ent of the Daily News says that the Prince of Wales has arrived in Paris. While the Prince's train was at the Marseilles depot, the Prince lingered too long at the buffet. The train started, and the Prince just succeeded in clutching the rail of the saloon carriage. As the Prince appeared to be in danger the station master signaled to the engine driver, and the train was stopped.

The Chronicle's Paris correspondent says that only the vigilance of the engineer of the train prevented a probably fatal accident to the Prince of Wales.

A Legislature for Scotland. LONDON, April 3.-The House of Commons to-day by a vote of 41 to 136 rejected a motion made by Sir A. K. Rollit (Conservative) to appoint a committee to consider the rules of procedure of the House. James Henry Dalziel (Liberal), member for the Kirkcaldy division, offered a motion affirming the desirability of establishing a legislature for Scotland to deal with purely Scottish affairs.

John Herbert Lewis (Liberal), member for the Flint district, moved an amendment that a Legislature be established for Wales also.

Sir George Otto Trevelyan, secretary for Scotland, said that the Government declined at present to go further than support a bill creating a Scotch standing committee, which he moved yesterday. Sir George added that he intended personally to support Mr. Dalziel's motion and that the Government left its followers to exercise their own judgmant in the matter. Hon. A. J. Ealfour, the Conservative leader, ridiculed the action of the Secretary for Scotland in supporting a home rule motion while he was answerable for the bill to create a Scotch standing committee on which the House had not yet

Mr. Dalziel's motion was carried by a vote of 180 to 170. Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Government leader and the principal member of the Cabinet, was absent during the debate. The Live Cattle Trade.

London, April 3 .- Right Hon. Herbert Gardner, president of the British Board of Agriculture, received to-day a deputation from the Chambers of Agriculture and the Royal Society, who urged that no cattle should be allowed to be imported from foreign countries unless they are to be killed at the port of landing. If the Right Hon. Mr. Gardner's reply to the deputation is to be taken as any indication of what his intentions are, it certainly shows that the Canadian Government should do all in its power to assure the honorable gentleman that tuberculosis does not exist in Canada. His answer would indicate that he intends to open the British ports to Canadian cattle, if the Canadian Government is able to satisfy his advices regarding the tuberculosis question.

Mr. Gardner informed the deputation that the House of Commons would not entertain, let alone sanction, so drastic a proposal as the closing of British ports against the importation of live cattle in a healthy condition. The present law, he said, was ample security against the risk of importing disease. Mr. Gardner stated that during the past ten years over 500,000 head of live stock had been imported into Great Britain, but during that time there had been no evidence of home-bred animals being affected by contact with imported stock. In the face of these facts Mr. Bardner refused to comply with the request of the deputation, by placing unneeded obstacles in the way of free imports.

The "Skeleton" in a Novelist's Closet London, April 3.-The case of the wife of David Christie Murray, the novelist, against her husband, whom she charged with abandonment and non-support, was heard in the Bow street police court tolay. When the case was brought up on Saturday an attempt was made by the friends of the parties to settle it out of court, Murray agreeing to pay a sufficient sum of money to maintain his wife, and the hearing was adjourned pending the result. No agreement was arrived ing to-day. Murray, being called to the ebriate. In leaving her he had left a once happy home, taking nothing but his clothing with him. He had daily to witness many distressing scenes as the result of his wife's drunken habits. During one of her debauches she had tried to commit suicide, and was only prevented by the timely arrival of police, who took her into custody. Murray admitted, however, that after leaving his wife he had rented a villa where he was still living with a woman who passed as his wife. Questioned as to his ability to contribute to his wife's support, he said he had formerly received about £2,500 a year from his writings, but his income has become so much reduced that he had recently been obliged to ask pecuniary assistance from friends, whose financial aid he feared he would again require. The magistrate will give his decision on Saturday.

A Great Ash Pile. SHANGHAI, China, April 4 .- A great conflagration is raging here. Already 1,000 buildings, large and small, have been destroyed, and the fire is still burning.

The Pope Fainted. PARIS, April 4 .- Newspaper dispatches rom Rome say the Pope had a fainting fit yesterday, which lasted half an hour. His recovery was complete, however, and he showed no signs of weakness thereafter.

Da Gama's Request Refused. LISBON, April 3 .- Admiral Da Gama, the Brazilian insurgent leader, having asked permission to be landed with his followers in Buenos Ayres, the Government of Portugal has replied that the Brazilian refugees cannot be permitted to land anywhere except in Portuguese territory, and only on conditions preventing them from returning to Brazil for the purpose of reengaging in warfare against the Brazilian Government.

The returns are as folbe in no worse position than it is now if the Tories were to come into power. tive), 7,573; Mr. Bethei (Liberal), 6,890; Conservative majority, 683. At the previous election the late James Theobald received 6,724 votes, defeating H. H. Raphael (Liberal), who received 5,542, a Conservative majority of 1,182. It will thus be seen that the Conservative majority in the district had been decreased by 499.

It Died From Natural Causes, According to the Coroner's Jury.

ST. THOMAS, April 4.- The inquest held yesterday at Southwold station by Dr. Gustin, coroner, of this city, on the body of a male Indian child, said to have died from injuries received from its father. Paul Doxtater, resulted in a verdict of death from natural causes. The evidence went to show that instead of the child being $12,000,000 had been expended since Construck with the axe in a quarrel at Rodney between Doxtater and the squaw mother of the child, living with him, the axe struck a plank, which fell on the child's head; but $3,225,000 for technical schools and examthe post mortem showed that this did not cause its death, but pneumonia, from which it was suffering at the time. It was but 6 months old, not 2 years, as previously reported.

BLOODSHED FEARED.

Terror Reigns in the Pennsylvania Coke Region-Striking Miners May Resort to Fire and Dynamite. Uniontown, Pa., April 4.- The situation throughout the entire region at the close of the second day of the big strike of coal miners and coke workers is very alarming, and it looks as if bloodshed and destruction of property will only be averted by resort to the military power of the State. As in 1891, the strikers have been receiving food supplies from the company's stores, which were cut off from them to-day. The great horde of foreigners require food and have not the means to obtain it. The only way it can be secured is by sacking the company's stores, but to do this they must overpower deputy sheriffs, who are standing guard with Winchester rifles.

Terror reigns from one extremity of the region to the other and every hour brings the possibility of a deadly conflict between the mobs and the authorities and the destruction of property by fire and dynamite. In the houses of the strikers, t is said, a large number of shotguns and rifles are stored, which will probably be brought into use unless the situation

Mr. Mowat's Measure for the Settlement of Wage Disputes.

