Remainder of Chief Birrell's Men Are Picnicking At Springbank.

It's robber day in London, The city lays itself open to every kind of banditry this afternoon. Policemen oday forsook their beats, discarded uniforms, gathered their amilies and picnicked at Springbank. And in the meanwhile the city is left unprotected, totally almost, but not quite.

There are a few unfortunate members of the City of London Police Department who are left on duty. London cannot go absolutely policeless even for a few hours. Chief Birrell assigned a few officers to patrol the city, but the majority of members of the force, the total night shift and half the day, left for Springbank park shortly after noon.

"It was the hottest day I have ever seen. We were standing on the edge of a creek which ran through the cemetery, and just a stone's throw from the door of the vault where Lincoln was laid to rest when the man next to me fainted and fell forward against me. When I straightened up my shoulder he fell back into the creek and I had to rescue him from drowning. Only 1,000 soldiers attended the funeral, but the whole town of Springfield was there and citizens were standing around by the thousands. Everything in the city was reversed; the men even had their coats and vests inside out and a deep pall of mourning pervaded everywhere."

They laughed while the novelty events were being run off, and their hearts went back to the land of the shamrock when the children, born of mothers of the Emerald Isle, stepped to the tune of the pipes

An Opportunity For All London.

The people of London are now presented with an opportunity to secure the new hotel which the city has needed so urgently and so long. On exchange of properties which will put the hotel on Dundas street; secondly, the granting of a fixed assessment of $200,000 for a ten-year period.

These two points will appear on the ballot as separate questions. They are, however, to all intents and purposes, one question: "Do you want a new hotel?" Both the fixed assessment opportunity will be gone.

The city council very properly decided to exclude any question regarding the building of a new city hall. The ballot will be in the simplified form which The Advertiser has advocated, with the issue confined to the job in hand, the hotel, and there is little doubt that the public will endorse the action of the council and assist the progress of the city by giving sweeping approval. The need of a new hotel in London is traditional; the lack of it has been a handicap to London for many years. It is essential if the city is to attract trade which will bring business to all classes. Even during its construction there are immediate advantages. The construction company estimates that one-third of its cost, or over $300,000, will be spent in the wages of those employed in building it. Three hundred thousand dollars in wages for city workmen in winter, means more comforts for London homes, more money for London stores. In addition to this $300,000 in direct wages, the building of the hotel means employment for scores of men in other establishments throughout the city. All building supplies are to be purchased from London firms so far as possible, and the mainpeople in the hotel staff and in the provisions heavily burdened, he failed to perform with cupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's church. and other supplies which the hotel must have distinction. every day. CITY FACES LOSS

The possibilities of local real esate showing an adverse reaction should the city's commission houses be thrown on the public market in an effort to partly recoup a loss, variously estimated between $150,000 to $250,000, are remote, according to realtors and land brokers.

Facing a severe loss, which threatens to grow still greater, the housing ens to grow still greater, the housing commission is now weighing the problem of freeing the city of its municipal home project without further damage. Two solutions are at present being talked. One is to let a land agent try his luck with the unsold houses and the other to offer the whole parcel at public auction. In the opinion of William G. Owen Sound, Aug. 12.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Allan Stirling, a young stockbroker, who has been missing since a week ago last Saturday. It is alleged that he sold some mining shares he had received from a local Chinaman for $700 or $800 and that the Chinaman had not been given any of the money. "The project was a very unwise one in the first place," Mr. Bradshaw declared, "With the majority of the declared. With the majority of the homes built when prices were soaring the city would have had to make rapid transfers to avoid a huge deficit. The fall in values was inevitable and the city suffered beautiful.

In the event of the houses being placed on the open market, it would only tend to create a keener competition among property holders and would not be likely to affect the existing stability of the market, he thinks. This view is strengthened by the fact, he says, that most of the transactions would involve the small payment plan and would not the transactions would involve the small payment plan and would not call for large cash turnovers.

A similar opinion of the results of an open market auction is held by Sam D. Campbell, well-known local realtor. He points out that the houses are built in two well-defined sections of the city and a blanket sale would not disturb the tranquility of general conditions.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 12 .- The subject of dominion registration of teachers was given much consideration at today's session of the Canadian Teachers' federation.

The report on the question submitted by the executive of the Manitoba Teachers' federation approved a plan for the dominion registration of teachers as being both feasible and advisable, the first three years of registration to be under the direction of the Canadian Teachers' federation; after that time the registration, on a petition of 50 per cent of the registered members, it was suggested, might be vested in a council or other body elected by the registered teachers. A certificate would be issued for seven years, and renewable on application without charge.

