Woman of Means Scours the Institutions of City

WITHOUT AVAIL

Drives to Western University Library in Vain Attempt to Secure Youngster.

Not one little boy or girl in the whole of London to be adopted. Is it really possible? A woman of means recently went to every institution in the city where children are sheltered, to adopt a child, without success. After scouring the city, someone suggested that she try at the Infants' Home on St. James street, which by the way is out of existence now, and is used as an annex to the Western University.

Driving up to the building in her motor car, the lady mounted the steps and rang the bell. "I want to adopt a child," she said. The person answering the door who had been busily engaged with books a minute before, looked bewildered until it dawned upon her that before the building was used

YOUTH PLUNGES FROM LINER IN MID-ATLANTIC TO SAVE CHILD

Toronto, Dec. 3.-A special dispatch to the Star from Quebec says: "When the liner Minnedosa was in mid-Atlantic between Liverpool and Quebec, a nine-year-old girl, who, with other children, was climbing on the railings on the port side, fell overboard.

A youth named Ronald Webb, formerly of Castleton Road, Walthamstow, England, immediately jumped, fully tween 40 and 50 feet below. He swam for the drowning and held her up until, as they were almost sinking, ere rescued by one of the ship's boats.

"They were brought aboard terribly exhausted, but both recovered from the effects of the immersion, and the following day Webb was presented by the captain, on behalf of the passengers, with $100. Webb was patrol leader of the 80th Walthamstow Scouts and a second lieutenant in the 7th Battalion County of London Cadets. He recently won the cadet officers' open boxing competition at the National Sporting Club, London."

Stage Hands At Toronto Theatre Dig Up Earth

BELOW AUDITORIUM

Excavations Will Be Continued Until Entire Area Covered.

THINK DIFFERENTLY NOW.
Toronto, Dec. 2.—Police authorities here are satisfied that the body of A. J. Small, missing since a year ago today, is not and never was buried under the Grand Opera House which the theatrical magnate conducted for many years previous to the day of his mysterious disappearance. Following an anonymous claim, the detectives, for the fourth or fifth time in eight months, yesterday had excavations made under the auditorium of the theatre, but a thorough search failed to discover any trace of the missing man.

It is understood that Ambrose Small's secretary, John Doughty, who is in Jail on remand till Monday, to answer the charge of stealing the $105,000 recovered in his sister's house this week, has made no further statement regarding his former employer.

Toronto, Dec. 2 .- The city edition of the Mail and Empire says today: An indication of the trend of police thought in connection with the inexplicable disappearance of Ambrose J. Small, the Toronto theatre magnate is shown by the fact that stage hands employed at the Grand Opera House dug in the soft earth under the theatre yesterday under the direction of Detective Sergeant Austin Mitchell, in an effort to locate Small's body. Hitherto, police officials have held to the theory that Small was alive and pothesis and are fairly convinced that small has been done away with. The area covered by Detective Mitchell and his assistants is situated under the auditorium. Mitchell selected the spots where excavations were to be made auditorium. Mitchell selected the spots where excavations were to be made and the delvers dug to a depth of two feet or a little more, in several places. The whole of the afternoon was given up to the operation but so far no trace of the body has been found.

It is understood that the digging will be continued until the whole area has been covered and the police have ascertained beyond doubt whether the body of the long lost millionaire was buried within the precincts of his erstwhile property.

Turkish Nationalists Assert They Will Not Crush Little Republic.

HOSTILITIES SUSPENDED

Fighting Ceases Through Intervention by Bolsheviki.

Tiflis, Dec. 2.-Armenian forces have een driven eastward by the Turkish Nationalists until the region they hold s entirely outside the traditional boundaries of Armenia. As a result. Armenia is reduced to a little Caucasus menia is reduced to a little catastis republic, such as was created by the Germans and Turks during the war. It comprises the districts of Erivan, Novobayazet, 30 miles to the northeast of that city, and Etchmiadzin, the ecclesiastical capital of ancient Armenia, located about 25 miles north of Mount Ararat.

Turkish Nationalists have occupied alistricts just to the west of this region holding Kars, Alexandropol and Surnoiding Kars, Alexandropol and Surmalou.

Hostilities between the Armenians and Turkish Nationalists have been suspended through intervention by the Bolshevik Government at Moscow, and hopes are entertained that further bloodshed may be averted. Conditions, however, are frightful in the district held by the Armenian forces. One hundred thousand refugees, in the last stage of destitution, are traveling held by the Armenian forces. One hundred thousand refugees, in the last stage of destitution, are traveling through the sncw in all directions, and the Armenian Government is unable to provide housing or food, pending the arrival of grain promised by the Russian Bolsheviki.

Will Not Crush Armenia.

The Turkish Nationalists assert they will not crush Armenia, but will grant lenient terms. These terms, however, must be in conformity with Turkish aspirations, it is declared. Dr. Alexander Khatissian, Armenian premier and foreign minister, has been appointed a special plenipotentiary to arrange peace terms with the Nationalists.

The marale of Armenia's shattered army is very low, while the Turks, by contrast, are well disciplined and equipped. Reports that Soviet Russia is in disagreement with the Turkish Nationalists are accepted as true, and it is said Moscow views unfavorably the Turkish advance into Armenia.

"The original requisition was sent to the committee by the board on March 1, approved and passed by the city council. Later it was found that the amount set aside specifically for the Ealing school was insufficient, and the board asked permission to transfer $16,000 of the amount allotted to the Knollwood school to the Ealing 3chool. This was granted, and the revised bylaw was passed by the council in September. Toronto, Dec. 2.—When the provincial convention of the Liberal-Conservative party resumed here today it was pretty well assured that the race for the leadership had "narrowed down" to a contest between Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Brig.-Gen. Ross, Hon. George S. Henry, and Dr. Forbest Godfrey, with various dark horses, it is again stated today that W. F. Nickle K.C., is definitely out of the running. There was a clash this morning between the chairman, Joseph Thompson, and Mrs. Winnett, a lady delegate from London. Mrs. Winnett protested very strongly against the number of Toronto men against the number of Toronto men recommended for the organization committee, and demanded that some of the names be withdrawn. Mrs. Winnett persisted in her argument with the chairman and others, who contended that Toronto was really under-represented. Finally the chairman gained the day when the delegates agreed that the convention would have the final say anyway in what the committee did.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—The convention of the provincial Liberal-Conservative party will again take up the problem of choosing a leader, at the sessions to be held at Massey Hall this afternoon It was last night decided that owing to the unexpectedly large number of delegates attending the convention a larger assembly hall than the Masonic Temple was needed. SECURED $776 IN BILLS

The Locked Safe Contained $2,000 and $38,000 in Bonds.

No trace of the two bandits who robbed the South London branch of the Merchants Bank, 146 Wortley road, at the point of revolvers at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon had been found up to press time this morning, although description of the men was wired to every point within a radius of many miles a few minutes after the robbery had taken place.

The robbers secured a total of $776, in bills of ten, five, two and one dollar denominations. Although there was considerable silver in the cash drawers along with the bills, none of it was taken. The safe, which was fortunately locked, contained, according to one of the officials, $2,000 in cash and approximately $38,000 in bonds, the majority of which were negotiable. The thieves were in too much of a hurry to tamper with the complicated door of the vault.

