About 15,000 workmen participated in a meeting here.

STEVEDORES AND SEAMEN QUIT.

Copenhagen, May 1.—The trades unionist workmen employed at the free port of Copenhagen have suspended work, in sympathy with the dock laborers' and seamen's strike against vessels belonging to the Steamship Owners' Federation. The latter strike was further extended today to all the Danish ports except Esbjorg, where the dock laborers refused to leave their work.

REVOLT IN RUSSIA.

Copenhagen, Denmark, May 1.—A dispatch to the Politiken, of this city, from Russia (filed on the German frontier), announces that the labor population of the whole district between Moscow and Vladimir, is in revolt. There have been numerous encounters between the workingmen and the troops, and many persons have been killed or wounded. A Uhlan regiment, commanded by Col. Moroseff, refused to act against the workingmen.

MAY DAY IN PARIS.

Paris, May 1.—May Day is passing quietly here, and there is little cessation of work.

Advices from the provinces up to the present record nothing noteworthy, with the exception of a state of general tranquility.

STRIKE NOTES.

The Windsor street car men have received a raise of 10 per cent in salary, and all fear of a strike is over.

TO SERVE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Another London Officer Ordered to Join Mounted Rifles.

Lieut. Uniacke, of No. 1 Co., R.C.R.I., to Have Commission in Last Contingent.

Lieut. Uniacke, No. 1 Company, R. C. R. I., received telegraphic orders yesterday to report at once to militia headquarters at Ottawa for the purpose of joining one of the regiments of mounted rifles about to be dispatched to Africa. In obedience to the order, Lieut. Uniacke left on the 4:35 Grand Trunk train for the east.

Although pleased at this recognition of his ability as an officer and a soldier, Lieut. Uniacke's numerous friends in London will deeply regret his departure from the city. He has been in residence at Wolseley Barracks only two years, but during that time he has earned the warm esteem of his fellow-officers and the respect and admiration of all ranks in the company.

Lieut. Uniacke joined the permanent force in 1899. Prior to that date, however, he had taken a deep interest in militia matters, and had held a captain's commission in the 66th Regiment of Halifax.

The Athletic Association of No. 1 Company will feel the loss of Lieut. Uniacke very keenly, for he always encouraged in every way the manly sports which flourish at the barracks. He is himself a cricketer of no mean ability and an ardent golfer, and as a revolver and rifle shot he has few equals in the Canadian service.

Vapo-Cresolene quickly cures colds, coughs sore throat, whooping cough and croup.

QUEEN'S OWN RIFLES MAY COME HERE 24TH

Message Respecting the Matter Is Momentarily Expected.

Communications have lately passed between the officers commanding the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto and the 7th Fusiliers respecting the celebration of the 24th of May, and a message from the former, as to whether or not the Queen's Own will come to this city to spend the day, is momentarily expected. The communications have been of a confidential nature, and until the message from Toronto is received nothing may be said as to the plans for the 24th. The Toronto Globe says that at the parade of the Queen's Own last night, "it was definitely decided that the regiment will go to London on the 24th of May, acepting the invitation of the 7th Fusiliers of that city."

RUSHING FOR BIG BARGAINS

Early Crowds Attend the Woods' Fair Sale—People Satisfied With Their Purchases.

Early this morning a larger crowd than usual could be noticed on the streets, and many wondered the reason. They were not long in suspense, for as soon as the doors of Woods' Fair were thrown open, the crowd very soon filled up every department of the large store. The anxiety to purchase the snap bargains soon created almost a panic, and the courteous clerks, who, although prepared for the onslaught with an increased force, had no expectation of such a demand being made for the goods advertised. Every department of the store was a scene of activity. Notwithstanding the heavy demand already made on the special 5c, 10c and 15c goods, the big store of Woods' Fair will continue for two more days offering bargains that reach the purse-strings, and bring delight to the housekeepers of London.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

Car Barns and Trolley Cars Destroyed by Fire.

Chippewa, May 1.—The car barns of the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway at Chippewa were consumed by fire Tuesday night. The barns contained eight or ten first-class trolley cars, which were all destroyed. The fire is supposed to have started from a live wire.