Amendment to the Marriage License Law--The Cost of Education in the Province.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.] PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, TORONTO, April 3.—Considerable discussion took place this afternoon on the second reading of Sir Oliver Mowat's bill "respecting councils of conciliation and arbitration for settling industrial disputes." The Attorney-General pointed out that this was a transcription of a law now operative in Massachusetts which had been found to meet every requirement. The bill was passed. Mr. Meredith approved the spirit of the One Man Killed and Several Fatally measure, but objected to some of its provisions, which he said he considered unnecessary. Some of the matters affected could be better left to voluntary settlement by the parties interested, without intervention of the Government, and thus a great deal of money and trouble would be saved.

The Attorney-General's bill to make further provision respecting the solemnization of marriages passed through the committee of the House with slight amendments. The bill originally provided that a woman under 21 would have to secure the permission of her parents or guardians before marrying. Mr. Meredith suggested that it might be inconvenient for some young women who were living away kidneys, will probably die; Patrick Flemthought the age of 18 should be the limit. This was agreed to.

Two more of Mr. Mowat's bills-one respecting allowances to the Supreme Court judges and the other respecting certain duties of coroners-passed the committee.

WORK AND WAGES.

HAMILTON IRON WORKERS' WAGES CUT. HAMILTON, April 3 .- A strike is on at the Ontario rolling mills. Last evening about 4 o'clock, at which time the day hands finish their work and the night shift goes on, the company caused to be posted in the mill a notice to the men informing them of reductions among all the men who work by the piece, or by the ton, the reduced scale to take effect on and after Monday, April 2. That was the first intimation the men had had of anything of the sort. The reductions range from 9 up as high as 30 per cent, according to the class of work. When the day shift returned to work this morning at about 5 o'clock they talked the matter over, and the men determined unanimously to quit. The men agreed to meet at the mill at 10 o'clock this morning and discuss the situation, expecting to meet Mr. C. E. Doolittle, president of the company, and Mr. C. S. Wilcox, manager, but when they got there they found that both gentlemen had left been posted.

to fairness or reason. SCOTTDALE, Pa., April 3.-The labor leaders did not meet with the success they expected to-day, although they made a break in the north end of the district by inducing workmen at Donnelly and at Mayfield, two of McClure's largest plants, to come out. To-morrow will determine whether the strike will be a success.

Fatal Outcome of Elections in Kansas City.

Wounded.

Exciting Scenes at the Municipal Elections in Chicago-Bloodshed at the Polls.

KANSAS CITY, April 3.-The election in this city to-day was characterized throughout by much ill-feeling, which rose to such pitch in the fifth ward that it culminated in a hand-to-hand conflict about 2 o'clock, resulting in the following list of casualties: Killed-Mike Callahan.

Last night Justice Latshaw, a warm supporter of Frank Johnston for mayor, at the equest of Jim Pryor, a fifth ward politician, commissioned about 50 of Pryor's followers in the fitth ward as deputy constables. This morning the Pryor gang were on hand early fighting for Johnston. A warrant was issued by Justice Willis for the arrest of several of the gang, and Deputy Constable Jerry Pate was sent to arrest them. When Pate arrived there were 200 or more men, nearly all of them

The firing lasted but a short time, and over 100 shots were fired. Police Station No. 3 is near the polling place, and half a dozen officers were soon on the ground. They arrested nine men, all deputy constables. Each of them was heavily armed, and nearly all of their revolvers had from three to five empty cartridges, showing that all had participated in the shooting.

BLOODSHED IN CHICAGO. CHICAGO, April 3.-The riotous scenes at to-day's election in this city have not been equaled in many years. Blood was spilled in the first ward, and incipient riots were quelled by the police in this and other wards only after several people had been injured. Trouble was expected on account of aldermanic factional fights between "Bathhouse" John Coughlin, a canand withstood the attacks made against the an independent Democratic candidate. Two didate for re-election, and "Bill" Shakel, men were shot, one of them twice, but neither will die. Scores of workers hired by both factions were involved in the street and polling place fights, and the Harrison street police station was filled when the polls closed. John Dee, a bartender, was shot in the shoulder and thigh by Louis Luther, a colored man. William Marshall and Sam Phillips shot each other, inflicting flesh wounds. Both were arrested. Thirty-four aldermen and town officers in the north, south and west divisions of this city and in Hyde Park and Lakeview were elected to-day. Returns up to 8:30 o'clock indicate that the Democrats have elected their ticket in the west by 5,000 majority. The Republicans probably carry the north. The result in the south division is in doubt. Coughlin (Democrat) is elected aldermen in the first ward.

Joint Executive Committees of These Association: Meet-The Work of the Past Year - Finance - Committees Struck-Other Business.

One of the most successful joint meetings of the executive committees of the Sheep and Swine Breeders' Associations ever known in the history of these organizations was held in the Tocumseh House yesterday. Mr. Richard Gibson, of Delaware, was in the chair. Among others present were: Secretary F. W. Hodson, London; J. C. Snell, Edmonton; W. Thompson, Derwent; D. McCrea, Guelph; J. Featherstone, M.P., Streetsville; Major Hood, Guelph; John T. Gibson, Denfield; Jas. Tolton, Walkerton; John Jackson, Abington; John Kelly, Shakespeare; J. E. Brethour, Burford; Frank R. Shore, White Oak; W. M. Smith, Fairfield Plains; W. S. Hawkshaw, Glanworth; H. D. Wright, Guelph; Wm. Beattie, Wilton Grove; W. S. Stevens, Lambeth; D. De Coursey, Bornholm; R. Dorsey, Burnhamthorpe; W. Oliver, Avonbank; R. H. Harding, Thorndale; S. Coxworth, Claremont, and J. I. Hobson, Mossborough. The finance reports for the past year were presented and adopted. That of the Swine Breeders'showed receipts of $1,241 26, made up as follows: Balance, $117 26; members' fees, $424; Legislative grant, $700. The disbursements totaled $974 91, the principal items being $381 58 for prizes at the Guelph winter show; $93 32 for directors' expenses; 284 volumes of record, $307 58. The Sheep Breeders' Association report showed receipts of $768, $63 being for fees and $700 Government grant. Of this $480 was paid for prizes at the Guelph fat stock show. The treasurer's account is overdrawn $128 40. It was shown by the directors' report that nearly 500 letters had been written in the interest of the association during the year. Forty essays, contributed by practical men, would be published in the annual report.