In Stolen Car?

The police are confident that the two men made their escape in a five-passenger McLaughlin car owned by Roy Dale of this city. The car was stolen from in front of the residence of Andrew Dale, 281 Dufferin avenue, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The car bore license number 52514, and serial number 11017.

Preparing Thesis.

Mr. Benjamin brought an interesting piece of news, the fact that a London doctor, now on the staff of the research department of Toronto University, is writing a thesis on molecules, atoms, electrons and basic energy, from material received by talking to Sir William Crookes in the other world, through Mr. Benjamin. This thesis is to be presented to the University of Toronto and in it he urges most strongly that the univerities engage great mediums and psychics for scientific research.

"It is a big thing that a movement in this direction has been initiated," said Mr. Benjamin. work on a building next door, but not one of them was aware that anything out of the ordinary was happening. They did not even see the men leaving the bank. A family living over the bank were not aware that anything had happened, although they could not have failed to have heard any noise that might have been made.

No trace of the men could be found by the police when they arrived on the scene, although they arrived there six minutes after the manager had phoned in the alarm. As soon as the call had been received at the police station Inspector of Detectives T. Nickle, Sergt. of Detectives Robert Eigeton and Detective T. Bolton left for the scene. E. M. Dagg, 38 Wortley road, the manager of the branch bank, and Jack Lackle, 30 Wilson avenue, the teller, the only officials in the building at the time of the hold-up, related the story to The Advertiser.

A few minutes before they entered the bank Dagg saw the two men pass the windows, walking slowly down the street. As there were four men transacting business in the bank at the time the men apparently decided to wait.

Pulled Revolver.

No customers were in the bank when they entered. They walked over to the desk on the side and pretended that they were preparing slips. Taking little notice of the men, Dagg, who was in Canada, or that are being made in the United States." City Auditor Archie Screaton stated in an interview with The Advertiser today. He has just returned from a six months' visit in Paris with his son, Fred Screaton, foreign representative of the New York firm of Lord & Taylor's, and had a good opportunity to make a survey of the situation.

"When one considers the countries whose production of the ordinary requirements of civilization was entirely disturbed during the long years of the war and realize that they had either to fill these needs at an abnormal high price or practice the strictest economy, one might understand that the available supplies got down to almost vanishing point by the period of the armistice.

"Since that time the exchange rates of the different couptries of the continent of Europe have been so advanced that in order to supply their absolute wants they had to pay a premium equal to the extent to which their currency had depreciated as compared with that of the country from which the purchases were being made. They had to have raw materials such as cotton, wool, coal, which were positive necessihave raw materials such as cotton. have raw materials such as cotton, wool, coal, which were positive necessities. Structural steel, bridges, rolling-stock, which at least for the destruction and wastage of war had to be purchased, no matter at what cost, and all of this had not commenced to provide for a surplus of raw materials in these countries, which could be manufactured for export. The only hope of these countries is to obtain enough raw material to enable them to put in their own labor, producing an article which could be sold at a profit on the labor cost. Take, for example, the case of France: They require to purchase at the time a large quantity of essentials from America. The American dollar stands at Frs. 17 25 as against a normal rate this had not commenced to provide America. The American dollar stands at Frs. 17.25 as against a normal rate of Frs. 5.18. Unless France can ship goods to America in a degree which will reasonably compare with the amount of her purchase and until she can increase her production and reduce her importations from America, there can be no reason for improvement on the exchange.

Little Unrest. "This means a continued abnormal cost of living in France, which will necessitate high labor cost and make it difficult for French merchandise to compete in the world's markets. Cer-

With the discovery of the grounding system came the use of only five wires. With recent discoveries comes the claim that five messages may be sent over two wires at the same time.

Because of warranted an investigation by the crown before the case was heard. Because of this, the case was adjourned until today. During the week Crown Attorney J. B. Before Chapman was apprehended he became conscience-stricken and wrote to an employee of Allport's, confessing that he stole the gold and that he still had it in his possession. He gave himself up to the police.

The magistrate in Toronto felt sorry for the young man, and because a member of the Big Brotherhood movement took an interest in him he let him out on suspended sentence. Chapman

Mr. McKillop thought that as the theft here had been committed before Chapman was out on suspended sentence it should be considered closely linked with the Toronto offence and that Magistrate Graydon should also allow the youth to go on suspended sentence. Although the magistrate considered that the courts in Toronto had dealt leniently with Chapman, he consented to allow him out on suspended sentence. He was allowed out under a $100 bond to assure that he reports to the police in Toronto at intervals.

D'ANNUNZIO'S LITTLE ARMY IS PREPARING TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Italian Fleet Manoeuvres in Bay Before Fiume.

CUT COMMUNICATIONS Followers of Soldier-Poet Are Taking Their Position Very Seriously.

Trieste, Dec. 2.—The Italian fleet stationed at Pola steamed up the Gulf of Quarnero yesterday, manoeuvred in the bay before Flume, and then slowly passed very close to the mouth of the harbor, as in review. The fleet stood out in contrast to d'Annunzio's little fleet of one dreadnought, four destroyers and employ early movered at the Flume and smaller craft moored at the wharfs.
Some of d'Annunzio's soldiers on the

Some of d'Annunzio's soldiers on the shore emptied their rifies at the fleet, but no casualties resulted. The whole manoeuvre was part of a demonstration by the Italian Government for the purpose of showing what resources it had at hand. On land, Carabineers were taking up positions along the lines of demarkation.

D'Annunzio's soldiers, who have been greatly stirred up by his appeals for the defence of Fiume, are taking the "war" situation very seriously. Their number defence of Flume, are taking the war situation very seriously. Their number is estimated at about 4,000, including detached units of artillery, engineers, cavalry, gas battallons, air forces, ar-mored motor cars and machine gunners. The cutting off of communication with Fiume by both land and sea is regarded as imminent.

Richard Watson, a local youth, boasted of his prowess as a fighter as he walked down Talbot street one night recently. "In fact," he said, "I can lick anyone." To prove that he did not make an idle boast, he pointed to a companion, Harry Allen, who walked ahead, and then said to another companion who walked beside him: "I can lick him."

Now, Harry Allen was somewhat taller and had broad shoulders, and Watson's companion did not believe the swaggering youth could vanquish such a foe, and he told him so. That led to a challenge.

When Magistrate Graydon heard the story he decided that Harry Allen had nothing to do with the affair so he allowed him to go after expressing regret that the youth had been called into court. As it was Watson's second offence, he fined him $10 and costs.

London, Dec. 2.—The defeat of the Government in the House of Lords last night is not a matter of great significance. The amendment carried against the Government will probably be deleted when the bill goes back to the House of Commons.

The belief of Commons.

The belief that the bill will not be seriously modified by the Lords prevailed after the defeat of Earl Middleton's statement and is based largely on the exigencies of the time. OTTAWA, Dec. 1 .- (By Canadian Press).-Hearing of evidence and the submission of additional statements by interests opposed to a 40 per cent increase in express rates occupied the attention of the Dominion Railway Board until the close of today's sitting called for the presentation of argument by counsel for and against the application by the Express Association of Canada for higher rates, T, Marshall, for the Toronto Board Trade, estimated that a 40 per cent increase in express rates would mean another five or six millions for the Canadian railways, He thought that the express end of the railway that the express end of the railway business had been sufficiently taken care of by the recent judgment giving a 40 per cent increase in freight rates. Representatives of the fruit and vegetablesgrowing interest predicted that serious results would follow the granting of the full increase asked. They agreed, however, that if it were necessary to give the express companies higher rates the food producers were willing to assume their share of the burden.