New York, May 1.—The West Thirtieth Street Presbyterian Church, founded by Rev. Dr. Samuel K. Burchard, of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" fame, is in ruins. The building took fire from an electric light wire. Rev. James H. Hoadley, the present pastor, rushed into the burning building and saved the records and the communion service. This was the fourth fire in the church edifice.

CHAPTER XXIX.

The next morning, when Mrs. Remington went down to her breakfast, she found her young servant, Jane, more smiling and affable than ever.

"I wur over to the —— Hotel last night, mum, to see my frind," she began, with a wise look.

"Ah! you said your friend was the cook there, I believe," Mrs. Remington remarked, eager to learn more, yet not wishing to appear curious regarding the visit.

"Yes, mum—Mollie O'Hara's her name. She have been cook there going on six years."

"I should say that was a good recommendation for her efficiency," the lady quietly returned.

"Yes, mum, she beez a first-rate cook; and, mum, Mollie says there beez somebody sick in the house."

"Indeed!"

Mrs. Remington flushed slightly with increasing interest.

"Yes, mum—a young leddy; she have been there three weeks or more, and she beez all alone—she have no frinds—only a strange nurse to take care of her."

"That is very sad," said Mrs. Remington, sympathetically. "Do you know what her name is?"

"Faith, thin, I forgit to remimber if Mollie towld it to me at all," replied the girl. "But she have been crazy ever since she wur took sick, and kapes shouting for her mother and somebody named Max—like the young gintleman, mum—to come and save her. They can't get a word more out of her to tell who she is nor where she came from; and," in a solemn whisper, "they say she ain't going to live long."

"Poor child!" Mhs. Remington said, tears starting to her eyes; and then, as Jane, having emptied her budget of news, retired to the kitchen, she fell to musing upon the sad circumstance of the young stranger's illness in a great hotel without any friends around her.

"I wonder," she murmured, "if it would do for me to go and make some inquiries about her. Somehow, I feel deeply interested, and yet I do not wish to appear officious. It certainly cannot do any harm for me to go to the proprietor, tell him what I have heard, and indicate my interest in this forlorn young girl. I am going to do so, officious or otherwise," she resolutely concluded, as she arose from the table.

Accordingly she dressed herself for the street, and repaired at once to the hotel where Agnes—for the sick girl was no other—lay ill.

The unfortunate girl had had a terrible attack.

The fever had run a long and tedious course, and she had been delirious every moment of the time.

The physician whom Mr. Harwood had summoned to attend her seemed to grow more grave every time he came, while the nurse daily affirmed that she "did not see how the pretty dear could possibly pull through."

"The frenzy is enough to wear her out, let alone the fever," she said; and it certainly seemed as if Agnes's strength must soon be exhausted, for, when not under the influence of powerful opiates, she raved incessantly for Max, or her mother, begging piteously of some imaginary foe to be allowed to go home and not have to stay out in such a dreadful storm so late at night; then, at times she would burst forth into that first wild cry:

"Don't let him come in—don't! don't!"

Mrs. Remington, upon reaching the reception room of the hotel, summoned a servant and sent her card to the proprietor, requesting that she might have a few moments' private conversation with him.

Mr. Harwood soon made his appearance before her, greeting her with his habitual courtesy.

She related what she had learned about the young invalid in his house, saying that she had been impelled by sympathy for her friendless condition to come and inquire if she could be of any service in the sick-room.

"I have a son whose name is 'Max,'" she said, with a slight smile, after telling him how she had been startled by hearing the sick girl call his name, "and when I heard her agonized cry it almost seemed as if a direct appeal had been made to me through it."

"You are very kind, madam," Mr. Harwood replied, in his friendliest tone. "I appreciate your interest and sympathy, but we are doing all we can for her; I have secured a competent nurse and physician, and I do not believe she could have had better care even had she been among her own friends. Dr. Raymond is considered very skillful, but I can see that he fears the worst. She came here under very peculiar circumstances, and she has never recovered from the shock she experienced upon realizing her unfortunate position."

The proprietor then related all that he knew regarding Agnes' trying experience with the man calling himself "A. Herbert."

"All this has served to aggravate and prolong her fever, which, but for this constant fear and dread, might have been controlled long before this, the doctor says. He thinks," the gentleman concluded, "if we could only discover her friends—if she could even see a familiar face, it might have a quieting effect upon her."