Mr. J. Hobson moved that the Government be asked to increase the grant to sheep breeders by $300. Carried. Secretary Hodson stated the objects of the meeting in his report, and urged definite ideals for breeders. A committee composed of Messrs. J. I. Hodson, R. Gibson and Joseph Featherstone was appointed to confer with delegates of other associations to influence the Washington Government and endeavor to repeal the present American law, as it affected cattle registered in the Canadian Record. The following committees were appointed: Exhibition Committee-Messrs. John Jackson, John Kelly, J. E. Brethour and S. Coxworth. The committee was authorized to spend $500 from each association for prizes at Guelph or some other winter show. Rules and Prize Lists-Messrs. James Tolton, Henry Arkell, T. Coxworth and R. Programme Committee-Messrs. John Jackson, D. G. Harmer, R. Gibson and J.

C. Snell. Mr. McCrae advocates the holding of annual auction sales under the auspices of the association. He explained that it was proposed to charge 25 cents for each sheep sold with a percentage not to exceed 10 per cent on sales. It was also proposed to give $50 for prizes on each occasion. Major Hood stated that at a sale of 50 head of stock held last year the percentage of cost was only 5 per cent. Mr. Snell did not favor the idea, and as the other members were undecided a motion approving the matter was withdrawn. A stock sale committee was appointed, however, comprising Messrs. J. B. Snell, J. J. Hobson, W. T. Hawkshaw and H. Wright. The secretary was made a member of each committee by virtue of his office. The associations will endeavor to have exhibitors' and breeders' grievances in regard to shipping remedied by bringing the matter before the notice of the Minister of Railways. At the evening session the formulation of a scale of points for a standard of excellence in each breed was discussed and a report prepared but not finally adopted. After judges had been appointed to act at the winter show to be held in Guelph

The Engineer's Opinion of Colborne Street School.

Proposal to Charge All Resident Pup.ls at the Collegiate Institute an Annual Fee of $10.

The members of the Board of Education who attended last night's meeting could not have felt otherwise than happy when they considered their beautiful surroundings. The meeting was held in the council chamber, but the City Hall proper presented a most attractive appearance. The occasion of all this adornment was the annual ball of the C. P. R. trainmen which is to be held to-night, and events of the season. It appeared to have one good effect on the board-they hurried through the business in a remarkably short time, adjourning before 9 o'clock. Those present were: Chairman McRobert, Trus-tees Sampbell, Sanders, Blackwell, Martin, Greenlees, Johnston, Craig, Griffin, Alexander, Jeffrey, Wilkins, Powell, Stephenson, Turner, Secretary McElheran, Principal Merchant and Inspector Carson.

Engineer Graydon presented a report on the condition of the Colborne street school. It stated that the building was badly heated and had no proper means of ventilation; that the foundation and walls were not of sufficient strength to permit of an additional story being erected; that the floors in nearly all the class rooms were bad; that to put the school in a modern condition would be an expense not justified by the results, and that the building was in an unhealthy condition and not in accordance with modern school or sanitary architecture. The report was referred to No. 2 committee. Principal Merchant reported on the attendance at the Collegiate Institute for March: Pupils on the roll, 582; average attendance, 544, an increase over March, 1893, of 21. Inspector Carson's report showed that the eight transition teachers began their duties on Monday, and that Miss Mc-Kenzie, superviser, gave them a lecture on kindergarten work. In a short time they would be prepared to introduce some of the kindergarten material for the benefit of their classes.

No. 2 committee's report created a great deal of discussion. The first clause recommended the payment of a number of accounts. The second clause recommended that the tender of J. G. Dodd for work at the Collegiate Institute at $175 be accepted. Messrs. Shopland & Howard had tendered at the same price, but as the former firm had given satisfaction it had been decided to let the work to Mr. Dodd. This clause was amended, and the contract was given to Mesers. Shopland & Howard. George Burdick's tender for painting at $15 was accepted. Trustee Alexander read the report of No. l committee, recommending among other things that a typewriter be placed in the office of Secretary McElheran. Some of the members could not see the necessity of placing a machine in the moved that the clause be struck out.

Dr. Campbell shought the board would of that church." be behind the times without it, and moved that tenders be called for the purchase of the typewriter. Carried. The audit committee's report was read by Dr. Campbeil, recommending the payment of accounts to the amount of $7,318.81. Adopted. Trustees Sanderson and Martin want the front of the Lorne avenue school yard sodded, as the earth was being washed away from the foundation at the front of the building. They moved that No. 2 committee be instructed to have the work done at once. Trustees Alexander and Griffia moved in amendment that the committee report on the best method of doing the work and the probable cost. Carried.

Trustee Griffin gave notice that at the next meeting he would move that a fee of $10 per annum be charged all resident pupils attending the Collegiate Institute, the same to be collected in the following proportions: $4 on opening of term after midsummer holidays, $3 on opening of term after Christmas holidays and $3 on April 1 of each year.

Trustee Alexander then gave notice that he would move in amendment that fees only be charged for pupils in the upper

The board then adjourned. No. 2 committee will formulate a plan tors. A partition will be built in the large hall in the Princess avenue school in order to make a cloak toom, and two blackboards will be purchased for Aberdeen school.

KEENE AS SHYLOCK.

The Great Tragedian's Annual Visit-"True Irish Mearts" To-Night.

"True Irish Hearts," a picturesque Irish drama, will be presented at the Grand tonight. This drama is a little out of the general run of Irish plays, as there is a well-laid plot, and it is admirably developed by an excellent cast and pretty scenery, principally the Lakes of Killarney, the Abbey ruins and the old boathouse. The specialties introduced in the second act bring many encores. "True Irish Hearts" should enjoy a profitable engagement. KEENE AS SHYLOCK.

In the line of legitimate drama to-day Thomas W. Keene stands pre-eminent and alone. After long years of patient toil and endeavor he has achieved the pinnacle of greatness, and since the death of Barrett and of Bootn, he is left to America as the only exponent of true dramatic art. Amid the weary waste of mediocrity in theatricals to-day, it is a pleasure to note his coming, and his reception will certainly be a warm one, as the public long for the presentation of plays that have substance and abound in beauties of thought and expression. Mr. Keene will appear at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday evening in the character of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," Shakespeare's immortal comedy.