A statement to this effect made by George E. On Thursday morning the express companies will submit up-to-date figures indicating the present position of their business.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GREY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, grey hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle o "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other in-gredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

A RIPPLE OF THE CRIME WAVE.

A ripple of the crime wave that has swept over the larger cities of Canada and the United States appears to have touched this city yesterday in the robbing of a South London branch bank by motor bandits. Because of their size cities such as this have escaped much of this lawlessness. The hold-up man and his kind prefer the large centres. Congestion provides opportunities for rich hauls, while the getaway is easier and the hiding places more numerous. Recently, however, the police of the crime-ridden cities have been making special efforts to clean out this element. One of the results is This may or may not explain the bold hold-up of Wednesday, but, in any event, it is well that the authorities and private citizens of smaller cities realize that just now there is danger of an invasion from this type of law-breaker. Caution, vigilance, the use of common sense in ables is the obvious thing under this menace.

VICTORY BONDS ARE SAFE.

The fact that Victory Bonds have been depressed slightly since being thrown on the open editions of the play. But more serious is the market should not bring about any lack of faith in them. There isn't the slightest doubt but of the character and manners of Shylock. The Investors in the bonds know that the various underdone by Mr. Hampden, as they probably issues can be redeemed at the par figure at the time arranged for, while in the meantime they them at present quotations indicates wisdom and could be no stronger guarantee.

A PROBLEM FOR THE "ONE HUNDRED." Rev. M. A. N. Shaw, president of the National Equal Rights League in the United States, writes to the self-constituted Committee of One Hundred, now investigating Irish affairs, that they would be better employed in probing the race problem in their own land, and might begin by investigating the 72 negro lynchings in the south alone during 1919. The State of Georgia alone had 22 lynchings in 1919, and only two of these were for assaults upon women, an indication that the old excuse of protecting southern womanhood lacks any real foundation. A growing number of the negro lynchings in the United States of late years have been traceable directly to economic causes, chiefly the fact that the colored man was entering fields of employment formerly exclusively held by whites.

The south keeps the curtain drawn over much of its social life, even today. The amount of illegitimacy that prevailed during the slave days has resulted in vast numbers of people of mixed origin, who are all classed as "negro." however, by the whites, no matter how little the taint of the other race may be. A policy of repression has been exercised generation after generation, and even today there is a vast amount of opposition to any movement for the raising up of the darker race in the south. Stephen Graham, the English writer, who has recently traveled through the south investigating the race question, is forced to the conclusion that "The white South could improve its negroes infinitely if it cared to do so. On the whole, however, it does not wish its negroes to rise, and seems most happy when they can be readily identified with the beasts that upon them their social inferiority. It is to be feared that the spirit of moderation which was taught and spread abroad by Booker T. Washington has been supplanted in these later days by a bitterness, of which Dr. Dubois is perhaps the outstanding exponent. Anyone who gives any thought at all to the subject must wonder what is to be the outcome of this evergrowing racial antagonism between the white race of the south and the steadily-increasing black population. Perhaps there may have to be another Lincoln, who will lead his country to a second emancipation, if such be possible. The outlook is admittedly dark and growing darker.

Shakespeare's play is a thing of beauty, a joy for ever. With the beautiful voices and exact enunciation of Hampden's players, Shakespeare's lines must chime in a harmony which alone by itself is magic. Then, there is the genial story, set in relief by the devilry of Shywrites out of a sublime good temper, and Portia is that rare creature, a beautiful woman with a humorous view of life. In some respects perhaps Mr. Hampden's play is too rawly Elizabethan. Some of the coarse jokes intended for the groundlings of that day may as well be omitted for an authe handling and carrying of money and valu- dience whose groundlings don't understand most of them or find them too old. In particular, one joke about the uncertainty of fatherhood comes in several times; once at most is enough, and little imagination, believed that "hanging the that is about as often as it appears in school ultra-Elizabethan conception and representation that there will be a rise in values before long. melodramatic villain and his gesturing are not were not by Shakespeare's own actor three hundred odd years ago. Antonio has to be understood in the light of Renaissance Platonism. He loves young Bassanio in the mad. Those views were quite out of date in Shakespeare's time among business people, and Shylock sees Antonio a sort of unique antagonist of the Rialto. Such a charwith a slow, deep fire of devotion to his Bassanio and quaint in old-world ideas of interest when properly played as we saw it, can almost be conceived as actually signing the Jew's bond.

ROYAL MARRIAGE ETIQUETTE. [London Daily Chronicle.]

The engagement of Admiral Sir Adolphus Fitz leorge, the late Duke of Cambridge's second son, and a recent widower, his wife having died in February, to Margarita Beatrice, daughter of the late Mr. John Watson of Waresley Court, Worcestershire, reminds one what a curious thing the royal narriage law is. ### "HANG THE KAISER."

[Westminster Gazette.] When Mr. Lloyd George said that if he ever returned to power he would "hang the kaiser." he meant nothing of the kind. That is the gist of the letter in which he endeavors to console his faithful follower, Mr. Baldwin Raper, who, being a man of kaiser" meant bringing him to trial and having an execution. "The responsibility now rests with the Netherlands Government for his permanent safe sustody," writes Mr. Lloyd George, "and perhaps the reflection has occurred to you, as it has to many, that if the ex-kalser had been found guilty by the court upon his arraignment before them, no greater or more enduring punishment would or could have been imposed than the action above recorded has secured." We are not behind Mr. Baldwin Raper's mind, but we venture to believe that no such reflecter's letter will be a new light breaking upon his intelligence. [Brantford Expositor.] The report of the pulp and paper imports into Japan for the first six months of the present year indicate that Canada has lost the lead which i maintained for three years. Sweden has this year shipped 47 per cent of the total, while Canadian mills have only supplied 29 per cent, and the United States mills 17 per cent, whereas formerly the United States shipped 60 per cent of the paper and pulp products that were imported into Japan. The figures indicate that Sweden has shipped more pulp and paper into Japan for the first six months of this year than the United States and Canada

Thus Canada has lost a considerable volume of export trade in these products. The Canadian trade ommissioner to Japan points out that the reason for this decline is that the Canadian manufacturer demand payment in American gold dollars. This enables the Japanese importers to place the Swedish imports, duty paid, in the Japanese markets cheaper than the Canadian products. If the Canadian shippers had been content to accept payment in the funds of their own country, the trade would hav been considerably larger. It looks as though the manufacturers of Canadian pulp and paper are acter, quiet, honorable, successful, yet burning grasping for the last dollar the trade will stand, not only in Canada, but in the export trade as well.