"Poor child! What is her name?" Mrs. Remington asked.

"I am not sure that we know even that—at least, her true name," Mr. Harwood gravely replied. "There was one day, when the nurse though she seemed a little more rational than usual, and she asked her name. 'Agnes,' she replied, regarding her wonderingly. 'Agnes what?' inquired the woman, whereupon she assumed great dignity, as if someone had addressed her too familiarly, and said, haughtily, 'I am Miss Walton, sir, if you please!'"

A startled cry came from Mrs. Remington.

"Agnes Walton!" she repeated, rising to her feet, and betraying great agitation. "Why, Mr. Harwood! then it is no wonder that she called for Max. I know the girl well—she is a very dear friend. You must let me see her immediately. Why, I cannot comprehend the strange story that you have just told me."

She appeared greatly distressed, and was pale to the lips.

Mr. Harwood was not less surprised, but he was also intensely relieved by the words of his visitor. He had feared that Agnes would die there on his hands, and her friends never learn what had become of her, and his burden of anxiety on this account was almost unendurable.

"Sit down, madam, if you please," he said, with great kindness, and he gently seated her in the chair from which she had just risen. "Let me tell you that you have lifted a great burden from my mind. If, as you say, this Miss Walton is a friend of yours, I cannot be too thankful to you for coming here this morning. Is she a relative?"

"No," replied Mrs. Remington, leaning weakly back in her chair, for the shock of this discovery had almost unnerved her; "but," flushing slightly, "I will tell you, in confidence, that I hope she may be some time."

"Ah!" said Mr. Harwood, smiling and brightening, "I understand; and that explains why she has called so piously upon that one name, 'Max.' But who is this 'A. Herbert' who brought her here in such a dastardly way?"

"I am sure I don't know. The whole matter seems inexplicable mystery to me, for Miss Walton is a young lady of irreproachable character—as modest and pure as it is possible for any girl to be. Did she not explain to this girl, who you say passed the night with her, how she happened to come here at that time of the night?"

"Nothing beyond the fact that there had been a railway accident, which prevented her reaching the city earlier. She did not tell whence she had come, nor whither she was going. She appeared to be very weary, and fell asleep almost immediately after retiring."

"You have told me that she had some spirited words in the morning with the man who brought her here," Mrs. Remington reflectively remarked.

"Yes; the chambermaid overheard just enough to prove that something was wrong; that she indignantly resented something that he had said or done; then she rushed back to the chamber and fainted. She has not known a really rational moment since. I interviewed the young man, but could get no satisfaction from him, beyond the fact that the girl was not his wife, as he had represented by a false registration. But, of course, if she recovers all this mystery will be cleared; if she does not, we shall be obliged to remain in ignorance of the scamp's identity—for I have no idea that he gave his true name—and he will doubtless go unpunished. Now, Mrs. Remington, if the nurse will allow it, I am going to take you directly to our invalid. Perhaps the sight of your familiar face may quiet her, as the physician predicted. I sincerely hope that your coming here may be an omen of good."

Mrs. Remington was yearning for the lovely girl and she arose with alacrity to accompany the proprietor upstairs.

Upon reaching No. 10, he knocked gently upon the door, which was soon noiselessly opened by the nurse, while Mrs. Remington's ears caught the sound of a wailing voice, that pierced her to the heart as it cried:

"Don't let him come in—don't! don't!"

Mr. Harwood beckoned the woman out into the hall, and then briefly explained Mrs. Remington's presence there.

The nurse's tired, anxious face brightened.

"I am glad," she said, turning to her, "for the sight of a familiar face will be better than medicine, though she is so very low I fear it is too late for any permanent good to result from it."

Mrs. Remington's heart sank.

"Can it be possible there is no hope?" she asked.

"I do not believe she can live three days longer, unless there is some immediate change for the better," Mrs. Dunne replied. "But come," she added, and quietly drew Mrs. Remington within the room, while Mr. Harwood went sadly downstairs again.

Agnes had appeared to regard the door connecting her room with the private parlor with such nervous dread, as if she constantly expected someone to enter by it, that Dr. Raymond had ordered her bed to be moved close up against it; consequently, as Mrs. Remington entered the room, the sick girl lay in the corner on her left, and with her face turned to the wall, so that neither could see the other.