Like the Rope that Saves the Sinking Sailor. Let a man have millions, and if he has neuralgia, he will be unhappy. Give a man a marble palace, and if he have a sick or nervous headache he will envy the laborer, who, if he be poor, has the splendid promise that his sleep shall be sweet. Spread the board to tempt the epicure, and if there be a touch of biliousness, the lentils of poverty will seem ambrosia by comparison. Stark's Powders are like the rope that saves the drowning sailor. Take them and the sick headache vanishes. Take them and the horrid twinge of neuralgia gives place to a happy sense of ease and freedom. Take them, and biliousness slinks away abashed. 25

Interesting Discussion by Followers of John Knox.

> Toronto Presbytery Promises to Support Prohibition.

TORONTO, April 3 .- At the meeting of the Toronto Presby ery to day there was a discussion on the question of prohibition. Rev. Mr. Johnston read a report on temperance. Some churches have adopted "pledge cards," while others look upon them "with aversion." Within the limits of the Presbytery, there are 300 licensed hotel-keepers, six for every Presbyterian minister, and one hotel for every 650 of the population. Of the 42 sessions in the Presbytery, 23 are for prohibition straight. Of the others some favor high license, some the suppreswhich promises to be one of the great sion of treating, some voluntary absti-events of the season. It appeared to have nence, while the Central Church favors the Gothenburg system.

Among those who favor the continuance of the liquor traffic, or are opposed to prohibition, according to the opinions of the various sessions, are those who are in the business, those who love the drink, those who fear an increase of taxation if it is put away, those who would "let well enough alone," late arrivals from the old country, bummers, brewers, hotel-keepers, gamblers, etc.

One church of this city included Epis. copalians and Roman Catholics in its list. Knox Church returned all the questions submitted without answer, taking the ground that the question is one of the policies with which the church cours should have nothing to do. At the same time Knox Church expresses its sympathy with temperance work.

The General Assembly sent down a number of questions on temperance to secure a sort of plebiscite of its various Presbyteries, and this report was the answer from Toronto. It recommends among other things

"This Presbytery looks to the Dominion and Provincial Governments for the passage of a prohibitory law at an early date, and promises its support."

This recommendation was passed without any discussion whatever.

Rev. Mr. Martin, Rev. Dr. Parsons, Rev. D. B. McDonald, Rev. Mr. McTavish and others spoke severely against the opinion coming from some city churches, including the Church of England and the Roman Catholies, among those who favor the liquor traffic. Mr. McTavish said it should be severely censured. "It is a shame," he said, "to include even Roman Catholics on the side of liquor. Many of our Catholic fellow-citizens are active in temperance work, and took part in the recent plebis-

Rev. Dr. Parsons strongly denounced the reflection cast especially upon the Church of England, and said that these opinions are those of irresponsible men. "This is the incendiary torch," said he, "and it will work ruin unless it is quenched. That sentence is a libel on the church." Then the pastor of the church whose session named the Church of England and Catholic Church as being in favor of the liquor traffic, arose and resented the assertion that it came from irresponsible men. "It comes from men who carefully conoffice, and Trustees Stephenson and Craig sider the matter," said he, "and it grows out of circumstances in the neighborhood

> There was a general desire to strike out this objectionable sentence, and the report from that session, so far as naming other churches is concerned, was thrown out.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Though at the time of writing the promised measure of redistribution of seats has not been brought down in the Ontario Legislature, the impression seems to exist that outside one or two neighborhoods there will not be any changes in the boundaries. Toronto has been promised four members instead of three as now, and this change will necessitate some alterations. It is not probable that the four will be elected as the three members now are by the voters of the whole city. The more likely change will be to divide the city into single constituencies. Hamilton, which has now a population approaching 50,000, will in all probability be divided into two and be given an additional member. This is rendered spossible by the absorption of the suburb of East Hamilton, with a population of several thousands. As a consequence South Wentworth is left with a population considerably less than the average of rural constituencies, as is also North Wentworth. If it could be so arranged, the public interests would be served by so lumping the present three constituencies of Hamilton, North and South Wentworth, with a total population of a little more than 75,000, that the number of members would be still three, while Hamilton would be given such prestige as a two-member city commands. It would be easy, for example, to provide for the consolidation of Wentworth into one constituency. Then Hamilton could be divided into two, and East Hamilton could be made to embrace the suburban townships of Barton and Saltfleet to effect the necessary balance. This practically would give Hamilton two members, while not increasing the number of members in the House, and is therefore commendable. It is not advisable to increase the membership, but rather to keep its reduction in view, and if any general scheme of redistribution were entered on now, it would be advisable to consider the doubling up of certain small constituencies in the east. Were there any changes to be made in this locality we would recommend as a substantial two-member constituency London city, with London West and Westminster township added, forming the three Middlesex -The only value attaching to the state- constituencies now existing into two fullsized divisions with between 40,000 and 50,000 of a population between them. LORD ROSEBERY'S DEMOCRACY. "A satisfied reformer is a dangerous being," remarked Lord Rosebery, Britain's new Liberal Premier, at the great mass meeting in St. James' Hall, London, the other day. The neat expression was cheered by the populace, who apparently were at one with the Prime Minister in believing that there can be no standstillthat we must go forward or retrograde. The meeting was held under the auspices of the great municipal body, the London County Council, of which Lord Rosebery has for some time been chairman. By the way, the Premier presented himself to the meeting, "not as a hereditary legislator, but as a member for a constituency as populous, as democratic, as thoroughly working-class, as any that is represented in the House of Commons." Lord Rosebery referred to the fact that he represented East Finsbury in the county council, and the cheering that followed his reference to the subject shows how popular he is among his constituents. If the House of Lords is abolished, or reformed so as to enable its members to be put in nomination as candidates for the House of Commons, webelieve there is not a radical constituency that would not be willing to elect the Premier as its representative. He has often expressed the wish that such a consummation could be brought about.

NOT A POOR MAN'S TARIFF.

(Toronto News.) Foster's budget involves a tax of 30 per cent on foreign-made sewing machines. This is a fairly high price to pay for the privilege of maintaining factories in which

51 hands are employed. It would be better to abolish industries that can only be maintained by a protective tax of 30 to 50 per cent, and add the operatives employed in them to the pension

The duty on velveteens, worn by people in moderate circumstances, has been increased from 20 to 30 per cent, while that on silk velvets, worn by the rich, remains as it was before.