Underneath the snow and sleet,
In the bosom of the plowland
Sleeps the Promise of the Wheat;
With the ice for head and foot stor And its hundred thousand men, And its nundred thousand men, And the click of guard and sickle And the flails that turn again; And drovers' shout and snap of whip And creak of horses' tugs, and a thin red line o' gingham girls That carry water-jugs; and yellow stalks and dagger beards That stab through cotton clothes, and farmer boys a-shocking wheat In long and crooked rows; And dust-veiled men on mountain stacks, ose pitchforks flash and gleam;

and threshing engines shricking songs In syllables of steam; And elevators painted red
That lift their giant arms
And beckon to the Harvest God
And loaded trains that hasten forth,
A lungry world to fill—
All sleeping just beneath the snow, All sleeping just beneath the snow, Out yonder on the hil!!

CHAPTER XXIV THE RACE BEGINS.

It was just a few minutes past eleven o'clock when Cristy Lawson climbed to the railroad track out of climbed to the railroad track out of breath and hurried towards the section shanty. She had made good time in the canoe with the swift current of the Wolverine in her favor, and she was elated at her progress. The remaining stage of the journey should not present much difficulty, once she had persuaded Thorlakson of the urgency of her mission. ency of her mission.

The place was in darkness and she tapped loudly on the window-pane of Mrs. Thorlakson's bedroom. After a little while she heard the woman stir and call out. Cristy shouted in to her and with many strange Icelandic expressions of astonishment Mrs. Thor-lakson came to the door and let her in.

The kind-hearted woman's appear-

Instead, she asked for Thorlakson and cried out in dismay to learn that he was not there—that he had taken the handcar and had gone off with the two Norwegians to visit Bilodeau, the foreman on the section below. Cristy poured out her story, at least much of it as she thought would convey the urgency of the situation; but it was rather difficult to make the English being somewhat limited, while the girl had no knowledge whatever of Icelandic. At last she gave it up. "May I have some biscuits or something from the pantry?" she asked, and at the woman's nod she rummaged around among the crocks and pans around among the crocks and pans in search of portable edibles. She stuffed a handful of stale doughnuts inside her shirtwaist, together with a lump of cheese.

Mrs. Thorlakson stood at the door with the lamp held high in one hand, peering in upon these operations in dumb wonderment. When she finally realized that the girl purposed setting off along the track on foot, she became loud in her protests. Cristy made out that she was anxious about the sprained ankle; but this was so entirely better that it had given her no trouble at all so far and she merely laughed away the good woman's fears and, with a hasty good-bye ran out of the house and disappeared in the dark. For several minutes Mrs. Thorlakson continued to stand in the doorway, the lamp above her head, her face shining in the mellow glow with a queer mixture of apprehension and mystification. These city people were beyond her comprehension.

Cristy hesitated a moment as to which direction she should take. She knew that Indian Creek was west and she knew also that she and Kendrickhad walked that eastern stretch of track for miles and miles. She turned west.

There was a long trudge ahead of her before she could hope to reach the station above and the wisdom of conserving her energies was evident. She had no idea how far away the station might be-possibly a couple of miles; more likely many more. She had heard the foreman say his section was about nine miles long, but she was ignorant as filled with drifting shadow hests. man say his section was about nine miles long, but she was ignorant as to how much of it lay west of the shanty. She hoped devoutly that the station was not too far away. Time was precious. Time was everything.. The night had grown cloudy and

Ine night had grown cloudy and dark. She could not see more than a few feet away; but that was nothing. All she had to do was to keep on walking as fast as she could until she got to the next station up the line. After that she merely had to sit down at a table in the station-agent's room and write up the whole stay for table in the station-agent's room and write up the whole story for her paper. The operator and the Recorder would do the rest. She would send a flash wire to notify Brennon, the night editor, what to expect and she would send a special message to McAllister that would send him jumping for the Chief

She stopped. A loud rustle bushes a few feet away in the dark set her pulses beating toolishly. Some animal was there, she knew breaking into a run, she fled fr spot, halting only when her gave out. She found herself rapidly, agitated and alert, shudder-ing with a nameless fear that was get-ting on her nerves. There is not a mother (or a father either) of small children, who could not profitably visit the children's departnent at the Public Library some time this week and see there the delightful display of children's books, arranged by the children's department, under the direction of Miss Hazel Tanchagrined. I went up to my suite, and began rummaging through my luggage for suitable garments in which to play the ancient and honorable game.

One didn't golf in filmsy taffetas or muslins. Nor in big, floppy river-hats, Nor did one roam across the links in delicate buckskin footgear. I was sure of that.

But alas! my wardrobe was not provided for this particular contingency!

I found an old tweed skirt at last, a winter garment, much toe heavy for this blazing weather.

However, it approached "golfing style" more nearly than did any of my other clothes.

An old green sweater I unearthed too. It was considerably crushed. An ap air of heavy black brogues.

I donned these garments, hating them the while. Green didn't suit me. It seemed to give me a sallow tinge.

What hat to wear? That was a problem.

Them I recollected a comparatively recent purchase—a becoming one—panama.

I would wear that. I suited its neglige lines.

I would wear that I suited its neglige lines.

I twick my hair out before I adjusted the hat. Yes, the panama save the fair below on the rocks the water in motion. It was do not my hair out before I adjusted the hat. Yes, the panama as out the fair of heavy black brogues.

I would wear that. I suited its one plane and the plane and t in no time. I wanted to rejoin the others before Margery arrived.

But punctuality was evidently one of that young woman's virtues. She was standing with Neil and Mr. Courtney in the lounge when the elevator stopped.

"We drive off here," said Neil, leaving the car and approaching a small earthern platform. "Anne, I think you'd better play with me. That will even things up more."

Margery was therefore paired with standing with Neil and Mr. Courtney in the lounge when the elevator stopped.

And oh! how beautiful she looked! How sportsman-like, low suitably attired—and yet how summery! At a glance I took in her "tout ensemble." The heavy white corduroy skirt, immaculately cut, with the big patch pockets just in the right place out in little squares of blue and yellow, out in little squares of blue and yellow, out in little squares of blue and yellow straw, drawn well down over the face, so that only Margery's pretty little tipsof the gauntiet gloves.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BAZAAR.

The parish hall of St. John's Church presented a gay scene yesterday afternoon and evening, the occasion of the big Christmas bazaar given by the Women's Auxiliary under the presidency of Mrs. W. G. R. Bartram.

People continually thronged about the pretty booths, where wares of every description were on display. The tearoom, in charge of Mrs. Jeeves, was a big feature of the bazaar, resplendent as it was in red and white decoration with pretty tables centred with flowers. Here Mrs. Ray Lawson and Mrs. Gates poured tea assisted by Mrs. Gordon Hunt, Mrs. Frank Lawson and Mrs. Mc-Intosh. Another feature of interest was the sitting-room for gentlemen, a rarety at these woman-convened affairs. And what added still further to the enjoyment of the bazaar was the presence of the Sunday school orchestra, whose musical numbers were a delight.

Mrs. Wm. Boug was in charge of the fancy work booth, gay with yellow 'mums and evergreens. Mrs. Loughrey had the pretty blue and white apron booth, and Mrs. Albert Reason, the country store with its tempting display lery run by the Girl Guides and a great "bran pie," having possibilities of wonderful "grabs," under the convenership of Mrs. Taylor, completed the bazaar attractions.

Elizabeth Woodville, whose was Jacquetta of Luxemburg, was one of the early Bettys of history. Her daughter, Elizabeth of York, also bore the charming diminutive. By that time Betty had won such popularity in the English court that at least a third of the court beauties were called "Lady Betty," irrespective of their baptismal names. Betty was democratic, however, and it had equal vogue in the villages. To this day, it is the title of many a pretty rustic coquette in England, not to mention its widespread vogue among all classes in this country.