The nurse beckoned her companion to seat herself by the bedside.

She did so without making a sound.

Mrs. Dunne then bent over her patient. "Dearie, it is time for the drops again," she said, in a kind, motherly tone, as she put the spoon to her lips.

Agnes took the medicine without any opposition, then she moaned as she tossed her hot head on the pillow.

"Why doesn't Max come? It snows so hard and is so cold—so cold!"

"Max is coming, dearie; he has sent somebody to tell you so," the woman replied, soothingly, and smoothing the tangled hair with a gentle touch.

Then she gathered her emaciated form in her strong arms, as if she had been a little child, and turned her toward the front of the bed.

[To be Continued.]

Not many men can stand being made conspicuous if the attendant circumstances have in them any element of humor. But it didn't fease the handsome man a bit—he went through the part allotted to him by the leading lady without so much as thé flicker of an eyelash. So far as appearances were concerned, an observer could not have told that the handsome man knew he was doing what he did.

The leading lady was seated in a Columbus avenue car. She gripped a button on the overcoat of the handsome man, who stood before her, and jerked it persistently.

She was a very ordinary, elderly woman. The gentleman who bent over, in response to her unique summons, was noticeably well groomed and distinguished looking.

At first he seemed not to catch what she had said, for she pointed to the other side of the car. He turned inquiringly in that direction. Close to the door, at the feet of another man, was the glimmer of something white. With unmoved dignity, the handsome man made his way down the half filled aisle.

The car gave a sudden jerk, at the Fifty-third street curve, so he had to grab a strap to save his equilibrium. When the swaying permitted, he stopped, grasped the white linen gingerly and arose, rather red of face, paced slowly back to the leading lady, and, with a bow, restored to her her lost possession—her pocket handkerchief.

"Thank you," she vouchsafed condescendingly.

"You are welcome," he said distinctly, then stood nonchalantly aloof.

It became apparent that they were not together, that the woman did not know him. How did she ever have the sublime nerve to send that unapproachable looking man, lackeywise, to do her bidding? Oh, for the beautiful intrepidity of the uninitiated.

TWO HARD-FOUGHT GAMES IN COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL SERIES

Forms III. D and III. C vs. Forms III. A and II.

Canadian Lacrosse Players Win Eighth Victory in England.

Opening of Eastern League Season—Detroit Americans Shut Out by St. Louis.

Fencing has at last been put on a solid basis in Canada and the United States. The sport has now numerous followers in all the leading universities, and an intercollegiate association, which will conduct annual championships, has just been formed in the United States. The various amateur clubs throughout the country devoted to the use of the foils, dueling swords and sabres are incleasing rapidly in membership, and several new clubs are being formed. Fencing has always been regarded as an excellent form of exercise, and it would no doubt have grown in popular favor but for its difficult technique. Fencing is not a very interesting spectacle to those who understand nothing of the science of the game. The contest with sabres is, of course, more amusing, owing to the manner in which the contestants go at one another. It is intensely interesting to those who understand the methods of offense and defense used by the various competitors, and as the number of people who know something of the game increases the greater will be the attendance at the various tournaments.

It is a game that a man can continue late in life, gaining constantly in skill with age. So long as he retains a certain elasticity of the muscles and quickness of eye no youngster, fresh from a seat of learning can hope to beat him. This is one of the things that insures the future prosperity of the art of fencing. It is a fascinating game, and the general rule is "once a fencer always a fencer."

One reason advanced for the slowness of fencing to become popular in America is the fact that the use of steel as a weapon has always been despised by men of Anglo-Saxon descent, who believe in a knock-down blow when it is necessary to uphold personal dignity, and regard those who have recourse to the code duello as cads anxious to ape the ridiculous customs of Europe.

There is little danger of the sport of fencing making the fighting of duels more frequent in America. That custom is disappearing all over the world, and fencing will soon become merely a pleasant form of exercise.

The Yale Alumni Weekly tells us that the captain of the university nine has stopped indiscriminate talking on the field. "It is not necessary," says our contemporary truly, "that the right fielder should inform the man in the box that the opposing batsman will die easily at his hands." The "direction of nine-tenths of the talking on the baseball ground is toward the rattling of the other side." It "reduces the games to the moral tone of a street brawl." It is "one of the things that has helped to pull baseball down." If "university contests cannot be conducted on the basis of gentlemanly sport, they had better be given up."