Following the discussion, the committee bringing in motions recom-mended that the report on the advisability of having dominion registration be received and that each of the provincial organizations be requested to inquire into the question and report back to the Canadian federation at the meeting to be held next year. This report was approved by the federation. E. H. Lock, of New Westminster, B.C., said registration would put a permanent hall-mark of proper standing on the members of the profession, but he agreed such an important step should be backed by the approval of the provincial federation. approval of the provincial federation. The plan of registration would differentiate between teachers who were making the teaching profession their lifework and those taking up the work not as a permanent profes-

The question of the inter-provincial The question of the inter-provincial exchange of teachers, reported on by G. J. Elliott, secretary-treasurer. Winnipeg, was also discussed. It was pointed out that it would be necessary to have the co-operation of the departments of education in the various provinces. When it was suggested that Major Ney, who is connected with the organization which arranges exchange of teachers which arranges exchange of teachers between Britain and Canada, be requested to take charge of interprovincial exchange of teachers, ob-lections were raised. Dr. Hardy held hat the federation should not give this power to outside organizations An amendment by Dr. Hardy that the Canadian Teachers' federation recommended that departments of education should continue this work both provincially and with the pire, but in cases where the chinery for exchange was not set up for this work the federation should take steps to encourage it if funds permitted, was carried.

On behalf of the town fathers and the township generally, Mayor H. J. A. MacEwan welcomed the visiting preceptories and guests. Rev. J. W. Hibbert, past deputy grand chaplain, spoke briefly on conditions of patriotism in Ireland, and the loyalty of the Ulsterites; also he spoke of the need of financial support of an organization which was doing the work of the Orange Order of Ontario.

Mr. George Spotton, of Wingham with his customary forcefulness, dealt with the question of Catholicism and the school system, showing how Orangeism would save for the province thousands of dollars in the educational system that previously went to the Church of Rome, also the aid given by the order to schools who were fighting the separate school question.

The locals got off on the right foot in the first inning, scoring one run, due mostly to the base-running of Doc Riseboro, who drew a walk, stole second, went to third on Lindsay's putsout and tallied on Arlein's sacrifice fly. This margin did not last long, however, as the visitors came back in the second to take the lead with two counters. Baker smashed a hit down to third base. Silverstein poked one over first base that Cabot, Evans and Arlein got mixed up on. Filmore advanced them both a base on his ground-out to Evans, and they counted when Ward banged as single along the right field foul line. On Saturday the final of the Free Press trophy, emblematic of the London and district soccer championship, will be played at Sackville street grounds, between the Sarnia Imperials and the C. N. R. Local soccer patrons should turn out in full force to see the championship battle, as both sides are full of confidence, and are determined to put forth their best efforts to lift the The Sarnia Imperials are no strangers in this district, and fans still remember the great battle they put up against the Rovers on the same grounds a couple of seasons But this year they are stronger than ever, and although lacking the services of Harry Manchester, clever back, who is in England on a visit, several new players have been

The half-back line will include the Weston brothers, who are well known to Londoners, while the veteran Billy Burkinshaw is as good as ever at outside right. In Mitchell they have a center who will bear watching. The team will be accompanied by big crowd of supporters, and will arrive in the city about 10:30. The Imperials have been hard at practice every night, and are making no secret that they will be returned district champions after the game.

The railroaders, on the other hand, fully realize they have a tough proposition, but are just as confident as the hard oils, and will battle the whole ninety minutes. They are practicing every night, and if beaten they will have no alibi to offer. The kick-off is at 3 o'clock, and Alf. Allman of St. Thomas will be in charge of operations, while Geordie Robertson and Bandeman Carr will assist him on the line.

Paris Clerks Grow Angry As Higher Wages Refused; Armed Men Guard Banks

Men Handling Thousands Receive Less Than Street Sweepers.

ASK $4.50 INCREASE

Less Than $25 Monthly Paid To Many Experienced Employees.

Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright. Paris, Aug. 12.-Certain sections of Paris, especially the public squares and streets close to the banks, had a warlike appearance this morning. Steel-helmeted municipal guards. mounted police and mounted republican guards in war kit were patrolling the streets trying to disperse crowds of bank clerks who have been on strike since last week.

The strikers did not give much trouble to the police until Tuesday. when they learned with indignation that the bankers flatly refused to give them the demanded $4.50 month-ly increase. The strike affects practically all the banks in France except American and British, where the clerk's receive a living wage. The entire population sympathizes with the clerks and is indignant that with the cierks and is indigiant that the bankers, who have made enor-mous profits in the last two years, refuse, in spite of the fact that the cost of living has gone up 80 per cent since 1923, to give their emplayees the very small increase de-manded.

At present the bank clerks receive smaller pay than street-sweepers. Men and women who have been with the bank four or five years receive Forces Unite in Strong Attempt less than $25 a month, while men in responsible positions, handling millions daily, receive between $35 and a month. Bank messengers, carrying hundreds of thousands of francs from one branch to another, frequently at the risk of their lives, receive $25 a month. Most of the month. Bank messengers lerks who have families cannot afford more than one extremely light

The emaclated faces of the strikers is the best proof of this situation. Their demands, in the opinion managers of Paris branches of American banks, are far from exag-gerated, and an increase of $5 to $10 a month would hardly be felt.