"When will your present sale end?" we are asked daily. It is felt that by the New Year most all prices will stiffen again. Therefore, this sale, with its 30 per cent discount, will end Christmas Night. We are again making heavy purchases, for it really looks like a mighty good time to buy. Any person with half an eye can see at a glance the genuineness of the reductions quoted hereunder, resulting no doubt in redoubled confidence in Thomas' intentions to reduce the high prices. Athletic Committee of Chamber of Commerce Discusses Possible Program.

At a meeting of the City League executive held in Brisco's store yesterday afternoon the strength of the club roster was increased to 18 men, with 12 men eligible after the third game had been played. The original motion was for 14 and 12 players, but yesterday an amendment to this rule was passed. As the N. H. L. has no such limit, the clause would be invalid, anyway.

The argument put forth was that in making the smaller limit not all the available hockey material could be tried out, and the game would suffer as a result. As the weeding-out process automatically reduced the candidates, in any event, there was little real reason for Tixing any large number of players as a minimum.

Nothing was done in regard to ice accommodation, except to arrange a meeting of the candidates, in the commodation, except to arrange a meeting of the candidates, in the commodation, except to arrange a meeting of the whole stuation will be commodated to the candidates, in the committee of the chamber of commerce met on Tuesday evening and several trues and several trues. The carnival will likely be held on the afternoon and evening of each day, and also on the Saturday morning. It is not time for a change?

Then why split the office of secretary-treasurer and name another Listowelite for the latter position?

The above asked questions are worthy of consideration by all clubs interested in Northern hockey, when representatives gather at the annual meeting in Palmerston on December 7.

A final thought, "Is it not time for a change?" Signed promising baseball pitchers in these parts. It was while pitching a game at Guelph about mid-summer that he complained of feeling unwell, and short-ly after his trouble was pronounced consumption, and while his parents sent him to California, hoping to benefit his health, he gradually grew weaker and returned home. For several weeks past he had been confined to his bed. Born in Armenia, his parents came to Can-

He was a student at collegiate, studying to become a lawyer, and was a very clever young man. He was the officer in command of the cadet corps and the mainstay of the school rugby and hockey teams. So popular was he in local sporting circles that the G. A. Al A. today announced that its members would attend the funeral in a body Saturday.

Raise Number of Players on STRATFORD TO STAGE | Lady Beck Gives Trophy To Winners of Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association

Girls' Athletic Organization Was Initiated by London Basketball Girls and Is Big Undertaking-Five Cities Already Entered With More To Come.

The president of the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association, Miss Carrie Blackwell, announced yesterday that Lady Beck had donated a handsome trophy for the association's competitions.

This is really the first announcement made since the formation of the association, on Saturday, a November 18, at Toronto, which was quietly and efficiently carried out. Lady Beck, who is honorary president of the organization, had much to do with making the formation of the new athletic body a reality, and since that time she has maintained a steady interest in its progress. a handsome trophy for the assotained a steady interest in its progress.

No advance notices were given of the possible formation of a new basketball unit until it was suddenly an established fact. The O. B. A. had never formed a ladles' series, so members of various girls' teams throughout the province saw no reason why they shouldn't have an O. B. A. of their own,

Five cities are certain entrants for this year, these being Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Stratford and London. Guelph and St. Thomas may come in, and there are other towns which have been nome and Home Games.

The idea for this year is to play a home and home schedule between all the cities. If more entries than are expected come in, then it is the intention to form them into groups with play-offs.

The Shamrock team, which won the first half of the Girls' League ser's last year, and later on played a number of outside teams without a defeat, will be the London entry for this year. don entry for this year.

They will stage their games at the Community Ha!l in East London, which has been altered by Mr. Buchanan of the public utilities in connection with the playgrounds committee's program.

The committee has gone to a great deal of trouble in fitting up the hall for basketball, but just when the floor will be ready is not yet known.

The opening game will be on January 22, likely between Shamrocks and the Hamilton Brownies. Lady Beck has promised to throw up the first ball, and a big parade of all basketball girls in the city will be mustered for the occasion.

The L. O. B. A. is a big undertaking, but if the same efficiency is shown in its management as has been shown in its organization, then its standing as a big factor in girls' athletics in the province is already assured. That a great deal of the initiative for its formation had its source in local girls' basketball circles should be a source of gratification to the future patrons of that sport and to citizens generally.

P. S. School Soccer Teams Play Second Final to No Score

Chesley Avenue and St. George's Unable To Decide Championship.

Chesley avenue and St. George's socer teams, playing a second final game for the public school championship, were forced to quit by darkness yesterday at the Rectory street school grounds with scoreless tie. Monday afternoon the teams were nable to score against each other, so he play-off was ordered for yesterday Dr. Frank Bryant refereed both games, and will probably handle the next game, the date of which has not been definitely settled yet. The going was slippery and damp esterday, but despite that fact, both eams played nice soccer. Neither team had any advantage at any one period of the game, and picking a winner is going to be a problem.

Juniors Will Hop Into Second Workout at Y Gym Tonight

Goldie Prodger To Turn Out With Them-Coaches Are Taking Their Own Medicine This Year - Big Turnout Expected.

There should be a good turnout of the juniors tonight at the Y, in the second workout of the squad. the second workout of the squad. On Saturday, the hours to be named later, the squad will be given the benefit of a trainer who will kneed out them alone. Hogg is one of the best trainers that ever swung a towel around London, and would be a decided asset if he could be induced to turn out.

Stewart, Sessions and Biggs have intimated that they will join the squad tonight, and with many other promises to turn out, things should hum from now on. Biggs should about make a regular place between the nets this year.

Matters are looking very bright for the junior hockey program this winter, and there is no reason why a still better team than last year cannot be turned out. Some of the members of last year's team were a headache from gong to gong, but they were whipped into great shape with a game or two, and deserved to go every inch of the way they travelled. Few junior teams were as popular as the bunch of youngsters who last year carried the London colors, and prospects for that season were hardly as bright as they are at present writing. are at present writing.

Of Pilot Medium's 2:10 performers Waubun, 2:09¼ and Pilot Boy, 2:09¼, inherited the color of their sire. His son, Lee's Pilot, stred the grey trotter, Judge Lee, which C. W. W. H. Gocher, writing in the Canadian Sportsman, says:

While authors and artists have always shown a fondness for grey horses, they have never been popular in the racing world. As a rule they have been considered soft, although none of the followers of light harness racing would admit that such a charge could be laid against the pacers Earl Jr. or The Eel or Dr. Strong which was almost white when he trotted his last races.

Being the weakest of all colors, grey does not remain very long in a lamily, it cannot be reproduced without having a grey parent. To this can be added the fact that there are but few grey stallions kept for service sceept by rich breeders of Percherons. This accounts for so few grey lorses being seen on the track or road, although Bobby Burns and the brig and Sir Walter Scott assigned fits and the witches whisked off her tail at the brig and sir Walter Scott assigned fits games a "gallant grey" in the Lady of the Lake.