LACROSSE.

CANADIANS DEFEAT OXFORD.

London, May 1.—The touring Toronto lacrosse team had a close contest yesterday at Oxford, where they played against an English team. Beautiful weather helped in attracting a crowd of fifteen hundred, a great majority of them university students. The Canadian game is getting popular in this historical educational center. The match as the most exciting and best contested that has taken place since the Toronto team stepped on English soil. At half-time both teams were credited with five goals. The Torontos worked up in the third period and got into the lead by scoring three goals. In the last period they added three more, making their total eleven, while the Oxfords were unable to tally a point in the last half. Toronto won the match by eleven goals to five. The two Mason brothers, members of the champion Stockport team, played with Oxford. There was not any danger at any part of the match of the Canadians losing, though, of course, the English boys put up a stiff fight, but they were weak in attacking their opponents' goal. J. J. Cawthra, a Toronto student, figured on Oxford's twelve, and played a splendid game. MacLean was in fine form today and scored six of the Torontos' eleven goals. The Torontos' hardest battle will likely be against Stockport, the English champions, next Monday.

BASEBALL.

OPENING OF THE EASTERN.

New York, May 1.—The playing season of the Eastern League begins today with the teams playing as follows: Toronto at Buffalo, Montreal at Rochester, Newark at Worcester, and Jersey City at Providence. President Powers called a meeting of his staff of umpires here yesterday and gave them final instructions. The umpires are John J. Egan, of Providence; Thomas B. Kelley, Brockton, Mass.; Charles M. Snyder, of Washington, D. C.; and Frank P. Rinn, of Lancaster, Pa., and have been assigned for today's games at Buffalo, Rochester, Worcester and Providence, respectively. President Powers had appointed W. B. Murphy, of Medina, N. Y., as a reserve umpire, who will report at the president's office every day, so that in case any of the other four is incapacitated the vacancy can be filled promptly. In explaining the rules to his staff, Mr. Powers said that the umpires are to use their judgment in calling foul bunts as strikes. When a batter is hit by a pitched ball the pitcher shall be penalized by the baseman taking his base, when in the opinion of the umpire the batter tried to avoid being hit, but this does not apply to a slowly pitched ball. The system of fining or removing a player from the game for questioning decisions or plays or in otherwise delaying the game, will be strictly enforced, and the umpires are empowered to fine and remove a player if he be too aggressive. Further than this he can recommend the suspension of a player for a number of days, and President Powers has promised to sustain the umpire, who must report to him at once as to the offense and punishment.

WILL FIGHT INJUNCTION.

Cleveland, May 1.—At the conclusion of a conference of the American League magnates held behind closed doors here yesterday, President Ban Johnson announced that it had been decided to fight the injunction case against Lajoie. Fraser and Bernhardt to the end. The perpetual injunction granted against these players by the common pleas court in Philadelphia will at once be carried to the Pennsylvania supreme court. Mr. Johnson said that new evidence would be introduced when the cases were reopened before the supreme court, which the attorneys for the American League believed would result in a reversion of the court's former decision. Mr. Johnson added that obviously it would not be good policy to discuss the nature of this new evidence, but he declared that the American League would assume the aggressive and give the National League all the litigation it cared for. The following owners attended the meeting: Benjamin F. Shibe, Philadelphia; Harry Goldman, Baltimore; J. E. Bruce, St. Louis; C. A. Comiskey, Chicago; S. F. Angus and Jas. McNamara, Detroit; Fred Postal, Washington; H. J. Killelea, Boston, and Messrs. Killfoyle and Somers, Cleveland.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

Over 30,000 people saw the two games in Chicago on Sunday. This throng was fairly divided between the two leagues.

For quick, scientific work with the stick, the natural left-hand hitter is usually the superior. A matter of a step or two is often very important in a game.

"I predict a sudden death of the Minor League Association," says President Hickey. "There is no chance of it lasting when it does not live up to its own rules."

The fans in Pittsburg have dubbed Archie Stimmel the "Waterbury Stemwinder." His motions when delivering the ball remind one of the inner works of an alarm clock.