THE REVISED TARIFF. (Canada Farmers' Sun, Official Organ of the

The tariff has been revised and an effort has been made to create an impression that action has been taken in the interests of farmers. God help the farmers if they can get no more relief than is indicated by the figures presented by Minister Foster. The best showing is made in agricultural implements, on which the duty has been reduced from 35 per cent to 20 per cent. "Look what a grand reduction has been made to satisfy the farmers," say the men who are still clinging to the protection

In 1878 a 20 per cent tariff was regarded sc exorbitant that Premier Mackenzie refused to adopt it, and that which was deemed to be exorbitant then is equally unreasonable now. Moreover, the tax on implements is much lower than the average tariff on other articles, and there is this further consideration, that the manufacturers of implements are in some measure compensated by lower duties on the raw material used in their construction. The question to be considered is the effect of the change. Implements are imported largely in Manitoba and to some extent the purchasers there will be relieved. But very few implements have been imported in Ontario and Quebec, and quite as few will be imported under the new figures as under the old, the tariff being still prohibitory. The farmers are as completely in the hands of the manufacturers to-day as they were a week ago. The subject is a large one, but in no particular can it be shown that such relief has been given as has been desired by farmers. Coal oil is still heavily protected and so on all along the line. Goods from Great Britain are also protected in the wrong way. The Patrons' desire that we should enjoy free trade with free trade countries, only luxuries being taxed for revenue purposes, has not been regarded with any degree of favor.

The mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but laid with them half open. About this time, at the earnest request of friends, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the Cuticura bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now two years old, strong, healthy and large as any child of her age (see photo.) and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's Blessing,

A HERO IN OVERALLS.

Fireman Mellick's Daring Leap and Brave Rescue. WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 3 .- Passengers on a Jersey Central train to-day were witnesses of a thrilling leap for life and a brave rescue. As the train rounded the curve and approached at a high rate of speed the bridge over the Lackawanna River, near Minooka Junction, the engineer was horrified to see a little girl walking upon the ties and about half way across the bridge. He blew his whistle and reversed his lever. The momentum of the train carried it rushing toward the child.

As the train bore down on her the little girl started to run, hesitated a moment, and then jumped off the trestle into the river below. As the train had approached the child, John Mellick, fireman of the engine, started from the step and when the train came opposite the spot where the child had jumped off he leaped off into the air, turned over two or three times in his descent struck the water in a heap. Mellick rose to the surface uninjured, seized the struggling child and brought her safely to shore. Neither Mellick nor the child were injured by the jump. When the train stopped the passengers commended Mellick for his brave deed. They took up a collection for him, and quite a large sum was realized.

Provisions of the New Insolvency Bill Introduced by Mr. Bowell.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) OTTAWA, Ont., April 3 .- In the Senate to-day the new Insolvency Bill was introduced by Mr. Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, who explained its chief provisions. He said: The Insolvency Bill, which is now submitted for the consideration of the Senate, differs in some material respects from former Canadian acts, and also from the provisions of the English act, particularly as to the class of debtors who can take advantage of its provisions. In previous Canadian insolvency laws traders only could assign or be put into bankruptcy by their creditors. The English act, however, extends its benefits to all classes of

The proposed bill provides for two classes of debtors: First, traders who are fully defined in section 5, and debtors who are not traders as defined by said section. The former, that is the trader, can only assign or be placed in bankruptcy by the action of a creditor, that is, he cannot make a voluntary assignment while the latter class, that is, the farmer, rancher, grazier, or other debtor, can make a voluntary assignment, and ask for relief under the act, but cannot be forced into insolvency. The reason for this distinction is to prevent any one or more creditors from placing an agriculturist or other similar debtor into bankruptcy when there might be a probability of his being able to pay his indebtedness after a good or average harvest, when, if forced into bankruptcy, his farm and other property might be sacrificed and thus ruined by costs, etc.

Section 6 sets forth the acts which constitute insolvency, and which render a trader iiable to by proceedings instituted against him in this particular, following closely the act of 1875. Section 7 deals with the proceedings required to bring a trader under the act, namely, on the petition of a creditor for $250, and upwards, for receiving order, which may be issued in the first instance in all cases except when the act of insolvency relied upon is that the debtor has ceased to meet in which case the order is issued only after notice to the debtor. In case the order is issued ex parte, the debtor may move to set it aside. As already indicated, provision has not been made whereby a trader may make a voluntary assignment, or whereby a receiving order may, as in England, be issued on the trader's petition. The act of 1869 provided for voluntary assignments, but the act of 1875 provided for assignments on demand of creditors, as well as by writ of attachment only. The issue of a receiving order rests in the official receiver of the estate of the insolvent. Sections 17 to 20 deal with the appointment by the Dominion Government and the interests of the creditors provision is ting by a committee of the House. made that the business can be carried on in the interval of time between the issue of the order and the appointment of the liquidator; for example, to finish unfinished contracts—and provision is also made that as full a statement and inventory of the estate as possible shall be presented at the first meeting of creditors.

The liquidator must be appointed at the he is appointed by the court.

Section 29 provides for the appointment of inspectors, and sections 30 to 34 provide for assistance being given by the debtor in the winding up of his estate, for his examination under oath, or the exlivery of his correspondence to the official receiver or liquidator.

Sections 35 to 38, make provision for the discharge of the debtor, which may be effected in two ways: First, under deed of composition and discharge executed by a or, secondly, without consent of creditors after the expiration of a year. In both whole of her crew of twenty men. The cases the deed or the discharge has to be schooner being an obstruction to navigaconfirmed by the court, and provision is tion, with Capt. Marshall's consent, she made for notice to creditors.

The court may confirm, refuse or suspend the operation of a discharge, and in case of deed it may, following the English act, impose conditions as to payment of further dividends out of future earnings or after acquired property.

A meeting of creditors must be held specially to consider a deed of composition, but the notices of application to the court to confirm the deed may be given concurrently with the calling of the meeting. The meeting must, however, be held at least one week before the application is heard.

Appeal from the decisions of the court confirming or refusing to confirm a deed is allowed in all cases. Applications for discharge are not heard by the county court judges as in the case of other proceedings under the bill, but by the judges of the higher courts. The provisions of the bill have been cast with a view of simplying the proceedings and lessening cost to as great an extent as possible. Section 54 extends the provisions of the act relating to discharge to traders and debtors, who since the repeal of the act of 1875 have made general assignments without preference or priority.

Part 3 of the bill deals with the debts which are provable against the estate, the effect of the insolvency or antecedent transactions, and the realization and distribution of the property of the estate.