Blue Bull had two grey sons that sired 2:10 speed at the pace. Of this pair Jim Wilson got Wiltranby, 2:06%, the sire of the grey gelding, Arrow Tranby, that made a time record of 2:05 at Indianapolis last month. NEW YORK, Nov. 30. - Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American relief administration European chil-dren's fund, declared recently that the relief administration European children's fund, declared recently that the child-feeding operations started in Central Europe soon after the armistice must continue until the next harvest. Funds are available to keep up the work until January I. After that date, he estimates, 2,250,000 children will starve if the 3,000 kitchens supported by the Americans are closed.

Reports reaching Mr. Hoover's office in New York and also the New York Department of Health indicate that the situation in Europe is critical. Dr. Royal S. Copeland, commissioner of health, who is in touch with relief workers in all the countries abroad and who earnestly advocates support of Mr. Hoover's program on the ground that diseases developed overseas by reason of lack of food, poor housing and bad sanitation might spread to the United States, said:

Detroit will recall it. The principal character is Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and the incident took place in 1895.

Judge Landis, then plain K. M. Landis, was private secretary to Walter Q. Gresham, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Grover in the cabinet of President Cleveland. Gresham had commended the regiment in which young Landis' father served during the Civil War, and a warm friendship existed between the two families, so when Gresham went to Washington to serve in President Cleveland's cabinet he took young Landis with him.

The young secretary immediately became a figure in Washington. His lack of convention, his outspoken manner, his new ways, his original style of address, and his wit all left Washington to wonder whether he was a joker or a young man of great depth.

Much important work was done by the state department while K. M. Landis was private secretary to Secretary Gresham. The final big event was The Allianca episode. The Allianca, an American passenger boat, was fired upon by a Spanish gunboat when outside the three-mile limit off Cuba and searched on suspicion of being loaded with ammunition for the Cuban revolutionists.

Strong sentiment developed over the wires. He took the responsibility of withdrawing the civil was done by the state department while K. M. Landis was private secretary to Secretary of state was praised from one end of the country to the other.

When President Cleveland returned from his duck shooting trip he became furious over Landis' action. For a while he declined to sanction the demand for an apology, but he finally did give his sanction.

when the liver becomes torpid and inflamed, it cannot furnish sufficient bile to the bowels, thus causing them to become constipated.

The stomach is also affected. Ir the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach, attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, vomiting often occurs; and what is thrown up, is sour and sometimes bitter.

Other liver trouble symptoms are pain under the right shoulder, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, foul breath, water brash, jaundice, constipation, etc.

Keep your liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles. Being purely vegetable they do not gripe, weaken or sicken like the old-fashioned purgatives generally do.

Mrs. Mary Strome, Glasnevin, Sask, writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of the state and so Landis was partimented to remain.

After the death of Secretary Gresham young Landis went to Chicago to practice law. He formed a partnership with Edwin H. Unl, who became ambas-sador to Germany for a while after leaving the state department, and Frank Jones, first assistant postmaster-gen-eral in President Cleveland's second administration. Landis, who was not quite 30 years old at that time, was supposed to go cut and solicit business for the firm, he being the youngest member. After a while he withdrew from the firm, and a friend meeting him several days later and asking what had happened, received this reply "Oh, I just called in Uhl and Jones and discharged them."

Landis plunged into politics. He became identified with the campaign to governor. A friend of his met Charles Low-den is a Republican and Kenesaw is a Democrat." "Oh, no. Kenesaw has been a life-ion Republican since 1896."

Its attractive flavour and general goodness will charm the most sceptical. Address: Salada, Toronto.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion, or they can eat as they please in reason, and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach, and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food, will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble, and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either the provided of the provided developed in the stomach and in the fight in France and Flanders. Less faulty, however, is the foreigner's idea that Holland is studded with windmills, though the number in late years has been growing steadily fewer. It is no wonder that in Holland, which lies so near the level of the ocean, swept continuously by steady winds, the windmill became a familiar sight. It was found to be a declaration of the continuously to the continuously that is the standard to be a declaration to the continuously that is the standard to be a declaration to the standard to be a declaration. windmil' became a familiar sight. general the type known as the standard mill, such as the present wheat mill near Verden, Gelderland. It is safe to assume that the French mill of the twelfth century was similar to it. The design was not very complicated.

There was merely a square wooden body, covered by a slanting roof, the whole turning on a wooden spill that rested in a standard composed of eight timbers. In later years the standard was was covered with thatch for protection against the weather and to provide storage space. This type became the more popular, being known as the was was covered with thatch for protection against the weather and to provide storage space. This type became the more popular, being known as the closed standard mill, of which 25 are still to be found in Holland. Of the open variety there now are only ten.

While the closed standard mill was being developed, a water mill was in process of perfection for use in pumping sea water from low-lying districts. This was strictly a Dutch invention. There were serious mechanical problems to be solved, owing to the fact that the standard interfered with the transmission of power to the water wheel or vilzel (screw of Archimedes).

From the close of the fourteenth century to the second after the flifteenth century the Dutch studied this question, and about the year 1450 were successful. The result was what is known as the windmill or spinbol. Outwardly it differs little from its forerunner, but the mechanism embodies a radical change. It is a stepping stone to the mill with the movable cap.

channels for the hauling of lumber, and today Zaoudam is one of the greatest lumber markets in the world.

In 1852 Cornelis Corneliszoon of Uitgeest invented a sawmill which was built on a floating raft, and could easily be turned to all winds. This device eliminated the necessity of building up the conventional standard, but it did not prove entirely successful. A new design was created, this one on nollers, so that it could be moved in its entirety to suit the direction of the wind. It was come on both sides facilitating the to suit the direction of the wind. It was open on both sides, facilitating the moving timber, and was enlarged by a broad roof, under which lumber was stored. To Holland, however, the honor of having invented the windmill does not belong. Historians speak of a mill that existed in England in the ninth century. This one very likely did not prove to be satisfactory, as in the year 1100 the satisfactory, as in the year 1100 the windmill again was "invented" or windmill again was "invented" or rather imported by crusaders returning from their travels in the east.

How far the records are accurate, nobody can say, but it is at least indisputable that the first European windn.ills were erected in the beginning of the twelfth century in Paris. From First Movable Cap.

Andries, from the Flemish village of Moerbeke, arrived in Northern Netherlands, He busied himself with the problem of constructing a mill that could be utilized for the purpose of pressing windn.ills were erected in the beginning of the twelfth century in Paris. From there they spread over the old world. In the second half of the twelfth century they arose in the neighborhood of Brussels, while within the present boundaries of Holland the first mills were introduced in 1299.

The conclusion may well be drawn from a decree of January 1, Count of Brabant and Limburg giving permission for the erection of a mill near the village of Schyndel, in Noord Brabant, that such mills were known to this region at that time, for no mention is made of its being an unusual circumstance.

mill near Zedham.

The large boven kruiers were entirely or partly built of brick in the wooded parts of the country, and also near the larger cities. Some of them were built on sheds. An example of this type is the boven kruier at Zaandam. All these mills are constructed with the movable cap and are utilized for almost every purpose.

Only Six Left.

They grind corn, wheat, paint, chalk, and oil, husk bariey and rice, manufacture paper, spices, mustard, cement and tobacco, and saw wood. Except the corn, water and sawmills, these plants were located on the River Zean, the commercial centre of Holland. Only six of these mills are left.