Harry Goldman, of Baltimore, thinks the best way out of it now is to adopt the double umpire system for the year and appoint Lajoie, Bernhard and Frazer as three of the men.

How many mothers realize that when the baby's advent is expected they need strength for two instead of one. Women, weak, nervous, "just able to drag around," find themselves confronted with coming maternity. They have not strength enough for themselves, how can they have strength to give a child? We don't look for the birth of strong ideas from a weak mind. Why should we expect the birth of strong children from weak mothers?

The way to ensure health and strength to mother and child is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a preparative for motherhood. It brings the mother's strength up to the requirements of nature, so that she has strength to give her child. It nourishes the nerves and so quiets them. It encourages a natural appetite and induces refreshing sleep. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. Robert Harden, of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 235. "It was when her baby came. We had heard so much of your medicine that my wife decided to try it (I may say my wife's age was thirty-three and this was her first child). She commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' five months before her child was born. We have a fine healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription,' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it wherever we can."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Siever's ten-thousand-guinea filly Scepter won the first classic event of the year, the Two Thousand Guineas stakes, defeating the favorite, Mr. Gubbin's Ard Patrick and Mr. Siever's Duke of Westminster, with which Scepter will later contest in the Derby. Pistol was second and Ard Patrick third. Fourteen horses started. King Edward was present and showed considerable satisfaction at the victory of the offspring of his noted horse, Persimmon. J. H. Martin rode an outsider, Pistol, and came in two lengths behind the winner, while Clem Jenkins piloted Ard Patrick, which finished third, three lengths away from J. R. Keene's Cherio. Mr. Keene's Kearsage was also among the runners. The betting was 4 to 1 against Scepter; 50 to 1 against Pistol, and 9 to 2 against Ard Patrick.

TRAVIS TALKS OF GAME OF GOLF.

It Has Passed Tentative Stage and Is Now No Longer a "Fad" Merely.

Golf is now a recognized institution, writes Walter J. Travis, the American expert. Intrinsically it is far too good a game to suffer seriously or permanently from the brief incursions of the mere faddist—the man who plays, not from any pure innate love of the game, but simply because it is considered the correct thing and happens to be the fashion, and who, sooner or later, drops out of sight and is numbered with the "also ran." These are the out-and-out faddists. Players of this class really do the game some harm, temporarily. They are the ones who are chiefly responsible for elaborate clubhouses, involving a heavy drain on the finances of the clubs and various transitory side shows which do not legitimately belong to the game, but which are embarked in with the vain hope of retaining their capricious interest. A few really acquire a love for the game, and maintain a lasting interest, in common with the majority of the players. Those who fortunately retire make way for a more stable and rational element. Golf, now, has passed through the experimental stages and may safely be regarded as an established fixture. It numbers among its ardent devotees men in nearly every walk of life, of all ages, and opportunity only is lacking to make it universally played. It is really such an admirable game in itself, and so many-sided, that the marvel is that it should have failed of adoption with us for so long a time. Year by year its merits and virtues are being increasingly recognized and its ranks materially added to—a steady and healthy growth.

Twenty Years of Itching Piles

Sufferings Ended Seven Years Ago—A Permanent Cure by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin is well known and highly respected in Bowmanville, Ont., where he has resided for about thirty years. His cure of itching piles after twenty years of almost constant and often very severe suffering, is a remarkable one. There can scarcely be a stronger recommendation for Dr. Chase's Ointment, and his letter will be read by many who are still victims of this dreadful malady.

Mr. McLaughlin writes: "For twenty years I suffered from itching piles, and only persons who have been troubled with that annoying disease can imagine what I endured during that time. About seven years ago I asked a druggist if he had anything to cure me. He said that Dr. Chase's Ointment was most favorably spoken of, and on his recommendation I took a box.

"After three applications I felt better, and by the time I had used one box I was on a fair way to recovery. I continued the treatment until thoroughly cured, and as that was seven years ago, and I have not suffered any since, I am firmly convinced that the ointment made a perfect cure.

"I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment an invaluable treatment for piles. In my case I think the cure was remarkable, when you consider that I am getting up in years, and had been so long a sufferer from this disease."