These sections are based upon the act of 1875, and can better be considered when the bill is in committee, and dealt with section by section. Attention may, however, now be called to the provisions of section 58, which enumerates the privileged claims to be paid in full before payment of dividends, namely, official receiver, liquidator, and employes for three months' salary, and landlord for three months. In the case of a landlord the right of distraint is taken away, but a perferential lien is neys, Liver and Bowels without weakmorning and asked a dissolution of Par- given for the time his premises are occupied by the liquidator, for the benefit of the Section 8 follows the English act, which allows property to be disclaimed in certain which would render it valueless as an asset. This latter section was not in previous insolvency acts in Canada.

Part 4, section 93, provides for a more summary method of winding up small estates. This section applies only to estates in which the value of the property is not likely to exceed $5,000 of available assets. There are similar provisions in the English act, but they only apply to estates under £300 ($1,500). No special remarks need be made in relation to part 5, which deals with the duties, etc., of the liquidator. His remuneration as well as the remuneration of the official receiver is left in the hands of the creditors or inspectors, subject to review by the court. Part 6 refers to offenses and penalties, and calls for no special remark, nor does part 7, which provides for procedure generally, except that attention might be directed to the method in which questions are decided by creditors. We have adopted the principle of the English act, namely, by the majority in value of the creditors present at a meeting and entitled to vote.

IN THE HOUSE. Mr. Bernier, in moving for papers in the Northwest school case, made an elaborate speech covering a wide range, and applying as well to the Manitoba school case. He first pointed out how the protection of the minority was a fundamental principle of the constitution, and read from anteconfederation history to show how the necessity arose for such safeguards. In the course of his remarks Mr. Bernier appealed to opponents to cease casting aspersions on the loyalty of his people. do not," he said, "owe any civil or political allegiance to the Pope. He pro-ceeded to show how on more than one occasion French-Canadians upheld British honor and the British flag. The Northwest School Act was passed, he said, by young, inexperienced and presumptuous politicians. "If justice is not done," exclaimed Mr. Bernier, "the Catholics of Canada will follow the matter up and if necessary take their case to the foot of the throne and appeal, in the name of the Catholic mothers and children of Canada, to the Queen herself." Mr. Bernier said there was a binding obligation on the Administration of the day, who were responsible, and also on the Opposition, whose friends had adopted the Manitoba School Act, to unite and settle

A FARMER'S EXPERIENCE.

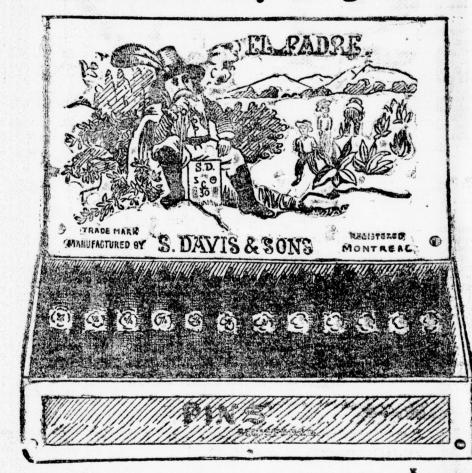

He Tells the Story of Eight Years Suffering and Vain Efforts to Regain Health -How This Boon Was Finally Obtained. Mr. Henry Lamb is a well-known farmer iving near Meaford, Ont. To the editor of the Monitor he recently told the following interesting story:

"About eight years ago I suffered from an attack of inflammation of the stomach, causing me extreme pain. I was attended by Dr. Clarke who brought me around, and I have always given him the credit of saving my life on that occasion. The effects of the attack, however, remained and I fell into a state of chronic poor health, which completely unfitted me for my ordinary work, was really dragging out a miserable existence. I suffered for over seven years from a constant pain in my stomach, as well, as from weakness and continued debility. I tried many remedies but without relief. 1 at length decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I soon felt the pain in my stomach relieved, and after a time it was entirely gone, and I felt like a new man. I can now work half a day at a time without fatigue, and as I am still using the pills I confidently expect, as I have every right to de from the great results thus far, to be able to do my work as formerly. I have stated my experience to many people and invariably recommend a trial of Dr. Williams Pink Pills."

Those who are weak, nervous, or whose system is "run down," wil lfind certain and speedy relief in the use of this wonderfu! medicine. As a blood builder and nerve restorer, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have no rival, and thousands of grateful people testify to their merits. Sold by dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of 50 cents a box or six boxes for $250, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. or Schenectady, N.Y. THE POLICE COURT.

The Board Bill Case-New Way of Collecting Accounts.

The principal business at the police court this morning centered around Lawrence Haylock's board bill. The crown did not press the charge of forging Mr. John Boyd's name but asked judgment on the plea of false pretenses. Haylock was remanded for a week in order to give him a chance to settle up with Landlord Burnett, whom he owes about $10.

Young Wm. Richardson sent his little sister to Daniel O'Donnell's grocery store on Richmond street to change a $5 bill. Miss O'Doonell kept the bill as an installuent on an account which she claimed the Richardsons owed the store. Action was brought by the owner of the bill against Miss O'Donnell to recover the cash. The magistrate thought it a matter for the Division Court and dismissed the case. Mary Hennessy, a Chatham woman, announced that she would pay her fine and leave town right off. The magistrate quietly reminded her that she had not the fixing of the price. He allowed her to go under a policeman's escort to the station. John Johnston, drunk, was permitted to return to the farm with a threat of imprisonment hanging over his head.

In reply to a resolution of thanks to the Governor-General for his patronage, Lord Aberdeen said he would be glad to promote this national movement. He dwelt on the paramount place efficiency in markmanship occupied in other countries. He congratulated the association on the Bisley record of the team. In acknowledging a vote of thanks Min-ister of Militia Hon. J. C. Patterson promised that the Government would continue to encourage the association. Gen. Herbert said the shipment of new rifles had already been made and was now on the way. There would be 9,000 Martini-Henry rifles available in a few months and next year he hoped to have all the shooting done with this new rifle. He had submitted a proposition for the conversation of the old Snyder rifle so as to arm the whole forc with the new weapon. This pro-posal had been approved by the Minister of Militia and consent also given that the Snyders, the property of individual riflemen, may be included. This conversion of the Snyder into the newarm will be done in England, and with the object of arming the whole force so that the old "Brown Bess" will become a thing of the past. Lieut.-Col. Gibson was re-elected president and Lieut.-Col, Bacon secretary.

It is reported that N. F. Davin, M.P., is to be appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba as the Government are unable to reconcile the differences between Ross, Scarth and Lariviere.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE &

Miss Beswetherick, King Street, Tries to Bleed Herself to Death.

Three Gashes With a Razor in the Threat and Arm-A Cool Attempt-Seemed Remorseinl.

An attempted suicide of a most determined character occurred this morning at 317 King street.