The windmill has been of immense value to Holland; the watermill especially has performed invaluable service in Number 2008. cially has performed invaluable service in pumping dry large lakes where at present can be found very fertile lands. The greatest triumph of the watermill was the pumping dry of the Beemster, which at one time was a very large lake in the heart of Noord Folland, and lwhich, since the beginning of the seventeenth century, has been called the most beautiful part of Holland, lying far below the level of the ocean, and now covered with prosperous farms.

There is at present a movement on foot in Holland to immortalize the wind-mill. It is proposed to construct an open air museum on the River Zaan, where all the different makes of mills would be placed in a park.

paring a general dismissal of their employees.

High wages and the eight-hour day, which has been in force here for a year, are blamed in some quarters for this state of affairs.

Swedish manufacturers, especially of iron and steel, can no longer compete with the foreign-made articles. For a time plants have been accumulating stocks, but signs abound that this has reached its limits. A strike in the building trade has lasted nearly a year, and the housing problem has become so acute that to rent a flat in Stockholm or in any of the big Swedish centres is well nigh impossible.

With all this, the workers continue agitating for still higher wages and shorter hours.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 .- The stock market was again subjected to liquidation today, leaders of the railway and industrial shares making extreme declines of 1 to 6 points, but recovering with surprising ease in the last hour, when pressure relaxed.

The break in Southern Pacific, which ran to 31/2 points and almost as much in affiliated issues, evidently arose from misunderstanding or misapprehension regarding the value of the "rights" to be given shareholders under the plan servative convention in Ontario in from Soviet Russia is entirely unfoundsixteen years, which opened here this ed, says a circular from the Russian afternoon with about 2,500 delegates liberation committee in London, an registered and with a few hundred anti-Bolshevist organization. of the party stalwarts were to the food with the naming of the resolutions committee the convention adjourned until Thursday morning.

Following is the resolutions committee: Col. Little (chairman), Port Arthur; O. E. Fleming, K.C., Windsor; Home Smith, Toronto; James W. Bain, Toronto; W. W. Woolatt, Essex; E. Dennis, London; Ald. Russell Nesbitt, Toronto; J. T. Simpson, Simcoe; F. H. Hogg, London; Dr. Norman Suttler, W. G. Tummans, Hastings; R. W. McFarland, T. E. Brand Peterboro; W. C. Mikel, West Hastings; M. Sinclair, Oxford; Dr. Kaiser, South Ontario. The members of the Legislature will be ex-officio members of the committee.

Between the naming of the personnel of the nominating committee and this committee's report upon the resolutions committee, a number of prominent delegates were called upon to fill in the time by making brief'speeches.

Sir John Willison, going back in the gates were called upon to fill in the time by making brief speeches.

Sir John Willison, going back in the party's history to the time of Sir John A. Macdonald, referred to the national policy as having done infinitely more to make Canada a nation than all the constitutional changes of which the peeple boasted nowadays so freely. Sir John Willison spoke of the selection of Hon. Arthur Meighen as the premier of Canada as "an illustration of the national temper of the Conservative party," which party was "the first to give the great office of prime minister to a statesman whose home is in the West, and who expresses in his utterances the vigorous optimism of the newer provinces and the confident nationalism of older Canada."

Paying tribute to Premier Meighen's abilities, Sir John Willison said that Mr. Meighen's elevation opened a new chapter in Canadian history, and was a pledge of unity and co-operation between the industrial and the agricultural communities and was the final guarantee of the equal authority of the west in the Government of Canada.

Would Prefer Liberals.

W. F. Cocksutt, M.P., Brantford, told the convention that he would prefer to see a Reform government in power to a class government, no matter what the latter might be. While he represented a riding in which his own election would not have been possible without the support of workingmen, he said, "yet I say," he continued, "that if they run for Parliament they should not run as members of the U. F. O. but as citi-

if they run for Parliament they should not run as workingmen, but as citizens of Canada."

He said farmers should not run as members of the U. F. O. but as citizens. The member who represented a class, he declared, was not true to the oath of office, which demanded that he represent all classes.

Mr. Cockshutt said he was not prepared to put in force more prohibition than the people of the province were prepared to back up. Further, Mr. Cockshutt said:

Have Gone Too Far.

"I believe we have goon too far in that direction. I believe it is safer to put a moderate law on the statute books, like Sir James Whitney did, and then stand to your guns and see it through, but do not put a law on the statute books that is going to be more or less a dead letter. For that reason I rather think the vote in British Columbia the other day was not far, from the mark. It is only my personal view. I hold no one responsible for it. But when you put a law on the statute books, carry it out. Whether it is wise to put flery persons in the way of doing it, is a matter for discussion. I think our attorney-general has his work cut out for him, if the good name of the province is to be preserved, for it has always been one of the most lawabiding provinces in the British Empire."

more expected tomorrow, the old- The circular recalls that according timers of the party stalwarts were given plainly to understand that the business of the convention was going to be run from the body of the hall, not from the platform—in short, that it was a meeting of the rank and file, not the leaders of the party only. An intimation to this effect was given early in the proceedings, when the norminating of committees was beun. A prominent Conservative on the platform began to read a list of names, but was stopped by the delegates on the floor.

Practically the only business done this afternoon was the selection of a permanent chairman of the convention and the naming of committees. The selection of a leader of the party for the province of Ontario will be made tomorrow.

Capt. Joseph E. Thompson, M. P. P. for Northeast Toronto, who had been delivered, the circular again quotes Bolshevist figures showing that the area sown in 1920 had shrunk to one-fifth of the pre-war area. The present crop was estimated at a mere 55,000 tons, from which, the circular deduces, little or nothing will be available for export.

ANNOUNCEMENT

121 DUNDAS STREET

Our Open Letter to the People of London and Vicinity:

We are being criticized by our competitors for selling our goods direct to the public without wholesalers', jobbers' or retailers' profits. And we, as manufacturers, will tell you the reason why. We have already told our individual patrons some of the reasons, but we make this announcement that all may know why this remarkable selling at these great reductions. One reason is due to the unusual fine weather of recent months. Then again the cancellation of retail orders for fall and winter goods, and also caused by the pressure of the financial market, which makes demands upon us. This statement is made guaranteed by reputation and integrity of the United Manufacturers With large stocks on hand, which we must unload, no matter what the sacrifice, that we can meet the liabilities against us, giving to the men and women of London an unprecedented opportunity to secure the finest tailored winter garments ever put on the market at the absolute cost of labor and material. Not a single penny more, is added. There is no juggling of prices, no deception. We are simply obliged to sell to the individual purchaser in order to convert the stocks into cash. This is the story and our only reasons for this unique event in merchandising. It has never happened before, probably never will again.

At this time it affords an unusual opportunity for everybody to buy Ladies' First Quality Furs, Fur Coats, Muffs, Stoles, Fur-Collar Coats, Ladies' and Misses' Coats in big variety, Ladies' Dresses and Skirts; Men's Up-to-Date Clothing, Suits and Overcoats. New Easy Money Plan Is Unearthed At the Border.

WINDSOR, Dec. 1.—A new and very easy way of making money was summarily dealt with by L. McGill Allen, chairman of the Windsor, Housing Commission, today, when his attention was called to a case where a man who had built a house with government money and was paying off the loan at the prevailing rate of $26 a month was renting the house to another man for $80 a month, making a profit of $54. He at once instructed the secretary of the commission to notify tenants in such houses that their landlords could not collect a cent of rent from them, as it was contrary to the provisions of the housing act to rent such houses.