It is all nonsense to talk about a surgical operation as the only cure for piles. Scores of people are being cured every day by Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not merely relieved—though relief itself is a great thing to the sufferer from piles—but cured thoroughly and permanently, as Mr. McLaughlin has been. Dr. Chase's Ointment has no worthy rival. It stands alone as an absolute cure for piles of every form; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates Co., Toronto. 12

Fireman Thomas Hartley was reinstated, on the understanding that he will be discharged if he again absents himself without leave. He loses his pay for 23 days.

THE BIBLE SHOULD BE READ IN ALL THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Presbyterian Synod Recommends It as Literature.

Gathering Could Not Agree on the Subject of Prohibition.

Minority Report of the Committee on Temperance Reform Is Finally Adopted.

After disposing of routine business yesterday afternoon in connection with the Synod of Hamilton and London, the following resolutions of the committee of the synod on the Bible as literature in our schools, were read:

"That in the judgment of this synod the study of English literature cannot be prosecuted successfully if the Bible, as the basis and inspiration of such, be left out.

"That the Bible, to have its rightful place and influence in the intellectual and moral education of our youth, should be read as literature in all the schools of the province."

Speaking on the resolution, Rev. F. H. Larken, B.A., of Seaforth, said that he indorsed the opinion of some of our best educationalists, that the Bible should be more than merely read in the schools; it should be studied as grammar or any other subject on the school curriculum.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

There was read the report of the special committee selected to draft a deliverance on the attitude of the synod towards the great temperance issue, Rev. Mr. Hardy, who, as chairman of the committee, read the report, said that an endeavor had been made to take into consideration not only the practical and numerical points of view but also that of the present issue. The committee, he said, were not unanimous, the resolution which he read, as follows, being carried by a majority of one:

"The synod reaffirms the deliverance of church courts in the past, that the liquor traffic is the source of untold misery and evil to the individual, the home, the church and the state. We affirm our conviction that while the work of the education of the public conscience and moral suasion with the individual must be emphasized, yet it is the duty of a Christian public to seek such legislation on the part of the state as shall secure the total abolition of a traffic so evil in its character and its results; we therefore urge upon the members of our congregations to seek, by all righteous means, the ultimate suppression of the traffic in strong drink. And in this connection we commend to all to whom our recommendation comes, the importance of making moral issues supreme in matters political and civic."

Rev. Dr. Johnston stated that in the stand he took in pressing the matter referred to in the resolution before the synod, he was moved by the dictates of conscience. So far as he could see there was no possibility of interpreting the present resolution as favoring any political party. He thought that they had a resolution that the parties could not use as a football. He moved the adoption of the report by the synod. The motion was seconded by Rev. Dr. Hamilton.

Rev. Dr. McMullen, of Woodstock, said he could not see anything in the motion before the house today that as not embodied in Dr. Johnston's motion last night, which was voted down.

Dr. Johnston explained the purport of the present resolution, and concluded by saying the resolution last night might be interpreted as favoring the cause of some particular party in the political campaign, whereas he maintained that the present resolution could not be so interpreted.

The Rev. Mr. Martin moved in amendment the following: "Resolved that the synod reaffirms the deliverance of church courts in the past, that the liquor traffic is the source of untold misery and evil to the individual, the home, the church and the state. That the synod expresses regret that the matter of legislation looking toward the suppression of the drink traffic is made a question of party politics."

Rev. W. J. Clark stated that there were a great many ways of explaining things. He felt perfectly satisfied, however, that the question was being advanced by the discussion at the present time. We were one, he said, in regretting the evils resulting from intoxicating liquors, but were divided as to methods. We had for years been living under a system of restriction; the number of licenses had been greatly reduced and drinking places had been greatly improved. He thought there was but very little difference between the two political parties in this province, judging the one from what it had actually performed, and the other from what it had promised. At present the whole question of temperance reform was being made a tool between the two parties and would be worked to its utmost until the 29th of May.

We, some of us at least, have, he said, sought to hold the church to its place as a teacher of principles and have disclaimed its right or duty to emphasize particular methods. Mr. Clark supported Mr. Martin's amendment.

Mr. Larkin said he could not see that the temperance question was in any sense a party question, as he believed both parties wanted to get as far away from it as possible. The referendum, he claimed, took it out of party politics.