Miss Hannah Beswetherick, a well-to-do maiden lady of about 50 years, boards with the family of Rev. Martin Lowry at that address. Early this morning she came down stairs in her dressing gown and asked for a razor, saying she wished to pare a corn. The razor was given her. Mrs. Lowry shortly afterwards went to Miss Beswetherick's room, but the latter was not inclined to let her in. Mrs. Lowry repeated her visit, but met with the same reception. After breakfast some anxiety was felt in the household at the continual absence of the lady. Two members of the family again tried the door, but getting no response became suspicious, and effected entrance by removing the screws from the hinges. They were horrified to find Miss Baswetherick stooping over a basin, into which she was squeezing the blood from a heavy gash in her arm. Two slits on her throat also showed that she had tried to cut it fatally, but the razer was evidently too dull. The woman was perfectly calm and collected and made no violent resistance when the steel was taken from her. A doctor was hastily sent for, and as he proof of his abilities. Chester Abbott, city, stitched up the wounds the victim did not

Martin's, Dundas street, but did so, not because she was forced to earn her living, but just to divert her mind, as she often avowed. Her manner and conversation have been somewhat strange of late, and slight mental aberration has been suspected. She appeared to be suffering remorse for some real or imagined deed. A day or two ago, while apparently much excited, she broke out with some bitter self-reproaches before her companions. On another recent occasion she asked a friend if "a person would be lost if she killed herself." Miss Beswetherick has lived in London many years, and her friends have always known ber as an exemplary character. Her selfdisparagement they attributed to melan-choia. She has a brother living in Ottawa.

THE WHEELMEN'S RIGHTS. Mr. Carroll Candemns the Engineer's Proposed Regulations-They Aro Alsurd.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: I read in your paper yesterday, and with some surprise, of the intended action of our city engineer, Mr. Ormsby Graydon, regarding the limitation of the rights and privileges of cyclists, and while there may smoke to-day in the East End. Shortly be- be a grain of sense in the proposed bylaw, fore noon to-day employes of the London much of it, especially "the restriction of and Petrolea Barrel Company noticed speed to four miles an hour and giving the smoke issuing from the long disused right of road to every other vehicle," is simple nonsense, and is about as unjust as it is absurd. Has Mr. Ormsby Graydon ever ridden a bicycle? I trow not, or he would know that count for the fires starting up it is not much more than possible to keep one's balance at that speed, to say nothing and Petrolea Barrel people thought it fit of dedging and getting out of the way of every other conveyance. The poor cyclist has always been a mark for the man with a rig, as has been well illustrated recently here in London, and in the country, too. The farmer with his team purposely blocks the narrow riding way, and does his very utmost to force the rider into the ditch. What would be the result of this proposed coupled with the fact that no bre has been | bylaw, I wonder? 206 DUNDAS STREET,

"Turn to the Right.

"But better board, mademoiselle!" I answered gaily. Like most of the men of my province, I am commonly mel-ancholic, but I have the habit of grow-ing witty at such times as these. "Now, My Fresnoy," I continued, "I am waiting your convenience. Must I put on my cloak to keep myself warm?"

He answered by a curse, and stood looking at me irresolutely. "If you will come down,"

he said.

"Send your man away and I will come,"
I answered briskly. "There is space on the landing, and a moderate light. But I must be quick. Mademoiselle and I are due elsewhere, and we are late already."

Still he hesitated. Still he looked at the man lying at his feet—who had stretched himself out and revent quickly converbe himself out and passed, quietly enough a minute before—and stood dubious, the most pitiable picture of cowardice and malice-he being ordinarily a stout man-I ever saw. I called him poltroon and whitefeather, and considering whether I had not better go down to him, seeing that our time must be up, and Simon would be quitting his post, when a cry behind me caused me to turn, and I saw that mademoiselle was no longer looking through the opening in the Alarmed on her behalf, as I reflected that there might be other doors to the room, and the men have other accomplices in the house, I sprang to the door to see, but had barely time to send a single glance round the interior—which showed me only that the room was still occupied—before Fresnoy, taking advantage of my movement and of my back being turned, dashed up the stairs, with his comrade at his heels, and succeeded in penning me into the narrow passage where I stood.

I had scarcely time, indeed, to turn and put myself on guard before he thrust at me. Nor was that all. The superiority in position no longer lay with me. I found myself fighting between walls close to the opening in the door, through which the light fell athwart my eyes, baffling and perplexing me. Fresnoy was not slow to see the aid this gave him, and pressed me hard and desperately; so that we played for a full minute at close quarters, thrusting and parrying, neither of us having room to use the edge, or time to utter word or prayer.

At this game we were so evenly matched that for a time the end was hard to tell. Presently, however, there came a change. My opponent's habit of wild living suited ill with a prolonged bout, and as his strength and breath failed and he began to give ground I discerned I had only to wear him out to have him at my mercy. He felt this himself, and even by that light I saw the sweat spring in great drops to his forehead, saw the terror grow in his eyes. Already 1 was counting him a dead man and the victory mine, when something flashed be-hind his blade, and his comrade's poinard, whizzing past his shoulder, struck me fairly on the chin, staggering me and hurling me back dizzy and haif-stunned, uncertain what had happened to me.

Sped an inch lower it would have done its work and finished mine. Even as it was, my hand going up as I reeled back gave Fresnoy an opening, of which he was not slow to avail himself. He sprang forward lunging at me furiously, and would have run me through there and then, and ended the matter, had not his foot, as he advanced, caught in the stool, which still lay against the wall. He stumbled, his point missed my hip by a hair's breadth, and he himself feil all his length on the floor, his rapier breaking off short at the hilt. His one remaining backer stayed to cast a look at him, and that was all. The man fled, and I chased him as far as the head of the stairs; where I left him, assured by the speed and agility which he displayed in clearing flight after flight that I had nothing to fear from him. Fresnoy lay apparently stunned, and completely at my mercy. stood an instant looking down at him in two minds whether I should not run him through. But the memory of old days, when he had played his part in more honorable fashion and shown a coarse good-fellowship in the field, held my hand, and flinging a curse at him, I turned in anxious haste to the door, the center of all this bloodsned and commotion. The light still shone through the breach in the panel, but for some minutes—since Fresnoy's rush up the stairs, indeed-I had heard no sound from this quarter. Now, looking in with apprehensions which grew with the continuing silence, I learned the room was Such a disappointment in the moment of triumph was hard to bear. I saw myself, after all done and won, on the point of being again outwitted, distanced, it might be fooled. In frantic haste and excitement I snatched up the stool beside me, and dashing it twice against the lock, forced it at last to yield. The door swung open, and rushed into the room, which, abandoned by those who had so lately occupied it, pre-inted nothing to detain me. I cast a igle glance round, saw that it was squalid, low-roofed, unfurnished, a mere prison; then swiftly crossing the floor, I made for a door at the other end, which my eye had marked from the first. A candle stood flaring and guttering on a stool, and as I passed I took it up.