Several cases of rent profiteering upon a similar basis were called to the attention of the commission at its meeting yesterday. The members agreed that it was a most ingenious way of making the other fellow pay for the house and do it quickly, but they lost no time in calling a halt to the process.

The housing act plainly states that no house erected with capital advanced under such provisions shall be rented, and the local commission is determined the law shall be enforced. Tenants holding a house under such conditions will be notified that they are not obliged to pay rent to their landlords.

BRITISH LIFT COAL.

BRITISH LIFT COAL EMBARGO: PERMIT

LONDON, Dec. 1.—British export of coal will again enter the world markets unrestricted as to price, quantity or direction of export, as an outcome of conferences between British and French coal controllers, and hope is expressed by officials of the coal controller's office that the present situation of Great Britain's key industry will accelerate the country's return to the pre-war economic status. The British Government will continue to control the price of 219,000,000 tons of coal needed annually in the home industries, giving British consumers the benefit of living in a coal-producing country. The officials state that the production of coal for the week ending November 20 was 5,200,000 tons, which is the largely weekly production since April, 1913.

From all advance accounts it is the best production that Manager Hill has evolved since he transformed the famous Bud Fisher creations from the comic pages of the dailies and made them the talk and sensation of the theatrical world, What would life be without the ever-perennial, bristling, blooming and scintillating jokes of Mutt and Jeff? ENTAL ANTIQUES. Exquisite hangings, draperies, rugs, lacquered furniture inlaid with mother-o'pearl and solid gold, vases, lamps, and bowls representative of the finest art of the Orient, and of such quality art of the Orient, and of such quality and texture as is rarely seen outside of a private collection, were used in decorating the interior settings for Sessue Hayakawa's latest Robertson-Cole production, "Li Ting Lang," which opens at the Patricia Theatre today.

"Li Ting Lang," adapted by E. Richard Schayer from a story by Howard P. Rockey, is a photo-drama in which Hayakawa plays a Chinese role and the locale is laid first in an American college town and later in Hong Kong, China, where most of the dramatic action of the picture takes place.

For the Chinese episodes, which consist of Hayakawa's home, the throne room of the Empress of China and the living rooms of various other characters important in the story, the art shops of Southern California and the east were ransacked for rare Oriental art treasures.

Robert J. Ellis, the art director at the Robert J. The vengeance of a Hindoo, whose bride has been wronged, is realized when he stable to death Royal Blondin, exponent of free love and member of Greenwich Village's elect, bringing to a thrilling climax Anita Stewart's latest first National picture "Harriet and the Piper," which will be shown at Loew's for the balance of the week. Miss Stewart plays the part of Harriet Field, a small town girl, who is deluded into going into free love marriage with Blondin. She escapes from him after the wedding, and the tragic end of the perfidious Blondin results in real happiness for Harriet. A funny Sunshine comic, with all the Sunshine funsters, will take care of the laugh end of the program, and Loew's Screen Pictorial will be of special interest. Another excellent bill. of Loew's supreme vaudeville will complete an excellent bill of amusement at Loew's for the rest of the week. AT LOEW'S.

s showing at the Allen today, tomor-ow and Saturday.
"Twin Beds" was known as one of row and Saturday.

"Twin Beds" was known as one of the costliest and most amusing productions ever presented on the stage in the way of farce comedy—and with the numerous additional scenes which have been added to the picture it is not only more costly, but it is more laughable. You get every ounce of fun that is possible out of this picture, and you'll say it is more than your share after you have laughed yourself weak at the troubles of the little Italian tenor who came home to the wrong apartment and the wrong bed, after a jolly night out, and the newly-married strange little wife who woke up early one morning to find a strange man in the opposite twin bed.

You've been grouching about wanting something to make you laugh, something that will simply entertain, and at the control of the cares and worries of this world—here's a chance you'll not get again for a long time.

Overture will be "The Only Girl." There will be a sparkling comedy of Bill Parsons, in "Dad's Knockout," and beautiful travel and science pictures, and Allen's famous world news.

This assurance was given today by Mayor Winter, Crown Attorney Rodd and members of the special ferry committee of the council upon their return from an interview with Sir Adam Beck. Crown Attorney Rodd represented the city in the legal aspect of the proposal.

Favors the Project. Favors the Project.

Sir Adam, after considering the demands for such a service in opposition to the present unsatisfactory operation of the privately-owned Detroit, Belle Isle and Windsor Ferry Company, expressed himself as personally favorable toward the undertaking, and assured the deputation he was willing to go ahead with the work once the Government had signified its approbation.

Plans for some such solution of the trans-river transportation problem have been seriously under consideration since the franchise of the present company expired in October, 1919, and was refused renewal because of the arbitrary action of the company in increasing its fare schedule and declining a compromise with the city council.

Windsor has secured a site for a dock on the Canadian side of the river by gaining that portion of the riverfront at the foot of Brock street which was formerly part of the crown lands under the control of the government.

BRING FOREIGN WAGES, CHARGE

Peterboro Legislator Says Employers Import Aliens Under Contract.

TORONTO, Dec. 1 .- Grave charges of he importation of foreign laborers under contract to lower Canadian wages were made to the tariff commission today by S. Tooms, M.P.P. of Peterboro, who declared labor to be in favor of a moderate tariff.

In reply to Sir Henry Drayton's denands for concrete evidence, Mr. Tooms said he would do as Sir Henry wished, sending names of firms, laborers, and the places they came from. "I suppose your point is that the Canadian market should be held for Canadian workr sible, and that they should be paid as remunerative a wage as possible?" asked Sir Henry. Mr. Tooms replied that labor did object to the bringing of outside labor in this time of depression.

Mr. Tooms' point of view was summarized by Sir Henry under two asmarized by Sir Henry under two aspects. First, when somebody takes away a Canadian workman's job; second, when imported foreign machines were allowed to come in and be sold at a lower price that the Canadian-made. "What is your idea for protection of your payroll? Do you want protection, so that your wage scale is to be protected from the German wage scale?" asked Sir Henry. Mr. Tooms said he had not thought of the matter in that light. Sir Henry asked for a letter with details later, and this, Mr. Tooms said, he would be glad to furnish.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father F. W. Doyle, S. J., of the Church of Our Lady, and was held in the private room of the groom, who is now seriously ill at the hospital. # BETWEEN MACKENZIE AND HYDRO PRICES

TORONTO. Dec. 1.-After a lengthy conference this afternoon in the city hall between the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the Toronto Board of Control on the question of buying out the electric interests of which Sir William MacKenzie is the head, the question remained unsettled, and another conference will be held to-and another conference will be held tomorrow.

It is said that there is a difference of $5,000,000 between Sir William MacKenzie's price and the price the hydro commission thinks should be paid; that is, a difference between $35,000,000, the MacKenzie figure, and $30,000,000 the outside price of the hydro commission.
Sir William MacKenzie has not stated definitely that he would accept $35,000,000, but it is understood that that is his price.
Sir Adam Beck intimated that there was a probability of a compromise being affected on the price, but he did not profess to be very sanguine as to this.