Rev. Dr. Battisby, of Chatham, stated that he wanted to emphasize the statement made by Mr. Clark that the matter of temperance reform was being dragged into politics. "It is a political question," said he, "and I deplore the fact that party politics are getting into our synod courts."

Dr. Johnston believed with Mr. Clark, that it was the duty of the church to preach principles and not to propound methods. He had, he said, no method to propose. He simply asked the church to preach principles—the grand general principles of righteousness based on the word of God. It was not the place of the church to dictate to either the Reform or the Conservative party along what lines they should move.

Rev. Dr. Lyle, of Hamilton, still maintained that the resolution before the court might be interpreted as favoring the third party candidates now in the field in preference to either of the other two political parties.

The amendment was lost.

The motion that the recommendation of the committee appointed be indorsed by the synod, was carried by a majority of votes.

SYNOD REPORTS.

The synod then took up the augmentation committee's report. The report urged that efforts be made to bring the claims of the augmentation fund before the various presbyteries comprising the synod. It also commended the action of St. Andrew's, the First Presbyterian Church and Knox Church here in assisting the weaker congregations of London.

The report on young people's societies was presented by Rev. J. S. Scott, B.D., of Brantford. This report showed an increase in the number of members during the year, also a corresponding increase in contributions. This, as well as the augmentation committee's report, was adopted.

The auditors' report showed a good balance on hand.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The report of the committee to strike standing committees for the year was presented and adopted. The following recommendations regarding the personnel of the committees, were made:

Church Life and Work—Rev. A. J. MacGillivray (convener), the conveners of the presbyteries' committees, Messrs. W. M. Martin, J. J. Hastie, S. W. Fisher, J. M. Wallace, H. McQuarrie, A. McLachlin, N. Lindsay, E. R. Hutt and H. W. Reede, ministers, and Messrs. Wm. Tuckham, Duncan Stewart and W. E. Lochead, elders.

Sabbath Schools—Rev. R. Pettigrew (convener), the conveners of the presbyteries' committees, Messrs. J. C. McLennan, S. M. Whaley, G. A. MacLennan, W. J. Knox, F. O. Nichol, J. H. Graham, W. E. Knowles, W. K. Shearer and J. F. Scott, ministers, and Messrs. F. W. Stadman and R. E. Little, elders.

Young People's Societies—Rev. J. S. Scott (convener), the conveners of the presbyteries' committees, Messrs. F. H. Larkin, W. J. West, T. L. Turnbull, A. C. Budge, J. S. Canning, H. Cowan, T. Nattress, H. J. Pritchard and W. Moffat, ministers, and Mr. Wm. Patterson, elder.

Augmentation—Rev. A. Henderson (convener), the convener of presbyteries' committees, and Messrs. W. B. Wood, George Rutherford and Wm. Potts, elders.

The conference address of Rev. A. A. Graham, B.D., of Petrolia, upon "How to Make the Pulpit a More Efficient Force for Soul Winning," was postponed until the next synod meeting.

The synod extended their thanks to the minister and officers of the First Presbyterian Church for placing the church at their disposal, also the railway companies and the press of the city.

The synod, having completed their session, adjourned.

SUCCESSFUL MEDICAL MEN

List of Students Who Passed Recent Exams.

The Graduating Class Includes Fifteen Young Men

Close of Highly Successful Year in the Western University Medical Department.

The list of students who were successful in the recent examinations at the medical department of the Western University was issued today. The faculty of the university are greatly pleased with the result, which illustrates the success which is being achieved in this growing institution.

The past session has been the most prosperous, both as to efficiency and point of numbers, since the commencement of the college, now twenty years ago. The laboratories and lecture halls, especially the pathological department, were all refitted with the most improved scientific material for the study of medicine and surgery, and students from all parts of Ontario are receiving a medical education in London, and graduates, numbering over 200, are scattered throughout the Dominion and the United States. Cattarrh
Called an American disease, is cured by an American medicine, originated and prepared in the most catarrhal of American countries.
That medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla.
It cures radically and permanently, in that it removes the cause, cleansing the blood of scrofulous and all other impurities. It overcomes all the effects of catarrh, too, and builds up the whole system.