Somewhat to my surprise the door wielded to my touch. In trembling haste—for what might not befall the women while I fumbled with doors or wandered in passages?—I flung it wide, and passing through it, found myself at the head of a narrow, mean staircase, leading, doubtless, to the servants' offices. At this, and seeing no hindrance before me, I took heart of grace, reflecting that mademoiselle might have escaped from the house this way. Though it would not be too late to quit the city, I might still overtake her, and all end well. Accordingly I hurried down the stairs. shading my candle as I went from a cold draught of air which met me and grew stronger as I descended, until reaching the bottom at last, I came abruptly upon an open door, and an old, wrinkled, shriveled

The hag screamed at sight of me, and erouched down on the floor; and doubtless, with my drawn sword, and the blood dripping frem my chin and staining all the front of my doublet, I looked fierce and uncanny enough. But I felt it was no time for sensibility—I was panting to be away— and I demanded of her sternly where they wers. She seemed to have lost her voice through fear perhaps-and for answer only stared at me stupidly; but on my handling my weapon with some readiness she so far recovered her senses as to utter two loud screams, one after the other, and point to the door beside her. I doubted her; and get I thought in her terror she must be telling the truth, the more as I saw no other door. In any case I must risk it, so setting the candle down on the step beside her, I passed out. For a moment the darkness was so intense that I felt my way with my sword before me, in absolute ignorance where I was or on what my foot might next rest. I was at the mercy of anyone who chanced to be lying in wait for me; and I shivered as the cold damp wind struck my cheek and stirred my hair. But by and by, when I had taken two or three steps, my eyes grew accustomed to the gloom, and I made out the naked boughs of trees between the sky and myself, and guessed that I was in a garden. My left hand, touching a shrub, confirmed me in this belief, and in another moment I distinguished something like the outline of a path stretching away before me. Following it rapidly—as rapidly as I dared—I came to a corner, as it seemed to me, turned it blindly, and stopped short, peering into a curtain of solid blackness which barred loop of cord. I pulled at this, the door yielded, and I went out.

I found myself in a narrow, dark lane, and looking up and down discovered, what I might have guessed before, that it was the Ruelle d'Arcy. But mademoiselle? Franchette? Simon? Where are they? No one was to be seen. Tormented by idoubts, I lifted up my voice and called on them in turn; first on mademoiselle, then; on Simon Fleix. In vain; I got no answer. High up above me I saw, as I stood back a little, lights moving in the house I had left; and the suspicion that after all, the enemy had foiled me grew upon me. Somehow they had decoyed mademoiselle to another part of the house, and then the old woman had

I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly, to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of try-ing Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time that bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little affect. But since using three bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. THEY RUN BY THREES.

When an Accident Occurs on a Railroad Look Out for Two Successive Ones. (New York Sun.)

"It has long passed out of the realm of superstition and become a fixed fact with railroad men, said an old conductor, "that one accident on the rail, no matter how unusual or unheard of the cause, will be followed by two others within a few days from the same cause. I have taken note of this dozens of times and never

"There is no cause of railroad accidents my path, and overhead mingled confusedly with the dark shapes of trees. But this, too, after a brief hesitation, I made out to be a wall. Advancing to it with outstretched hands, I felt the woodwork of a door, and, groping about, lit presently on a loop of cord. I pulled at this, the door near Stockport, resulting in a badly damaged track and the wrecking of 32 loaded freight cars. I keep a record of queer railroad accidents, and not once in five years had I heard of one being caused by falling rocks. When I heard of this one I " Now I'll watch for the other two."

"I knew they would come. The following Thursday, at Walnut Bend, Pa., on the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad, the first one of the two came, and a disastrous one it was. A freight train, in which there were three loaded oil tank cars, was running south at a good rate of speed, when, as the locomotive went round a curve, the engineer saw a big rock that had rolled down from the east bank and covered both rails. The river was on the west side. It was impossible to stop the train. The engine struck the rock and was hurled down the bank. Fourteen cars, including the three oil cars, followed it. These caught fire. The engineer and the head brakeman, who happened to be in the cab, were thrown into the river, which was very high. The burning oil ran from the cars on to the surface of the water, and in a few seconds the flood was sweeping roaring flames down the stream. The engineer and the brakeman were carried down by the swift current, but, being good swimmers, managed to reach the shore before the flood of leaping fire bore down upon them. The fourteen derailed cars quickly caught fire, and the crew of the train had to climb to the hills to save themselves. Fireman Martin was the only one who did not escape. He was thrown from the car into the river with the engineer and brakeman and was drowned.

"Saturday brought the third of these accidents. This one was on the Northern Central Railway, near Ralston, Pa. A big rock fell from an overhanging cliff and covered the track. Passenger train No. 16 was the first train that came along to discover the obstruction. Fortunately the engineer saw the rock in time to get his train pretty well under control, and no one was seriously hurt. The engine and one cariwere badly smashed, though, and travel was stopped for a long time. "I'm not expecting any more accidents of this kind now. The three have come. It will probably be years before I have another one to record, and then I wil! have three again, just as sure as rocks are rocks.'

"I pray you, Master Lieutenant," said Sir Thomas More, as he ascended the scaffold, "see me safe up, and for my coming down I can shift for myself." -Now Twelve Years and no Symptom of Return of the Disease-Read for Yourself Mrs. James' Words:

LONDON, Aug. 30, 1889. To Mr. Williams: It is not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to you and the suffering world that I add my testimony with the many you have already received. Royal Crown Remedy cannot be too kindly received. too highly praised; it has saved my life. For nine years I suffered extremely with Dys-pepsia and Liver Complaint and could not retain anything at all comy stomach without excessive vomiting. Erysipelas set in, which confined me to my bed. Doctors could do me no good. I also tried many other plans with no success. I was induced by Mr. Issac Williams to try his medicine, which I did after much persuading, Three bottles completely cured me and for twelve years I had no symptons of return. Your medicine is worthy of praise. I advise all suffering humanity to try it for it is the best. It should be used until the cure is complete.
